THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 52 | QUINCY MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 1, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

FRIENDSHIP, LOVE AND TRUTH THE THREE GOLDEN LINKS

Annual Ball of Mt. Wollaston Lodge, I.O.O.F. Quincy's Leading Fraternal Organization

One of the Most Successful in History of the Lodge

Three golden links, with fields of white blue and red, upon which appeared the letters F. L. T. meaning Friendship, Love and Truth, this was the emblem of Odd Fellowship which was suspended over the orchestra at Music hall, Thursday evening, at the annual concert and ball of Mr. Wollaston lodge I. O. O. F. Quincy's leading fraternal organization. The ball was very largely attended and was an unusual pretty affair. The younger set predominated although there was a good sprinkling of the older members of the lodge who however seemed to be just as spry as their younger brothers.

There were no decorations other than that mentioned, with the exception of the usual hall decorations of colored bunting, yet the scene viewed from the balcony was an attractive one. Wilson's orchestra, of eight pieces, furnished the music for the promenade concert from 8 to 9 o'clock as well as for the dancing which continued from the latter hour until 2 this morning.

The concert program included the following numbers:

March—"Commander" Hall
Overture—"Pique Dame" Suppe
Concert Waltz—"Wieher Blut" Strauss
Duet—"Two Larks" Bendix
(For Flute and Clarinet)
Medley Overture—"Popular Airs" Remick
Finale—"Friendship" Ganne

While this was in progress the active participants of the evening were arriving. These included, besides many from Quincy a large number, who represented lodges in the immediate vicinity, also the District Deputy, Harry Collett of Wollaston. They there were many of the sisters of Geo. L. Gill and other Rebekah lodges present.

It was during the concert program that the reception committee were kept busy looking after the wants of the participants. This committee included, George H. Fisher, James S. Baker, E. Frank Mitchell, Samuel Wood, Jr., Charles H. Harwood, Wil-

(Continued on Page Two.)

REPORT OF OPPOSITION TO PLANNING BOARD SCHEME

Sixteen Reasons Given by Committee Why Proposed Bill Should Not Become a Law

Substitute Plan Offered Covering Same Ends

The opposition to the proposed Metropolitan Planning Commission has been heard from. This opposition is made up of representatives from the 38 cities and towns, in the so called Greater Boston district. When the matter first came up the City Council appointed a committee to join with similar committees from other places in opposition.

At a recent meeting this special committee reported that while the general plan as outlined contained much of merit the matter of expense was such as to make it prohibitive for Quincy, and requested Mayor and City Solicitor to oppose the proposed bill.

In addition to this the committee became part of the general opposition committee, who appointed a subcommittee in January to formulate a report upon the Planning Board bill, and also the bill for annexation of suburban cities and towns to Boston.

This committee included A. L. Cutting of Weston, W. O. Souther, Jr., of Cohasset, F. H. Gilson of Wellesley, C. B. Humphrey of Swampscott, A. A. Giliano of Hull, Abner Morse of Canton and Councilman C. A. Ross of Quincy. This committee has now made its report.

THE BILL.

The bill, to which the committee objects, is a proposition advised by the Metropolitan Planning Commission, which was authorized by the Legislature of last year.

It provides for the appointment of a commission of five, three commissioners to be named by the Governor and two by the Mayor of Boston. The commission under the bill is empowered to pass upon every permanent improvement if it is Metropolitan in character, and if the bill becomes a law all cities and towns will be forbidden to make improvements which affect more than one municipality without the authority of the Metropolitan Planning Board.

The character of the proposed improvement is to be determined by the board, and it is also to be classified by the board for the purpose of dividing the cost between the cities and towns in the district.

(Continued on Page Two.)

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street — Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912. — Feb. 24—to May 1

ENDS HIS LONG PASTORATE

Rev. Ellery Channing Butler Ends 18 Years' Pastorate

RETIRING REGRETTED

Thursday, Feb. 29, ended one of the longest pastorates in our city, that of Rev. Ellery Channing Butler, after eighteen years of service as pastor of First church.

Last year at the annual parish meeting his letter of resignation, to take effect March 1, 1912, was read and most reluctantly accepted. In the early summer Mr. Butler became ill and has been unable to occupy his pulpit since. Through the fall and winter there have been able preachers of the faith in the pulpit each Sunday, and from them a new pastor, Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, was called, and entered upon his duties March first.

Mr. Butler came to Quincy from Beverly, where he was pastor of First church for twenty-five years. eH was installed over the Quincy church June 5, 1894. This event was a notable one in the church history, among the well-known Unitarian clergy assisting in the installation ceremony, were Rev. Charles T. Billings, Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, Rev. Edward A. Norton, Rev. James DeNormandie, Rev. John W. Day, Rev. Daniel Monroe Wilson, former pastor, and Rev. James E. Bagley of the Wollaston Unitarian church.. Rev. Edward Norton of Bethany church gave the welcome to the city.

In all these years in Quincy the most harmonious relations have existed, and the severing of the tie has been regretted and a sad occasion for pastor and people. However, although now relieved from the active duties of a big church, Mr. Butler will continue his residence in Quincy and his interests in the church and his former parishioners so far as his health will permit. (

During his illness and convalescence he has had the kindly thought of all his parish, which has been expressed in many helpful ways and in the years to come he may feel assured of the nearness of many friends, not alone in the parish, but throughout the city.

DEFENDANTS DISCHARGED.

William Walsh and Robert Walsh, who were charged with assaulting James McLaughlin on Water street, Feb. 3, were discharged after a hearing in the district court this morning. McLaughlin claims that the two defendants took a bottle of whiskey from him on the train, that evening and when he saw them later at Brewers' corner and demanded the liquor they made an assault on him cutting him in the face and bruising his body.

The defendants' story was that McLaughlin and another man took the whiskey from the senior Walsh who when he arrived home got his son and started out to get it back, and what assault there was grew out of this attempt.

☞Toast made from PRATT'S BREAD is better for your children than cake.

Quality Is Our Watchword!

Quality is the fundamental principle in good storekeeping as in farming.

It costs no more in the transportation, handling, warehousing, insurance, number of people employed, display, and advertising, for good qualities than for poor.

Dealing may safely be closer in good quality stuffs; quantities may safely be larger; satisfaction and good-will will assuredly be greater.

Quality is our watchword!

Navel Oranges, doz., 20c, 30c
Are now right in their prime
Florida Oranges, doz., 23c
Fancy Grape Fruit, 2 for 25c
Large Size, Seedless

EGGS AND BUTTER
HAVE TAKEN A "TUMBLE" IN PRICE

CANNED GOODS

Asparagus Tips	20c
Hatchet Brand Wax Beans	10c and 12 1-2c
Red Kidney Beans	10c
Hatchet Brand Corn	12 1-2c
Hatchet Brand Cranberry Beans	10c
Rival Brand Horticultural Beans	12c
Little Quaker Lima Beans	15c
Rival Brand Raspberries	18c
Sliced Peaches	10c
Pine State Sweet Corn	10c

New Maple Syrup bottle, 25c, 50c
Prepared Mustard Large jars 9c, 3 jars 25c
Williams Sweet Relish Very fine 10c
Campbell's Tomato Catsup Bottle 10c

IT BEATS AN EGG IN HALF A MINUTE
The Lightning Mixer
35 cents

R·E·FOY & CO
COR. WATER AND QUINCY STS.
QUINCY ADAMS

NOT BEGGING FOR CHARITY

Simply Appealing for Funds for Support of Association

$2,124 PLEDGED

Rev. Dr. Asher Anderson made a splendid address of encouragement to the workers at their meeting for reports in Association hall, Thursday evening. The speaker showed clearly they were not begging for funds to support a charity, but in a manly manner appealing to the men of Quincy to support an institution that is today doing more effective work among our men and boys than any other.

SECRETARY BROMLEY.

He pointed out the fact that it was a business institution. The more money the people of Quincy invest in it ,the greater will be the returns they receive. Close your purse to this great work and you close the door of hope—of health—of happiness to the boys whose need is greatest.

The speaker praised General Secretary Bromley very highly. Told how he knew him and the splendid work he had done in Connecticut. He as-

(Continued on Page Six.)

WEST QUINCY NOT UNANIMOUS

Some Opposition to Development of Port of Boston

TO BE DEBATED

A regular meeting of the Ward 4 Improvement society was held Thursday evening at its club rooms. The main discussion of the evening was on the proposed development of the Port of Boston, as outlined by Gen. Bancroft at the Board of Trade banquet. There was considerable discussion on the question. Some favored the development as outlined while others seemed to think that the whole plan was one that would benefit large corporations rather than the business interests at large.

No action was taken on the question at this meeting, but it was decided to devote an entire evening to the discussion of the subject of Metropolitan planning and harbor development. This meeting will be held Thursday evening March 14. The Entertainment committee will meet next Thusrday evening to arrange for a smoke talk to be held on the evening of the debate.

The only other matter to come up was the appointing of a committee consisting of the President Stephen B. Little and George F. Elcock to attend the boulevard hearing this morning at the state house.

MRS. M. TERESA HART.

The funeral of Mrs. M. Teresa Hart, wife of Robert J. Hart, of 347 Hancock street, took place this morning from her late residence. A high mass of requiem was celebrated in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic, by the pastor, Rev. Fr. John P. Cuffe. The musical portion of the mass was the Gregorian chant, rendered by the regular choir under the direction of organist Miss Louise Costello. Edward D. Barrett was in charge of the funeral arrangements and burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, West Quincy. The deceased had been a resident of this city about a year.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

The Jones' Special Derby $2.50

Most Men Say It's Worth More

IS HERE READY FOR SPRING

The styles are exact copies of the $3.50 and $4.00 hats—low crowns, wide brim and extra fine finish. Of course some medium height crowns and medium brims (conservative hats) are here too—sold with the Jones guarantee to satisfy.

GET UNDER A JONES SPECIAL, AND SMILE

The Lamson & Hubbard Soft and Stiff Hats

Are well known as being fashion's leaders. They represent all that is best in style and quality. $3.00

The Best Derby in Quincy for $2.00

"You've got my goat, I can't manufacture a hat like that to be sold for $2.00," said a hat manufacturer a few days ago when I asked him what he wanted for a hat of that quality. "Really," he said, "that hat is actually worth 75 cents more." Going some—isn't it?

SOFT HATS

Will be more than popular this coming season. Come in and get a hat to fit your head and face. $1.00 to $3.00.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

L Mar. 1-2 4 O-1w

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Unless spring is going to bring some really beautiful hats for women we do not care how long it remains cold.

Bath tubs in farm houses are being urged to make farm life popular, but would Uncle Reuben go home nights if he knew a tubbing awaited him?

Ex-Gov. Herrick is to be minister to France He should make it his duty to go around to Maxim's at daylight, lead home the American tourists, and put them to bed.

A poetical newspaper contemporary says he hears the rustle of the silken skirts of spring, but to us it makes a noise more like the hoop-skirts of the spring poet.

It's strange that the papers keep mentioning that Col. Roosevelt has painted his barn and that Col. Bryan has shingled his piazza,, when they know how firmly both these gentlemen are opposed to publicity.

The Manchus announced the other day that they were going to abdicate, but we shall not believe that they intend to support a democratic republic until they go out and spade up the garden.

No use for Secretary Knox to call on our neighbor Miss Columbia now. Ali his polite remarks about the weather and the Smart Set would be interupted by her determination to talk about the back yard boundary.

THE SPRING POET.

Every country editor knows her She is a little elderly woman with a sweet face and a shy manner, and wears a sober gown slightly rusty from wear. Her reticent manner suggests that her life never gave her the needed outlet for emotion that her heart craved. So she writes little jingles for the poet's corner, which express thoughts she is too timid to put into spoken words.

The county editor does not welcome them. They cost as much for type setting as news about Abe Johnson's hog killing, and attract about one fiftieth as many readers. But the haunting sweetness of the poet's face is commonly too much for his business judgment.

And the spring poet is by no means a myth. The persiflage of smart paragraphers may have driven her a little closer into her reticent self. She does not pluck up courage as frequently to visit the newspaper office with her productions. But we are confident that they are done at home as of yore, and read amid the applause of emotional nieces and female cousins.

It is an interesting subject for speculation as to why the coming of spring produces so much poetry writing. Looking over an index of our leading magazines the other day, we found forty poems on spring, to twenty-seven on autumn, twelve on winter, and but three on summer.

Is it not strange that in summer, the very high tide of nature, when her power and her beauty reach their highest point, the activity of the poet sinks almost to zero?

All which shows that what stirs man's heart is not achievedment but achieving. The money getter is really happier when he is struggling for his fortune, than he is after he gets it. So while nature is toiling to replace winter's shroud with summer's tapestry, our heart is stirred by the struggle. But when the glorious promise is fulfilled, our little hearts are soon sated, and beauty and abundance of life soon become a tale that is told.

Autumn as will have been seen above also appeals to the poet, particularly to the very young. At the beginning of life there is a certain pleasure in the melancholy of decay. But after one has journeyed along the way a time, that melancholy becomes too realistic a reminder of sorrow and disappointment.

Even winter stirs more poetic flame than summer's lavish tide, as expressive of a self-contained poise, and endurance of storm or cold. But it is only the glories of spring that really fill the heart for all, but the very young, bringing with them the renewal of man's labor, the fecundity of Mother Nature, and the presage of a spiritual resurrection, and life that shall never die.

INTELLIGENT BUYING

One of the great reasons for patronizing home trade is that it offers the best facilities for intelligent buying.

Time spent talking over a purchase with an intelligent salesman is well invested. From our personal observation, it seems to us that our merchants are making more and more effort as years go by to drill their salespeople in ability to impart intelligent information.

A good clerk does not feel satisfied with the sale unless she has reason to think that a customer has secured something that really fits her needs, and that has sufficient quality to be economical in the long run. The great majority of our salespeople, as it seems to us, make a consistent effort to render this service.

We have visited great stores in distant cities where a very different story would have to be told. The larger portion of the clerks looked like heedless young folks whose minds were on theatres and dances, and who were too immature to fit themselves to sell goods intelligently.

Furthermore, when you buy goods in a home store, you have time to talk your purchases over with the clerk. On a hurried shopping excursion to some distant city, or still worse on a mail purchase, you do not find or take the time necessary to get the bottom facts even if the clerks are able or willing to give them.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

1—Ladies' Night—Wollaston Lodge, A. F. and A. M.—Alpha Hall.
2—Vaudeville—Q. H. S. Girls—High School Hall.
2—Food Sale—Ladies' Aid—Wol. M. E. Church.
3—Class Initiation—Sons of Veterans.
5—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
5—Wollaston Aux.—Woman's Board Missions.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Literature Class—Mrs. H. J. Gurney—Home of Mrs. A. E. Avery.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Wollaston Alliance.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
28—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

UNIVERSALIST WEEK SERVICES

Brother of Former Pastor Speaks at Thursday Meeting

TONIGHT'S MEETING

Thursday night's speaker at the Uiversalist church was Rev. Elbert W. Whitney of Waltham. His brother, Rev. George Wallace Whitney, had a very successful pastorate here from 1872 to 1878. Before beginning his sermon, Mr. Whitney expressed a personal interest in the welfare of the church, having known something of its history and people during that period; but he had to confess that the faces before him were for the most part strangers, a generation having come and gone since that time.

Mr. Whitney is a preacher of force and earnestness and was listened to with close attention. He spoke from the text, "She hath done what she could." The breaking of the alabaster cruse and the anointing of Jesus was a small thing. It was the purpose that made it memorable. This woman had done all that she could to show her reverence and love for Jesus.

It has been affirmed that everything in the world has a use, even the weeds and plants that have been regarded as noxious and nothing but annoyance, and the elements that are most destructive. But the nettle that stings the flesh has been put to a variety of good uses. The force that in the storm brought destruction and terror to the heart of the savage is now utilized to furnish us light and heat and carry our messages and afford the power for propelling our electric cars. It is reasonable to conclude that every man and woman in the world has a special work; everyone is made to fiill his place and serve a peculiar purpose. Everyone is a little different from everyone else, therefore everyone has a unique task set for him.

Everyone has ability. He can do something. His talent may be one, or two, or three. He is not responsible for the talents God has given him, few or many, but he is responsible for the use he makes of them. We often excuse ourselves for doing nothing because we are unable to do the large thing. But the great fabric of the world's life is woven out of the contributions, the labors and gifts of that great middle class whose work is never reported in the papers or given any fame. The speaker closed with a plea that all do what they can to serve the church that is set to forward the work of God and promote the highest well-being of mankind.

Tonight, Rev. Ransom A. Greene, D. D., pastor of the Universalist church, in Charlestown will preach.

The closing service of these series will be Sunday night when Rev. Chas. Conklin, D. D., will preach upon "The Distinctive Message of the Universalist church."

OFFICER BRINGS A CIVIL SUIT

Officer George F. Phillips has brought a civil suit against Mrs. Margaret A. Merriam, proprietor of a bungalow store at Houghs Neck He seeks the sum of $300 for defamation of character. It is alleged that sometime ago a load of coal was by mistake delivered at Phillips place instead of that of the Merriam woman. It is alleged that the woman referred to the officer as a "bum" and that she declared he had been seen by her rolling about in a drunken state. Phillips gave her two weeks in which to appologize and then brought suit.

PROPOSALS WANTED

Sealed Proposals, stating price per page, are hereby invited for furnishing, printing and delivering to the City of Quincy, 900 copies of the City Report of 1911—800 copies to be in paper covers and 100 copies to be bound in cloth.

First quality 60-pound paper to be used, samples to be furnished by the City Clerk. The books are to be delivered within eight weeks after the contract is awarded.

Proposals should be marked on the outside of the envelopes "Proposals for City Reports" and will be received in the City Clerk's office until twelve o'clock M. March 9, 1912. All bidders will be required to conform to the provisions of Chap. 517, of the Acts of 1906, or any amendments thereof. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

EUGENE R. STONE, Mayor.
Quincy, Feb. 29, 1912. 29-3t

FRIENDSHIP, LOVE, TRUTH

(Continued from Page One.)

liam Patterson, Thomas J. Smith, Joseph Carruthers, Thomas E. Furnald, Edward L. Goodridge, Tobias H. Burke, Jesse F. Curtis, William J. Williams and Charles B. Tilton.

It was but a few minutes past the hour of 9 o'clock when the announcement to form for the grand march was made. This march was very nicely executed and was participated in by 92 couples, which more than circled the hall. It was led by Noble Grand, Arthur H. Dunstan and Mrs. Dunstan. The came His Honor Mayor Stone and Miss Stone, D. Edward MacDonald, Mrs. MacDonald, Abel S. Gomez and Mrs. Gomez, Charles H. Wood and Mrs. Wood, Charles Barron and Mrs. Barron, James Moorehead Jr., and Mrs. Moorehead and William S. Esau and Miss Esau.

These composed the first eight couples and as they came down the centre first by couples, then fours, eights and sixteen front it made a pretty picture to look upon. Especially so was the line of sixteen front. The alignment was almost perfect and it received well deserved applause from those who watched the scene from the balcony.

The director of the march was James Thomas, a member of John Hancock lodge and much of the credit for its success was due to him. As the marchers again came down to couples and advanced up the centre of the hall they were met by two veteran members of Mt. Wollaston lodge, Tobias H. Burke and William J. Williams, each having a basket on his arm holding dance programs, which were distributed, among the participants.

The march over, the order of 20 numbers was entered into with spirit. While the larger part of the numbers were the more popular modern dances there was a sprinkling of quadrilles, and other square dances. The orchestra played all of the popular airs for the numbers, which included a number of selections from the "Pink Lady" and there was hardly one of these numbers that did not receive two and three encores.

There was a brief intermission near midnight during which a tempting lunch was served in the annex. In fact owing to the limited quarters for serving lunch it was announced that it was ready to serve at 10 o'clock. This made it possible for those who desired to take an early departure to participate, as well as to in a measure to do away with a grand rush at intermission when everybody desired to be served at one time.

The ball came to an end at 2 A. M. with a waltz, "Come to our next" and as the participants reached the street special cars were found in waiting for Neponset and West Quincy.

The committee of arrangements to whom much of the credit for the success of the affair was due included Mathew Swanson, Chas. S. Jones, D. Edward MacDonald, Abel S. Gomez, Charles H. Wood, William A. Richards. The chairman of the committee was Charles Barron, while Frank L. Carleton was the treasurer and Arthur H. Dunstan the secretary.

The floor director was D. Edward MacDonald and the assistants, Abel S. Gomez and Charles H. Wood while the aids included Henry L. Kincaide, Howard C. Andrews, Charles L. Hammond, Maynard C. King, Charles Barron, William S. Esau, William A. Richards, Frank W. Nightingale, Albert Clark, Arthur H. Dunstan, Walter C. Brayshaw, John R. Richards, George F. Spooner, Ernest R. McConnell, Frank W. Flowers, James Moorhead, Jr., Gilbert A. Booth, William Westland.

All of the officers of the ball were distinguished by pretty badges. Thus ended the 1912 annual ball which was pronounced among the most successful in the history of Mt. Wollaston lodge.

FAMILY SHOT TO DEATH

Bullets In Heads of Man, Wife and Their Two Daughters

San Francisco, March 1.—The bodies of Samuel J. Fisher, his wife and two grown daughters were found in the family home here, each with a bullet hole in the head. A revolver was found in Fisher's hand and he is believed to have shot the others and then killed himself.

Mrs. Fisher and the two daughters, Ruth, 17 years old, and Arleen, 18, were killed in their beds. No motive has been discovered.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

A 10-cent package of
NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT
"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"
has made two thick wholesome, savory pies, since 1884.
MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

REPORT OF OPPOSITION

(Continued from Page One.)

OBJECTIONS.

In its report the protesting committee raises 15 points against the proposed board. There is no public demand for such a commission, say the committee, and the report of the Planning Commission "is especially lacking in evidence as to the necessity for a new commission."

The committee further says: "The objects of the Planning Commission can be carried out through existing commissions so far as objects can be accomplished advantageously by any commission.

"Some of the objects proposed are under existing conditions visionary and not practical, such as 'the better distribution of areas and of buildings for residence, manufacturing, trade and transportation.

"The bill assumes that the average judgment of the public authorities in the several cities and towns has been bad; that they need advice upon all local matters, such as sites for public buildings, parks, playgrounds and other public uses. This assumption is wrong.

"The bill provides that each locality may carry out its own plans after the expiration of one year from their disapproval by the planning board. This will not produce coordination.

"The apportionment commission which is created by the bill is impracticable and will be a large expense to the suburban cities and towns.

"The Metropolitan Parks District, over which the planning commission proposes to exercise jurisdiction, was created for purposes very different from the purposes of this bill. The proposed district is an illogical one.

"A commission whose powers are purely advisory, and which is established by the State, should be for the benefit of the whole State. This is the general rule as to the other State commissions.

"No city or town should be forced into a Metropolitan District against its will.

"Once a Planning Commission is created, and has established its offices and office staff and made its plans, it will not be contented merely to advise. It will inevitably ask for authority to execute.

"Co-operation is desirable. We seek to secure voluntary co-operation. This bill aims at compulsory co-operation or coercion.

"If this Planning Commission develops any vitality and becomes an effective working board it will eventually absorb many of the most important functions of government Local self-government will be weakened and deprived of many of its functions.

"By permitting the Planning Board to decide that local improvements conflict with improvements classified as Metropolitan by the board, the board may prevent local improvements from being carried out as locally planned.

"The advocates of the measure assert that annexation to Boston must eventually come, and that the present bill tends to ward off anexation. We cannot agree with those conclusions."

MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION.

For the purpose of accomplishing what is sought by the proposed legislation the committee suggests leg formation of a voluntary association by cities and towns within the Metropolitan District. It is to be called the "Municipal Association."

Its objects, as set forth by the committee, in a draft of the constitution are "to promote the spread of knowledge among cities and towns on all matters affecting their general welfare; to obtain and publish information concerning all proposed legislation; to consider any and all questions which affect the public; to aid in securing more active and efficient co-operation between the several cities and towns upon all matters where co-operation is found to be desirable."

Any city or town within any of the Metropolitan Districts and any other city or town which may be admitted by vote of the association is entitled to membership. Each city and town is entitled to send one delegate to be a member of the General Council of the association.

Mayors, members of Boards of Aldermen or City Council, Selectmen, ex-Mayors, ex-Aldermen, City solicitors, town council, ex-City solicitors and former town council may join the association.

Present county commissioners and members of any State board or commission may become honorary members of the association, but without the privilege of voting.

The officers of the association are to be a general council, composed of one member from each municipality which joins the association, an executive committee of not less than five and not more than nine members, and a secretary-treasurer.

It is proposed that there be committees of the general council to consider the various classes of public improvements in which cities and towns in the Metropolitan District are interested.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Negro Trooper Is Convicted of Slaying Three Persons

Burlington, Vt., March 1.—Guilty of murder in the first degree without capital punishment was the verdict returned by a jury in the federal court here against Matthew Carlyle, a negro trooper of the Tenth cavalry, who shot and killed three negroes last October.

Carlyle, who received the sentence of life imprisonment by Judge Martin without emotion, will be taken to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

It is understood all members of the jury decided the defendant was guilty of murder in the first degree and that there was a long discussion as to whether capital punishment should be incorporated in the verdict.

Good
Banking Service

This bank solicits business of the citizens of Quincy. Its intention is always to treat its customers courteously and considerately.

All its privileges are theirs.

Call and gain fuller information of its worth to you.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Store Open Tonight Until 9 P. M.

Not Only Good But Uncommon

That is to say uncommonly good

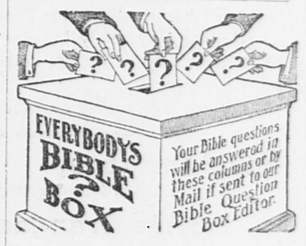
Every one of over 300 floor rugs now on our swing display rack will measure up to that description. We want you to see these rugs — note their high quality and low prices. Read over these four items and just remember we have sixteen different kinds and many grades of each.

Typical Kincaide Values

$14.00 Tapestry Brussels 8-3 x 10-6 $9.75
27.00 Seamless Velvet 9 x 12 17.98
28.00 Sanford Axminster 9 x 12 19.98
32.50 Royal Wilton 9 x 12 25.00

Henry L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges



Q—Will you kindly explain Philippians i, 23, "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better?" (Derila).

Answer.—The context shows that the two things in the Apostle's mind (and which to choose he "wot not") were life and death. A third thing, however, enters in, which he has no difficulty in deciding is far better than either living in the flesh or dying in the Lord. This he earnestly desired, viz., the coming again of Christ, at whose return he hoped to be changed, made like Him, and be with Him. The Greek word translated "depart" in the above quotation is the same as that translated "return" in Luke xii, 36, and has the same meaning. Jesus said to his disciples: "If I go * * * I will come again." In coming again (the Father sending Him—see Acts iii, 20), He would "depart" from the Father and at the same time "return" to His disciples. Had the Apostle's words "to depart" been translated "for the returning" they would be equally correct, and would harmonize with the other Scripture.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA.SNOW & CO.

DON'T

BE A

Calamity

Howler

DON'T LISTEN

To the down and outs that tell you

Quincy Is Gone

TO THE

DEMNITION BOW WOWS

WHY ?

There was built in Quincy

One Million Dollars' Worth

OF HOUSES IN 1911

AND EVERY HOUSE IS OCCUPIED

What better evidence of prosperity do you want ? Now add to this $250,000 worth of other buildings built the same year.

NOTE—These are official figures from City Hall.

THIS SPRING

The Fore River Shipbuilding Co. have

EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS

in contracts for

Battleships and Merchant Vessels

and other business amounting in total to

Thirteen and One-Half Million Dollars

Quincy's world-known

GRANITE BUSINESS

will do its

THREE MILLION DOLLAR

business in 1912, and then come

THE TUBULAR RIVET and STUD CO.

and the

BOSTON GEAR WORKS

both more than busy.

QUINCY has the best and most promising location for immediate future development, of any city in New England.

Why Not Invest Your Money At Home?

We need one thousand more houses and can let every one.

AT QUINCY POINT

I have Twelve House Lots 3 minutes from the Fore River Gate, five of them, corner lots, bound to increase in value. The terms will be made so easy that you can buy them almost without an effort on your part.

Accepted street, city water, gas and electric lights at your door. Remember at this office the poor man's dollar looks just as large as the rich man's dollar.

Courteous treatment to all, come in and talk it over. The only trust that controls us is our trust in Quincy's future.

Yours to command,

FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE

19 Temple St., Quincy

28-4t

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

"THE ROSE MAID."

The first performance of a light opera considered by such producing experts as Messrs. Werba and Luescher to be a suitable successor to their charming "Spring Maid," is an event of more than ordinary interest. At the Colonial Theatre on Monday evening, March 4th, this form will present "The Rose Maid," an operetta which gives every indication of becoming as popular as her earlier sister. "The Rose Maid" is the work of Bruno Granichstaedten, a Continental composer whose name is already familiar to American music-lovers through the rendering here by the large concert orchestra of his cabaret songs and selections from his light operas. Adrienne Augarde, the English favorite who scored substantial successes in this country in "The Dollar Princess" and "The Duchess of Dantzig," has been imported from London for the title role, in which her winsome personality and pleasing singing voice should be admirably displayed. Edith Decker, recalled for her rendition of the prima donna role in "Havana," has a similar part in "The Rose Maid". Juliette Dika, J. Humbird Duffey, Robert E. Graham, Robert M. Bottomley, Eugene Reading, Harry Lambert, Edward Gallagher, Albert Shean, Arthur Laceby, Dorothy Follis and Ethel Kelly complete the cast. There is a large chorus and an orchestra of forty under the direction of Max Bendix, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera House.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.

Crowned with the success of two metropolitan cities "The Deep Purple," Paul Armstrong's powerful play of the Great White Way, added another laurel to its wreath of fame by scoring an instantaneous success upon its first presentation at the Plymouth Theatre last Monday night. The play presents one of the most graphic pictures of New York's underworld and exposes in a realistic manner methods utilized by a gang of thieves in their efforts to work the "badger game" on a western mining engineer. How the plot is balked by the courage and resourcefulness of the engineer and the wit of Kate Fallon, a former thief, gives occasion for a series of strong scenes and life-like character delineations in the hands of an unusually good company. The play is a bit of real life transplanted to the stage that should interest the average theatregoer who is unfamiliar with how the underworld exists. To quote the Boston Journal: "The play is one of those stirring dramas that sends the chills up and down the back, yet withal there is a thread of human that runs through it all that makes it the success it has been." while the Boston Post said: "The Deep Purple' grips the emotions. It isn't dull for a second. It thrills and the further the play progressed the thrillinger grew the thrills." "It is a bully little play and it moves with a snap and a go from start to finish. There are no long conversations, no dul l moments; everybody is on their toes all the time. And to insure its success there are good actors." says the Boston Globe.

B. F. KEITH'S.

With Jesse L. Lasky's new operetta, "California," Bert Fitzgibbon, and Howard and Howard among the principal features, next week's bill at B. F. Keith's Theatre promises to be one of the strongest and most diversified of the season. "California" is the prettiest and most pretentious production ever staged by Jesse Lasky. It is a real American operetta, with book by Cecil DeMille, author of "Strongheart," lyrics by Grant Stewart, and music by Robert Hood Bowers, composer of "The Vanderbilt Cup" and "The Red Rose." The title role is in the hands of Miss Leslie Leigh, one of the stars of the New York Folies Bergere during its brief existence. The scene is laid in lower California, at an old Spanish mission threatened with destruction as a railroad wishes to run a new line right through the property. The comedy is in the hands of Austin Stewart, who has the part of an English lord, owner of the railroad, the music being of exceptional quality, the catchiest number being a duet, "I Love You, My Own." Bert Fitzgibbon, known as "The Daffy Dill," will try to live up to his title by telling a lot of crazy stories and singing some insane songs. Howard and Howard return after a long absence with a new act; the Joseph DeKoe troupe present a remarkable acrobatic novelty; and other features will be Minnie Allen in a pianologue; and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry in a new edition of "Hensfoot Corner."

THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER.

It will be welcome news to the lovers of music as well as comedy to learn that the greatest comic opera of modern times, "The Chocolate Soldier," is to play a limited engagement at the Majestic Theatre following the present attraction. The Strauss opera played to a record business in this house last year, and during the six weeks of the engagement many hundreds were disappointed in not being able to obtain seats. To these particularly its second advent in this city will be welcome, especially as it will be interpreted by practically the same splendid cast as gave it here during its long run.

"The Chocolate Soldier" is one of the few operas of the present day that can be heard over and over again with even more delight than on a first hearing, and so it is confidently expected that many who saw the work before will renew their pleasant acquaintance with its inimitable comedy and its glorious music, than which there has been none more popular written since the days of Gilbert and Sullivan.

In some respects, particularly in the prima donna role of Nadina, and the title role of The Chocolate Soldier, the cast has been strengthened. Miss Alice Yorke is the leading soprano and it has been said that no more delightful performance of this great part has ever been given. Chares H. Bowers is the Chocolate Soldier and the country has rung with praise of his work.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

At the Castle Square next week, John Craig will revive "The Private Secretary," William Gillette's farcical play which has been the success of many a season. It still holds its own as one of the funniest plays ever presented on any stage, and it has achieved equal popularity in Europe and in this country. The version given at the Castle Square is that which has been acted many times in Boston by Mr. Gillette himself. The scene of "The Private Secretary" is laid in London, and its successive episodes involve a group of characters that are persistently humorous. Among them are a returned East Indian, a Bond Street tailor, a bailiff, a cockney lodging-house keeper, and the ingenious clergyman who gives to the play its title, the Rev. Robert Spaulding. For three acts there are rollicking episodes that keep the audience continuously a-laughing. The title r oles will be played by Mr. Craig himself, and Donald Meek and George Hassell will have prominent roles in the cast.

SHUBERT THEATRE.

John Mason aided by his New York Thirty-ninth Street Theatre players will begin his second week at the Shubert Theatre Monday evening, in "As A Man Thinks," a new four-act drama written especially for Mr. Mason by Augustus Thomas, the famous author of an earlier Mason dramatic success. "The Witching Hour," as well as a dozen other well-known and celebrated plays, including "Arizona," "The Earl of Pawtucket" and The Harvest Moon." The new play enjoys the remarkable record of a year and a half's run in New York and the endorsement of the entire Gotham press. The Messrs Shubert have given Mr. Mason the support of the precisely original Thirty-ninth Street Theatre Company, and every scenic detail of the New York production is used in the local presentation. "As A Man Thinks" shows us another type of character especially written for John Mason, as Mr. Thomas says he patterned Dr. Selig, the strangely sympathetic physician in the play, befittingly in tone with the peculiar histrionic ability and personality of the odd star, just as he modelled, for Mr. Mason, Brookfield in "The Witching Hour."" John Mason represents the highest type of American actor. He belongs to the magnetic school of players. Years ago he was the leading male player for all of the great theatric stars, including Edwin Booth. Many theatre-goers pleasantly remember Mr. Mason as a leading spirit with the old Boston Museum Stock Company, the greatest stock company ever organized in America, and who does not recall his fine work as the leading male player in Mrs. Fiske's "Leah Kleshna" and "The New York Idea" companies?

JAMES K. HACKETT.

In considering the importance of the announcement that at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, James K. Hackett is appearing in his greatest success, "The Grain of Dust," it is very interesting to review the wide ground already covered by this ambitious young American artist. "Don Caesar's Return" was his first venture and his rival Faversham used the same subject matter at the same time in his first venture as a star. Mr. Hackett quickly followed this first success with "The Crisis" which was a very big hit indeed and others that followed in rotation were "The Chance Ambassador," "John Ermine of the Yellowstone," "The House of Silence," "Fortunes of the King," "The Walls of Jericho," "The Crown Prince," "John Glade's honor," a reprise of "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "Samson" and his extraordinary interpretation of "Japan Valjean" in "The Bishop's Candlesticks." Seven years ago, when everybody laughted at Maeterlinck's pretentions that "The Blue Bird" was possible for the stage Mr. Hackett saw its value and paid Maeterlinck $5,000 down for both English and American rights which he subsequently relinquished to others. Then, too, he was the first person to buy the rights to "The Garden of Allah."

Leaving aside the pieces in which he played himself, he also produced "The Secret of Polichinelle" and "The Bishop's Move," both with W. H. Thompson as a star: "The Fool and the Girl" with Fanny Ward, "Jack's Little Surprise" with Arthur Byron, "The House of a Thousand Candles" with E. M. Holland and a musical piece, "The Alcayde" with Tom Seabrooke. He was also interested in "The Girl Behind the Counter" and "The White Chrysanthemum" in England. His management of the Hackett Theatre in New York saw that house of success with "The Chorus Lady," "The Witching Hour" and "Salvation Nell" and his other interests as a theatre owner and lessee comprise an interest in the Grand Opera House, Chicago; the Tremont Theatre, Boston and Wyndham's Theatre, London. He also dipped into the farcical side of amusement life and produced "Mr. Hopkinson" and "Public Opinion" both with Dallas Welford as the principal entertainer.

So it can readily be seen that, despite the fact that Mr. Hackett can still claim to be a young man, he has none the less had a brilliant and varied career already both as an actor, an independent producer and an actor-manager.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

Warm Contests Expected for Town Officers on Monday

LOCAL NOTES

The new organ at First church was dedicated Sunday morning. The regular choir, under direction of organist Clough Leighter rendered special music for the occasion. The pastor Rev. Roderick Stebbins, conducted the services, being aided in the dedication by the congregation. The organ had been under construction for over a year.

Some warm contests are expected at the caucuses for Town offices. Thomas A. Crawford and Jacob S. Lincoln are among the prominent aspirants for the Board of Health; Frank L. Richards and Frank P. Fanning are seeking school committee honrs; William A. Will is out for auditor, while George R. Eaton is a candidate for selectman.

The annual town meeting takes place next Monday.

The Milton Woman's Club will observe home afternoon and children's day on March 11.

Mademoiselle Katherine Goodson gave a recital in the Town Hall, Friday evening.

The annual spring meeting of Milton Education society will be held March 24th.

W. L. W. Field will be the speaker at the meeting of the Educational society to be held in the Public Library, March 13th. His topic will be "Teaching the Elements of Reproduction and Heredity."

The celebration of the 250th anniversary of the Town will occur June 11.

"The House Fly," will be the subject of a lecture by Prof. William H. Wheeler at the meeting of the Woman's Club, March 18.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Laura Fisher Legate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Legate of Newburyport to Philip Ware of this town.

The Powell Club gave a Minstrel show in Odd Fellows hall, Thursday evening.

ILLUSTRATED TRAVEL TALKS.

Arthur K. Peck, Lecturer, Traveller and writer, returns to Tremont Temple, Boston, this season with two courses of three illustrated Travel Talks on consecutive Friday evenings and Saturday matinees, commencing March 8. His opening Travel Talk is "Holland, Quaint and Picturesque; the Land of the Windmill and Wooden Shoes." The following week his subject is, "The Grand Canon of Arizona, the Southwest "Wonderland." And for the concluding lecture of this series, he will present "Indian country and Yellowstone Park."

As an extra for Easter week, Mr. Peck is planning to repeat the entire week of April 1st, his success of last year, "Oberammergau and the Passion Play." In connection with this Travel Talk, a rare musical treat is offered, viz., as a supplementary feature fifty voices, soloists and chorus, will present Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary." This music is similar in character to that sung by the Greek Chorus in the original Passion Play at Oberammergau, interpreting various scenes of the play.

The opening Travel Talk, "Holland" is a subject which loans itself to very artistic illustrations, and Mr. Peck has brought within range of his camera many quaint scenes and costumes of the people of "Odd-Land."

Such studies as delight artists, viz., bloomered-trousered, stoic old gentlemen, arm-akimbowed, voluminous-skirted hausfraus, and little children, wee minatures of Mamma and grandmamma, with cap, apron and wooden shoe, have passed before his camera in endless procession.

From aritists' haunts along the canals and by-ways in the region of picturesque windmills and sleek black and white cattle, he traverses the cities of Leyden, Utrecht, Deft, the Hague and Amsterdam, studying historic shrines, scenes of Dutch victories, and the connecting links which, through the Pilgrim Fathers, bind Holland and America.

In the Art Gallaries of The Hague and Amsterdam he has found interesting subjects and reproduces in all their beauty of color, the masterpieces of Rembrandt, Franz Hals and Paul Potter.

The lecturer is well-known to Boston audiences and college men, having delivered Travel Talks many times in Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth university courses.

Their Narrow Escapes

"It was like this," explained the man after the others had told him that he was looking pale. "I was to meet my wife's cousin downtown to buy a present for my wife, and, of course, she was late. I got tired standing in the store entrance, where we were to find each other, so I started down the street to meet her. In the crowd I saw her coming and she was at her old tricks—carrying her handbag tucked carelessly under one arm, ready to tumble out or be grabbed.

"Keeping my eye on the bag, I resolved to give Emma the jolt of her life and scare her into a fit of common sense. Just as I got in front of her I reached out and took the handbag. Then I looked at her triumphantly, condescendingly, accusingly. At least, I started out with the intention of crushing her with that sort of a gaze, but I never completed it, because—well, you see, it wasn't Emma!

"It was, however, a perfectly good imitation of her and she was both scared to death, hopping mad and ready for hysterics. There was one awful second when she opened her lips to scream and at that instant the crossing policeman looked ten feet high to me and fierce in proportion. In the last panic of desperation I grabbed her arm so hard that it hurt her so she couldn't yell and pleaded for my life. I gasped out that it was a mistake and she indignantly assured me it certainly was, the biggest mistake of my life, but that that was what they all said when they got caught.

"I assured her that I thought she was my Cousin Emma and she looked at me scornfully. She was beginning to get back her breath and her courage. She said no doubt Cousin Emma was a most estimable person, but she didn't thank me for taking her for the cousin of a pickpocket and opened her mouth again to scream. I think I shook her then—at any rate, her scream was lost. I never before talked so fast in my life or so much. It was like having three seconds before the drop was sprung to say all I wanted to say. I told her all about my great-grandfather who was in the Revolutionary war and the new house I was building and how respectable the club were to which I belonged and how I had credit at all the stores.

"Either I led her to think I was insane and dangerous or else my piteous gaze roused a spark of humanity in her, because by the time the crowd had drawn the policeman to us she quite snapped at him and told him nothing was the trouble and to go back to waving his hand at automobiles and let her manage her own affairs. Anyhow, she let me slink away without raising any row. I'm still shaking!"

"I expect she didn't mind so much, because she'd spent all her money for Christmas, and there wasn't anything in the pocket book," said one of the other men. "I'm not precisely breathless over your very narrow escape, because I had one that was so much worse a short time ago. Say, couldn't a blind man with his head in a sack tell from one brief glance at me that I am a respectable, straitlaced family man? Could any one ever mistake me for a gay and roistering blade, or does any one exist who would dream of accusing me of flirting?

"Well, the other night I was taking my wife and Jones' wife downtown to dinner. Jones was to join us at the cafe. I stopped to buy a paper and the women walked on ahead. It was terribly crowded on the streets that time of the evening, and my wife is so used to being looked after that I was afraid she would walk under an automobile or sit down and rest on the car tracks or something, so I tore after them. I caught up just as my wife stepped off the sidewalk to the crossing. Slipping my hand under her elbow, I leaned over close and said distinctly—oh, most distinctly—'Be careful, dearie, about crossing the street!'"

"Wasn't it your wife?"

"Of course not!" shouted the man who was telling the story. "It's never your wife in a situation like that!

"Say, the things that woman said to me then and there! The memory of them wakes me up in the night and they make frescoes all over any wall I look at! What did I do? What can a man do when a woman possessing a fine and fluent command of English and plenty of time starts in to relate her opinion of him to his face? I gasped like a goldfish on land and turned pea green and maybe I got down on my knees to her and prayed—I'm not sure.

"My wife and Mrs. Jones were a block ahead and I was glad they were, because my wife is—er—excitable. I didn't want to have to explain to her, too.

"Nothing on this earth would have saved me from being handed over to the policeman by that woman if a passing truck horse hadn't chewed her hat under the impression that the green leaves on it were real. In the excitement I took to my heels. I ran as though I had robbed the bank and had five minutes too few to catch the train.

"Then my wife made me take a bitter tonic three times a day for a week because I had no appetite for dinner that night!"

CALLED HIM.

Her Father—But can you support my daughter?

Her Suitor—I have expectations, sir.

Her Father—See here, young man, I am not nearly as rich as people say I am.

First Church Fair

Wednesday, March 6

Sale commences 2 P. M.

Supper, 6.30 P. M., 35 cents

FANCY TABLE—All kinds of fancy articles, useful novelties, underwear etc.

HOUSEHOLD TABLE — Large assortment of white and colored aprons, towels, dusters and holders.

CANDY TABLE — Delicious home-made confections.

MYSTERY TABLE — One hundred bargains in sealed packages.

GRAB TABLE — The Old Oaken Bucket will please the children.

A REAL "LADY BALTIMORE CAKE" from Charleston, S. C., to be sold by the slice.

28-0t

SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.

This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We are Showing New Patterns in

HAMBURGS and LACES

Choice Designs at Reasonable Prices

Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns, 10c

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Feb. 26	5.00	5.30
Tuesday,	6.15	6.45
Wednesday,	7.15	7.45
Thursday,	8.15	9.00
Friday,	9.15	10.00
Saturday,	10.15	10.45
Sunday,	11.15	11.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	33 degrees
Mar. 1, 1911,	39 degrees
Mar. 1, 1910,	42 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

C. B. M. CLUB LEAP YEAR

One of the prettiest and most charming Leap Year parties of the season was held in Colonial Hall, Thursday evening under auspices of C. B. M. society, comprised of a number of prominent young ladies, all of whom are students at the Quincy High school. The patrons included two teachers of the school, Harold L. Fenner and Coach Arthur Staff.

About forty couples were in attendance and dancing was in order from eight until eleven o'clock. Music for the occasion was furnished by Provost's orchestra, which was forced to responded to numerous encores. The dance order comprised sixteen numbers. Frappe was served during a brief intermission.

The committee included Miss Louise Pratt, president of the society and the following members, Misses Marion McLoon, Irene Potterton, Gladys Du Plesis, Louise Wilson, Esther Briggs.

SCANDINAVIAN SOCIALIST

Fully three hundred dancers gathered in Alpha Hall, Thursday evening on the occasion of a Leap Year party given by the members of the Scandinavian Socialist club. Many visitors were present from various organizations in and about Boston.

Dancing commenced at eight o'clock and concluded at midnight. The affair was pronounced successful in every way.

The Colonia l orchestra provided music for the occasion. Twenty numbers were on the dance order and a short intermission took place at ten o'clock.

The committee in charge was A. Bergstad, John Torin, S. Sjoblom, C. Steinbeck, A. Larson, C. Frederickson and S. Halstrom.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

☞PRATT'S BREAD never varies. Baked scientifically under thorough sanitation.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

PROMISE WAGE READJUSTMENT

Owners of Arlington Mills Grant Concessions to Workers

GENERAL INCREASE OFFERED

Will Not Be Less Than Five Percent and Will Be on Basis of Fifty-Six Hours' Pay For Fifty-Four Hours' Work—Belief That Offer Will Be Accepted by Strikers—Neill Begins Investigation at Lawrence

Lawrence, Mass., March 1.—After seven weeks of bitter struggling between the employes of the Lawrence mills and their employers, there is almost a certainty that the end is in sight, and may come within the next twenty-four hours.

Last night President Whitman of the Arlington mills announced a readjustment of wages in his mills which, it is declared, may be followed by like statements from the American Woolen company mills and the other independents today.

The concessions granted to the strikers by the owners of the Arlington mills include a raise of not less than 5 percent, to be effective March 4, and it is understood that this will be paid for fifty-four hours' work, though paid on the basis of fifty-six hours. Changes on the premium system and in the pay for overtime also are anticipated, though Whitman's announcement does not include mention of these.

These concessions, it is believed, will be accepted by the members of the mill force, who are affiliated with the A. F. of L., and whose leader, John Golden of Fall River, reached this city yesterday afternoon with the announced intention of remaining until a settlement is reached.

The attitude of the Industrial Workers of the World, whose organizers have been leaders of the strike since its inception, is more difficult to determine, for these men repeatedly have declared that no concession whatever will be considered unless it carries with it complete surrender by the mill men.

Today is expected to be the crucial day of the strike for, should the proffer indicated last night be accepted, peace will be restored, while if it is turned down, a general strike of all mill men employed in the mills, in any capacity, under the leadership of the A. F. of L. seems a certainty.

A delegation of fifty strikers and children left Lawrence this morning for Washington to attend a meeting with the house comimttee on labor in the Capitol, in response to the request of Congressman Berger.

Two children representing each nationality of mill operatives, between the ages of 14 and 16 years, and themselves mill workers, were in the party, along with Attorney Roewer, counsel for the strike committee.

Commissioner of Labor Neill, detailed by the department of commerce and labor to investigate such features of the strike as come within the scope of federal law, arrived here and registered at the Franklin House. With him are F. C. Craxton, special agent for the department; F. G. R. Gordon, special immigration inspector, who has already investigated immigration conditions here, and Immigration Inspector Hudson, who is not here in an official capacity.

Commissioner Neill will hold his conferences at the Franklin House. He would make no statement of his plans and announced that he will not give any interviews during his stay.

INTENDED NO HARM

Eighty-Year-Old Man Found to Be Writer of Scituate Note

Scituate, Mass., March 1.—Daniel J. Bates of this town, who is more than 80 years old and a former member of the state legislature, admitted he was the sender of the anonymous letter to Superintendent of Schools Chaffin, which, coming close on the letter received by Rev. Frederick B. Noyes, was at first thought to be a second Black Hand epistle.

The letter sent by Bates was merely a scrap of paper on which was written: "A word to the wise is sufficient," and with it was enclosed a newspaper clipping referring to school and political matters. Bates explained to the satisfaction of Chaffin that he merely meant the note as a joke and hadn't the least idea it would be taken seriously or as harmfully intended.

Taxi Robbery Indictments

New York, March 1.—The grand jury which is investigating the recent taxicab robbery returned four indictments charging robbery in the first degree against four men. Other indictments are expected.

Destroyers Make Fine Record

Washington, March 1.—The sixteen torpedo boat destroyers have made full power runs on which they made a higher average speed than had ever before been made. The best record was made by the Paulding, with an average of 31.8 knots.

CHARLES P. NEILL

Commissioner of Labor Is Studying Lawrence Strike

PASSED A RAISED NOTE

Chicago Man Receives One-Minute Sentence and Fine of $50

Chicago, March 1.—One minute in the custody of a bailiff was part of the sentence imposed by Federal Judge Landis on Frank Cererch, a saloon keeper. In addition Cererch was fined $50.

Cererch pleaded guilty to passing a $1 note raised to $10. He declared he passed the note because he did not want to lose the amount.

"I would ask a small fine," said Captain Porter of the secret service.

"The statute also provides a jail sentence," said the judge. "Get into the custody of the bailiff for a minute and pay a fine of $50."

Cererch obeyed and passed out of the courtroom when the minute elapsed.

APPRECIATES VISIT OF SECRETARY KNOX

Panama Is Very Friendly Toward the United States

Panama City, March 1.—Secretary of State Knox left here yesterday morning with the intention of making a leisurely trip to Colon with frequent stops on the way to afford an opportunity of inspecting the Panama canal.

When taking leave of the large party of government officials who accompanied him to the station Knox told them that he was immensely pleased with the cordiality of the welcome with which he had been received.

Mr. Knox and his companions returned on board the cruiser Washington yesterday afternoon, when anchor was immediately weighed and the warship proceeded for Port Limon, Costa Rica where the party expects arrive today and to continue the journey to the capital, San Jose, at once.

The newspapers here continue to express very friendly sentiments toward the United States and appreciation of the visit of the secretary of state.

"CHAMPION SWIMMER"

No Property Rights In Such Title That Law Can Protect

Boston, March 1.—Judge Hardy in the superior court sustained the demurrer brought by the defendant in the suit of Rose Pitonof, the swimmer, against Alsie Aykroyd, seeking to restrain the Aykroyd girl from using the title "Champion Swimmer of the World."

Judge Hardy holds there are no property rights in such a title that the law can protect, any more than there are rights to the title of champion orator.

As the matter stands at present and as far as a ruling by the court is concerned, both of the girls can claim to be the "champion swimmer of America." Both girls have swum to Boston light.

RUM WASTED ON STEAMER

Crew Forced to Pump Six Hundred Gallons Into Sea During Storm

Boston, March 1.—About 600 gallons of rum went to waste because of bad weather that assailed the steamer St. Ronald, which reached Boston from Rosario and various other South American and Cuban ports.

The rum was in twelve casks, stowed in the after hold. Shortly after the bad weather set in in Tuesday night the casks began to roll and tumble about in the hold and before they could be secured all of them were smashed and their contents flooded the compartment. Later the rum was pumped into the sea.

1912 MARCH 1912

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
					1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24/31	25	26	27	28	29	30

MIGHT INVOLVE TITLE TO CANAL

Lodge Believes That Arbitration Plan Is Too Comprehensive

MENACE TO MONROE DOCTRINE

Foreign Power Making Effort to Get Possession of Bay on Pacific Side of Mexico—Certain Sections of Pending Treaties Should Be Clarified—Bay State Senator Causes a Stir by Pointing Out Perils

Washington, March 1.—The perils of submitting to arbitration questions which affect the vital policies and problems of the nations were outlined in the senate by Senator Lodge, fourteen years a member of the foreign relations committee.

Some of the senator's references to the Monroe doctrine's relation to the arbitration proposed in the pending treaties with Engalnd and France caused a stir. He pointed to the reported efforts of foreign powers to obtain coaling stations and harbors near the Panama canal and declared there was now afoot an effort by a foreign power to gain possession of Magdelena bay on the Pacific side of Mexico. Efforts had been made, he said, to buy the Galapagos islands of Ecuador, near the western end of the canal.

One statement, and one which held the close attention of the senate, was that those who had hoped to profit more than $10,000,000 by the Hay-Herran treaty of 1903 were "even now struggling through assistants in this country who mean to share the spoil to secure by arbitration what they failed to obtain by blackmail and could not seize by violence."

The Hay-Herran treaty was a convention between the United States and Colombia by which the United States was to pay $10,000,000 for the Panama canal route and a rent of $250,000 a year. It was rejected by Colombia. The Panama revolution followed. Colombia is now pressing for an arbitration of her claims.

"The tolls to be charged by us in the Panama canal, which we have built at our own expense, might be brought before a tribunal, wholly or partly composed of foreigners, to be fixed and determined by them," declared Lodge. "Worse than this, our title to our own canal might be called in question. Three successive secretaries of state have refused, and properly refused, to submit our title to the canal to arbitration, and now, under clause 3 of article 3, as I interpret it, we might be forced to submit that title to The Hague court or some outside tribunal.

"Our title to the canal, or to our territory anywhere, is not to be dragged before any arbitral tribunal for examination and determination, and nothing should be subscribed to by us which by any twisting could be construed into a promise that we would submit such a question to any judgment but our own."

Under clause 3 of article 3, Lodge declared, if the commission decided a given question was arbitrable, the president and the senate would be bound, morally, not to object to the special agreement which would follow on the ground that the subject of the agreement was not arbitrable. Clause 3, he declared, carried a promise which the United States could not fulfil under certain contingencies.

"Are you ready to submit to arbitration," he asked, "the right of expatriation, which we have enforced more than fifty years? Will you arbitrate with Russia the question of her right to discriminate against certain classes of American citizens on the ground of race and religion as we discriminate against certain immigrants on grounds of crime and disease? I will not promise to submit those questions to arbitration.

"The Monroe doctrine could not, in general terms, come before the joint high commission; but it would appear there inevitably as incidental, for instance, to the taking of a harbor on the west coast of Mexico as proposed by a foreign power for a naval station and a place of arms."

Asiatic immigration and Confederate states bond claims, he said, were among questions not arbitrable which would be imperilled by clause 8.

Facts as to the treaty making functions of the senate, he declared, were too often overlooked by those "who seem to think that in dealing with treaties the senate, if it happens to differ with the executive, is engaged in a merely selfish struggle for its own prerogatives and is even usurping powers which do not properly belong to it."

Reducing Cavalry In Philippines

Washington, March 1.—Incident to the new policy of reducing the cavalry in the Philippines, the war department has ordered the Fifth cavalry to return to this country.

Ten Perish In Steamer Fire

New Orleans, March 1.—The river steamer J. E. Trudeau was burned at Point Pleasant, La., with a loss of ten lives, all negroes.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN COOKING FISH.

THIS being the season when fish appears on most bills of fare with frequency, it may be useful to have a general idea of how the average fish may be prepared.

The abundance and cheapness of certain kinds commend fish for use in this season of high prices.

They are available in places remote from the ocean, for where sea fish are not to be had there are fresh fish and canned ones. In most towns of any considerable size even sea fish may be bought, thanks to the efficiency of the refrigerator car.

When Making Chowder.

For fish chowder fresh fish are needed. Cod, haddock or lake fish may be used. The following is a good general recipe for chowder:

Fish Chowder With Rice.—It is essential that the fish should first be cleaned and washed, then cut into slices about an inch thick. Put a layer of thin slices of salt fat pork in the bottom of a deep kettle. Then cover these with very thin slices of Irish potatoes. Add a layer of the fish, seasoned well with salt and pepper.

Sprinkle a little minced onion over the fish. Add a layer of cold boiled rice, then thin slices of dry bread, with salt, pepper and bits of butter.

Use another layer of pork, potatoes, and repeat with fish, rice, bread and seasoning. Add a pint of hot water. Cover the kettle closely, and let the contents simmer gently for half an hour. Remove the cover, add a pint of hot cream or rich milk and serve. The cream or milk may be omitted if desired.

Using Up Cold Fish.

Cold fish may make its reappearance on the table in the form of creamed fish.

Fish a la Cream.—Remove the skin and bone from the fish and break into small pieces. Make a good white sauce with a little cream in it and the yolk of an egg. Season with grated lemon peel, chopped parsley, cayenne pepper and salt.

Butter a dish for the oven, put a little sauce at the bottom of the dish, then a layer of fish, and continue till all the fish is used.

Shape, covering it with the remains of the sauce. Make all smooth with a knife. Scatter dried breadcrumbs and grated cheese over the top.

Pour over it a little dissolved butter, set in the oven till all is hot through, then brown the top with a hot shovel if you have not a salamander.

Scalloped fish is another dish in which cold cooked fish may be used.

Fish Rissoles.—Remove the skin and bones from a pint of cooked fresh fish. Flake fine, add a piece of butter the size of a walnut and season to taste, adding a little finely minced onion. Roll pie crust about one-sixth of an inch thick, cut into circles like a saucer, put a tablespoonful of the fish in the center, fold the edges together, dip in beaten egg and fry.

Anna Thompson.

CANNON DEFENDS WILSON

Former Speaker Thinks Secretary of Agriculture Is All Right

Washington, March 1.—"I have known the secretary of agriculture for a long time; he served in the house with me and he has been my friend—personally and politically—for nearly forty years. Whenever he is questioned on the one hand for his ability, and on the other for his integrity, I feel a great deal like the motto of the state from which our speaker hails—they will have 'show me.'"

Former Speaker Cannon paid this tribute to Secretary Wilson in the house. It was applauded on both sides of the chamber and occurred near the conclusion of a general debate in which various members attacked the department of agriculture and the secretary.

FOUR SOLDIERS DEVOURED

Killed and Eaten by Cannibals In Portuguese Colony In Africa

Lisbon, March 1.—A serious revolt, marked by atrocities of cannibals, has broken out in Portuguese Guinea, Africa, and the government rushed a transport with troops to the scene.

News of the uprising contained revolting details. The bodies of four Portuguese soldiers who were killed in fighting were eaten by cannibals at a feast of human flesh.

$5,000,000 Loss In Brewery Fire

Valdivia, Chile, March 1.—The orewery belonging to Anwandter Bros., the largest in South America, was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $5,000,000.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GAS OVEN PRODUCTS

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

800,000 MINERS OUT

Demand That Their Employers Agree to a Minimum Wage

London, March 1.—The settlement of the threatened coal strike is yet far off. The government has not been able to induce all the coal owners to agree to the demand for a minimum wage made by the miners, but Premier Asquith declared last night that if the principle of a minimum wage were not secured by agreement it would be secured by other means.

Fully 800,000 miners have already laid down their tools and will not pick them up again until an agreement satisfactory to the miners' federation is reached. The men have the government behind them, and feel that victory has been won.

It was officially announced late last night that the conference of the cabinet minister with the miners' federation would be continued today.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abedefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abcl	6 35	6 12	lhgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	deb	5 50 r
7 05	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
	8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfecaba	9 13 r
	8 31	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r	8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 32 r
r	9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
	9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
	10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
	11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r	11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
	1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r	1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r	3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r	4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r	5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r	6 46	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
	7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r	7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r	8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r	9 12	a	9 30
r	10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.47, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.28, 8.17, 10.15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.25, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.35, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.35, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Borden's

That all gone feeling in the pit of the stomach—prevalent in growing children and in many adults between meal hours; is instantly relieved by a cup of Borden's Maltd Milk. It nourishes and strengthens without overloading or causing distress as will solid foods when taken into a tired stomach.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE
} Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232--W

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the 35 cent coffee value we are still selling at 25 cts a pound.

Don't forget our Orange Pekoe Tea, the popular tea of today. Value $1.00 per pound. Our Bargain Price is 60c per pound--- "try some."

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Advertise In The Ledger

WILEY WILL NOT THROW UP JOB

Characterizes Rumors as Preposterous and Pure Fiction

STARTED BY HIS ENEMIES

Declares That He Is a "Whole Democrat" and In Favor of Votes For Women—House Committee Will Be Asked to Start Another Investigation of Conditions In Bureau of Chemistry—Confidential Memoranda Made Public Property

Washington, March 1.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, denies that he has any intention of resigning from office. He characterized as "preposterous" and pure fiction the rumors to the effect that he was considering such action and that he probably would come out with a statement attacking Secretary Wilson and the administration.

Dr. Wiley declared that the rumors that he was about to resign undoubtedly came from enemies, who recently had attacked him in other ways.

As to the report that after resigning he would be a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket, the doctor said: "I would not run on that ticket. I am a whole Democrat; that is, the others are only semi-Democrats. I believe in the equal rights of man, the right of women as well as of men to vote. Wherefore, I am a whole Democrat."

Another investigation of conditions in the bureau of chemistry, agricultural department, seems imminent. The house committee on expenditures of this department, of which Representative Moss of Indiana is chairman, will be asked to conduct the inquiry. The situation is such that President Taft may be compelled to take a hand.

Three months ago Wiley wrote a letter to Secretary Wilson setting forth that good results could not be obtained with the existing organization in the bureau of chemistry. This letter was written after the board of food and drug inspection had been reorganized by the dropping of Solicitor McCabe and the appointment of Dr. Doolittle of New York as a member of it.

Announcement was made at that time that Dr. Dunlap would retire as a member of the board. Dunlap, as shown by the investigation conducted by the Moss committee last summer, was responsible for much of the friction in the bureau. He was always antagonistic to Wiley. Notwithstanding the promise that Dunlap would go off the board, he has continued to serve, and there has been constant friction.

The present outbreak was started early this week by the publication of certain memoranda relating to the baking powder cases now pending before the department. Wiley alleges that these memoranda were extracted from the secret files of the bureau by someone who had access to the records of the bureau. It develops that photographic copies of the correspondence extracted were made by persons outside the bureau.

These stolen memoranda were, it is asserted, turned over to persons here in Washington who have for several years been employed to conduct a campaign against Wiley. The object of taking these memoranda from the files of the bureau was to show that Wiley had voted in favor of not prosecuting the baking powder manufacturers for using a small quantity of lead in their products.

Dr. Wiley wrote a letter to Secretary Wilson asking the secretary to make an investigation with the view of ascertaining how the confidential memoranda of the bureau became public property. So far Wilson has not taken any steps to ascertain how the records of the food and drug board fell into the hands of outside parties. This is one of the questions the Moss committee will be called on to investigate.

A $40,000,000 COMBINE

Consolidation of a Hundred Southern Life Insurance Companies

Washington, March 1.—After negotiating three years, plans have been completed for the consolidation of almost 100 life insurance companies in the southern and southwestern states, having an aggregate of $400,000,000 of insurance in force, more than $40,000,000 of assets and more than $10,000,000 of annual income.

Washington has been selected as the headquarters of the new enterprise to be known as the Southern Consolidated Life Insurance company. It will be chartered under the laws of Virginia, with a capital of $500,000.

Banner Year For Stork

New York, March 1.—According to statistics given out by the department of health, 134,542 children were born in the city during the twelve months, the largest number of births ever recorded by the department.

DECISION RESERVED

Woman Accused of Poisoning Babies Repudiates Alleged Confession

New York, March 1.—A vigorous defense of Winifred Ankers, charged with poisoning eight babies in the Brooklyn nursery and infants' hospital, was made by Edward Reilly, her counsel, when she was arraigned before Magistrate Hylan.

Assistant District Attorney Goldstein tried to submit in evidence the woman's alleged confession. This was so strenuously objected to by Reilly that the magistrate reserved decision and adjourned the hearing. Reilly asserted that the police got the confession by means of the third degree and it was inadmissible.

Professor Ferguson of Columbia university, who made an analysis of the stomach of one of the babies, reported that he found a grain and a half of oxalic acid.

JURY DISAGREES IN SNEED MURDER CASE

Hundred and Twelve Hours Trying to Reach Verdict

Fort Worth, Tex., March 1.—Standing seven for acquittal and five for conviction, the jurors who tried John B. Sneed for the murder of Captain A. G. Boyce, the aged Panhandle cattle king, was discharged.

Sneed, a wealthy banker of Amarilla, Tex., believed Captain Boyce had tried to assist his son, Al Boyce, in abducting Mrs. Sneed, and shot Captain Boyce in a Fort Worth hotel.

The jury was out 112 hours. It stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction on the first ballot and the vote never was changed.

ARMY REVOLTS IN PEKIN

Promiscuous Shooting and Hundreds of Shops Are Looted

Pekin, March 1.—A revolt has broken out among a portion of Yuan Shi Kai's troops, some hundreds of whom started a riot last evening. They wrecked and set fire to a number of houses and paraded the streets, shooting indiscriminately.

A strong force of loyal soldiers has been ordered out and is endeavoring to restore order in the city. The greatest alarm prevails among the inhabitants.

The mutineers numbered about 2000. Hundreds of shops have been looted.

Much reckless shooting occurred outside the Chien-Men gate of the Forbidden City, near which the legation quarter is situated. Inside the city proper the situation is quieting.

The rioters claim that their wages have not been paid.

Cardinal Makes Nephew Chancellor

Boston, March 1.—Rev. James P. E. O'Connell, nephew of and private secretary to Cardinal O'Connell, has been appointed chancellor of the archdiocese in succession to Rt. Rev. Mgr. Splaine, who has held the office since 1906.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, FEB 29, 1912. The committee on fisheries and game will give a hearing to parties interested in House No. 665 to provide for increasing the quantity of food fish produced in public waters. House No. 1385 in relation to taking of fish in waters of Cohasset harbor. House No. 718 to provide that the open season for all species of duck shall commence on the fifteenth day of October, at room No. 505, State House, on Wednesday, March 6, 1912 at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Benjamin Sharp, Chairman. C. Burnside Seagrave, Clerk of the Committee. 1-2t

NATIONAL MT. WOLLASTON BANK.

REPORT of the condition of the NATIONAL MOUNT WOLLASTON BANK, at Quincy, in the State of Massachusetts, at the close of business, February 20, 1912.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$631,813 51
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	69 31
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	137,500 00
Bonds, securities, etc.	102,370 50
Banking house, furniture and fixtures	1,000 00
Due from approved reserve agents	68 014 24
Checks and other cash items	2,370 92
Notes of other National Banks	29,595 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	452 70
Lawful money reserve in bank, viz:
Specie	38,175 80
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer, (5 p. c. of circulation)	6,875 00
Total	$918,236 95

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$150,000 00
Surplus fund	50,000 00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	30,446 75
National bank notes outstanding	131,300 00
Due to State and Private Banks and Bankers	376 50
Due to Trust Companies and Savings Banks	10,631 63
Individual deposits subject to check	533,602 00
Demand certificates of deposit	5,600 00
Certified Checks	1,221 07
Cashier's checks outstanding	9 00
Total	$918,236 95

State of Massachusetts, County of Norfolk, ss

I, HORACE F. SPEAR, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

HORACE F. SPEAR, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of February, 1912.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

HENRY M. FAXON,
FRANK S. PATCH, } Directors.
GEORGE H. FIELD,

March 1 1t

UNCLE SAM ALLOWS EXPORTS TO JUAREZ

Rebels Are Given Opportunity to Secure Arms

Washington, March 1.—The United States will not prohibit legitimate exportations, including munitions of war, from El Paso, Tex., into the rebel town of Juarez, Mex., despite the protest of the Mexican ambassador here. This conclusion was reached at conferences among officials of the departments of state, justice and treasury.

From a diplomatic standpoint the situation at Juarez has now returned to precisely the condition that existed ten months ago, when the Maderists held the town and the Diaz government besought this government to prevent arms, ammunition and supplies of food to go through the custom house for the aid of the insurrectos of that time, who are now the government of Mexico.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON. Florist

Storage FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 1238-R Jan.6-3m

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 5-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W

Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

POOL ROOM—For sale cheap price. 4 tables, 14 large framed pictures, show cases and fixtures. Call at 145 Water street, South Quincy. 29-6t

FOR SALE—Household furniture only used one year. Owner going abroad and must sell at once. Address 68 Merry Mount Road, Quincy. 29-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED— Horse, suitable for peddling. Weight 1100 to 1300 lbs. Must be sound. State price and where seen. Address H. S. Ledger Office. 1-3t

WANTED—Three men or women to canvass a staple line in Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth. Fair salary guaranteed. Address S. Toabe, Gen. Delivery, City. 29-3t.

WANTED—Young girl wants light housework in small family. Apply to house rear of 42 South Walnut street, Quincy. 29-3t

FREE

200 Legal Trading Stamps

TO HOUSEWIVES

Send for particulars how to get them. Nothing to buy. Address

Quincy Business Agency
Quincy, Mass.

26—3t

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W

Dec. 23-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 34-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-3m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --

FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES

HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

READ LEDGER ADVS.

TO LET

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy March 1. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 26-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

Call Quincy 501 W

If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.

M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building. Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Quincy Boston Malden Pawtucket Providence Manchester

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO.

OUR FINAL CALL

HALF-PRICE Sale

OF

GOOD SEASONABLE CLOTHING

Means a big saving to you. Don't fail to embrace this opportunity. Seeing is believing.

"A Charge Account"—We open accounts with all trustworthy people in or within 25 miles of Quincy, the same to be paid in convenient partial payments.

Ladies' Misses' and Girls' Coats

Every coat in stock must go, regardless of loss. You will find one you want at your own price.

$1.98 to $9.98

Men's and Youths' OVERCOATS

Quite an assortment left. You can have your choice for $10.98

Men's and Boys' Dept.	Ladies' and Girls' Dept.
12.00 Men's Suits now 5.98	14.00 Ladies' Suits now 6.98
16.00 Men's Suits now 7.98	17.00 Ladies' Suits now 8.50
20.00 Men's Suits now 9.98	25.00 Ladies' Suits now 12.50
25.00 Men's Suits now 12.50	10.00 Polo Coats now 4.98
10.00 Youths' Suits now 4.98	17.00 Polo Coats now 8.50
17.00 Youths' Suits now 8.50	22.00 Auto Coats now 10.98
3.00 Boys' Suits now 1.50	7.00 Thibet Coats now 3.50
5.00 Boys' Overcoats now 2.49	25.00 Kersey Coats now 12.50
7.00 Boys' Overcoats now 3.50	25.00 Plush Coats now 12.50
15.00 Men's Overcoats now 7.50	3.00 Girls' Coats now 1.50
25.00 Men's Overcoats now 10.98	4.00 Girls' Coats now 1.88
5.00 Boys' Overcoats now 2.50	9.00 Girls' Coats now 4.50

Joyce Bros. & Co.

HAVE YOUR PURCHASES CHARGED

13-15 GRANITE STREET, QUINCY

Open Monday, Friday and Saturday evenings

BRIEFS

The Comitas club will conduct a private dancing party in Alpha hall, Friday evening, March 8.

Mrs. Harry Sherburne of South street was the guest, this week of Mrs. Robert Donnelly of Weymouth Landing.

A typical March day. There is an old saw which says, "if March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb." Let us hope so.

James Nash of Upland road, left Thursday for New Orleans, La. He goes as quartermaster on the steamer New Orleans.

The annual ladies' night of Wollaston Masonic lodge will be held tonight at Alpha and Union halls. The program will include an entertainments, refreshments and dancing. ments and dancing.

The Telephone Co. has established a collection agency at the drug store of C. C. Hearn for the convenience of subscribers, who may pay their telephone bills here rather than remit by check to the Boston office.

Col. Henry L. Kincaide is becoming one of our city's large property holders having some of the best locations to be found in the Centre. It is rumored that his latest purchase is the Tisdale place on Washington street, between the D. B. Stetson estate and the new trolley express office.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

BRIEFS

Rev. Bernard S. O'Riley, O. S. A. of Lowell visited friends on Washington street, Thursday.

Lenten services were held in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic, last evening.

Lenten devotions consisting of the stations of the cross and benediction of Most Blessed Sacrament, will be held in St. John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches this evening.

Adolph S. Carm, the well-known socialist labor advocate, of Chicago, will deliver an address on "Labor Problems" in Electa Hall next Sunday evening. The affair is being held under the auspices of the Socialist Labor Party.

SPANISH WAR MONUMENT.

In executive session the committee on state house and libraries voted Thursday to reort a resolve appropriating $50,000 for the erection on the State House grounds of a monument to the soldiers and sailors in the Spanish War.

OBSERVED BIRTHDAY.

Among those who had a bithday, Thursday was Mrs. Alexander Smith, caretaker at the birthplace of President John Adams. Only having a birthday once in four years makes the advent of the day an occasion to observe and Mrs. Smith's relatives and friends saw to it that the day was fittingly observed. Through the day and into the evening there were many callers, gifts and congratulatory messages nad Mrs. Smith will have pleasant recollections of her sixtieth birthday during the coming years until her next birthday four years hence.

RECEIVE BLACK HAND LETTERS

Landlord and Two of His Tenants Receive Letters

MAILED FROM QUINCY

Word was received by the police Thursday of several letters of the Black Hand kind that had been received. One of these letters was addressed to W. J. Hanscom of 28 Freeman street and others have been received by R. Cox of the same address and by William Thompson of 47 Main street, the owner of the houses on Freeman street. The addresses on the envelope was printed and the post office stamp bore the date of Feb. 26 being mailed at Quincy at 6 P. M.

The letter is printed on a small piece of brown paper with a blue pencil. That addressed to Hanscom read. "I put your houses to pieces, I do not hurt peoples, I hate Bill Thompson."

While the letters in no way seem to frighten Mr. Thompson, the Hanscom and Cox families are very much exorcised over the receipt of them. The affair was reported to Officer Larkin, who resides near the Freeman street houses and he notified Chief Burrell who sent for the parties and had them bring the letters to the police station. There seems to be no clew to the writer and the police are inclined to think that the letters were written by some person who had a grudge against Thompson, the owner of the houses. An investigation is being made however and it is possible that an arrest may shortly follow.

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

A large number of students boarded the 1,22 train at the depot for Boston today in company with the Quincy High basket-ball team, who play Newton High this afternoon in the gymnasium of the Young Men's Christian Association of that city. All who witnessed t he game between both teams in the local gymnasium on the afternoon of Washington's Birthday know full well what is expected to occur at Newton this afternoon.

The tie game of last week will be settled without doubt today and the result of the contest, no matter which team is pronounced the winner, will be an undermining factor in determining the championship interscholastic honors of Eastern Massachusetts. To date Quincy High has attained a record that will compare with the record of any High school basketball contingency in the state, for the local boys have participatedin more games than any team now mentioned as a contender for the honors at stake. Such being the case, it is not to be wondered at that a great spirit of enthusiasm has been aroused among the students of Quincy High.

But this spirit should not be temparary. It should continue to exist and should be noticeable in all departments of athletics and as the prospects for a fast baseball team are exceedingly bright, it is hoped that great interest will be taken in those who are to represent the local school on the diamond. We are anxious to see the local players annex a victory today, in order that we may be given a chance to sing the praises of Captain Chapman's team as it issues a challenge to meet all comers for the title.

The battery candidates for the High school baseball team have been practising diligently this week under Coach Staff and teacher-manager Mansur, who himself covered second base two years ago for Brown University in an able manner.

We may begin to congratulate the members of the Quincy A. A. basketball teams at any time for there is no doubt that they have acquired the honors of the Greater Boston league. This is a remarkable record for the local association and Manager Flynn should come in for his full share of credit, because it was through the excouncilman's untiring energy and enthusiasm that the Quincy A. A. was enabled to attain the prestige it now enjoys.

Did you notice how Young McDonald performed at the B. A. A. bouts last Wednesday? Surely the local bloods who have been shouting loudly for this local lad, have every season to vaunt themselves and if the youngster maintains his p resent form, he will bear still greater watching in the future.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR

You try one!

BOULEVARD HEARING

Mayor Stone and Others Favor Proposed Boulevard Bill

HEARING THIS MORNING

Quincy was largely represented at the state house this morning at the hearing before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs on the bill for $240,000 to complete the Quincy Shore Boulevard from Wollaston beach to Hancock street.

The hearing was conducted by Representative Leslie and the bill was advocated by Mayor Stone, Ex-Representative L. F. R. Langelier, C. C. Hearn, president of the Board of Trade, Hon. John O. Hall, secretary of the Board of Trade, and others. Among the others at the hearing who were not called to speak, but signified their approval, were Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane, President Little and George F. Elock of the Ward Four Improvement association, and Representative Piper. A full report of the hearing will appear in the Ledger of Saturday.

CITY SQUARE RUNAWAY.

There was a short, lively runaway in City square this noon and when it was all over the wagon was upside down in the driveway between Dr. Garey's and the market. The team was owned by a Hebrew, whose name could not be learned. The driver took the bridle from the horse to food his, and as he did so, the horse started to run. He turned into the driveway where the team was upset and somewhat smashed.

BOYS' STATE MEET.

Tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock the first event in the 6th annual Boys' State meet will commence when starter Fabyan of Clapp Memorial, fires the gun for the 15 yard dash.

Over 75 boys from Newton, Lynn. Salem, Melrose, Somerville No. Abington, Clapp Memorial, Hyde Park and Quincy will compete in the various events.

In class A, boys under 14 years, the following Quincy boys have entered. J. McGrath, C. Armstrong, W. Welsford, C. Gronberg, K. Briggs, C. Johnson and E. Acklund.

Class B, aged 14 and 15 yars. R. Prout, S. Hunt, J. Smith, G. Daniels, F. Roache, S. Andrews, E. Bates, W. Falconer, N. Kemp and Geo. MacDonald.

Class C. Boys aged 16 and 17 years. T. Djerf, C. Southwick, H. Trask, R. Estey, C. Holmes.

Last year the point trophy was won by Malden, with a score of 24 points. Quincy and Lynn were close behind with 20 and 19 points respectively.

Quincy has a good chance this year to carry off first honors as Trask, Estey and Holmes should prove sure point winners in their class; while Kemp, Prout, Daniels and Andrews in class B, and Briggs, Dronberg, Johnson, McGrath and Welford Class C, should score heavily in their grades.

THE KISSEL KAR.

Owing to the constantly growing popularity of the Kissel Kar and the incessant public demand for illustrations of this car, the Kissel Motor Car Co., Hartford, Wis., has been obliged to publish a new series of catalogues in addition to their regular 1912 port folio.

The new publication contains photographs of all the trucks manufactured by this company from 1500 pound delivery to 5 ton trucks, including chemical fire wagons, hotel busses, ambulances, police patrols, etc. These trucks are all in actual service. Another is a catalogue of pleasure cars showing a full line of semi-touring and limousine. These are considered a work of exceptional art, and worthy the careful perusal of prospective purchasers.

This line is locally represented by L. Scammell & Son, who take great pleasure in showing and demonstrating these cars.

MAKES ITS LEAD MOST SECURE

Quincy A. A. Takes Both Games With St. Alphonsus

JENKINS WAS THE STAR

The members of the Quincy A. A. basketball teams made their leads in both departments of the Greater Basket Ball league still move secure last evening in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, where they triumphed over the fives of the St. Alphonsus A. A. of Roxbury. The first team secured a 47 to 30 victory, while the second team experienced little difficulty in sending down its opponent to a 41 to 20 defeat.

The work of the second team last evening was of a high order, the passing of the ball being exceptionally brilliant.

"Joe" O'Rourke, the plucky right forward of the local senior team, was the star of the main game, getting ten baskets from the floor and four from free tries. The Duggan brothers showed up in their usual brilliant form, "Sid" being credited with five baskets from the floor, while "Dan" had four. For the losers, C. Durkin and Sheerin were conspicuous.

Jenkins was the star of the game between the second teams, although Harmon pressed him closely for the honors. E. Durkin played well for the second team of the losers:

QUINCY A.A.	ST. ALPHONSUS A. A.
O'Rourke rf	lb Connolly
P. Duggan lf	rb McGowan
D. Duggan c	c Sheerin
Hebert rb	lf Moran
Boyle rb
Kelley lb	rf C. Durkin

Score Quincy A. A. 47, St. Alphonsus A. A. 30. Goals from floor, O'Rourke 10, P. Duggan 5, D. Duggan 4, Kelley 2, C. Durkin 5, Sheerin 4, Moran 2, Connolly. Goals from fouls, O'Rourke 4, P. Duggan, Connolly 6. Referee, McGuinness. Scorer P. Chapman. Timer, McCue. Time 20m halves. Attendance 300.

QUINCY A.A. 2d	ST. ALPHONSUS 2d
H. Chapman rf	lb Sullivan
Dackers lf	rb McCarthy
Jenkins c	c E. Durkin
Harmon rb	lf Phinn
M. Chapman lb	rf W. Duggan

Score, Quincy A. A. 2d 41, St. Alphonus 2d 20. Goals from floor Dackers, 7, H. Chapman 6, Harmon 4, Jenkins 3, Durkin 4, W. Duggan 2, Sullivan, McCarthy. Goals from fouls, M. Chapman, E. Durkin 4. Referee, McGuinness. Scorer, P. Chapman. Timer, McCue. Time 20m halves. Attendance 300.

LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY.

Miss Florence Sutherland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sutherland of Whitwell street, observed her first birthday in four years by entertaining about 20 of her little friends at her home. She received many beautiful gifts. Miss Ethel Sutherland and Miss Ava Galvin furnished music and numerous games were played after which refreshments were served. At a late hour ever one left for home with pleasant remembrances of the day.

Among those present were: Helen Galvin, Bernard Walden, Mildred Walden, Annie Barsell, Edith Barsell, John Renalls, George Renalls, Brice Andrews, Alva Galvin, Kenneth Brown Stewart Weilcher, Judith Calberg Ellen Erickson, Mildred Leander, Hilding Larson, Ethel Sutherland, Eleanor Sutherland, Birgers Sutherland and Gladys Sutherland.

NO SYMPATHY FOR BRANDT

Dix Tells Why Schiff's Former Valet Is Unworthy of Pardon

Albany, March 1. — Branding Foulke Brandt as a self-confessed forger and declaring that until it is conclusively shown that the former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff of New York did not commit the crime to which he pleaded guilty, and for which he was sentenced to prison for thirty years, Governor Dix, in a statement last night reviewing the case, says he will justify and maintain his determination that Brandt is not worthy of a pardon.

The governor refutes the claim that Brandt did not make a personal application for executive clemency.

"In the letters submitted to me," says the executive, "he has attempted to disprove the crime to which he formerly pleaded guilty by stating facts and uttering insinuations which would make him guilty of a still more abhorent offense—an offense against the sanctity of the home by an accusation against the purity of a woman.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

A BROADWAY TAILOR SHOP ON HANCOCK STREET

This is just what it means to you, Mr. Smart Dresser.

We build a Suit to your measure guaranteed to realize your every good clothes ideal.

We present for your inspection everything that's NEW in Woolen Weaves.

A guarantee goes with every suit which says FIT AND SATISFACTION OR NO SALE.

Make us prove up on these claims. It will cost you between $20 and $25 if we make good. It will cost you nothing if we fail.

Pick your Easter Suit NOW while that pattern you will idolize is unsold in town.

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY 1525 Hancock Street Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Feb. 26

Butter, Golden Gate, cut from tub	per lb.	34c
Raisins, Fancy Seeded	pkg.	9c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Corn, Fancy Maine	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska	tall can	11c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless	large can	7c
" " "	small can	4c
Kippered Herring, Imported	large can	12c
Flour, Golden Gate	1-8 bbl. sack	79c
Corn Meal, Granulated Fancy	5 lb. carton	12c
Self Raising Flour, Fancy	5 lb. bag	21c
Ketchup, Golden Gate, Fancy High Grade	bot.	18c
Soap, Ives Family	bar	3c
Crackers, Baronets	2 pkgs.	15c
Oranges, Fancy Florida	doz.	25c

Feb. 26--M. W. F.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

(Continued from Page One.)

sured the workers and the people of Quincy that if they would give him the money needed to meet the necessary expenses, the Secretary would show them results of which they would always be proud.

Mr. Anderson's remarks were warmly received by every man present and the only regret is that more of the committee were not able to be there to hear them.

Reports showed the pledges were coming in rather slowly. This is largely due to the fact that not enough men have joined the "workers." For this reason it is extremely probable that all the friends of the Association who received that letter saying someone would call for their gift, will not be able to be seen personally. Please help out the Committee by sending them whatever you can at once.

The amount pledged up to 7 P. M. was $2,124. This leaves nearly $3,000 to be raised in these last two days. Give all you can and give it now.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeannette Woodward late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by James W. Woodward of Brookline, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t- Mar. 1-8-15

BIGGEST BARGAIN YET!

Leg and Loin Lamb	.10
Fore-Quarter Lamb	.07
Short Legs	.12 1-2
Pork to Roast	.12 1-2
First Cut Rib Roast	.15
Good Roast	.10
Good Pot Roast	.08

S. H. GREEN TRADING STAMPS

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

Mar. 1-11

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Thomas J. Joyce late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Anora Joyce of said Quincy without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of March A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of February A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t Mar. 1-8-11

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 53 QUINCY MASS., SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 2, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

HEARINGS ON BOULEVARD AND THE NEW BRIDGE BILL

G. B. Bates is the Only Opponent to Bill for Completion of Quincy Shore Boulevard

Not Allowed to Speak on Grade Crossing Question

Two Quincy matters before Legislative commitees Friday called a large number of citizens to the state house. The two matters were on the bill for an appropriation of $240,000 to complete the Quincy Shore boulevard to Hancock street and on the bill for a new Neponset bridge. Among those present were Mayor Stone, City Solicitor McAnarney, Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane, President C. C. Hearn of the Board of Trade, Representatives Piper and Leslie and others.

Of the two bills that relative to the boulevard was the most extended and it met with a little opposition on the part of G. B. Bates.

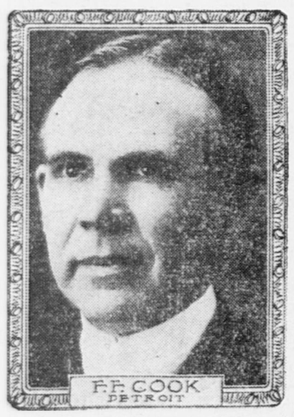
The hearing on the boulevard was held before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and was conducted by Representative Leslie.

Mr. Leslie briefly explained the bill and termed it "the missing link." He said Quincy was anxious to have the work done and that it was in direct accord with the policy of the State to finish construction work already underway. He called upon Mayor Stone to speak and the mayor went in to the details of the amount of money spent by Quincy in payment of its share in the Metropolitan district. He said that in all the city has paid hundreds of thousands of dollars for assessments and to add to that the State has taken a large area of taxable land and a slice of Quincy's waterfront. He thought it was only fair and just to the city that the State should now take up this work and finish what was already begun. He told of personally going over the route, which the proposed boulevard would take, in order to ascertain its present condition. He found it extremely difficult to pilot his automobile over the route. He said the city council had instructed him and the City Solicitor to appear at the meeting and had voted unanimously in favor of the construction asked for in the bill. Further the Mayor said that Quincy had always stood ready to pay its share in all Metropolitan Park matters without a murmur, and cited the fact that the city had paid more than $7000. for its part in the cost of the Charles River Basin, a project that availed Quincy nothing at all. He was followed by ex-representative Louis F. R. Langelier who said that he felt great interest in the

(Continued on Page Six.)

International Bible Students' Association

FREE BIBLE LECTURE



TOPIC:

The Coming of the King

GOD'S

FUTURE PROVISION

FOR THE HEATHEN

1,200,000,000

HEATHEN DYING

at the rate of 90,000 A DAY

"IN CHRISTLESS DESPAIR"

Where Will They Spend Eternity?

Sunday, March 3, at 3 P. M.

COLONIAL HALL, Quincy Savings Bank Building

ALL WELCOME NO COLLECTION

Mar. 2—1t

CARPETS

Oriental Domestic RUGS

Floor Coverings

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1857

John H. Pray & Sons Co.

646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

ONLY $1,900 MORE TO RAISE

Last Day of Y.M.C.A. Campaign to Raise $5,000

CAMPAIGN YELLS

The 6 o'clcok meetings of the workers each evening in Association hall, have been enlivened by the original "yells" and "cheers" given by the great and only team 2.

Last evening only about half of the men had arrived when Delcevare King led his men with the following:

Two—Two will beat you
We're the hustlers
Through and through.
Hip, Hurray! Hip, Hurray!
We're going to win, we say.
Hurrah for us
And the Y. M. C. A.

Then just as the teams had sat down to their respective tables to do justice to the splendid supper furnished and served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Team 2 noticed that the energetic Captain of team 1 was busy eating figures instead of food, so they paid this compliment to him very loudly something like this:

Who will set the pace?
Team Two will win the race.
Who at the foot will be?
Sedgwick's Team, probablee.

Things had just got quiet again when team 2 began counting their men and comparing their attendance with the other teams. As it happened they outnumbered the others nearly two to one so they broke out in joy with:

Team 2, 2, 2, 2,
We're the boys that are true blue.
But when this contest is all through
'Twill be you others that are blue.

When the chairman called for reports from the teams No. 1 wasn't quite ready, so he called for No. 2, and at once they broke out in the following:

Ta-ra-ra-ra—boom de-a,
We are going to win each day.
For a great old game Team 2 will play,
Ta-ra-ra-ra—Boom de-a!

'Twas good their report came before No. 2's, else that wouldn't have been quite true as the figures proved when Mr. Sedgwick showed what his men had done that day.

The whole amount pledged up to 7 P. M., Friday evening was $3,104. This leaves nearly $1,900 to be raised today, and if you can help by giving any amount whatever, the committee ask you to send it in today.

It seems most likely that this will be the last expense campaign of the association and let's have the whole amount pledged today and so make it the great success it should be. Every little bit helps—how much will you give? Good. Send it in.

TO BE KNOWN AS "THE GLEANERS"

The regular monthly meeting of the society recently organized at the Swedish Baptist church, was held Friday evening at the home of Misses Helga and Esther Carlson on Granite street. The greater part of the evening was taken up with business discussions, and it was decided to hold a social together with members of the Christian Endeavor society and the Baracca class, the latter part of the month.

The selection of a name for the society which had been left from the previous meetings, was taken up and "The Gleaners" chosen. The aim of the society is: To do the work God would have us do, no matter how humble. Class colors were chosen, and a double quartet was formed, and it is sincerely hoped that this feature may be a success, and much benefit may be derived.

Refreshments of hot chocolate, cake and candy were served at the conclusion of the business. The next meeting will be held at the church, and visitors who are in any way interested in the society are cordially invited to be present.

WOLLASTON LODGE HOSTS

Entertainment, Refreshments, Dancing on Program

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Members of the Wollaston Masonic lodge were out in full force Friday evening, on the occasion of its annual ladies' night, and never, in the opinion of the members, has the lodge held a more successful social affair. Upwards of four hundred were present and Alpha and Union halls seemed all too small. The affair was exclusively for brothers and their ladies and while there were a few brothers from Rural and other lodges present, for the greater part, those present were members of Wollaston lodge.

The committee in charge included Wor. Charles E. Monroe, and Bros. Charles E. Cherrington, Carroll E. Bates, Charles F. West, Charles L. Seavey, Charles B. Hall, J. Arthur Sparrow, and Alfred H. Richards, and they omitted nothing that would add to the pleasure of the evening.

For the larger part, the guests of the evening came by electric cars, and for their acomodation a special car left Neponset via Norfolk Downs at 7 o'clock while at 7.20 other special cars left via Wollaston. At 12.15 the cars left the hall by the same routes for home.

The entertainment provided was an exceptionally enjoyable one, the artists being from the Emerson college of oratory. These ladies with Poole's orchestra made up the program. The first part of the program included selections by the orchestra, readings by Miss Helena Bradford Churchill and Miss Rose Gertrude Boynton, the former giving, Ruth McEnery Stuarts' "A Christmas Guest" and the latter Dickens' "The Chase" and for an encore "Mrs. Harrigan's visit to Duggan's shoe store."

Miss Madeline I. Randall gave two numbers in fancy dancing. Her first was Starlight an interpretative dance, and her second a Vampire dance. Both were finely executed and greatly enjoyed.

The climax of the program however came in the presentation of a short drama entitled "Wagner at the Smallville Women's Club." Whether the drama truly portrayed what usually happens at meetings of women's clubs of course the men were ignorant, but they had their suspicions.

The scene was an afternoon meeting of the club. The president, desiring to be up-to-date had engaged Miss Van Culture, the Wagnerian lecturer to give a course of lectures on the work of this well-known composer. This she attempted to do, first trying to tell the ladies the love story of Lohengrin. It was too deep however and she started to tell of the "Flying Dutchman" and then about "Tannhauser" but there were so many interruptions that the effort was a failure. Miss Mann, an equal suffragette, was continually interjecting remarks on her pet hobby while Mrs. Puritas, a social purity advocate objected to some of the remarks as they seemed impure. Mrs. Noteall,

(Continued on Page Three.)

First Church Fair

Wednesday, March 6

Sale commences 2 P. M.

Supper, 6.30 P. M., 35 cents

FANCY TABLE—All kinds of fancy articles, useful novelties, underwear etc.

HOUSEHOLD TABLE — Large assortment of white and colored aprons, towels, dusters and holders.

CANDY TABLE — Delicious home-made confections.

MYSTERY TABLE — One hundred bargains in sealed packages.

GRAB TABLE — The Old Ozken Bucket will please the children.

A REAL "LADY BALTIMORE CAKE" from Charleston, S. C., to be sold by the slice.

28-6t

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912. Feb. 24—to May 1

MYSTERY, A ONE-ACT PLAY

Given by Young People of Water Street Church

THE CAST

"Mystery" was the title of a one-act play that enraptured a large audience in the vestry of the First Presbyterian church, Water street last evening. The cast of characters comprised a number of members of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society and the play was pronounced most successful. The cast was as follows:

Nan Eager—Miss Helen Kenn.
Annie Lovekin—Miss Lillian McIntosh.
Rose O'Grady, the maid—Miss Georgie Michael.
Jack Strong—William Troupe.
Bob Armbruster—Everett Clark.

All of the participants acquitted themselves in a maner worthy of professional talent, all details being carried out to complete satisfaction. The scene was laid in a beautiful home on Valentine's day. The moral of the act was applicable to young men of the present time who are pursuing courses that have been marked out by Dan Cupid.

Nan Eager seemed to be the one from whom all trouble emanated, for it was she who was desirous of captivating a large number of young men in a manner related in a story which had demanded her continual attention. But the others were soon to take advantage of the situation and those in attendance were treated to many laughing features throughout the act.

The music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Miss Jessie Shirley, pianist; Miss Edna Crockett, violinist; and Wendell Clark, cornetist. Everett Clark, accompanied by Miss Nettie Miller rendered a couple of solos that received loud applause.

At the conclusion of the play refreshments were served. The committee in charge included Misses Lillian McIntosh, May Morrison, Belle McIntosh, Annie Cumming, George Shirley, William Michael, Everett Clark and Lawrence Butler.

—Apropos of the latest innovation in domestic science, the Toledo Blade propounds the following pertinent inquiry: "The pot used to call the kettle black, but what will the fireless cooker say to the paper bag?" —Milford Gazette.

☞For the children's supper PRATT'S BREAD and milk. Better than cake.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

MEETING OF THE ALUMNAE

Social Evening Follows Short Business Session

THE PROGRAM

The annual business and social evening of the Woodward Alumnae Association was held last evening at Woodward hall, and was very largely attended. A short business session was held first which was followed by a pleasing program in charge of the president, Mrs. Wade Shorter (Elsie Philips) and included piano solos by Miss Frances Murray; vocal solos by Miss Celina Beliveau with Miss Bertha Hanson as accompanist; violin and piano duet by Miss Ruth and Miss Teresa Keating.

This was followed by the presentation of a two-act farce entitled "The Mousetrap" with the following cast:

Amy—Miss Pearl Hayden
Jane, the maid—Miss Helen Lincoln
Mrs. Miller—Miss Gladys Pinel
Agnes—Miss Ella Melville
Mrs. Bemis—Miss Viola Hayden.
Mr. Campbell—Miss Elsie Patterson
Mrs. Curwin—Miss Mary Gay.

Another farce, entitled "The Jolly Bachelor Girls" had been arranged for but owing to the illness of Miss Lovejoy was omitted.

At the close of the entertainment, ices were served followed by dancing. The officers of the association are: President, Mrs. Wade Shorter; vice president, Miss Louise Mahoney; secretary, Miss Mabel Lovejoy; treasurer, Miss Ethel Randall; fifth member, Miss Margaret Brown.

BRIEFS

Not very lamb-like today.

Dr. Kneeland, secretary of The Lord's Day League will speak in the First Presbyterian church, Sabbath morning at 10.30.

The regular meeting and sale of household articles by the Quincy Catholic club will be held Thursday, March 7, at the Knights of Columbus rooms.

Important meeting of the City Council Monday evening. The discussion will probably come on the passage of the order authorizing the Mayor to create an advisory board.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah J. Shedd of Randolph, a member of Maple Lodge K. & L. of H. of this city will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home 82 North street. Members will leave the centre on the 12.45 electric.

A BROADWAY TAILOR SHOP

—ON—

HANCOCK STREET

This is just what it means to you, Mr. Smart Dresser.

We build a Suit to your measure guaranteed to realize your every good clothes ideal.

We present for your inspection everything that's NEW in Woolen Weaves.

A guarantee goes with every suit which says FIT AND SATISFACTION OR NO SALE.

Make us prove up on these claims. It will cost you between $20 and $25 if we make good. It will cost you nothing if we fail.

Pick your Easter Suit NOW while that pattern you will idolize is unsold in town.

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.

Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription

By the year	$6.00
By the month	.50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Has any one any doubt as to what month this is?

C. W. Guy had better cover up those snowdrop blossoms in his garden and wait for the spring.

Our army has decided to buy a few aeroplanes. They will be highly useful in giving cattle show exhibitions.

While congress is investigating the Money trust, they should ascertain and make public the means by which the everyday man can get into it.

Perhaps the South Pole has been captured by this time, but if they want to trade it for the clothespole in our back yard, we shall require at least $7.50 to boot.

Sarah Bernhardt is to get $7,000 a week over here next fall, and it would seem as if she ought to be able to get along without asking an advance of pay ahead of Saturday night.

Three must sleep in a room at the Democratic convention, and the clerk must look out not to put Conservatives and Insurgents together, or the pillows may fly before morning.

It having been learned that a presidential candidate had accepted a campaign contribution of seventy-five cents from a Wall street messenger boy, it was at once seen that he was out of the running.

Mr. Taft may be as claimed, a progressive at heart, but on the great issue of his administration, the making of a tariff, he stood by with arms folded when the progressives were battling for the equal treatment of consumer and producer.

It is said that Mr. Roosevelt waited for the psychological moment before declaring himself on the presidency. In our experience it is much more difficult to put your finger on the psychological moment than to locate a collar button when it rolls under the bureau.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

The strike of the textile workers at Lawrence, Mass., probably the most severe labor conflict since the Anthracite Coal strike, has reached a point of bitterness where it has become the subject of national investigation.

This conflict has national significance, in that the conditions prevailing at Lawrence exist in many other cities, where to meet with competition it has proved necessary to depend largely on low paid alien labor.

It may quite likely be true that had all the profits of the Lawrence mills above savings bank interest been paid to the strikers in the form of wages, their compensation would not be very much larger. But even if so, the vital question at issue is whether these workers have been getting enough pay to enable them to live up to a decent standard of American comfort.

The industrial conditions of no city are satisfactory where a large section of the wives and mothers have to work in the mills, instead of remaining at home to make life comfortable for the bread winner and to train the children. It is better to go slow in industrial advancement, than to do a bigger business where it means that the children must quit school at the seventh grade in order to help maintain the family.

NEWSPAPER PHOTOGRAPHY.

The illustration of the newspaper has become a problem weighing heavily on the executive capacity of the modern journalist, and it is being pushed to some very eccentric lengths in the metropolitan press.

Formerly our great men were honored with imposing military salutes of cannon. Now we testify to our admiration or curiosity, by lining up against them a battery of camera men, whose booming fuses and lightning flashes almost scare the life out of them.

A typical scene of this type occurred the other day when C W. Morse got back to New York. Although a sick man, he has welcomed by a fusilade of flashes that could not have made the doctor's pills any more efficacious.

A relentless feud has thus sprung up between these knights of the flash light and their prey of high life. Impertinent the camera man may be, but when the millionaire tries to teach him good manners by smashing his camera, the means by which the man is doing his best to support a family on $25 per week, the millionaire does not cut a very handsome figure.

Considering all the roses that blossom in the life of the higher ups, they would better school themselves to look pleasant even if they get a few thorns here and there. If they don't look handsome when the flash light pictures come out in the paper next morning, let them reflect that the pictures are probably much more natural and effective than the rocking horse poses which the regular photographer puts them into.

The question of the right to take photographs has come up a number of times in the courts. We believe no law has yet been found to tie down the camera's shutter. A cat may look at a king and it is no more of an offense for a million eyes to look at him through the camera lens than for him to be stared at by a sidewalk full of people. While camera men are impertinent, much of it comes from the knowledge that they have got to use subterfuge to outwit their game.

When it comes to stopping the proceedings of a court of justice to take a flash light picture, it would seem as if the dignity of the law should stop the effort of a yellow press to turn all life into a stage play.

COURTESY IN BUSINESS.

Much comment has been caused by the recent action of the Keystone Telephone Company of Philadelphia, in ordering its operators not to say "Please" to the subscribers, and asking the subscribers not to say "Please" to the operators. It is estimated that the use of this little sweetener of business life costs the public and the company five days in a year of time.

Arguing from many such incidents, some writers think they see a tendency to cut courtesy out of American business life. And yet, if so, this is a tendency that many of our big concerns are fighting very hard against.

A recent magazine writer speaks of hearing a prominent American manufacturer, in the court yard of a Swiss hotel, commenting on the charming courtesy that pervaded the place, and saying that he would give $10,000 if that courtesy could become the habit in his home office and salesrooms. He added that his foremen were much more inclined to swear than say "Good morning."

The position of telephone employees may possibly be exceptional. Perhaps words of courtesy do clog the processes of shifting lines and switches, which need to be conducted at a high rate of speed, and a celerity of connection will perhaps smooth the public's ever sensitive fur better than anything manners can do. But if so, there are few other modern business relations where courtesy is not an asset of a high value.

A democratic people are peculiarly given to standing on their rights and their dignities. The unshorn and grimy man who marches up to your desk to ask a business question, may not look as if he were worth your consideration. But he is an American. If you make him stand ten minutes while you finish dictating a social letter to your stenographer, he will probably resent the assumption that he is not given as prompt attention as the man in the store clothes who came in ahead of him.

If later it turns out that he had some offer to make that might be valuable to your business, it will take higher bids on your part to win him away from your rival, who good naturedly gave him a smile and a chair and a hearing without needless delay.

WILL SUIT DISMISSED

Testator Who Though Cat Had a Soul Left $2,000,000 Estate

New York, March 2.—Miss Maria L. Campbell, who alleged that her cat had a soul and that the spirit of her sister, long dead, lived with her in her home, was in possession of sufficient faculties to make a valid will disposing of her $2,000,000 estate, according to a decision of Surrogate Fowler.

The surrogate dismissed a suit brought by a number of Miss Campbell's relatives contesting the will on the allegation that Miss Campbell was mentally unsound.

Severe Fighting In Mexico

Mexico City, March 2.—A severe engagement between 3000 Zapatist insurrectors and 1500 federals is being fought near Santa Catarina. Ninety-

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

Dear Editor:

I have been here for nearly two weeks and have with me my friend, Benjamin F. Curtis, a native of Quincy and a large property holder in our city, but for many years a winter resident of the Capital.

We have visited the House of Representatives and U. S. Senate. I was in the Senate the day Senator Rainor of Florida made his tirade on ex-President Roosevelt.

Mr. Rainor is a very eloquent and forceful speaker and the way he abused and ridiculed Col. Roosevelt was to my mind entirely out of place. It seems to me, it is wrong for men sent to make our laws and paid by the people for that purpose, to use their time and influence in abusing any man, especially one of the mast popular men in the country. He said that he would be willing and glad to see the ex-President sent to China, and that he would be almost willing to make a new treaty with that country and allow free entrance into this country of all Chinamen in exchange for the position to Teddy of President of China.

Also I was in the Senate when the Senator from California offered the resolution to inquire into the affairs at Lawrence. I have always been a great admirer of Senator Lodge, but I never was so proud of him as I was on that day, when so many eloquent men in the highest tribunal in this country tried to belittle the State of Massachusetts. That great man Senator Lodge stood up and with great ability and genius defended our State as no other man could. It made my heart leap with joy to know that I had always defended him when others reviled him. Massachusetts can well be proud of her Senior Senator. He said: 'The governor of Massachusetts is not of my party, but Mr. President he is the governor of my State and I will not allow any one to say or abuse him or my State, I know that the old State of Massachusetts can settle that strike without interference of any outside influence."

Also today I listened to Senator Lodge on the Arbitration treaty for peace with England and France. My dear fellow citizens of Quincy, those of you who have spoken and worked against Senator Lodge, I would like to have you see how he holds the attention of the Senate, while speaking in the interest of our beloved state and nation. You could hear a pin drop so attentive were the senators and visitors to his every word. He said among other things that the United States has done more for universal peace than all the countries of the world combined, and if the millenium ever comes, it will be through our earnest endeavor in that direction.

It has been beautiful spring weather since I came here with open cars on many of the lines.

JOHN EVANS

Washington, D. C. Feb. 29, 1912.

BREWSTER FAMILY SOCIETY.

Brewster descendants (of any name) are invited to the Brewster day reception and meeting, to be held on Wednesday, from 12 to 2 o'clock at the rooms of the Pilgrim and Puritan Society of Families (a national society of the first families), 15 Beacon street, Boston. All descendants of the great Elder and leader of the Pilgrim forefathers are requested to become members and register with the Society, thus sharing in the honors of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing, soon to be celebrated. Vol. III of The Brewster Family History is now being edited under the modern genealogical methods, which are original with this Society. Mail should be addressed to Brewster Family Society, Room 65, 15 Beacon Street, Boston. Ten leading members of the family will take part in this meeting. The date is the anniversary of the date the Pilgrims held their first meeting on land, and has been chosen by the General Society for the commencement of its family (at home) days.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

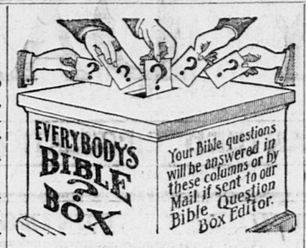
PROPOSALS WANTED

Sealed Proposals, stating price per page, are hereby invited for furnishing, printing and delivering to the City of Quincy, 900 copies of the City Report of 1911—800 copies to be in paper covers and 100 copies to be bound in cloth.

First quality 60-pound paper to be used, samples to be furnished by the City Clerk. The books are to be delivered within eight weeks after the contract is awarded.

Proposals should be marked on the outside of the envelopes "Proposals for City Reports" and will be received in the City Clerk's office until twelve o'clock M. March 9, 1912. All bidders will be required to conform to the provisions of Chap. 517, of the Acts of 1906, or any amendments thereof. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

EUGENE R. STONE, Mayor.
Quincy, Feb. 29, 1912. 29-3t



Q.—Which day should be observed as the Sabbath Day, the first day or the seventh day of the week? (I. B. S. A.)

Answer.—It would depend upon the religious belief of the one who asks the question. To the Jew the seventh day (Saturday) is the one to be observed, as it was commanded in the Law that was given to the Israelites that they should keep the seventh day as the holy day. That law is still binding upon the Jews. If a Seventh Day Adventist, then let him keep the seventh day, for he believes that he is under the Law, and with that belief he certainly should keep the seventh day. To those who are members of some one of the various Protestant Churches, or of the Roman Catholic Church: let them observe the first day (Sunday) as the day of rest, as they believe it is so commanded, and surely it would not be right for them to violate their conscience by doing otherwise. To the true Christian the consecrated child of God: let these keep every day holy unto the Lord and not merely one day in seven. And let these enjoy a rest by faith in the Lord and in His sure promises. Let no one attempt to judge another in respect to this matter of observing the Sabbath or holy days. No one has the right to judge his fellowman in this regard; but let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind (Romans xiv, 4, 5). If any one presumes to judge another in these matters, he is violating a direct command of the Lord as expressed by one of His inspired Apostles (Colossians ii, 16). If any one should say that we are not saved and that we are lost because we do not observe some special day, ask him gently but firmly—"Who made thee a judge?"

PIANO RECITAL.

The second in the series of piano recitals by Miss Estella Neuhaus of Boston was given February twentieth at the residence of Mrs. Laurance H. Sturtevant.

It is not always that a true interpreter of Beethoven can be found, although all great artists assay the height. Certain qualities of mind rather than matchless technique are essential and it is safe to say that Miss Neuhaus possesses the mental as well as the technical ability required. Those who heard Beethoven as played by her, showed by their intentness and enthusiasm that truly fine music has yet its many lovers.

Her first selection was the great Appassionate, opus 57. Mark Hamburg has said of this, " You may begin to study it at seventeen and not master all of its splendid aspects at seventy." Miss Neuhaus made a deep impression in that wonderful tone recital of violent emotional conflict interspersed with an ideal flight into happier regions.

It is said to understand Beethoven, one must listen to great actors. To understand and play Chopin, one must read Shelley, Keats, and Tennyson. This composer does not give us so much of direct intention as he sings to us of shades of beauty, and suggestions of meaning, with the sentiment and spirit of reality. In the Nocturne D flat major, Chopin, Miss Neuhaus' exquisite pianism brought out all its beauty and imagination.

She gave an interesting talk on a group of five Hungarian Goudn and Gypsy Chant, as played by the Gypsies as well as the Nobility of Russia. She showed by her playing the change from the wild war-like spirit to the bright happy mood, so characteristic of the sufferings and relief from the oppression of the Turk.

Following a graceful rendering of Gondolier's love song, cui air de Ballet, Massenet, she closed with the Colossal Liszt Rhapsody, No. 13. This calls for tremendous technique and the whole gamut of human emotions, which she was fully equal to, and inspired such applause as to demand an encore which she gave with a Russian Spinning Song, played with extreme delicacy and refinement.

As many in the audience remarked it would be difficult to select any one of the numbers for especial commendation, so brilliant was the entire programme and all were unanimous in the hope that she would return next year.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

Cures a Coldin One Day, Grip in 2 Days

E. W. Grove on box. 25c

SUNDAY SERVICES

SECOND SUNDAY IN LENT

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Christ Jesus." Golden Text; "We have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world." I John 4.14. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open from 3 to 5 P. M., week days holidays excepted. All are welcome.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY (Unitarian) City Square—Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor. Residence, Hotel Bellevue, Boston. Preaching 10.30 A. M. by the pastor. Subject: "Ideals for which the First Church stands." Sunday school 11.50 A. M. Charles H. Johnson, Supt.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets. Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D. 11.30, Communion, 12 M. Bible School. 6.15, Y. P. S. C. E. 7.0 Evening Service. Preaching by Dr. Anderson.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington Street. Rev. Fannie E. Austin, pastor. Morning worship 10.30 a. m. Subject: "The Search for God." 11.45 Sunday School. 7 p. m the concluding service of "Universalist Week." Sermon by Rev. Charles Conklin Subj ct; "The Distinctive Message of the Universalist Church."

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Quincy Point.—Rev. Charles P. Marshall, pastor. 9.00 A. M. Sailors' Snug Harbor Service. 10.45 A. M. Communion Service, Reception of Members. Subject: "Spiritual Worship:" 12.00 M. Sunday School. 6.15 P. M. Men's Class for Study of Social Christianity. Subject: "Men in Social Action." 7.30 Evening Service. Subject: "Beginning Life."

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion and Sermon at 10.30 Sunday School and Galahad Brotherhood at 12.05. 7.30, Choral Evensong and Address.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Telephone 1524 M. Dr Kneeland Secretary of "The Lord's Day League" will speak at 10.30. Bible School at 11.45. The Men's class for Bible Study 11.45. Prayer circle 5.45. C. E. Service 6 00. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. On Monday evening at 7.30, Mrs. Louise E. Brittain, a converted Mormon, will speak to the women on Mormonism. Thursday services. Young People's meeting at 7. Congregational prayer service 7.30.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH—Fort Square, Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence, 182 Glendale Road. Morning service at 10.3. Sabbath School and Men's Bible Class at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Evening service at 7 o'clock. Topic: "A question of Profit and Loss." Seats free. All welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30. Preaching by Pastor Subject: "The Battle of Living." Sunday School at 12 M. Junior League at 3 P. M Epworth League at 6.15. Leader, Miss Margaret A. Nichols of Dorchester. 7.00, Miss Nichols will speak, subject: "Helps to young life." All welcome.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 523 Hancock street. Holy Communion and sermon at 10.30. Sunday school at 12 M. Evening Prayer and Address at 7.30.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH — Rev. Carl G. Horst, minister. Residence 67 Winthrop avenue, Telephone: Quincy 585-1. 10.45, Morning service. Preaching by minister. Kindergarten at 10.45. Sunday School at 12. 7.00, Y. P. R. U. Leader, Miss Ninon Lacey. Speaker, Mrs. Robert E. Park.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beal and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Miss Marion Nevers, Deaconess Love Feast 10.15 Holy Communion and Sermon at 10.45. Subject: Christ, our Example Baptism and reception of members. Sunday School at 12. Junior League 3.30 led by the deaconess. Epworth League at 6. Evening Service at 7.00. Subject: "Twelve Men can Save Quincy." Last of a series to men. Welcome.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by the Pastor and Celebration of Lord's Supper. Subject of Sermon: "Love the Great Dynamic." Sunday School at 12.15. Junior Endeavor at 3.30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Evening service at 7. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Salvation, how it is obtained and what are it's blessed results." Everyone invited to these Services,

ATLANTIC M. E CHURCH—Rev. H. E. Dorr, pastor. 10.45 Morning service, preaching by minister, subject: "Knowing the truth." 12, Sunday school. 3.30, Junior League. 7, Evening service, subject: "Successful fishermen." Boys and girls choir.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. 10.45 morning worship. Sermon by the pastor Subject: 'The Time of Visitation." Music by Vested Choir. Communion service after sermon. Sunday school at 12 6.00, Y. P. S. C E. 7 P. M. Sunday School Concert. Everybody Welcome.

ST. PAUL'S SWEDISH M. E. Fort St., Quincy. Carl E. Rydstrom, pastor. Residence 166 Franklin St. Morning service at 10.30. Preaching by the pastor. Subject: "The Cross of Christ our Glory." The Sunday Secool meets at 12. The Epworth League prayer meeting will be held at 6.30 p. m. and the evening service at 7.30. Subject: "The pale horse and his name that sat on him was Death." Extra song will be rendered. All are welcome.

Makaria

Fraternity

SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP

Bethany Church, City Square

If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.

A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

Congress is asked to supply more money for aeroplanes. Some people seem determined that the government shall make the money fly.

Service

Free to Depositors

Legal advice on business topics of concern to you given by our authorized attorney absolutely without cost.

Free credit information from the best sources at your command.

Call anytime in business hours.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Store Open Tonight Until 9.45 P. M.

Make YOUR Home Beautiful

— And Save Money Too

These REAL, radical reductions in our large drapery department will help you to do those two things at once. Read over these items, then come in and see the goods. You're always welcome here.

Muslin Curtains.	Lace edge, good quality, well worth a dollar, this week, per pair, only	59c
Scrim Curtains.	Cluny edge, lace insertion. A good $2 value, this week, per pair, only	$1.39
Marquisette Curtains.	The very latest out. Made with wide hemstitched edge. Our regular low price $3, this week, per pair, only	2.19
Net Curtains.	Genuine linen, cluny edge and cluny insertion, good value at $5, now, per pair	3.98
Portieres.	Very heavy green mercerized portieres that sell everywhere for five and a half dollars. You can have a pair for	4.29
Couch Covers.	Made of heavy material, full 60 inches wide. Full $2.50 value only	1.89

Henry L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

GAS OVEN PRODUCTS

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

(ADVERTISE.)

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively

Write or come to us at
719 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & Co.

DON'T

BE A

Calamity

Howler

DON'T LISTEN

To the down and outs that tell you

Quincy Is Gone

TO THE

DEMNITION BOW WOWS

WHY?

There was built in Quincy

One Million Dollars' Worth

OF HOUSES IN 1911

AND EVERY HOUSE IS OCCUPIED

What better evidence of prosperity do you want? Now add to this $250,000 worth of other buildings built the same year.

NOTE—These are official figures from City Hall.

THIS SPRING

The Fore River Shipbuilding Co. have

EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS

in contracts for

Battleships and Merchant Vessels

and other business amounting in total to

Thirteen and One-Half Million Dollars

Quincy's world-known

GRANITE BUSINESS

will do its

THREE MILLION DOLLAR

business in 1912, and then come

THE TUBULAR RIVET and STUD CO.

and the

BOSTON GEAR WORKS

both more than busy.

QUINCY has the best and most promising location for immediate future development, of any city in New England.

Why Not Invest Your Money At Home?

We need one thousand more houses and can let every one.

AT QUINCY POINT

I have Twelve House Lots 3 minutes from the Fore River Gate, five of them, corner lots, bound to increase in value. The terms will be made so easy that you can buy them almost without an effort on our part.

Accepted street, city water, gas and electric lights at your door. Remember at this office the poor man's dollar looks just as large as the rich man's dollar.

Courteous treatment to all, come in and talk it over. The only trust that controls us is our trust in Quincy's future.

Yours to command,

FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE

19 Temple St., Quincy

28-4t

The Social Realm

Mrs. Mary T. Taylor of Newport avenue has returned from a week's visit at Epping, New Hampshire.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Norris of Whitwell street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born Feb. 21.

* * *

Miss Blanche Thayer, superintendent of the Quincy Hospital is enjoing a brief rest at Palm Beach, Florida, leaving Quincy on Thursday.

* * *

Miss Lillian Tripp of South Framingham is the week end guest of Mrs. Albert W. Fay of Newport avenue.

* * *

Mrs. Everett C. Bumpus of Presidents hill who has been spending a few weeks with her son at Annapolis, Md., is leaving early next week for New York where she is to give a series of art talks during Lent at The Plaza hotel, with a notable list of subscribers.

* * *

Wednesday, March 13th, is the date of the spring concert of the Wollaston Glee club. The chorus will be assisted by Mrs. Marie S. Sundelius, sopiano, Miss Hazel Dell Chandler, reader; Edward E. Bullock, tenor; W. E. Weston, pianist; J. A. Crowley, director.

* * *

Mrs. Sangster Troupe of Plymouth street, is enjoying a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Sherwin of West Townsend.

* * *

Mrs. Albert Hall of Squantum street entertained at whist, Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

2—Vaudeville—Q. H. S. Girls—High School Hall.
2—Food Sale—Ladies' Aid—Wol. M. E. Church.
3—Class Initiation—Sons of Veterans.
5—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
5—Wollaston Aux.—Woman's Board Missions.
6—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Literature Class—Mrs. H. J. Gurney—Home of Mrs. A. E. Avery.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Wollaston Alliance.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Meeting—Quincy Catholic Club.
7—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance—Cornitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

Fifty-six members of the Quincy Mansion School Alumnae Association representing 16 graduating classes, attended the annual luncheon of the association held Monday at the Lenox hotel, Boston. The president of the association, Mrs. Ernest Allan of Bath, presided. The special guests were Mrs. Horace Mann Willard, the principal of the school; Mrs. Annette Laskosky and Mrs. Alice Pitts of the faculty. Mrs. John Alden Morse of Bath, was a guest of the president. After the luncheon, Mrs. Willard and others spoke informally, and Miss Florence Arnold pianist, played several selections, and Miss Julia Kelley, soprano sang. The committee of arrangements included the president, Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Warren Foster and Miss Hawthorne Cate.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. White of Holbrook are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born, Feb. 19. Mrs. White will be remembered as Grace Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of Wollaston. This is their second child, the first one also being a boy.

* * *

Mrs. Josephine Schools of Centre street left Thursday for Albany, New York, where she will visit her brother Alexander Rose, formerly of Quincy.

* * *

Lois Marjorie Kendall has been elected Head Captain of Golf of Wellesley college. It will be remembered that she won the golf championship of the college in both 1911 and 1910 and was one of the thirty-three girls selected out of fourteen hundred to be awarded a "W."

* * *

The invitation dance at the Cochato club Wednesday evening was successful from every point of view. The committee responsible for these annual February dances comprise Geo. S. Young, F. P. Rhoades, Dr. E. A. Johnson, Walter J. Harrison, George H. Hamblett and Harold M. Gage. Mace Gay's orchestra of Brockton furnshed the music. The german favors were Japanese fans and silver picture frames. About one hundred guests danced until nearly half past eleven.

* * *

Mrs. Carl Davis of Norfolk Downs was one of the matrons at a most attractive and unique private dancing party given at North Weymouth, Thursday evening by the Saskatchewan club.

One feature was the Cupid dance in which a shower of pink cupids came floating down upon the dancers from a pink bag in the center of the room. This bag had six pink ribbons attached to it and at a signal each member of the club pulled one. The color scheme was pink throughout, a pink moon on which was the word "Saskatchewan," pink dance orders, pink decorations. A great part of the music, which was furnished by the Wollaston orchestra was from the "Pink Lady." Ice cream and cake and punch were served during the evening. The committee in charge of the affair was: Misses Mabel F. Baker, Olive L. Blake, Velma L. Collyer, Lillian B. Fisher, Nellie E. Powers and Doris L. Torrey.

* * *

Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, D. D., has returned from Florida where he spent most of the winter. Mr. Hudson who was recently called to the pastorate of First church assumed charge March first and will preach Sunday morning, taking as his text, "Ideals for which the First church stands." Mr. and Mrs. Hudson are at present at Hotel Bellevue, Boston.

* * *

Mrs. Roy Franklin Steward, nee Clara Merrill, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Arthur W. Hall of Upland road.

* * *

The Quincy Choral Society has resumed regular Tuesday evening rehearsals and work on the Faust music is progressing rapidly. Much interest is expressed in the Music Festival and subscription tickets for both afternoon and evening concerts will be issued at an early date.

(Continued on Page Six.)

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy

Tel. Quincy 1200

SOCIAL AND DANCING PARTY

The most successful Scottish social and dance of the season took place in Electa hall, Friday evening, fully two hundred dancers being in attendance. The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion. In the centre, a large American flag was conspicuous, while streamers of red, white and blue extended from the stars and stripes to various sections of the hall.

Music was furnished by McLaughlin's orchestra. During intermission refreshments were served and a duet by Duncan McKinnick and Miss Mary MacGregor elicited prolonged applause.

Dancing concluded a most enjoyable time at midnight. The special feature of the dance was the "affinity waltz." During this number the young ladies did all the honors usually incumbent upon the gentlemen at a dancing party.

The commitee in charge comprised Duncan McKinnick, George Gillan, William Anderson and Donald McLaughlin.

MOZART RECITAL.

Another of those delightful recitals by Enrico Barraja is to be given in his studio in The Greenleaf building with the following program:

Informal "Reading" by Enrico Barraja

Wolf-ang Amadeus Mozart.

a—"Overture" Don Giovanni

Piano 4 hands.

b—"Andante grazioso" with variations from the Sonata in A major

Piano Solo.

a—"Romanza" Dalla tria pace, from "Don Giovanni"

Romanza Il mio tesoro, from "Don Giovanni

Tenor Solo

b—"Duet"—La ci darem la man, from "Don Giovanni"

Soprano and Bass.

Fantasia and Sonata in C minor a—Adagio

b—Allegro

c—Andantino—piu allegro—Tempo I

Sonata

a—Molto allegro

b—Adagio

c—Allegro assai

Piano solo

WOLLASTON LODGE HOSTS

(Continued from Page One)

cared more for making copious notes of the exquisite gown worn by the lecturer than for the lecture itself, and Mrs. Owens objected to Tannhauser because it sounded too much like the name of a certain beer. Mrs. Lee formerly from the East also interjected many remarks and for the most part agreed fully with Miss Mann, who continually declared that "Women were all men's equal and often his superior."

Mrs. Prim raised the point of order that as the rules set the hour of the meetings, and that as it was then five minutes past that hour they were all out of order and she hurriedly left Other members quickly followed leaving the lecturer, president and secretary all of whom indulged in a good cry.

The cast was as follows:—

Mrs. Van Ness, the President, Helena Bradford Churchill

Mrs. Scriblee, the Secrteary Rose Gertrude Boynton

Miss Von Culture, the Wagnerian Lecturer Lois Houlette

Miss Mann, an Equal Suffragette Isabel McCollum Roop

Mrs. Puritas, a Social Purity Advocate Mary Sandstrom

Mrs. Noteall, with a penchant for fashion notes Alla Martin

Mrs. Lee, formerly from the East Ella Dornon

Mrs. Owens, very domestic Ethel Mowbray Kane

Miss Prim, who understands etiquette Abbie Ball

At the conclusion of the entertainment program an adjournament was made to Union hall where C. F. Spargo, caterer, served a delightful lunch consisting of lobster and chicken salads, rolls, ices of all kinds, and coffee.

In the meantime Alpha hall had been made ready for dancing which closed the evening. The dance program contained seven numbers but encores lengthened the order to more than twice that number.

Thus it came to an end, one of the most delightful evenings in the history of the social calendar of Wollaston lodge.

—Commencing April 1st, the price of gas in Winthrop and Revere will be reduced to 90 cents. The gas will be billed at $1.00, with a discount of 10 cents per thousand feet.

Quality Is Our Watchword!

Quality is the fundamental principle in good storekeeping as in farming.

It costs no more in the transportation, handling, warehousing, insurance, number of people employed, display, and advertising, for good qualities than for poor.

Dealing may safely be closer in good quality stuffs; quantities may safely be larger; satisfaction and good-will will assuredly be greater.

Quality is our watchword!

Navel Oranges, doz., 20c, 30c

Are now right in their prime

Florida Oranges, doz., 23c

Fancy Grape Fruit, 2 for 25c

Large Size, Seedless

EGGS AND BUTTER

HAVE TAKEN A "TUMBLE" IN PRICE

CANNED GOODS

Asparagus Tips	20c
Hatchet Brand Wax Beans	10c and 12 1-2c
Red Kidney Beans	10c
Hatchet Brand Corn	12 1-2c
Hatchet Brand Cranberry Beans	10c
Rival Brand Horticultural Beans	12c
Little Quaker Lima Beans	15c
Rival Brand Raspberries	18c
Sliced Peaches	10c
Pine State Sweet Corn	10c

New Maple Syrup bottle, 25c, 50c

Prepared Mustard Large jars 9c, 3 jars 25c

Williams Sweet Relish Very fine 10c

Campbell's Tomato Catsup Bottle 10c

IT BEATS AN EGG IN HALF A MINUTE

The Lightning Mixer

35 cents

FOY & CO

COR. WATER AND QUINCY STS.

QUINCY ADAMS

Cuts, Bruises, Stiff Joints, Swellings, Sore Throat, Colds, Bowel Troubles—both outward and inward ailments are cured by A Proud Record. 101 Years in Use. Millions of Cures.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE Liniment

PARSONS' PILLS regulate the bowels without distressing.

Be prepared for emergencies. No other liniment so effective, no other has such a record. Sold by dealers everywhere.

25c and 50c Bottles.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

Personal Appointment---

ZOROID LENSES

You may telephone, making appointment for examination, at no increased charge from our regular fee of $1 to $3.

We pledge you our time, service and authoritative results without unnecessary delay from business or your other pursuits.

Consider the charges of others for such a service—then if you will remember that ZOROIDS stand for Lens Perfection, you are on the road to perfect vision with the least personal inconvenience and lowest cost.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790

OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS

149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 2-6

SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.

This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE
} Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232--W

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We are Showing New Patterns in

HAMBURGS and LACES

Choice Designs at Reasonable Prices

Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns, 10c

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.

Quincy, Mass.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Feb. 26	5.00	5.30
Tuesday,	6.15	6.45
Wednesday,	7.15	7.45
Thursday,	8.15	9.00
Friday,	9.15	10.00
Saturday,	10.15	10.45
Sunday,	11.15	11.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	31 degrees
Mar. 2, 1911,	46 degrees
Mar. 2. 1910,	41 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The Walther Men's class will meet Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Great class of men. Fifty-four present last Sunday. Discussion on "Life's Temptations and Calls to Service." Men not in other similar classes invited.

Postals have been sent to members of the Memorial church for a supper on Wednesday evening. After the supper there will be brief addresses.

The Flower committee for the month of March at First Church is Miss Lillian Newman and Miss Dorothy Edwards.

Miss Margaret A. Nichols, president of the Boston District of Epworth Leagues, will lead the devotional service of the Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church, Sunday, at 6.15 P. M., and also take charge of the 7 o'clock service. Miss Nichols will speak on League work.

About thirty members of Maple lodge K. of L. of H. are to present the travelling triangle to General Warren Lodge in Otis Field hall, Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester on Monday evening leaving on the 6.51 electric.

The annual parish meeting of Memorial church will be held Thursday evening.

Rev. Wesley Wiggin will preach the last of his sermons to men, Sunday evening. The subject is "Twelve men can save Quincy." A large number should be present.

The Christian Endeavor of Memorial church is to have a Leap year social next Saturday evening. This is the first leap year social of the Endeavor society, but if successful it will not be the last.

The regular monthly meeting of the officers and teachers of First Church Sunday school will be held Monday night at 7.45 in the chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Anderson, who have resided in Atlantic for over ten years on Wednesday go to the new home recently purchased by them in Braintree.

After weeks of preparation the ladies of First church are to hold a fair in the chapel Wednesday afternoon and evening, serving one of their appetizing suppers at half past six o'clock. Besides quantities of useful articles, there will be booths of fancy articles, grabs, home-made candy, cake, etc. In fact everything possible to sell at a fair.

The Social Service committee of the Wollaston Unitarian church consists of Frederick H. Bishop, president; Mrs. Chandler Smith, secretary, Frank A. Page, treasurer; Thomas Lacey, Charles E. Barker, Mrs. Robert E. Park, and Arthur W. Rohn. This committee will meet with Elmer S. Forbes, secretary of the Department of Social and Public Service of the American Unitarian Association at the home of Rev. Carl G. Horst on Sunday afternoon at 2.45 to plan the work for the year.

The rumor that Thomas Gurney has horses affected with glanders is entirely false as both Dr. Abele and Dr. White who have examined the horses have found them perfectly free from the same.

We bake PRATT'S BREAD for you, your cousins, uncles and aunts.

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking

Table Board by the Day or Week

384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS

Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.

384 Granite Street, Quincy.

Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Call Quincy 501 W

If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building. Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

FREE LECTURE.

Mr. F. F. Cook of Detroit, the world known lecturer, Bible exegete and preacher, will discuss from the Bible standpoint the "Coming of earth's rightful Ruler, the King," in Colonial hall, Savings Bank building, Quincy, Mar. 3, at 3 P. M. Mr. Cook has been invited by the Bible students of Quincy to speak on the above subject and to bring any further helps and suggestions he can, to aid in an understanding of the Bible.

A remarkable thing reported of Mr. Cook, as a lecturer on the Bible is that he holds as if spell-bound those in his audiences who are not familiar with the Bible as well as those who are Bible students. His important work is to point out some marvelous facts in the Bible necessary to an understanding of it as a whole, which facts when known make Bible study a fascination.

He calls attention to the teaching of scripture as applying to things as they are today and from the prophecies points out the great hope for the world of mankind soon to be realized. All have been looking for a better day, "the better times coming." He assures us that the scriptures point out that the golden age of prophecy is drawing near, and the inventions, general advancement in knowledge, sciences, etc., are but the foretokens of the world's greatest era of prosperity.

As lecturer, pastor, and officers of the International Christian Endeavor Society, he has travelled extensively in this country and Canada and always and everywhere confronted with the great question of man's destiny, and the earth's future. This is the theme of the scriptures he declares and the object of his visit to us next Sunday. His lectures are always free and no collections are taken.

SALARY FOR SOLICITOR

It Brings the Row Between Wiley and McCabe Before the House

Washington, March 2.—The Wiley-McCabe row was again in evidence on the floor of the house when further consideration of the agricultural tariff bill came up.

Declaring McCabe is holding an office which does not exist, Representative Cullop of Indiana attacked the provision of the bill appropriating for the solicitor's salary. He said congress had never created the office. He told the house that in 1907 $4500 was appropriated for the solicitor, but the mere appropriation of money could not create an office and the office ceased to exist at the end of the first year.

Representatives Lamb and Mann upheld the item. The minority leader declared the office had been established by law, by the insertion of the word "hereafter" in items appropriating for the office in the past.

PERSEVERENCE WINS

Boston Man Is Admitted to the Bar at Age of Fifty-Six

Boston, March 2.—Moses H. Steuer, a native of Austria, was admitted to the Massachusetts bar yesterday at the age of 56. Ten years ago he began to learn the English language by reading the words and names on sign boards. The early years of his life in this country were spent in earning a living through the sale of small wares with a basket.

He had a family to support, and with his large expenses he had but $2 a week on which to live. He read law at night. Steuer got his inspiration to study law when he successfully argued his own case before Judge Pierce, in which Steuer recovered from a deputy sheriff who had replevined some of his goods.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hubbite Cook Puts it Up to T. R.—Chef Writes a Piquant, but not Saucy Letter—All Aboard for Harvard Square, Nearly—Crowds expected to Greet Opening of New Cambridge Subway—Eight-Minute Service to the University Will Tempt Many New Englanders to Explore its Wonderful Museums of Art and Science.

When is a cook not a cook is the important question which comes up among the first to be presented to Colonel "Teddy," upon his re-entrance into the political arena. A letter from a leading chef in Boston advocating legislation for the licensing of the members of his craft, whether employed in high grade clubs and hotels or in cheap restaurants and hash-houses, is in the interest of the health and welfare of all the vast public which is obliged daily to occasionally to dine in public hostelries. The epistle should bear weight with the doughty Colnel if its writer's position in his calling is of any moment. He closes with a brief and business-like plea in thus wise: "A cook is a chemist in food products and worthy of his hire, but to determine when is a cook or is not a cook should be a matter of legislative interest. (Signed) "Paolo Contestabile, Chef University Club, Boston Cooks' Union Local 328, Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International Alliance and B. I. L. of A., affiliatedwith the A. F. of L., 145 Federal Street; who is also Chef, Cook and Organizer, President of District Council of the Independent Boarding House, Caterers, Cafes, Club, Family, Institution, Lunch and Restaurant; Culinary and Domestic Workers of America."

All aboard for Harvard Square through the new Cambridge Subway is a hope aroused by the sight of a handsome, well-lettered announcenmt board, now in position on Tremont Street. But not quite yet. The Transit Commission is putting its finishing touches upon the construction of the entraances and exits to the great 350 foot loading and unloading platforms which underlie the familiar precincts of Park Street Station in the Tremont Street Subway. Otherwise it is understood that everything is in readiness. The Cambridge section of the twelve million-dollar rapid transit route was finished months ago by the Boston Elevated Railway Company. The commodious and perfectly equipped seventy-foot cars are being tried out in the tube in order that the crews may know in advance just how every piece of mechanism works. Meantime the Transit Commission's latest annual report has further whetted public expectation of the conveniences and pleasures of the new service to the many Bostonians and suburbanites who regularly or occasionally go to or through Cambridge. The event will also be awaited with interest by most New England people within a radius of 100 or 150 miles from the Hub, for it has been the experience of the traction officials at the opening of each subway that many thousands of strangers invariably flock to the city to inspect the newest improvement. It is well remembered how, when the East Boston tunnel first witnessed the running of cars, eager-eyed tourists crowded in from Scollay Square and Devonshire Street to enjoy the novel sensation of plunging 80 feet under Boston harbor. Again, when the portals were opened of the Hub's whitetiled way of wonders, otherwise the Washington Street tunnel, the costliest thoroughfare per running foot known to this planet, at Christmas time in 1908, throngs of New Englanders interestedly inspected its tiled and tesselated walls, unique annunciation schemes, moving stairways, and other features of what was at that time hailed as the seventh wonder of the American Athens.

In similar spirit it is expected that Harvard Square, immediately upon the opening of the Cambridge Subway, will be visited by strangers who ordinarily seldom or never see the University precincts. The new subway, according to accounts, is destined in attractiveness to surpass any preceding rapid transit improvement. In the designing of the stations, with their simple but sumptuous materials, the Boston Elevated Company has had the advantage of the taste and skill of its consulting architect, assisted by a committee nominated from the Boston Society of Architects. The charming colonial brickwork of the entrances and exits close by the University gates has already given many an observer a keen desire to discover how these decorative features have been carried below the ground. Against the trip from Park Street to the oldest of American educational institutions there can be, it would seem but one complaint, from the sightseer's viewpoint. Given an eight-minute service over a route where now the trolleys take twenty-five or more minutes, the journey will seem all too short. Yet this quickness will, of course, be its fundamental merit in the eyes of those who habitually use it.

And speaking of Harvard University, those who are familiar with the extraordinary resurces of the University museums cannot but marvel that so few New England residents ever take the trouble to run out to Cambridge and spend a few hours among exhibts over which they would rave if discovered in European treasure houses. A single inspection of the Blatschka glass flowers is about the extent of even the average intelligent American's acquaintance with the things worth seeing and open to the public every day in the week at the University. Thousands of people who have spent much time in the New York museums of art and natural history do not know that the Fogg Museum of Art at Harvard contains one of the most extraordinary collections of early Italian masterpieces in the world, and several of the most valuable original Greek sculptures. They are unaware that in the Germanic Museum are plaster and electrotype reproductions covering the monuments of the civilization of the Germanic peoples from Roman times to now, incluidng the gigantic casts of statuary which the Emperor William ordered made specially for Harvard University Nowhere is Sunday school study more prevalent than in New England centres. Yet very few members of Bible classes know anything about the original and reproduced treasures of the Semitic Museum with its vivid living pictures of the dead civilizations of Palestine and the Mesopotamian plains. Interest in the weird, mysterious arts of Central America and southern Mexico has frequently been aroused by newspaper reports of marvellous discoveries; yet the halls of the Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology, fairly stuffed with them, are uncrowded, even on Saturdays when one would expect to find them filled with school boys and children of a larger growth, to whom the relics of North American Indians are perpetually fascinating. The natural history collections of the University Museum with their picturesque groups of wild animal life and fascinating colored models of palm covered coral islands, are less frequented than might be expected in an age of outdoor living and study of wild nature. These and many other attractions of the University museums ought to be more generally appreciated after the ride from downtown Boston becomes merely a matter of eight minutes.

Ethel Angier.

Boston, March 1, 1912.

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Everybody wants his Glasses Right and wants them Promptly

With a frame too large or too small, Glasses never can be right. We always have ready for instant use an extremely large supply of the necessary material for making any pair of Glasses correctly and promptly.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

Anty Drudge posts Mrs. Youngbride.

Mrs. Youngbride—"I tell you, Anty Drudge, my hands are not white and smooth like they were before I was married. I'm happy with Jack, but it's not so nice to do one's own housework. It's the putting them in hot water that makes them red and breaks the nails."

Anty Drudge—"Quite true, my dear, and the way to remedy that is to use Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water for all your housework—for washing dishes, windows, floors, all house-cleaning, and washing clothes. It will save your hands and the work will be much easier."

A soap that spoils hands and temper can't be good for clothes. You need a soap that won't hurt any one of the three!

How many racking hours you've spent at the wash-tub! And while you were wearing away your strength, you were wearing out the clothes! That's the KILLING way of washing clothes.

But now the Fels-Naptha soap way: Soap the clothes with Fels-Naptha, let them stand for 30 minutes in cool or lukewarm water. Rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

You'll find that Fels-Naptha soap has done the work. Try it next Monday. Best for colored clothes as for white things. Follow the simple directions on the red and green wrapper, and you will be convinced.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Take in Time

the proper help to rid your system of the poisonous bile which causes headaches, flatulence and discomfort. By common consent the proper—and the best—help is

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Edward H. Sennott of Seattle in the County of King and State of Washington, to The Central Savings Bank, a corporation established under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and located at Lowell, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, dated October 11, A. D. 1909, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Norfolk, in said Commonwealth, Book 1131, Page 107, will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described on Monday, the eleventh day of March, A. D. 1912, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and hereinafter described substantially as follows:

Two certain lots of parcels of land situated in that part of the City of Quincy in said County of Norfolk, known as "Wollaston Park" and being Lots numbered 445 and 488 on a plan of Charles S. Miller, dated April 10, 1890, and recorded with the Registry of Deeds for said County of Norfolk, Book of Plans No. 13, Plan No. 566, and thus bounded and described:

Lot 445. Southeasterly by Bloomfield Street fifty (50) feet; Southwesterly by Lot 444 on said plan eighty-four (84) feet; Northwesterly by Lot 433 on said plan fifty (50) feet; and Northeasterly by lot 446 on said plan eighty-four (84) feet.

Lot 488. Southeasterly by Davis Street fifty (50) feet; southwesterly by lot 487 on said plan eighty-four (84) feet; Northwesterly by lot 473 on said plan fifty (50) feet; and Northeasterly by lot 489 on said plan eighty-four (84) feet. Each of said lots contain according to said plan forty-two hundred (4200) square feet of land. Being the same premises to said Edward H. Sennott conveyed by William T. Sheppard by deed dated October 11, 1909, and recorded in said Registry. Said lots are to be conveyed subject to the restrictions set out in the deed of conveyance of the above lots of land and other lots given by William E. Harmon, Trustee under a trust deed dated April 1st A. D. 1892, and recorded with said Registry, Book 686, Page 121 to Joseph R. L'Africain dated April 9, 1902, and recorded in said Registry.

The above described premises will be sold and conveyed, subject to any and all unpaid taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay $200 in cash at the time and place of sale, and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at 12 o'clock noon, at said Bank.

THE CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK,
By Clarence W. Whidden, Pres.
3t Feb. 17-24- Mar. 2

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Eunice A. S. Wellington late of Durand, Illinois, having estate in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ZENAS S. ARNOLD, Adm.
(Address)
38 Coddington street, Quincy.
Dec. 6, 1912 3t 2-9-11

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Clarissa J. Smith, late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Lendall W. Smith of Plympton, Mass., without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of March A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of February A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 2-4-11

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

SPLAIN CONFESSES TO TAXI ROBBERY

Abarno Held Up Bandits For $10,000 Share of Loot

New York, March 2.—Eugene Splaine, one of the prisoners arrested in Tennessee in the $25,000 taxicab robbery here, has made a complete confession and in addition to telling of his part in the holdup confessed to three other holdups in the city.

Another taxicab highwayman, known as Matteo Abarno, one of "the three brigands," surrendered himself to the police and confessed that he had come upon the original robbers dividing their loot and had bluffed them into giving him $10,000. Six thousand dollars of this sum, he said, had been divided by him among two companions, and $1000 held for use in freeing a pal now in Tombs prison. Abarno added that he had spent his share of the loot in Havana.

LONG A TRUSTED EMPLOYE

Receiving Clerk of Express Company Under Arrest For Larceny

Boston, March 2.—Edward H. Hinkley, 31, of Wakefield, receiving clerk for the American Express company at the North station, was arrested at his place of employment last night charged with the larceny of various packages of goods valued at $1000.

The accused almost collapsed when three inspectors of police headquarters, who had been shadowing Hinkley for about two weeks, placed him under arrest and brought him to headquarters.

The prisoner was a trusted employe of the express company for a period of about fourteen years and up to the time of his arrest not the least suspicion was directed to him by anybody in the office of the North station.

WANTED IN CANADA

Couple Arrested In Lewiston Are Charged With Murder

Lewiston, Me., March 2.—The murder of an unidentified man at Bay St. Paul, Que., is charged against Onofrio Rossi and his wife, who were arrested here. The alleged murder occurred in a lumber camp.

Rossi and his wife fled and were trailed through eastern Canada and several Maine cities and towns by a Canadian government detective before they were located here. Rossi was arrested in a barber shop in which he had secured employment and the woman was found in the tenement which they occupied.

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

Mortgagee's Sale

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by James Muller of Quincy in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, dated, Dec. 20, 1910 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1164 Page 604 for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described on Saturday, March 30, 1912, at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the building thereon situated in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic, being lot numbered two hundred three (203) and plan of Norfolk Downs by Charles D. Elliott dated April 1892 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, plan book 14, plan 640 and bounded and described as follows: Northerly by Freeman street forty-nine (49) feet; Southerly by lot 202 on said plan one hundred (100) feet, Southwesterly by the land of Taylor Heirs so-called, forty-two and 37-100 (42.37) feet; and Northwesterly by lot numbered two hundred four on said plan one hundred and 22-100 (100.22) feet containing according to said plan, forty-five hundred sixty-eight and 5-10 (4568.5) square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to James Muller by Alice E. Pendleton by deed recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1148, page 185. Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $2500. and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be.

$100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

ABBIE E. STUDLEY,
Mortgagee.
3t-Mar 2, 9, 16

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of J. Franklin Faxon late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

(Address)
CAROLINE F. FAXON,
CHARLES A. PRICE,
HENRY M. FAXON,
Executors.
Feb. 29, 1912 3t Mar. 2-4-11

STRIKERS MEET MILL OWNERS

Offer of Five Percent Increase Not Considered Satisfactory

IS LIKELY TO BE REJECTED

Committee Thinks It Should Be on Fifty-Six-Hour Basis, While Employers Claim That Increase Will Average at Least Eight Percent—Concessions Refused by I. W. W.—No More Children to Be Sent Away at Present

Lawrence, Mass., March 2.—A committee representing all the Lawrence mill strikers met the officials of the American Woolen company in Boston last evening in a conference regarding the offer of the officials to grant an increase in wages of "at least 5 percent." At the conclusion of the meeting the strike seemed as far from being settled as it was a week ago.

After an hour's conference with President Wood and other officials of the company the strikers left for Lawrence disgruntled, leaving no doubt behind as to unfavorable action of the mass meeting of the strikers today on the acceptance of the offer of the mill owners.

It is probable that the strike would have been brought to an end within twenty-four hours hours had the employers agreed to grant the wage increase on a "56-hour basis," that is to say increase the wages of the employes 5 percent of what they received before the 54-hour law went into effect.

This is not the mill men's offer. They are willing to give a "5 percent at least" increase on the rates now paid by the hour and by the piece, and this will mean, so far as the workers by the hour are concerned, and they are about 75 percent of all the employes of the American Woolen company, an increase figured on a 54-hour a week basis.

One of the demands of the strikers since the strike began has been 56 hours pay for 54 hours work, they having argued that since the 54-hour law went into effect the first of the year the looms were speeded up, and that they received before going on strike 50 cents a week less than before the new law became effective.

All of the nine members of the strike committee stated before the conference they were of the opinion that the offer was on a "56-hour basis." They returned to Lawrence disappointed.

There was talk among the committee members of a "joker" in the offer and it was pointed out that 3⅞ of the 5 percent increase was "eaten up by the difference between a 56-hour and a 54-hour basis of figuring," and that the real increase offered amounts to but 1¼ percent.

On the other hand one of the men connected with the American Woolen company stated after the conference that the offer of a "5 percent at least" increase means that if it is accepted by two weeks from Monday a scale will have been figured out for all the employes and that their pay will be increased in every case at least 5 percent and in some cases as much as 11 or 12 percent.

The average increase will be 8 percent, he stated, and such an increase in wages for the employes of the company in all its mills will mean an expenditure of $1,120,000 more a year, or nearly half the 7 percent dividends paid by the company last year to stockholders.

The action of William Whitman, president of the Arlington mills, in offering an increase of 5 percent and 56 hours' pay for 54 hours' work, with certain changes of the premium system, was quickly followed yesterday by the United States Worsted company, the Wood, Washington, Ayer and Prospect mills of the American Woolen company, together with all the other plants of the corporation in New England and New York state.

The I. W. W. general strike committee voted unanimously to insist on the original demands of a 15 percent increase and the abolition of the premium system as a special executive meeting yesterday afternoon. They even went further and declared that no settlement would be made until Joseph J. Ettor and his lieutenant, Arturo Giovannitti, the strike leaders now awaiting grand jury action on charges of being accessories to murder, are released from jail.

Nearly 2000 strikers who awaited the report of the committee cheered when the decision became known.

Acting on advice of Attorney Roewer, counsel for the strike committee, the children's relief committee decided last night not to send any children to temporary homes out of the city until after a decision has been rendered upon the interference of the police last Saturday at the Lawrence station.

Nearly 100 children had been prepared to leave Lawrence this morning together with a committee of four, and it was planned to ship them without first consulting the civic or military authorities.

IN LAWRENCE STRIKE

Leader Haywood and Two Labor Visitors From West

Photo by American Press Association. Above, Mrs. Fremont Older; center, William D. Haywood; below, Mrs. Frances Joliffe.

SUFFRAGE RIOTERS CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE

Revolver Fired During Serious Demonstration In London

London, March 2.—The first suffragette demonstration in which shots have been fired by women occurred in the West End of London when a mob attacked government buildings, residences of members of the cabinet and several shops.

One of the women's leaders fired a revolver into the colonial office, after all the windows had been smashed. No one was struck, however. Three women in a taxicab then drove to the residence of Premier Asquith and bombarded it with stones, bricks and pieces of iron.

Another mob moved along Picadilly Circus and the Strand, attacking shops and smashing windows. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done before the police restored order.

Before the disturbance had been suppressed scores of suffragettes had been arrested. Among those arrested was Mrs. Pankhurst.

NO INDICATION OF PLOT

Denial of Attempt to Blow Up a Train With Dynamite

Philadelphia, March 2.—What was at first believed to be a plot to destroy a freight train carrying products of the American Woolen company of Lawrence, Mass., has been discovered to be nothing more than the finding of fourteen sticks of dynamite, which is harmless until thawed out.

While inspecting a freight train in the freight yard of the Philadelphia and Reading railway an employe found the dynamite, wrapped in a newspaper, on the truck of a car loaded with paper.

The police now believe the dynamite was stolen in this city and hidden on the car trucks.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

DIMOCK & PATTEN
Carpenters and Builders
Plans furnished and estimates given.
All work personally and promptly attended to.
133 PROSPECT AVENUE
WOLLASTON
☞ Telephone 1047 W Quincy.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, FEB 29, 1912. The committee on fisheries and game will give a hearing to parties interested in House No. 665 to provide for increasing the quantity of food fish produced in public waters, House No. 1365 in relation to taking of fish in waters of Cohasset harbor, House No. 788 to provide that the open season for all species of duck shall commence on the fifteenth day of October, at room No. 505, State House, on Wednesday, March 6, 1912 at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Benjamin Sharp, Chairman. C. Burnside Seagrave, Clerk of the Committee. 1-2t

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LINCOLN HIGHTS
East Braintree
25 min. by rail
Unsurpassed site for beautiful homes; restricted.
SEE
This Loveliest Spot
FRED O. ELLIS 276 Washington St.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder. 58 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

POOL ROOM—For sale cheap price. 4 tables, 14 large framed pictures, show cases and fixtures. Call at 145 Water street, South Quincy. 29-6t

FOR SALE—Household furniture only used one year. Owner going abroad and must sell at once. Address 68 Merry Mount Road, Quincy. 29-3t

WOLLASTON.
7 roomed house, with bath and all modern improvements, for sale. Near Boulevard and depot, church and schools close by. Electrics pass door. Only $700 cash required. 43 Davis street. Mar. 2-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

TRUSTWORTHY MEN or women wanted as local representatives of responsible manufacturer. High-class merchandise and clean selling methods. $12.00 per week guaranteed on easy conditions, with possibility of $30.00 and advance. Experience not necessary. MANUFACTURER, Box 278, Philadelphia. 17-6t S-W eow

WANTED—A chauffeur wants Sunday driving only. Address C. Ledger Office. 24 S-W tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent. profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED— Horse, suitable for peddling. Weight 1100 to 1300 lbs. Must be sound. State price and where seen. Address H. S. Ledger Office. 1-3t

WANTED—Three men or women to canvass a staple line in Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth. Fair salary guaranteed. Address S. Toabe, Gen. Delivery, City. 29-3t.

WANTED—Young girl wants light housework in small family. Apply to house rear of 42 South Walnut street, Quincy. 29-3t

FREE
200 Legal Trading Stamps
TO HOUSEWIVES
Send for particulars how to get them. Nothing to buy. Address
Quincy Business Agency
Quincy, Mass.
26—3t

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Stable 207. Phones Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

TO LET

TO LET—Newly furnished room at 312 Billings road, Norfolk Downs. 2-1t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy March 1. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 26-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon,
17 Granite street, Quincy.
13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

READ LEDGER ADVS.

The Jones' Special Derby $2.50

Most Men Say It's Worth More

IS HERE READY FOR SPRING

The styles are exact copies of the $3.50 and $4.00 hats—low crowns, wide brim and extra fine finish. Of course some medium height crowns and medium brims (conservative hats) are here too—sold with the Jones guarantee to satisfy.

GET UNDER A JONES SPECIAL, AND SMILE

The Lamson & Hubbard Soft and Stiff Hats

Are well known as being fashion's leaders. They represent all that is best in style and quality. $3.00

The Best Derby in Quincy for $2.00

"You've got my goat, I can't manufacture a hat like that to be sold for $2.00," said a hat manufacturer a few days ago when I asked him what he wanted for a hat of that quality. "Really," he said, "that hat is actually worth 75 cents more." Going some—isn't it?

SOFT HATS

Will be more than popular this coming season. Come in and get a hat to fit your head and face. $1.00 to $3.00.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

L Mar. 1-2 4 O—1w

BASKET BALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Ledger has in preparation a series of interviews from well-known authorities on the question of the interscholastic basket ball championship of the state and the recnt contests between teams from the Quincy High and Newton High schools. These games will be dealt with by competent critics in a fair and impartial manner, giving the true facts of these games as they saw them. The interviews will probably appear in Monday's issue.

BRIEFS

Funeral services for Mrs. James B. Claflin were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Captain Elisha D. Atkins of Bromfield street, Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, St. Chrysostom's church officiated. The body was placed in the tomb at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The S. Agnes Parker Sewing circle will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Glover in the Adams building. All the members are asked to be present as officers will be elected for the coming year. Also all bring thimbles as there is a great deal of sewing on hand.

Monday evening at 7.30 in the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. Louie E. Brittain, a convert from Mormanosm will tell of her life and experience. Mrs. Brittain has a wonderful story o relate. The Ladies' missionary society of the church invites all women to be present.

Dimock & Patten of Wollaston, who have had a busy winter, have a great deal of building on hand for the spring. Next week they are to start a house in Hingham to be done June 1st. The house for R. C. Low on Presidents hill is nearing completion being about ready for the inside finish and will be done on contract time May 1st.

CLAN McGREGOR WINS.

The Clan McGregor bowling team took all four from the Clan Farquharson five in one of the series of games of the Scottish Clans Bowling league, rolled last evening at the Brunswick alleys.

McGregor	42	442	408—1270
Farquharson	376	397	402—1174

Celestials Freed In Java

Batavia, Java, March 2.—All the Chinese who were arrested here by the Dutch authorities on account of disturbances during the celebration of the declaration of the Chinese republic were released on the promise of their leaders to prevent recurrence of the disturbances.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

UNIVERSALIST WEEK SERVICES

Subject Friday Evening was "Jesus in the Wilderness"

SUNDAY MEETINGS

At the Universalist church last night another helpful discourse was given by Rev. Ransom A. Greene, D. D., of Charlestown, his subject being "Jesus in the Wilderness."

This experience of Jesus is symbolic of the experience of every man and woman. Life was not meant to be easy. All must pass through a wilderness of doubts, perplexities, or difficulties of some kind. All have a Satan to meet and wild beasts with which to contend. But all also, have that other experience of Jesus. To all come ministering angels, many helps, even divine assistance, God's intimate presence and Christ's spirit. In these days of multiplied material interests we give too litle recognition to the angelic ministrants.

These special services close Sunday evening with a sermon by Rev. Charles Conklin, D. D. They have throughout been inspiring meetings. It is expected that the last one will at least be the equal of any that have preceded it.

QUINCY COUNCIL LOSES AGAIN

The members of Quincy Council, K. of C., bowling team received a glorious defeat at the Columbus club alleys, last evening by allowing the Fitton council quintet to take all four. Bliss was the only bowler on the local team who rolled in commendable form and even he failed to exhibit his usual work. However he was high man for the single string and his mark of 107 was the only redeeming feature of the local team's playing.

The lowest sum total made by a member of the winning team reached the 265 mark, while the highest sum total for the losers, made by Bliss, was 257.

Reader. If you are in a position to give us news don't take it for granted that a Ledger man is on the spot, just call us up, 425.

Too Late For Classification.

FOR SALE or TO LET—7 room furnished cottage, chambers plastered, Improvements, near cars and water, good neighborhood. Other cottage, water front to let. Owner 37 River road, Houghs Neck. 2-1t

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

Ex-Commodore Ring of Greenleaf street has returned from a gunning trip in the South, mostly in the Carolinas. He reports that he found the weather quite cold.

* * *

Albert F. Schenleberger of Goffe street has arrived in Plymouth, England. Letters received by family report a pleasant trip across. Before his return he will visit Germany.

* * *

Miss Eugenie LeClair of Copeland street is leaving today for a few weeks in New York, accompanied by her uncle.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Phillips celebrated the forty-fourth anniversary of their wedding on Thursday. They entertained the family on both sides at a turkey dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were remembered with beautiful flowers and gifts.

MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

An important meeting of the Board of Trade is scheduled for next Wednesday evening. At this meeting, action will be taken on the proposed new by-laws also on the question of salary for a permanent secretary of the Board. President Hearn also reports that he has fifteen or twenty applications or membership which will come up for action.

It should be born in mind that after the meeting next Wednesday, the initiation fee for membership will be $5 and the yearly dues $5. Any applications for membership received at this meeting will have their initiation fee remitted so that it wll cost them but $5 for the year.

That the business men of the city are awakening to the fact that the Board of Trade has become thoroughly alive to the question of booming Quincy, first, last, and all the time, is apparent from the large number that have affiliated themselves with the Board since the new year. There is plenty of room however for all. Send in your applications, attend the meetings and give the officers the benefit of your counsel and ideas.

(ADVERTISE.)

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Thomas P. Healy, late of Quincy, Mass., in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

THOMAS F. HEALY, Adm.
(Address.)
346 Adams Street.
Feb. 27, 1912. 3t 2, 9, 16

NO FRICTION OVER COSTUMES

No Foundation to Story About High School Play

INTERVIEW WITH MASTER

Considerable trouble was caused yesterday to the girl students of Quincy High school, who are to present a play in the school hall this evening, over the report which was circulated to the effect that Principal James T. Howlett was not to permit some of the girls participating in the play, attired in male costume. Still greater vexation was manifested this morning by the publication in a morning paper of a story which was entirely unwarranted and untrue.

A Ledger reporter called the attention of Mr. Howlett to the article and in an interview the latter stated that the facts in the case had been wholly misrepresented." As a matter of fact" asserted Headmaster Howlett, there was no friction at all over the affair and all reports concerning the same are absolutely without foundation. Two of the girls came to me a short time ago and asked me if I would object to their wearing riding boots and long coats in the cast. I stated that I personally had no objection, but requested the girls to seek the advice of their parents in the matter and that I would be willing to abide by the verdict. At first, I understand, it was contemplated to have some of the girls wear outing trousers and panama hats, but on consultation of the girls with their parents, some of the mothers protested and such protests were sustained, with the result that the cast was arranged to the satisfaction of all At most the sketch is to take but three minutes, previous to the play, and I sincerely regret that untrue reports were circulated with regard to the players and myself."

METROPOLITAN PLAN BILL.

Editors Daily Ledger:

As the so-called Metropolitan Plan Commisison bill is to be heard in the Legislature at an early date, it may be of interest to your readers to know that an amendment to the bill now pending has been proposed which would seem to me to meet the only objection which has thus far been raised to the bill.

It is now generally known that the bill provides for a planning Commission which will draw a plan, after proper investigations., which will indicate the best possible future physical development for the metropolitan district taking into consideration everything which in any way affects the district as a place of business or residence.

The bill originally provided that the plan would only be executed as a city or town voted to execute that part of the plan situated within that city or town, and that then the expense should be borne 65 per cent by that city or town, 25 per cent by the other cities and towns in the district directly benefited, and 10 per cent by the State. It is now suggested, and I understand with the approval of the Commission, that the apportionments should be made in each case by the planning board itself, and that the improvement should be executed only when each of the cities and towns called upon to pay a part of the expense of the improvement had agreed to its apportionment. This would eliminate apportionment commissions and the possibility of a city or town being assessed for a Metropolitan improvement against its will, and would be an extra inducement for the planning commission to promote the co-operation in physical development between the cities and towns of the district which is one of the great purposes of the proposed legislation.

It seems to me that this bill offers us a way to co-operate voluntarily in matters of common concern with the other cities and towns in the district and removes the possibility forever of involuntary annexation, and for that reason should commend itself not only to our local government but to our people as a whole.

Very truly yours,
D. KING.

March 1, 1192.

Peculiar Burning Fatality

Attleboro, Mass., March 2.—As the result of a burning accident of an unusual character, Elsie M. Adams, 17 years old, died at her mother's home here. She opened the door of the furnace and the coal gas flames flared out of the door, burning her about the face and throat. She also inhaled the gas and flame.

LOSES GAME BY SMALL MARGIN

Team Work Came Too Late to Save Quincy High Boys

28 TO 27

In a game of basketball, conceded to have been one of the best played in interscholastic circles, Newton high triumphed over the local high, in the Newton Y. M. C. A. gym yesterday afternoon, 28 to 27. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 8 in favor of the home team but the ability and endurance displayed by Captain Chapman's team in the second period, inspired new hope in the many rooters who had accompanied the team and for a time it looked as if the Granite City players were to emerge in victory.

Even during the last minute of play, victory seemed apparent when McDonald, who has proved himself a player of worth tried for a goal from the floor. The ball struck the rim of the basket, rolled around, three times and fell to the ground, amidst the applause of the home team supporters.

KISSEL KAR EXHIBIT.

Visitors to the Mechanic Building tonight and during the coming week, will find exhibited by the Kissel Kar New England branch an exhibit of cars such as are manufactured by the parent company at Hartford, Wis., that has not been attempted in Boston heretofore. On account of the lack of space it was found impossible to display as many of the models as they would have liked and for that reason there is to be seen only the 40 H. P. semi touring car, 50 H. P. semi touring car in 4 cylinders, and the 7 passenger six cylinder 60 H. P. car. This "six" will, without doubt, be the sensation of the show, completely equipped as it is with—seat covers, nickle trimming, combination speedometer and clock truffault-hartford shock absorbers, electric lights, large solar headlights, 37x5 tires on universal quick detachable demountable rims etc.

This is only one of the many values in pleasure cars that this company offer. The 50 H. P. car displayed, as well as the 40 H. P. are of equal value. The company has not adopted a self-starter, but will equip their cars with any on the market. The parent company has not felt inclined to rush the self-starter on the motor buying public until such time as they could give their unqualified approval to same. This policy is pursued by a number of the high priced and well known cars, and is one which the Kissel Motor Car Co., has always carried out.

This line is locally represented by S. Scammell & Sons, Quincy avenue.

BRAINTREE

Mrs. G. H. Wilde and Miss Frances Wilde of Ash street left Friday for Florida for a few weeks.

Mrs. Peverly of President road, has been entertaining her grandaughter, Verna Linscott, of Melrose.

Miss Annie T. Belcher is entertaining Mrs. Martha E. Whitney of Duxbury at her Park street residence.

Mrs. E. A. S. Litchfield of Whitman, is visiting her daughter Mrs. Walter N. McKean of Robinson avenue.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Weatherbee of River street. The little fellow was born on Tuesday, Feb. 27, and his name is Nathaniel.

Mrs. A. A. Ellsworth of Quincy, a former resident here, celebrated her birthday Thursday, Feb. 29, at her home. A number of Braintree friends called to wish her many happy returns. She was the recipient of many beautiful flowers and other gifts.

The Washington whist club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGill, Washington street, Thursday evening.

Miss Mabel T. Knight, a teacher in the Penniman School, is ill at her home in Randolph and Mrs. Irving N. Holbrook is substituting for her.

S. of V. Aux. 16 held a very enjoyable whist party at Mrs. Alfred H. Holbrook's, Cleveland avenue on Thursday evening. Souvenirs were given Mrs. M. O. Garner, Mrs. N. E. Hayden, Miss Sadie Berry and Elmer Holbrook. Next week they will meet with the Misses Berry of School street.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the 35 cent coffee value we are still selling at 25 cts a pound.

Don't forget our Orange Pekoe Tea, the popular tea of today. Value $1.00 per pound. Our Bargain Price is 60c per pound--- "try some."

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store During the Alteration We offer an Alteration Sale In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

HEARINGS ON BOULEVARD

(Continued from Page One.)

bill, not only because it would be to Quincy's advantage to have the work done but because as a member of the House he had fought for practically the same measure. He quoted the report of the Metropolitan Park Commission in which the work asked for was recommended. Further the report suggested the completion of partly finished parkways before new work was undertaken. He showed the committee that at present the boulevard along the shore is of comparatively no use since it has two blind endings and at the same time it is costing the State money for maintenance. Another fact brought out by Mr. Langelier was that the bathing facilities along the shore were much improved, so much more in fact that they attracted more than Quincy bathers and the boulevard was therefore a benefit to the vicinity at large. He told the committee that until this work is completed there will be no way for automobilists to enjoy the beautiful shore drive to its fullest extent, but after it is done that a through route will be had from Boston to the Blue Hills. He said it would not interfere with the railroads in the grade crossing question as was feared in some quarters. Rep. Piper here took occasion to be recorded in favor and endorsed all that had been said.

Ex-Mayor John O. Hall and Chas. C. Hearn both spoke of the advantages that would accrue to Quincy, in a business way and that the Board of Trade of which both are members and officers, is almost unanimously in favor of the project, and had passed resolutions to that effect.

George F. Elcock, representing the Ward Four Improvement Association said his organization was working hard for the success of this bill and thought it ought to be done at once. In Ward Four, he said there was a great deal of building going on, and the residents of the section would be greatly benefited by the completion of the parkways. He spoke of the improvement to property that would be the natural result and said the increase of taxable property that would come would help Quincy to pay the heavy Metropolitan Park taxes that it was called up to pay.

John B. Sullivan, of the Automobile Dealers' Association said that organization was deeply interested both in business and sentimental ways, and wanted to be recorded as thoroughly in favor.

Rep. Leslie summed up the situation by saying that it should be plainly evident to the committee that Quincy was entitled to what the bill asked for, and that further it was Quincy's just due that the work be done. He said it should be understood that Quincy was not alone in being the beneficiary of the proposed improvements, as Braintree, Weymouth and all the towns to the south of Quincy would also share largely in the good results.

Opposed to the bill was G. B. Bates who said that he did not want the committee to think that he opposed any measure that tended to Quincy's good, but he thought that this measure should wait another year and see what came of the grade crossing affairs. He said he had opposed this same bill last year on the same grounds. He thought the amount of money asked for is far too much. "Nearly a quarter million dollars is called for by the bill, and I am sure it is an excessive demand" said Mr. Bates. He said that all in favor are public office holders, past or present, and thought the opinions of the citizens at large should be requested. Mr. Bates told of asking the Mayor twelve questions bearing on the subject, and upon getting no answer he had caused the questions to be published and still they were unanswered. "Why this mystery." asked he. His reasons for objecting to the bill he said were threefold. First, the city's finances were in a deplorable condition and this work would mean an added tax on the treasury. Second, the amount of the appropriation was far in excess of our actual needs, and third, the bill calls for a piece of patchwork that will not really complete the through boulevard when it is done. Here he entered upon the grade crossing questions and was cut off by the chairman who explained that grade crossings were entirely separate and apart from the import of this bill, whereupon Mr. Bates took his seat. No further opposition appeared and the hearing was closed.

The Neponset Bridge bill which has been amended and changed often was presented by Rep. Leslie in its newest form. Mr. Leslie explained the changes in the bill and said he considered that Quincy had done a magnanimous thing in accepting an extra 5 per cent of the cost of the new bridge and hoped the committee would give the bill favorable report. He said that as the bill now stands it calls for an appropriation of $200,000. and the cost is to be borne proportionately by the cities of Quincy and Boston, Norfolk and Plymouth counties, the street railroad and the State. Quincy will pay 20 per cent, Boston 40 per cent, Norfolk county 10 per cent, Plymouth 5 per cent, the Bay State street railroad 15 per cent, and the State 10 per cent. This is a most equitable division. Mayor Stone, for the city said he was sure that the committee would see after their visit to the bridge the necessity of a new bridge and thought words were superfluous in arguing the advantages of the bill. Ex-Mayor John O. Hall, Charles C. Hearn for the Board of Trade and Matthew Cummings, Reps. Bates and Carr all of Boston spoke briefly in favor. The opposition was quite tame, in that both Judge Joseph J. Corbett for the city of Boston and Bently Warren, for the street railroad both admitted the bill a most fair one except that they did not quite agree with the apportionment of costs. The committee will take the matter under advisement and report soon. Besides the speakers there were present and recorded in favor County commissioners Richardson of Norfolk and Faunce of Plymouth, Albert L. Whitman, William H. Teasdale and Councilman Ericson of Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 54 QUINCY MASS., MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 4, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

ASSUMES HIS NEW PASTORATE

Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson Becomes Pastor of First Church

MAN OF MUCH EXPERIENCE

REV. ADELBERT L. HUDSON, Pastor First Church.

Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, D. D., who recently accepted a call from the First Congregational Society of this city assumed the duties of pastor on March first and occupied the pulpit on Sunday morning, preaching to a large congregation.

Mr. Hudson has had an unusual range of experience, both as a clergyman and layman, which admirably fits him for his work. He was born in the State of New York, where his father's family had resided for several generations; but on his mother's side he is a member of the Lathrop family of Massachusetts, and a direct descendent of Rev. John Lathrop (or Lothrop), the Pilgrim, who, in company with some 20 families of his London congregation, "harried out of England" by the tyranny of Archbishop Land, settled that in 1639 the old First Parish of Barnstable, Mass., which he served as pastor until his death in 1653, guiding, directing and advising his people so wisely that one New England historian reports of him that, while he lived, no police magistrate was needed in the community.

It is an interesting fact that in each of the eleven generations of the descendants of this remarkable man there have been a large number of clergymen and teachers, no less than seven of the present corps of minsters of the Unitarian denomination alone, and five professors now in active service in Harvard University being among his descendants. All of Mr. Hudson's maternal uncles were ministers. His father, also, was a minister, and he being the only son it was taken for granted from his earliest boyhood that that would be his vocation. With this expectation he began his studies at a denominational college. After two years, however, he found that he no longer believed in the orthodox creeds, and that he could not consistently preach in accordance with their teachings. Consequently, after a full discussion of the question with his family and teachers, he decided to give up the ministry and prepare himself for the law. His family in the meantime having moved into the Middle West, he completed his collegiate studies and took his law course as well at the State University of Iowa, from which he received the degrees of A. B. and LL. B.

From 1883 to 1893 Mr. Hudson practised law at Sioux City, Iowa as a member of the firm of Joy, Wright & Hudson, later Joy, Hudson, Call & Joy. In addition to a large general practice this firm were the attorneys for three railroad companies having terminals at Sioux City, and Mr. Hudson's work being more especially that of trial lawyer, his duties carried him over a considerable territory in the courts of the three States whose borders touch the muddy waters of the Missouri at that point. This of necessity brought him into contact with a great variety of people, problems and conditions, affording opportunity to gain an insight into the practical side of life, such as would be quite impossible to a man with only the experience of his academic and theological studies to fit him for his work.

Aside from practising law, however, Mr. Hudson took a lively interest in the social, philanthropic and religious activities of the community. In 1885 he became one of a small group of prominent men in the place who organized and incorporated the First Unitarian Church of Sioux City, bought land, put up a handsome church building and managed the affairs of the society without asking any assistance from the missionary funds of the denomination. In addition to being from the start one of the board of directors of the church, he became the leader of the young people's organization for literary work and was frequently called upon to speak at different gatherings held in the church as well as to prevent the society on public occasions.

It was only natural, with his early training and inherited tendency toward the ministry, that these various church activities should remind him from time to time of his original plans and should serve to indicate the path of duty. He had abandoned the idea of being a minister only because he could not honestly teach the old creeds. But now that he found himself in a church whose attitude toward truth was in entire harmony with the scientific progress of the time and which offered opportunity for a man to use all his energies in noble service without sacrificing his individual convictions there seemed no excuse for shirking the logical conclusion. The result was to be expected.

In 1893, after having carefully weighed the question and taken time to close up such business as re-

(Continued on Page Three.)

Women's Fine Shoes

The only article that can really add the finishing touch to a good gown is a perfect fitting shoe. Perfect fit is never attained in cheap footwear. The better kind of shoes hold their shape and actually look better the longer worn.

THE SPRING STYLES OF THE "AMERICAN LADY" SHOES

are ready for your inspection. You will find in our selection a little dash and exclusiveness not displayed in the usual run of shoes. Fashioned different, made better and priced only moderately.

Boots, Pumps and Oxfords $3.00 and $3.50

THE STORE THAT IS ABSOLUTELY AHEAD

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 4-3t—O 1w

ENTERTAINMENT AND CANDY SALE

High School Girls Give Farce for Benefit of Athletics

MUCH ENJOYED

Words fail to express adequate appreciation of the entertainment given by girl students of the Quincy High schol, to an audience that taxed the assembly hall to its capacty Saturday evening. The affair was followed by a candy sale conducted for the benefit of the athletic fund of the school.

The sketch "Popular Songs" was presented in an able manner by Miss Eleanor Whittemore and Miss Dorothy Lowe, assisted by a large chorus of girls. Music was by the school orchestra and an overture by its members comprised the opening number. This was followed by two selections by the school glee club, which came in for their full share of prolonged applause. The songs were "Voices in the Woods" and "Sleep Ma Honey."

A reading by Miss Louise Moyle elicited loud applause while the entire audience was enraptured by the next number, a rainbow ballet, given by twelve girls. The ballet proved a decided hit. All the girls executing the various movements with unity. The way in which it was performed showed the result of much practice. Then came the sketch and suffice to say that the mere announcement of it evoked applause and the ability of the participants was fully demonstrated.

"American Beauty" waltz, given by Miss Ruth Jones and Miss Florence Crowell, merited the same hearty applause that greeted previous numbers. The High school sextet, composed of Misses Ruth Critchely, Olive Barnicoat, Eleanor Whittemore, Dorothy Lowe, Mabel Daniels and Marion Brokaw gave a "Seranade to Juanita" which indeed embodied the height of perfection, so much so that the applause of the audience at its termination was almost deafening.

Then came the feature of the evening, a one-act farce, entitled "Miss Oliver's Dollars." The cast was as follows:

Mrs. DeForret, a supposedly rich society leader — Miss Hortense Andrews
Ellen De Forrest, her marriageable daughter, — Miss Juanita Metherall
Madge DeForrest, her 14 year old daughter, "l'enfant terrible" — Miss Miriam Breem
Mrs. Kirk, another society leader — Miss Louise Prout
Miss Oliver, her eccentric millionaire aunt, — Miss Marian Newcomb
Mrs. Beebe, a New England farmer's wife — Miss Mary Golden
Mary Beebe, her daughter, an actress — Miss May Knapp
Mrs. Peppins, the parson's wife, — Miss. Margaret Magee

The farce was very ably rendered and during its production the audience was treated to many a hearty laugh. In fact, from the beginning to the end those in attendance were kept in a continual state of mirth and laughter.

The orchestra was composed of William Weston, pianist, Max Pinkham, violin and Emerson B. Holmes, celio. The candy sale was in charge of a committee comprised of Misses Juanita Metherell, Louise Wilson, and Vivian Crowell and it was announced that a goodly sum had been realized. The coaches of the entertainment were Misses Mary G. Brown, Bertha M. Kirmayer and Emma Perkins.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

PLEDGES NOW TOTAL $4,500

But $500 to Raise on Last Day of the Y.M.C.A. Campaign

HELP THE CAUSE

The meeting of the team workers in Association Hall Saturday evening was the largest and most enthusistic of the whole week, notwithstanding the absence of D. King, who was called to New York on business, and whose original "Cheers" and encouraging remarks were much missed.

The reports of all the teams were received amid great applause and especially Mr. Sedgwick's splendid team 1 who led all the others by a large margin.

The chairman then thanked every man present for loyalty they had shown and the good hard work they had put in with such good results. He called their attention to the fact that there was yet a considerable number of friends who on account of the short time and comparatively few workers, had not been offered the opportunity to pledge. He asked then men what was best to do about the balance of over $800. the association so much needed to carry on this year's work. Every man said let's continue the campaign until Monday night and so it was voted.

Mr. Kincaide then anounced that one good friend of the Ass'n. offered to give the last $100 and at once two men pledged $50 each on condition that the full $5000 needed be raised. Other pledges received during the evening made a grand total of $4500 and leaves just $500 to be raised today. The committee urgently request you to send to Headquarters, 61 Washington street, any amount you are willing to give to make this campaign a success, and to help along the great work of the Association for the community.

BIRTHDAY DINNER.

Miss Maria Schenkleberger of Goffe street entertained Misses Hazel Livingston, Constance Sears and Priscilla Bigelow at dinner, Saturday evening in observance of her fourteenth birthday.

The occasion was one of great merriment as each young lady was dressed to represent a book or character in a play. Miss Schenkleberger was "Alice in Wonderland" with striped dress, stripped stockings and white pinafore. Miss Sears, as the Yama man, in red bloomers and tall hat. Miss Livingston, as the "Littlest Rebel," was dressed like the heroine of the play and Miss Bigelow as "old fashioned girl" in a full dress skirt with large flowers, white kerchief and cap.

After dinner, games of various kinds were enjoyed, and a very delightful evening was spent.

Miss Schenkleberger was the recipient of many pretty gifts and flowers, but the gift which gave her the most pleasure and which she highly appreciated, was a cablegram with fourteen kisses from Dresden, Germany. sent by her father, Albert F Schenkleberger, who is travelling abroad.

First Church Fair

Wednesday, March 6

Sale commences 2 P. M.

Supper, 6.30 P. M., 35 cents

FANCY TABLE—All kinds of fancy articles, useful novelties, underwear etc.

HOUSEHOLD TABLE — Large assortment of white and colored aprons, towels, dusters and holders.

CANDY TABLE — Delicious home-made confections.

MYSTERY TABLE — One hundred bargains in sealed packages.

GRAB TABLE — The Old Ozken Bucket will please the children.

A REAL "LADY BALTIMORE CAKE" from Charleston, S. C., to be sold by the slice.

28-6t

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

FIFTEEN ARE INITIATED

Col. A. B. Packard Camp Hold Class Initiation

MAYOR PRESENT

The first Class Initiation under the auspices of Col. Abner B. Packard, Camp 95, Sons of Veterans took place Sunday afternoon at Faxon Hall. Visiting members of the S. of V. Camps of the adjoining towns were present in large numbers. Camps of Milton, East Weymouth, Braintree, Dorchester, Norwood, Rockland, and Boston were represented, as were also several of the neighboring G. A. R. Posts.

The officers and members of our own G. A. R. Post No. 88 were present in full force showing by their numbers their pleasure and gratification at the work being done by the Sons of Veterans.

Class Initiations are very much in evidence in the winter's programme of this organization and Camp 95, not to be outdone, initiated fifteen new members and also have the nucleus of another class in hand.

The exercises were graced by the presence of a number of guests among whom was our Mayor, Hon. Eugene R. Stone, who is a member of Camp 95 and who never fails in having a good word for the patriotic work. Division Commander Frank Wellington, S. of V. Division of Mass., with P. S. V. Commander Frank White extended the greetings of the Headquarters.

A stirring speech was delivered by Commander Carlton of Post 4 of Melrose G. A. R., and in his remarks he touched upon the beautiful memorial hall that is being erected in the city of Melrose, the cost of which is being borne jointly by the City Government and liberal donations of private citizens. Central in its location, it will hold a position of honor in the centre of Melrose, showing and giving to the G. A. R. a practical and lasting monument to those who offered their lives for the preservation of our Union. Why should not Quincy, a city hallowed by such numerous patriotic memories, give to its Veterans a place befitting in some degree the feeling of regard every American citizen has for the 'Boys of '61."

Col. H. A. Dunbar of Norwood Post G. A. R. in a forceful manner called for the Sons of Veterans to fulfil every one of their sacred obligations and to take their places in the patriotic work befitting sons of veterans.

Special floor work was performed by members of Sons of Veterans Reserve, composed of members of Camp 74 of Milton and Camp 95, with much credit to their Camps and themselves. Special musical features were introduced and refreshments were served during the speaking. Great credit for the splendid success of this first Class Initiation is due to Commander Frank Stoddard and his officers of Camp 95 and also to the members of the Recruiting Committee of which Walter B. Packard is Chairman.

The Sons of Veterans are increasing steadily in numbers each year and propose to have one hundred men in line on Decoration Day here in Quincy.

On March 15, Charles H. Johnson will give his lecture on Historic Quincy, before the camp.

CAPT. JOHN L. GOW.

Capt. John L. Gow, U. S. N. retired died suddenly late Saturday night at his home 98 Revere road of heart disease of which he had been a sufferer for some time. He was 55 years of age.

Capt. Gow was born in Washington, Penn., May 12, 1857 and was appointed to the United States Naval Academy from Indiana. He was graduated in June 1878, as a cadet engineer, and passed through all the grades of the engineering service to that of chief.

During the Spanish war he was Chief Engineer of the repair ship Vulcan. He also served at various times as instructor of engineering at the Naval Academy, spending in all about nine years there.

In 1901 he was assigned to the Fore River shipyard as inspector of machinery remaining until early in 1908 when he was ordered to go to the Philippines. His health at that time was such that it was not deemed advisable for him to risk the climate of the Philippines and after examination he was retired with the rank of Captain. Since then he has continued to make his home in Quincy, his health at no time being of the best.

During his residence here Capt. Gow made many friends who are much saddened by the death of a kindly gentleman and a true friend. Capt. Gow was of genial temperament, one who would gather friends about him no matter where life placed him and once a friend always a friend. His cordial handshake, quick wit and smile attracted people to him.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Gow and the only daughter, Elinor, in their sudden and sad bereavement.

—The progress of woman suffrage is made conspicuous by the statement that nearly a million women in this country will have a right to vote for president next fall. Some day, shall we have a woman president? —Somerville Journal.

☞By using PRATT'S BREAD you require less butter and can save money.

PLEASURE CAR SECTION March 2-9 AUTO SHOW COMMERCIAL VEHICLE SECTION March 13-20

MECHANICS BUILDING - BOSTON

PLEASURE CAR EXHIBIT

Auspices Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, Incorporated

OPEN EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

10 A.M. to 10.30 P.M.

Admission 50c, except Wed., Mar. 6, "Society Day," $1

"THE ACKNOWLEDGED SHOWS OF THE YEAR"

EXHIBITS MORE COMPLETE - DECORATIONS MORE SUPERB

DIRECTION CHESTER I. CAMPBELL

THE RENTING SEASON IS HERE

I am having calls for Houses every day.

So Get in Line with the Wise Ones and

LIST YOUR VACANT HOUSES WITH ME

RICKER REAL ESTATE INSURANCE CONVEYANCING

1416 Hancock Street QUINCY

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

A corner lot in the Everglades of Florida would at least have the advantage that you would not have to water the lawn.

Representative Cox of Ohio wants the cost of the Philippines figured out. He forgets that no philosopher ever looks at his last year's cash account.

J. P. Morgan expressed no surprise at the age-long silence of the Sphinx. All the trust magnates are that way before a congressional investigating committee.

The fact that the debt of New York city is greater than that of the United States is attracting wide attenion. It costs money to take chorus girls out to lobster suppers.

Mayor Gaynor of New York wants police to be more careful in using their night sticks. A policeman with a sense of humanity will use a feather duster on the heads of a mob.

Most people do not attain fame until advanced years, but in the public mind George Washington reached the climax of his fame when he wielded the little hatchet.

The Chinese students in this country are worrying as to who will pay their tuition while China is revolving. If they will get on the ball team there won't be any trouble about their tuition.

We realize very well that it is one thing to discuss the cost of living amid the calm serenity of an editorial sanctum or at a dinner table with jolly fellows to applaud, and another when the butcher comes around and wants $5 on account.

We are sick of reading these magazine articles about the artistic snuff boxes done by the third cousin of King Henry VII's aunt. Give us something on the cost of living or Teddy Roosevelt or stealing third base.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS.

The gift of a memorial window to John Bunyan, placed in Westminster Abbey by the American Baptists, brings back to us some of the golden hours of childhood, when we reveled in "Pilgrim's Progress," with its quagmires and pits, its slippery hills, its dark and horrible glens, its gloomy castles, and court yards paved with skulls and bones.

All this brilliancy of imagery stands out in strong relief against the monotony of the average home library of twenty-five or more years ago.

The child of that period with a taste for reading usually found on the home book shelves "The Graver Thoughts of a Country Parson," "The Life and State Papers of George Washington," and the "Travels of Bayard Taylor," and such like. They were formidable not merely for their long words, but for their rusty black covers that froze the soul of young readers.

But even if Pilgrim's Progress was clad in the most austere binding, there were golden visions within that beguiled many a stormy day and solemn Sunday.

There were scenes of terror, too. To this day we can recall the old creepy feeling every time we think of Giant Despair, pictured forth in the execrable wood cuts of an old fashioned Pilgrim's Progress, as he stretched forth his ogre-like face, skinny arms and fish-hook fingers, to catch frightened Christian.

Any one who needs to make much use of the English language in his daily work, whether as a newspaper writer, a clergyman, a lawyer, or a teacher, gains insensibly the habit of terse and graphic style from reading a book having the power of this old classic. Take the following quotation, which for long years has stuck in our mind, from Apollyon's address to Christian:

"Prepare thyself to die, for I swear by my infernal den, that thou shalt go no farther. Here will I spill thy soul!"

From the stand point of English writing, could anything be finer than that? What a vivid picture of a man's soul, as weak and thin as to be spilled out like water by the Great Destroyer! And what a contrast a book written in this chaste but glowing style forms to the dish-water literature which is usually placed in the child's hands today.

Our modern youngsters rarely see Pilgrim's Progress, save in emasculated editions with all the red blood cut out. But most grown- up people feel a thrill of pleasure as they think of the old book and are glad that one of our churches has testified to the American appreciation of its power.

BELIEVE IN SUCCESS.

No thought is quite as big as the thought of success; nor does any idea keep after us quite so persistently. It will not do to deceive ourselves by saying that we do not care for success. That will not do at all, so right after the beginning of our talk together, let us say at once that we believe in success, that we cannot entirely trust the people who say that success makes no difference, and ever if we fail in many things, nevertheless we want our very failures to be successes. We may say it is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all, and in saying that, we still have at the bottom of it the real idea of success. The same thing is seen in that well-known line of Robert Browning's, "Not what a man does but what a man would do—that exalts him." That is, success holds on to a person who really holds on to success, until it finally raises him to its own level. The appearances may show failures and half successes, but success finally crowns the man who holds fast. We reach our "would-do."—St. Nicholas.

CRIME WAVE IN NEW YORK.

Holdups in New York are more frequent than in South Dakota, during the Vigilante committee days"; "Police almost dazed by epidemic of holdups"; "Police headquarters agitated, all the older, wiser detectives summoned to give advice." These are a few of the scores of similar headlines that are appearing in the local newspapers as a result of the record-breaking crime wave that is now sweeping over New York state.

From all quarters of the state come reports of shooting affrays, assaults, daylight holdups and burglaries, but no section has suffered more from the reign of lawlessness than New York City, itself. The $25,000 taxi-cab holdup in almost the heart of the financial district and the two sensational highway robberies that took place within thirty hours of each other in broad daylight in the busiest section of Thirty-fifth street, give no more than a fair idea of the operations of crooks and criminals in this city. House-breaking has become so common that burglary insurance companies have raised their rates fifty per cent and refuse to accept fur and feather and other classes of risks. Surety companies that make a specialty of insuring against highway robberies, are advertising in all the newspapers and are reaping a harvest.

Detectives, bank men and others interested in the checking of crimes of violence, blame the increase of crime on New York State's new "Revolver Law" which makes it impossible for the law-abiding citizen to arm himself or that he can purchase a revolver even for home protection. As a result, crooks from all over the country have swarmed into the city to take advantage of the safe and easy harvest.

KISSEL KAR BOOTH.

Now that the automobile show has again come around, all automobile enthusiasts are wide awake to the possibilities and incidentally the impossibility developing from this annual analysis of the various types of motor cars, and by no means among the least prominent is the Kissel Kar. This make of car which has stood the test for the past six years and always come through with flying colors, seems to have reached the maximum of perfection in its 1912 model.

Not only does Manager Pruden claim that his 40 H. P. model for 1912 is the greatest value offered, but he is ready to stand behind this statement and prove it, and after he is started, it takes very little to convince his hearers that such is the case. The same is true of all the Kissel Kar models and a visit to the booth of the Kissel Kar will be time well spent.

Scammell & Son, local agents for the Kissel line, report great enthusiasm in regard to the up-to-the minute car.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

QUINCY BOYS WIN STATE MEET

Lion's Share of Trophies Captured by Local Y.M.C.A. Boys

THE RESULTS

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. athletes captured three cups and were tied for a fourth in the State athletic meet for Y. M. C. A. boys Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium of the local association. The permanent cup, which is annually awarded to the association making the greatest number of points, and which for the past year has been in the possession of the Malden Y. M. C. A., was won by the local boys, as were also the individual cups in classes A and C. In class B two Quincy boys were tied for the cup with a member of the Lynn Association.

In all about one hundred athletes participated in the meet and in addition to the local Y. M. C. A. the following associations were represented in large numbers, Lynn, Hyde Park, Salem, Newton, Somerville, North Abington, Melrose and Clapp Memorial of East Weymouth. The result of the meet showed Quincy a leader with a total of 53 points. Lynn was second with 37, while Clapp Memorial had 7, Hyde Park 5, Salem 5, Newton 3, Somerville 2, North Abington 2 and Melrose 1.

The entries were divided into three classes. Class A included all boys between the ages of 12 and 13 years, class B comprised boys from 14 to 15 years, while boys between the ages of 16 to 18 made up class C. Points were given to the boys who finished first, second, third and fourth in each event.

The star of the meet was Briggs, of the Quincy Association, who had a total of 12 points to his credit. He was given the cup in class A. Estey, with a total of ten points, coveted the cup in class C, while Prout and Kemp of Quincy were tied with Lee of Salem for the cup in class B. It was agreed to draw lots for the cup in this last mentioned class but when the same was about to be done, it was found that Lee had boarded a train for Boston and consequently the announcement of the winner in this class had to be deferred to a later date. At the conclusion of the class events members of the Quincy relay team defeated the Lynn team in a relay race of 600 yards.

Haszard of Hyde Park established a new State record for Y. M. C. A. boys in the running high jump by clearing the bar at 5 feet, 3 1-2 inches. The previous record was 5 feet, 2 inches made last year by Faith of Newton. Haszard was a participant in class C.

The officials were as follows: Fabyan, Clapp Memorial, starter; Ratthei, Hyde Park; Buxton, Lynn; Faith of Newton and Loomis of Newton, Judges at the finish; Shirley, Quincy; field judge, LaRose, Quincy, referee and Blanchard, Quincy, scorer. The summary follows:

CLASS A.

15-yard dash—Won by Briggs, Quincy; Chapman, Lynn, second; Shackman, Lynn, third; Curtin, Clapp Memorial, fourth. Time 2 1-5s.

Potato race—Won by Clark, Lynn; Chapman, Lynn, second; Briggs, Quincy, third; Curtin, Clapp Memorial, fourth. Time 23s.

Standing broad jump—Won by Briggs, Quincy; Shackman, Lynn, second; Cotton, Lynn third; Chapman, Lynn, fourth. Distance 7 feet 10 inches.

CLASS B.

15-yard dash—Won by Prout, Quincy; Hunt, Quincy, second; Trustnitzner, Somerville, third; Clark, Lynn, fourth. Time 2s.

Potato race—Won by Kemp, Quincy; Clark, Lynn, second; Stanley, Lynn, third; Andrews, Quincy, fourth. Time 21 4-5 s.

Running broad jump—Won by Lee, Salem; Andrews, Quincy, second; Fowler, Lynn, third; Woodworth, Newton, fourth. Distance 17 feet, 2 inches.

CLASS C.

15-yard dash—Won by Estey, Quincy; Vose, Lynn, second; Litchfield, Newton, third; Djerf, Quincy, fourth. Time 2 s.

Runing high jump—Won by Haszard, Hyde Park; Estey, Quincy, second; Trask, Quincy third; Wills, Melrose, fourth. Hight 5 feet, 3 1-4 inches.

Potato race—Won by Trask, Quincy, Vose, Lynn, second; Estey, Quincy, third; Long, Lynn, fourth. Time 21 2-5 s.

Three broad jumps—Won by Leonard, Clapp Memorial; Fowler, Lynn second; Fritz, North Abington, third; Trask, Quincy, fourth. Distance 28 feet 11 inches.

MUSTN'T MIX IN MEXICO FIGHT

Taft Issues Warning to Americans Resident There

CANNOT OBTAIN PROTECTION

Should Immediately Leave When Conditions Threaten to Become Intolerable—Ambassador Wilson Ordered to Act on Proclamation—Intention of United States to Avoid Chance of Intervention

Washington, March 4. —The gravity of the situation in Mexico caused President Taft to issue a proclamation virtually warning American citizens to refrain from entering that country, and those now resident there to leave when conditions threaten to become intolerable. The decision to issue such a warning was reached at a special meeting of the cabinet.

The proclamation was augmented by a telegram addressed by the state department to Ambassador Wilson in the City of Mexico. The ambassador was instructed to inform Americans in peril there to withdraw across the border, leaving their effects in the care of the nearest United States consul. Copies of the telegram were sent to all consular agents.

The president's utterance, it was explained, was in no sense a recognition of the revolution movement. Neither was it to be looked upon as a declaration of neutrality. It was declared the utterance was solely a warning to Americans to avoid anything that might savor of partisanship in the existing state of affairs.

The proclamation, which is interpreted further as an expression of this country's intention to avoid by every possible means any chance of intervention, points out that it is the duty of all persons within the jurisdiction of the United States to refrain from the commission of acts subversive to the tranquility of the country with which the United States is at peace and concludes:

"I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, do hereby admonish all citizens and other persons to abstain from every violation of the laws hereinbefore referred to, and do hereby warn them that all violations of such laws will be rigorously prosecuted; and I do hereby enjoin upon all officers of the United States charged with the execution of such laws the utmost diligence in preventing violations thereof and in bringing to trial and punishment any offenders against the same; and, finally, I do hereby give notice that all persons owing allegiance to the United States who may take part in the disturbance now existing in Mexico, unless in the necessary defense of their persons or property, or who shall otherwise engage in acts subversive of the tranquility of that country, will do so at their own peril, and that they can in no wise obtain any protection from the government of the United States against the appropriate legal consequences of their acts, insofar as such consequences are in accord with equitable justice and humanity and the enlightened principles of international law."

Because of the interest felt by European nations, many of whose subjects are residents in Mexico, the state department had fully advised with their diplomatic representatives in Washington. The British, German, Spanish and French embassies and legations here were informed of the proclamation and the instructions to Ambassador Wilson.

It was stated also that the action was not to be regarded as indicating that the administration had abandoned hope of the speedy restoration of peaceful conditions.

OROZCO WITH REBELS

Fight For Possession of Capital of Chihuahua Is In Progress

El Paso, Tex., March 4.—A telegram saying that fighting for the possession of Chihuahua City, capital of the Mexican state of that name, had begun, was followed by the hasty departure of the rebel garrison at Juarez to join their comrades in the fight.

"Orozco is with us," the telegram said, meaning, the rebels aver, that he has announced himself openly as in arms against Madero.

WITH $104,000 MISSING

Missouri Man Is Found In Dazed Condition In Florida

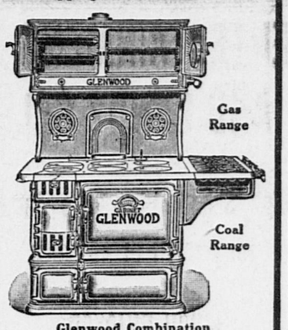
Tampa, Fla., March 4.—Declaring he lost or had been robbed of $104,000, which he had drawn from a bank in St. Joseph, Mo., John B. Etchison of that place was found here dazed and apparently unable to recall what has happened to him.

He says he started from his home to go to Excelsior Springs, Ark., and that he fell or was slugged in Kansas City, and that he knows nothing of what happened since that time.

A message received from a friend of Etchison declares that the latter left his home with $20,000 cash in his pockets. Etchison is said to be known as an eccentric character.

A Smooth Range

It takes great skill and the very best material to make a plain smooth range—but Oh! how clean and wholesome it looks in the kitchen, so appropriate and business like.



Glenwood Combination Coal, Wood and Gas Range.

It matters not whether your kitchen is large or small — there's a Plain Glenwood made to fit it. Prices to suit all purses.

Cabinet Glenwood Range
H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

Governors Interested In Memorial

New York, March 4.—A nation-wide movement has been inaugurated to erect in New York a worthy memorial to Thomas Jefferson, the founder of the Democratic party. A committee of Democratic governors has been appointed to receive subscriptions which will be used to double the fund of $25,000 left by Joseph Pulitzer for the purpose of erecting a monument.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

5—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
5—Wollaston Aux.—Woman's Board Missions.
6—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Literature Class—Mrs. H. J. Gurney—Home of Mrs. A. E. Avery.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Wollaston Alliance.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Meeting—Quincy Catholic Club.
7—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance— Comitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

STRONG POINTS ABOUT THIS BANK

This is a bank financed by Quincy business men. FOR Quincy business men. It is a depository for State funds. It has convenient, commodious offices and an up-to-date modern vault. Its hours are suited to Quincy's needs—its officers and attendants are anxious to serve you cheerfully and courteously. Let us explain to you personally the privileges of our depositors.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

"To a Young Man Who Marries This Spring we will give $1,750"

Suppose we said that to you young man. Would you be interested? Here's the proposition. In a month or two you'll need a new outfit. The cost in Boston will amount to say $400.

This live local store with its large volume of business, low suburban rent, and small operating expenses offers you the Same Goods at 25 per cent less.

SUPPOSE YOU SAVE $100.

Do you know that if you put $100 at compound 6 per cent interest now, you can make your wife a present of $1,750 on your golden wedding anniversary and still have your original $100 left.

We have Complete Outfits as low as $95. Liberal terms, or discount for cash. Come in, let's talk it over.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

OUR SLOGAN

We Can Save You $2.11 on Your Next Suit
Buy of Us and Save the Difference

This slogan would be meaningless unless we intended to back it up with clothing values that will make our store FAMOUS.

We first had to find the WHOLESALER who was furnishing the big store and the combination stores with their FIFTEEN DOLLAR SUITS.

Our next move was to buy liberally, selecting such numbers as were designated as trade builders. The care with which these SUITS were selected justified a name, so we call them the "PAYSON SPECIALS.

With the assistance of a lead pencil we found that we could DOUBLE OUR CLOTHING BUSINESS without adding any more expense. We therefore resolved to sell them for $12.75, but the margin was so narrow that we afterwards added fourteen cents for finishing the bottoms. That's how we came to mark them

$12.89

This is close figuring. It is modernized merchandising, that's all.

Payson-Mitchell Co.
CITY SQUARE - - - QUINCY

One family bought five Suits at our store Saturday. Their confidence in us was not misplaced. They simply came to the right store.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
After 3.30 at SHUNK'S AGENCY
WOLLASTON
Leave an order and have delivered at your door

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Anncuncements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

TWELVE MEN CAN SAVE QUINCY

Wollaston M. E.

At the Wollaston M. E. church Sunday evening, Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor, preached the last in the series of sermons to men, from the following text, "For the people had a mind to work" Neh 4:6. Mr. Wiggin said in part, Nehemiah was a man of prayer. He believed in God. His heart was in his work. He brought things to pass. He knew the source of power. He not only prayed for the relief of his countrymen. He not only asked God to build the walls of the city, perhaps in David's words he said, "Build thou the walls of Jerusalem," but he set himself to forecast what he could do towards it.

As faith without works is dead, so is prayer without effort fruitless. Nehemiah not only prayed, but he worked. He led in the great undertaking of rebuilding the walls of the city.

The work of rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem was carried forward with great rapidity. This was made possible because the people had a mind to work.

They delighted in the task assigned them because their hearts were in it. They each built over against their own home. They had a love for the work. When one loves his work he will delight in doing it. Carlyle once said, "Give us a man who sings at his work. He will do more work. He will do better work."

The secret of the success that attended their efforts was in the fact that the people had a mind to work. They were determined to do something. They were anxious to see the walls rebuilded. What was true of Nehemiah and his people, is true today of the hosts of God's people. If results are to be realized in the activities of the Church to save men and interest them in the good work, then we must have a mind to work. Nothing is accomplished without effort. We are commanded "Go work to-day in my Vineyard." present service is needed for present needs. To-morrow may never come "Behold now is the accepted time." That, which, we intend to do may never materialize, but that which we do at once may help some one and win them for the Master's service and hence interest them in the great work of saving men.

The Church is the greatest force for good in the world today. it makes for righteousness; it creates a wholesome atmosphere in which to live; it safeguards the home it purifies civilization; it is a beacon light set upon a hilltop to guide men from darkness to light, from error to truth, and thus unite them to God for service. The Church needs the hearty cooperation of men if the best results are to be realized. The blessings of the Church to the community are worthy of consideration.

Benefits of the Church to the City of Quincy.

Out of the 31 replies received from the letters sent to the business men of Quincy, every one without exception, who expressed himself on this one point, acknowledged that the Church was a benefit to the city of Quincy. If a thing is a benefit for the home, the community, the nation, and the whole civilized world then it ought to have not only the sympathy, but the hearty support of strong men to help in the good work already being done. We shall consider the last question this evening viz: What are the benefits of the Church to the city of Quincy?

Says one "The benefits of the Church to the city of Quincy are almost without number, and we cannot conceive of any one wanting the Church removed from any community."

Another says, "The Church instructs young and old in the teachings of Christ, and tends to make better men and women, hence better citizens. The benefits of the Church to the city of Quincy are neutral, perhaps it keeps the city from being worse."

"The Church is of the first importance in helpful and uplifting directions." "The Church makes it a decent place in which to live and the Church in many ways is radiating an influence for good which is not credited to it. No doubt a greater influence could be exercised if a united stand of Church people could be brought about."

"The Churches are of great benefit to the community and town or city, and I cannot imagine what our city would do without them, but I think there must be closer bond between them, they must get closer to each other, and if they will be of greatet service they must vote as they preach. There is too much talking one thing and voting another. Let the Churches be united on any civic betterment, and what could stand against them? If they manted No-License law enforced they would come very near getting it, for they would vote solid for men for the City Council that would that make their business. I have heard members of the Protestant Churches say they voted for one, for they knew he would be radical on the enforcement of certain Laws and Ordinances. They think it is best not to be too strict on such things, just sail along with the current, for it is so much easier. I think that is the spirit that disgusts many non-christian men. On the other side, look at the Catholic Church, if they want anything they vote solid for the man or men that will do all in their power to bring it about. How often they succeeed and we stand off and find fault. We need more sincerity and more persistence in the cause of right, and strike for it at all times, because it is right."

"The benefits of the Church of Christ to Quincy or anw community are incalculable. Though men do not attend they support the Church, and the power of the Church is felt along the following lines: It is where we bring our troubles and our anxieties it is where we go for comfort, and from its fountain we draw our hope and our inspiration to struggle upward. We may not go to the Church but the church bell is a reminder of better things."

"Words of the earnest preacher are lasting and productive of much good and though the inspired speaker may not see the fruit of his words, the fruit is there and men are lifted up.

"I think many ministers would gain a hold on their people if they would have monthly men's meetings when they could meet the heads of of the families of their Churches and there get in touch with the masculine thought.

"There is no possible question as to the benefits of the church to the city of Quincy, and it is a terrible shame that it cannot reach out and take in our young boys and girls who fill the streets at night and get into trouble, where they might better be attending some interesting talk or entertainment under the guidance of the Church.

"Quincy would revert to a refined Paganism in short order without our Churches, and they are supported I think in many ways by the absentees, in view of that fact also the lowest rank and file of the Church as with society and nations are their hope and sustaining power.

"The Church is doing much to relieve distress through its organizations, but much energy is wasted in the work. Its only other benefits are indirect and cannot be easily specified. The very sight of a church building has a salutary influence upon any normal person, and whatever benefits the individual benefits the City.

"Our clergy as a whole are too easily discouraged and casted down. They are impatient for results. The world cannot be regenerated in a decade. Let them preach on life and its problems in the light of revealed religion, of death and of judgment to come and they are much more likely to reach the people than if they resort to artifice to catch the fickle ear of the multitude.

"I am of the opinion that if it were made oligatory upon every member to have family worship in his home every morning it would accomplish much in the way of creating a lasting interest in religion on the part of the young.

Nowadays children are not trained in the way they should go, and therein lies the cause of many of our sociological woes.

"On the whole the benefits of the Church are good but not positive leading or far reaching. More men's classes, Ford Hall meetings and Y. M. C. A. 3.30 meetings will have a growing effect for the general benefit of the City. One local, religious paper supported by all the Churches would be a way to get the community educated the way that would be natural and give all people opportunity to contribute to its success.

"If such are the benefits of the church to the City and to each individually what would be its power if only we could solicit the co-operation of all the men of the city, hence we recognize.

The Need.

"Notwithstanding these benefits of the church there are many who do not personally know the value of the church or its blessings because they do not kno God. 'The natural man cannot know the things that are spiritually because they are spiritually discerned.' There are scores under the very shadow of the churches of the city who have never personally heard the gospel. These must be won.

"'Lift up your eyes and behold the fields white already for the harvest.' No one can for a moment make a careful survey of the field before us but what will recognize the fact that the present brings us face to face with opportunities to save men such as no other period in the history of the Church has ever done.

BETHANY CHURCH.

At Bethany church, Sunday morning, Dr. Asher Anderson, occupied the pulpit, and took for his text Genesis 45:27, "And when he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent, the spirit of Jacob their father revived."

Dr. Anderson said in part: "I presume in most of our lives there is one great sorrow more poignant than others we may be called upon to bear. This was the overwhelming trial of Jacob, the loss of Joseph: he could not be comforted and he said 'I will go down to my grave mourning for my son.' "

The young are optimistic: they can bear sorrow with more equanimity, for is not the future before them? bright with promises of high attainments, and noble achievements. But Jacob's heart was despondent and his home was pervaded with gloom: but in the course of events as history unfolds itself, Jacob and his family were saved from disaster and famine through the instrumentality of Joseph, and once more peace and happiness reigned in his heart. This story is used as an illustration of our Saviour the risen Christ. When we are surrounded by trouble and sorrow, the famine of discord and strife, we can find the greatest comfort in the living Jesus. In the sublime truths of His perfect love: the breadth, the wideness of His divine compassion, ever ready to receive us with words of comfort and cheer which are indispensable.

The message of Christianity is to us what the wagons were to Jacob. The professing Christian has the assurance of His ever watchful care and the immensity of his forgiveness.

The power of Christ is that within us, which enables us to grow in faith and inspire us to uplift humanity.

Great men, like Martin Luther, have been inspired by faith in God to promote some large truth or some noble cause. In every community there is a leader, if not, there is no reform. In Christ we have the perfect leader. He will strengthen our weakness, shed light into our darkness, and guide us in our perplexities. Jesus is the home of the spirit: in whom is light, life, and love.

The consciousness of His abiding presence will make us forget our pride, selfishness and forgetfulness and keep us in constant communion with Him. The deepest joys of life, the power to carry on life's conflicts, the knowledge that we are in this world to win, to overcome, and the good we accomplish, all come to us by living within the influence of His Infinite Love. If our hearts are filled with the spirit of Christ, that spirit will speak in our homes, in our business relations and in the faithfulness with which we perform our duties. Life is full of burdens and the way is often rough and hard, but the evidence lies within us that Christ is a certainty. We shall see him as He is, after the weariness, the pleasure and the passing of life, we shall behold the great white throne—Immortality.

Appropriate music was rendered by the choir.

At the close of the services Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hendry were welcomed into the environments of Bethany church by Dr. Anderson.

The Lord's supper was observed ery reverently.

Before the services, Dr. Anderson spoke of the petition to the legislature in regard to holding games and other recreations on the Sabbath day. He asked if it was the desire of the congregation to vote against it and every hand was raised in protest.

ATLANTIC MEMORIAL.

In the Memorial Congregational church, Atlantic, the Rev. T. W. Davison spoke on the words from Luke 19:44. "Thou knewest not the time of thy visitation."

Mr. Davison said in part: The Israeliiist church had received many visitations from God. Every prophet was a visitation, and gave some definite message. Isaiah's message was for cleanness in the sight of God and man.

Micah's message was to do justly, love mercy, and a walk of humility. The Psalmist aserted that God did not delight in offerings and sacrifices. Christ was the final visitor to save the Jewish theocracy from utter ruin. Like the prophets He did not care for mere ritual and ceremony. Man to Him was of more importance than Sabbath or ceremony.

But the Jewish church in its blindness and materialism closed its eyes to the Messiah. Ritual had developed pride, haughtiness, self-assertion, and there was no room for an inner spiritual kingdom. We are somewhat ritualistic in our service, and our danger is that of all ritualistic churches, stagnation may be near.

These words "Thou knewest not the time of thy visitation" may apply to the Christian church. The Church may not be to blame for the superstitions of the dark ages, the excesses of the reformation, the rigidness of puritanism or the fanaticism of emotional revivalism. But if we are coming to an age of spiritual maturity, we will be to blame if we are as religious babes when the world is calling for strong characters that can interpret the life, purpose and conscience of Christ.

I know many will say let the minister stick to his theology and the church to its Bible, but if we are simply holding to the traditions of theology, they have almost become mythology, and the church that is not reclaiming lives from sin and giving true service to the world has deserted its Bible.

Christ has given the church a great divine mission with wonderful opportunities of service. Our work is not only on the savage shores of the dark continent, or in the idolatrous lands of India and China in their sad superstitions, but with the debased and vicious of our own country, yea and even with those of our church who may listen to the gospel, but have never practised it. Our call today is to know that in the ordinary opportunities we receive for service, it is Christ's visitation.

Again Christ visits us each one individually, and we often know it not. He comes to our heart with convictions of duty, to our mind with ideals of truth to our conscience with sentiments of righteousness.

He comes to us in childhood in the tenderness of the mother; in maturity in the loyalty of a friend. He may speak to us through the high standards of manhood, and womanhood, and the real soul and development comes when we accept and obey Him in every form, and know that we make the most of every opportunity.

A fine concert was given in the evening by the Sunday school with the following program:

Song, School
Words of Welcome Supt. Blake
Prayer, Rev. Mr. Davison
Recitation, A Word, Carleton Marble
Exercise, Deeds of Kindness, Evelyn Luke, Tina Phillips, Louise Carter, and Eleanor Phillips.
Recitation, A Promise, Marion Gurney
Song, Primary Dept.
Exercise, The Question, John Dexter Theodore Aldrich and Earle Beeman.
Recitation, The Lost Boy, Ruth Miller
Song, Choir
Recitation, A work, John McMahon
Offering song, Five girls
Song, School
Recitation, Helping Mamma, Barbara Wells
Recitation, Somebody's Mother, Ralph Smith
Flag song, Earle Beeman
Recitation, Forget-Me-Not, Jeannie Brown
Exercise, Edna Hanson, Dororothy Buckley, Gladys Barclay and Reba Osgood.
Recitation, Four Leaf Clover, Ruth Beeman
Exercise, How to Serve My Country, Horace Young and Carleton Miller
Song, Meta Miller
Reciation, A Message, Margaret McBurney
Recitation, Peace Be Still Augusta McMahon
Closing Recitation, Laura Rogers
Address, Rev. Mr. Davison
Song, School

Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock there will be a mother's meeting in the vestry. This is the first meeting, but the committee expects it to be very successful with a large number present. All ladies having children in the Sunday school are eligible for membership.

At 6.30 o'clock, Wednesday evening there will be a supper and roll call of members of the Church and their partners and at 7.45 will be held the annual business meeting of the church.

Thursday at 8 P. M. will be held the annual meeting of the parish.

The mid-week service of prayer has been postponed to Friday night because of the parish meeting; subject; "The Happy Life as Jesus Saw it." The meeting will be lead by the pastor On the same evening at eight o'clock, the Y. P. S. C. E. will hold its leap year social.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN.

Those who attended the morning service at the Wollaston Unitarian church, heard a very able and interesting sermon by Rev. Carl G. Horst from the text found in the gospel of Mark, " The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath." The history of the Day of Rest was discussed and a rapid, survey made of the significance of such a day to people of all ages and nations since the days of the Acadians who dwelt in the Valley of the Euphrates long before the Old Testament was written. To them it signified rest to the heart and was characterized by religious observance, while to the Jews, coming later, it meant essentially a cessation from toil and was accompanied by feasting and joyous ceremonies in church and family. Later than this, in the time of Christ, the observance of the Sabbath was hedged about with narrowness and perfunctory ceremonials which robbed the day of its essential element of rest, and made the observance of form a weariness to soul and body.

Christ—and Paul following in his footsteps-advocated entire freedom of the individual, dismissing any hard and fast rules, and urging that the day be made to minister to the needs of the human heart. Our Christian Sabbath, coming as it does on the first day of the week, is a day for joyous communion with friends, for the healing of sick and hungry souls and for ministering to those whose needs are material as well. The old Jewish Sabbath, coming on the seventh day of the week, commemorates the death and entombhent of Christ,—ours on the first day, the joy of the Christ arisen from the dead.

The Sabbath, and its observance is neither Christian nor Jewish, it belongs to no sect, nor nation, but is created by the universal need of humanity. Religion is first a great want felt in the heart of man, and the church comes afterwards as a necessary expression of this spiritual need.

The Kindergarten class of the Sunday school meets every Sunday morning in the vestry during the hour of worship upstairs, thus enabling mothers to attend divine service. This class is open to all children, three years old and over, in the community. Miss Evelyn Cummings, the very efficient Kindergarten teacher, has charge of this department.

"The Lawrence Strike" was the topic under discussion in the Rollins Young Men's class in the church auditorium at noon yesterday. It was a most interesting and instructive meeting and the interchange of thought proved most helpful.

The annual offering for the American Unitarian Association, our national missionary agency, was received at the morning service yesterday. Those who were unable to be at church are requested to send their contribution to the minister or the treasurer, 232 Belmont street, Wollaston.

Miss Minon Lacey conducted the devotional part of the Y. P. R. U. service last evening and Mrs. Robert E. Park gave an interesting account of her recent trip to the South and of what was being done there for the moral and spiritual uplift of the negroes and the whites.

The Wollaston Unitarian Social

(Continued on Page Six.)

ASSUMES NEW PASTORATE

(Continued from Page One.)

quired his personal attention, he finally severed his partnership relations and turned his back on a career of exceptional promise to enter the Unitarian ministry. In a way of further preparation for this work he went, in the fall of 1893, to Cambridge, Mass., and entered Harvard Divinity School. Here he studied two years, spending the intervening summer vacation in travel abroad. Later on he completed the work required for the three years' course, and received from Harvard University the degrees of A. M. and S. T. B.

In June, 1895, just before completing his studies at Harvard, and while he was considering the question of where he should find an opportunity to begin his new work, the Western Superintendent of the American Unitarian Association, who had known him as a lawyer, came to see him and urged that he should go to Salt Lake City, Utah, and see what he could do for the little Unitarian Society there, which had started with great promise, but in the depression following the panic of 1893 had become discouraged and was on the point of disbanding. It was just the sort of opening to appeal to a man who had gone into the ministry under the conditions he had, and he readily consented to go out to the land of sage brush and Mormons and lead the forlorn hope. Here he remained for two years, gathering a congregation of between 400 and 500, securing and equipping, a suitable meeting place for their use and reorganizing the society for more effective work. Having thus accomplished the task he had gone there to undertake. in the latter part of 1897 he accepted a call to the First Unitarian Church of Buffalo, N. Y., as successor to the Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, who had just gone to All Souls' Church in New York City.

After four years' service in Buffalo, he received a call from the Channing Religious Society of Newton, Mass., one of the fashionable suburbs of Boston. This he accepted subject to the condition that he should remain with his Buffalo parish to keep the church open during the Pan-American Exposition, which was then in progress.

For the next nine years Mr. Hudson continued in the pastorate of the Newton church, resigning the 1st of Februrary, 1910. Since then he has been engaged as Billings' lecturer and field agent for the American Unitarian Association, and during the season of 1910-11 made an extensive trip through the South and Southwest visiting and encouraging churches already organized speaking in places where there were no churches of that denomination, and helping to organize new societies.

This winter, Mr. Hudson has been giving his entire attention to the State of Florida, preaching in Jacksonille, Miami, Daytona and other cities.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 4

Evaporated Milk, Peerless	large can 7c	small	4c
Shrimp, Barataria,		can	9c
Salmon, Medium red		can	14c
Rolled Oats, Fancy Kiln dried,	5 lb bag		17c
Corn Starch, Fancy,		pkg	4c
Cocoa, Gray's	1-2 lb can		12c
Soap, Lenox		bar	3c
Prunes, Extra large Santa Clara		per lb.	10c
Molasses, New Orleans,	gal. 32c	qt.	10c
Pickles, Sour Mixed, Sour Gherkin, Chow-chow,		large bottle	17c
Macaroni or Sphaghetti,		pkg	7c
Olives, Plain or stuffed		bottle	9c
Olive Oil, Plaginol,	qt. tin 80c	pint tin	45c
Crackers, Kennedy's Grahams,		per lb.	8c
Best Creamery Butter		per lb.	34c

Mar. 4—M. W. F.

SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.
This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	26 degrees
Mar. 4, 1911,	34 degrees
Mar. 4. 1910,	49 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Walter E. Burke to Theophilus King, South street.

Walter E. Burke to Theophilus King.

Mary Coleman to James McLaughlin, Federal avenue.

Wilton A. Dunham to Henry F. Smith, Houghs Neck

Wilton A. Dunham to Nora Crowley, Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Dunham to Charles L. Mahoney, Houghs Neck.

Charles A. Ericson to George W. Abele, Goffe street.

Felix Favorite to Martha Hinricksen, Belmont street.

Louise Favorite to Charles H. Dennison, Norfolk street.

Nathaniel W. Finton to Pandora Park Co, a trust, Houghs Neck.

James H. Gerlach to Herman Wolff Waterston avenue.

Martha H. Googins to Herman Wolff, Waterston avenue.

William E. Harmon tr to Royal S. Eastman.

Arthur W. Harris to Samuel W. Jackson.

Martha Hinrichsen to Louise Favorite, Belmont street.

Bengta Johnson et al to John H. Hill, Winthrop park.

James E. McIntire to Arthur F. Raymond, Fayette street, Arlington street.

Joseph McKinnon et al to DeWitt T. Kinnon, Ridgeway street.

James McLaughlin to Patrick Coleman, Federal avenue.

William H. Mears tr et al to Richard J. Hennessy et ux, Mears avenue.

Violette J.. Nadeau to Herman Wolff, Waterston avenue.

James M. Nowland to Mary P. Nowland, Edgemere road.

Charles W. Perkins tr to Charles R. Sherman, Farrington street.

Mary D. Porter to Lester A. Porter, Taylor street.

Arthur F. Raymond to Samuel H. Couch, Fayette street, Arlington street.

Hammond B. Rodd to Charles R. Sherman, Beale street.

Pelman Seminary to Leila M. Rollins, Lincoln avenue, Highland avenue.

Levi Wilcutt to John P. Granahan, Phillips street, Waterson avenue.

Bread is the staff of life. PRATT'S BREAD nourishes body and brain.

CLAIM STRIKE IS NEARLY WON

I. W. W. Leaders Urge Their Followers to Stand Firm

CRUCIAL TEST COMES TODAY

Desperate Attempt Will Be Made to Close Every Mill In Lawrence—Strike Will Be Broken or Prolonged Indefinitely—Action of Central Labor Union in Accepting Concessions Is Denounced

Lawrence, Mass., March 4.—Thousands of men and women strikers will form an endless chain about the mills today and attempt to prevent operatives from returning to work. A clash between the strikers and police is feared. Today will be the most crucial Monday of the great textile strike, which enters upon its eighth week.

The state police force, in command of Captain Proctor, has been augmented by twenty plain clothes men. Ten companies of militia and a troop of cavalry also are ready, should the police need assistance.

The various relief stations of the Industrial Workers of the World remained open all night, and breakfast was served early this morning. This, it is declared, signifies that the strikers have planned a desperate attempt to close down every mill in the city.

The long textile strike will be broken today or prolonged indefinitely. Class solidarity, the theme of the I. W. W. movement, will be given a tremendous test. An increase of 5 percent offered after seven wageless weeks is bound to cause desertions from the ranks of the strikers, and should 5000 workmen return today, practically every mill in the city will be able to run on full time.

In a dozen halls yesterday I. W. W. organizers pleaded with the workers to stay away from the mills today. James Thompson, Thomas Powers and other agitators urged everyone to be on the picket line and not to "sell out to the mill men for a nickel."

At a large, enthusiastic meeting in Franco-Belgian hall, the delegates from the various nationalities shouted together in their native tongues: "We won't go back until Joseph Ettor is released."

The action of the Central Labor union in accepting the concessions offered by the mill men was denounced. "They have been sitting on the fence," said one delegate, "with a leg on either side, ready to fall on the side where they could get the most credit."

President Golden of the United Textile Workers of America came in for another attack, the strike committee drawing up the following resolution:

"We, the strike committee, denounce John Golden as a liar, a traitor to the strikers of Lawrence, and one who does not truthfully represent labor."

William D. Haywood urged the strikers to be on the picket line in great numbers.

Nearly 1000 English speaking strikers crowded into the Star theatre, where Thomas Powers, secretary of Textile Workers of Providence, and I. W. W. Leader Thompson appealed to them to continue the strike until the original demands made on the mill owners are granted.

Both speakers asserted that the offer of an increase of 5 percent is working adversely to the cause of the strike, for it is creating the impression that the strike is over.

Handbills were printed admonishing the strikers to "Stand firm, stand firm, win everything." Some of the statements of the poster are:

"The textile manufacturers are yielding. The strike is nearly won; it will be won. The brutality of the agents of the employers, police, militia, courts and thugs has aroused the whole nation. The world is with us. We must win. Everything is won, except your claim for more pay and more rights as producers.

"Don't return to work until complete surrender by the oppressors and industrial ease is assured. Don't break ranks, else the employers will break your necks and manhood later on. Nobody goes back to work until all go back together. Win, win, win."

This evening a protest meeting will be held in the Colonial theatre, and on the stage will be a group of the women who claim to have been struck with policemen's clubs during the riots Saturday morning and Sunday evening a week ago.

FILED FORGED PAPERS

Labor Leader and His Lieutenant Are Convicted by a Jury

Boston, March 4.—Augustus Seaver, labor leader and editor of The Wage Earner, who was candidate for governor at the last election, was found guilty on twenty-four counts by a jury, on the charge of filing forged nomination papers. He was released on a cash bond of $2000 until the time that he will be called for sentence.

Patrick Sheehan, charged with forging names, was held in $1000 for sentence. Sheehan was found guilty of forging nomination papers on which Seaver was running. Four counts were found against Sheehan. Eight counts were named in the indictment.

The trial lasted two weeks, in which seventy witnesses were sworn and heard.

RIOTERS ARE BEYOND CONTROL OF POLICE

Looting and Incendiarism by Soldiers In Chinese Capital

Tientsin, March 4.—Rioting of a serious nature occurred here last night. The outbreak had been feared and precautions were taken as far as it was possible to protect the residents from harm. Between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening the soldiers mutinied. They set fire to a number of buildings and then began looting from house to house. They were joined by the rabble. The shops and banks in all the important streets were looted, and some of them were wrecked.

To intimidate the populace the soldiers kept up a continual gun fire. The rattle of musketry could be heard throughout the night. Only a few of the police remained loyal, and they were greatly outnumbered and powerless to suppress the disorders.

No fewer than fourteen fires were raging simultaneously in various parts of the city. The soldiers broke into the Peiyang mint, which was set on fire. Machinery to the value of many thousands of dollars was destroyed. The mint was literally robbed of everything portable.

DEAD MAN GRASPS MONEY

Shoemaker Believed to Have Been Victim of Black Handers

New York, March 4.—D. Salingo, a lower West Side shoemaker, prosperous in a small way, paid with his life what the police believe was his refusal to meet the demands of Black Handers. His corpse was found in his little shop, stretched out on the table at which he had been working. The blade of a knife had penetrated his brain.

In his hand was tightly clutched a dollar bill and on his person were bank books showing deposits of more than $1000. Other bills of small denomination lay scattered about the place.

A barber named John Louissi was arrested later, charged with homicide.

REVERE HOUSE FATALITIES

No One Responsible For the Deaths of Three Women

Boston, March 4.—No one was responsible for the deaths of the three women who lost their lives in the Revere House fire, according to the report filed by Chief Justice Bolster of the municipal court.

The report was of the inquest conducted by Bolster. He says that the three women who lost their lives were overcome by smoke or became confused.

"The uniawful act of no person," says the report, "contributed to the cause of death."

Smallpox Aboard Liner

Portland, Me., March 4.—The Cunard steamer Ascania, from Liverpool with a case of smallpox in her steerage, sailed last night for Boston, to land the 580 steerage passengers at the quarantine station there. The Portland quarantine was not adequate to handle all the passengers.

Fire In Maine Town

Limestone, Me., March 4.—Four buildings, in the heart of the town, were destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $35,000. No cause is known for the fire.

Fancy Dress

Photo, Copyright, by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

This elegant creation was designed for a fashionable fancy dress function this winter.

MOLESKIN COATS IN FAVOR

If Anything, They Have Advanced in Popularity Since the Beginning of the Season.

Long coats of moleskin are a fad of the moment, and judging from the number seen, they will continue in popularity throughout the season. They are lovely in color and texture. The pelts are supple enough for graceful handling, but the fur is not so practical as the tougher furs, nor has it the permanent value of the more expensive furs.

Coats showing two furs in combination are also fashionable. Hudson or French seal and moleskin in combination are popular and more effective than one would imagine. The coloring is somber but rich. Long, straight scarfs and huge muffs made of these two furs are very lovely, while moleskin combined with ermine in long coats is beautiful, the soft gray and white making a most charming effect.

Cloth coats trimmed with moleskin are very much more to be desired than those trimmed with a cheaper fur. These fur trimmed models are made in all degrees of richness and can be had at prices that suit the purse of any one buying a handsome coat.

Hats, motor bonnets and gowns are trimmed with the soft fur which blends well with almost any color that may be selected.

Mending Gloves.

The safest and best way to mend gloves that have ripped at the seams or split across the back or palm is to carefully buttonhole the edges of the tear with fine silk matching exactly the color of the kid.

After both sides of the rent are buttonholed, catch the stitches together through the center, sewing over and over and taking up each stitch. By using this method the glove will never tear out again at the same place. It also makes a neat finish.

Removing Stains.

Stains may be removed, even from the most delicately colored gloves, by suspending them for a day in an atmosphere of ammonia. Provide a tall glass cylinder, in the bottom of which place strong aqua ammonia. Be careful to remove from the sides of the jar any ammonia that may have been spattered upon them. Suspend the gloves to the stopper in the jar. They must not come in contact with the liquid.

Much Easier.

"My wife decided to do some preserving today and I left her performing the feat of a daring swimmer."

"What might that be?"

"Stemming the currant."

HOME DRESS

A very charming little dress is in gray cashmere. The cut of the skirt is novel and pretty. The lower part of the right side wrapping over the left, where it is ornamented with buttons. A strip of embroidery galloon of Oriental colorings is carried down center front.

The bodice, which is Magyar in style, is trimmed to correspond with skirt; the small round yoke is of spotted net. The sleeves are trimmed with galloon and finished with frills of lace.

Materials required: Four and one-half yards 46 inches wide, three yards galloon, 11 buttons, one-half yard spotted net 18 inches wide.

Cumulative Proof.

"I fear that I have not gathered sufficient evedince to convince the court of my client's insanity."

"Perhaps the court will regard his employment of you as evidence."

The Small Boy.

Ere long, by fond Emotions stirred,
He'll watch pa carve
That turkey-bird.

Borden's

A rich, creamy milk and the most nutritious elements of wheat and barley, are combined in Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes and stimulates body and brain because it supplies what both need. Try it at lunch time—between meals and before retiring. Don't ask for malted milk. Ask for Borden's, Borden's and Borden's.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,

Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptok Bifocal Glasses are wholly free from the disfiguring seams, patches, "rainbows", dirty rims, frayed edges of all "cemented" bifocals.

Kryptoks are Handsome, Becoming, Stylish.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St. 310 Boylston St. 75 Summer St. BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.
Quincy, Mass.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear if the Advice of this Quincy Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains.
Most times 'tis the kidney's fault.
Backache is really kidney ache;
That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.
Many Quincy women know this.
Read what one has to say about it

Mrs. F. Curtis, 54 Quarry St., Quincy Mass., says: "We used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family with good results and in 1908 publicly endorsed them. At the present time I am pleased to confirm that statement. A member of my family was in bad shape from kidney complaint. He wore plasters and tried several well-known remedies but did not improve until he began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They effected a cure in two weeks and restored him to better health than he had enjoyed for years. I have also taken Doan's Kidney Pills myself and have found them excellent for strengthening the kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Clarisse J. Smith, late of Weymouth, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Lendall W. Smith of Plympton, Mass., without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of March A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of February A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 2-4-11

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of J. Franklin Faxon late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

CAROLINE F. FAXON,
CHARLES A. PRICE,
HENRY M. FAXON,
Executors.

(Address) Quincy, Mass.
Feb. 29, 1912 3t Mar. 2-4-11

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

CAMPAIGN OF PROGRESSIVES

It Is Formally Started With a Rally at Boston

ROOSEVELT IS THEIR IDOL

Message From the Candidate, Who Declares "We Are the True Conservatives"—Everything Stamped as Progressive In Politics Is Applauded—Bay State Legislature Called Upon to Pass Presidential Preference and Primary Bill

Boston, March 4.—The first big public meeting to be held in the United States in the interest of Theodore Roosevelt for the next Republican nomination, was held at Tremont Temple under the auspices of the Massachusetts progressives. The hall holds something like 3000. There were about 2000 there.

Aside from Roosevelt's name, the things which aroused the greatest enthusiasm were some references that were made to woman suffrage, the criticism of "Brahminism" in the Republican party, the ridiculing of the "stand-pat" policy, and the arraignment of the Taft administration as a whole.

In fact, the more radical and the more severely critical the speakers were the greater was the applause. It was surely a meeting of progressives, in that everything that has been stamped as progressive in politics, from the referendum, the initiative and the recall to a radical revision of the tariff downward, was liberally applauded.

A letter from Roosevelt, in which he said the progressive movement was "more than a mere party contest—it is a contest to establish the right of the people to rule themselves," aroused enthusiasm, as did the statement in the letter that "we are the true conservatives and only through our principles can business prosperity be restored with justice to wage-worker, capitalist and public."

The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the Republicans of Massachusetts have the right to express their preference for candidate for the Republican nomination for president; and that we call upon the legislature to pass the presidential preference and primary bill without delay."

Ex-Governor Fort of New Jersey made out a strong bill of complaint against the present administration in his speech, and Governor Stubbs of Kansas made a great hit when he told what progressive Republicanism had done for Kansas and when he referred to Roosevelt as the president who stood for human rights and human freedom.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota arraigned the present administration and laid at its doors most of the evils of the day. He made a hit by espousing the cause of woman suffrage.

It was not the usual Republican audience that attended this meeting, for most of the old familiar faces that are wont to be seen at Republican gatherings were missing.

The letter from Roosevelt follows:

"This is more than a mere party contest; this is a contest to establish the right of the people to rule themselves and through thir own efforts to work for the cause of social and industrial justice, and of good will among men.

"We are the true conservatives, for in the long run it will be found that the only true conservative is the man who resolutely sets his fact toward the future and strives to give wise guidance to those who are struggling toward the ideal of fairer dealing between man an dman.

"We believe that only through the triumph of the principles for which we stand can business prosperity be assured to this country on a permanent basis, and we are certain that if these principles can be embodied in action such prosperity will come.

"But the prosperity must stand on a foundation of justice, justice to wage-worker, to capitalist, to the general public.

"All we ask is such justice, and we are as anxious that it should be scrupulously given as that it should be scrupulously exacted."

AGAINST PERSONAL WISHES

Roosevelt In the Fight Because His Leadership Is Needed

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 4.—Theodore Roosevelt's own views of the present political situation and his reasons for entering the campaign were explained by him.

As he trudged along the country road from Oyster Bay village to Sagamore Hill on his way home from church, the former president talked freely of his prospects, and briefly said that his reason for entering into a political campaign as an active candidate was that men who share his political beliefs convinced him that they needed an effective leader.

JOHN D. LONG

He Is President of Taft League In Massachusetts

As to the prospects of victory, Roosevelt expressed the opinion that on a popular vote he would be the choice of his party by a big majority. How far the result might be modified by the interposition of the machinery of politics he was unable to say.

In 1904, he said, he was desirous of the nomination because he wished the people's seal of approval. But in taking up the fight this year he was opposing his personal inclinations.

LONG AT THE HEAD

Bay State Taft League Confident That President Will Win

Boston, March 4.—President Taft's friends in this state have begun to show their hand. Ex-Governor John D. Long, secretary of the navy in the McKinley cabinet during the Spanish-American war, and Mr. Roosevelt's chief in the department until the latter resigned to join the Rough Rider regiment, is president of the Taft league.

This announcement was made in this city when E. R. Champlin, one of Senator Crane's political lieutenants, made public the names of the officers of the league and gave out a statement signed by Long, William L. Barnard, secretary, and himself.

In its address to the people of the state, the league sits hard on the third term idea, eulogizes President Taft and points out what he has done in the way of reform legislation. The address concludes with these words: "We know that he is right and we are confident that he will win."

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

NOT YET ENGAGED

But Butt Hopes to Be Before Leap Year Comes to an End

New York, March 4.—"Don't forget that I've got my flag up and if I miss marriage this leap year I shall be doomed to a bachelor life and misery forever."

This is the parting hint to the girls by Major Archibald Butt, military aide to President Taft. He sailed for the Mediterranean and will be absent fix weeks.

"I'm not engaged," he said. "They've always got me engaged to somebody whenever I leave Washington. But I shall not have much trouble in denying the last report, as Miss Dorothy Williams is already very busy in denying it.

"Bachelordom is misery except when you're on an ocean trip, and then one is glad to have only himself to look after. Every girl I meet before 1913 I shall look upon as a possible wife, so if I do get married don't be surprised."

RUN DOWN AFTER FOUR YEARS' SEARCH

Former Treasurer of Hardwick Is Arrested In Texas

Marshall, Tex., March 4.—Mark E. Foster, former treasurer of the village of Hardwick, Vt., who disappeared about four years ago, leaving behind him an alleged shortage in his accounts amounting to about $6000, was arrested a few miles outside this town by Detective Morgan of a Boston detective agency.

The arrest of Foster brings to a close one of the greatest man hunts ever entered into in Vermont, in which many states were traversed and retraversed by the fugitive in his efforts to cover his tracks.

Aided by relatives with influence and plenty of means, he managed to beat out two of the strongest detective agencies in this country, only to be finally apprehended in this little out-of-the-way plantation, where he has been engaged in raising peaches for the market.

SOLD CIGARETS TO MINORS

Storekeepers Fined When School Boys Appear Against Them

New York, March 4.—Eighteen storekeepers of Hoboken were each fined $10 by Recorder McGovern for selling cigarets to minors.

As complainants against the storekeepers there appeared 106 pupils of a single school, whose aged ranged from 8 to 14 years. Most of these youngsters testified that they had either bought cigarets in these stores or had been with other boys who bought them.

Orchids For Royalty

San Mateo, Cal., March 4.—A shipment of 1500 orchids, valued at $10,000, has left a local nursery for England, consigned to the collections of King George, the Duke of Westminster and the Duke of Sutherland.

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE
} Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS
27 GRANITE STREET
Tel. 232--W

MRS. PANKHURST IS GIVEN THREE MONTHS

Other Riotous Suffragettes Have Begun Prison Sentences

London, March 4.—One hundred and fifty suffragettes, the most notable among them Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, have begun jail terms of various lengths, meted out to them for their damaging activities in suffragette riots.

Mrs. Pankhurst drew a term of two months and a like sentence was imposed on Mrs. Mabel Tukeach, national leader. Mrs. Emma Marshall, another renowned leader, was sentenced to serve fifty-one days.

When Mrs. Pankhurst was called she admitted she had helped smash the windows in Premier Asquith's residence. "We are prepared to take any steps necessady to win our object," she declared defiantly. "We are willing to pay any price the government may demand."

The non-militant suffragists bitterly denounce the action of their sisters in smashing store windows. Business men estimate their loss at $25,000.

MRS. SHATTUCK GUILTY

Admits That Victim of Illegal Operation Died at Her Home

Boston, March 4.—Mrs. Jennie Shattuck, one of the defendants in the Bolduc case, created surprise in the superior criminal court when the second trial of the case began, by pleading guilty to the charge against her, which is that Marie Bolduc died at her house, after she had undergone an illegal operation elsewhere.

At a previous trial in January the jury failed to agree. Then followed a new indictment by the grand jury. The other defendants are accused of knowledge of the operation, it being alleged that Miss Bolduc came to Boston from Manchester, N. H., where she was a mill operative, on the same train with Dr. Ferguson and Miss O'Neil, his office assistant, and went to Mrs. Reed's lodging house with them.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 347-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Large brown St. Bernard dog. Good and kind. Best watch dog in the country. Address B. S. Ledger Office. 4-3t

POOL ROOM—For sale cheap price. 4 tables, 14 large framed pictures, show cases and fixtures. Call at 145 Water street, South Quincy. 29-6t

WOLLASTON.
7 roomed house, with bath and all modern improvements, for sale. Near Boulevard and depot, church and schools close by. Electrics pass door. Only $700 cash required. 43 Davis street. Mar. 2-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appb at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED —Stenographer. Work must be correct. State experience. Must be able to take dictations, use Oliver machine. Address W. Ledger Office. 4-tf

WANTED— Horse, suitable for peddling. Weight 1100 to 1300 lbs. Must be sound. State price and where seen. Address H. S. Ledger Office. 1-3t

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Call Quincy 501 W
If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

TO LET

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

The Jones' Special Derby $2.50

Most Men Say It's Worth More

IS HERE READY FOR SPRING

The styles are exact copies of the $3.50 and $4.00 hats—low crowns, wide brim and extra fine finish. Of course some medium height crowns and medium brims (conservative hats) are here too—sold with the Jones guarantee to satisfy.

GET UNDER A JONES SPECIAL, AND SMILE

The Lamson & Hubbard Soft and Stiff Hats

Are well known as being fashion's leaders. They represent all that is best in style and quality. $3.00

The Best Derby in Quincy for $2.00

"You've got my goat, I can't manufacture a hat like that to be sold for $2.00," said a hat manufacturer a few days ago when I asked him what he wanted for a hat of that quality. "Really," he said, "that hat is actually worth 75 cents more." Going some—isn't it?

SOFT HATS

Will be more than popular this coming season. Come in and get a hat to fit your head and face. $1.00 to $3.00.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

L Mar. 1-2-4 O—1w

MEMORIAL TO JAMES L. RAND

Memorial services for James L. Rand, New England correspondent of the Associated Press, who died suddenly at his home in Wollaston two weeks ago, were held held Sunday evening at the South Boston Baptist church where he was an active worker, previous to his coming to Quincy.

The speakers were men who had been closely associated with Mr. Rand either in church or Sunday school work or in his daily life. Selections were rendered by a chorus of 50 men, many of whom were membbers of the Rand Bible class.

Resolutions drawn up by the board of deacons were read by Harrison L. Evans and were adopted.

A vacant chair draped in mourning occupied a place on the platform during the services and at the close a large fromed portrait of Mr. Rand, which is to be hung in the church was shown.

THOUGHT HE WAS A SOLDIER.

Willie Eaton, who is evidently a little demented was arrested by the Metropolitan Park police at Milton, Sunday for wearing an insignia button of the Spanish War Veterans, The police found Eaton parading about the park system in a kind of mungrel uniform that immediately attracted attention. tI was learned upon questioning him that he was not a veteran of the Spanish war. It was also learned that he recently came from Westboro. He was fined $20 in court this morning.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

BIRTHS

JOHNSON—In Quincy, March 2, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Johnson of Maple street.

DEATHS

DUNN—In Quincy, Mar. 3, James C. Dunn in his 71st year.
Funeral services at late home 508 Washington street, Wednesday, Mar. 6, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 4-2t

GOW—In Quincy, Mar. 2, Capt. John L. Gow, U. S. N. retired, in his 55th year.
Funeral services at the First Unitarian church, Tuesday, Mar. 5, at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 4-1t

GLIDDEN—At Quincy Point, Mar. 3, Henry Glidden in his 79th year.
Funeral services at late home, 52 Cleverly Court, Wednesday, March 6, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 4-2t

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

BRIEFS

Ex-Senator Eugene C. Hultman is one of the executive committee of the Taft elague.

The Junior Alliance will serve afternoon tea at the fair of First church Wednesday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the Men's club of Christ church in the parish ohuse this evening.

Special Lenten devotions will be held in the Church of the Sacred Heart, tomorrow evening.

Miss May Hamlin of Barnstable on the Cape is the guest of rMs. George L. Phillips of Union street.

Morton Smith of Quincy Point had the misfortune to break his wrist Sunday while cranking his automobile.

A regular meeting of the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum will be held in the clubhouse, Thursday evening.

"Parliament of Servants" will be presented by members of Union Chapel, Houghs Neck, on the evening of March 15.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Whyte, nee Pinel, of 58 Edison park are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born Sunday, March third.

Frank F. Prescott, who has been travelling in Ohio the past few weeks for the American Press Association, arrived home Sunday evening.

The new bridge over the railroad on Atlantic street is being paved with wooden blocks. The contract is being done by Simpson Bros.

Mrs. Mattie R. West of Newton Centre is to address the meeting Friday afternoon at three o'clock, to the Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. in Association hall.

Cornelius M. Duggan, High Chief Ranger, will give a talk on "Forestry" before the members of St. Margaret Court, M. C. O. F., of Beverly, Wednesday evening.

Regular meeting of the City Council this evening. A discussion is looked for on the order creating an advisory board to equalize real estate valuations.

Rev. John P. Cuffe, Court Chaplain and pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic, will address members of St. Kevin Court, M. C. O. F. of Norfolk Downs, Thursday evening. Cornelius M. Duggan will also be present.

The Boston Market Reporter in a recent issue states that Arthur B. Chapin, Elmer A. Stevens, William D. T. Trefry are reported among the incorporators of the new trust company being formed at Quincy, to conduct business under the title of the Granite Trust Co.

Archibald McDougal, of Washington street, sustained a broken bone to his left leg about noon Saturday, as a result of falling off a staging while in the performance of his duties at the Fore River Ship yeards. He was treated by Dr. Blanchard, who said that it will be some time before the injured man will be able to resume work.

BRIEFS

Mrs. Alfred Jelenek of Botolph street is confined t o her home with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Gorge Richardson of Botolph street sailed from New York Wednesday on a business trip to England.

Herbert W. Barber of Phenix, R. I., was the guests of his sister, Mrs. J. F. Davidson, Newbury street, Friday.

Miss Marjorie Penniman of Revere road is confined to her home with the mumps.

Amos Woodhead of Highland avenue returned on the Ivernia last week from England where he has been on a business trip.

A little daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson on Maple street on Saturday. They now have four girls and a boy.

Maple Lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor, will present the travelling triangle to General Warren Lodge of Boston this evening.

Beatrice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Marnock of Washington stret, and granddaughter of Mrs. E. E. Marnock, observed her sixth birthday Saturday by entertaining a family party.

The Women's Alliance of Wollaston hold an all day sewing meeting on Wednesday with Mrs. Thomas Lacey, 145 Grand View avenue. Garments will be made for the Children's Mission, Boston. Luncheon will be served to members at the noon hour.

Friends of George A. Deans and family of Appleton street are sorry to known that they are going to move to Randolph. They wil be greatly mised in Atlantic as they have a large circle of friends and have been prominent in church work.

JAMES C. DUNN.

James C. Dunn for more than thirty years familiar with patrons of the Quincy railroad station died at his home 508 Washington street, Sunday after an illness of two months duration. Mr. Dunn was born in Prescott, England, in 1842 and served in the British army. He went to Canada in 1868 and a year later came to Boston where he remained until 1873 when he came to Quincy as coachman for the late Judge George T. Bigelow. He was also at one time coachman for Gov. Bullock of Worcester. Thirty years ago he started a public carriage service at the Quincy depot which he conducted up to the time of his last illness.

He leaves a widow five sons and a daughter. Mr. Dun was of poetical turn of mind and often wrote verse for the local papers. He was also the composer of several songs.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Too Late For Classification.

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

WANT LINE OF CURB CHANGED

Work on the Atlantic street end of the boulevard is being pushed along to completion, but if the present plan is followed, where it intersects Hancock street, the curve in either direction from Hancock street, on to the boulevard will make it both dangerous and inconvenient, because it will be nearly a right angle turn.

This is not necessary for there is plenty of land to make a long graceful curve which would give beauty, safety and convenience to the general public.

This could be done at this present time (before the work is completed) for a small additional cost.

Too great stress cannot be laid upon this view of the question; for all know how hard it is to have any changes made after a contract is once completed.

SATURDAY NIGHT FIRE.

The alarm from Box 42 at 11.11 Saturday night for for a fire in the second story of an appartment house 14 Clark avenue, occupied by Max Steer. The fire was caused by an overheated stove and did a damage of $50. When the department arrived Chief Litchfield was informed that two children were in bed in the room from which smoke and flames were coming. A ladder was quickly raised and Richard Williams, chauffeur for Chief Litchfield and Richard Colbert of Hose 1, mounted the ladder and made their way through the smoke. They groped about and found the bed but no children. It was later learned they had made their escape when the fire was first discovered. The firemen found considerable fire in a closet but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

THE MORNING FIRE.

The alarm from Box 23 at 10.06 this morning was for a fire in a large kettle of tar in the rear of Hall's stable on Hancock street. The fire was confined to the kettle but made a dense smoke giving the impression that a lively blaze was in progress. It was extinguished without loss. Box 23 is known as the danger box and its sounding sent a large crowd hurrying to the scene. There is a hydrant in the rear of the buildings and two lines of hose was run from this but were not needed.

HENRY GLIDDEN.

Henry Glidden a long and well known resident of Quincy Point died suddenly Sunday of heart disease at his home 52 Cleverley court aged 79 years. Mr. Glidden was a farmer by occupation and for many years has conducted a vegetable and mild farm at Quincy Point. He leaves a widow and several children.

TIMOTHY WHITE.

Word has been received of the death at Adrian, Mich., of Timothy White, a former resident of West Quincy. While in Quincy Mr. White lived on Hayden street. He moved to Michigan fifteen years ago. He was a brother of Rev. William White, C. S. S. R., of James N. White of the Metropolitan Park policean dof David White. He leaves a widow and five children. One of his sons Charles has been visiting in Quincy for the past two months.

A. O. H. CONFERENCE.

The second of a series of three conferences of the several divisions of the Ancinet Order of Hibernians of Quincy was held Sunday evening at St. Mary's hall. The adress was made by Rev. Henry T. Grady chaplain of the order whose subject was "Christianity."

EXPLOSION STARTS FIRE

Woman Is Killed During Blaze In a Large Apartment House

Lynn, Mass., March 4.—One woman is dead and several other persons are severely injured as the result of a fire in the Littlefield block, a large apartment house, which caused a loss estimated at $5000.

The dead woman was Miss Margaret Hackett, 45 years old, in whose room the fire started.

The fire was caused by the explosion of an alcohol lamp as Miss Hackett was making tea in her room on the second floor. There are 146 rooms in the building, which is three stories in height.

Mme. Casmir-Perier Dead

Paris, March 4.—Mme. Casmir-Perier, widow of the ex-president of the republic, died Sunday.

C. P. Gould got ahead of all the other agents Saturday night at the Automobile show in Boston being the first to sell a Ford car.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

(Continued from Page Three.)

Service committee met with Elmer S. Forbes, national secretary of the Department of Social and Public Service, to consider work that needs to be done in this community. So far as we know our church is the only one in the city that has a Social and Public Service committee.

The Junior Lend-a-Hand club will meet today with Miss Priscilla White, 315 Farrington street.

An all day sewing meeting of the Alliance will be held with Mrs. Thomas Lacey, 145 Grand View avenue, Wednesday, beginning at 10 o'clock. Garments will be made for the children's mission Boston and a full attendance is requested. Luncheon will be served at noon.

The midweek special Lenton service will be held Wednesday evening at 7.45, preacher Rev. Harry Lutz, minister of Channing church, Newton; soloist: Miss Ernestine Litchfield; organist: Mrs. J. W. West.

The Unitarian Church-Helpers will meet with Mrs. Leroy C. Holbrook, 309 Highland avenue, Thursday, at 2 o'clock.

The Lenten study class of the New Testament meets at the minister's home, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all who care to accept.

The young men of the parish will give the sixth annual imperial vaudeville in the Vestry Thursday and Friday evening.

"What greater calamity can fall upon a nation than the loss of worship? Then all things go to decay." Emerson.

Remember the vesper service, largely musical with short sermon, next Sunday afternoon at 4.30. The Temple quartet will sing. Please be in your seat at 4.25. The public is cordially invited.

HALL PLACE M. E.

Rev. T. C. Martin of the Hall Place M. E. church took for his subject at the morning service "The Battle of living." His text was taken from John 17-15. "I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil."

Sunday school was held at the close of the morning session. The banner went to the Primary class.

Junior League was held at 3 P. M. The Epworth League had a very interesting service at 6.15 with Miss Margaret A. Nichols president of the Boston District of Epworth Leagues as leader; subject, "God's purposes inspired by love."

At 7 P. M. Miss Nichols gave an interesting and helpful address on League work which will prove of benefit to this League.

The Ladies Aid meets Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Jose, Crescent street.

The Sunday school is to have charge of the prayer hour, Friday evening at the parsonage.

The Epworth League has postponed its business meeting one week.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST.

A large number gathered Sunday morning at 10.45 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Especially was the presence of many children noted at this service. The pastor preached to the children on "Jesus, the children's Friend," and to the older people on "Love the Great Dynamic."

The Sunday school held its usual session following the Comunion survice. All the classes were well filled and a large number reported in all departments.

The Junior Endeavor society which meet at 3.30 had an unusual treat.

Rev. A. A. Forshee, formerly missionary to the Philippines, but who has recently accepted a pastorate in this country, Berean Tempe, Boston was the speaker,. He gave an address which was replete with missionary information and inspiration. Miss Ethel Campbell had the meeting in charge, and a large number of children were present.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was held at 6 and Preparatory service at 5.45; subject: "Patience," and Miss Ethel Hatfield was the leader.

The evening service was held at 7 o'clock, and the large chorus choir under the leadership of musical director Amos D. Albee sang. The pastor preached on the topic: "Salvation; How it is obtained and what are its blessed results." The church was well filled . This evening many of our members will attend the banquets of the Boston Baptist Social Union in Ford building, and the Woman's Baptist Social Union in the Park street church, Boston.

Tuesday morning at 10, an all-day sewing meeting will be held in the ladies' parlor. Ladies are urged to bring pieces of cotton flannel and prints for patch work. In the afternoon at 3, a business session of the Social and Benevolent Society will be held in the chapel, members are reminded that money pledged to the society will be received at this meeting and that interesting reports, in rhyme or prose are expected. At 4, the pastor's class in the Fundamental Principles of the Christian Faith will meet at the parsonage, and at 7.45 a cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Roberts, 202 Fayette street Dea. Geo. E. Thomas leader.

Wednesday evening a monthly church social will be held in the chapel, at 6.30. Supper will be served. All members of the church and congregation over 15 years of age cordially invited.

Friday evening at 7.45 the regular meeting of the praise, prayer and testimony will be held in the chapel, subject: "The Poise or Balance of Jesus." This subject will continue our meditations on the "Life and Character of Jesus."

FIRST CHURCH.

A large congregation assembled Sunday morning in First church to welcome Dr. Hudson at the opening service of his new pastorate; surely a good omen as expressing unity and cordial relationship between pastor and people.

Dr. Hudson's subject was "Ideals for which the First church stands," text, Hebrews 12:1-2, "Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand on the throne of God."

Dr. Hudson went back to the days of St. Paul, and the Marathon races in Greece. He spoke of the young men dressed and ready for the race and of those who had run the race in years past and were now "on the benches" looking on at those who followed. So at this church of many traditions with years of service and work back of it, the race had been run by our forefathers and well run. They were "on the benches," looking to see us run the race.

Not going back centuries we have those of later date who are real personalities to us and who are now "on the benches," watching to see how we run the race.

As a people we have great responsibilities a duty to those who preceded us and to those to come. The race should be so run that the church be a centre of religious life and helpfulness to the community.

Dr. Hudson closed his sermon by reading the text again most impressively. The sermon was brief and delivered without notes, impressing the congregation most favorably by its dignity of utterance and thought.

After the service there was almost a recpeion, so many desired to greet Dr. Hudson personally . Mrs. Hudson was in the congregation and many had the opportunity of meeting her also.

WASHINGTON STREET.

Rev. Charles P. Marshall, pastor, conducted both services at the Washington Street Congregational, Sunday. At the morning service his subject was "Spiritual Worship" taken from the following words "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

Holy Communion followed the morning service and ten were admitted to the church.

The first of the special Lenten services was held in the evening when the topic was "Beginning Life." There was a good attendance at the meeting of the men's class at 6.15, thirty men being present. The usual mid-week service will be held Friday evening and the annual fair of the Ladies' Aid society will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

The Best of Canned Goods

ASPARAGUS TIPS

Our canned Asparagus Tips are equal to any direct from the garden. No waste—being only the tender ends of the finest Asparagus grown, packed in sanitary tins, they retain the delightful flavor nature gave them when you buy from this store, the

S. S. PIERCE "RED LABEL" ASPARAGUS TIPS

You get what you pay for

A can 20 cents

R. E. FOY & CO.
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

HAS ROUGH VOYAGE

Liner With a Record Battles Eighteen Days With Gales

Boston, March 4.—The Bucknall liner Bloemfontein arrived from Calcutta yesterday after an eighteen-days battle with gales and hurricanes while crossing the Atlantic. Not only were ventilators and deck fittings smashed and carried away, but one of the monster seas went over the funnel and for a time the big freighter was left with her engines useless, the water having extinguished the fires.

The Boemfontein, which is one of the finest freighters operating between the far east and this port, holds the record for quick passages from Gibraltar to Boston. Seafaring men say that if the steamer had been a smaller or less seaworthy craft, she probably would never have reached port.

Education in Iceland.

Icelanders are now famous for their high standard of education. Every child of ten in this remote little land can read and write, neither abject poverty nor important wealth is seen, and crime is rare; and the latest step in the evolution of this remarkable people is the founding of a university at the capital.

The feeling of the base ball fans as the games on Southern diamonds begin, is much like that of the Esquimaux as the sun peeps aver the horizon after the six months' winter night.

(ADVERTISE.)

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.
Quincy, Mass. Feb. 23rd, A. D. 1912.

Seized on execution and will be sold at public auction on Friday, March 8th, A. D., 1912 at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises of J. S. Swingle, off Willard street, in Quincy, said County of Norfolk, the following described personal property, owned by Charles W. Bance, of Jersey City in the State of New Jersey, being the same property seized on execution, February 23rd, A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock, A. M. to wit;—

One Core drill, one engine and all machinery connected therewith.

Terms cash.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Deputy Sheriff.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA-SNOW & CO.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 55 QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 5, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

NO DISCUSSION IN COUNCIL ON THE ADVISORY BOARD ORDER

Order Gets Second Reading and Goes Into Calendar for Next Meeting. Proposed Amendment Shut Off

New Fire Apparatus Wanted for West Quincy and Atlantic. Address on Metropolitan Planning

The members of the City Council had an opportunity Monday night to hear the proposed Metropolitan Planning bill explained in detail by John H. Fahey of Brookline, who was accorded the privilege of addressing the council on the proposed bill. On motion of Councilman Murray, Mr. Fahey was accorded ten minutes to speak to the council on the subject, but used nearly an hour. He went into the subject in detail and at the conclusion of his remarks was asked a number of questions.

He went into the history of Metropolitan planning which he claimed dated back as far as 1858 when a commission was appointed to see about the highways of the state. Almost every year for some years back, the question had come up in some form, particularly the port of Boston question but it was not until last year that definite action was taken on this question.

The idea of the Metropolitan Planning was that there should be some central planning district so that there might be some comprehensive planning for the greater Metropolitan district with an idea of future development.

Fifteen per cent of the population of the district was within fifteen miles of Boston, and the district has almost more population than most any other similar district in the country, yet we have never got down to the problem of central planning.

Since the report of the committee, some of the fringe towns had held meetings in opposition to the proposed plan and at a meeting held at the Exchange club those present were told in cold blood that it was a scheme designed to annex all of these places to Boston. He regretted that in a circular recently issued by this committee, a name of a Quincy citizen appeared as one of the signers.

The speaker then took up the several sections in the report of the opposition to show wherein they were wrong. One thing was that this committee believed the subject should be handled by existing commissions and the speaker went on to tell why it would not be practicable for them to do so. These present commissions were interested in their particular work only.

The proposed plan does not interfere with local government. The idea is to look ahead for future development. If a plan is suggested for a certain city or town, that city or town are not obliged to carry it out if it does not want to.

One of the main objections to the plan, was the expense, and it would be found that some of the chief objectors were tax dodgers in some of the fringe towns who were swindlers and grafters. Under the proposed change every proposition is put up to the town or city to decide whether the proposed improvement should be made before it is done; to see if it is what you want and if you think the epense is too great, you need not have it. In other words, the commission is simply to suggest improvements looking to future development.

Several questions were asked Mr. Fahey by Councilmen Sandberg, Craig and Ericson. The latter objected to the plan because it provided that the Mayor of Boston should have the appointing of two members of the commission.

No action was taken on the question by the council.

MAYOR'S SECOND VETO.

Mayor Stone sent his second veto of the year to the City Council when he returned without his approval, the order adopted at the last meeting of the City Council requesting the School Committee to have prepared plans for a twelve room brick school building with assembly hall for a new Adams building. The Mayor gives two reasons for refusing to approve the order.

The first was because he believes that before plans are made, that the land for the building should be purchased.

His second reason was that he says under the City Charter, it is the duty of the Executive department to have plans prepared for school buildings and that the only question for the school committee is to approve or not approve of the plans, after they have been submitted to them.

The veto was sustained by the council, 9 voting to sustain the veto, and 11 against.

In justice to some of those who voted to pass the order over the veto it might be said that they were new members and did not understand fully just how they should vote on a veto question for as they stated after the meeting they thought they were voting to sustain the Mayor.

A communication was received from Clarence E. Fuller for a refund of taxes. Referred to Finance Committee.

Several petitions asking for the apportionment of sidewalk assessments were received and referred to the Finance Committee.

A communication was received from the School Committee asking for an appropriation to cover the steam pipes in the basement of the High school. Referred to Committee on Finance.

DEFICIT BILLS.

The City Auditor in a communication filed a list of deficit bills of 1911 which were in excess of the appropriations. They totaled $4,081.70 which included $1,218.88 on account of grade crossing expense. The communication was referred to the special Committee on Financial investigation.

POLICE WIRES.

A communication was received from the Chief of Police stating that the underground police wires in the Wollaston district were in bad shape and should be replaced and he asked for an appropriation of $1,000 for this work. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

LICENSE REVOKED.

The Chief of Police in a communication recommended that the Sunday Fruit license granted Mariana La-Presti be revoked. The chief stated that the place had been raided and gamblers found and that in addition a conviction had been secured for violation of the liquor law.

The communication was laid on the table until later when Councilman J. R. S. Ross offered an order revoking the license which was adopted.

APPOINTMENTS.

Communications were received from the Mayor appointeing Walter P. Hill a constable, Eben W. Sheppard, Fred J. Drohan, Thomas W. White, Carl R. Sheppard, Daniel C. McNeil and Daniel Frasier as weighers of coal and measurers of wood. Confirmed.

A petition was received for a tar concrete sidewalk on Farnum street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

A number of petitions were received for minor licenses of various kinds. Referred to Committee on Licenses.

PUBLIC HEARING.

The Committe on Licenses reported an order for a public hearing March 18, at 8.15 on petition of the Wollaston Central parage to keep gasoline. Adopted.

WATER EXTENSIONS.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass, with a slight amendment, on the order apropriating $50,000 for extension of the water service. Rules suspended and order passed.

(Continued on Page Three.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,

Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Cinger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

TOWNS TURN DRY FROM WET

Results of Town Meetings in Neighboring Towns

BRAINTREE VOTE

Monday was town meeting day and Quincy's neighbors were having their say as to whom should govern their home town for another year. In the place of Mr. President, so familiar in cities it was Mr. Moderator.

The annual town meeting day, with its election cake recalls to mind the days of the good old town meetfng days in Quincy, with its committee of fifteen and its famous "wisdom corner." but those are things of the past.

Monday, seven Bay State towns voted for license. While four so called wet towns went dry. Those towns to go from dry to wet were Colrain, Gardner, Grafton, Hubbardston, Norfolk. Paxton and Wenham, while Athol, Hudson, Sandwich and Warren turned from wet to dry.

In Braintree the surprising features were the narrow margins by which the independent candidates were defeated by the nominees of the caucuses in the three contests. The vote for the principal officers was as follows:—

SELECTMEN

Albion C. Drinkwater	708
John P. Robery	444
Henry M. Storm	500
B. Herbert Woodsum	735

OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

Albien C. Drinkwater	693
John P. Robery	433
Henry M. Storm	492
B. Herbert Woodsum	722

TOWN CLERK

Henry A. Monk	786

TOWN TREASURER.

Benjamin F. Dyer	761

HIGHWAY SURVEYORS

Albion C. Drinkwater	690
John P. Robery	430
Henry M. Storm	491
B. Herbert Woodsum	725

ASSESSOR FOR THREE YEARS

John P. Robery	402
Henry M. Storm	444

WATER COMMISSIONER 3 YEARS.

Pames T. Stevens	683

WATER COMMISSIONER, 1 YEAR.

William C. Harrilson	433
Elisha N. Thayer	416

SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 3 YEARS.

I .Wendell Gammons	673
Benjamin Hawes	604

COLLECTOR OF TAXES.

Frank A. Smith	478
L. Thurlow Torrey	366

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING BOARD 3 YEARS

Alexander A. Carlson	616

BOARD OF HEALTH 3 YEARS

F. Herbert Gile	641

TREE WARDEN.

Oscar A. Hubard	641

LICENSE.

Yes,	216
No	474

MILTON.

Maurice A. Duffy, Henry H. Barnes, Philip S. Dalton, Selectmen; Henry Martin, town clerk; J. Porter Holmes, treasurer; Horace N. Plummer, Arthur H. Tucker, overseers of the poor, William W. Churchill, assessor; Josiah Babcock tax collector; Anne R. Cunningham, Reginald L. Robbins, Phelan Apollenio, Percy E. Sheldon, Frank P. Fanning, Stephen C. Mitchell, School Committee; Jesse B. Baxter, Water Commissioner; J. S. Lincoln, A. W. Draper, L. R. Burnett, Board of Health. Appropriations—Schools, $89,800; Board of Health, $2500; Library, $8700; highways and bridges, $44,000; Poor Department, $5800; Fire Department, $25,740; police, $28,500. License—Yes, 212; No, 772. Last year—Yes, 200; No. 729.

WEYMOUTH.

Edward W. Hunt, George L. Newton, A. Francis Barnes, Willard J. Dunbar, Bradford Hawes, selectmen and overseers of poor; John A. Raymond, town clerk; John H. Stetson, treasurer; William H. Clapp, Park Commissioner; Frank N. Blanchard, John P. Hunt, William H. Pratt, auditors; Waldo Turner, assessor one year; Edward I. Loud, assessor two years; Winslow M. Tirrell, tax collector; Prince H. Tirrell, Pheron L. Tirrell, Arthur H. Alden, school committee; Frank H. Toney, water commissioner; Lewis A. Cook, William F. Hathaway, John B. Holland, trustees of Tufts Library; John S. Williams, Board of Health. License—Yes, 587; No. 747. Last year—Yes, 520; No, 766.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

EFFORTS CROWNED WITH SUCCESS

Success has crowned the efforts of the loyal friends and workers who have for the past week been conducting a campaign to raise the money necessary to meet this year's expense account of the Y. M. C. A.

Pledges for the whole amount, $5000, turned in by the four team captains Monday evening.

The Association desires to thank the good people of Quincy who have given so liberally to its work. Also, they desire to let you know that you are always welcome at sixty-one Washington anytime you wish to come.

The Board of Directors also desire to express their appreciation for the splendid work of every team captain and every man on the four teams.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Rev. Fr. Charles J. McCormick C. SS. R., of the missionary band of Redemptorist Fathers stationed at the Mission Church, Roxbury, will be the speaker at the Lenten devotions, to be held this evenig in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic. Fr. McCormick is a speaker of great force and eloquence and is considered a foremost pulpit orator.

The services will consist of the rosary, sermon and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. Rev. James F. McNiff assistant at the church, will officiate.

First Church Fair

Wednesday, March 6

Sale commences 2 P. M.

Supper, 6.30 P. M., 35 cents

FANCY TABLE—All kinds of fancy articles, useful novelties, underwear etc.

HOUSEHOLD TABLE — Large assortment of white and colored aprons, towels, dusters and holders.

CANDY TABLE — Delicious homemade confections.

MYSTERY TABLE — One hundred bargains in sealed packages.

GRAB TABLE — The Old Oaken Bucket will please the children.

A REAL "LADY BALTIMORE CAKE" from Charleston, S. C., to be sold by the slice.

28-6t

ADDRESS ON "PUBLIC OPINION"

"Public Opinion" was the subject of a very powerful and instructive address given Monday evening to the members of the Men's Club in Christ Church by Roderick J. Mooney, of Attleboro. The occasion was the annual meeting of the club and a large number of members was in attendance. in the course of his remarks, the speaker touched upon the impending problems of the day and deduced many arguments of especial weight. He dwelt at length on various opinions that are demanding the attention of the public at the present time and his advice and logic were greatly appreciated by all. At the conclusion of the address the gathering repaired to the parish house where a social hour was enjoyed.

☞A Lady Baltimore cake will be a feature at the fair to-morrow afternoon and evening in First Church chapel. It was made to order at Charleston, S. C., and will be sold by the slice.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

The chauffeur of White's Brockton express truck was unable to swing the machine to one side quick enough to avert danger late Monday afternoon in the vicinity of Hancock and Granite streets, with the result that the large motor conveyance struck the rear of a team laden with paper bag supplies, belonging to Albert M. Eaton of Waltham. One of the wheels of the team was slightly damaged, and the motor on the large express auto badly mutilated.

Had not the chauffeur of the machine been able to bring it to a standstill as soon as he did, the damage would have been much greater, as it was, a large crowd gathered at the scene of the collision, but it was not long before both parties resumed their respective ways. At the time of the accident, both vehicles were advancing towards School street, on the right hand side of Hancock street.

Why expect people to devote time to the study of literature, when they haven't yet read over the last telephone directory?

☞Hungry children relish PRATT'S BREAD and good butter. It makes them grow.

The Best of Canned Goods

ASPARAGUS TIPS

Our canned Asparagus Tips are equal to any direct from the garden. No waste—being only the tender ends of the finest Asparagus grown, packed in sanitary tins, they retain the delightful flavor nature gave them when you buy from this store, the

S. S. PIERCE "RED LABEL" ASPARAGUS TIPS

You get what you pay for

A can 20 cents

R. E. FOY & CO

COR. WATER AND QUINCY STS

QUINCY ADAMS

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Chelsea has passed an order giving its retired Fire Chief, Henry A. Spencer, a pension of $900 a year.

The new dances aren't a bit worse than the old "hug waltz," but they give society an excuse for dance hall manners.

Mississippi passes a law fining people for giving or receving tips. This makes it necessary to fee the officer as well as the waiter.

The few cases of proposing by women so far reported indicates that it has been customary for men to do the proposing because they are the only ones who care much about it anyway.

Although Father Taft and Father Bryan are both spanking Congress, the youngster still fails to brush its' hair and it won't practice on the piano.

It is rumored that Mr. Roosevelt is trying to steal the nomination from Mr. Taft. The proper thing of course is to scare him off by blowing up a paper bag and smashing it.

Although there is a balance of $123,502,209 in the treasury, by the time Congress gets through. Uncle Sam will have to borrow money to clean up his bill board.

The Mexicans take the same satisfaction in gun-play just outside Uncle Sam's garden wall, that the small boy finds in playing ball under the parlor windows.

The war department says it can put 100,000 men on the Mexican border. Undoubtedly it will take that number to court the Texas girls successfully this summer.

As all of the candidates go around regularly and throw a few cabbages into Wall street's front door, we opine that the bulls and bears won't do much hollering for any one next fall.

Quincy people may be interested in a decision handed down at Somerville last week regarding re-shingling. A Somerville contractor was convicted of a violation af a Somerville ordinance requiring the roof of a building, in whole or in part, to be of non-combustibe material, to the satisfaction of the building inspector.

He took exception and was sustained by the full bench of the supreme court. He repaired a roof with ordinary wooden shingles, with which it had been covered when it was built, which was before the city ordinance took effect.

While the statute under which the ordinance was passed is held constitutional under the police power of the state, the court decides that the reshingling of a roof does not come within the purpose of the statute, reshingling being simply a repair of an existing structure.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

A change has been made in the Ohio constitution, by which the legislature may permit a three-furths verdict of a jury to be accepted. The jury system has been strongly intrenched in tradition that attacking it has been compared to rowing out in a boat to throw a pebble up at Gibraltar.

Nevertheless, an increasing number of thoughtful lawyers complain of the tendency toward theatrical trials, in which the sallies between the counsel and witnesses are a game of wits, with the likelihood that juries are influenced by the ill concealed sympathies of an audience of idle men and curiosity seeking women.

Many lawyers say that things have come to the point where an intelligent man is not wanted on the jury. The defense in a criminal trial, or the plaintiff in a suit against a corporation, looks for wide-eyed, tearful looking men, who it is presumed may entertain maudlin sympathy for the under dog—regardless whether he is a watch-dog or a cur.

The prosecution on the other hand or the defense in corporation suits, is supposed to look for jurors with a certain smug respectability, exaggerated notions of the rights of property, and an arbitrary idea of the power of public officers.

From all the pulling and hauling, there results the average jury, too often a collection of colorless men lacking any definiteness of thought. They do the best they can. A famous judge once remarked coarsely, but pertinently, "You can never tell what's in the guts of a jury."

The judge states the law of the case so that it looks absolutely clear to him. But men to whom the problems and the atmosphere of the law are wholly new, are apt to cast aside his skilfully framed issues, and hand out a rough sort of justice on a street law basis.

The worst evils in the jury system are those connected with criminal trials, with the hair splitting quibbles in finding a jury and appeals to emotionalism. But no doubt the first point of attack will be as in Ohio on the requirement for unanimity in civil cases. The more the average business man looks at the average jury, the more inclined he is to bring his business disputes before special masters or auditors or arbitrators.

SOUTH POLAR EXPEDITIONS

Almost any day now may bring some news of the heroic men who during the past winter may have reached that final prize left for the emulation of explorers—the South Pole.

With a million dollars invested in ships, supplies, Manchurian ponies, ice motors, wireless outfits, etc., modern science has removed some of the difficulties that earlier explorers encountered.

The proposition is in some respects more perilous and terrible than the conquest of the North Pole, and yet in other respects it is safer.

North Polar explorers have had to confront the cruel uncertainty and the terrific difficulties caused by the shifting character of the polar sea ice, which must be crossed for 500 miles. This ice may crack at any moment under the explorer's igloo, and let him in his sleep into the fathomless depths of icy water. The North Polar parties have all had to take the most frightful risks of crossing the wide "leads" on newly formed ice, which would bend and buckle under the weight of men, sledges, and dogs. Then when the floes came together, rough masses of ice would be formed by pressure, over which the explorer could make but a few miles a day.

At the same time, the opening and closing of the floes in the North Polar sea often create stretches of young and smooth ice over which a courages explorer can make fairly fast progress for some days.

In Antarctia, neither the perils nor the advantages of sea ice have to be confronted. The South Pole is probably located on a plateau 10,000 feet high, where Nature has defended her last retreat by a fastness of snow covered glaciers. There the explorer must cross high slopes filled with bottomless crevasses, to which he may sink at any moment to his frozen death.

The world awaits the outcome of the race between the Scott party from England, and the Amundson Norwegian party, with the keenest interest.. Even if the tangible results from the attainment of this goal should seem small to many people, yet they give a splendid illustration of the extremes of heroism of which human nature is capable. This should shame the ordinary man who cowers over his furnace or stove on a chilly day in our temperate climate, without the stamina to stir his blood by the thrill of a wintry wind.

RATIONAL HOLIDAY SCHEDULE

A writer in the Survey observes that the irregular distribution of the holidays throughout the year and their changing coincidence with the days of the week often entail hardship on the workaday world. "For instance, where a holiday falls on Tuesday or Friday, many business concerns seize the opportunity in dull time to cut their pay-roll by closing down on the Monday preceding or Saturday following, thus enforcing a two-day holiday with corresponding loss to the employee; then again when such holidays fall in mid-week, the holiday spirit on the days preceding and following seriously interferes with the efficiency of the worker and thus involves a hardship on the employer." The remedy proposed is the transposition of most holidays to Mondays and their more even distribution throughout the year; thus Washington Day would be observed on the Monday following Feb. 22, Lincoln Day on the first Monday in April, and so on. "This order would secure for our industrial army a two and one-half days' respite from toil, with loss of only one day's pay, and would insure for the employer a better week's product from five consecutive days' labor after two and one-half days' rest." The reformer excepts Christmas and New Year's Day from the working of this rule, but he certainly ought to make the reformation complete and include them, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, and, while the operating instruments are sterilized and ready, free Easter from its adhesions to the vernal equinox by giving it a definite date.

THE GRAND TRUNK.

Criticism of the form and detail of the Grand Trunk's proposals should not obscure the essential desirability of its coming to Boston. The occasion is one that calls for a compromise and adjustment. The ideal arrangement would be a treaty, supervised by public authority, for the joint use by the Grand Trunk and the New Haven of some eligible piece of track from the Northwest into this city Duplication of railroad lines is wasteful, entailing the burden of their maintenance on the community, and wherever the same service can be secured, as with a bridge or a terminal, by the joint use of an expensive piece of property, such an arrangement should be made. This seems one of those occasions.—Boston Herald.

FARQUHARSON—DRYSDALE.

A romance of a happy nature was culminated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Farquharson, of 75 Independence avenue, early Monday evening, when their son, Henderson W. Farquharson was united in marriage to Miss Martha Drysdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Drysdale, of Braintree. The officiating clergyman was Rev. James Matheson of the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate members of the families of the contracting parties and a number of friends.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Drysdale, while the brother of the bridegroom, Daniel W. Farquharson, was the best man. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and the couple were the recipients of many gifts, including silverware and cut glass pieces. Following a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Farquharson will assume permanent residence on Trafford street.

Henderson W. Farquharson is well and popularly known in local circles and the announcement of his marriage proved a source of pleasure to his wide circle of acquaintances. He is connected in business with his father, who conducts the Eagle Polishing Company. Mrs Farquharson, although she has always resided in Braintree, also enjoys a large friendship in the city and is a talented pianist.

PA'S BOY.

Elizabeth Clarke Hardy

When he was just a little boy,
Gee, how he ust to work!
He sawed the wood an' built the fires
An' never tried to shirk,
He always filled the reservoy
An' swept the porches, too;
An' I guess there wasn't many things
Pa didn't ust to do.

Now ma gets up and builds the fires;
She says I am too small—
An' sweeps the porches an' the walks
An' doesn't mind at all,
She says she's glad to let my pa
His morning nap enjoy,
Because he's tired with all the work
He done when he's a boy.

When I get big I'll get a wife
Edzactly like my ma;
To do the chores an' let me sleep,
Just as she does my pa.
An' when I've had my morning nap
You bet that I'll enjoy
To tell 'em how I ust to work
When I's a little boy.

—The poultry raisers are urging congress to let them send young chickens and game cocks through the mail. The best time to mail chickens they say, is when they are just hatched, since at that time the chickens can go three days at a time without food. The Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will say something about that —Somerville Journal.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

BUSINESS MEN CALLED UPON

Asked to Aid Government In Promotion of Commerce

"NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE"

Semi-Official Organization Might Be Developed Until It Becomes Part of Governmental System—Would Be of Great Benefit to American Commerce and Industry—Boston Men Prominent In Promoting Movement

Washington, March 5.—President Taft, through Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, has issued a call to the business organizations of the country to send delegates to a meeting to be held in Washington April 15, to help organize a national commercial body to assist the government in the promotion of commerce.

The action is not the outcome of political expediency but is the result of a series of conferences between leading business men and President Taft and Secretary Nagel extending over a period of months. In his message to congress last December the president hinted at such a plan, and since that time the idea has been deveoped until now a semi-official "National Board of Trade," or whatever it may be called, would appear to be a possibility.

The proposed organization will differ from the defunct council of commerce organized while Secretary Straus was in office or the old national board of trade, in being formed directly under government auspices. It will be a semi-official body at the start, at least to this extent, and in time may develop, as the chambers of commerce of France and Germany have been, until they are practically a part of the governmental system.

In a letter President Taft expresses the belief that such an organization properly represented at the seat of government could be of "incalculable assistance" in advising the executive branch of government with respect to the methods and rules to be adopted in the administration of existing law. It could advise regarding new legislation and could suggest fields of trade inquiry at home and abroad, and methods of making such inquiry, which would result most advantageously to American commerce and industry.

It is not the purpose of the government at present to do more than confer with the delegates over the proposed organization, but it may be said that the details have been more or less discussed by leading business men, and that Nagel has often been consulted in these preliminaries.

Members of the Boston chamber of commerce have been especially active in bringing about this co-operation between the government and the business interests. They have had influence with the president and the secretary of commerce and labor not only because of their own ability and stand, but because the Boston chamber of commerce is regarded as truly representative of business sentiment in Massachusetts and, in large measure, in New England.

In his letter President Taft especially emphasizes that the proposed national association should be broadly representative; and it may not be going too far to say that the tendency of the local business organizations to consolidate in one great body like that at Boston is welcomed by the government as creating genuinely representative conditions.

The old council of commerce, like some other pretentious business organizations more or less national in character, failed to achieve much because they were not representative and attempted too much. It is the purpose of the promoters of the new national association to exert its influence only in mattetrs upon which a common agreement has been reached, and then to do everything in their power, in co-operation with the government, to secure practical results.

FORTUNE OF "MILLIONAIRE"

Will Shows Its Actual Value to Have Been but $7500

New York, March 5.—Elijah M. Allen, "the millionaire lumber exporter," was actually in possession of a $7500 estate, when he died in St. Vincent's hospital.

Death pulled aside the veil that concealed the aged exporter's "millions" and proved the fiction of the estimate. His will shows he left no estate, and that his personal property is worth the amount state above.

Strike of German Coal Miners

Cologne, Ger., March 5.—Seizing the opportunity when the British coal strike has limited the production of fuel for Europe, 1000 coal miners in Westphalia went upon strike because of a reduction in wages.

Edward Robinson Breaks Down

New York, March 5.—Edward Robinson, director of the Metropolitan museum of art, had a nervous breakdown as the result of overwork, and is confined to his home.

IOWA SAFE FOR TAFT

President Said to Be Already Sure of Seventeen Counties

Washington, March 5.—Iowa, hitherto regarded as the most unlikely Taft territory in the country, except Wisconsin, is now claimed for the president by the managers of the national Taft bureau. They recite that already seventeen counties have declared for Taft, two for Cummins, Taft and Cummins have divided one county, Dallas, and no county has pronounced for Roosevelt. The voting so far shows a total gain for Taft of eighty-four votes over two years ago.

Representative Roberts of Massachusetts has just returned from a trip through New England and tells the Taft managers that the president is the only Republican who can carry the east and the doubtful states.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

5—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
5—Wollaston Aux.—Woman's Board Missions.
6—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Literatare Class—Mrs. H. J. Gurney—Home of Mrs. A. E. Avery.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Wollaston Alliance.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Meeting—Quincy Catholic Club.
7—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance— Comitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Banbuet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meetihg — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

THIS IS A SECURE BANK

Because it is under Federal supervision, and subject to the National Banking Laws of the United States.

Because it is managed conservatively by business men whom you know and in whom you have confidence.

Because its equipment includes one of the strongest modern vaults in Massachusetts.

Think of this bank when you decide to open an account.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Why Not Cover That Floor With Linoleum?

It makes a splendid covering — one that always looks well, is easily cleaned, and wears like iron. And it won't cost you a barrel of money either — if you get it from Kincaide's.

Spring patterns have arrived, and include the new wood effects. Lots of pretty designs in figured Linoleums at 55, 65, 75, and 85 cents per square yard. Highest grades of Inlaids at $1.25 and $1.50 sq. yard.

For less expensive coverings we show a large line of good oilcloths. Prices range, 25, 35, and 45 cents per square yard.

Our large swinging display rack of samples is on the street floor. Step in and look them over. 'Twill not place you under the slightest obligation to buy. You're welcome, always.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

"The Payson Special"
The Suit With The
MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

A GUARANTEE is a promise to make good, and to make this PROMISE GOOD we have reduced it to writing and added our signature.

This written PROMISE goes with every suit we sell. It maintains that you must receive full measure of satisfaction in every garment you purchase from us.

That the fabrics will hold their colors under any and all conditions. It maintains also that the fronts are so constructed as not to sag or get out of shape.

This GUARANTEE goes along with all our medium grades of suits. The better grade is GUARANTEED by HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX through us. THEIR NAME STANDS FOR EVERYTHING THAT'S GOOD IN CLOTHES. It does not matter what grade of a suit you may buy of us. YOU CAN'T LOSE.

"The PAYSON SPECIAL" at $12.89
Is offered as an example whereby you may make comparisons, resolve to buy of us, and pocket the DIFFERENCE.

Payson-Mitchell Co.
CITY SQUARE - - QUINCY

At ATLANTIC
Quincy Daily Ledger
On Sale after 3.30 P. M.
--- AT ---
BRANSCHIED & MARTENS
Why not put in an order and have it left every day at your home?

SAVINGS BANK INSURANCE

St. Chrysostom's Men's Club Hear About Proposed Plan

HARRY W. KIMBALL

Savings Bank Insurance was the subject of Harry W. Kimball, field secretary of the Massachusetts Savings Bank Insurance League at the meeting of the Men's club of St. Chrysostom's parish Monday evening.

Prefacing his remarks with the resume of the conditions of industrial insurance in Massachusetts, the speaker told of the move by a group of public spirited men to enable the public to procure life insurance at the lowest possible cost.

With this in view, a bill was introduced and passed, authorizing banks to open insurance departments and furnish insurance at cost to the people of Massachusetts.

The law provides that the bank shall spend no money in soliciting this business, that there shall be no house to house canvass and that the profits shall be returned to the policy holders in the shape of dividends. A general insurance guarantee fund provides security of the very best.

As a result of this movement, the industrial insurance companies reduced their rates 10 per cent and upon the opening of the first savings bank insurance department suffered a further reduction of 10 per cent.

If the movement has accomplished nothing else it has saved the people in Massachusetts a million and a half dollars a year by these reductions.

Mr. Kimball told of the work at Whitman and Brockton where banks had opened departments and of the later adidtion of the Berkshire County Savings Bank of Pittsfield.

The manufacturers are co-operating in this public welfare move and over 150 public agencies have been opened in various manufacturing establishments in Massachusetts.

At the plant of the United Shoe Machinery company at Beverly over $250,000 in insurance is carried with a roll of almost 600 policy holders.

The advance that had been made in the last three years, declared the speaker, assured the success of the movement.

Many other features of the plan were touched upon at the close of his address Mr. Kimball faced a fire of questions that lasted nearly a half an hour.

The club minstrel show, which is to be given on May 6th was talked over and renewed interest was aroused. Rehearsals were planned for Monday evenings, including the club meeting nights. Owing to the Lenten season, refreshments were omitted.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The school attendance for the month of February as reported by Supt. Barbour was as follows:—

	Whole No. at Date.	Av. Daily Attendance.	Per Cent. of Daily Attendance.	Tardiness	Dismissed	Truancy
High	763	712.5	93.0	214	57	0
Adams	338	296 4	92.2	34	7	0
Atherton Hough	160	137.9	87.2	7	0	0
Coddington	437	389.6	84 3	19	11	1
Cranch	318	295.4	94.9	11	6	0
Gridley Bryant	259	231.5	89.3	30	8	0
John Hancock	311	291.0	93.4	5	4	0
Lincoln	411	384 6	94 0	19	5	0
Mass. Fields	384	340.2	7.1	30	38	0
Quincy	602	539.6	89.2	126	19	1
Washington	444	393.0	88 9	74	13	0
Willard	753	702.3	93 0	59	7	0
Wollaston	411	364.4	89.5	73	27	0
	5591	50 8.4	91.1	601	202	2

HAD AN ALTERCATION.

Great excitement prevailed on Granite street, in front of the store of George W. Jones, late Monday evening, when two men, much the worse for an over indulgence of fiery spirits, engaged in a stormy altercation, attracting a large number who happened to be in the vicinity. Beer bottles were being used as weapons. The men had come from Boston on the train and were on their way home, when they agreed to disagree.

Police officers were summoned, but before their arrival the participants in the affray had taken to their heels and the crowd dispersed.

Track Walker Killed

Canton, Mass., March 5.—Patrick Cunningham, track walker on the New Haven railroad, was instantly killed here by a New York passenger train bound for Boston.

Dowager's Illness Causes Anxiety

London, March 5.—Dowager Queen Alexandra, who is ill with influenza, is slightly worse. Her condition is giving rise to grave anxiety.

☞PRATT'S BREAD is the Staff of Life for the family.

How to Telephone An Emergency Call

We wish every telephone user in Greater Boston would read the suggestions regarding Emergency Telephone Service as contained on Page 9 of the Winter Issue of the Telephone Directory.

We believe we could increase materially our efficiency in handling such calls if in every instance we could have the cool-headed intelligent co-operation of our patrons.

This simply means we desire them to say, when making an Emergency Call for the police,

"Police Department—Emergency" or, when they want to make an Emergency Call for the Fire Department, to say:

"Fire Department—Emergency" or, if there is emergency need of a doctor, to say:

"Call a Doctor—Emergency"

We make such calls without charge, as our contribution to a public service. We are especially desirous, therefore, that they shall be fully effective. The word "Emergency" acts as a signal that such a call is to be referred at once to a special operator — usually a supervisor or chief operator — and to have her exclusive attention.

The simplest way of assuring effective results is for telephone users to join with us in carrying out this plan. We therefore submit this explanatory outline and request their co-operation.

The delivery of this Winter Issue of the Directory has just been completed. If you have not received a copy, call Fort Hill 7600.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Mar. 5—1t

CITY COUNCIL

(Continued from Page One)

ATLANTIC'S FOURTH.

The Finance Committee reported ought not to pass on the order appropriating $300 for Atlantic's July Fourth celebration. Adopted.

SEWER HOUSE CONNECTIONS.

Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the order transferring receipts from House connections with the sewer to the appropriation for the same. Rules suspended and order passed.

SEWER EXTENSIONS.

The Committee on Sewers reported an order for $40,000 for extending the main sewer of the city. Referred to Finance Committee.

ADAMS SCHOOL LOT.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported a substitute order for $8,000 for the purchase of a lot of land at South Quincy for a school lot for the Adams school. Referred to Finance Committee.

NEW FIRE APPARATUS.

Councilman Boyd offered an order for $2,000 for the purchase of a combination hose and chemical wagon for West Quincy. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Councilman Beeman offered an order for $6,000 for the purchase of an auto chemical combination for Atlantic. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

Councilman Richards offered an order for the appointment of a special committee to meet the Committee of Metropolitan Affairs of the Legislature when they came to Quincy to look over the proposed boulevard from Wollaston beach to Hancock street. Adopted.

The President appointed as that committee Councilman Richards, Studley and Thompson.

BUBBLE FOUNTAINS.

Councilman Devaney offered an order for two bubble fountains at the bath house in Ward Two. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

PLAYGROUND.

Councilman J. R. S. Ross offered an order for the securing of a site for a playground at Houghs Neck. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

SCHOOL PLANS.

Councilman C. A. Ross offered a resolution requesting the Mayor to secure plans for a twelve room brick school building with assembly hall at South Quincy. Adopted.

GAS HEARING.

On motion of Councilman Sandberg the petition of the Citizens' Gas Co., to lay mains was withdrawn from the Committee and he then offered an order for a public hearing March 18. Adopted.

NEW STREETS, ETC.

Councilman Studley offered an order accepting a part of Curtis avenue as a public street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman Studley offered an order taking a part of Baxter avenue as a part of the park system. Referred to Executive.

STREET LIGHTS.

Councilman Craig offered an order for a light on Franklin street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman Gauthier offered an order for nine street lights at Adams Shore. Referred to Committee on Streets.

CALENDAR.

The order appropriating $767.60 for Quincy's share of the expense of the Metropolitan Commission Committee took its second reading and was passed under suspension of the rules.

ADVISORY BOARD.

It was expected that there would be a lively debate when the order authorizing the Mayor to create an advisory board came up for its second reading, but it did not materalize.

The order came up and was given a second reading. No one proposed the suspension of the rules and the order went into the calendar for the next meeting.

Councilman Ericson rose to offer an amendment to the order, which would provide that the commission should consider personal estate valuations as well as real estate valuations.

President Hobbs rightly ruled however that the question was not then before the council. The council then at 8.56 adjourned until March 18. The absent members were Councilmen Bailey and Gilliatt.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

Q.—What is the meaning of the expression found in Daniel xii, 7—"Time, times and a half?" How long was a time?" (W. H. G.)

Answer.—A year, or "time," according to the old Hebrew method of preserving chronological records, was ordinarily a year of twelve lunar months of approximately thirty days each, or 360 days. In the symbolic prophecies of the Scriptures, a day stood for a year. (See Ezekiel iv, 1-8;; Numbers xiv, 33, 34.) A "time" therefore, of three hundred and sixty days, in a prophetic sense, would signify 360 years. In the expression under consideration there are three and one-half times, or 1,260 years. The same period is mentioned in the book of Revelation. In chapter xii, 14, it is called three and one half times (360x3 1-2 is 1,260 in chapter xiii, 5, it is termed forty-two months (30x42 is 1,260); and in chapter xii, 6, it is called twelve hundred and sixty days. Bible scholars in general have reached the conclusion that these twelve hundred and sixty years came to an end in the year 1799 A. D. Noting the fulfilment of this prophecy at that time, and following this clue, a number of students of prophecy are expecting that the "seven times" (Leviticus xxvi, 17, 18, 24, 28), or 2520 years in which the Jewish people were to be subject to the Gentile powers and kingdoms, will terminate in the year 1914 A. D., as their kingdom was overturned and destroyed in the year 606 B. C. "Seven times," or two thousand five hundred and twenty years, bring us to the date 1914, when the Jews will be restored to their own land, to have a government of their own which will be the nucleus of the coming universal government so frequently referred to in the Scriptural prophecies.

PEOPLE'S FORUM.

There was a large audience at the Braintree People's Forum Sunday to hear J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., of Boston, speak on "The Metropolitan Plan." Mr. Coolidge described it as a sort of co-ordination of separate town governments for mutual benefit and advancement. He said the plan favored co-operation rather than annexation and was entirely separate from any schemes for union with Boston. The proposed plan would take in 38 cities and towns within a ten-mile radius of the State House and is intended in no way to interfere with the individual governments of these communities.

The metropolitan plan is intended to give Boston better docks and terminal facilities, furnish better highways to the city, from there reaching out into the surrounding places and help to solve their problems. Mr. Coolidge attributes one phase of the high cost of living to congested traffic conditions in Boston and vicinity and which might be remedied by such a co-operative plan.

He stated the annual fire loss of the district as three and one-half million dollars per annum and advocated amalgamation of the fire departments of Boston and its suburbs looking to a redistribution of apparatus, the acquistion of horseless engines and lastly compulsory fire-drills, thereby making one large department covering many miles of territory and working quickly and intelligently.

Mr. Coolidge said the fire losses in this country were from 7 to 10 per cent greater than in European countries. The speaker was in favor of better building laws which would restrict the size and kind of buildings erected, the space between them and the location of dwelling houses and public buildings.

He also spoke strongly for better housing for tenants and said there was a chance for great improvement in this line, both in the kinds of tenements erected and the way in which they are constructed.

Rev. D. Roy Freeman, the pastor, who was absent last Sunday, expressed himself as much pleased to be back again. The monthly financial report was read after which Mr. Coolidge answered many questions relative to his address.

On motion of Elmer E. Abercrombie, a rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Coolidge who although a very busy man, gave his time and thought to the forum absolutely free of charge.

Next Sunday afternoon, Dr. Cleveland Floyd of Boston will speak on the meaning and prevention of tuberculosis. Dr. Floyd is a very magnetic speaker and well informed on his subject which he presents most interestingly.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SALADS FROM VEGETABLES.

IN making up the winter salad odds and ends of cold vegetables may be used.

Any leftover vegetables, such as peas, beans, carrots and turnips, may be arranged on a layer of lettuce leaves and served with a nice dressing.

With Fresh Vegetables.

Cabbage Salad.—Take a half cupful of celery cut in small pieces, an apple pared and cut into squares, one quarter of a head of finely shredded cabbage, the juice of a quarter of a lemon and half a teaspoonful of sugar.

Over the cabbage, apples and celery pour this dressing: Take a tablespoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of dry mustard, a dash of pepper and salt Stir these into a half cupful of vinegar and put on to boil. In the meantime cream two tablespoonfuls of flour and add to the boiling vinegar, stirring all the time. After five minutes take from the fire and add a well beaten egg.

Serve the salad cold on lettuce leaves.

Of Many Ingredients.

Beans and Celery Salad.—Use one cupful of leftover navy beans, add one-half cupful of diced celery and one cupful of beet cubes. Pour in a salad bowl which has been rubbed with a clove of garlic and add French dressing until all ingredients are moist. Prepare at table and serve at once.

Mixed Salad.—This is a dish which Italian housewives favor. Take one cupful of boiled green peas, asparagus tips, string beans and the hearts of four artichokes. Canned vegetables may be used quite as successfully as the fresh ones for this dish. When quite cold place on a bed of lettuce leaves, cover with a rich mayonnaise and garnish with slices of hard boiled eggs and olives.

Variations of Familiar Salads.

Pea and Cheese Salad.—Use equal quantities of peas and cheese cut into small bits, sprinkle with chopped peanuts and mix with mayonnaise. Serve at once.

Minced Potato Salad.—Take three boiled potatoes, a teaspoonful of parsley, half a beet, half a cooked carrot and cut fine. Mix these and sprinkle with salt and pepper and then add French dressing which has been flavored with onion juice.

SOME TEMPERANCE SILLABUBS.

WHILE sillabubs generally have a flavor of liquor, they can be made otherwise and served without menace to the conscience in temperance households.

Sillabubs are so light and dainty that it seems a pity they should not be enjoyed by all. They are a particularly nourishing food for invalids because their chief constituent is whipped cream. White of egg is also used in some sillabubs.

When it is desired that the sillabub should not be so rich, fresh sweet milk is substituted.

The cream or milk is very often given a tang by the use of wine, cider, brandy or spices.

Lemon Dainties.

Lemon Sillabub.—This is made without liquor and as follows: Mix one cupful of powdered sugar with the strained juice of five lemons. Let the sugar dissolve and then pour in a pint of cream. Whip the whole to a froth. Let it stand for several hours and serve very cold.

Another recipe for a lemon sillabub is also given. It includes eggs and is a trifle richer.

Lemon and Egg Sillabub.—Take half a pint of thick cream, juice and rind of quarter of a lemon, three whites of eggs and powdered sugar to taste. Mix lemon juice and rind together with the cream. Sweeten to taste.

Whisk the whites of the eggs; add lightly to the cream. Whisk cream and eggs together, taking off the froth as it rises. Lay on a hair sieve to drain. When all the froth has risen have ready some custard glasses or cups filled about quarter full with any nice or well flavored castard. Fill up the glass with sillabub and serve.

Made With Fruits.

Banana Sillabub.—Beat a pint of cream to a stiff froth and separate into three equal parts. Then prepare three flavoring mixtures, one for each portion of cream.

The first flavor is made with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and two of grated banana. Combine these with the first portion of cream and place in the bottom of a glass dish.

The second flavor is made with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and two of strawberry juice. Mix with the second portion of cream and pour over the cream in the dish.

The third portion of flavor is made with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and two of orange pulp with a bit of grated rind. Combine with the third portion of cream and place it in the dish over the other two. Garnish with apple, grape or currant jelly. Serve with angel food or sponge cake.

Anna Thompson

Contempt of Court is no light offense in Texas, where a judge suspended proceedings that he might whip a man.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.
This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

AN ECONOMIC CRIME

Foss Thus Characterizes the Policy of High Protection

New York, March 5.—Speaking on "Constructive Tariff Reduction" at the Cleveland dinner of the National Democratic club last night, Governor Foss of Massachusetts declared the policy of high protection a social and economic crime.

"As a system of taxation it is abhorrent," he said. "The amount raised for public purposes is imposed many times over upon the people for the profit of the few."

He declared the great textile strike at Lawrence to be due to the high cost of living "which the Republican policy has forced upon us," and urged reciprocity, not only with Canada, but with all the countries of North and South America.

MADE ATTEMPTS TO FOOL COMPETITORS

Packers' Manager Admits Lying Over Cost of Beef

Chicago, March 5.—Charles E. Barry, manager of the National Packing company's beef department, testified in the packers' trial that while he was superintendent of the New York district for the company, from 1897 to 1910, he regularly obtained the weekly average margins of Armour, Swift and Morris business in that market and wired them to the Chicago office.

On cross examination the witness said he also obtained figures on the New York business of Schwartschild & Sulzberger company. He said it was customary for the representatives of the big packers in New York and other eastern cities to exchange information in regard to each other's business.

Barry said that at times the representatives gave out incorrect figures for the purpose of deceiving competitors.

"You mean they lied to you?" inquired government counsel.

"Yes."

"Did you ever lie to them in return?"

"I did at times."

PLEA OF INSANITY

Will Be Made In Effort to Secure Clemency For Richeson

Boston, March 5.—Clarence V. T. Richeson's father, brothers and sisters will attend the hearing for commutation of his sentence from electrocution to life imprisonment when his counsel present their petition before the executive counsel in April. The chief plea for clemency will be based upon insanity. That course is assured. Before the petition is offered alienists will examine the ex-preacher.

Attorney Morse said yesterday afternoon: "Mr. Richeson's mind is slowly breaking up. There isn't any doubt about that. He doesn't get the proper rest. His mental condition does not permit it."

TAXI BANDITS INDICTED

One of Their Number Furnishes Evidence to the Grand Jury

New York, March 5.—As a result of evidence given by Edward Kinsman, the taxicab bandit, who turned state's evidence against his companions, six indictments were returned by the grand jury against men implicated in the holdup of two messengers of the East River National bank, when $25,000 was stolen.

Mateo Arbano, Eugene Splaine, a man known as "Dutch," and a youth known as "Joe the Kid" were indicted for robbery in the first degree, and George Dello and Joseph Ascale were indicted for receiving stolen goods. "Dutch" and "Joe the Kid" have not yet been captured.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Mar. 4.	12.00	12.00
Tuesday,	12.30	12.45
Wednesday,	1.15	1.30
Thursday,	2.00	2.15
Friday,	2.45	3.15
Saturday,	3.30	4.00
Sunday,	4.15	5.00

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	28 degrees
Mar. 5, 1911,	25 degrees
Mar. 5, 1910,	56 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Mt. Wollaston Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 80, will initiate seven candidates at its regular meeting Tuesday, evening.

Mrs. Richard E. Armstrong is to give a Lenten talk tomorrow afternoon to the Women's Guild and women of the parish.

Hodenasaunee Tribe of Red Men have moved from Greenleaf hall, Quincy to Odd Fellows' hall, Wollaston and will meet every Friday evening.

The many friends of Miss Ella Regan of 53 S. Walnut street will be pleased to know that she is able to be out again after many weeks. She underwent a very serious operation at the Carney hospital, Boston.

The committee on towns is to give a hearing Thursday, March 7 at 10.30 A. M. in room 425 State House, Boston, on the division of the City of Quincy, setting off Houghs Neck as a separate town to be known as Seagirt.

The Women's Guild of St. Chrysostom's parish hold the first of a series of all day Lenten sewing meetings on Wednesday in the parish rooms, beginning at ten o'clock, A basket lunch will be served at noon. The sewing this year is to assist the Visiting Nurse of Quincy in her work.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for:

Saverio Damico, Lewis Famer, B. H. Flaherty, Rocco Fusillo, E. W. Grant, Santo Lamia, Mr. Marsh, Donald J. Matherson, Mrs. George Miar, James Normand, J. F. O'Connell, John Stewart, Rev. Mr. Tilton, F. A. Warren and Edward Williams.

COMPLAINANT SENTENCED.

It does not often happen that a complainant in a criminal case has the tables turned in court and a warrant issued against him by order of the court, upon which he receives a jail sentence. That is what happened to John Hokkanan this morning. Saturday evening, Officer Duane was called to Hibernian hall at West Quincy where a dance was in progress to quell a disturbance and as a result Peter Jameson was arrested for assault on Hokkanan. When searched it was found that Jameson had a revolver in his pocket and it is also claimed that in addition to assaulting Hokkanan, he placed a revlover within two feet of him and fired. As there was no bullet in the shell, no damage was done.

When the case came up in court, conflicting stories were told about the assault after which the court fined Jameson $50 for carrying a revolver and sentenced him to three months in jail, the latter sentence being suspended.

The court then ordered a warrant issued against Hokkanan for assault and he was given three months in jail.. He was also brought up on th a default warrant for drunkenness and fined $10. He appealed.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

TO EXPEDITE EXTRADITION

Case of Defaulter Shaw Comes Before Grand Jury

TWO INDICTMENTS RETURNED

Charged In Ten Counts With Larceny of Funds of Shoe Company of Which He Was Head—Bills Also Returned Against Mrs. Stuart, Who Is Charged With Being Accessory Before and After the Fact

Boston, March 5.—The grand jury, which came in for its March sitting yesterday, returned to Judge Sanderson in the superior criminal court two indictments against Arthur W. Shaw, the absconding shoe manufacturer of Freeport, Me., who is now being held by the Los Angeles police, and his alleged accomplice, Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart of this city.

In the indictments it is charged that between Jan. 12 and Feb. 2 of this year Shaw took about $19,000 in money from banks here deposited to the credit of the A. W. Shaw company and to the Cumberland County Shoe company and with that money bought securities. It is alleged that Mrs. Stuart received the securities thus bought.

Shaw is charged not only with stealing the money, but with stealing the securities he bought with it after he had made the alleged theft of the funds.

Mrs. Stuart is charged on all the counts of larceny against Shaw with being accessory before and after the fact, with inciting him to commit the larcenies and with harboring, concealing, aiding and protecting him after the larcenies.

The first indictment charges Shaw with two counts of larceny and Mrs. Stuart with tw ocounts each of receiving, accessory before and accessory after. By these two counts Shaw in alleged to have stolen $17,000 in money from the A. W. Shaw company on Feb. 2, and $2000 from the Cumberland County Shoe company. These counts also include charges against Shaw of stealing the $17,000 worth of bonds he is alleged to have purchased with the stolen money.

The second indictment, which covers in detail the same charges as the first, contains eight counts of larceny of money against Shaw, and eight counts of receiving, of accessory before and accessory after against Mrs. Stuart.

District Attorney Pelletier stated that the charges brought against Shaw here are all distinct from those pending against him in Cumberland county, Me.

Routine business before the grand jury had to wait while District Attorney Pelletier personally conducted the investigation. Shaw was arrested recently in Los Angeles, Cal., and the grand jury's action was for the purpose of returning an indictment, so that Shaw may be speedily extradited by the Boston police.

Captain Armstrong and Inspector Gaddis will leave for California today to bring Shaw back to Boston.

Accountants are at work on the Shaw company's books and not until they have completed their work will it be known just how much Shaw's alleged peculations amount to.

BEGINS SIXTEENTH YEAR

Secretary Wilson Establishes Record as a Cabinet Officer

Washington, March 5.—James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, has set a new "record" for continuous service in presidential cabinets. He now has served fifteen years.

The longest previous term of any cabinet officer was credited to Albert Gallatin, who was secretary of the treasury from 1801 to 1813. Wilson was first appointed by President McKinley in 1897 and successively by Presidents Roosevelt and Taft.

CHRONIC FAULT-FINDER

Wife Wants Divorce From Husband Who Is Never Pleased

New Orleans, March 5.—Alleging that her husband is a chronic "grouch" and a grumbler, Celia T. Green has brought suit for divorce against Paul T. Green. The petition charges that Green "finds fault with everything she does."

Mrs. Green asserts that as a legal, ethical and social proposition this attitude toward her is "cruel and of such a nature as to render their living together insupportable."

Gas Kills Woman and Baby

Waterbury, Conn., March 5.—Mrs. Richard P. Hazel and her 9 months old son were found dead in bed at the home of her sister here. Death was due to inhaling illuminating gas. It is said that Mrs. Hazel had been despondent of late.

Rumor of Morgan's Retirement

New York, March 5.—There are persistent rumors in Wall street that J. P. Morgan will retire from active business Jan. 1, 1913. Morgan's New York office will have nothing to say.

GEORGE W. WICKERSHAM

He Threatens to Quit the Bar Association

THINKS IT IS ILLEGAL

Wickersham Fights Ousting of Lewis From Bar Association

Washington, March 5.—Attorney General Wickersham says that he will resign from the American Bar association if that organization sustains the action of its executive committee in ousting William H. Lewis, a negro, and an assistant attorney general, from membership.

The attorney general says that he is not fighting for the admission of a negro to the organization, but is fighting the idea that the American Bar association could do a thing which he believes to be illegal.

TRADE IS BLIGHTED IN UNITED KINGDOM

Factories, Ships and Railroads Affected by Coal Strike

London, March 5.—Factory after factory is closing down in the United Kingdom as a result of the national coal strike, and those resopnsible for the trouble are simply marking time for the present, although it is expected that negotiations will soon be resumed.

Besides the miners, considerably over a million of whom have ceased work, it is now estimated that there are upwards of 200,000 in other industries idle owing to the strike, and this number is being added to hourly.

The crews of coal-carrying vessels lying in the coaling ports are now being discharged, as the ships are unable to get cargo, and the railroad employes are affected in a similar way because of the curtailment by the various companies of their train service.

ROOSEVELT'S ADMISSION

Said He Would Not Be Candidate In 1912, but ——

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 5.—Colonel Roosevelt says that it is perfectly true he said he would not be a candidate in 1912. He had made that statement to many persons, he says, but did not declare that he would not accept the nomination if it were tendered to him. He draws a distinction between becoming a candidate and being willing to accept the nomination.

The colonel made it plain that he saw nothing in the Van Valkenburg letter, in which he said he would not be a candidate in 1912, which conflicted with his recent statement that he would become the nominee of the party if his party asked it.

OLD HERMIT A SUICIDE

Lived Alone For Ten Years, Though Worth About $15,000

Melrose, Mass., March 5.—Orin Brown, 85, a hermit, who has lived for ten years in a small wooden shack in the woods off Rowe street, ended his life with a bullet from an old single-barrelled pistol in his lonely abode.

Although he chose to reside away from friends in the homely little structure which he built a decade ago, Brown was reputed to be worth close to $15,000.

Ten days ago Brown suffered a paralytic shock and has since been in a very feeble condition. It is believed that he became despondent.

Pitney's Nomination Approved

Washington, March 5.—The senate committee on the judiciary authorized a favorable report on the nomination of Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Levee at St. James Palace

London, March 5.—King George held his first official levee of the season at St. James palace. The scene was not up to its usual brilliance because the court is still in mourning for the Duke of Fife.

Madame Merri's Advice and Suggestions

Shower for a Bridegroom.

This affair certainly was something entirely new to me and I think will be so to most of the department readers. It all came about in this way: There was to be a wedding and the bride was a much entertained lady. One night the men who were to be in the bridal party said they thought a bridegroom was a much neglected individual, etc. The result was his receiving the following invitation, a copy of which was sent to about twenty of his most intimate friends:

"A 'shower' will be given at the home of Mr. J. F. Black in honor of Mr. C. G. White on Tuesday night. Please bring an article suitable for him in the new life he is about to undertake."

The men entered into the spirit of the thing and the result was amusing in the extreme, so those say who were fortunate to get a detailed description. There was not a girl in evidence, though the best man's sister arranged for the refreshments, flowers and place cards. Here were some of the articles contributed, all done up in tissue paper tied with ribbons:

A box of collar buttons, razor strop, silk hose, suspenders, garters, shaving brush, a tack hammer, bath slippers, cup and saucer. Many of the gifts were accompanied with rhymes, which were read aloud as each parcel was opened.

The ushers and best man planned the shower, and it is said from henceforth the pre-nuptial entertainments will not be confined to the bride, at least in this town, for everyone declared that the bridegrooms of the future would be as much feted as the brides.

It is an idea that may be carried out at stag parties and add lots of fun.

A Farewell Good-Luck Party.

This is the description of a merry party given by a neighborhood crowd of young people in honor of two of their set who were going away for a year's absence. The invitations were decorated with good luck symbols, like horseshoes, four-leaved clovers, wishbones, etc., When all had arrived the hostess passed halves of gilt cardboard horseshoes, each cut at a different angle; when a perfect horseshoe was made by a couple they were partners to hunt new pennies which were hidden throughout the lower part of the house. This was a good starter and the couple who brought back the most coppers in their little silk bags received a box of candy decorated with a huge gilded horseshoe. Next, cards were passed with the words "Good Luck" at the top, and a prize was given to the one making the most words in twenty minutes. The refreshments consisted of ice cream frozen in the shape of four-leaved clovers, the cakes were horseshoe-shaped and the place cards ornamented with gilded wishbones. Each guest took home a bright new penny for a good luck pocket piece.

The table centerpiece was a low brass bowl filled with forget-me-nots and maiden hair fern, surrounded by a large gold horseshoe cut out of cardboard. The going away guests were presented with little stickpins in the shape of wishbones with tint pearls.

Bachelor Stag Dinner.

Whenever a bachelor entertains he is usually indebted to some obliging feminine friend who plans the affair for him and then disappears.

Here is the way a couple of girls carried out the decorations and menu for ten men, the meal being served at the home of the host's sister:

The table centerpiece was bachelor's buttons, golden wall flowers and wild oats, surrounded by a circle of dainty dolls dressed as ballet girls in pale pink, blue, yellow and white green and lavender. There were ten of them and ribbons radiated from each to the place cards which marked each plate and which were tied to corncob pipes. On the cards were pen and ink sketches of a man in front of a fireplace smoking, with girls' faces indistinctly appearing through the smoky haze. The candles were red in brass holders, and an image of Cupid was suspended from the over head light so that it just poised over the flowers. He was equipped with a quiver well filled with gilt arrows The following menu was served:

Consomme.
Lobster Newburg.
Broiled Mushrooms.
Marinade of Lamb Chops Broiled.
Mashed Potatoes.
Buttered String Beans.
Currant Jelly.
Orange and Celery Salad.
Ices in Meringues.
Cafe Noir.
MADAME MERRI.

IN VOGUE

Scarfs are shown in every material—chiffon and lace, velvet, satin and fur.

Panels and covered buttons are very effective on the skirts of the season's street dresses.

Fur is used more extensively than ever to trim dresses intended to wear without a wrap.

The reversible coat is not only an accomplished fact, but is a great favorite in silk and wool.

The newest pendants and necklaces are quite long and many show a lacy effect that is very pretty.

The latest jabot is accordion plaited and hangs straight and full. These are particularly good in black and white combinations.

Fur bandings and fringe serve as the most approved finish for all sorts of material, and nowhere are these garnitures more strikingly expressed than on the gowns modeled on simple lines, but of elegant fabric, with little else in the way of contrast.

Handkerchief Cap

For sweeping and dusting caps men's handkerchiefs with fancy printed borders are used. A casing is sewed about the handkerchief and a draw-string run in, which draws the handkerchief up into a cap. The points are tacked up against the crown. It is very easy to unfasten the draw-string and flatten the handkerchief when time comes for laundering the cap.

Its Fame Covers 101 Years 1810-1911

Sufferers from Rheumatism

Lame Back, Swellings, Sprains, Lameness—there is quick relief for you in

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

Hundreds of thousands have been able to testify to its curative powers in the last 100 years. Great remedy taken internally for Diarrhœa, Coughs, Colds, etc.

25c and 50c Bottles. Sold Everywhere.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

PARSONS' PILLS tone the system.

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE

Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232--W

FIREMEN GET MORE PAY

Increase of Twelve Percent For Those In Borden Mills

Fall River, Mass., March 5.—An increase of 12 percent in wages has been granted to the firemen employed in the cotton mills of the Fall River Iron Works and the American Print Works company in this city. These plants are controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York.

The firemen's unions of Fall River have sent a communication to the Cotton Manufacturers' association of this city requesting a conference to consider the matter of an increase in wages in all the cotton mills here.

COUNSEL NOT YET CHOSEN

Sub-Committee Will Conduct Investigation of Money Trust

Washington, March 5.—That the money trust will be investigated by a sub-committee of the house committee on banking and currency, and that the sub-committee employ counsel, was the substance of the recommendation made today to Representative Pujo's committee.

No one has yet been chosen as counsel. The investigating committee will be composed of ten or eleven members.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Adress F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.

Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.

Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA-SNOW &

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

LAND COURT.

To the City of Quincy, a municipal corporation located in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; George F. Spooner, Eunice A. Adams, Olaf P. Lindberg, Albert Keating, Annie M. Keating, Minnie M. Hardwick, Charles H. Hardwick, Robert A. Hardwick, Minnie Hardwick, Sidney C. Hardwick and Mary A. Miller of said Quincy; Everett V. Hardwick of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth any heirs, devisees or legal representatives of William N. Worster, of Lucretia A. Pierce formerly of said Quincy, deceased, and of Mary A. Ryder formerly of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, deceased; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Charles E. Pierce of said Boston, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Quincy, bounded Southeasterly by Cherry Avenue one hundred and twenty-two feet; Southerly by land now or formerly of Eunice A Adams and Mary A. Miller two hundred and six feet Southwesterly by land of said Adams twenty and 4-10 feet; Northwesterly by Revere Road, formerly Canal Street by two lines ninety-one and 4-10 feet and fifty-nine and 5-10 feet respectively; Northerly by the curved line formed by the junction of said Revere Road and Washington Street ninety feet; Northeasterly by said Washington Street one hundred feet. Containing twenty-nine thousand six hundred and fifty square feet of land more or less.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land the right to pass and repass from the said land upon and over Cherry Avenue, so-called, using said Cherry Avenue for the purpose of a private way.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the eighteenth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, the nineteenth day of February in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

CLARENCE C. SMITH,
(Seal) Recorder.

31 Feb. 20-27 Mar. 5

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By VAUGHAN KESTER

IF you want to read a delightfully humorous, essentially American story, with a hero and heroine quite after your own heart, you cannot afford to miss the new serial we are about to print.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

is a tale that treats of American life and conditions of several decades ago and is wholly unlike anything else in recent fiction. When the story is ended you'll find that you have left a company that you have come to know intimately and, for the most part, loved.

BE SURE TO READ THE OPENING CHAPTER

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.

Quincy, Mass.

WILL BROADEN PICKET LINES

Strikers Plan to Operate Them Three Times a Day

QUIET MONDAY AT LAWRENCE

Few Workers Return to Mills Despite Owners' Offer of Increase—Leaders Say They Will Hustle Fight to a Finish—Mystery Surrounds Attempt on Life of Organizer Thompson, Who Is Beaten Over the Head

Lawrence, Mass., March 5.—Flushed with success from the demonstration that held their ranks intact in spite of the posted increase in pay of 5 percent, the textile strikers of the city last night planned to extend their picket lines today and operate them, for the first time, morning, noon and in the evening. While this program was being mapped out at the strike headquarters, the police were making preparations to meet the emergency which they fear will arise.

The strikers last night, following several mass meetings, assumed a defiant attitude, which is coupled with their declaration of extended operations. Delegates to these meetings declared that pickets were to be imported from Boston and other places to aid in the demonstration today.

Last night, too, came the unofficial announcement that after nearly eight weeks of practically martial law, the militia would probably be withdrawn from the city at the end of this week. It was stated that today Colonel Sweetser, who has been in command, will be relieved of duty and his place occupied by Lieutenant Colonel Joy of the First Corps Cadets.

The police force has been augmented by 123 extra policemen, whose salary amounts to more than $2000 a week.

The fact that only a few workers returned to the mills yesterday in face of the mill owners' offer is considered a victory for the strikers. Many of the city officials do not hesitate in saying that, in their opinion, unless there is a greater response to the mill owners' offer the mills will be forced to shut down.

Strike leaders say they are going to hustle the fight to the limit and that there is no chance of them backing down.

Into the day's happenings were injected many exciting events. Chief of these was an attempt on the life of James H. Thompson, an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, at his room in the Marlboro Chambers. Considerable mystery surrounds the affair and various stories are told concerning it. He was called to the door of his room and on opening it was struck on the forehead by a young man with a blackjack. There were two assailants and Thompson grappled with them, he says, succeeding in breaking their hold. Three shots followed the assault, but none of them took effect and it is not known where they were directed.

Thompson, terrified by the assault, rushed to the street clad only in his night clothes. Blood was streaming from a gash in his forehead, and he had a bruise just over the gash and another on the back of his head. He went to the Needham hotel, where medical attention was given. The injuries are not serious.

The state police have a description of the men and they are making an investigation. They have two revolvers, one a 38-calibre Smith and Wesson, and the other of a curious foreign make, so fashioned as to fit snugly into the palm of the hand, the barrel protruding between the fingers. The latter is called a "protector."

An effort to inject international complications into the strike problem was made by the committee of textile strikers in their noon session.

At a meeting in Franco-Belgian hall it was voted to immediately send a cablegram to Camille Huysmans, secretary of the International Socialist bureau at Brussels, instructing him to inform the governments of Germany, France, Belgium and Italy of the alleged outrages committed against people of those countries who are among the Lawrence strikers.

At this same meeting it was voted to ask international support for the strikers through Carl Legien, international secretary of all the unions throughout the world, and who will also be asked to exert his influence for official recognition of alleged conditions in this city.

Death of Justice Blodgett

Providence, March 5.—John T. Blodgett, associate justice of the Rhode Island supreme court for twelve years, died at his home here after a protracted illness. He was 53 years old.

Cause of the Formality.

First Bohemian—May I borrow your gray tie?

Second Ditto—Certainly! But why all this formality of asking permission?

First Bohemian—I can't find it.—London Tit-Bits.

PENSIONS FOR MARCH

Five Widows of Veterans of War of 1812 Get Money at Boston

Boston, March 5.—A quarter of a million dollars was paid out in pensions yesterday. The total pension payments for March will aggregate $2,450,000.

On the local pension roll of 53,070 names are four survivors of the Indian wars and five widows of veterans of the war of 1812. The widows who are enjoying government aid are Harriet W. Floyd of Beverly, Ann R. Green of Lynn, Emma Mann of Scituate, Emma Reynolds of Chester Depot, Vt., and Annie R. Stearns of Allston.

The four veterans of the Indian wars are Louis Bowry, Oak, R. I.; Robert R. Centro, Boston; Elbridge C. B. Kimball, Fitchburg, and Granville H. Plummer of Bridgeport, Conn.

THE TRIPOLI CAMPAIGN

Italy Admits the Loss of 860 Officers and Men Thus Far

Rome, March 5.—To prevent a misunderstanding, the war department has issued a statement of the casualties on the Italian side in the Turco-Italian war, from the beginning of the conflict to March 2. According to this statement 37 officers and 499 men have been killed, and one officer and 323 men are missing. While it is believed that the missing men have certainly been killed, there is no official record to this effect.

It is announced that Turkey, instead of expelling all Italians from her territories, has decided to establish concentration camps similar to those conducted by the British in South Africa during the Boer war.

ORDER IS RESTORED IN CHINESE CAPITAL

United States Marines Ordered From Shanghai to Tientsin

Pekin, March 5.—The Manchus who are acting as military police in Pekin succeeded yesterday afternoon in restoring comparative order, and the city generally is quiet. Artillery firing was, however, heard to the south of the city.

It is reported that Yuan Shi Kai's son addressed his father's soldiers, imploring them not to cause the ruin of the country. The men wept and said they feared that Yuan's going south would cause their disbandment and starvation. They declared that the disorder was meant as a protest against their chief's going away, and they would remain faithful hereafter.

A detachment of 200 United States marines has been ordered to sail from Shanghai today on board the United States collier Abarenda to re-enforce the United States troops at Tientsin. The United States protected cruiser Cincinnati is also leaving for Tientsin today.

"SPOILED CHILDREN"

Mann Says Army and Navy Get Everything They Want

Washington, March 5.—"The army and navy are the favorite children of the government. Like all favorite children, they are spoiled children. They ask congress for everything they want and they generally get it. The committees of congress are under the spell of the army and the navy."

Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leader in the house, made this statement in opposing the Talbott bill, which gives to midshipmen the rank of ensign in the navy immediately upon their graduation from Annapolis. The ensign bill has been pending for many years and it passed yesterday. Mann's opposition to it rallied only five votes against it.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street

WOLLASTON

Tel. Quincy 1453-1.

Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS,

303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

A HOT ONE.

Katherine—I would rather be beautiful than wise.

Kidder—You've played in hard luck all around.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine

Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days

E. W. Grove on box. 25c

MY BUFF ROCKS LAY

heavily in winter when eggs are high. I am getting 25 to 35 eggs a day from my 55 layers. Order your settings now from this superb laying strain, and get them when you want them. Settings $1.00 each, $1.25 delivered. Fertility guaranteed. MRS. KATE REYES 362 Beale St., Forbes Hill, Wollaston. Tel. Quincy 1547-W.

Feb. 13-8t T.-Th.-p 17-4w

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN

21 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Tel. Quincy 1453-W

Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-6m

Call Quincy 501 W

If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --

FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES

HOLMES & HALL

96 Washington St., Quincy

TELEPHONE 974 W

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance

OFFICE—RESIDENCE

157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.

WOLLASTON

Houses and Building Lots for sale. Houses and Apartments to let.

Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile

Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates

Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Large brown St. Bernard dog. Good and kind. Best watch dog in the country. Address B. S. Ledger Office. 4-3t

POOL ROOM—For sale cheap price. 4 tables, 14 large framed pictures, show cases and fixtures. Call at 145 Water street, South Quincy. 29-6t

WOLLASTON.

7 roomed house, with bath and all modern improvements, for sale. Near Boulevard and depot, church and schools close by. Electrics pass door. Only $700 cash required. 43 Davis street. Mar. 2-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Stenographer. Work must be correct. State experience. Must be able to take dictations, use Oliver machine. Address W. Ledger Office. 4-tf

WANTED

A canvasser in every town to handle the best selling proposition on the market. State experience and references. C. W. CHAPMAN, Stoughton, Mass. 5-2t

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking

Table Board by the Day or Week

384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS

Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.

384 Granite Street, Quincy.

Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

Storage FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates

Pianos and Furniture Moving

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

H. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS

STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy

WM. E. BADGER. Tel. Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-K Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings

C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.

Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars

Demonstration by Appointment

Phones

Stable 207. Residence 972 W

Dec. 22-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance

Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets

QUINCY

TO LET

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon, 17 Granite street, Quincy. 13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)

Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Women's Fine Shoes

The only article that can really add the finishing touch to a good gown is a perfect fitting shoe. Perfect fit is never attained in cheap footwear. The better kind of shoes hold their shape and actually look better the longer worn.

THE SPRING STYLES
OF THE
"AMERICAN LADY" SHOES

are ready for your inspection. You will find in our selection a little dash and exclusiveness not displayed in the usual run of shoes. Fashioned different, made better and priced only moderately.

Boots, Pumps and Oxfords $3.00 and $3.50

THE STORE THAT IS ABSOLUTELY AHEAD

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 4-3t—O 1w

BRIEFS

Mrs. R. E. Foy of Eliot street has gone away for a much needed rest.

The City Council of 1912 is making a record for short meetings.

Those interersted will be glad to know that John Birnie is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Simmons returned Monday from a visit to their daughter in Detroit.

Councilman Charles W. Bailey is confined to his home with a severe cold.

The gypsy moth men, under superintendent Andrew Stewart have begun their spring hunt.

The seventh annual concert and ball of Quincy L. O. L. lodge is to be held in Alpha hall, March 21.

John T. Conway, general superintendent of the Bay State street railway leaves today for a month's trip to the Panama canal.

Among those who enjoyed the grand opera in Boston, Saturday evening were Mrs. Jennie Picard and Miss Emma Biganess.

Mrs. W. H. Drew, formerly Grace Miller of Lewiston, Maine is spending the winter at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John L. Miller of Franklin street.

Miss Agnes S. Kelley of Liberty street who has been favorably convalescing at the City Hospital since an aperation some three weeks ago, is expected to return home the last of the week.

Friends of Mrs. William J. McLaughlin of Goddard street will be pleased to learn that she is slowly recivering from injuries received while attempting to board a car several months ago.

The annual meeting of the Town River yacht club will be held tonight. Mayor Stone who has been the clubs' commodore since its institution has declined to again become a candidate for that office.

The chapel of First church is being beautifully decorated for the fair to be held tomorrow afternoon and evening. The color scheme is yellow and bright jonquils are used profusely on the booths and for decoration.

The edict has gone forth from the office of the Board of Health that every office in City Hall shall be supplied with a cuspidor and that said cuspidor must be cleaned at least once a week. The lady clerks in some of the offices very much object to the new order and declare that they will throw them out of the window. They can not be blamed much.

☞Don't forget the fair to-morrow in First Church chapel. Supper at 6.30.

DEATHS

DUNN—In Quincy, Mar. 3, James C. Dunn in his 71st year.
Funeral services at late home 508 Washington street, Wednesday, Mar. 6, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 4-2t

GLIDDEN—At Quincy Point, Mar. 3, Henry Glidden in his 79th year.
Funeral services at late home, 52 Cleverly Court, Wednesday, March 6, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 4-2t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

BRIEFS

A meeting of the members of the local Electricians' Union took place Monday evening in Protection hall.

A large delegation from Hadasha Chapter was present at the meeting of the Order of Eastern Star, held Monday evening in Electa hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Nelson formerly of Elmwood avenue are pleasantly located at Mt. Pleasant home, Roxbury where they often enjoy calls from Wollaston friends.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma L. Gray, of Sagamore street, Atlantic were held at her late home Monday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Mills of the First M. E. Church of Boston. Burial was at Fall River.

Two good games of basket-ball are in order this evening at the Blossom street gymnasium, Boston, where the teams of Quincy A. A. and St. Joseph's A. A. try conclusions. To date, the teams have played seven games. Of these Quincy A. A. has won seven and the Boston team is anxious to even up matters this evening.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution met Monday afternoon at the bithplace of President John Adams for its annual meeting. Reports were given by the officers and the following unanimously elected for the coming year: Regent, Mrs. Nelson V. Titus; vice-regent, Mrs. Frank F. Prescott; Treasurer, Mrs. William Porter; secretary, Mrs. Walter E. Piper; historian, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt; council for two years. Mrs. Charles H. Sprague, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Harriet B. Pierce.

Arangements were made for two whist parties to be held April 1 and May 6.

Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Mrs. G. T. Magee, and Mrs. Osborne Rogers will be the hostesses for the April meeting of the Chapter and Mrs. W. E. Piper, Mrs. Francis F. Brewer and Miss Harriet B. Pierce for May. Deligates to the annual convention of the National Society will be Mrs. Titus and Miss Pierce and alternates Mrs. Antoinette S. Paige and Mrs. Piper.

NEW TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS.

The following subscribers have been added to the Quincy exchange of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company the past week:

Cummings, W. W., Wollaston, Quincy 1562-W.

Stirling, M. Louise, Norfolk Downs, Quincy 1167-J.

Phillips, Walter I., Wollaston, Quincy 1566-W.

Provost William, Quincy 1559-M.

Block, Leon M., Wollaston, Quincy 1563-W.

Craig, Robert, Quincy 1569-M

Stiles, Cecil, Wollaston, Quincy 1573-M.

Speaking of Wood Pulp—

Some day there won't be wood enough
To make a paper bag,
And all the paper mills—how tough!—
Will straightway chew the rag.

Puzzling.

"There is an important question before the city youngster."

"Will you be so kind as to tell me what it is?"

"This: How can Santa Claus get into the house through a steam pipe?"

Abbreviated.

Words, says the Houston Post, should never be subjected to abbreviation save when it is appropriately done. "Xmas" is almost criminal. If you find abbreviation necessary, write it "$mas," and you will have it about right.

FASTEST AND CLEANEST GAME

A. F. LaRose Writes of the Quincy High-Newton Game

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

BY LOUIS F. La ROSE,
Physical Director Y. M. C. A.

While the echoes of the Newton High supporters were still ringing through the gym and before the crowd had commenced to leave the building, a member of the Quincy team came up to me and said, "We can beat 'em on any other floor in the state."

This feeling of confidence was exhibited all thro the second half of that great game, and when, our score commenced to creep up on Newton's big lead, you could see that "we'll win yet spirit" stand out on the features of every member of the team.

The game was the fastest, hardest and thro' it all the cleanest, and I want to emphazize the "cleanest," High School game that I have ever witnessed, and too much cannot be said of the good sportsmanship shown by the members of both teams.

Several of Quincy's "faithful rooters" who witnessed the game, felt that the "championship" was lost when the game was lost. To my mind, Quincy has just as good a claim to the championship of Eastern Massachusetts as they had before this game was played. Certainly Newton has no claim to advance, for the records of the two teams can not be compared at all:

Newton has played but ten games in all and has met but very few good teams. Milton, Reading, Winthrop and other strong contenders for the title have not been on their schedule, so I think that Newton has no just claim to the championship.

If Quincy can defeat, Milton and Winthrop on their own floors, there is no doubt that the Championship title will be given to us. If we lose both or even one, of these games, our chances are slim.

Quincy can win hard games if the school will support the team, but when only a half-dozen fans travel away from home to cheer for the best team that ever represented the school, how can you expect the boys to do their best, in the face of the cheers of several hundred hostile spectators? I hope that a good crowd will be at Winthrop today to show their loyalty to the team.

MARATHON RUN.

The 16th annual American Marathon run of the Boston Athletic Association, which is the Olympic tryout event, will be held over the Ashland-Boston course, Patriots' day.

Prizes will be given to the first eight men and a souvenir to the following 25 men who may finish after the prize winners. Souvenirs will also be presented to each caretaker of all contestants being placed.

The start will be made at Ashland at 12 M. Arrangements will be made for the competitors at the hotel near the start.

All competitors must be registered athletes, in accordance with Amateur Athletic Union rules. Start at exactly noon. No athlete under 18 years of age will be allowed to compete. The right to reject any entry is reserved.

The entry fee will be $1 and entries will close April 11 with George V. Brown, Boston Athletic Association, Exeter street, Boston.

Costly Job.

It was snowing and Miss Urban looked out upon the Newcomb's suburban garden and thought: "How can anybody live in the suburbs?" Just then Mr. Newcomb wandered into the room and she asked: "Who clears off that path to your front gate after a snow?"

"Oh, I have a man do it," he replied.

"It's such a short path, I should think you'd do it yourself," remarked Miss Urban.

"It is less expensive to hire a man," responded Mr. Newcomb. "I tried doing it once myself and it cost me seven dollars. You see, in the first place, I had to buy a snow shovel, that was $1.50. Then I ruined a perfectly good pair of buckskin gloves—that was another $1.50—and then, just as I was in the middle of the job, I caught the string of my eyeglasses in the handle of the shovel and sent the glasses smash against one of the piazza posts; that was four dollars more. I can hire a man to do the job for a quarter."

READ LEDGER ADVS.

"WHY I BECAME A CHRISTIAN"

Mrs. L. B. Brittian of Dorchester, a convert from Mormanism, delivered a very interetsing address to a large audience in the First Presbyterian Church, Water street, Monday evening. The subject of her talk was "Why I Became a Christian."

Mrs. Brittian is a member of the Woman's Missionary Band, under whose auspices the talk was given. She related her experiences while affiliated with the Mormons and told of her conversion to Christianity, depicting at the same time the various steps which led up to it. She then went on to criticize Mormonism in general and showed how she had induced a number to dis-associate themselves with the faith. She discoursed for over an hour, yet her remarks were apreciated by all in atendance.

TODAY'S GAME AT WINTHROP

The members of the Quincy High basket-ball team journeyed to Winthrop this afternoon, to play the strong High school team of that town. The latter contingency is also a contender for the championship honors of Eastern Massachusetts and on this account the title at stake is bound to make the contest a gruelling one. The local boys have already triumphed over the Winthrop lads this season and if they can repeat the performance, they will be in a fine position to defend the championship title. Coach Staff of the local High school will give a complete account of the game, which will appear in tomorrow's issue.

SAMUEL P. WHEELER.

The following will be of interest to many as the deceased was well-known by residents of Quincy.

Samuel Porter Wheeler was born at Sharon, Vt., Sept. 9, 1831 and died in Hardwick, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Guy Herrick, Feb. 5th. He was another "last leaf on the tree," the last of his immediate family having fallen several years ago. He withstood the rigors of life till well past falling time and he fell finally so gently, so painlessly, that we scarcely knew when his hold was broken.

The parents of Mr. Wheeler died when he was a small boy and he grew up under the anxious care of an aunt. He was full of lusty life and at 18 years of age, catching the fever of the "forty-niners," he made his way to California. There he remained for a number of years, acting in the turbulent task of making the new territory a habitable state. For five years he was engaged in wars against the Indians and many a cruel struggle he had with them.

He returned to Vermont in 1866. June 1869 he was married to Miss Flora Cass of Plainfield. He moved to Hardwick, where he has lived ever since. His first wife died Aug. 3, 1885. He married a second time in 1886, taking unto himself Ella Stevens. The second wife died February 23, 1894. There are five children who survive him, Allen and Harry, both of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Theda Herrick, and Miss Bessie Wheeler, both of this place, and Mrs. Flora Hodsdon of Walden, and a granddaughter Lois Wheeler of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Wheeler was the owner of the first granite shed built in Hardwick, starting our granite business where one of the sheds stand at present, on Maple street, above the railroad tracks. He sold out later, but he continued to cut stone till he was past seventy-five.

He was a member of the local lodge of Masons, having been one of the charter members. He was marshal for many years, until failing health necessitated his withdrawal. He was also a member of the G. A. R.

Mr. Wheeler was one of the kind of men whom one is proud to have known. He was one who merited the compliment of being called a favorite with boys and girls. The title of "Uncle Sam," by which he was commonly called, bears witness to the estimation in which he was held in this community.

Like Abraham he "died in a good old age, an old man, and full of years."

The funeral was held Wednesday. After a short prayer at the house the body was taken to the Congregational church. The G. A. R. attended in a body. The Relief Corps was well represented and the Masons performed their impressive services. Music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Messrs. Blake and Adams, Mrs. L. C. Pierce, and Miss Florence Titus, with Mrs. Davis at the organ. A short address was given by Mr. Ingraham.

The Snake Habit

If Turley Mathers had not had an attractive personality he never would have lasted as a figure in society, because the most amiable of hostesses might be pardoned for disapproving a caller who insisted on skinning snakes on her front porch and demanding admiration for their lines and colors.

The year he spent the summer at Wigwam lake is still recalled solemnly as a landmark by the cottagers. All the children were going around dragging snakes after them because Turley had taught them how to catch and hold the creeping things safely, and more mothers went into hysterics that year than had in the century preceding.

The worst of it was that Mathers was a person of scientific attainments and had a perfectly valid excuse for studying snakes. Nobody could say he did it to be unique or troublesome.

If you feebly said that you weren't crazy about snakes Mathers simply drew a long breath, fixed you with a pitying stern glance and lectured to you on your sins. When he had finished you were in such a flabby state that you would have let a snake perch on your forefinger.

Mathers met Clara Baysworth out west when her party and his combined for a camping trip through a noted canyon, and the acquaintance progressed at the rate of ten miles a minute until the fatal moment when the stage coach driver silently pointed with his whip to the side of the sunbaked road. There, lazily stretched out, lay a rattlesnake. Mathers says it was a mere baby snake of a foot and a half or so, but if you had inquired of the others any of them would have told you it was a horrible monster six feet long, with cerise eyes and a foaming mouth.

Before any one realized what he was doing, Mathers, with a gurgle of pleasure, had slipped to the ground, swept the snake into a heap with his straw hat, deftly grabbed it around its neck with three fingers and held it up to be admired. Persons who do the unusual are instantly pronounced crazy by everybody else, so the conviction instantly settled upon the stageload of travelers that any man who would deliberately pick up a rattler must be insane. Clara Baysworth got her voice first as Mathers, still holding his prize, started to climb back to his seat by her side.

"Go away!" she got out in a strangled voice. "If you come any nearer I'll stick hatpins into you!"

The distracted coachload echoed her cries. Fathers clasped their sons to them and glared at Mathers, women shrunk into corners and fixed him with imploring eyes. Clara frowned at him, pale and desperate.

"Why—" Mathers began soothingly, and put one foot upon the hub of the wheel. But a series a shrieks arose from his victims.

"I—I hate you!" Clara Baysworth told him wildly.

"He's a perfect beauty," Mathers announced firmly, "and I want him for a specimen." Then he shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, well," he said, "I suppose I can strangle the little beggar!"

His fingers tightened their clasp around the scaly neck and presently the rattler hung limp. Putting him in a convenient box and stowing the box in his pocket, Mathers remounted the coach, but the atmosphere was strained.

For twenty miles he tried to reform Clara Baysworth. He told her frankly that he was pained and displeased by her foolish prejudice, but even that did not move her. She regarded him with alien eyes.

"I'll listen to you," she said, "when you stop being so perfectly foolish! And if you ask me again to marry you while you are carrying that thing around with you I—I'll scream!"

Somebody who was brave opened the box the next morning to see the dead snake and the camp nearly broke up as the rattler winked one eye and waved his tail at the horrified meddler, having survived his choking, as Mathers had known he would. Mathers paled before Clara Baysworth's accusing eye.

"You certainly have nerve," she told him, "to ask a girl to endure things like this the rest of her life! I don't care whether it is science or not! You might experiment with guinea pigs or ducks!"

"I'll chloroform 'em!" Mathers offered, miserably.

"You will not!" Clara told him. "They might have nine lives like a cat and come to life again, and I cannot stand snakes for parlor companions, dead or sleeping! It's between me and your squirming friends, Turley!"

For a long minute Mathers looked at her. Then picking up the rattler he walked to the edge of the cliff and hurled him far out.

"There!" he said simply as he returned and spread out his empty hands.

"Do—do you suppose it h-h-hurt him wh-wh-when he landed where you threw him?" Clara wept.

Then for the first time Mathers laughed. "Oh, you consistent women!" he said. "I wouldn't have had so much time to study snakes anyhow, since I've got you to figure out the rest of my days!"

GOOD GAME IS PROMISED

One of the best basket-ball games of the season in feminine circles is scheduled for this evening in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, where the Quincy Gym Girls', conceded to be one of the fastest combinations of girl players in the state, encounter the Bridgewater Normal school girls' five. The game gives every promise of being a warm one from start to finish and as it is the only contest that is billed in local circles for this evening, a record breaking crowd is sure to be in attendance.

The struggle will start at 8 and from that time until the whistle is blown for the end of the contest, there wil not be one dull or idle mement experienced by those present. The announcement, made this morning, to the effect that gentlemen will be permitted to attend, will undoubtedly prove a great drawing card and many of them will avail themselves of the opportunity to witness a first class game.

The Bar Brooch.

In every collection of beautiful ornaments the bar brooch finds a place.

It is very long and absolutely rigid.

It is ornamented in various ways.

One pattern is set closely with emeralds and rubies alternating.

Another is a flashing rivulet of brilliants from end to end.

A third has a large pearl in the center, flanked by pearls of dwindling sizes, to the tiniest possible gems at the ends.

Then, again, there is the absolutely plan gold bar brooch, which is used for various purposes, from fixing the squash hat in its place to securing the one-sided jabot.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.—STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, March 4, 1912. The committee on towns will give a hearing to parties interested in House Bill No. 518, a petition of Philander Bates and others for legislation to change the boundary line between the town of Cohasset in the county of Norfolk and the town of Scituate in the county of Plymouth; and House Bill No. 139, a petition of John P. Moses and others for a division of the city of Quincy and the incorporation of a new town, at Room No. 425 State House, on Thursday, March 7th, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Henry M. Storm, Chairman. Arthur H. Bicknell, Clerk of the Committee. Mar. 5—2t

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	ledcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dcba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfeacba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	841 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.28, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

DISPLAYED GREAT FORM.

James McDonald of this city, better known in fistic circles as "Young" McDonald carried off the honors in the 225 pound class at the B. A. A. A. Saturday evening. The local lad, who is a member of the North Quincy A. A. displayed great form in both the semi-final and the final bouts and though he was pronounced a winner it was only after he had experienced two gruelling struggles.

In the semi-final he conquered "Eddie" Walker of Chelsea. This was the second bout of the class. In the final bout he defeated "Billy" Buckley, also of Chelsea.. Buckley had previously vanquished Frank Mania of South Boston, in the first bout of the 125 pound class. Each of McDonald's bouts was won in three rounds.

"Young" McDonald has been travelling at a fast clip of late and his friends were glad to see him win.

(ADVERTISE.)

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR QUALITY PLUS

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M..) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.55, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON.
Superintendent.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 56 QUINCY MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING MARCH 6, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

TRAPPED IN ATTIC ROOM BY FIRE THREE MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

Landlord Groping Way Through Fire and Smoke Rescues Fourth Man Who is Badly Burned About Hands

Fire Started From Overturned Lamp in Attic-Room o Old Baxter House on Washington Street, Quincy Point

Three men were burned to death and a fourth had his hands badly burned in a fire Tuesday evening which gutted the upper part of what is known as the old Baxter house on Washington street, Quincy Point, run by Alexander Proverb as a hotel and patronized by men employed at the Fore River.

The men were penned in a little attic room and before they could escape three of them were burned to death. They were Daniel Graham, aged 34 years; Daniel F. Leary, aged 35 years and Donald McDonald, aged 33 years. The two former were employed as riveters and the latter as a carpenter at the Fore River.

The rescued men were Charles McDonald, aged 40 years, brother of one of the men, who lost their lives and John Kelley, aged 31 years. Kelley is employed as a machinist at the Fore River and McDonald is employed at North Weymouth. They were taken to the police station and locked up for drunkenness. Charles McDonald was badly burned about the hands and became nearly demented when informed of his brother's death.

All of the men with the exception of Charles McDonald lived in the house which had fifteen boarders, in addition to members of Mr. Proverb's family which consisted of a wife and two children, Gladstone and Olive, aged 15 and 9 years.

All the men were in the attic room and from what can be learned a lamp must have been overturned near the door, and before the men could escape they were suffocated by smoke.

It was about 9.30 when Mr. Proverb, who was on the lower floor smelled smoke and began an investigation. About the same time John Ryan another boarder who was in the bath room also smelled smoke, and glancing toward the ceiling saw flames over his head. He ran down stairs and informed Mr. Proverb and the two men ran upstairs, shouting fire as they ran, to arouse the boarders. Mrs. Proverb and two children immediately ran into the street without stopping to dress and escaped injury save from a bad chill.

The two men found the upper halls and rooms filled with a stifling smoke but they kept on to the attic. By this time the smoke had become very stifling and flames were seen coming from the walls.

Notwithstanding this however, Mr. Proverb kept on, and continued to grope his way until the landing of the attic was reached. The heat was terrific and the smoke blinding, but he kept on and crawling on his hands and knees, entered the room he knew was occupied by Graham, and the McDonald brothers. Making his way into the room he heard groans but could not see. Feeling along the floor he came in contact with the body of a man who was just becoming unconscious. He carried him to the hall and with great difficulty got him downstairs and into the street. Mr. Proverb, who was then about exhausted saw that the man was Charles McDonald and that his hands were badly burned and that he was helpless.

Some of the boarders who had escaped to the street took care of the injured man while Mr. Proverb realizing that there must be other men in the room entered the house. He managed with great difficulty to reach the upper landing but by that time the room was like a furnace and it was utterly impossible to enter the room and live. He however called to the men but received no answer. Realizing that he could do nothing he staggered down stairs and into the street.

Just about this time 9.30, an alarm was sounded from Box 72 located on the corner of Washington and South street. The alarm quickly brought aid, for Hose 4, whose quarters are near by, were on the scene in a minute or two. By this time the whole upper part of the house was a mass of flames.

Officer Thorne who was near by, was also quickly on the scene. On being informed that there were still men in the house he rushed in and began to grope his way about the rooms to see if he could find anyone. Hearing shouts from the second floor he rushed up and found John Kelley at a window looking out. Kelley was badly under the influence of liquor He seemed unconcerned about the fire and it was with considerable difficulty that Officer Thorne was able to get him into the street. As Officer Thorne tried to pull Kelley out he offered considerable resistance and seemed determined to remain inside, although informed that he would be burned to death. Finding that he could do nothing with the man, the officer placed the handcuffs on to him and got him to the street where he was placed under arrest and sent to the police station, charged with drunkenness.

In the meantime the apparatus from the central station had arrived and ladders placed abainst the building, firemen soon had several streams playing on the fiames.It was but a few minutes after they got to work before the fiames had been extinguished.

The firemen then entered the room to search for the men who it was believed must have been suffocated and burned. They found two men on a broken down bed, clasped in each others arms as though they had been wrestling. while the third man was lying on the floor. Medical Examiner Jones who viewed the bodies believes that they must have become unconscious from suffocation by smoke and died before the fiames reached them.

The stairway leading to the attic room is a narrow one and it was with considerable difficulty that the dead men were gotten out. In the mean time the ambulance had been telephoned for and the dead men were taken to Hall's undertaking rooms.

Charles McDonald who was burned about the hands was taken to the Desmoines house where his burns were treated by Dr. Bushnell. Later he was taken to the police station for further medical attention. He had recovered himself somewhat, by this time, and on being informed that his brother had been burned to death, he became frantic and it was necessary to place him in a padded cell. He was terribly affected by the fire and remained frantic all night. His condition was

(Continued on Page Two.)

PLEASURE CAR SECTION AUTO SHOW COMMERCIAL VEHICLE SECTION

March 2-9 MECHANICS BUILDING BOSTON March 13-20

PLEASURE CAR EXHIBIT

Auspices Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, Incorporated

CLOSES SATURDAY, MAR. 9th

Commercial Vehicle Exhibit—Opens Wednesday, March 13, at 8 P.M.

"THE GREATEST EXHIBIT OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES EVER SHOWN IN THE WORLD"

"THE ACKNOWLEDGED SHOWS OF THE YEAR"
EXHIBITS MORE COMPLETE DECORATIONS MORE SUPERB
DIRECTION CHESTER I. CAMPBELL

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY 1525 Hancock Street Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 4

Evaporated Milk, Peerless	large can 7c	small 4c
Shrimp, Barataria,		can 9c
Salmon, Medium red		can 14c
Rolled Oats, Fancy Kiln dried,		5 lb bag 17c
Corn Starch, Fancy,		pkg 4c
Cocoa, Gray's		1-2 lb can 12c
Soap, Lenox		bar 3c
Prunes, Extra large Santa Clara		per lb. 10c
Molasses, New Orleans,	gal. 32c	qt. 10c
Pickles, Sour Mixed, Sour Gherkin, Chow-chow,		large bottle 17c
Macaroni or Sphaghetti,		pkg 7c
Olives, Plain or stuffed		bottle 9c
Olive Oil, Plaginol,	qt. tin 80c	pint tin 45c
Crackers, Kennedy's Grahams,		per lb. 8c
Best Creamery Butter		per lb. 34c

Mar. 4—M. W. F.

ACCORDED FULL NAVAL HONORS

Impressive Services at Funeral of Capt. John L. Gow

FIRST CHURCH

Impressive and solemn were the services at the funeral of Capt. John L. Gow, Tuesday afternoon at First church. Full naval honors were accorded the deceased by a company of jackies from the U. S. S. Nebraska, a company of marines and the marine band, from the Charlestown navy yard, under command of Lieut. A. P. Fairfield. Lieut. T. Moran was in charge of the jackies and Lieut. R. T. Merrill in charge of the marines.

The jackies and marines came from the navy yard on a naval tug landing at the Sheppard wharf from which point they marched to the late home of Capt. Gow on Revere road and escorted the remains to the church.

As the remains were borne into the church the command stood at present. The casket was borne down the centre aisle and placed in front of the altar. It was draped with the American and naval jack flags while on the top rested the chapeau and sword of the deceased.

The front of the pulpit was one mass of beautiful flowers. Draped over the altar was a large American flag in front of which was a mass of Easter lilies. Flags were also draped about the posts at the sides of the altar and among the flowers arranged on a table back of the casket were many beautiful pieces.

The services were simple in the extreme, conducted by Rev. A. L. Hudson, pastor of the church. They consisted of reading from the scriptures, the reading of a poem and prayer.

At the conclusion of the services the remains were borne out of the church and as they were placed in the hearse taps were sounded by the bugler.

The body was taken to Forest Hills cemetery for cremation and escorted as far as Adams street by the band and two commands. The jackies and marines then marched to the wharf where they embarked in the naval tug for the navy yard.

The active bearers were eight jackies from the Nebraska while the honorary bearers were Capt. W. N. Little, Naval Constructor, Lloyd Banksond, Lieut. Commander O. G. Murfin, Naval Constructor W. D. Ferguson, Lieut. Wilson, U. S. N. and Warrant Machinist Fitten of the U. S. N. Capt. Edward Evans of the navy yard was also among those present.

The services were largely attended among those present being many of the officials of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

The ushers at the church were, General Manager H. G. Smith of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., Fred H. Smith, C. Theodore Hardwick and Richard C. Drinker.

GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY

About twenty friends tendered a surprise to Miss Rebecca Nelson on Tuesday evening, at her home on Centre street, in observance of her sixteenth birthday. The young people gathered during her absence, and upon her return she was ushered into a room filled with smiling faces Games were played, after which all gathered around the piano to sing popular songs, accompanied by a mandolin.

During the evening the guests were invited into the dining room where a pleasant surprise awaited them. The decorations of the table and room were pretty, the color scheme of pink and white being carried throughout. The place cards and favors were very dainty, and the large birthday cake with its sixteen lighted candles and fancy decorations was beautiful. Before the refreshments of ice cream coffee and cakes were served, two of the young men quickly lifted Rebcca chair and all, to the ceiling sixteen times. Much enjoyment was manifest throughout and after the refreshments, while seated at the table, the hostess opened the many gifts which she had received The affair was one not soon to be forgotten and it was midnight before the guests departed, all wishing the hostess many happy returns of the day.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

ASSOCIATED BOARD OF TRADE

The Aims and Objects of the New Association

QUINCY MAN TREASURER

The Norfolk County Associated Boards of Trade held their first regular meeting at the Boston City club, Boston, Feb. 29th. The charter members of the Association comprised the Boards of Trade from Quincy, Norwood, Dedham, Canton, Franklin, Walpole, Foxboro, Stoughton, Medfield, and Needham, who are represented by three delegates, each elected annually. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and the officers elected as follows:—President, George Harding Smith of Norwood; vice-president John O. Hall of Quincy; treasurer, Erastus Worthington of Dedham; secretary, Gregory W. Grover of Canton.

The aim and object of this Association is to promote the common interests of the various muncipalities of Norfolk county and to unite the energies and influence of the various Boards of Trade.

The business of the Association is to be largely transacted by an executive council composed of one delegate from each town, who will meet frequently. There will also be standing committees of the whole body, on Muncipal affairs, Legislative, Highways, Transportation and Manufacturers.

The annual meeting will be held on the last Thursday of October in each year. Regular meetings will also be held on the last Thursdays of January and April. It is hoped and desired that at the next meeting in April, every town in Norfolk County having a local Board of Trade or civic organization may be represented and a cordial invitation is extended to all such bodies to participate in this movement having for its aim the upbuilding of Norfolk County in the line of business or civic improvement. Towns not having a local organization may be represented at the meeting by a delegate appointed by the Selectmen who will be given the right to vote on all matters affecting his city or town.

PRATT'S BREAD makes the best sandwiches. Get it of leading grocers.

WEYMOUTH BACK RIVER BRIDGE

The bill providing for a new bridge over the Weymouth Back river which has been kicked from pillar to post during this session of the legislature has finally reached the Ways and Means committee and stands a fair chance of being enacted this year after all. Rep. Dwyer, of Weymouth, told the committee today that the needs of Quincy, Weymouth and Hingham demanded immediate action, and asked that committee to report it in its original form. He explained that the present structure is entirely out of commission owing to a decree of the War Department that the government vessels should be allowed up the river.

This was impossible without cutting away almost half of the bridge and therefore the towns of Hingham and Weymouth were without highway communication except by a very circuitous route. The bill was approved last year but carried only $80,000 as an appropriation and Mr. Dwyer said that was not enough by $50,000 to build a bridge such as the government requires. He stated that in a short while automobile and general travel incident to summer seasons would start and thousands of people would be extremely inconvenienced and many would not come to the resorts reached via the bridge if the deplorable conditions now existing were not ameliorated.

Albert N. Worthen, counsel for the town of Weymouth and Chairman Smith of the Harbors and Land Commission spoke in favor of the bill. He showed the committee that the city of Quincy and the towns of Hingham and Weymouth have to pay a tax to maintain the bridge and it is manifestly unfair to all concerned to allow the condition to remain as it is at present. At the present outlook, it seems as though the Nantasket cars that use the bridge so much in the summer will have to make some arrangement for the transfer of their passengers as the bridge cannot be rebuilt or a new bridge constructed in less than six months.

NEW COMMODORE TOWN RIVER Y.C.

Other Officers Elected at Annual Meeting Tuesday

REPORTS

At the annual meeting of the Town River Yacht club held Tuesday evening at the clubhouse the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Commodore, T. B. Crane, vice-commodore,—E. W. Emery, secretary—W. C. Luther, treasurer—G. W. Arnold, executive board—W. E. Lee for one year, W. H. Godfrey for two years, and James M. Gibbs for three years.

The business of the meeting consisted of the report of all committees and of the treasurer. The treasurer's report showed the club to be in splendid financial condition.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring commodore, Mayor Eugene R. Stone.

After the meeting a collation was served and the rest of the evening spent by the members enjoying themselves with different games, etc. The meeting was very largely attended.

The Best of Canned Goods

RASPBERRIES

There are a great many brands of canned raspberries—some good—some indescribably poor—some in well filled cans—some very thin and watery. To get the best Quality means careful market searching. That's what we have done. Every can is well filled with extra fine Red Raspberries put up in heavy syrup, making a quality of canned fruit that is absolutely unapproachable by any other brand.

THE RIVAL BRAND

Canned Raspberries A can 18c

R. E. FOY & CO.

COR. WATER AND QUINCY STS. QUINCY ADAMS

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

As it is proving wholly ineffective for Father Bryan to spank Congress, he will have to try putting them to bed without any supper.

Secretary Knox, in visiting the Caribean republics, must be gaining many ideas on the most efficient methods of promoting revolutions.

Wall street note: it having been reported that Mr. Roosevelt was preparing an editorial on the life and times of Habakuk, depression pervaded Wall street, and declines of two or three points were recorded.

It is pointed out that if the men would lug food and groceries home and save delivery teams, prices would be less. But this would make dinner ten minutes later, and Norah would demand two dollars a week more pay.

On account of the high prices many potatoes will be planted this spring. But will Reuben, Jr., stay home and pick potato bugs or will he be riding around the country in the old man's automobile?

A sociological congress has been started at Nashville to study Southern conditions. We don't just know what they can do on this subject, but they might start a night school for the Congress at Washington.

We learn that people don't go to the White House receptions until 9.30 to 11 P. M., and they stay until 1 A. M. Tactful persons would reflect that Mr. Taft may want to get up at 6.30 and shake down the furnace.

You can't get the tariff question settled before election because the politicians don't like to commit themselves to anything definite, and you can't get it settled after election, because then they don't have to.

It is proper to ask presidential candidates to discuss such subjects as simplified spelling and rotation of crops, but stirring them up on the tariff, woman suffrage, and the trusts, is about like gossiping about their family skeletons and poor relations.

Waltham is complaining because of a cut in the annual budget for the collection of waste paper. The Free Press says the merchants of the city are badly handicapped as the ordinances of the city forbid their sweeping their waste into the streets, even were they so inclined; the regulations of the Fire Engineers forbid burning rubbish within such limits as are in their control: the insurance men are after them if they allow it to accumulate in their cellars; and the city refuses to take it away.

That seems to be Quincy's predicament also. We barely get our ashes carted off, to say nothing of waste paper, and waste paper is not only the bane of merchants but of housekeepers as well. It is a problem that has got to be faced sooner or later.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

A school for journalism is the latest scheme of helpfulness arranged by A. F. Bromley, general secretary of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. and a meeting was held at the Y M. C A. Tuesday night, six young men being present to meet George B. Gavin of the Boston Globe who has kindly agreed to instruct them. Members of the local press were present to assist in the work and the outlook for a crop of all round journalists in the near future is very bright.

With so able an instructor, a man who has wielded the pen for many years and is conversant with every detail, it is surely a grand chance for the boys to make good.

The boys will work with, and have the hearty co-operation of the local papers, the young men on the Ledger staff being Theodore Du Plessis, Ralph Prout and Roland Esty. Any news given them or assistance will aid in the work which the school hopes to accomplish and may be the means of fitting of several young men for their life's work.

Boys of the local Y. M. C. A. are most fortunate in having a man like Mr. Bromley who is always on the lookout to increase the usefulness of the institution and to help the boys.

LENT.

It is customary at this time for our smart comic papers to print pictures in which His Satanic Majesty is depicted as whispering his evil thoughts into the heart of the society girl. The idea seems to be that the season of fast and prayer gives the devil an unusually favorablel opportunity.

A custom, however, that is so deeply rooted in the Christian church, and indeed in all religions, must have done much to serve humanity. In actual practice, it is difficult to see how the society people would keep out of the sanitarium, not to say the grave, did not Lent come along yearly.

It is a truism that joy only comes by contrast, and power through self-denial. A thoughtful observance of Lent prepares the way to both.

The day of ascetic fastings and cruel macerations has gone by. Church customs impose no rigors that the individual conscience does not sanction. The Roman Catholic church has softened the older decrees by indulgences to "working people," who are given much freedom to eat meat in Lent if they decide that they need it. Newcomers to our shores from more formal Europe seem still to deny themselves meat, eggs, butter, and even foods fried in lard. But we are told that men accept the offered indulgences much more than women, and younger people much more than the older, and native Americans much more than the foreign born.

However far any one modifies his life in the direction of simple and quiet habits,t her esult is no doubt very beneficial. Most people eat too much, in particular they eat too much meat. They attend too many social entertainments.

One reason for the tendency to ridicule Lent is no doubt that it is much observed in high society. But have we not a little overdone our muckraking of the socially elite? Is the society woman so wholly destitute of all human feelings as one would think by the tone of our journals?

We are willing to admit for one, when the society girl adopts the Lenten attitude of contemplation, while the clergyman pours forth the pleadings of his people, that she may not always be listening to the promptings of the evil one. Occasionally she may be planning how she may relieve the needs of some poor family down in the sadder streets of the town.

A BUSINESS REPUTATION.

One of the first propositions that looms up in starting a new business is the problem of acquiring an established reputation. The man who wants such a reputation ready made must prepare to pay down his good money for it. We heard the other day of a business supposed to be paying $2000 a year, including salary of proprietor, the owner of which wanted $5000 merely for the good will, exclusive of the stock. The business owned no real estate and no store fixtures. The mere fact that it had a good reputation was considered worth $5000 cash.

Prices charged for a good will are so high that the majority of men prefer to go to work and build up their own reputation. Let a man start out in the dry goods business on our streets to-day. If he goes at it in the way our grandfathers did, just hanging out his sign and selling what goods he can, trusting to time to gradually create a favorable impression, what a terribly tedious process it will be!

We venture to predict whatever reputation he could acquire by that old fashioned method in five years, could be acquired by a reasonable amount of advertising in one year.

Life is too short for the slow old-fashioned process of waiting for trade to come to you. Not merely that, but competition is too sharp. Some other fellow will come along behind you, will start with less capital, in a less favorable location. But if he advertises in a way showing the public that he has confidence in his own proposition, he will beat out the old fashioned non-advertiser every time.

Time is money. To the firm trying to build up a business, the years that drift away without consistent pushing for a business reputation, are costly years. Failure to build up a good will is a far more costly outlay through lost time, than the money spent in advertising. For that creates a reputation at once that quickly establishes a business on a sound foundation.

THE HOUN' DAWG.

Missouri's song, the "Houn' dawg," bids fair to be much heard in the coming campaign, although Champ Clark does not think his cause will be promoted by this homely ditty.

"Makes no difference if he is a houn'
They gotta quit kicking my dawg aroun' " so have the countrymen of the Ozark mountains been singing for many years, 'tis said. The persistence of the song interests us.

The songs of a nation can mostly be divided into three classes: The classic or art songs, written by trained and cultivated musicians for trained and cultivated singers, the flood of popular songs of the day, written mostly by composers for the minstrel shows and comic operas, and a certain class of songs originated by simple hearted people having no musical culture and no connection with the demands of the theatre for popular music.

The latter class of song, correctly called folk-songs, are apt to be much superior to the trashy product ground out by the producers of stage plays. The latter follow certain very commonplace rules of modulation and rhythm, and are about as interesting to the musician as a primer is to the ordinary intelligent reader. The home songs that grow spontaneously out of the life of a people without musical knowledge are apt to have a real power, due to the fact that they unconsciously imitate the songs of birds, the sigh of the wind in the trees, the voices of ocean, brook or river.

For that reason, a traditional song like the "Houn' dawg" interests us. If it has lived for many years in the Ozarks, it must have some quality of human appeal that is lacking in the tame insipidity of the ordinary minstrel song, of the popular stage, which is here to-day and forgotten tomorrow.

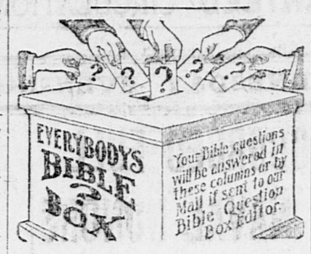
Political songs have played their significant part in the history of the world. The French Revolution might never have swept Paris had not the people been stirred by the thrill and tingle of "La Marsellaise." "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" is said to have contributed much to the election of Harrison and Tyler in 1840. We therefore are anxious to hear the band play the "Houn' dawg," and are inclined to think that our politicians underestimate the power of a real song of the soil.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

6—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Meeting—Quincy Catholic Club.
7—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance— Comitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Banquet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.



Q.—Since Christ is referred to as the "Prince of Peace" (Isaiah ix, 6) and the angels announced at His birth—"Peace on earth, good will to men" (Luke ii, 14), how is it that we find the Lord Jesus Himself saying, "Suppose ye that I am come to give peace on the earth? I tell you, Nay; but rather division?" (F. W.)

Answer.—The whole history of the Christian Era has been one of bloodshed, wars and strife. And these for the most part have been brought about by differences of religious opinions. In Matthew 24th chapter, our Lord set forth a wonderful prophecy relating to the conditions that would develop in the world down to the time when He would return to establish His own Kingdom or Government in the earth. There would be wars and rumors of war, earthquakes, famines, pestilences; and then, in the very end of the Age, "a time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation" He foretold that His followers would suffer violence; that they would be persecuted and misrepresented; and that even in their own households there would be divisions. The Master's words are being strikingly fulfilled. They are just as true today as at any time in the past. The Lord never taught that conditions of peace and prosperity would be established in the earth prior to His second coming; but just to the contrary. The object of His coming again is to thoroughly demolish the present evil order of things, and then to inaugurate the Creator's Government which will bring about universal peace and joy and happiness to all the families of the earth. Then Christ the Lord will be the "Prince of Peace;" and then, and not till then, will the angels' song be realized—"Peace on earth; good will towards men."

TRAPPED IN ATTIC ROOM

(Continued from Page One.)

still serious this morning and grave fears are expressed for him.

Just how the fire started no one one seems to know for those that were in the room are either dead or in such condition that they are unable to give any coherent account of what transpired in the room. The appearance of the two clasped in each others arms would seem to indicate that they had been wrestling and in doing so had overturned a lamp which started a fire so quickly that they were unable either to extinguish the fire or help themselves.

At the police station, papers were found on Kelley which showed that he enlisted in Co. D. 21st infantry, Jan. 15, 1898 and that he served in the Philippines. He was promoted to the rank of Corporal and that at the expiration of his term of enlistment he had enlisted in Co. 3, 5th United States infantry, May 3, 1904.

The papers also showed that he had been a good soldier and that he had been a patient at the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea for a time, on account of disability incurrd in service. A letter was also found in his pockets addressed to M. Carey, 216 Green street, Cambridgeport, Mass.

A letter was also found in the pockets of Donald McDonald written in Glasgow, Scot. and signed "Your Mother."

But little is known of Graham, for he has been in Quincy but a week or two. He had not gone to work in the ship yeard as yet for he was waiting for a heater boy to help him in his work. It is thought that all of the men came to Quincy from Bath, Me.

As stated above the house is that formerly occupied by Samuel Baxter, but since the advent of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., it has been used as a boarding house for employees at the yard. The property is said to be owned by Laura Peters. The fire loss is estimated at $3,500.

Kelley when questioned this morning could give but little account of what happened at the house Tuesday night. He was suffering considerably from his burns, for in addition to his hands being burned, his face was badly blistered. He was attended by Dr. Garey and this morning taken to the City Hospital.

When asked how the fire started he could not say. He said that he was in the room but does not remember much, other than a fire started and he made his way out of the room to the floor below. Chief Litchfield and Officer Goodhue made an inspection of the premises this morning but little new was learned.

Cooked Right

That's why three generations have eaten H-O—the only oatmeal steam-cooked 2 hours in the mill.

It's our special process of cooking it that brings out and retains for you the fine oat flavor.

It's our special cooking that makes H-O Oatmeal so digestible none of the nourishment is lost.

OATMEAL

—and SAVES fully 2 hours of your time and fuel, for H-O is all ready to serve when you cook it only 20 minutes.

One package makes breakfast for the whole family for 6 days. Try H-O today.

H-O

THE H-O COMPANY BUFFALO, N. Y.

H-O Is For Sale By

JOHNSON BROTHERS,
BERRY BROTHERS,
HANCOCK MARKET,
OTIS MARKET,
BROWN & CROWELL,
G. H. BACKUS, Wollaston,
OLIVER C FOSDICK, Houghs Neck,
THOMAS GURNEY, Atlantic,
JOSEPH P. PROUT, South Quincy.

CIVIC MEETING OPENS

Gathering at Washington to Discuss Industrial Peace

Washington, March 6.—With Cardinal Gibbons presiding, the twelfth annual convention of the National Civic Federation met in a three days' session here, opening the way for discussion of industrial peace on a great scale. The sessions are in Peace hall of the Pan-American building. In opening the meeting Cardinal Gibbons said:

"We are assembled here in the cause of industrial peace. The purpose of our meeting is to remove as far as possible all hostilities and recriminations, all bickerings and misunderstandings between capital and labor, so that mutual love and good will may be inaugurated between them and the glorious return of business and commercial prosperity may be confirmed and perpetuated throughout the land."

MANY YEARS IN OFFICE

Corporation Counsel Babson of Boston Dies After Short Illness

Boston, March 6.—Corporation Counsel Thomas M. Babson died at his home in this city after a brief illness. He was stricken with pneumonia last Sunday and failed rapidly.

Mr. Babson served in the city law department continuously for thirty-three years, having been appointed fourth assistant city solicitor in 1879 and serving successively as second and first assistant, city solicitor and corporation counsel. He was born in Wiscasset, Me., May 28, 1847.

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

PROTECTION FOR ARTICLES OF VALUE

The cost to you of one of our doubly locked boxes, in the steel vault of the bank, is so small that you really cannot afford to keep your valuable papers, fine jewelry or priceless keepsakes at home. Good, roomy boxes at an annual rental of $5.00.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

WARES that WEAR
at Kincaide's Annex

Quality DOES count every time and all the time, and if you're only spending ten cents you want full value for it. You get it here. Every article we sell, we warrant.

You've seen "Mason's Tin Ware" advertised as the best made. We have complete lines. Also four different lines of enamel ware. Glass ware, stone ware, wooden ware, aluminum ware and galvanized iron ware of all kinds.

We have the largest line of lamps in town—smallest prices. Complete line bathroom fixtures. Toys of all kinds for boys and girls. Express wagons, bicycles, doll carriages. High Quality — Low Prices — Free Delivery.

Also all the Desirable 5 and 10 cent Goods

KINCAIDE'S ANNEX - QUINCY

Just A Few Doors Above Their Big, Busy Furniture Store

How We Got the Idea
- AND -
Why We Are Going To Stick To It

A well-known authority on advertising ideas, and their uses prescribes the following rule:

GET AN IDEA. Write it down on paper. Study it, and then put it away for a time. Take it out again, if it still looks good don't alter it. When you take it out the third time, if it looks good it's GOOD. "YOU'VE GOT SOMETHING"

SO IT IS WITH THE "PAYSON SPECIAL" WE'VE GOT SOMETHING. YOU NEED IT. IT'S THE BEST EVER.

You can walk into our STORE and get inside of one of these $15.00 SUITS for $12.89

And pocket that little $2.11. That'll make you smile some!

We forgot to mention HOW WE GOT THE IDEA. The fact that all men wear suits suggested the idea.

Payson-Mitchell Co.
CITY SQUARE - - QUINCY

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Advertise In The Ledger

WOMEN'S CLUBS

WHAT THEY ARE DOING AND SEASONS' PLANS

The matter of the General Federation endowment fund has been pushed during the past month, with the hope of working it up toward completion. Massachusetts has now secured about $1900, a considerable increase over the amount announced at the mid-winter meeting. Many questions are arising all the time as to its use and its need. From the nature of the organization the income is small. To raise its dues would debar some of the smaller clubs from membership, so as to avoid this the idea of an endowment was suggested, and for the past two years the work of raising it has been going on. The Federation is anxious to complete it by the time of the biennial in San Francisco in June. The departments of work are in great need of more funds, since so much must be done through the mails necessitating printing and postage bills of large size. Then too, it is desirable for committees to meet together occasionally and the expense for travelling would debar many an able woman from serving. At present many of the chairmen defray a large amount of their own expenses. These facts may serve to show why an endowment will be a desirable thing.

* * *

The March meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held Friday afternoon at three o'clock in Association hall. Mrs. Mattie R. West of Newton Centre will be the special speaker.

* * *

Albert Johnstone is to give readings and L. Bainbridge Crist flute solos at the meeting Saturday of the New England Wheaton Seminary club at Hotel Vendome, Boston. The literary meeting will be preceded as usual by a business session at 1.30 P. M. Literary program will begin at 2.15 and tea will be served from 3.30 until 5 o'clock.

* * *

Mrs. J. H. Broughton of 465 Newport avenue will be the hostess, Monday afternoon for the March Meeting of the Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter, D. A. R. of Wollaston. A paper on "The Hancock family and Dorothy Q.," will be given by Mrs. C. A. Pinkham.

* * *

The Women's Universalist Missionary Society of the Universalist church meets on Monday afternoon.

* * *

Mrs. Fred W. Sumner of Canton Junction, is to give a paper on "Image Makers," at the meeting of Quincy Alliance on Monday afternoon in First Church parlor.

* * *

The Delta Sigma club met at the home of Miss Bessie M. Brooks, Hancock street, Monday night. The girls are planning for a dance to be given Saturday evening, March 16th. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

* * *

Friday club meets this week with Mrs. W. E. Alden of Chestnut street and "The Peloponnesian War," will be the subject discussed under the leadership of Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick and Mrs. James M. Nowland.

* * *

The State Society of the D. R. is arranging for a sale to be held at the Parker house, Boston, Tuesday, March 12, from 11 A. M. until 5.30 P. M. Beside the sale there will be a buffet luncheon, music and readings.

An unique club has been recently organized in Boston composed only of women who have organized a chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and to which only sixty-three women in the state are eligible for membership. Mrs. Walter F. Jones of Wollaston is a member, having had the honor of founding the Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter of Wollaston. The name of the new club is the Massachusetts D. A. R. Founders club. A breakfast was enjoyed Monday by the club at the Parker house, Boston.

* * *

The annual meeting of the State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution is called for Saturday, March 16, the usual date falling on Sunday. The meeting will be held at Chipman hall, Tremont Temple, Boston at 10 A. M. The ballots will be cast during the noon hour. The Society is arranging to entertain the National Society in May.

* * *

Miss Edith Randall is to entertain the young Women's club at the clubhouse, Saturday evening with one of her interesting travel talks.

* * *

Mr. Ralph Parlette, the humorist, who speaks to the Women's club on March 12, is a western newspaper man. He fills about two hundred platform engagements a year, and since he began lecturing in 1896, his editorial office has been a car seat. He is a preacher, an orator, and a humorist, all in one but is not a "funny man," being intensely in earnest. He is the author of the much quoted paragraph: "Let a preacher get drunk and we give him two columns on the front page. Let him save a hundred drunkards and we give him two lines on the back page. The world hunts your meanness with a microscope, and your goodness with a telescope."

* * *

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The class in parliamentary law is well underway and is a large class, nearly thirty being present, Tuesday morning. There are to be six lessons conducted by Mrs. Electa Sherman of Boston, to be held at 10.30 A. M. on the first and third Tuesdays of the month. Season tickets to club members are $1.00, to non-members $1.25 and single tickets 25 cents. Mrs. Whitcher who arranged the class gave a few words of explanation Tuesday and introduced Mrs. Sherman. The class is held in the auditorium room of the clubhouse and all of the ladies in the class are expected to take part that they may benefit from the instructions.

The Library Extension committee is to give a dance Friday evening, March 15 at Alpha hall to raise funds to buy a reflectoscope to be used in the branch libraries of the Public library.

In the regular club program the next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday afternoon at the club house when Ralph Parlette will lecture on "The University of Hard Knocks."

Later in the m onth comes Reciprocity or President's day and Mrs. Eben W. Shepard, president, and her committee is arranging a most attractive program.

ADAMS CHAPTER, D. R.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution met Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams for its annual meeting. Reports were given by the officers and the following unanimously elected for the coming year: Regent, Mrs. Nelson V. Titus; vice-regent, Mrs. Frank F. Prescott; Treasurer, Mrs. William Porter; secretary, Mrs. Walter E. Piper; historian, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt; council for two years. Mrs. Charles H. Sprague, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Harriet B. Pierce.

Arrangements were made for two whist parties to be held April 1 and May 6.

Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Mrs. G. T. Magee, and Mrs. Osborne Rogers will be the hostesses for the April meeting of the Chapter and Mrs. W. E. Piper, Mrs. Francis F. Brewer and Miss Harriet B. Pierce for May. Delegates to the annual convention of the National Society will be Mrs. Titus and Miss Pierce and alternates Mrs. Antoinette S. Paige and Mrs. Piper.

QUINCY CHORAL SOCIETY.

The Quincy Choral society has issued subscription tickets this week for the Music Festival concerts of April 9th, offering the usual opportunity of a choice of seats to the early buyer. Rehearsals of the Faust music are progressing and the society expects to give a fine presentation of the opera. The idea of giving grand opera in concert form has been eagerly taken up by Choral societies during the last few years, as the study is a welcome and stimulating change for the singers after a few seasons of oratorio. To these who are familiar with the opera as presented on the stage, it is fully as pleasing in concert form, the mind constantly supplying the stage picture that fits the different parts. The chorus singing is usualy much better and as soloists are carefully selected, all parts of the work are equally well balanced.

Many of the younger choral members have never heard the opera professionally given and in order that they may do so, Mrs. Edith Cary Page and Wendell H. Luce of the executive board have arranged an opera party for next Saturday night when the Boston Opera Company gives a performance of Faust. A special car will take the party directly to the Opera House and return, assuring the opportunity of remaining until the close of the performance. About forty-five of the members and friends of the Choral Society have arranged to take advantage of this fine opportunity

WHAT CLUBS DO.

Serve is the keynote of women's clubs, service to one's self through self-development, and service to other women through an active interest in their growth,," said Mrs. William E. Andrews, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, to a Washington Herald representative.

"The deeper I have gone into the work of women's clubs the larger has grown my faith in womanhood.

"The club stands to woman as business does to man. It brings her in close contact with the idea and ideals of other women, and furnishes the point of intellectual contact that is so necessary to the prevention of the home-maker narrowing down until her ideas, her whole existence, is encompassed by one little circle.

"Woman is not so different from man. The difference is that customs of life provide the larger contact for man with his fellow-men through his position as breadwinner. The need of the woman remains the same and unless she intends to be in no way the intellectual companion of her husband she must make for herself the chance of development and growth."

"You believe then that intellectual companionship is necessary to happiness?"

"The woman who does not believe this stands little chance of sharing her husband's biggest interests, his biggest work in life. This belief was borne in upon me strongly when my husband became interested in politics. We were each holding chairs in a prominent college in our state of Nebraska, and our educational interests were, of of course, a very strong point of congenialty. But when his work in national politics began it flooded my understanding with a realization that any woman to be even a sympathetic and intelligent listener to the expression of a man's political ideas and ideals must know politics.

"So I took myself in hand and studied the questions upon which my husband was particularly interested, which proved so fascinating an undertaking that I went on to the study of other questions and conditions which involve our country."

Mrs. Andrews, when her attention was called to the thousands of women who have so little time for self-development, so little chance away from home duties and the cares of little children to come in contact with women who have leisure to study with other women who think and grow, said:

"That is just one object of the Federated clubs. The bigger, stronger club reaches out a helping hand to the little club, whose members haven't the opportunity to do much for themselves."

ONE WOMAN'S DUTY.

"Mary, why don't you join some of the women's clubs " asked Mr. John Walton, one evening. "All the other women belong to something or other, and I wish you would. It's your duty to keep up to the times."

"Really, John I haven't time," said Mrs. Mary, "I have duties enough now to keep me busy; and as for keeping up to the times." glancing at the four younger Waltons, of assorted sizes, from six to eighteen, "anyone who keeps with that procession, and keeps them fed and clothed and in their right mind, is likely to find it necessary to keep a little ahead of the times."

"Well," was the rejoinder, "you owe it to yourself and to me, too, to do as the rest of the women do. Let the children go once in a while; and, as for the housework, let that go too. What we have to eat doesn't amount to much, in comparison with intellectual improvement. I met Jack Knowles today, and he says that his wife has improved so much since she joined the Lindley Murray Society; you know their object is to use good English."

Now, Mrs. Mary knew both Jack Knowles and his wife; she at once realized that Mr. Jack had been "jollying" her other half; she knew also that there was still further room for improvement in Mrs. Jack Knowles's English; but she said merely:

"My church duties seem to me about all I can manage, with the Missionary Society and the Social Circle, but I'll see about it."

After being repeatedly urged to "join something of other," and being a woman of ideas, as well as one devoted to her home and children, she at last joined four different clubs.

Things began to happen the very first afternoon.

When Mr. John Walton returned from the office at supper time, the children were madly chasing each other all over the house, the dog at their heels. There was no sign of supper, and no Mrs. W—— to be seen.

"Alice," he said to his fourteen-year-old daughter, "where's your mother?"

"Oh, she's gone to the Mother's Club to hear Miss Jones read a paper on 'Quiet Indoor Amusements for Children' " was the answer, as Alice continued her race.

Among them, they made out to get something to eat, but "it didn't seem like home with mother gone," as six-year-old Nellie said. Mother came home at seven. There had been a club-tea, she said, and she had stayed.

For the next two weeks there was always some club-work to be done, or some meeting to attend, or some fair to be prepared for, and mother's time was so taken up that "father and us children don't seem to count for much these days," said Dick, who was sixteen.

But still, the children were never neglected in the evenings. Mother was still the same in her care for them then; she had never let anything interfere with her duty to the children. But Mr. John was beginning to feel the effects of irregular living. He was beginning to think that, after all, cooking was of some importance even in comparison with intellectual improvement. The children, too, who in the absence of mother were left in charge of the washer-lady's Katie, a well-meaning but not grammatically-speaking young woman, were fast becoming candidates for Mrs. Jack Knowles's "Lindley Murray Club," mentioned before. They were becoming rough-mannered and noisy, too. But it seemed to trouble mother not a bit. She was waiting. Mr. John was beginning to look back regretfully to the days of long ago , a long two weeks ago, before the Clubwoman had invaded his home, to the days when mother was always there at tea-time. Even the church "Sociables" seemed unmitigated blessings as he recalled them.

At last came the climax.

'Twas an all-day meeting of the Tuesday Club. 'Twas a high-day, a holiday, and a baker's-food day for the house of Walton.

"I should think Mary might have considered it her duty to leave us something fit to eat," said Mr. John to himself. But she hadn't. She knew a thing or two, this Mrs. Mary. She loved her home and wanted to stay in it in peace, untroubled by clubs and outside calls on her time. She knew Mr. John, too, as events proved.

No mother at dinner-time, no mother at supper-time, and worst of all, no mother at lesson-time and bed-time.

The three older children sat down to study, after being repeatedly told by their father, who then took up his newspaper. But he didn't read much.

First it was Dick with his algebra.

"Father, help me out on this, will you, please? I can't see through it."

So father laid down his paper. After a few minutes, he became uncomfortably conscious that he couldn't see through it either, so he said:

"There's the rule. Go by that. You'll never amount to anything if you expect someone else to do your work for you."

Dick went back to his seat. He said nothing except:

"Mother knows how to do 'em, always."

Dick wasn't any duller than most boys.

Next 'twas Henry, with his geometry, and Dick watched with interest.

"Father, I can't see why this angle equals that one. Explain it to me, please."

And father John laid down his paper again.

He was soon obliged to confess that he couldn't see why they were equal, either, except that they looked so, but he knew that Dick was listening. So he said to Henry:

"Why don't you hunt back over all the propositions you've had? That's the way we used to have to do when I was a boy. We never had anyone to do it all for us."

And Henry, too, went back to his seat, exchanging a sly wink with Dick, as he passed him.

Alice met a similar fate when she came with a French verb.

"It's Mary's duty to be in the house nights," said Mr. John to himself, wrathfully, as he took up his paper again.

Then came little Nellie, who, with no one to put her to bed, was amusing herself with a picture-book.

"Papa, please tell me the pictures," she said.

So father laid down his paper again, and, taking her on his knee, began to show her the pictures. As they opened to the picture of a much beruffled and beribboned lady, with a picture-hat, Nelie looked at it a moment, and then said:

"Ain't that awful swell?"

Her father almost let her fall, picture-book and all.

"Where did you get such an expression as that, child?" he asked, horrified.

"From Katie, papa," spoke up Alice.

Mr. John shuddered.

"I wish Mary's Clubs were in Guinea," he thought, and he sent the children off to bed.

Soon Mary returned.

"We had such a good meeting," said she. "Mrs. Simmons gave us such a fine paper on "Woman's Sphere," and Mrs. James gave one on "How to Teach Children to Speak Correctly."

Mr. John, with a vivid recollection of what he had just been through, said feelingly:

"Mary, let's go back to the Missionary Society and Church Sociable days. You can get enough intellectual improvement out of them."

By this, Mary knew that things had happened while she was gone, that forevermore she could stay at home in peace. She had missed it all, even more than they had missed her. But she was a wise woman, and she let well enough alone.

Only, picking out the volume of Wordsworth from the book-case, she placed it open in front of Father John. It was "The Ode to Duty," and he read:

"Serene will be our days and bright
And happy will our future be,
When love is an unerring light
And joy its own security.

Stern lawgiver! yet thou dost wear
The Godhead's most benignant grace;
Nor know we anything so fair
As is the smile upon thy face

Give unto me, made lowly wise,
The spirit of self-sacrifice;
The confidence of reason give;
And, in the light of truth, thy bondman let me live!"

"Wordsworth knew just what he was talking about, Mary," said Mr. John, with emphasis.—E. M. Edson in Weymouth Mission Circle.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. The convenience of Kryptok Bifocals is immense — both Far and Near Glasses always ready. For good style — Kryptoks are far and away ahead of any other bifocals ever made.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT
"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"
Real raisins in None Such Mince Meat? Rather! Two million pounds of raisins in 1910. 10 cents buys a 2-pie package. Your grocer has None Such Mince Meat.
MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.
This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

OVEN PRODUCTS

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Cranite Street

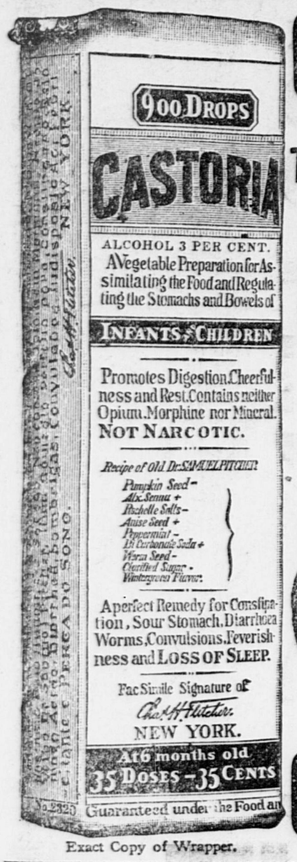
QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & CO.

READ LEDGER ADVS.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,

Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

Personal Appointment---

ZOROID LENSES FOUNDED 1883

You may telephone, making appointment for examination, at no increased charge from our regular fee of $1 to $3.

We pledge you our time, service and authoritative results without unnecessary delay from business or your other pursuits.

Consider the charges of others for such a service—then if you will remember that ZOROIDS stand for Lens Perfection, you are on the road to perfect vision with the least personal inconvenience and lowest cost.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 2-6

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.

Quincy, Mass.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Mar. 4.	12.00	12.00
Tuesday,	12.30	12.45
Wednesday,	1.15	1.30
Thursday,	2.00	2.15
Friday,	2.45	3.15
Saturday,	3.30	4.00
Sunday,	4.15	5.00

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	31 degrees
Mar. 6, 1911,	38 degrees
Mar. 6 1910,	46 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The Quincy Charitable Society meets tomorrow afternoon for its March meeting.

The ladies of First church serve a supper in the chapel this evening at half past six, preceded by a fair.

Rev. Allen Greene of St. Paul's church, Peabody, will be the preacher at the Thursday evening meeting at St. Chrysostom's church.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Black of 222 Franklin street, upon the arrival of a daughter, born March third.

Dr. Fred C. Merrill has returned to his home on Fayette street from the Charlesgate hospital where a third operation was performed on his face.

Clarence Hutton of Prospect avenue is resting comfortably at the Deaconess Hospital in Brookline, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The preacher at the Lenten service at the Wollaston Unitarian church this evening at 7.45 o'clock is the Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of Channing church, Newton. The soloist is Miss Ernestine Litchfield and the organist, Mrs. J. W. West. The public is cordially invited.

COLE GOES TO PRISON

Sentenced For Larceny of $20,000 From Trust Company

Plymouth, Mass., March 6.—Having been convicted of the larceny of $20,000 from the Plymouth County Trust company of Brockton, Elmer B. Cole of Middleboro was given a state prison sentence of from 3½ to 4½ years in the superior court here.

Cole was formerly a partner in the box manufacturing firm of Clark & Cole. In 1908 the partnership was dissolved, and for eighteen months Cole ran the business alone. It is alleged that he borrowed $20,000 from the Brockton bank by representating that his business was in excellent condition, when as a matter of fact it was on the verge of bankruptcy.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE

LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine, the world wide Cold and Grip remedy removes cause. Call for full name. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. 25c.

☞Creamed toast tonight of PRATT'S BREAD will bring him home early tomorrow.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy

Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

WOMAN TO BE ELECTROCUTED

First Sentence of Its Kind In History of Massachusetts

COMPANION IS ALSO DOOMED

Mrs. Cusumano and Mascioli Must Die During Week of June 2 For Murder of Woman's Husband—Both Hear Their Fate Without Emotion, and Both Say They Are Innocent

Plymouth, Mass., March 6.—Death in the electric chair during the week beginning June 2 next was the sentence imposed on Mrs. Lena Cusumano and Enrico Mascioli, convicted of the murder of the woman's husband, Frank Cusumano. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Quinn in the Plymouth county superior court here. This is the first time a woman has been sentenced to death in the electric chair in Massachusetts.

Both sentences are to be carried out in the state prison at Charlestown. Mrs. Cusumano and Mascioli heard their fate without emotion, although both insisted that they were innocent of the murder.

Cusumano's body was found on the beach at Sunset Point, Hull, Oct. 14, 1910. It was wrapped up in an old bedquilt and bound with telephone wire. For days it lay at the morgue unidentified, and Mrs. Cusumano and others declared positively that it was not the body of Frank Cusumano.

According to the report of the medical examiner death was caused by a blow on the skull, and that the weapon used was probably an axe. After a week's investigation the police arrested Mrs. Cusumano and Mascioli, who was a lodger at the Cusumano home. They were indicted jointly, charged with the murder.

They were placed on trial in Plymouth county, Feb. 12, 1911. The trial was marked with many sensational features, the chief of which was the placing of Accussa Cusumano, the 9-year-old daughter of the woman on trial, on the witness stand to testify. The testimony of the child went far toward securing a conviction.

The case went to the jury after two weeks of testimony, and a verdict of guilty in the first degree was returned against both defendants after an entire night of deliberation.

Following the verdict of guilty in the first degree a long fight was made by the defendants' counsel to have their exceptions sustained, which ended when the full bench of the supreme court overruled their exceptions last week. The principal point made by the defendants was the competency of the child's testimony, which the supreme court held was admissible.

For more than a century and a third no woman has been executed in the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The last woman to pay the penalty for murder with her life was Bathsheba Ruggles Spooner, who was hanged in Worcester 133 years ago. In the history of Massachusetts since Colonial days there are records of but six executions of women for murder.

OUT ON $2500 BAIL

Mrs. Stuart Pleads Not Guilty to Charges Against Her

Boston, March 6.—Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, who was indicted by the grand jury with being the accomplice of Arthur W. Shaw, charged with larceny of $17,000 from the A. W. Shaw company, pleaded not guilty and was released in $2500 bonds by Judge Chase in the superior criminal court.

The bonds were of the same amount as in the lower court proceedings, which have been discharged as a result of the indictment by the grand jury.

Captain Armstrong and Inspector Gaddis of police headquarters left for Los Angeles yesterday afternoon to bring back Shaw.

GRABS A LIVE WIRE

Lineman Receives 2300 Volts of Electricity but Escapes Death

Portsmouth, N. H., March 6.—After 2300 volts of electricity had passed through his body, Alexander McIsaac lives to tell the story. That his life was not ended by the heavy current is due to a glove that he wore on his right hand.

McIsaac, a lineman for the Rockingham County Light and Power company, while working on a pole forty feet from the ground, slipped and in falling grabbed a wire. Workmen cut the wires and, after throwing a rope around his body, pulled till they broke his grip.

Siamese Conspiracy Unearthed

Bangkok, Siam, March 6.—A serious revolutionary conspiracy in favor of a republic in Siam has been unearthed. Many officers of the army and prominent civilians have been arrested. The documents seized by the authorities show that the plot was of formidable proportions.

LEADERS OF MINERS

Officers of English Coal Workers Who Head Big Industrial Uprising

© 1912, by American Press Association.

From top to bottom—Enoch Edwards, M. P., president; R. Smillie, vice president; T. Ashton, secretary; W. Abraham, M. P., treasurer.

RAILROAD MEN LOSE JOBS

Strike Tying Up British Train Service and Steamer Lines

London, March 6.—Railroad workers throughout the United Kingdom continue to be discharged from their employment, owing to the shortage of coal necessitating the restriction of the train service.

At Newcastle another 1000 men were added to those who have been thrown out of work on account of the coal strike.

The train services are being further curtailed in all parts.

The cross-channel service between France and England has been reduced to one steamer daily on the line running between Folkstone and Boulogne.

REJECT DEMAND FOR INCREASE IN WAGES

Anthracite Operators Unanimous In Their Decision

New York, March 6.—Anthracite coal operators in session here decided to reject the demands of the miners for increased pay. A committee of operators was appointed to notify union officials of the result.

The operators were in session less than an hour and it is understood that the decision to reject the demands was unanimous. The committee which will notify representatives of the miners of the decision is composed of ten members, with Joseph L. Clarke, an independent operator, as chairman. This committee will form a reply and will present it to the miners' representatives on March 14.

The decisive action of the operators was unexpected. It was believed that the meeting would last several hours and that a compromise would be suggested. At the conclusion of the meeting, however, one of the operators declared that the adoption of the resolution will not prevent the committee from making a counter-proposition to the miners.

BUT TWO NEGATIVE VOTES

Preferential Presidential Primaries Bill Passed by Bay State Senate

Boston, March 6.—The senate passed the preferential presidential primary bill by a vote of 31 to 2. The senators voting against the bill were Stowe of Springfield and Denny of Worcester.

To the original bill was tacked an amendment suggested by Theodore Roosevelt, providing that the secretary of state place on the ballot of each political party the names of candidates for president and vice president sent in by political parties so that they may be voted for at the primaries just as other candidates are nominated.

PERCY ASKED TO RESIGN

United States Legislator Called Back by His Home Senate

Jackson, Miss., March 6.—The state senate passed a resolution demanding the resignation of United States Senator Percy. The resolution now goes to the lower house. No recognition is expected from Percy until the house votes on the measure.

The resolution is based on the allegation that Percy promised to resign if he met defeat in the Democratic primary of last summer.

Christians Tortured and Killed

Pekin, March 6.—A letter from a missionary at Hwangshien states that the imperial troops put out the eyes of forty Christian converts and then beheaded them, saying that they were naturally rebels.

Anty Drudge tells how to Avoid Smelly Clothes.

Mrs. Jones—"My wash that came home today smells of fried bacon. The washwoman must dry the clothes in her kitchen where the steam from the cook stove penetrates everything."

Anty Drudge—"Why don't you have your wash done at home? Get Fels-Naptha soap and you'll find washing easy. Besides the clothes will be sweet and fresh, as well as being clean and white."

No matter what soap you use you can probably get the clothes white—if you rub hard enough. But why shouldn't the soap do its part of the work?

Fels-Naptha is the friend that takes the washday work off your shoulders.

Fels-Naptha soap loosens the dirt for you, and when you come to finish the wash you find that the work that YOU used to do, has been done by the soap.

Fels-Naptha is the NEW WAY soap. It saves time and energy.

It remains for you to prove that to yourself by trying it. But follow directions. Boiling and hot water simply prevent the Fels-Naptha action instead of aiding it. And this is its radical difference from other soaps.

You realize what this means to you. No more drudging in clouds of steam. You merely soap the pieces, roll and place them in cool or lukewarm water. Thirty minutes later you find that Fels-Naptha has done the work. Rub lightly, rinse, hang out and the results will amaze you. Directions on red and green wrapper.

GILCHRIST A "PINHEAD"

At Least That Is Congressman Clark's Estimate of Governor

Washington, March 6.—Arising to a question of personal privilege, Representative Clark of Florida made a sensational attack on Governor Gilchrist of that state, in the house.

Governor Gilchrist arrived in Washington to testify in the Florida Everglades investigation.

"It remains for the governor of Florida—God pity the state," Clark said, "to travel all the way from Tallahassee to Washington to insinuate that now I am working in the interests of western railroads. I brand that as a malicious, gratuitous and unqualified falsehood."

Clark said that Gilchrist, before he was elected governor, had made a business of land exploitation.

"It is the conduct of conscienceless land sharks," he said, "that I'm trying to balk for the honor of my state."

Referring to Gilchrist as "this little pinhead governor," Clark said he rested his case with the people of his own district and felt certain of the result. He was applauded as he took his seat.

HELD UP BY POLICE

Bride Who Wanted to Marry Chinaman Is Restored to Husband

Newburyport, Mass., March 6.—Mrs. Charles J. Meyers, the 19-year-old wife of a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Montana, and a Chinaman, who gave his name as Chin Len, 32 years old, both of Portsmouth, N. H., were taken into custody by the police here after they had asked Deputy Marshal Murphy how they could get married.

Mrs. Meyers, who was married but a month ago, admitted that a marriage license had been secured a week ago, in which her name was given as Josie Walsh and the Chinaman's as Henry Chin Lin.

The Chinaman was sent home and Mrs. Meyers held until her husband arrived from Portsmouth and took her back with him last night.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Every Woman's Complexion is bound to show whether or not she is in good physical condition. If the complexion is muddy, the skin sallow; if pimples or skin blemishes appear it is then attention must be given to improve the bodily condition. There is one safe and simple way. Clear the system and purify the blood with a few doses of

Beecham's Pills

This well known vegetable family remedy is famous for its power to improve the action of the organs of digestion and elimination. They will regulate the bowels, stimulate the liver, tone the stomach and you will know what it is to be free from troubles, from headaches, backaches, lassitude, and extreme nervousness. They will make you feel healthier and stronger in every way. By clearing your system of poisonous waste Beecham's Pills will have good effect upon your looks—these they

Will Beautify and Improve

The directions with every box are of special value and importance to women. Sold everywhere. In boxes 10c., 25c.

Borden's

A rich, creamy milk and the most nutritious elements of wheat and barley, are combined in Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes and stimulates body and brain because it supplies what both need. Try it at lunch time—between meals and before retiring. Don't ask for malted milk. Ask for Borden's, Borden's and Borden's.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

Women's Fine Shoes

The only article that can really add the finishing touch to a good gown is a perfect fitting shoe. Perfect fit is never attained in cheap footwear. The better kind of shoes hold their shape and actually look better the longer worn.

THE SPRING STYLES
OF THE
"AMERICAN LADY" SHOES

are ready for your inspection. You will find in our selection a little dash and exclusiveness not displayed in the usual run of shoes. Fashioned different, made better and priced only moderately.

Boots, Pumps and Oxfords $3.00 and $3.50

THE STORE THAT IS ABSOLUTELY AHEAD

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 4-3t—O 1w

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in
NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE
} Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232--W

CLOUDS APPEAR TO BE LIFTING

Belief That Settlement of Lawrence Strike Is Near

TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN

Five to Fifteen Percent Raise For Weavers In Kunhardt Mill—Half the Workers Have Already Returned—Mayor to Aid Soup Kitchens Which Feeds Half-Starved en Which Feeds Half-Starved

Lawrence, Mass., March 6.—A persistent rumor, which has not been officially denied, is in circulation that the big textile strike, which has held this city in its grip for eight weeks, will be ended before another seven days elapse.

Statements to this effect are freely discussed and credence given them, unofficially, on top of the announcement that the troops will all be withdrawn from here Monday.

Additional strength was given the statements following the posting of a notice in the Kunhardt mill that the pay of weavers was to be advanced from 5 to 15 percent, the latter being what the strikers have been demanding.

This is practically a victory in this plant for the strikers. The higher paid workmen will receive the smaller advance, and the wage scale increases to 10 percent for the weavers getting $9 and $10 a week and the lowest paid are to receive an advance of 15 percent. The Kunhardt mill is one of the independent group. The announcement of its officials that its entire wage scale is being arranged for a general increase is taken to be on this same basis.

Greater percentages of workers have returned in the independent mills than in those of the American Woolen company. Semi-official figures given out at the armory show that half of the workers have returned to their employment. This half, however, cannot run the mills, as the unskilled operatives are those holding out, and their function in the big plants is to prepare the raw material for all the other branches.

Then, too, with the withdrawal of the militia, the mill owners will not feel so secure against the attacks of the strikers, as the police, while doing valiant service, could not cope with a large uprising. The state and Lawrence officials are commencing to feel that the mill operators have not assumed a fair share of the burden and that they might have averted considerable of the publicity which has arisen, had they made some concessions at the start.

Charges are being made that the city of Lawrence has not taken proper care of the destitute, especially the children. Mayor Scanlon yesterday, for the first time, offered to do what he could for the Walter Shepard soup kitchen, where nearly 2000 half starved youngsters are kept alive through this medium. The kitchen has stripped its funds and there is hard work to collect enough for this great charity to keep the tots in sustenance.

The mayor was told that there are a lot of destitute families in the city and only a very small percentage being cared for. More children are fed, it is said, at the kitchen in one day than have been cared for by all other sources since the strike began.

In this connection the Industrial Workers of the World are being equally blamed and little has been done by organized labor as a whole to take specific care of the children.

The leaders claim this is a detail which they are trying to offset by sending the tots away and that the care of the strike is a burden which calls for nearly all their attention.

There is no question about the want of the poor children in Lawrence and the feeling is that the I. W. W. is as much to blame as the city in not caring for them.

William D. Haywood will go to Washington today and while he will not say that he is to appear before the congressional committee hearing the Lawrence strike case, it is generally believed that this is his intention. Haywood said that he was going to Washington to try to offset the impression which had been given by John Golden and some of the other labor leaders connected with the American Federation of Labor.

The police are still probing the attack on Strike Leader Thompson and so far have been unable to find any motive other than a possible internal squabble in the labor organization.

Flames Destroy Five Lives

Beaver, Pa., March 6.—Five persons were burned to death when a boarding house at Koppel was destroyed by fire. The dead include the landlord, his wife and their three children.

Sugar Tariff Bill Reported

Washington, March 6.—The sugar tariff revision bill was reported favorably to the house by Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee.

KNOX IN NICARAGUA

Secretary Is Warmly Greeted In His Journey Among Republics

Corinto, Nica., March 6.—The armored cruiser Washington, with Secretary Knox aboard, arrived here from Punta Arenas. The secretary and party were warmly greeted by members of the Nicaraguan cabinet and great crowds of natives. A special train carried the party to Managua, where the secretary and Mrs. Knox are the guests of the American legation.

Prior to the sailing of the Washington from Punta Arenas the whole town gathered at the wharf and gave the secretary and party a splendid sendoff, everybody uncovering when the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Squier Goes to London Embassy

Washington, March 6.—Major George C. Squier, U. S. A., has been appointed military attache to the United States embassy at London.

Mexican Spy Executed

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Antonio Samorda, a Madero federal spy, was executed in Juarez.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John Masson et al to William S. Williams, dated June 10, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 738, Page 324, which mortgage was duly assigned to Robert J. Teasdale by assignment dated August 6, 1907, and recorded as aforesaid, Book 1068, Page 340 for breach of condition contained in said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Friday, March 29th, 1912, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the real estate and personal property described in said mortgage deed, to wit,—a certain parcel of land with the buildings, goods and chattels thereon situate in Quincy, Massachusetts, comprising the whole of lot numbered eighteen and a strip from the northerly side of the adjoining lot seventeen, ten (10) feet in width, said lots being three, bearing three numbers, upon a plan of lots at Penn's Hill, recorded with Norfolk Plans in Book 9, Plan 387 and bounded as follows:—Westerly on Brook Road for seventy (70) feet; northerly on lot numbered nineteen, for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; Easterly on lot thirteen and part of lot thirteen and part of lot fourteen for seventy (70) feet; and Southerly on lot seventeen for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; and containing eight thousand four hundred square feet of land. For a more particular description of said goods and chattels see two prior mortgages to said William S. Williams duly recorded. Also all machines, machinery, implements and improvements placed on or in said premises since said mortgages were written. Also another parcel of land containing 7200 square feet and being lot numbered Nineteen on said plan and bounded and described as per deed to John Masson & Co., from Trustees of the Adams R. E. Trust dated Oct. 18, 1894, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds libro 734, fol. 448. This last named parcel being subject to prior mortgage for $350.86.

Said property wil be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments and to all incumbrances of record.

Terms: $200 in cash at the time and place of sale and balance within ten (10) days at the office of my attorney.

Dated March 4th, 1912.

ROBERT J. TEASDALE,
Assignee and Present Holder of said Mortgage.
GEORGE W. ABELE, Atty., 87 Milk street, Boston.
3t 6-16-23

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Storage

FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON

Tel. Quincy 1453-1.

Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS —STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, March 4, 1912 The committee on towns will give a hearing to parties interested in House Bill No. 518, a petition of Philander Bates and others for legislation to change the boundary line between the town of Cohasset in the county of Norfolk and the town of Scituate in the county of Plymouth; and House Bill No. 131, a petition of John P. Moses and others for a division of the city of Quincy and the incorporation of a new town, at Room No. 425, State House, on Thursday, March 7th, at 10.30 o'clock a. m. Henry M. Storm, Chairman. Arthur H. Bicknell, Clerk of the Committee. Mar. 5—2t

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock s reet, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Call Quincy 501 W

If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building. Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

What More Fitting for DECORATION
than a NICE PLANT
in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --

FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES

HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Dark brown curly, Spaniel, Sunday, Mar. 3, no collar, Answers to name Teddy. Reward if returned to 47 Palmer street, Houghs Neck. 6-3t

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOUND

FOUND—On Sunday, Feb. 25, in Wollaston, a small purse. Apply to 145 Warren avenue, Wollaston. 6-3t.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder. 53 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Large brown St. Bernard dog. Good and kind. Best watch dog in the country. Address B. S. Ledger Office. 4-3t

POOL ROOM—For sale cheap price. 4 tables, 14 large framed pictures, show cases and fixtures. Call at 145 Water street, South Quincy. 29-6t

WOLLASTON.
7 roomed house, with bath and all modern improvements, for sale. Near Boulevard and depot, church and schools close by. Electrics pass door. Only $700 cash required. 43 Davis street. Mar. 2-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

TRUSTWORTHY MEN or women wanted as local representatives of responsible manufacturer. High-class merchandise and clean selling methods. $12.00 per week guaranteed on easy conditions, with possibility of $30.00 and advance. Experience not necessary. MANUFACTURER, Box 278, Philadelphia. 17-6t S-W eow

WANTED—A chauffeur wants Sunday driving only. Address C. Ledger Office. 24 S-W tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED —Stenographer. Work must be correct. State experience. Must be able to take dictations, use Oliver machine. Address W. Ledger Office. 4-tf

WANTED

A canvasser in every town to handle the best selling proposition on the market. State experience and references. C. W. CHAPMAN, Stoughton, Mass. 5-2t

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

TO LET

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 3-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

AS I SAID BEFORE,

I Have Many TWO-FAMILY HOUSES FOR SALE.
They are the best Combination Home and Investment Proposition in Town.
Cash Payments of from $500 to $1,200 Required.
THE OTHER FELLOW PAYS THE RENT
YOU PAY OFF THE MORTGAGE

RICKER
REAL ESTATE R MORTGAGES INSURANCE
1416 Hancock St.
Quincy, Mass.

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices
Established 1870
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

BRIEFS

Harold Sherwin of Clive street is confined to his home with tonsilitis

Hope Dewesbury of Providence, R. I., was the guest of her cousins Olive and John Fuller of Botolph street, last week.

A special meeting of the officers and directors of the Merchants' Assaciation is to be held Thursday noon at Thompson's restaurant.

The next evening German under the direction of Miss Agnes Hayward will be held Saturday evening from 8 until 10.30 at Colonial hall.

Seven young men were initiated into the mysteries of Odd Fellowship at the regular meeting of Mt. Wollaston lodge Tuesday evening.

Manet encampment I. O. O. F. is to tender a reception to the Grand patriarch at Alpha hall Thursday evening.

Regular meeting of the Quincy Board of Trade tonight. Action will be taken on the new by-laws and on the salary of a permanent secretary.

The two days' fair of the Ladies' Aid society of the Washington street Congregational church opens tonight. A chafing dish supper will be served at 6 o'clock and at 7.30 there will be a concert by the Men's club orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drury of Fitchburg who both have relatives and friends in this vicinity have gone on a six-weeks' trip to Orlando, Florida. Mrs. Drury is a sister of George Sherwin of Clive street.

Quincy Mansion School closed its session for the day at 1.15 Tuesday to show respect to the memory of Captain Gow, who was a true friend of the school. Many teachers and pupils attended the funeral.

A PRICELESS HEIRLOOM

College Professor Claims He Possesses Piece of True Cross

Minneapolis, March 6.—What is declared to be a piece of the cross on which Christ was crucified is in the possession of R. M. Delmare, professor of Roman language in the University of Minnesota.

The relic is an heirloom and descended to Professor Delmare on the death of his mother.

BIRTHS

BLACK—In Quincy, March 3, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John M. Black of 222 Franklin street.

DEATHS

PEAK—In Wollaston, March 5, Mrs. Sarah H. Peak, aged 83 years.
Funeral, Thursday, March 7 at 2.30 P. M. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Jones, 93 Grand View avenue, Wollaston.

HAYES—In Boston, March 5, infant son of Arthur William and Mrs. Corrinne (Tinkham) Hayes.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

ART EXHIBIT OF EMERY PICTURES

The Art Exhibit which opened at the Massachusetts Fields school on Tuesday attracted a patronage of several hundred.

The collection was composed of over two hundred pictures loaned by the Emery Art School of Boston. Besides copies of many English and American masterpieces were scenes of ancient Greece and Rome, nature studies, Indian pictures and in fact specimens of almost every line of artistic endeavor.

The exhibit was pleasingly arranged in the lower hall corridors and eighth grade class room under the direction of the principal David H. Goodspeed. The proceeds which are expected to be over one hundred dollars will be expended for school decorations.

In conjunction with the exhibition, a candy sale was conducted, the commitee in charge were Mrs. Sidney J. Smith, Mrs. S. J. Ripley, Mrs. David H. Goodspeed, Miss Clarence Gammons, Mrs. Elisha Atkins, Miss Ruth Taylor, George Whitcher, Roy Brown, Joseph Barber, Dorothy Wetmore, Mildred Hill, Sadie Wheeler, Marion Hardy, Rebecca Bird and Ermine Baker. In charge of the tickets was Howard Bowen.

During the school sessions of yesterday and today Mrs. Ida Tillinghast, art director of the Emery Art school gave short lectures in the various grades on pictures adapted to the age of the children addressed.

In addition the children were conducted in small groups through the exhibit and an explanatory talk was given. Added appreciation of artistic values is expected of the children as a result.

The exhibit will be again open to the public on this afternoon and evening and it is expected a large number will attend.

DISTINCTIVE MARKS OF CHURCH

"The Distinctive Marks of the Church," was the subject of a most eloquent sermon preached last evening at the Lenten devotions in the Sacred Heart Church, Atlantic, by Rev. Fr. Charles J. McCormick, C. SS. R., of the missionary band of the Mission Church, Roxbury. Fr. McCormick is one of the foremost preachers of the Redemptorist Congregation and is considered one of the leading pulpit orators of the country.

The services consisted of the recitation of the rosary, sermon and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament and the church was fully taxed with parishioners. In the course of his remarks, the speaker dwelt on the unity, holiness, Catholicity and Apostolicity of the Church and also talked on the infallibility of the Pope. The pastor, Rev. John P. Cuffe, officiated.

(ADVERTISE.)

QUINCYS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Game With St. Joseph's Thursday Settles Championship

GREATER BOSTON LEAGUE

By defeating the senior basketball team of St. Joseph's A. A. 29 to 10 at the Ward room on Blossom street, last evening, the Quincy A. A. first team won the championship title of the Greater Boston Basketball league. It was the eighth time that both teams had met for the season, and last evening's victory made the fifth time that the local players have demonstrated their superiority over the Boston players in all departments of play.

The first team experienced no difficulty in annexing the victory that won the title beyond a doubt, but the second team of the local association was defeated in one of the fastest games of the season, the score being 7 to 6.

The pass work of the "champs" was of a high class order, each player acquitting himself in fine style.

O'Rourke was the conspicuous star. He got 15 of the 29 points made by his team. The Duggan boys exhibited their usual brilliant form, while Grady, played well for the losers.

In the game between the second teams Manning and Dolan excelled for the winners, while "Brutus" Chapman, who secured all but one of the points credited to his team, was the star for the local team. The summary:

QUINCY A. A.	ST. JOSEPH'S
O'Rourke rf	lb Sanger
S. Duggan lf	rb Grant
D. Duggan c	C Sheerin
Boyle rb	lf Maguire
Kelley lb	rf Grady

Score, Quincy A. A. 29, St. Joseph's 10. Goals from floor, S. Duggan 4, O'Rourke 6. D. Dugan 2, Boyle, Grady 2, Maguire 2. Goals from fouls O'Rourke 3, Grady 2. Referee, Cady. Scorer, Gode. Timer, Skahan. Attendance 600.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Esther Phillips, oldest daughter of officer George F. Phillips, celebrated her eleventh birthday anniversary Tuesday evening from seven to nine, at the home of her parents, 49 Union street. She was the recipient of many gifts from her little friends who were invited to help her celebrate. Games were played and there was music by Marion Hewson and the little hostess. Refreshments of candy, ices and cakes was served. Those present were Marion Hewson, Madeline Hewson, Virginia Phillips, Bula Phillips, Mildred Stoddard, Rena Stoddard, Mary Reardon, Emily Boten, Marjorie Gaudit, Margaret Gavin, Kathlien Snyder, Beryl Bean, Donald Bryant, Phillip Weixler, Joseph Gunnerson, George Woodsum

WOMEN ARRESTED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Drastic Steps to Stop Suffragette Riots In London

London, March 6.—The arrest of leaders in the cause of suffrage on charges of conspiracy, which occurred yesterday and last night, is believed to be the outcome of the government's decision to make drastic efforts to quench the campaign of lawlessness which culminated in the window smashing crusade.

Among those taken in custody was Miss Christobel Pankhurst. She was arrested late last night, following the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Lawrence, joint editors of Votes for Women. The police raided the offices of the Women's Social and Political union.

Public alarm over the window smashing has not subsided. Many of the large stores of London have their windows barricaded. The British museum has been closed, other public collections are closely guarded, and the state apartments and the picture galleries at Hampton Court and Kensington and Kew palaces have been closed to the public.

WINS GAME WITH WINTHROP HIGH

Game Was Fast and Clean. Many Spectacular Plays

15 to 12

Inspired with a desire to puncture the championship aspirations of the members of the Winthrop High basketball team, the Quincy High quintet invaded the home territory of the aforementioned yesterday afternoon and for the second time this season succeeded in making the Winthrop players taste the spoils of defeat. In addition the local players had the same satisfaction as did Newton High last week—of realizing the joy of being pronounced a winner by a single point—for when the game ended the Granite City players were found to be in the lead by the close score of 15 to 14.

The game was fast and cleanly played throughout and both teams seemed to be of an even calibre. The local boys, especially, were at their best and displayed the form that characterized their work in the second period of the Newton High game. The contest was replete with many spectacular plays and the clever passing and block work noticeable on both sides was of a most commendable order.

Quincy High lost no time in getting down to action and the first point of the game was made by Trask, who secured a goal from free try. The same performance was duplicated by Verner and the score was even. Finlay shot a basket in a most sensational manner, but it was declared invalid owing to the fact that in caging the basket he had taken two steps up the wall, instead of one, which is the rule to which the Winthrop players are accustomed to conform. But the sturdy right forward of the local team was not the least disheartened and in less than one minute had made a goal from the floor.

Verner slipped away from Holmes, getting a basket, thus making the score stand 3 to 3. The same player repeated again and Winthrop High was a leader by two points. Verner again proved his efficiency and got another basket.

Trask was called up to shoot from fouls on three occasions and on each time responded to the task by getting a basket, thus making the score stand 7 to 6, with Winthrop in possession of the long end. Evans managed to estrange himself from Johnson and get a basket, but the latter about a minute later, with the former holding on him threw the ball back over his head, from the middle of the floor, and placed it through the net, thereby executing one of the most spectacular plays ever witnessed on a schoolboy basketball court. The score was now 9 to 8 in favor of Winthrop High, but a shot from the middle of the floor by Finlay placed the local lads ahead, 10 to 9 at the end of the first half.

This lead the Winthrop players never overcame, although they lost an opportunity to tie the score during the last minute of play, when a foul was called on Holmes, of the local team, for delaying the game. In the second half Finlay secured another basket in pretty style. Trask folowed in his tracks and the score was 13 to 9 in favor of the Granite City players. Verner once more succeeded in baffling Holmes and getting a basket which however was his last from the floor. A minute later he got a goal on a free try and the score was 13 to 12. "Pete" Chapman threw the ball from the middle of the floor with one hand and it went through the net. The score was now 15 to 12. A foul was called on one of the local players Verner failed to get it, but it was all for the better for as the ball was about to fall to the ground, Turner pushed it into the basket, adding two more points for his team. Another foul was called on Quincy High and the failure to capture a goal caused the game to end in victory for Quincy High.

All of the members of the local team played well, although the shots of Chapman and Johnson must be numbered among the high class variety. Verner seemed to be the one man on the home team who showed up to advantage.

QUINCY H. S.	WINTHROP H. S.
Finlay rf	lb O. Holmes
Chapman lf	rh O'Brien
Trask c	c Turner
C. Holmes rb	lf Verner
Johnson lb	rf Evans

Score, Quincy H. S. 15. Winthrop H. S. 14. Goals from floor, Verner 3 Finlay 2, Johnson, Chapman, Evans Turner. O. Holmes. Goals from fouls, Trask 5, Verner 2. Referee, Cody, Scorer, Floyd. Timer, McCarthy. Time 15 and 20 minute periods. Attendance 300.

VICTORY FOR THE GYM GIRLS

The Quincy Gym Girls added another victory to their long list by taking the measure of the S. N. B. team, a combination of basketball players from Bridgewater Normal school, in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, last evening, 29 to 6. The contest was largely attended and the game itself was replete with many spectacular plays.

The team work of the local girls was superior to the work of their opponents at all stages and the visitors never appeared dangerous.

The star of the game was Isadora Beale, who caged six baskets from the floor, two of which were of the sensational order, being made from almost the entire length of the floor. Mildred Smith and Edith Mullen also played well for the winners, while Mildred Reinhalter excelled for the losers. The summary:—

QUINCY GIRLS	S. N. B.
Mildred Smith, rf	lb HarrietBurns
Isidora Beale, lf	rb Alice Johnson
Edith Mullen c	c Katherine Laing
Lena Clark rb	lf Mildred Reinhalter
Helen Callahan lb	rf Marie Goodhue

Score, Quincy Girls 29, S. N. B. 6. Goals from floor Mildred Smith 3, Isidora Beale 6. Edith Mullen 4, Mildred Rienhalter. Goals from fouls, Mildred Smith 3, Mildred Reinhalter 3, Marie Goodhue. Referee, Johnson. Scorer, Helen Mitchell. Timer, Mary Beale. Attendance 250.

SOME DOUBTS ABOUT THE STORY

An anonymous communication sent to the Ledger this morning tells of the accidental shooting, in the neck, of a Norfolk Downs boy, by a 22 calibre rifle in the hands of a companion. The boy that it claimed was shot attends the Massachusetts Fields school and according to the teacher was at school this morning. As far as the teachers of the school know there is nothing in the story, or rather they had heard nothing of the kind.

Had there been a shooting accident it is probable that teachers would have heard of it.

A PATHETIC INCIDENT.

The boy in the Lincoln avenue car sat cuddled so closely to the woman in gray that everyone thought he belonged to her. So when he unconsciously dug his muddy shoes into the broadcloth skirt of his left hand neighbor she leaned over and said:

"Pardon me, madam; will you kindly make your little boy square himself around? He is soiling my skirt with his muddy shoes."

The woman in gray blushed a little and nudged the boy away.

"My boy?" she said. "My goodness, he isn't mine!"

The boy squirmed uneasily. He was such a little fellow that he could not begin to touch his feet to the floor, so he stuck them out straight in front of him like pegs to hang things on and looked at them deprecatingly.

"I'm sorry I got your dress dirty," he said to the woman on his left. "I hope it will brush off."

The timidity of his voice took a short cut to the woman's heart, and she smiled upon him kindly.

"Oh, it doesn't matter," she said. Then as his eyes were still fastened upon hers, she added: "Going uptown, alone?"

"Yes, ma'am," he said. "I always go alone. There isn't anybody to go with me. Father's dead and mother's dead. I live with Aunt Clara over in Belmar. But she says, Aunt Anna ought to help do something for me, so once or twice a week, when she gets tired and wants to go some place to get rested up, she packs me off over here to stay with Aunt Anna. I'm going up there now. Sometimes I don't find Aunt Anna at home, but I hope she will be at home to-day, because it looks like it's going to rain and I don't like to hang around in the streets in the rain."

The woman felt something move inside her throat, and she said: "You are a very little boy to be knocked about in this way," rather unsteadily.

"Oh I don't mind," he said. "I never get lost. But I get lonesome sometimes on these long trips, and when I see anybody I think I'd like to belong to I scrooge up close to her so I can make believe that I really am her little boy. This morning I was playing that I belonged to that lady on the other side of me, and I go so in'sted that I forgot all about my feet. That is why I got your dress dirty."

The woman put her arms around the tiny chap and "scrooged" him up so close that she hurt him, and every other woman who had overheard his artless confidence looked as if she would not only let him wipe his shoes on her best dress, but would feel like spanking him if he didn't.—Pacific.

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER
Absolutely Pure

To have pure and wholesome food, be sure that your baking powder is made from cream of tartar and not from alum.

The Label will guide you

Royal is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

BOULDERS FOR FRANKLIN PARK

The first of the five large boulders that are to be placed in the new bear den at Franklin park was transported to the park this morning by Contractor Edward J. Sandberg. It was weighed on the city scales by the Sealer of Weights and Measures, Cantfill and tipped the scales at 21, 520 pounds. In addition to the boulders there are to be 75 other smaller boulders weighing from one to four tons each which will be placed in the new bird cages.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW.

Visitors to the big Automobile Show in Mechanics building, Boston, have found much to admire, not only in the decorative scheme for which the Boston Show has always been famous, but also in the way of refinements in the different makes of cars on exhibition.

Refinements in design, lightness and strength in construction, artistic and harmonious color effects in painting and upholstery, self-starting devices, new transmission systems, silent motors, and many other improvements which are being shown at this year's show, have proved a revelation to the thousands who have already visited the show.

The self-starter, which is creating such an interest in the automobile world this year, proved to be one of the chief novelties of the show. The invention is a remarkable stride in the automobile engineering, and beyond doubt will have a decided influence upon the sale of cars this coming season. The self-starter makes the gas car as easy to handle as an electric, and wipes out that one point of difference which some fastidious drivers have considered of importance in the past.

One of the features of the show is the Silent Knight Motor, which has been adopted by several makes. There has been so much said about the Silent Knight type that thousands of people visit Mechanics Building just to see these. This does away with the poppet valves; and its designer, Charles Y. Knight, had to take it to Europe to get recognition. Then there is the White Six cylinder motor, which carries out the long stroke, block type that the company featured in the four cylinder cars, and which many other makers have since embodied in their designs. It is the first cylinder produced in this country having its motor cast in block.

One feature which has been noticed and considerably commented upon is the great number of young people that have been attending the show. The interest which they show and the intelligent questions which they ask about the mechanism of the autos are a surprise to the demonstrators, who are kept busy answering them. That the automobile show is coming to the front as an educational institution can be readily seen from these facts.

Tonight is Society Night, and Boston's four hundred will be there to criticize and praise. This is always one of the great society events of the year, and the beautiful women wearing evening gowns will, with their escorts, make Mechanics Building even more brilliant.

Tomorrow will be "Opera Day," and the show management has extended invitations to the entire personnel of the Opera House. In all, over five hundred people are expected to take advantage of this so that tomorrow Mechanics Building will contain some of the finest musical talent in the world, as well as some of the finest automobiles ever manufactured.

Decision Checks White Slave Traffic

Cincinnati March 6.—The United States circuit court of appeals here decided that the federal white slave law is constitutional, and that a woman taken from one state to another for illegal purposes loses her individuality and becomes an article of commerce. This question has never been passed on before by a United States court of appeals.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abedefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abei	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abef	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abed	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	eb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abed	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abe	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abedefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abedefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedeba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abedefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abedef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abedefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abedefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 78
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abedefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	deb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	iedeba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abedef	8 30	6 31	eeba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abe	9 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abedef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abe	11 45	8 05	fedeba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fe leba	11 02 r
			11 1)	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abe	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfeaeba	9 13 r
8 34	abe	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bedefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abe	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ae	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abedefghi	11 44	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abedefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abe	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abedefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abe	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abedefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abedefghi	7 47	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abedefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abe	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.50, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5 21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22. 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.17, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 57 | QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY EVENING MARCH 7, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

GOV. BATES SHOULD NOT SERVE ON GRADE CROSSING COMMISSION

Mayor Stone Declares as an Employee of Boston Holding Co. He has No Business to Serve

Lively Discussion of Grade Crossing Question at Meeting of Board of Trade. Thirty-Nine New Members

Charging that ex-Gov. John L. Bates was in the employ of the Boston Holding Co., which was virtually controlled by the New Haven railroad, and as such should not serve on the commission to determine how the grades of the Saville and Water street crossings in Quincy should be separated. That the filing of two plans with the commission as Board of Trade plans for the abolition of the Saville street crossing, one of which was the plan of G. B. Bates which he had stamped as the Board of Trade plan, were responsible in a great measure for the city not getting what it wanted, that is having the tracks depressed, Mayor Stone threw a bomb at the meeting of the Board, Wednesday evening which resulted in a long discussion of the grade crossing question, and the resignation of Ernest W. Branch from the Board's committee on grade crossings, because he could not endorse the plan approved by the Board for the abolishing of the Water street crossing.

These were some of the matters that prolonged the regular meeting of the Board until nearly 11 o'clock.

In opening the meeting several communications were read, one from the Chief of Police, relative to soliciting among the merchants for a souvenir of the police department and another from the Metal Trades Department relative to the high price charged for commodities in Quincy.

The former was referred to the Merchants branch and the latter to the directors.

Applications for membership were received from 39 who were duly elected. They were as follows:—

Charles W. Miller	Jas. Szathmary
James W. Sweeney	Edward A. Bean
W. C. Hart	Robert C. Allen
George Gauthier	B. F. Macomber
W. T. Shea	Clyde T. Cox
Oscar A. Swanson	John Robbie
J. H. Elcock	F. F. Green
Herbert T. Drake	H. W. Porter
E. F. DeNormandie	Richard Bishop
C. J. McGilvray	R. R. Baker
Andrew Milne, Jr.	A. B. Hultman
J. E. Sprague	G. W. Nightingale
M. T. Sweeney	Robert F. Leighton
Hamilton Flood	J. H. Penniman
Victor E. Miller	Edward B. Marsh
John A. Sutherland,	A. W. Loud
H. G. Smith	R. Bainbridge
Meyer Abrahams	J. A. Sedgwick
F. F. Prescott	F. N. Souther
Alexander Clark.

The question of the adoption of the new by-laws as proposed by the special committee came up for action. The by-laws were taken up separately to be acted upon. Some minor amendments were made to the by-laws as reported but in the main they were adopted as reported.

SALARY FOR SECRETARY.

The question of a salary for the secretary then came up. The special committee on this matter reported recommending that the secretary be paid a salary of $10 per week from Jan. 1, 1912 to Jan. 1, 1913 also that the salary be $20 per week after Jan. 1, 1913. The committee also recommended that the stenographer be paid $2.50 per week in addition to her present salary for the year Jan. 1, 1912 to Jan. 1, 1913 making her salary $5 per week.

After some little discussion the report was accepted and adopted.

BY-LAWS.

As the new by-laws call for a board of directors of twelve instead of three as called for by the old by-laws the question of filling these vacancies came up.

D. King wanted a committee appointed to bring in a list of names, specifying that the committee should not nominate any of its number for director.

T. L. Williams wanted a list of twelve names reported from which to select the nine to be elected.

A. L. Whitman wanted the complete board of directors to include two from each ward and he so moved.

D. King did not think it right to confine the list to any one ward but thought it should be provided that each ward should be represented on the Board by at least one member. He offered that as an amendment to Mr. Whitman's motion.

The amendment was adopted but when the question as amended was put it met with a crushing defeat.

The Chairman was then empowered to appoint a nominating committee of five to bring in a list of nominations at the next meeting as directors.

The committee appointed were Charles Austin, D. King, T. L. Williams, John F. Merill, and F. F. Crane.

A. L. Whitman for the committee on the banquet reported that some of the bills had been paid and that the remainder would be as soon as members made their returns from tickets sold However the banquet was financially a success.

Arthur W. Stetson moved that the subject of a salary for the treasurer be referred to the Directors, they to report at the next meeting. Voted.

The President brought up the question of securing larger quarters for the meetings. He said that if the present interest was to continue that a room large enough to accommodate the members who desired to attend should be secured. He also stated that he could secure Colonial hall for $5 per night. The question was left to the Directors.

The President stated that he intended to arrange for a series of talks by prominent people and that the first would be by State Treasurer Stevens and he asked for authority to make arrangements for a hall. He was so authorized.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

G. B. Bates said as chairman of the Grade Crossing committee of last year he desired to make his report. Five years ago a special commission was appointed to abolish the grade crossings. Under the administration of Mayor Thompson a committee of twelve was appointed for each crossing. They met and discussed the questions and after some discussion a plan for depression was adopted. The City appropriated $1,000 and $1,500 and he undertsood that some of the council desired to know where the money had been expended.

The city's expert Mr. Breed said that the only correct solution was depression. It was up to us to take some action on the crossing question. If not we will get just what we do not want. That is a Chinese wall. The cost to the city of ten per cent will be nothing to the damage that will be done by such a wall. It will damage two millions worth of property.

He had tried to find out what had been done. Mr. McAnarney had told him it was up to Chairman Bates. The engineer said he did not know. Commissioner Bainbridge knew nothing and the present Commissioner Mr. Tupper had no information.

He had however seen Chairman Bates and from what he had learned from him the commission had decided on a plan six months ago which they will report in about two weeks. He could not learn what that plan was but he was satisfied that it would not be what the city wanted.

MAYOR STONE.

Said he wanted to state how he stood on this question. He was opposed to the so-called Chinese wall and wanted to keep the tracks down. He went before the Commission and was told "that you people in Quincy can not agree. You had too many plans." There was a member of this association who took a plan in to the commission and stamped it as the Board of Trade plan. That made two plans for the Board of Trade. He did

(Continued on Page Three.)

Class in Every Detail The E. & W. Shirts

The Keynote of the Spring and Summer styles. Fresh from the watchful designer and the careful cutter comes these new shirts for the most discriminating male dresser.

You see class in every detail—the lines, the fabric, color schemes and finish. They are the best known and to the minds of many well-groomed men there is nothing in better taste than the famous

E. & W. SHIRTS

New Spring Styles, each $1.50
E. & W. Red Men Collars, 2 for 25c
E. & W. Soft Collars, each. 25c

We also have a full line of Spring Shirts in handsome color effects at $1.00 each; and Soft Collars at 15 cents or 2 for 25 cents.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 7—3t

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS

Pretty Scene at Fragment Society Fair, First Church

FINE SUPPER SERVED

The fair held in the vestry of First church, Wednesday evening was a most enjoyable one from start to finish.

The large number present taxed the vestry to its utmost capacity, and good nature and sociability reigned supreme.

The chapel was elaborately and tastefully decorated under the direction of Miss Georgiana C. Lane; yellow jonquils being used, made of crepe paper so artistically that one would suppose at first glance they were the genuine article. Exclamations of praise were heard constantly at the beautiful arrangement and color scheme. Each table had festoons of the jonquil and green leaves arranged very gracefully, presenting a perfect bower.

Mrs. Edward B. Marsh, president of the Fragment society, had full charge of the fair, ably assisted by the ladies who presided over the following tables:

Candy, chairman, Mrs. Fred E. Drake, Mrs. Mark L. Read, Mrs. Arthur W. Hall, Mrs. Harry W. Porter and Mrs. James H. Slade.

Fancy—Chairmen Mrs. Henry M. Faxon and Mrs. John L. Gow, assisted by Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. Fred H. Smith, Mrs. Lawrange Sturtevant, Mrs. Charles A. Price, Mrs. Henry R. Holden, Mrs. Edward Angier, Mrs. George E. Pfaffman, Mrs. Harry L Rice and Mrs. George Hall.

Grab—Mrs. Isabelle A. Davis. This table was unusually attractive, being arranged to represent a well, with an old fashioned well sweep, and the moss covered-bucket.

Household—Miss Mary W. Holden, assisted by Miss Lucy M. Spear, Miss Belle Nightingale and Mrs. Warren Anderson.

Mystery—Chairman Miss Mary E. Nightingale Mrs. Ralph L. Lovell, Mrs. Alfred H. Remick, Miss Ada M. Nightingale, Miss Miriam Marsh and Miss Maria Whitney.

Book—Mrs. William B. Nichols. Among the books were some written by Rev. Daniel M. Wilson, a former pastor. The centre of attraction on his table was the beautiful bronze medal made from the copper taken from church dome designed by Mrs. Theo, Ruggles Kitson and cast by the Gorham Co., of Providence, R. I.

Junior Laymen—Presided over by Miss Georgianna Lane who sold neckties and jack knives.

Teatable—Chairman, Miss Irma Tilton, assisted by Miss Hazel Dewhurst, Miss Georgianna Waldron, Miss Edith Lovejoy, Miss Roberta Smith.

A real Lady Baltimore cake, sent from Charleston, S. C., and sold by the slice occupied a conspicuous position on a table by itself, Miss Flora Underwood in charge.

Supper—Chairman, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt, Mrs. N. T. Hunting, Mrs. H. G. Crocker, Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell, Mrs. Frank S. Patch, Mrs. Osborne Rogers, Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. George T. Magee, Mrs. John Christianson, Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Mrs. Charles Bickford and Miss Etta M. Prescott.

About two hundred partook of supper, which was very generous and substantial. Salads of all descriptions, cold meats, baked beans, white bread and brown bread, all kinds of delicious cakes and pies of every variety, and very fine coffee.

After supper, an informal social was enjoyed. The ladies, who had the fair in charge are to be congratulated on the very able and successful manner in which everything was carried out

The new pastor Rev. A. L. Hudson and Mrs Hudson were present to meet the parishioners.

CITY OF QUINCY
Department of Health

The Board of Health announce the following prices for scavenger work for the year 1912.

Cesspools, per tank load $2.50.

Vaults, minimum charge, $2.00 for 5 barrels—all barrels in excess 40 cents each.

Board of Health,
WILLIAM H. TEASDALE,
Chairman.
7-1t

REDUCTION IN PRICE
OF
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

RELATIVES ARE BEING LOCATED

Chief Burrell Locating Relatives of Fire Victims

WHO THEY ARE

The police have been successful in a measure in locating some of the relatives of the victims of Tuesday night's fire at Quincy Point. They have learned that the McDonald men have a sister, Mrs. Jane Hannon a servant in the employ of Dr. Craig at Lawrence also a mother, Elizabeth McDonald who lives in Glasgow, Scotland.

Graham it has been learned is a member of the Scottish Clans. That he has a brother in Barre, Vt. and a brother in Aberdeen Scotland. He had a wife who died some years ago and he now has four children living in Tredear, Wales, the oldest of which is 13 years. They also learned that he was a member of the miners' union in Wales.

The officers of the Grand Clan have been communicated with in relation to Graham and his relatives in Barre, Vt., have also been notified. It is probable that they will make arrangements for the burial.

The sister of McDonald who is in Lawrence has also been notified of the death of her brother Charles and that her brother Patrick is in the hospital.

Leary the third victim was a soldier and is probably a member of the Spanish War Veterans. He is said to be well-known at the Charlestown navy yard and Chief Burrell has communicated with the navy yard and expects to get some definite information from there sometime today.

Mrs. Jane Hannon of Lawrence, sister of Patrick McDonald, one of the victims of Tuesday nights fire at Quincy Point came to Quincy this morning and visited Hall's undertaking roms where she made arrangements for the burial of her brother.

A brother of Leary another victim also came to Quincy this morning and made arangements for his brother's funeral.

BRIEFS

Mrs. William Thomson, Sr., of 82 Glencoe place, is recovering from an attack of bronchitis.

Many former residents of Quincy now living in and about Boston are planning to attend the lecture to be given by George I. Aldrich, superintendent of the Brookline public schools, in Coddington school hall, Wednesday evening, March 13, in order to hear him again and meet old friends and class mates.

☞Bread and milk. But use PRATT'S BREAD if you want the best.

TODAY'S HEARING ON THE SEPARATION OF HOUGHS NECK

Has Received Nearly $100,000 More Than Section has Contributed in Last Four Years

City Solicitor Presents Some Astounding Facts

The capacity of room 53 in the State Hause was not sufficient to contain the number of people interested in the hearing given on the proposed separation of Houghs Neck this morning, by the joint committee on Towns. Several were compelled to stand in the doorway and corridor, while the hearing was in progress.

The meeting was scheduled to commence at 10.30, but it was fully ten minutes later before the messenger had succeeded in getting the necessary number of legislators.

The petitioners were represented by Fred C. Gilpatrick, while City Solicitor McAnarney, was in charge of the interests of Quincy. Both attorneys sat together during the hearing.

Among those noticeable at the hearing were Mayor Eugene R. Stone, Counciiman Ralph W. Hobbs, president of the City Council, Councilman Charles A. Ross and J. R. S. Ross and C. A. Ericson, Representatives William J. Leslie and Walter E. Piper, County Commissioner John F. Merrill, Dock Commissioner Frank F. Crane, City Engineer Ezekiel Sargent and Commissioner of Public Works Fred E. Tupper, and John D. Smith.

FRED C. GILPATRICK.

Appeared as attorney for petitioners besides being a petitioner himself. Mr. Gilpatrick stated that he was a resident and had been familiar with Houghs Neck for the past 35 years. He claimed that the survey of Houghs Neck recently by the committee was made under adverse circumstances.

He called attention to a map made by P. F. O'Brien, one of the petitioners and proceeded to make explanations about topography, etc. He next spoke

(Continued on Page Six.)

GIVEN AWAY FREE

Absolutely Free

A package of National Oats on Friday. Remember, one day only, so please don't forget. Call at our store and get a package of it. All you have to do is to get a newspaper called the Boston Evening Record and bring it to us. We hope to give away 1,000 packages, so don't fail to call.

Ginger Snaps	5c
3 pkgs Macaroni	25c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
Sweet Navel Oranges	15c

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 & 10c Store

GREEN TRADING STAMPS

7-1t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1880

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21⁹ East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Gov. Wilson having returned from a trip to Iowa, seems to be getting considerable practice in performing the functions of a president.

The increase in the price of beer won't check the consumption of that article any, but of course the children will not need so many shoes.

J. P. Morgan has paid $100,000,000 for art treasures, but we hope he has not spent money so recklessly that he could only afford $6.99 for a kitchen stove.

Mayor Shanks of Indianapolis says he is trying to get an honest living out of politics. This must be more hopeless than the struggles of our youth, when he used to get five cents an hour for weeding onions.

The express companies cannot lower rates because so much of their profits go to the railroad companies, and the railroads cannot reduce rates because so much of their profits go to the express companies.

As Congress seems willing to investigate the great evils of American life, we wish they would appoint a recess commission to study the unwillingness of the small boy to brush his hair.

It is creditably reported concerning a presidential candidate that when seven years old he went in swimming without asking his mother. Unquestionably if this charge can be substantiated, he might as well retire right off.

Parents interested in a new school building for the children in the Adams school district have very nearly reached the point where they will be glad to get a building anywhere. If there had been unity when this project was first talked of we might be nearer the goal today. The sentiment very properly seems to be, not what you want or what I want, but what is best for the citizens in general.

THE DIGNITY OF CONGRESS.

A member of our staff has just returned from Washington and is impressed with the lack of dignity in Congress.

Our senators and representatives in Washington assembled sometimes declaim against the newspapers because the American people seem to regard our statesmen rather lightly. But if Congres would be taken at its face value, it must display greater pains to assert its own dignity, and the dignity of the constituencies it represents. For instance, Representative Sisson of Mississippi and Representative Hayes of California delivered extended speeches a few days ago about the chemical tariff bill. The questions at issue vitally affected important American industries, and the pocket books of the buyers of such goods. The speeches were able.

Yet when the Democrat from Mississippi was talking, there were hardly half a dozen Republicans willing to give him a hearing. Most of those who stayed in the room buried their noses in newspapers as if ostentatiously to proclaim their indifferences. Others smiled tolerantly in much the same attitude as if they were listening to the antics of children.

When Mr. Hayes began, the Democrats quickly drifted from the room, and those that remained adopted the same contemptuous attitude as that shown previously by the Republicans.

The constant buzz of conversation made it difficult to hear either speaker. Some representatives slouched down into their seats and extended their legs as a means of expressing their weariness. At times we have been told that representatives display the extent of their manners and brains by placing their feet on the desks in open session.

Now if a speaker persists in talking in a way not relevant to the business in hand, the speaker or his party associates should call him down. There are a great many bright men in Congress, and the debates are keen, scintillating, and informative. There are few representatives who cannot learn a lot from hearing the point of view of an opponent.

Unpalatable as an opponent's ideas may seem, they are the sincere conviction of thousands of our fellow countrymen just as honest as any of us. A failure to give them respectful attention amounts to a slight and a slur at the communities that these men represent.

WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS.

At the 75th birthday dinner given Mr. Howells a few nights ago, President Taft referred to him as the greatest living American writer. Mr. Howells' work no doubt has had limitations. But every young American who is seeking either fame, fortune, or flapjacks as a writer, has much to learn from study of his style.

It is true that Mr. Howells never made a universal appeal. Dickens and Mark Twain are read alike in the cultured home of the college professor and in the cabin of the sheep herder. Howells is the educated man's novelist. His characters have a certain languid introspection in the charming meanderings of which the unlettered man becomes bewildered.

Yet Mr, Howells has had that supreme gift of making common-place people interesting. It is a common trick of authors, and many great authors at that to select for their leading characters persons having some very rare gift. Every one is interested in a star.

Mr. Howells, however, enlivens the dull monotony of daily life and average achievement. He illuminates the prosy routine of ordinary human nature with his delicious perception of incongruity. But to grasp his delicate shades of humor presupposes some considerable degree of educated reflection.

Every newspaper reporter, every budding author, would profit by a course of reading in Howells, to study his gift of finding the one right word, the one elusive and shifting grain of gold in the dry sands of the dictionary.

In the hurry of ordinary newspaper and literary work, the most of us are content with language that only approximately expresses our ideas. Seen through this dim medium of ordinary language, the world of ideas is like a beautiful landscape viewed on a misty day.

The finding the one right word to express a thought is like the coming of the wind, which brushes away the fogs and allows the objects of nature to stand out sharp and clear in bright sunlight. This gift is the pre-eminent possession of Mr. Howells, and it lies close to the heart of all that is best in the writer's difficult craft.

ORIGIN OF THE RECALL.

The principle of the "recall" has been given so much of an emphasis in the platform of Theodore Roosevelt, now an avowed candidate for president, and it figures so largely in the political vocabulary of the times, that we are frequently asked as to the origin of this feature of government.

While the germ of the idea may be found in the democracies of the ancient world, yet as far as any systematic development goes, it is a wholly American idea, and an outgrowth of our corrupt and stormy politics.

The recall has usually been considered as a counterpart and accompaniment of the initiative and referendum, which have been used in Switzerland since 1830. But the agitation for the recall practically stopped in Switzerland when the initiative and referendum were adopted. In our state of California, the constitutional amendment for the recall of officials secured over 100,000 majority last October, yet the amendments for the iniative and referendum had only about 60,000 majority.

The city of Los Angeles appears to be the creator of the recall, having adopted the plan in 1902. Since then it has recalled a mayor and a councilman, the mayor having resigned before the recall vote was taken.

In 1905, San Diego, San Bernardino, Pasadena and Fresno adopted the recall, and in 1906 it was adopted in Seattle. In 1907 a number of California cities adopted it, including San Francisco, and the new constitution of California first established it on a large and state wide scale last fall. Recall provisions were placed in the new constitution of Arizona.

This instrument of popular retribution has not yet been largely used. Nearly all of the recall provisions so far adopted have given the people power to recall judges, but so far as we can learn, no judge high or low has as yet been recalled. Since 1907 the recall has been applicable to many municipal and county officers in Oregon, but at last accounts none had been recalled.

The recall is a weapon of desperation by which the radical elements in America municipal life are seeking to arm themselves against the thugs and outcasts that have controlled so many American cities. But many people who would favor its use in the desperate battle with the underworld of municipal politics, would be equally strenuous against applying it to judges.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BAD FIRE

There came near being a serious fire in the Durgin & Merrill block, Wednesday evening, and but for the prompt discovery by Mr. Fitzpatrick, it is probable that there would have been serious results.

Wednesday, plumbers were at work in the basement, in which were a lot of packing cases and it is supposed that in some way the fire started from one of their stoves. The store had been closed at 6 o'clock and Mr. Fitzpatrick was about to go out when he detected an odor of smoke. He immediately started an investigation and discovered a brisk fire in a pile of packing boxes in the basement. He telephoned the Central Fire station and in a very few minutes the auto chemical dashed up to the store, giving the first information to people in City Square of what was doing. The fire was quickly extinguished with a chemical stream.

Wednesday afternoon the chemical responded on a still alarm for a fire in the bath room of David Evans' house on Copeland street. The fire was caused by a plumber's torch and did a damage of $50.

MAKARIA'S MEET.

A meeting of the members of the Makaria Fraternity was held at the home of Coach Charles Ganzel, the old National league star, on Billings Road, Wednesday evening and steps were taken to place a strong baseball nine on the diamond this coming season. The team will be again managed by George McKenzie who contemplates arranging a schedule of games that will assure local fans of many interesting contests.

Through the efforts of Coach Ganzel, the members have secured the uniforms which were used last summer by the Rochester team, of the New York State league. Nearly all of last year's players are available and a strong team will surely be in line.

In connection with the meeting, Coach Ganzel related many interesting reminiscences of baseball games in olden times and refreshments closed the program.

A PRAYER FOR LENT.

Dear Lord, I do not ask to see
Beyond the path of present right;
I do not seek to tear away
The veil which hides from sight
The dreamland of the soul,
Beyond to-day and night.

Here, where the noonday hour,
With all its wealth divine
Of duties to be done,
Of heights still to be won,
With heavenly love doth shine,
Be Thou my Friend.

Be Thou my joy and pride,
My Daystar and my Guide,
Thou Life Serene.
Watch Thou my steps,
Keep me from vain regrets
When memory haunts.

Send me upon my way
To smile and serve and pray
Through all my years.
Help me to love and trust,
Thou who mad'st me from dust
And from Thy breath.

I humbly ask thy care,
Thy blessing with me here;
To-morrow, still from Thee
Rich shall my blessings be
In gifts withheld,
Because 'tis best for me.

BRITISH ISLES SUFFER

No Signs of Settlement of Great Strike of Coal Miners

London, March 7.—Industrial paralysis is fast spreading over the British Isles as a result of the gigantic coal strike. The miners continue masters of the situation.

Official statements concerning the numerous conferences held yesterday bearing upon the coal strike were devoid of information as to the results, if any, achieved. The negotiations were renewed with hopes that a speedy settlement would be reached.

The miners' representatives conferred with the premier and his colleagues for nearly three hours, and the official report says that at Mr. Asquith's request they promised to attend further conferences "if desired."

FIGHTS SINGLE HANDED

Sheriff Disposes of Seventeen Men Who Take Possession of Train

Oroville, Cal., March 7.—Sheriff John B. Webber shot and fatally wounded one of a gang of seventeen men who took possession of a Western Pacific freight train and defied the train hands to remove them.

Single-handed, Webber faced the seventeen. Two drew revolvers and Webber began firing. One of the gang surrendered and the others fled

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES.

Pictures of unusual interest are now on exhibition at the library to remain until March 18. They represent the "Despots of Italy."

When Matilda, Countess of Tuscany, 1046-1115 died, the Popes and Emperors prepared to struggle for her legacy, thus initiating the struggles of Guelphs and Ghibellines.

Ferrara was included in her gift to the popes, and they always considered it as a pontificial fief."

The pictures include the House of Este, Lombard'c feudaries, who became podestas (chief magistrates) of Ferrara in the 17th century. At the beginning of the 13th century, 1208, Azzo VI made himself Lord of Ferrara. The house of Gonzaga, rulers over Mantua from 1328-1708 is included in the exhibition, also the Visconti and Sforza of Milan, rulers over Milan from 1277-1447, and the Rovere and Bentivoglio family.

For further information consult Duruy's "History of France" 2 v; "Nouveau Larousse illustre," 7v; and Symonds' "Renaissance in Italy."

HER CLIPPING BUREAU.

The year after Grandma Thurlow, at the age of eighty, came to live with her married daughter, Sarah, her eldest grandson—hot-headed, warm-hearted Ben had a disagreement with his father and ran away from home. He was missing for six months, to the untold sorrow and anxiety of his family, and then suddenly appeared once more, full of manly shame for the trouble he had caused, and manly determination to atone for it.

Everybody was thankful over his return, but perhaps no one was quite so demonstratively glad as a little white-haired, black-eyed old lady, sitting with a crutch by her side, in a sunny bay window upstairs.

"I say, grandma," said Ben to her, when he had been home a few days, "I don't see you cutting out scraps from the newspapers and leaving them round for the rest of us to find, the way you used to do."

The two were alone in the room, but grandma lowered her voice, "I do cut them out, Ben," she confessed, "but I don't leave them round any more."

"Why not? That was the best of it. You'd always put one by Margie's plate, and one on Bob's tennis racket, and mine was usually on top of my hat, I remember. What made you stop?"

Grandma hesitated loyally. "It made the rooms look mussy," she admitted. "Your mother wouldn't say anything to hurt my feelings, but I could see. She's such a fine housekeeper, you know, and—well, I stopped scattering 'em, but I couldn't stop clipping. I got into the habit when I used to make scrap-books, you know, and to tell the truth"—she gave a shame-faced smile—"I've saved a whole envelope of things on purpose for you while you've been gone."

The broad-shouldered young fellow leaned forward, and looked at her with a curious earnestness.

"I want them—every one," he said. "See here, grandma." From a note-book in his vest pocket he drew a newspaper clipping. "That's a little preach about a boy's duty to his father and mother. I found it lying on my pillow the night before I went away. It didn't quite keep me from going, but I've read it over and over, and—it did bring me back."

"Benny!" cried the little old lady. "O Benny— I'm glad!"

That night Ben thought of the Grandmother Clipping Bureau, which has since become a popular and indispensable neighborhood institution. To-day, in a sunny bay window, a contented old lady sits clipping newspapers unashamed. Within reach she has a paste-pot, a pair of shears, and a dish of pins. At her elbow is a small table heaped with newspapers and periodicals, and beneath it yawns a capacious waste-basket.

These surroundings, added to a keen feeling for all things human and progressive, make up Grandma Thurlow's content, but whether she is conning in the pink sporting-page for Bobby's football n ews, gleaning household hints for her practical daughter, or collecting spicy bits about equal suffrage for the woman in the next block, she is never too much absorbed to drop her work and look up with a smile of delight when her tall grandson strides into the room with a fresh bunch of papers, for her table, and hails her with a cherry, "Well, grandma, how's business today?"—Youth Companion.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

A Woman Likes To Boast

about her cooking range and what she can do with it and it is really wonderful what some housekeepers accomplish with a Modern Glenwood Home Grand.

"Makes Cooking Easy."

This Glenwood can be had with the latest and most improved Elevated or End Gas Range Attachments. It has a powerful Water Front or, for country use, a Large Copper Tank on the end opposite fire box.

Glenwood Range

H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

Blame Electric Lamp.

The Glasgow board of trade court is investigating the loss of a local steamship which stranded in a mysterious manner. The only theory offered to account for the mishap is that an electric lamp in the pocket of the lookout man deflected the compass. The man admitted that he had been leaning against the binnacle just before the vessel stranded.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

6—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
6—Whist Maple Lodge Protection Hall.
6—Art Exhibit—Mass. Field School.
6—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
6—Elliot Club.
6—Fair—Ladies of First Church.
7—Meeting—Quincy Catholic Club.
7—Fair—Ladies' Aid—Quincy Point.
7—Parents' & Teachers' Asso.—Mass. Field School.
7—Mozart Recital—Enrico Barraja.
7—Fair—Wash. St. Cong. Church.
7—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
7—Pickwick Club.
8—Dance— Comitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Banquet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
14—Banquet—Christ Church.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

GOOD THING FOR QUINCY

Our average daily outstanding business loans are OVER three quarters of a million dollars, mainly being used by Quincy business men! A bank that is helping Quincy's business, deserves your support and merits your confidence. Open a deposit here.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Store Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

Office Furniture for Less than Boston Prices

We can fit out your office complete, and actually save you from 10 to 30 per cent on bottom Boston prices.

We carry a good variety of Roll Top Desks, Flat Top Desks, Standing Desks, Typewriter Desks, Large and Small Tables, Office Chairs, etc., etc.

Some of the best offices in town have been fitted out by us. No order is too small for our attention, none too large for our capacity. We want your trade.

Henry L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy
Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,

Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in
NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.
Quincy, Mass.

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

The report of the School Department which is now at the printers, will this year contain half a dozen illustrations, four showing the exterior and the floor plans of the new Wollaston school building and two showing the interior of high school rooms. The superintendent of schools has recently received a letter from the editor of the American School Board Journal asking for illustration of the Wollaston school building. As this paper is strictly technical and publishes only the cuts of buildings of meritorious design, the request is in itself complimentary to Mr. Albert H. Wright, the architect, who has had many successful school buildings to his credit.

The long severe winter is making an unusually heavy consumption of fuel in all the school buildings, although it is offset to some extent by the especially good quality of coal which the city received on its last contract.

The Woman's club is preparing to carry on its Home Garden work among the children, as for some years past and will within a few days give the children an opportunity to purchase flower and vegetable seeds at cost.

The plans for the grammar school bass ball league are being completed by Dr. J. Gardner Smith, the physical director and the series will begin at once after the opening of the spring term. Sixty-six games will be required to complete the series and they will be played on the same grounds and under the same conditions as last year.

The annual Founder's Day exercises of the Woodward Institute will be held in the school hall on March 12. The exercises will be entirely musical this year under Mr Buckingham, director, and will be given by past as well as present members of the school.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The entertainment given by the girls of the Quincy High School on Saturday evening proved a great success. "Miss Oliver's Dollars", the little farce with which the entertainment closed, made a decided hit. The girls deserve great credit, not only for the excellent performance, but for the spirit which prompted them to do this for the benefit of Athletics. The latest statement of the proceeds is about $190. This ought to see the school through its baseball season and leave a little in the athletic treasury for football next fall.

On last Friday, the basketball team journeyed to Newton, where, in a fast and interesting game, it was defeated by the close margin of one point. The results of the two games played with Newton were so close that Quincy may be said, at least, to be as good as Newton.

The baseball enthusiasts are patently waiting for spring. Practice will start as soon as the field is in condition. At present, some of the boys are trying out in the gymnasium for battery positions.

MASS. FIELDS.

The Art Exhibit at the Mass. Fields school for the past two days was well patronized. Nearly one hundred dollars was realized. Much praise is due all who helped to make it a success.

During the school sessions, Miss Ida Tillinghast, art director of the Emery School Art Co., gave short lectures in the various grades on pictures adapted to the age of the children addressed. In addition the children were conducted in small groups through the exhibit.

The proceeds will be expended for school decorations.

The Parents' Teachers' Association will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7.30 o'clock. Address by Rev. C. P. Marshall, City Chaplain. Piano solo, Mrs. A. H. Rogers. Male Quartet.

WOLLASTON SCHOOL.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parents'-Teachers' Association will be held at the new Wollaston school, on Monday evening, March 11, at eight o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. James E. Downey, Master Boston High school of Commerce, on the subject, "Education for Business." Music by Mrs. Mary Chandler West, pianist, and Mrs. James S. Perkins, soloist. Refreshments will be served.

Entertainment to raise money to equip the gymnasium on Friday evening, March 15, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Charles H. Johnson will give his stereopticon lecture on "Historic Quincy." Music by pupils of the school. Admission 15 and 25 cents. The tickets are on sale by the children and it is hoped that a large sum may be realized.

The Wollaston kindergarten moved into the new building last Monday morning and is occupying one of the small rooms off the assembly hall. It is hoped that in September, with the opening of the new Montclair school that it may have a regular room.

JOHN HANCOCK—LINCOLN.

Mr. C. H. Johnson's lecture will be given at Coddington school hall, Thursday, March 14, at 7.30 P. M. for an athletic fund for the schools.

Two hundred and ten stereopticon pictures of Quincy, "Past and Present," taken expressly for this lecture, will be shown.

FUNERAL OF MR. GLIDDEN.

Funeral services for Henry Glidden, an old time resident of the Point, were held at his late residence Cleverly court Wednseday afternoon. The deceased was well known being in the provision business many years. He leaves a widow and six children; Henry who travels for the Douglas Shoe Co., through the western states; Wallace, Harry, George Mrs. Harry Pray, and Miss Lilian Glidden. Rev. Charles L. Marshall, pastor of the Washington Street Congregational church officiated. There were many beatiful floral tributes. A faithful and devoted husband, a kind and loving father the sympathy of friends is extended to the family in their bereavement.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH.

The regular mid-week Lenten service was held in the Unitarian church Wednesday evening. The service consisted of prayer, solos and prayer response by Miss Ernestine M. Litchfield, and the impressive reading by Rev. Carl G. Horst, of that beautiful and always freshly inspiring chapter in the book of Acts in which Paul speaks so glowingly of the "God who is not far from any one of us, and in whom we live, and move and have our being."

Rev. Harry Lutz of Newton preached from the text found in the 5th verse of the 139th Psalm,— a sermon of wonderful power and insight, and marked by an unusual, intuitive sense of the influence of great, unseen, and but dimly comprehended forces acting upon our material lives. The printed paragraph can give but little idea of the force and beauty of his unfolding of the deep meaning of the gift of life, the beginning of which we do not know, neither the method nor the goal; but the way is ours to see in the living nobly of each day as it comes. So shall death, be not death, but a great awakening, where we shall find new and abundant life, and freedom and opportunity to develop our God-given faculties; and God's hand of order laid upon all things.

The sermon closed with Sill's beautiful poem: "Forenoon and afternoon and night."

MAPLE LODGE WHIST.

Eighteen tables were in play Wednesday night at the whist party in Protection hall under the auspices of Maple lodge, K. & L. of H. The prize winners were John D. Drumgold, Mrs. Emma Marnock, Mrs. E. Johnson. William C. Caldwell, W. A. Hayden, Ida R. Dutton, Miss M. Smith, William G. McDonald, and Mrs. George F. Spooner. The whist party was given in aid of one of the members of Maple lodge who was injured several weeks ago by falling on the ice.

Are All Men Born Equal?

"Why is one man able to gather others with capital about him, launch a business enterprise of large proportions and carry it to success, while his neighbor spends an entire lifetime plodding at small things in a small way?"

This is the question James Laurence Laughlin, professor of political economy in the University of Chicago, asks and in the Outlook he proceeds to answer it:

"Because Nature has distributed its gifts unevenly between men. Clear judgment and a genius for managing large affairs are not characteristics so common as to pass unnoticed.

"The competitive spirit is born in us. Every normally constituted human being has in him an impulse to be or to do something better than his neighbor. The world is the gainer by this common impulse, for it inspires invention, promotes resourcefulness, incites emulation, makes itself felt everywhere in life."

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

ANNUAL FAIR OF LADIES' AID

Ladies of Washington Street Open Two Days' Fair

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

The annual two days' fair of the Ladies' Aid society of the Washington street church was successfully opened Wednesday evening, for notwithstanding the threatening weather and snow storm there was a good attendance.

Tables for the sale of useful and fancy articles, a mystery table and special children's table were tastefully arranged about the vestry and were presided over by the ladies of the society. An unusual fine array of salable articles were shown at these tables and the ladies in charge reported a good trade.

The festivities opened at 6 o'clock at which hour an appetizing chafing dish lunch was served. The several dishes were well cooked and served piping hot and were pronounced as being fine.

At 7.30 a pleasing entertainment was given by the men's club orchestra composed of R. MacFarlane, J. A. Melville, M. F. Perry and D. McLaughlin, violins, R. Murphy and A. Sharpe, cornets, J. Horan, flute, G. Neusson, horn W. Brooks, drum, and I. Hayden piano. The leader of the orchestra is J. A. Melville.

The program was a very pleasing one and included besides selections by the orchestra a vocal solo by R. MacFarlane and a flute solo by J. Horan.

Tonight at 6.30 a regular supper will be served and as the ladies of the church are known to be exceptionally good cooks, it goes without saying that the supper will be well worth partaking of. The menu will include cold meats, macaroni and cheese, baked beans, rolls, pies and coffee.

The entertainment this evening will be given by the members of the ladies' aid society and will include the presentation of a farce in five scenes entitled "How the story grew."

There will also be piano duets by Mrs. Foster and Miss Bushnell.

BOARD OF TRADE

(Continued from Page One.)

not know that the Board had voted to stamp its name on the Bates plan. It was largely because of these two plans that we did not get what we want. He wanted it understood that he wanted the tracks to go down and that he should do all he could toward that end.

He also wanted to say that any plan or letters at City Hall bearing on the questions of grade crossings were open for inspection. He felt that the city had been injured by having two plans marked as the Board of Trade plans when it did not have them.

BATES' STATEMENT.

He did not believe that ex-Governor Bates should be allowed to settle this question. He is a member of, or employed by the Boston Holding Co., which is controlled by the New Haven. This should be taken into consideration.

"I want to put the railroad down but we ought to be careful how we move." He believed that if Saville street was a public street that it could not be closed up. He had been so informed by reliable authority and if this street was accepted it could not be closed. He had recommended the acceptance of the street to the City Council.

John R. Richards had not heard of any hearing on what Quincy favored. It was well known that everybody favored the tracks being depressed. As he remembered it the City Council last year had adopted an order requiring certain information from the Mayor as to grade crossings but had not got it.

Ex-Commissioner Bainbridge said that as near as he could find out, it looked as though the reason the Saville street plan was not accepted was because it was too expensive. It also looked as though the street would be closed and Irving place extended to Granite street. At Water street, from what he could learn they had taken a plan and raised everything five feet and made a mess of it. They are going to give us a Chinese wall. The plan adopted is practically what is known as the Field plan.

Mayor Stone again speaking said: "we cannot do anything until the Commission makes its report. Then there is a court of appeal. We are powerless until that report is made." Here the Mayor again stated that ex-Gov. Bates had no right to be a judge of what Quincy should have, as he is in the employ of the Boston Holding Co., and there is no question but the plan will be that Quincy does not want. "If it proposes to close Saville street, I shall take it to the Supreme court."

He had been president of the Board of Trade and should have known if there had been two plans of the Board.

Ernest W. Branch said that there was only one plan for the Saville street crossing. That was the city plan which the Board had endorsed. At Water street the Board had practically accepted the same plan as that of the Granite Manufacturers. He was opposed to the Water street plan. He had drawn the plan for Water street, as requested and directed by the committee. Since then he had made a study of the situation and he could not favor it and he could not serve on any crossing committee that did.

G. B. Bates then explained his plan for abolishing the crossings, a drawing of which was posted on the wall. He said that the grade by this plan from South Quincy to Braintree was the same as now from the pumping station to Braintree. As far as cost was concerned it was better for Quincy to pay the additional cost on $225,580 to depress the tracks at Saville street than have a Chinese wall.

Representative Piper said that in conversation with Representative Bersfield, who was Mayor of Newton when the grades were separated there, that he said the first plans of the railroad was for raising the tracks. But before the commission made its report that the matter was adjusted by the City of Newton paying the extra cost for depression. The time for the city to act is before the commission makes its report.

Mr. Branch. "If the Board of Trade stands now, on the Water street question as it did before, he could not serve on the grade crossing committee, to which he had been appointed.

It was then voted that the committee on grade crossings accompany the Mayor on his interview with the commission.

Joseph Walker also spoke at length on the grade crossing problem and in favor of depression.

Mr. Branch then resigned as a member of the grade crossing committee.

The matter of securing a new train for Boston in the vicinity of one o'clock was referred to the committee on train service.

A communication was received from the Ledger donating a half page of its paper for the exploiting of Board of Trade matters, but not advertising of individual members. Referred to the Directors.

The committee on legislative matters was instructed to attend the hearing on the separation of Houghs Neck and oppose it.

The president said that the subject of discussion for the evening was gas lighting.

Charles A. Ericson suggested that it would be better to adjourn and save gas and so moved, and it was voted.

QUINCY DAY NURSERY.

Donations received during the month of February at the Nursery were as follows;

Mrs. Drake, 4 quarts milk daily.

Mrs. Ross, bushel potatoes, pork, eggs, 2 jars blueberries.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, iron crib and mattress.

Mrs. William B. Rice, gallon maple syrup.

Mrs. Wheeler, box of clothing, toys and valentines.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller (from Bethany Church) cold meat and potato salad.

Mrs. Frank N. Page, bag prepared flour.

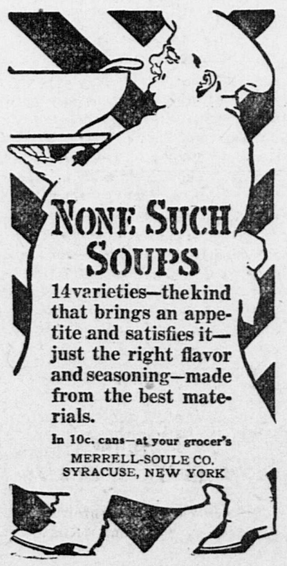
Miss Stetson, 3 pairs new rubbers.

Miss Joss, quart of milk.

TODAY'S COURT.

George A. Lewis was fined $50 for peddling without a license at Quincy.

John Lynch was fined $15 for drunkenness at Quincy.



NONE SUCH SOUPS

14 varieties—the kind that brings an appetite and satisfies it—just the right flavor and seasoning—made from the best materials.

In 10c. cans—at your grocer's

MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

MADE UNITED GERMANY

HONOR ACCORDED AUTHOR OF "DIE WACHT AM RHEIN."

Town of Tuttlingen, Birthplace of Max Schneckenburger, Is Preparing to Erect Monument to Its Famous Citizen.

Neidingen, Gutmadingen, Geisingen, Immendingen, Mohringen, Tuttlingen—all these are passed before reaching our first camp. But of these Tuttlingen is our darling. We have not passed a village that could have made us happy for many days; each with its ruined castles, its medieval tower, its steep gables, its colored tiles, cheery peasants; but, writes Poultney Bigelow in "From the Black Forest to the Black Sea," all this, and more, too, is united in Tuttlingen. This little town also has its feudal castle, its ruined battlements, its legends, and its quaint gables; but it has more than this—it has the proud distinction of having educated the poet who made United Germany. The war-song that has made all Germans merge their local differences in one great purpose—the common fatherland; that united Bavarians and Prussians, Saxons and Wurtemburgers, in 1870; that brought victory over the French, and an imperial crown to the house of Hohenzollern—that song is "Die Wacht am Rhein," written at the age of twenty-one, by a lad whose schooling was obtained in Tuttlingen. It is needless to say that his name is Max Schneckenburger.

The people of Tuttlingen are now raising the money needed to place here a worthy monument to the man who has made their town famous. They have placed a square pedestal upon the bank of the stream as a mute invitation to help on the noble work. Of course, we brought our mite from across the Atlantic, and promised to stir our friends up also. In Tuttlingen is a committee of the leading citizens, who are prepared to receive and acknowledge contributions.

Little is known of Schneckenburger. He died in 1849, when only thirty years of age. His father blackened boots and lifted trunks in a village tavern near Tuttlingen, but was obviously of superior character, for he eventually became a small merchant and married well. Max was, too, poor; but in Tuttlingen he was thoroughly schooled and then sent to Switzerland, where the post of errand boy was given him in a grocery store. His short life was one of hard work and small earnings, far from his beloved fatherland, and seeing of the world only what appeared in the course of trips made as a commercial traveler. His widow assures us that a day never passed that Schneckenburger did not kneel in prayer for his fatherland, and his motto, chosen at the age of fifteen, was this word alone, "Deutsch." In 1840 he wrote "Die Wacht am Rhein" as an indignant protest against the French pretentions of that time, but the battles of Gravelotte and Sedan had been fought before his country was made to know the source of their inspiration. Schneckenburger is another of the many names that humanity loves to honor, but which, alas! humanity discovers long after its honor has ceased to be of any material consequence.

Got Rid of His Creditor.

Lespes, the French journalist, known as "Timothee Trimm," was once disagreeably intruded on by a creditor, who announced his intention of not departing until he was paid. The creditor planted himself on a chair, and Lespes beheld him, with consternation draw bread and cheese from his pockets, as though to fortify himself against events. Several hours glided by; Lespes had resumed his writing and finished an article. The creditor showed no signs of moving. Suddenly Lespes rose, and with bits of newspaper began carefully blocking all the apertures through which air could come into the room. He then made preparations for lighting a charcoal fire; but before applying the match pasted on the wall, just opposite the creditor's eyes, a paper thus laconically worded: "Take notice that we died of our own will." "What are you doing?" exclaimed the creditor, uneasily "Your society would render life intolerable, so we are going to commit suicide together," answered Timothee tranquilly. It is needless to say that the creditor decamped.

Art of Happiness.

Happiness is about the most misunderstood thing on this earth. People believe that they know just what it is, and invariably answer that they are striving for it daily. Yet the average person's hazy idea of happiness consists of a palace, six automobiles, three or four houseboats, an army of servants, tons of stuff to eat and drink, and a full-sized mint of money

If one would only figure out wherein lies his happiness he would be better armed for the fight. The trouble is that we do not know what we want. And that is why we struggle along, day after day, in a leisurely, careless manner. There is an idea hovering over us that there is a bright future ahead, and we stop our thoughts there.

First determine what you want. Plan how to get it. And then fight for it. Happiness will be realized in the struggle, and when you finally get what you want supreme hapiness will be yours.

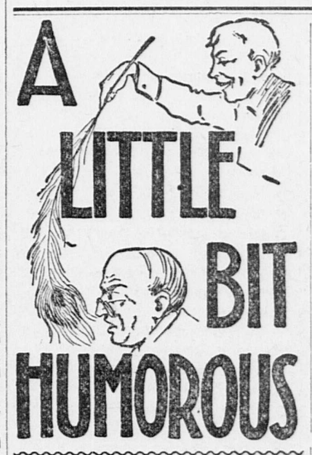
SPECIAL NUT COAL

Our Special Nut Coal has stronger burning qualities, gives more intense heat and holds its fire longer than other coals.
This is an all night coal; don't have to build your fire in the morning

TRY A TON

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy



The Scapegoat.

"You say the boy's maternal grandfather was a highwayman?"

"Yes."

"And his paternal grandfather was charged with arson?"

"Yes."

"And his aunt is a shoplifter, and his uncle a counterfeiter?"

"Yes."

"Then to what do you ascribe his waywardness?"

"Why, to moving pictures, of course."

A Cold Proposition.

"I understand young Tilburton proposed to that haughty Miss Tookins in the most ardent terms."

"What was the result?"

"About the same result, I imagine, that a person would get by dropping a lighted match on an iceberg."

Getting a "Lift."

Patience—I see the girls now operate the elevators in Milwaukee, being duly licensed to do the work by the city inspector.

Patrice—As the English suffragette would say, "It's time the girls got a lift."

British Tars May Rise.

From certain indications which have been made public in various quarters, the surmise is not hazardous that some steps are contemplated which may tend to open wider the portals that give admission to the quarter-deck of his majesty's ships of war, says the London Chronicle. There exists a general feeling that the time has arrived for an advance in this direction to be made. Questions in the house of commons have elicited answers which have shown that the admiralty, though properly cautious in a matter so vital as the constitution of the corps of British naval officers, are not unfriendly to the idea. There is some dissatisfaction at the present time on the lower deck, due in part to the existence of what is regarded as a bar to the promotion of deserving men of character and ability. An idea has also been propounded that some means should be discovered of admitting to Osborne and Dartmouth boys coming from a class less richly dowered with the world's goods than the majority of those who are now found in those establishments. Up to the present time, however, no plan, or even definite proposal, has been made for dealing with either part of the problem.

On the Road to Reno.

Bill—I see that Nevada has only seven-tenths of a man to the square mile.

Jill—And yet when a woman wants to get a new man that's where she generally goes to get him.

Unusual Event.

"You want to borrow $10 from me, eh?"

"That is my hope."

"Well, when I lend you $10 the moving picture rights will be worth something."

Worth Trying.

"Don't you get tired of twisting and turning and revamping the old anecdotes?"

"I do, indeed," admitted the humorist. "Sometimes I think it would be less trouble to think up some new anecdotes."

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Mar. 4.	12.00	12.00
Tuesday,	12.30	12.45
Wednesday,	1.15	1.30
Thursday,	2.00	2.15
Friday,	2.45	3.15
Saturday,	3.30	4.00
Sunday,	4.15	5.00

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	32 degrees
Mar. 7, 1911,	32 degrees
Mar. 7, 1910,	48 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Thomas I. Wetherall of Garfield street, has gone to Atlantic City for three weeks.

The Daughters of Viking held a regular meeting Wednesday evening in Protection hall.

A special meeting of the Coppersmiths' local was held in the Johnson building, Wednesday evening.

Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, of Christ church, and Rev. Phillip E. Osgood, exchanged pulpits Wednesday evening.

The City Council Committee on Fire Department visited the Central Fire station Wednesday evening ona tour of inspection.

The prizes at the Granite City club whist tournament Wednesday evening were won by William E. Hingston and Mark L. Read, Jr.

The members of the Pastime club, an organization of young men, all of whom are well-known in local circles will hold their first annual dance in Alpha hall, Thursday evening, April 18.

G. D. D. M. W. Charles H. Johnson and suite of Merrymount lodge installed the officers elect of Cray lodge A. O. U. W. of East Weymouth on Tuesday evening at Knights of Columbus hall. The work was performed in an impressive manner, which called forth the applause of the company at the close of the exercises.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Harold Richards celebrated his twentieth birthday anniversary Wednesday evening by entertaining a number of his friends at his home on Centre street. The evening was passed in a pleasant manner with games of various kinds and music, not forgetting tempting refreshments which were served by Mrs. Richards.

Harold received a large number of gifts from his friends as well as remembrances from his parents.

Considering his present embarrassing situation, it would be well for Nick Longworth to remain at home the next four months and assist Alice Roosevelt Longworth in baking the bread.

☞"Give me PRATT'S BREAD,"—and don't take a substitute from your grocer.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

TYPEWRITERS KEPT HUMMING

Dixon Comes Back With a Sharp Reply to McKinley

FOR PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES

Tells Taft Manager That He Will Stand by Result—Taft Camp Not In Complete Agreement on the Question—Texas Indorsement of Roosevelt Brings Joy to Former President's Headquarters

Washington, March 7.—The presidential canvass has degenerated so rapidly into a battle of typewriters that Washington already is beginning to grow indifferent to the headquarters output. Within twenty-four hours the Roosevelt manager, Senator Dixon, has challenged the Taft manager, Representative McKinley, to urge presidential primaries in all the states.

McKinley has made the rather weak reply that before answering he desires to be informed whether Dixon is authorized to speak for Roosevelt; and Dixon comes back with a three-page renewal of his challenge and quoting Roosevelt's note to the governors as his authority for demanding primaries.

Dixon makes the point that the candidate selected by popular vote would be the one and the only one who would carry the country in the fall. "I seek the test and am prepared to stand by the result," concludes Dixon. "Are you?"

Sentiment in the Taft camp is somewhat divided over the primary question, men like Senator Crane opposing it on principle, while others have no objection to the primary system if the voters want it, but declare that the Roosevelt men are raising a false issue, inasmuch as they believe the primaries would show an overwhelming sentiment for Taft in the great eastern states, whose delegates will decide the nomination, while a burdensome and needless expense would be placed upon the states where it would still be possible for the legislature to authorize a primary scheme.

Roosevelt headquarters is chuckling over the action of the Republican state committee of Texas in indorsing Roosevelt by a vote of 27 to 1. Dixon also directs attention to another resolution passed by the committee denouncing the action of McKinley and Hilles in sending Joseph B. Kealing of Indianapolis to Texas to attempt to influence the Republicans of that state in their politics. This is the state in which Cecil Lyon, the Roosevelt manager, deserted Taft, because of the president's refusal to select a federal judge according to Lyon's liking.

Taft headquarters exploits chiefly an interview with Seth Low, indorsing Taft as against Roosevelt, which, while commending some of the Roosevelt ideas, notably the short ballot, declares that "if the test of progressiveness is to be the willingness to accept the initiative, the referendum and the recall and the submission of the decisions of the courts on constitutional questions to popular vote, I am unable to meet the test." Low recognizes, he says, that it is much easier to be progressive out of office, without responsibility, than to be progressive in office, with responsibility.

TAKES SHOT AT STIMSON

Roosevelt Attacks Methods of Promoting Taft Campaign

Mineola, N. Y., March 7.—Fighting mad at aspersions cast upon his candidacy for the presidential nomination by Secretary Stimson in his Chicago speech, Theodore Roosevelt issued a long statement here, bitterly assailing the supporters of President Taft, and Stimson in particular.

Roosevelt put his candidacy up to the people, saying that he is not prompted by ambition, but to serve his country. He attacked the methods of promoting the Taft campaign, saying that the will of the people was being circumvented through the patronage club.

Replying to those of his critics who declare that his campaign may wreck the Republican party, Roosevelt warned his political enemies that they and not himself were bringing ruin upon the organization.

ANDY WOULD SPANK 'EM

Carnegie Compares Taft and Roosevelt to Damon and Pythias

Hot Springs, Ark., March 7.—Andrew Carnegie gave out a statement last night on the contest between Roosevelt and Taft for the presidential nomination.

"I have known intimately in my time six presidents," said the iron master, "and Roosevelt and Taft are numbered among my best friends. Imagine Damon and Pythias quarreling, and then you have some idea of how I regard the present race between Taft and Roosevelt for the presidential nomination.

HENRY L. STIMSON

Secretary of War, Who Has Aroused Roosevelt's Anger

"I regret very much that the condition is as we find it today. I'd like to take and spank them both. I hope that before it is too late that they will get together, have one of their old-time heart to heart talks, as of yore, and get this matter straightened out, and I speak in all seriousness when I say that I am very sorry that they are both running for the presidential nomination."

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES

United States to Send More Troops For Service In China

Washington, March 7.—American Minister Calhoun has called upon Major General Bell at Manila for more American troops for China service. Bell has informed the war department, and it is expected that he will dispatch the remaining battalion of the Fifteenth infantry, numbering about 700 men, to Tientsin at once.

The action of Calhoun in cabling to Manila for further troops for Tientsin, it is stated, was not because of the fear of a concerted attempt against foreigners, similar to the Boxer rising, but because the Chinese troops cannot be depended upon. Disorders are sweeping the north, and with little prospect of prompt restoration of government control, it was considered unwise to take any chances.

HEADS ARE LOPPED OFF BY WHOLESALE

Short Shrift For Mutineers and Outlaws at Pekin

Pekin, March 7.—President Yuan Shi Kai has at last gained complete control of the situation in Pekin and terrible punishment was meted out to mutineers and pillaging outlaws in wholesale executions. In one batch more than 150 persons were beheaded. Heads of victims were stuck on poles and carried through the streets with written warnings appended.

Several women arrested for looting were put to death. They came from the lowest classes and fought side by side with the men in the mobs which plundered the city.

Liberty has cost China 100,000 human lives and before order is restored and the republican government is fully established, probably as many again will fall victims to anarchy and internecine turbulence.

Chinese Kill English Missionary

Tientsin, March 7.—In an anti-foreign uprising in Ching-Ho, following the mutiny of the garrison, Rev. F. Day, an English missionary, was shot and killed, and an attempt was made to assassinate Rev. F. S. Hughes, another missionary.

EVENS UP SCORE

Friend of Boyce Shoots Sneed's Father and Himself

Georgetown, Tex., March 7.—Two more deaths occurred here yesterday as the direct outcome of the feud which arose over the elopement of Mrs. Lena Sneed with Alfred G. Boyce, Jr., last November.

John T. Sneed, father of Mrs. Sneed's husband, was shot down in the street here by R. O. Hilliard, one of his tenants, who had been a close friend of Captain Boyce, the father of the man who had eloped with Mrs. Sneed. Hilliard, after making sure that he had killed Sneed, then turned the weapon on himself.

He is said to have boasted that he would even up the score against the Sneeds, and avenge the death of Captain Boyce, for whose murder Mrs. Sneed's husband was just released by a disagreement of the jury.

Big Moonshine Still Unearthed

Lexington, Ky., March 7.—The largest moonshine distillery located by the government in a decade was destroyed by revenue men in Estill county. It had a capacity of 150 gallons daily. The operatives escaped.

DISCOVERY OF SOUTH POLE

Said to Have Been Accomplished by Captain Scott

RUMOR IS NOT YET VERIFIED

Efforts to Prevent Premature Publication of Explorer's Triumph Because of Certain Newspapers' Rights to Exclusive Story—Craft Sailed on June 1, 1910—Peary Believes That Object Will Be Accomplished

London, March 7.—A rumor is published that Captain Robert F. Scott, the British Antarctic explorer, has reached the South Pole. Mrs. Scott, however, declares that she has heard nothing from her husband. There is no confirmation available from any source.

Although there is no confirmation of the rumor, early word is expected from the Scott expedition, which left England nearly two years ago, and so excellent an authority as Admiral Peary expresses confidence that the English explorer will be successful.

It should further be remembered that as certain British and American newspapers have obtained exclusive rights to the explorer's story, the effort will be made by everyone connected with the expedition to prevent a premature publication, a fact which should be weighed in considering all denials.

Captain Scott, in command of the British expedition, expected to reach the pole by Dec. 16 or 25 last, or earlier than when Sir Ernest Shackleton reached his southernmost point, ninety-seven miles from the pole. Sir Ernest worked back to his base by Feb. 28, picked up his ship, the Nimrod, and sailed for New Zealand on March 4, getting there March 22.

Captain Scott's better-equipped expedition should make the back trip in much shorter time, thinks the admiral, or early in the present month. On this basis, Scott should be very near his port.

Captain Scott left England June 1, 1910. He had with him sixty men, twenty Siberian ponies, thirty dogs and two motor sledges. Before his departure he said that his plans for the journey from King Edward's Land to the South Pole included the use of three means of sledge traction—ponies, dogs and motors—and ponies were to be taken in sufficient numbers to insure a thoroughly adequate amount of food being taken to the base of the Beardmore Glacier. A dog team with a relay of men was to transport the loads over the glacier surface and a picked party of men and dogs were to make the final dash across the inland ice sheet. Motor sledges were to be the main agent in the transport plan.

The Terra Nova, in which Scott's expedition sailed, left London on June 1, 1910, and was joined later in New Zealand by Scott, the leader. Stores sufficient for three years were carried on board. In January, 1911, Scott and his comrades went south to establish depots, the Terra Nova meanwhile returning to New Zealand. All through the summer it was intended to make the final preparations for the last dash toward the Pole, which was to be carried out at the end of the year.

Before leaving, Scott declared that the entire expedition would hurry back to New Zealand as soon as the Terra Nova could break away from the ice and report the success or failure of the journey.

Captain Scott's effort to excel in the south, even as Peary has in the north, appealed so strongly to the British people that his ship and outfit were prepared at the cost of $200,000 and sent forth as a national enterprise.

There are two other expeditions in the Antarctic at the present time, that of Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian, and that of Dr. Douglas Mawson of Australia. Amundsen's search for the South Pole came in the nature of a surprise, as he had announced his intention of exploring in the Arctic, and his real obective was not known until his ship, the Fram, was sighted by the Terra Nova a year ago this past winter, about 400 miles from McMurdo sound. The Fram, it will be remembered, was the ship Nansen used in his Arctic exploration.

MEXICO MUST EXPLAIN

Indications That Americans' Lives Are Placed In Jeopardy

Washington, March 7.—The state department will demand that President Madero of Mexico say whether or not the statement of Manuel Calero, minister of foreign affairs, that American citizens will be held as hostages against American invasion, is a threat from the government of Mexico.

Ambassador Wilson will be instructed to call on Madero at once and learn the attitude of the present administration in Mexico City.

Chihuahua yesterday was proclaimed the provisional capital of Mexico by General Orozco.

BAIL IS INCREASED

Action Against Mrs. Stuart Because of Letter to Shaw

Boston, March 7.—The bail of Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, who is charged with being an accessory before and after the larceny of $10,000 by Arthur W. Shaw, the Maine shoe manufacturer, was increased from $2500 to $4500 by Judge Sanderson in the superior court, at the suggestion of District Attorney Felletier.

Mrs Stuart was ordered committed to jail in default of bail, but after an hour's wait surety to make up the difference between Mrs. Stuart's former bail of $2500 cash and the necessary $4500 was furnished by Saul Weiss.

The Los Angeles authorities sent word to Pelletier that Mrs. Stuart had written to Shaw telling him that she had turned over the twelve bonds to the district attorney, but that she knew where the other seven were.

As soon as this information was received the district attorney prepared to have the bail increased, as he now believes that Mrs. Stuart knows more about the case than she professes to.

THE SEATTLE ELECTION

Mayor Who Was Recalled After "Wide Open" Term is Beaten

Seattle, March 7.—Unofficial figures from the municipal elections indicate the election of George F. Cotterill, municipal ownership candidate, by a very close margin. The single tax amendment to the charter apparently is overwhelmingly beaten.

Gill was the mayor who was recalled ast year, largely as a result of the votes of the women of the city. When Gill was mayor, he ran, as long as the courts allowed it, a town of the wide open order. Prostitution was recognized and taxed, the police system was operated on the stool-pigeon system under a chief whose practices have since earned him a sentence of two years in the penitentiary; the city electric lighting plant was in the hands of a former employe of its competitor, and his policy was to furnish light to unprofitable outlying suburbs which the privately owned corporation refused to serve, and leave the profitable downtown contracts to the latter.

ANDRADE A VICTIM OF HIS OWN TROOPS

Military Commander Assassinated at Capital of Ecuador

Guayaquil, Ecuador, March 7.—General Julio Andrade, the military commander at Guayaquil, was assassinated at Quito by some of his soldiers.

General Andrade was the chief figure in the suppression of the recent revolution in Ecuador after the death of President Estrada. He took command of the army, supporting the Quito government, which favored General Plaza, who took over the reins of government on Estrada's death. On several occasions he met and defeated the insurgent army and finally suppressed the revolution by capturing Guayaquil.

SUFFRAGETTE WAR FUND

Seized by Authorities to Reimburse Sufferers From Riots

London, March 7.—Militant suffragism has received a severe setback in the seizing of $500,000, the war fund of the movement, which the authorities announce will be used to reimburse shopkeepers whose windows have been smashed and property damaged by the skirted raiders during the last week.

The government officials are busy going over papers seized at suffrage headquarters. Among these, complete plans of a campaign as prepared by Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst and other leaders have been found. These plans, it is said, wil be used as the basis for conspiracy prosecutions, the penalty of which may be seven years in prison.

WOMEN AS CONDUCTORS

Philadelphia Traction Company About to Try the Experiment

Philadelphia, March 7.—"Step lively, please," spoken in a sweet feminine voice, is to be the order of the trolley cars of Philadelphia shortly. The Philadelphia Traction company has decided to try the experiment of having women conductors.

It is understood that the experiment is to be tried only on day cars at present, but it may be extended to the night lines if it proves a success.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

In Constant Use 101 Years

What other liniment has ever undergone such a test? For over a century has been curing Sprains, Strains, Cuts, Lameness, etc. Its long service tells of its merit. It is the household liniment that does not go out. 25c and 50c bottles.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

PARSONS' PILLS Keep the bowels in condition

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE

Just Received

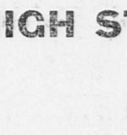
J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232-W

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By VAUGHAN KESTER



IF you want to read a delightfully humorous, essentially American story, with a hero and heroine quite after your own heart, you cannot afford to miss the new serial we are about to print.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

is a tale that treats of American life and conditions of several decades ago and is wholly unlike anything else in recent fiction. When the story is ended you'll find that you have left a company that you have come to know intimately and, for the most part, loved.

BE SURE TO READ THE OPENING CHAPTER

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

TEMPTING NUT FOODS.

We are not likely to entirely return to nuts, the food of our arboreal ancestors, till they are served in a greater variety of forms and in more attractive ways.

The food value of nuts is so generally recognized and they are so inexpensive that these few recipes for nut dishes have been collected with the hope of doing a little missionary work along this line.

The Staff of Life.

Everybody eats nut cake (when good nut cake can be got), but few know that there is such a thing as nut bread. Try it if you don't believe in its merits.

Nut Bread.—Take three cupfuls of white flour, three cupfuls of graham flour, an egg, half a cupful of sugar, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a cupful of chopped English walnut meats, four cupfuls of cold water and half a teaspoonful of salt. Put into deep pans and let stand one hour. Bake in a moderate oven one hour.

Instead of Meat.

Hazelnut Loaf.—Hazelnut loaf is a meat substitute. It requires three cupfuls of ground hazelnuts, two cupfuls of breadcrumbs, one and a half cupfuls of milk and two eggs.

Mix all together and bake. Sprinkle nuts on top before baking. Garnish the platter with parsley and serve with hazelnut gravy made as follows:

Two cupfuls of water, a cupful of rolled or ground hazelnuts, a level tablespoonful of browned flour and a level tablespoonful of white flour. Let the nuts and water boil five minutes. Salt to taste. Blend the brown and white flour in a little cold water and stir into the boiling hazelnut water. Boil a few minutes. If too thick add a little more boiling water.

Here is another meatlike dish, made with almonds:

Golden Almonds.—Half a pound of blanched almonds are required. Throw them into cold water and then dry thoroughly. Put the almonds into a frying pan in which two ounces of butter is frizzling. Fry until a golden brown, drain on a sieve in front of the fire, sprinkle with cayenne and salt and serve hot.

VARIETY IN SPONGE CAKE.

SPONGE cake if a little stale is still not useless, for it may figure in the composition of many delicious dishes even in that state.

To make plain sponge cake proceed as follows:

Sponge Cake.—Take three eggs, one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar sifted several times, one and three-fourths cups of flour, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of lemon extract, one-half cupful of boiling water.

Sift the flour, add the baking powder and sift three times. Beat the egg yolks until lemon colored; beat the whites stiff. Put together and beat in the sugar, fold flour in, add the extract and then hot water.

Pour into a buttered tin and bake in a slow oven twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Lemon Sponge Cake.—Here is one of the most delicious forms of sponge cake. Take five eggs, one and a quarter cupfuls of sugar, one and a half cupfuls of sifted flour, the juice and grated rind of half a lemon and a pinch of salt.

Beat yolks and sugar together until very light and lemon colored. Add lemon juice, grated rind and salt. Beat the whites to a stiff froth and add them alternately with the flour to the other materials.

Stir and fold in gently from the sides of the bowl so as not to break the froth.

Pour into a cake tin until it is about half full. The oven should be only moderately hot and the door should be left open until the cake rises to the top of the pan. Then shut the door and let it bake about three-quarters of an hour.

Ginger Sponge Cake.—For ginger sponge cake use two cupfuls of brown sugar, four eggs, a pint of flour, two-thirds of a cup of water, a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder, a tablespoonful of extract of ginger and a teaspoonful of extract of lemon or lemon juice.

Beat the eggs and sugar together for ten minutes; add the water, the flour sifted with the powder and the extracts. Mix into a smooth sponge and bake in quick oven thirty minutes.

Chocolate Sponge Cake.—Here is a delicious and nutritious form of sponge cake. Heat to a sirup a cup and a half of sugar and five tablespoonfuls of boiling water. Separate six eggs, beat whites ten minutes, then beat yolks very light; add and beat together five minutes. Add sirup a little at the time and beat all ten minutes.

Add slowly two cupfuls of pastry flour, a pinch of salt a teaspoonful of vanilla and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

Bake forty-five minutes in moderate oven. Do not look in oven for twenty minutes.

Anna Thompson.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Quincy Has to Bow to the Inevitable Scores of Endorsements Prove it.

After reading the public statement of this fellow-sufferer given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

J. Fortin, Montello St., Brockton, Mass., says: "I was troubled for over two years by attacks of backache. If I arose from a sitting position or stood any length of time, I was caused great pain. There was a feeling of weariness present and if I did a hard day's work, I was bothered by Lameness and soreness across my back. I finally saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, for such complaints and I got a box and began their use according to directions. They went directly to the seat of my complaint, relieving me of severe backaches and restoring me to good health. It has given me pleasure to recommend this remedy on several occasions." (Statement given June 13, 1905.)

A SECOND STATEMENT.

On July 26, 1911, Mr. Fortin was interviewed and he said: "I willingly verily my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. You may continue to use my reference, as the relief this remedy brought me has been permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PICKETS CLASH WITH POLICE

Dozen Arrests Follow Violence In Lawrence Streets

SNARL HATRED AT OFFICERS

Latter Organize In Squads and Break Up Procession After Paraders Do All They Can to Prevent Workers Returning to Mills—Municipal Judge to Impose Maximum Penalty Upon Offenders Hereafter

Lawrence, Mass., March 7.—Led by Mrs. Annie Welzenbach and Pearl McGill, thousands of pickets swarmed the streets, attempting to keep workers from entering the mills. Before the police succeeded in driving the people into their homes twelve arrests were made.

Unconquered in their battle of eight weeks, the faithful pickets started to draw persons from the little army of toilers marching toward the mill gates. They not only importuned them with arguments and appeals, but violence was used in some cases.

When they were interefered with by the police, they hurled profanity and snarled their hatred at the officers. The activity of the pickets was especially marked in South Lawrence, where many hundreds had gathered.

After the pickets had done all they could in preventing the deserters from their ranks from going to work, they formed in procession and marched back and forth on Common street. Here they gave the police a merry chase. The officers organized in squads to break the ranks of the paraders. Little progress was made during the first half-hour, but eventually the body of pickets was separated. Driven into the side streets in sections, the main thoroughfare was cleared.

The leaders were maddened by the interference and they asked the strikers to be on picket lines in augmented numbers today. Plans have been made for another procession through Essex street.

It was decided at a meeting of the I. W. W. to appoint the committee of ten that last week appeared before the officials of the American Woolen company to go to Boston today and again confer with the American Woolen company officials and the legislative committee on conciliation.

Members of the strikers' committee do not feel that much will be gained from the conference. They assert that the main object in sending the committee of ten to Boston is to show the mill officials that the strikers are in earnest and that they intend to continue the fight until they have won what they set out to win.

Judge Mahoney caused surprise in court when he stated that four pickets arrested yesterday were not charged with complaints serious enough to warrant just punishment. They were charged with violating the city ordinances in behaving in a rude and disorderly manner. The judge said that the evidence warranted a different charge and that the defendants were manifestly violating one of the statutes in attempting to prevent persons from going to work. He would not dispose of the cases. The judge said:

"Those people who desire to go to work certainly have that right and should not be molested. The people who molest, hereafter, who are sent out by people who, no doubt know better, can take their chances, for I am going to follow the law by the statute and impose the maximum penalty."

WATER 2000 YEARS OLD

Found In Copper Kettle During Excavation of Ruins at Pompeii

Naples, March 7.—Highly interesting discoveries have been made in connection with the excavations in the ruins of Pompeii. A street leading to the Forum, which was closed at both ends by stone pillars for the purpose of excluding carriages, now proves to have been one of the chief thoroughfares of the city. It is lined with shops, the walls of which show inscriptions and marble tablets which are well preserved.

In one shop a large terra cotta kitchen range was discovered, on the top of which rested an oval copper boiler in perfect condition, containing water, which the scientists say had been there since the time of the eruption, nearly 2000 years ago.

EASTER CANDY EGGS SAVED

Government Loses Suit to Prohibit the Use of Talc

Boston, March 7.—The government has lost its suit against the big candy manufacturers of the country, thereby averting a famine in Easter candy eggs during the forthcoming holidays.

The question at issue was whether or not the use of talc in giving a high polish to the surface of candy eggs constituted an adulteration within the meaning of the pure food act. A jury in the United States district court found that it did not.

A RESULT OF GOSSIP

Woman Shoots and Instantly Kills Neighbor on the Street

Lynn, Mass., March 7.—Mrs. Florence Ingalls was shot dead in sight of her home in Fairoaks avenue, Wyoma, last evening, by Mrs. Jessie M. Chapman, a near neighbor. Mrs. Chapman walked up to her victim, drew a revolver from her handbag and pumped six shots at close range.

Before anyone could reach the scene she had slipped into the house of Mrs. George Eaton, in front of whose door the tragedy had happened. She told Mrs. Eaton to notify the police that Mrs. Ingalls had been killed, and quietly awaited their coming. This unnatural calm she preserved until after she had been taken to the Lynn police station, where she collapsed, becoming hysterical.

"That woman," she exclaimed, "has ruined my life." The officers asked her if Mrs. Ingalls had come between Mr. Chapman and herself, and she declared her husband had nothing at all to do with it.

The police explanation of the claim that the victim had ruined Mrs. Chapman is that as a neighbor, living across the street from Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Ingalls had been responsible for the spread of gossip of a scandalous nature about her neighbor.

VOTE ON TREATIES TODAY

Supporters Confident of Safely Passing the Critical Point

Washington, March 7.—The senate will begin voting on the arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France at 4:30 p. m. today.

The first vote will be on the foreign relations committee amendment to strike out of the treaties clause 3 of article 3, on which the opposition has been centred, on the ground that it delegates the treaty making power to the proposed joint high commission of inquiry and that the commission's acts would be binding on the senate.

This is the crucial point for the treaties but their supporters express confidence that they will pass it safely. Originally, the amendment had the indorsement of the committee, but it has given way to the indorsement of the Lodge resolution of ratification which is designed to reserve to the senate powers to act finally on any agreement submitted.

WOULD SUPPLANT TWO COMMISSIONS

Foss Submits Public Utilities Bill to the Legislature

Boston, March 7.—Governor Foss submitted to the legislature, in a special message, his public utilities bill. It establishes a single commission to supplant the present railroad and gas commissions, assume the duties of the highway commission as far as they concern telephone matters and some of the duties of the state board of health. It is to consist of five members holding office for terms of five years, at salaries of $9000, with $1000 additional for the chairman.

The governor emphasizes the point that the movement for a single commission is sweeping the country, and he urges that Massachusetts, with its special commissions dividing control, is far behind the times.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

SHE WANTED THE EARTH!

Grocer—Will you have your coffee ground, ma'am?

Mrs. Uptonwe—Yes; and the sugar sand, as usual!

Still Going.

The jokes that Thespis used to tell
Are current still,
We find that they go pretty well
In vaudeville.

Pulpit Orator Kills Himself

Baltimore, March 7.—Rev. Walter R. Rhodes, a Baptist pulpit orator and lecturer of note, committed suicide by shooting in a hotel here. He had been in ill health and suffered melancholia. He was 41 years old and leaves a widow and two children.

Labor Conditions Improving

Boston, March 7.—Labor conditions are decidedly better in Boston than at a corresponding time last year, according to the supply and demand for help indications at the state free employment bureau.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Call Quincy 501 W
If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 34-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Dark brown curly, Spaniel, Sunday, Mar. 3, no collar, Answers to name Teddy. Reward if returned to 47 Palmer street, Houghs Neck. 6-3t

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOUND

FOUND—On Sunday, Feb. 25, in Wollaston, a small purse. Apply to 145 Warren avenue, Wollaston. 6-3t.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best opportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 58 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

WANTED—A chauffeur wants Sunday driving only. Address C. Ledger Office. 24 S-W tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent. profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

TO LET

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS READ

Annual Meeting and Roll Call Atlantic Memorial Church

OFFICERS ELECTED

Wednesday evening Atlantic Memorial church held its annual meeting and roll call, which was one of the most pleasant occasions held in the new church

At 6.30 church members and their partners sat down to supper, which was prepared by Mrs A. H. Hall, Mrs. Geo. Height, Jr., Mrs. T. W. Davison, Mrs. Harry Wells, Mrs. John Welsh, Mrs. Robert Harding, Mrs. Charles Newcomb, Mrs. Lyndon Gurney, Mrs. Sarah Butler, Mrs. B. F. Thomas, Mrs. James Geekie and Miss Ada Harding.

The menu consisted of potato salad, beans, ham, escalloped oysters, chow-chow, rolls, coffee, ice cream, and cake.

At the annual meeting reports were given by the pastor, clerk, superintendent of the Sunday school, treasurer, auditor, president of Y. P. S. C. E., superintendent of the Junior Y. P. S. C. E., and president and treasurer of the Ladies' Benevolent society.

Rev. T. W. Davison reported that steady progress had been made by the church during the whole year. That every officer seemed to stand ready for service and there was not one that had not carried out any suggestion which had been made when it was seen to be for the best good of the church. Mr. Davison said that he had not kept a strict account of the calls made because of the work of re-adjustment and social efforts which were necessary.

Dea. W. F. Blake reported for the Sunday school that since its re-organization last fall that of the twenty-one classes not once had a class been without a teacher. And also that the finances of the school were excellent, the income being much greater than the expenses.

The report of Mrs. Sarah Butler, for the Benevolent society was the best ever given in the history of the church. The Ladies had freely sent flowers to the sick and bereaved. They had taken in $1,890.66 during the year, and had paid almost $1,500 for the organ fund, and also helped out in the running expenses of the church. The Ladies have now a substantial nucleus on hand and will work this year to reduce the mortgage on the church at least $1,000. This report was received by enthusiastic applause.

After the reports were read the following officers were elected: Mr. Blake, moderator, Miss Eleanor Nelso, clerk; Mr. William F. Cummings, treasurer. Deacon W. F. Blake was re-elected deacon for two years, William F. Cummings church commttee, and John C. Ward, James H. Huston, Spencer Appelonio, Mrs. A. H. Hall and Mrs. Hary B. Wells, music committee.

Two committees were chosen to revise the roll and by-laws.

As One Man Sees College Life.

John Arbuckle, who made his millions in the coffee trade, says of the rich man's son in college that "he is not worth the powder to blow him up," and of the average fresh-caught college graduate that he is "not worth even $6 a week." Of the rich men's sons Mr. Arbuckle says:

"They go to college to be as far as possible away from the homes of their parents and relatives, so that their conduct may not be criticized. They care little about the faculty; in fact, to them they are a joke. All they go for is to go joy riding in their automobiles and to run around with chorus girls."

Mrs. Thomas A. Addison and Mrs. Clara S. Brown attended the lecture given under the auspices of the Genealogical society, in Pilgrim hall, Beacon street, Boston; subject: The Walcheren, the land of the Swimming Lion in Holland. The lecturer was William Harman van Allen D. D., rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston.

☞Quincy Market is giving away absolutely free 1000 packages of National Oats on Friday. See ad.

DEATHS

LITTLE—In Boston, Mar. 6, Thomas J. Little of 11 Mechanic street, Quincy in his 65th year.
Funeral private. Please omit flowers. 1t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1185 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

HEARING ON SEPARATION

(Continued from Page One.)

of the reecnt trip made by the committee.

Adams Shore, location, houses, etc. were all told about, the attorney losing no time in telling the condition of the streets. Briefly he infered that the proper time to visit Houghs Neck was the summer, inasmuch as the place was a summer resort.

There is less than a mile of accepted streets in Houghs Neck. The question of boundary was also considered, the speaker adding that no solicitude was had for the water adjoining the Squantum section.

He gave the following reasons for the creation of a new town, viz. heavy taxation without fair return and abuse of taxation.

Continuing he spoke of the fire department, stating that there were two permanent firemen and one piece of apparatus, there are 2560 feet of sewers. Yet, continued he, "we have borne our proportionate part of building sewers." He then spoke of the schoolhouse, costing in the vicinity of $25,000.

"We didn't feel that the City of Quincy is using us fairly. Sea street is not in the proper condition for travel. The meanest and most despised country road is incomparable when the condition of Sea street is considered."

"I complained of these conditions until I was black in the face; holes, rocks, gullies, and 2 or 3 inches of dust were not sufficient to induce the City of Quincy to remedy conditions."

"The summer population aggregates 15,000 to 20,000 people. Nothing is ever done towards cleaning the street."

"The conditions of many of the private ways is such that fire department is not able to reach us."

"Quincy licenses four large dance halls. In none of them does the Board of Health compel the installation of toilet rooms.. The answer has always been Houghs Neck; let them get along the best way they can down there."

He advocated a hydrant, in vicinity of his own home for proper protection.

"We need better police protection."

"We have never had enough police to keep in check certain clubs of young men who have gone unrestrained. At one time this was intolerable."

"I know of no place where a better view can be obtained. It's easy of access. The City of Quincy has not been fair. It has absolutely abused us and we want an opportunity to see what we can do for ourselves."

Mr. Gilpatrick then spoke of certain statements of Mayor Stone regarding debts.

The resources, assessments etc were next discussed.

"The amount assessed to Seagirt is $34,662.71 acording to basis of taxation," added Mr. Gilpatrick.

He then went into a discussion of the taxes to be met by the town of Seagirt in the event of its incorporation, giving the expenses for schools, and other necessary protection.

"The total annual expenditure would be a little more than $24,000, which is $20,000 less than is annually turned into the treasury of the City of Quincy." He then talked of the debt of Quincy etc.

"We feel confident that this proposed new town, under provisions of this bill, which is similiar with the bill acted favorably upon by the legislature in 1887, that we can have peace in our own homes and can establish ourselves on a basis conducive to our interests and general welfare."

He was surprised to see the City of Quincy opposed to separation: "We want to go by ourselves, to be let alone."

CITY SOLICITOR.

City Solicitor McAnarney who appeared in opposition to the bill for the city advanced many reasons why the bill should not be enacted. The trend of legislaiton of recent years, said Mr. McAnarney has not been in favor of creating new towns within the limits of the Metropolitan district. The existence of a large number of towns and cities with their different executive and legislative boards, representing in some intances, municipalties of limited financial resources, and but poorly equipped to bear the burdens of modern municipal life has, for years forced on successive legislatures the problem of determining how all the towns and cities of the district can best be governed. The problem is a perplexing one and it would seem unwise to further complicate it at this time by creating a new town.

Ordinarily in the support of a petition of this kind, the petitioners show that a majority of the voters, residing within the limits of the proposed town, and owing at least fifty per cent of the taxable property, favor separation; that the territory is not receiving proper recognition from the balance of the municipality; that if granted, the town would be in a position to be self-supporting and properly care for its people, meet the financial obligations and take and maintain a place among the municipalities of the commonwealth, and that in the granting of the petition, no injustice would be done to the citizens of the remaining portion of the original town or city.

Let us consider this case. Do a majority of the voters and residents desires separation?

Mr. McAnarney then went on to give a number of statistics as to population, voters, number of petitioners for and against, etc.

The total number of registered voters signing the petition was 25. The population Jan. 1, 1912 was 1193, voters residing there 164, resident voters signing petition 38, total signatures to petition for separation 82 Voters signing against separation 105, non voters against separation 53 total 158.

In February the city sent letters to each person owning taxable property in the district, and of the answers received 148 favored separation, and 467 opposed. The cards signed in favor were signed by people representing taxable property to the amount of $259,500 while those against separation represented taxable property amounting to $885,450.

The amount of taxes received for past four years from proposed district amounts to $152,433.92 and the total amount expended by the city in the district during this period $251,660.63. This amount includes fire and police protection, sewers, water, health and schools. This does not include any part of the cost of carrying on the city government, including salaries of officials and its share of the debt. The amount therefore expended in excess of the amount received was $99,227.71.

The city has built in the area of 1-3-10 miles 4.21 miles of accepted streets, acquired 3 1-10 acres of public places and playgrounds, including 950 fet of free public shore front, extended to it, its sewer and water service, street lights, etc.

The district has three distinct and small settlements, each being isolated from the other and having nothing in common. There is not a single industry located there, and except, in the summer time, has but very few occupants. It has only a few substantial residences and these are occupied but a few months in the summer. Many of the houses are of an inexpensive type and people of wealth or even moderate means cannot be expected to live in a community which has encouraged the erection of such houses as have been erected in this district. It has practically no taxpayers, who could be called upon to pay a heavy personal tax, and the burden of maintaining the town would therefore fall upon the real estate owners.

For the future it would have a tax rate that would be a prohibitive one. Even under the present high rate it does not raise money enough to repay to Quincy what it annually costs. Where will it get money for its streets police and fire protection, and education of its children?

It can not maintain itself a separate town and any sane hope for the future can only be founded on the knowledge that it will remain a part of Quincy and develop and prosper with the city.

In every community there are people who are always dissatisfied with the existing conditions and always imagine that a change will improve their conditions. These people while they are honest, are unsafe to follow. Then it may be that two or three men with ulterior and purely selfish motive, may by their apeal and misrepresentations and misstatements of facts arouse a sentiment in favor of such a movement.

It requires but little insight into the future to see what would happen to this section if created into a separate town. It would be a comparitively easy matter to create a sufficient strength to favor license and have the sale of liquor legalized and with local conditions that might, and probably would become of such an offensive character that Quincy, with its long no-license record, would be warranted in finding that the legislature, which made it possible for such conditions to exist, had not treated her fairly.

The City Solicitor then put in exhibits covering the facts as to expenditures of money, receipts, voters, and signers to petitions which he used in his argument.

MAYOR STONE.

At first it was arranged that none but the two attorneys would address the gathering. But the chairman of the committee called on Mayor Stone, who delivered a stirring address in closing the meeting. He said in part: "I wish it distinctly understood that all facts that have been presented by Mr. McAnarney here this morning are facts, stubborn as facts sometime may seem. All figures given have been diligently compiled and the greatest diligence has been exercised in formulating arguments that would show that the so-called establishment of Seagirt is unwarrantable. I am sorry to see that certain residents of Houghs Neck are seeking separation from Quincy, at a time when the "City of Presidents" is on the eve of a most prosperous era.

"I have always done all that was within my power to do for Houghs Neck in the past and I intend to do all that I can for it in the future, but it certainly will prove a bane for other sections of the city to awaken to a realization of the fact that for the past four years. my predecessor in office has done more for Houghs Neck than for any other number of citizens in the City of Quincy.

"The movement, I am glad to say, is not fostered by the majority of residents, but is being pushed by those seeking personal aggrandizement. To establish the town of Seagirt would mean the establishment of a liquor license. This the voters of Quincy do not want because they are continually registering their protests against it. The arguments and facts advanced by those in favor I claim are untrue. Seagirt would mean a rum license. I hope the building laws will be enforced and that this most beautiful section of the city will still ally itself with Quincy, which has fostered it in its days of adversity and which will still continue to extend it the affection of her heart in the future."

At the conclusion of the meeting, a prominent member of the committee approched City Solicitor McAnarney and Mayor Stone and congratulated both of them on the exposition of their side in relation to the separation of Houghs Neck, adding that it was the ablest, most complete, most accurate and best planned outline of argument and presentation of a case that he had ever experienced as a member of a committee during his many years as a solon on Beacon hill.

Others to speak for the bill were Matthew J. Connors, John T. Cavanagh, William O'Brien and Daniel Maloney.

—There is a good deal of common sense in what William Barnes, Jr., of New York has to say concerning Theodore Roosevelt; and it might be applied in other quarters, perhaps. Amid all the specific differences within the republican party there is the strong binding tie of republican principles. The differences have been rather of method than of principle. There remains the sound basis upon which all republicans may stand, an dit is of more importance in the long run than questions of detail. Out of all this disputation and wrangling will come, not a split and disorganized party pointed for defeat at the polls, but a party the stronger for frank speaking, cleaner for self-scrubbing.—Boston Record.

It is complained that Dickens said mean things about America. But this country was a kid then, and few youngsters learn table manners without outside assistance.

The Best of Canned Goods
RASPBERRIES
There are a great many brands of canned raspberries—some good—some indescribably poor—some in well filled cans—some very thin and watery. To get the best Quality means careful market searching. That's what we have done. Every can is well filled with extra fine Red Raspberries put up in heavy syrup, making a quality of canned fruit that is absolutely unapproachable by any other brand.
THE RIVAL BRAND
Canned Raspberries A can 18c
R.E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

WRITINGS OF JAMES L. ALLEN

Ninth Lesson in Modern Literature by Mrs. Gurney

AT BRAINTREE

At the home of Mrs. Albert E. Avery, East Braintree, club women met Wednesday afternoon for the ninth lesson in modern literature by Mrs. Herbert Gurney under the auspices of the Literature committee of the Quincy Women's club. Mrs. John O. Short chairman.

James Lane Allen was an interesting subject and the afternoon was most enjoyable. Mrs. Gurney first gave a sketch of his early surroundings—saying he was born in Lexington, Kentucky, 1849—the youngest of seven, he came of good blood and excellent breeding. The finances of the family had been reduced and they now lived on a farm. Though a delicate child he was early taught to learn to care for himself. She described the fine old brick house with its large ell—and the living room and window which was his point of observation, where he peered out on a yard of cedars, field pastures etc, he had a natural power of nature observation, the frost covered panes made by Jack Frost always delighted him,— he knew the birds in the cedars and loved all except the blue jay (the thief) the crow and buzzard. In the spring he learned the trees, flowers herbs insects and stock of that beautiful blue grass region—this wonderful knowledge of actual observation was the greatest heritage of his life. After graduating from college he was a teacher and later a professor of Latin at Bethany college, Virginia.

His short stories are of exquisite quality, "Flute and Violin" and "Two gentlemen of Kentucky" are of great Worth. When he paints a picture with words he paints it to mean something—beautiful pictures of nature brook, birds, fleecy clouds, sunsets, heat and splendor of mid-summer day are right backgrounds for his characters who are strong, sensible ordinary beings. Mrs. Gurney sketched the story of "A Kentucky Cardinal" and read from some selections from the book, she also sketched that little volume, which is as full of charm as anything he has penned, "Aftermath," which forms a sequel to "A Kentucky Cardinal." Light in treatment at times almost to airiness, brief, with a theme so slender that it cannot be termed a plot, we can find in it the art of the author at its best. It deals merely with a garden-courtship, a marriage, and interruption of the harmony by the death of the woman, but the sacredness of a great passion and the impression of love's persistence in spite of earthly parting, are conveyed in a little idyll that should not be missed. Humor plays through it like a flicker of a flame, never long present, never far off. Full of gaiety are these lovers, and deeper and deeper becomes their love after the Wedding, and then the "heavenly but human secret" comes down to earth. Lastly comes the great Interloper to leave the man brooding over the mystery. The chief beauty of the book lies in its perfectly naturalness and simplicity and with it predecessors, it forms one of the most delicate romances its author has ever written.

Mrs. Gurney also spoke of the author's very unusual children and some precocious talk, the children are so unusual that one suspects the presence of considerable element of actual portraiture.

She briefly spoke of his marvellous and wonderful description of hemp raising in the "Reign of Law" and she sketched and read from "The Choir Invisible" as well as "The bride of the Mistletoe" and "The Doctor's Christmas Eve."

The characters in books mentioned formed topics for a lively and interesting discussion especially the last three which was opened by Mrs. Short followed by Mrs. Alden, Mrs. Fenno, Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Spillane and other." The increasing purpose" and "The Mettle of the Pasture" were also mentioned.

Mrs. Gurney closed the discussion, introducing the Greek myths and instincts of worship, worship of sex, joyful mystery of the Christmas tree to children, the author's life in New York, his sincerity and spirituality doing indomitable service in one of the finest causes of the world, true literary style and purity of thought. All are looking forward to his next book.

Mrs. Short announced that the next and last lesson, March 20 will be on Margaret Deland at the club house, followed by a tea. Members of the Quincy Women's club are invited to come on their membership ticket.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Special Lenten devotions were held in St. John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches last evening. The services in both churches were largely attended and consisted of the rosary sermon and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrement.

In the Church of St. John the Baptist, the sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. John B. Holland of Weymouth. His subject was "Prayer."

In the course of his remarks, the speaker gave an explanation of the significance of the Lord's prayer, the Hail Mary and the Apostles' Creed. He laid down the necessity of having continual recourse to prayer, thus requiting God the innermost affection of the heart, in order to merit the rewards in store for those who keep the Divine mandates.

The regular choir, under direction of organist, John Mahon, rendered music during the services and Rev. Patrick J. Scannell, assistant pastor, was the officiating clergyman.

The speaker at the services in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, was Rev. Ambrose A. Dore, of St. Catherine's church, Somerville, who gave a very eloquent sermon on the "Passion in Gethsemane." Fr. Dore, in the course of his speech, took occasion to warn the congregation of the impending evils that were vehemently attacking the church and strongly scored socialism in that its establishment would overthrow all present law and order, thus eliminating God.

Rev. William J. Duffy, assistant pastor, said the rosary and benediction. The regular choir furnished music.

BREWSTER FAMILY ASSEMBLY.

Descendants of Elder William Brewster from several towns in Massachusetts, from Maine and Connecticut, gathered Wednesday in the rooms of the Pilgrim and Puritan Society of Families, 15 Beacon street, Boston, and held their first mid-winter assembly. Over thirty members of this widely scattered family registered during the day, and numerous letters of interest were received.

A constitution was adopted and a full board of officers elected. The name of the new organization will be "The Society of the Descendants of Elder William Brewster." Circulars will be issued and may be had by addressing the Brewster Department of the above society, the society having voted to associate with, and have a department in the General Society. It was voted to hold the annual meeting on July 4th, in Plymouth, or nearby.

Officers elected were: William Brewster, president; Francis Doane, vice president; Rev. William Brewster, Elder; A. E. Linnell, secretary; Geo. O. Stimpson, treasurer; Frank Brewster, council, and Albert A. Tilden, N. C. Nash, William Brewster 2d, Mrs. N. D. Loud, Mrs. E. B. Brewster, directors.

Elder William Brewster was the organizer and the moving spirit of the Pilgrims who gave us our civil and religious liberty.

Breakfast for a Man.

Just what is the correct food for breakfast? Some hold that the Scottish hardiness is directly due to the national devotion to oatmeal. On the other hand, a famous physician once adduced, as proof of the superior vigor of the inhabitants of Scotland the fact that they can survive such a lot of oatmeal. To add to our confusion, here are the views of old Mr Jordan.

He had brought up from the village station the trunks and express packages belonging to the artists from New York who were spending the summer in the cabin on the old Jordan place, and had waited good-naturedly to open the boxes for the ladies.

On opening the box of groceries, he found that one package had been pierced by a nail. As he looked at the contents sprinkling themselves liberally over the floor, he smiled tolerantly.

"Curious now, ain't it," he remarked "how folk's tastes differs? I've seen folks that reely made themselves think they liked that sawdust, and that it done 'em good! Now I got no use for them breakfast foods that digest on you.

"The kind of breakfast I want is plenty of buckwheat cakes and sausages"—old Mr. Jordan straightened up vigorously—"suthin' that sets heavy on the chest, and nourishes on you."—Youth's Companion.

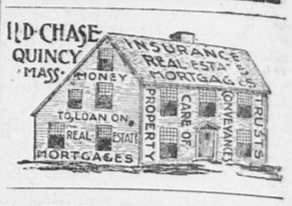
India Not a Nation.

There is no Indian nation, and the nations of India differ, not only in interests, history and tradition, but they differ in regard to race feeling, and there is strong hatred and jealousy between parts of India still. There is nothing that keeps the peace in India but British rule.

Too Late For Classification.

LOST—A gold rimmed watch charm, Cloisonne enamel, Japanese. The finder is requested to return it or notify the owner through the mail, addressed to Post Office box 94, Quincy, Mass., or to W. N. Little, Office of the Inspector of Machinery, U. S. Navy, Works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., Quincy Mass. 7-1t

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!



PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & Co.

Bay State Street Railway Company
TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911
(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M..) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6. 5, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 58 QUINCY MASS., FRIDAY EVENING MARCH 8, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

GRAND PATRIARCH SAM WOOD, JR. GIVEN ROYAL RECEPTION

Manet Encampment I.O.O.F. Honors the Newly Elected Grand Patriarch and Board of Grand Officers

Jewel Presented. Banquet and Dance Follows

Samuel Wood, Jr., of Atlantic, who was installed as Grand Patriarch of the Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F. at the annual meeting of the Grand Encampment at Odd Fellows hall, Boston, Thursday was given a most royal reception Thursday evening at Alpha hall by the members of Manet encampment, of which he is a member.

The affair was very largely attended by patriarchs and their ladies and was a most enjoyable evening.

Grand Patriarch Wood was accompanied by the full board of grand officers who included the following:

Grand High Priest—Walter F. Johnson.

Grand Senior Warden—Fred W. Bartlett.

Grand Junior Warden—Bert J. Whitmore.

Grand Scribe—George H. Fuller.

Grand Treasurer— Nathaniel H. Very.

Grand Marshal—George W. Gray.

Grand Inside Sentinel—Albert W. Bullock.

Grand Outside Sentinel—Robert Pray.

Grand Representatives—Herbert N. Kingsbury, P. G. P. and Henry E. Ruggles.

Grand Instructors—Geo. A. Hartley, George A. Highway, Oscar A. Marden and Charles F. West.

He was also accompanied by Past Grand Sire, Alfred S. Pinkerton, Grand Representative, William C. Collett and P. G. P. Frank Bartlett.

Representatives from other jurisdictions present included:

Grand Patriarch William C. Patterson and Grand Scribe, Hendrick A. Currier of New Hampshire.

Grand Patriarch, Franklin N. Cantfield, and Grand Scribe, William S. Hutchinson of Connecticut.

Grand Patriarch Benjamin Burlinger and Grand Scribe Henry Walker of New York.

Samuel Wood, senior and Mrs. Wood, father and mother of the new Grand Patriarch were also numbered among the many present and the happy smile which illuminated their faces told only too plainly how pleased they were that their son should have been elevated to so high a position. They also came in for considerable attention and were accorded a seat of honor at the banquet table.

The evening's program opened with a reception to Grand Patriarch Wood, all of the Grand Officers being in the receiving line with him. The ushers were James Moorehead, Jr., Wm. A. Richards, Arthur W. Stetson, Chas. H. Wood, Charles Barron, Walter H. Walker, C. P. and George A. Kennedy.

After the reception Chief Patriarch Walker briefly welcomed Grand Patriarch Wood and the honored guests, in behalf of Manet encampment, after which he introduced Past Grand Patriarch Herbert N. Kingsbury as the toast master.

One of the first duties of the toast master was to present to Grand Patriarch Wood, a handsome jewel of his office, in behalf of the members of Manet encampment. The Grand Patriarch briefly responded, thanking

(Continued on Page Three.)

IMPERIAL VAUDEVILLE WAS MOST FINISHED PERFORMANCE

Sixth Annual Show of Wollaston Young People's Social Society at Unitarian Church

Many Pretty Stage Effects and Accessories

"Imperial Vaudeville once more made its annual appearance at the Wollaston Unitarian vestry on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Wollaston Young People's Social society, the production being the sixth of its kind.

Not only were the artists high above the ordinary but many stage effects and accessories contributed in making the performance one of the most finished that has been known locally. A new and most artistic proscenium added to the successes of the evening.

Selections from the "Pink Lady" constituted the opening overture of the Imperial orchestra which consisted of William E. Weston, Max O. Pinkham, Joseph Horan and George A. Holmes.

First on the program, came the "Sociagraph" depicting "The Village Beautiful." This consisted of a large number of views showing Wollaston's places of interest and beauty, especially made and colored for the performance.

Professor Edison Faraday's exhibition of "Modern Electrophysical Necromancy" which was advertised to produce startling and brilliant effects and phantasmagorial illusions kept its promise.

By means of a magic cabinet seemingly alive with electric sparks, the professor first materialized out of thin air a vase of flowers, following it first with a small and then a life size doll.

As an electromechanical automaton the life size doll performed a series of jerky evolutions in realistic fashion.

A scenic masterpiece showing Miss Ruth Cahill, the large doll seated in an airship in full flight was the next pleasing feature. Miss Cahill contributed "Come take a trip in my new monoplane" and was heartily encored.

A reproduction of Lillian Lorraine's "Swing Song" from the "Follies of 1910" closed Professor Faraday's act. The scene showed the two dolls, the smaller, little Miss Bernadine Barker being seated in a swing resplendent with colored lights and foliage.

Teleauphones distributed around the vestry brought the different notes of the song from every direction and proved very effective. To Roy C. Baker, much credit is due for his part as Professor Faraday and his skillful arrangements of the electrical effects.

Irving L Shaw, in songs and monologue as "Mrs. Dooley" was easily the hit of the evening. Attired as a striking blonde of large proportions with picturs hat and evening gown his appearance elicited much applause

His original song of "The Hill and the Plain" was exceedingly funny and told of the trials of Wollaston housekeepers. A monologue which was a rigmarole of local hits and references brought down the house.

An impersonation of Elizabeth Murray in "Play me that Dublin rag" from "Madame Sherry" was the concluding hit and in it Mr. Shaw showed his grace as a dancer.

Tableaux vivants giving "Glimpses of the Civil War" were effectively staged under the direction of Arthur W. Rohn. These consisted of six scenes of a highly artistic nature, the lighting effects being beautiful. They included:

"Soldier's Farewell"—Edward R. Hall, Miss Persis A. Thompson.

"Tending Tonight"—Edward R. Hall, Arvin Page, Winslow Weston, A. W. Story.

"The Sentinel's Dream"—Edward R. Hall.

"After the Battle"—Ensemble.

"Rally 'Round the Flag"—A. W. Story, Edward R. Hall, Arvin Page, Winslow Weston.

"Liberty"—Mrs. R. C. Baker.

The first public appearance of William Northrop as a cartoonist assured the future success of that young man. With a piece of crayon and ready hand a few deft lines were drawn and the jovial countenance of William H. Taft, our chief executive appeared. The next stunt "The seven Ages of Man" transformed a baby by easy stages into a venerable patriarch. A potato was changed into an Irishman with equal facility.

(Continued on Page Three.)

MEETING QUINCY CATHOLIC CLUB

A largely attended business meeting and sale of household articles was held Thursday evening by the ladies of the Quincy Catholic club, in the rooms of the Knights of Columbus club in the Savings Bank building. No articles was marked more than twenty-five cents and it was not long before all sold out was the report. A goodly sum was netted as a result of the sale.

There was a little other than routine business at the business session after which the meeting was adjourned for two weeks.

☞It is the intention of the Cigarmakers' Union of Greater Boston to continue booming the home industry until Boston and vicinity becomes the cigar center of the United States.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912. Feb. 24—to May 1

LADIES PRESENT FARCE AT FAIR

There Was a Good Moral in "How the Story Grew"

POINT CHURCH

The annual two days' fair of the Ladies' Aid society, of the Quincy Point church was brought to a successful close Thursday evening with a supper and entertainment. The supper was of a very tempting order and nearly 300 people enjoyed it. The menu included cold meat, rolls, macaroni, cheese, beans, pies and coffee.

After supper the stage was cleared and the farce, "How the story grew," was presented by members of the Ladies' Aid society. The plot was based on the story of Mrs. Brown's absence from home, which as it passed from mouth to mouth, grew with such stupendous proportions that when Mrs. White tells it she has the poor woman dead and on the way to the cemetery.

The parts were very well taken and Mrs. Marcus White as Mrs. Brown was especially good. The play was witnessed by a large crowd, among whom was His Honor the Mayor who appeared to enjoy it immensely.

The cast was as follows:

Mrs. Brown,	Mrs. M. S. Wight
Mrs. Green,	Mrs. George E. Bailey
Mrs. Bean,	Mrs. C. P. Marshall
Mrs. Rice,	Mrs. R. H. Newcomb
Mrs. Doolittle,	Mrs. P. H. Holman
Mrs. Snow,	Mrs. C. W. Newcomb
Mrs. Taylor,	Mrs. A. B. Foster
Mrs. White,	Mrs. Wade Shorter

During the intermission piano duets were rendered by Mrs. A. B. Foster and Miss Clara Bushnell. These were well rendered and greatly appreciated by the audience.

During the evening, except while the play was in progress, the sale of articles at the women's booth was brisk. The room presented a very attractive appearance with its pretty decorations and tables, full of things good to look upon and things good to eat.

The tables were in charge of the following ladies:

Mystery—Mrs. Webster Newcomb.

Cake—Mrs. Thomas Lincoln, and Mrs. Thomas Lincoln, Jr.

Candy—Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. James Melville, Mrs. William Pearson and Miss Evelyn Hayden.

Apron—Mrs. Charles Sherburne and Mrs. Herbert Bonney.

Fancy—Mrs. C. W. Newcomb, and Mrs. Thomas McKenna.

Punch—Mrs. Eugene R. Stone and Mrs. Dr. Bushnell.

Grab bag—Mrs. Walter Perry.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

MONTHLY SOCIAL BAPTIST CHURCH

The monthly church social of the Wollaston Baptist church took place in the chapel, Wednesday evening, with a goodly number in attendance. A novel feature of the supper was the baking and serving of hot biscuits by men in the employ of the Automatic Flour company.

The evening's program was in charge of Charles M. Roach, who announced as the first number a piano duet by Mrs. Joseph Walther and Mrs. Charles M. Roach.

Readings by Mrs. Pope of the Emerson School of Oratory, trombone solos by H. F. Nash of Campello, whistling solos by Miss Grace Parker and piano duets made up a delightful evening.

The supper committee, headed by Mrs. G. B. Huntington, consisted of Mrs. George Sewall, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. C. A. Kempton, Mrs. J. H. Marceau, Mrs. George McQueen, Mrs. George Pinkham, Mrs. Herbert Pinkham, Mrs. Fritz, Mrs. C. E. Goodspeed, Mrs. Arnt, Mrs. Baizley, Mrs. Charles Kimball, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Gardiner, Mrs. Moses Brown and Mrs. Church.

Composing the entertainment committee were Mrs. Kendall F. Harriman, Mrs. C. A. Kempton and Mrs. Charles B. Hall.

Telephone 1196-M.

Robert F. Leighton

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.

8-1 m

SOME FIGURES ON CITY DEBT

James S. Whiting Writes About All Important Question

COMPARISONS

Editor of Ledger:

In 1891 the tax rate of this city was $13.60.

As an illustration of the deplorable condition into which the finaces of our city have fallen since that low tax rate era I will use for illustration a few figures tabulated from the returns of 1908. That year is selected because the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics has digested all of the various cities and towns expenditures and receipts for that year thus allowing Quincy's financial transactions to be compared with other cities of the Commonwealth.

In 1908 the tax rate was $20.50 upon a total valuation of $28,610,390. with current charges against the revenue of $749,562. and a revenue for current charges of $668.069, making a deficiency of revenue of $81,493. With the

(Continued on Page Two.)

☞Morning, noon and night, plain or toasted, PRATT'S BREAD is delicious.

WEAR OUR HATS

And You'll Be Dressed Right From Your Head Up, Anyway

The newest wrinkle in stitched hats, full of the latest kinks of Fashion for the Fellow who wants something "different"

$2

Lamson & Hubbard

Hats

Best in America

$3.00 At Our Store

The Hancock Special has all the ear marks of a $3.00 hat, except the price, which is

$2

"IF IT'S HATS, WE HAVE IT"

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.

CITY SQUARE - - QUINCY

Class in Every Detail The E. & W. Shirts

The Keynote of the Spring and Summer styles. Fresh from the watchful designer and the careful cutter comes these new shirts for the most discriminating male dresser.

You see class in every detail—the lines, the fabric, color schemes and finish. They are the best known and to the minds of many well-groomed men there is nothing in better taste than the famous

E. & W. SHIRTS

New Spring Styles, each $1.50

E. & W. Red Men Collars, 2 for 25c

E. & W. Soft Collars, each. 25c

We also have a full line of Spring Shirts in handsome color effects at $1.00 each; and Soft Collars at 15 cents or 2 for 25 cents.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 7–3t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

It may be all right to recall the judges, but if next summer they recall the umpires, the foundations of the republic will be shaken.

We had been expecting that Mr. Roosevelt would send on for a lock of Mr. Taft's hair, but he seems now to be out to take the whole scalp.

The ice harvest is called the best ever, but unfortunately for the Summer Girl old Sis Cow has to be consulted before we learn the price of ice cream.

If the five grand daughters of Charles Dickens emulate the spirit of their grandad, they will take in sewing before becoming recipients of a charity fund.

Mr. Morgan's firm is said to have got $70,000,000 for organizing the Steel Trust, but the farmer's boy need not think that everyone who goes to the city can pick up these chances.

Rev. Dr. Abbott of the Outlook has gone to Bermuda for rest. Trotting after the Roosevelt band wagon is quite different from writing editorials on the True, the Good, and the Beautiful.

If the Lorimer investigating committee can't find anything else to take up time with, they might investigate the question as to what is the best food to make hens lay.

In a few years the Chinese republic may be questioning whether it is better to be beheaded by the Manchu dynasty, or have your insides squashed out by the political steam roller.

McMillan and Borup from Peary's party are going up to explore Greenland this summer, and they will risk catching their death o'cold to learn whether the snow drifts are 2000 feet deep or only 1990.

Mr. Shuster may have handled the Persian treasury successfully, but we would like to see what he could do in one of our cities with the aldermen of each ward hollering for sewers and sidewalks.

A visitor to the United States Senate gallery was told that he had violated the rules of that body the other day, when he took out a memorandum book to answer a lady's question, but spending $100,000 to get elected to that body of course is a trifling happening not worthy of action.

If the President of the Board of Trade will see to it that the meetings are not quite so long drawn out it will meet with popular favor. Usually when 10 o'clock comes most of those present have had enough, and many of them quietly put on their coats and steal away.

The move of the Board of Trade to get a new train to Boston in the vicinity of 1 o'clock is a good one. Now if they would only get an inward train between 2.19 and 4.25 in the afternoon that stops both at Quincy and Atlantic it would also be a good thing. As it is now, it is impossible to go from Quincy to Atlantic between these hours by train.

THE AMERICAN RIVIERA.

Both the Atlantic coast of Florida and the resorts a little farther north, and the southern California shore, claim this semi-tropical title. In both can you find many exotic scenes, as unlike the sober working life of our people as Monte Carlo's dream skies and empty glitter are unlike workaday Paris and London.

To the Northern eye there is intoxication in the lavish tropical foliage of February. Normal minded men and women should be happy to sit still and let the peace of Southern sunlight sink into their zero sharpened nerves.

But somehow the more a man has been able to grasp in this life, the less real freedom he acquires, the faster he dictates the letters to his brokers, and shovels out the telegrams without counting the words.

If you are curious to feast your eyes on the very rich, and see what a society looks like in which "divorsays" are more numerous than babies, every opportunity is offered in these great resort hotels. The woman at the next table with the rustly silks, and the white shoulders criss-crossed with jewels, may quite possibly say "He done that" when she takes the risky course of opening her mouth. Nowhere else will you have so good a chance to see the effect of a sudden transition from the wash-tub to diamonds.

But the time has gone by when the travelling public is made up only of the wealthy. Everywhere in the Southern resorts are farmers and small business men and mechanics who have saved for years for this shining holiday of wanderlust. In some simple boarding house they all sit down to one table to the cheery sound of the dinner bell and the expense of their journey is not much greater than home fare except for the railroad tickets. They make a day's excursion to the haunts of society, and even the cat from the barn yard may look at the king of steel.

People who visit only the large hotels, in their mission to see and be seen, learn little about the real life of our country. Better than Florida's finest hotels, are the quaint cross roads centers, where the hatchet faced New Englander can swap ideas with the be-whiskered colonel and find out after all they think about alike.

Better is the February note of thrush and mocking bird, than hired strains of the finest orchestra; and better the laughter of Black Ceasar, with his hitch-up of ox and mule, come to town to buy purple calico for the home folks, than the purr of the swiftest and most silent motor.

THE COAL SITUATION.

While there is strong hope of avoiding a coal strike in this country, conferences now in progress between the Pennsylvania coal operators and the representatives of 180,000 anthracite miners do not appear to be proceeding satisfactorily. Whether the immense coal strike now in Great Britain will much affect the coal situation in Pennsylvania remains to be seen. It is not likely, at any rate, to foster a spirit of concession and conciliation. Meantime, coal dealers in New York city and elsewhere are telling their customers to stock up with anthracite before the last of April; and this is not a scheme to boom the spring coal trade. If a crisis is avoided, so much the better; but it is well to be in a position to meet contingencies with comparative equanimity.—Taunton Herald.

IN THE SAME BOAT.

When one is inclined to censure the Quincy authorities for allowing such conditions as caused the death by fire of three men, he has only to look back a very, very few years to the day when a similiar fatality occurred at Waltham. There are buildings in Waltham today that are in the most dangerous degree firetraps, buildings where egress by strangers is difficult in the daytime under the most favorable conditions. If a fire occurs in those buildings at night and some one is not killed it will be a miracle says the Waltham Free Press.

STREET LIGHTING.

Proper street lighting has come to be regarded in most cities as a good investment, and therefore it would seem there was merit in the order that the reporters tells is to be presented to the common council.

Well lighted streets stand out as badges of progressiveness in contradistinction to the mute testimony of backwardness which poorly illuminated thoroughfares impress upon the minds of visitors within the city's gates. Besides being an evidence of progressiveness proper street lighting promotes a sense of security on the part of those who have to be out after dark and imparts an air of cheerfulness which makes a city a more desirable and more attractive place in which to live and do business.

Brockton has always been fortunate that it has had well-lighted streets but she cannot go too far along this line.

Good lighting is an asset in that it attracts trade; it attracts inhabitants, also, and more trade and more inhabitants mean more material prosperity Good lighting is also an asset in the sense that criminality shuns the bright spots. An arc lamp oftentimes affords as much protection as a policeman and costs a great deal less. Not only is property more secure under the glare of a street lamp, but pedestrians are more at ease where light shines than when compelled to traverse dark and uninviting highways.

It is only within comparatively recent years that merchants have realized the value of plenty of illumination in their shops. The strides made in this direction in Brockton in the last decade have been phenomenal. As with the merchants so with cities; the lessons learned by the leaders in merchandising is impressing itself upon the public-spirited citizens and in many places whole rows of arcs make the trade marts attractive—Brockton Enterprise.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

Women's Club to Hear About the House Fly March 18

PERSONALS

A hearing on the Fairmount annexation bill was held in the State house, Thursday morning.

W. L. W. Field will be the speaker before the Milton Education society, at the meeting to be held at the Public Library on the evening of March 13. His subject will be "Teaching the Elements of Reproduction and Heredity."

Prof. William H. Wheeler will talk on "The House Fly" at the meeting of the Women's club, March 18.

The Milton choral society held a rehearsal in the Parish house, Thursday evening.

The inter-class wrestling matches at the Cunningham gymnasium will be held next week.

Rev. Charles W. Casson of the Third Religious society will deliver his second of a series in Lenten sermons, Sunday.

William Reynolds of Brush ill road has accepted a position with the Vacuum Oil company of Boston.

Mrs. Ernest W. Bowditch is to give a dance in the Town hall, shortly after Easter in honor of her niece, Miss Elizabeth B. Hubbard.

Edward W. Manahan of Edge Hill road has returned from New York, where he has been visiting friends.

Dr. Agnes C. Victor of Boston spoke on "Girls," at the meeting of the Tucker School Association, Thursday afternoon in the school hall. Solos were rendered by Miss Harriet Whittier.

The B. B. Fraternity, composed of a number of High school boys will hold an invitation party this evening in the Town hall.

Thomas F. Minton of Granite street has gone to Manchester, N. H., for three weeks.

John Pearce of Church street has gone to New York to engage in business.

Succumbing to scarlet fever that she had contracted three weeks ago in performing settlement work among Boston's poor, Miss Eleanor B. Tileston, aged 26, daughter of the late John Boies Tileston and a well-known Vincent Club girl, died Thursday at the home of her mother in Milton.

Although extremely popular among her many friends, Miss Tileston preferred to bend her energies in performing uplift work for those less fortunate than herself.

She had begun practical and beneficial settlement labors at the South End with enthusiasm that had already won her many friends. Part of her work was being performed at the Denison House, and part under direction of the Dorchester Association of Charities.

Three weeks ago, when she was stricken with scarlet fever, she was removed to her mother's home in Milton. She passed successfully the critical period, but when her recovery seemed probable complications set in and for the last three days she was in a critical condition.

Miss Tileston was born in Brookline, but was educated in Milton and in Boston. She was the youngest of several brothers and sisters.

Besides her mother, Mrs. Mary Wilder Tileston, there survive these brothers and sister: Miss Mary Tileston, who is engaged in settlement work as a deaconess; Roger Tileston of Sharon, Mrs. Margaret Edsal, wife of Dr. David Edsal of St. Louis; Dr. Wilder Tileston, professor in Yale Medical School; Miss Amelia P. Tileston of Milton and Mrs. Frederic A. Eustis of Milton, who before her marriage was Miss Edith Tileston.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.
Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar.
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

SOME FIGURES ON CITY DEBT

(Continued from Page One.)

exception of Chelsea it was the highest deficit in the whole state. The city which came next to Quincy was Lawrence with a deficit of $72,176. Pittsfield, Waltham, Chicopee, Beverly, Taunton, Northampton, Medford, and Newburyport, all cities in our class show an excess of revenue over their expenditures ranging from $4,400. for Taunton to $63,200. for Beverly.

Taking these figures of Quincy's financial condition at their face value it appears as though the true tax rate for 1908 should have been approximately $23.50 instead of the assessed rate of $20.50.

Apparently Quincy stands today as a strong competitor of Lawrence as being in the most disgraceful financial condition of any city or town in the Commonwealth. The debt and interest charges which are now saddled upon the tax-payers (and every resident is either directly or indirectly a tax-payer) is out of all proportion to its population and valuation, and this debt instead of being diminished is being piled higher and higher each succeeding year by our City Council until now it amounts to considerably over $2,000,000.

In 1908 Quincy with a total funded debt of $1,840,060 had a percentage of net debt to its valuation of nearly six and one-half per cent. That percentage was higher than 28 other cities in the state. Lawrence is continually being held up as the scape-goat of municipal financiering, but its percentage was less than four, being two and one-half percent better off than Quincy on a basis of the relation of indebtedness to valuation.

For the same year the current charges against revenue in Quincy were $749,561; of this sum $423,540 (57 per cent) was expended on the current expenses of the various departments such as the schools, the police and fire departments and various others; $137,224 (18 percent) went for the payment of interest and metropolitan assessments; and the remainder $188,796 (25 per cent) toward debt requirements. Of 104 cities and towns in this state Quincy makes by far the poorest showing of any city or town whose expenditures for maintenance (current expenses of the various departments) show the smallest percentage of total charges against revenue. Lawrence, for all it has been declared bankrupt, is, figuring on this basis, in a much better condtion, but 9 per cent of its charges against revenue being devoted to interest and but 12 per cent to debt requirements while 79 per cent of the total revenue charges are devoted to current expenses against our paltry 57 percent. Quincy's percentage is on so low a level that it can literally be said to have no competitor for so dubious an "honor."

Looking at the debt situation from another point of view Quincy's net debt in 1908 was $1,840,060 on a valuation of $28,610,390. Lawrence's debt for the same year was $2,357,715 against a valuation of $56,473,458.

In 1908 Quincy borrowed $500,000 in anticipation of taxes, called a "tax loan." During the same year $463,000 of this tax loan was cancelled, presumably leaving an unpaid balance of $37,000. "Bankrupt Lawrence" the same year borrowed $946,000 in anticipation of taxes and in the same year cancelled the whole of the loan!

Assuming that the unpaid tax loan balances now amount to $150,000 I can see that we have before us a tax rate of $25.00, or what amounts to the same thing, a general jacking up of real-estate and personal property values to meet this deficiency. And after that tax loan balance is liquidated what assurance have we that in the following year and thereafter another bunch of unpaid tax loans will not be piled up to create still higher taxes?

I believe that Wollaston will be much better off if it separates from a city which is wallowing in debt and interests charges, and seems to gladly embrace every opportunity to pile them still higher. With higher taxes and increased valuations, and with but little to show in the way of improvements I fail to see what we are to gain by contributing $120,000 yearly towards Quincy's support.

James S. Whiting.

Wollaston, March 6, 1912.

"PETE" IS MISSED.

Editor of Ledger:—

There are many today who miss the clatter of hoofs on the pavement and the cry of "here comes Pete" and since the whistle is also out of commission, life seems hardly worth living to the fire fiend. Won't somebody have a little pity and tune up something?

"We miss you, noble chieftain,
Whatever the world may say,
And in spite of politicians,
Hope to see you back some day."

South Quincy.

☞PRATT'S BREAD is more expensive, but it is worth more.

A WOMAN'S LOYALTY

Hires Husband Thirty Days For $500 to Keep Him From Prison

Asheville, N. C., March 8.—Placing a much higher value on his services than anyone else, Mrs. P. H. Thrash hired her husband from the board of county commissioners for one month for $500, payable in advance.

Thrash, wealthy and well connected, had been found guilty of keeping liquor to sell to retailers in this prohibition section and was sentenced by Judge Long to pay a fine of $2000, costs of $400 and be imprisoned thirty days.

On the tearful petition of the wife, however, the judge stipulated that if the county commissioners chose to do so they they might hire the defendant for this term to the highest bidder for not less than $500. The board decided to take the money, and in default of other bids the defendant was struck off to the wife for $500 which she promptly paid.

HOME RULE MUST WAIT

Asquith Says Bill Will Not Be Introduced Yet Awhile

London, March 8.—The home rule bill is not to be introduced into the house of commons before Easter. Premier Asquith, in announcing its postponement, said that the exigencies of parliamentary business were such that it would be impossible to introduce the measure before the Easter vacation.

The premier's statement was greeted with ironic cheers by the Opposition and loud shouts of "Manchester," the reference being to the recent bye-election in that city, when Sir Arthur Haworth, who was seeking re-election after his appointment as junior lord of the treasury, was defeated by P. K. Glazebrook, the Unionist candidate.

TODAY'S COURT.

Francis D. Cochrane was fined $25 for reckless driving of an automobile at Milton. Cochrane came through the village Thursday night without lights and ran into a buggy owned and driven by Elleton James. The buggy was somewhat smashed but the occupants were unijured.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

8—Dance— Comitas Club — Alpha Hall.
8—Dance—P. S. Club, Colonial Hall.
8—Vaudeville—Wol. Young People's Social Club.
8—Friday Club.
9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Banquet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Founder's Day—Woodward Institute.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

What the Depositor Gets At This Bank

We do much more for you than merely to safeguard your cash. We supply you with the means of paying your bills most conveniently, promptly and uniformly. We keep open at accommodating hours. We give you access to commercial ratings anywhere in the United States. We are ready to advise with you on financial matters. Call any day during banking hours.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

COME IN HERE— AND HEAR
Our New Aero Tone Piano Player

Last month at the New York Furniture Show Mr. Kincaide's attention was attracted by this splendid instrument. He inquired, tested, proved—approved. Then he secured the agency for Quincy, so now we say to you, "Come in and hear it."

Closed up it looks just like an ordinary beautiful mahogany Piano, and can be used exactly the same. The player mechanism is concealed by a very neat sliding panel just above the keyboard. In like manner the foot pedals are out of sight when not needed, showing only the regular piano pedals.

You'll find it in our Piano Department on the street floor, near door. We'll be very glad to have you come in and hear it, and learn of its low price and easy terms.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BROKER RICE GIVEN ONE YEAR IN JAIL

Partner's Sentence Is Suspended In Conspiracy Case

New York, March 8.—George G. Rice and B. H. Scheftels, who, with the other members of the firm of B. H. Scheftels & Co., have been on trial for the past five months in the United States district court for alleged conspiracy and misuse of the mails, pleaded guilty to the indictments.

Judge Ray sentenced Rice to serve one year in jail, the date of the sentence beginning Dec. 29 last, when he was put in the Tombs after one of the jurors had been approached. Scheftes was released on a suspended sentence.

The plea of guilty was the result of a compromize, which was consummated when Rice and the United States district attorney held a two hour and a half conference.

Resumes Presidency of Panama

Panama, March 8.—Pablo Arosemena has resumed the office of president of Panama in response to the appeals of friends who considered that he would not be chosen at the approaching presidential election.

He is the best physician who is the most ingenious inspirer of hope.—Coleridge

If you live at Quincy Neck
You can get the Daily Ledger
after 3.30 P. M.
at the store of
J. S. Pierce

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.

If you want to get a realistic picture of how the "badger game" is commonly worked don't fail to see "The Deep Purple," the Armstrong-Mizner powerful play of the great white way, which enters upon the third week of its engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, on next Monday. The play is one of the greatest, serious and realistic plays of its kind seen in Boston for a long time. In fact it is a classic in its class, which thrills you from the very rise of the curtain. It presents four acts of modern New York city life that makes you feel as if you were in the midst of the entire proceedings, and exposes in a vivid manner the methods adopted by New York thieves in their effort to work the "badger game" on a western mining engineer. If you would have an idea of how accurately this scheme is worked by an able company it is best to quote William J. Burns, the greatest detective in America to-day who says: "The Deep Purple" 'is the most accurate picture study of criminals that I have ever seen." This in itself is sufficient cause for consideration. Throughout the entire plot of the play, which by the way is balked by the resourcefulness and courage of the engineer and the wit of Kate Fallon, a reformed thief, runs a delicate love story. In short the play is a bit of real life transplanted to the stage that should easily interest the average theatre-goer who is unfamiliar with how the underworld exists. The Liebler Company, managers, have provided the play with a cast of unusual excellence.

B. F. KEITH'S.

No less than six all-star features, several of which have not been seen in Boston for years, are promised for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, as headliners in one of the strongest and most pretentious bills of the season. Walter C. Kelly, "The Virginia Judge," without question the greatest dialect story teller of his time, has just returned from a tour around the world. Kelly impersonates upon the stage the character of an old Southern magistrate, who is internationally famous for his unique decisions and charges. The original of this type is located in Richmond, Va. and his court is visited by practically every sightseers who goes to the Virginian capital. Mr. Kelly's stories have to do with the daily happenings in this famous courtroom, and everyone is not only original with him, but founded on actual facts. The big spectacular feature will be the "Top O' The World Dances," with the celebrated Collie Ballet, with eight pretty girls and eight beautiful dogs. The Candy Kid, the Friendly Polar Bear, and all the other wierd characters encountered in Kris Kringle's domicile are introduced, with many novel dances and catchy musical numbers. A trio of newcomers are Weston, Fields and Carrol, three lively rathskeller entertainers; "Slivers" Oakley, the famous Barnum & Bailey circus clown will introduce his funny pantomimic baseball game; Mae Melville and Robert Higgins, the country gal and the skinny chap, will appear in their new comedy; and others will be Fred Duprez, the monologuist; Du Ball Brothers, the eccentric dancers; and Bellclaire & Herman, the muscular marvels.

BOSTON THEATRE.

"As true a picture as I have ever seen of the conditions in and about Richmond during those weary days along toward the close of the war," was the remark of an old soldier who had attended the performance of "The Littlest Rebel" at the Boston Theatre in which Dustin and William Farnum are appearing. The emphatic approval indicated by the remark has been endorsed by the theatre-going public of Boston and surrounding country in their attitude toward Edward Peple's stirring war drama. The consistent and manly performance of the Farnum Brothers is able supplemented by the touching and marvellous performance of little Mary Miles Minter, who in the title role of "The Littlest Rebel" was called by a Boston critic the most wonderful child actress on the American stage. Every detail of her work rings true, even to the nervous little twitch of her fingers as she holds her beloved doll "Susan Jemima" in her arms in some of the tragic moments of the piece.

Dustin and William, or William and Dustin—it doesn't matter a particle so far as the Farnum brothers are concerned. Each is for the other, and the idea of superiority never enters their thoughts. They share honors in the play just as they share dressing-rooms, and although they are the high salaried stars of "The Littlest Rebel," one would never suspect it after being in their presence two minutes. When Dustin or William Farnum grasps one by the hand, smiles and says, "How are you?" the visitor never waits for an invitation to be seated: It is all in that handshake and that smile which makes one feel so thoroughly at home.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

William H. Crane who scored a great success at the Garrick Theatre, New York, in a new comedy entitled "The Senator Keeps House" by Martha Morton comes to the Hollis street Theatre March 11 for a two weeks' engagement. Mr. Crane appears in the role of Christopher Larkin, a senator from the Northwest, a widower, who keeps house in Washington with his nephew, who acts as his secretary. The statesman is the watchdog of the Committee on Claims, fighting pension increases and claims arising from war damages. In his home he is constantly losing his housekepers, as they fall in love with him. A society leader (Mrs. Wallace) helps him out of his troubles by getting him new servants. As she is a schemer and wants to marry him herself, she sees that the incumbents always turn out unsatisfactory. The curtain rises with the latest housekeeper on the way with the servants in her train.

An unscrupulous Congressman, who is engaged in pushing claims for a consideration, calls on the Senator as he sits down to a breakfast prepared by his valet. The caller is interested in the Mason claim held by a widow and daughter. This suit is the Senator's pet aversion. Finding the household again upset, the Congressman and Mrs. Wallace bring claimant and child into the home as its keepers. The senator in a few weeks finds his household revolutionized. He obtains all the comforts he has so long desired. His nephew and the daughter readily form an attachment and the Senator in time is ruled by his housekeeper. The scheme of the Congressman and Mrs. Wallace has turned out far differently from what they planned. The claimant refuses to take advantage of the situation and push her claim, which have been investigated by the Senator and his nephew and found utterly worthless. Mrs. Wallace's schemes revenge by having the Senator arrange a reception for his fellow members and then has the claimant-housekeeper snubbed by Washington women. Further carrying out her revenge, she reveals to the Senator the identity of the housekeeper and her daughter. He is so shocked and outraged by the deception, that he departs in high dudgeon to a hotel. The nephew becomes a diplomat. First he marries the daughter to give his uncle the opportunity to forgive mother and daughter. Then the twain wheedle and cajole all concerned into a happy ending for the play.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Another of George M. Cohan's merry musical comedies is to be seen at the Castle Square next week. Its "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway" it promises to be a worthy successor to "The Talk of New York" and "Forty Five Minutes from Broadway," both of which were cordialy welcomed when Mr. Craig produced them. Mr. Cohan has the knack of knowing what the public wants. He is a constructor of plays, a writer of dialogue and a composer of music, and in this latest piece of his to be seen at the Castle Square he has utilized all his versatile gifts to the utmost. The scene "Fifty Miles from Boston" takes the audience to the town of North Brookfield, and its plot centres about a pretty postmistress and a football hero just home from Harvard. They are in love, and that the course of their true love for a time fails to run smooth is due to a rival who threatens to make trouble, but who in the end fails in his attempt. The outcome of the plot is as ingenious as it is amusing. Scenecally the production will also make an emphatic appeal, the dialogue moves along with a spirited humor, and the songs give melody and picturesqueness to the entire performance. The company at the Castle Square has been enlarged for this production, and will include a thoroughly competent chorus, with the orchestra under the direction of Joseph Marr. The little heroine will be played by Mary Young, and George Hassell and Donald Meek will have important roles. "Fifty Miles from Boston" is on for a limited run at the Castle Square and seats should be secured at once.

Lamson & Hubbard

Hats

Best in America

For Sale by

Leading Dealers

RECEPTION TO GRAND PATRIARCH

(Continued from Page One.)

the patriarchs of his own encampment for the many favors which they had bestowed upon him in the past, and assuring them that he should always do all he could for the advancement of Odd Fellowship. He also assured the members that his elevation to the high office would in no way interfere with his interest in his own encampment.

There was a little speechmaking after the presentation in which the greetings from Connecticut were given by Grand Scribe, Hutchinson, and from New York by Grand Scribe Walker. Brief remarks were also made by Past Grand Sire, Pinkerton.

Following the reception a banquet was served in Union hall after which Alpha hall was again sought and there was dancing until midnight, music being furnished by the Wollaston Odd Fellows' orchestra.

The affair which was a most pronounced success was in charge of a most efficient committee who included Charles F. West, Andrew S. Johnston, Frank W. Flowers, Frank E. Badger, and Frank L. Carleton.

At the session of Grand Encampment in the afternoon the degree was conferred upon a class of 75.

The reports showed the contributing membership of the state to be 11,014. During the year 446 were initiated, 124 admitted by card and 13 reinstated. The encampment lost 197 by death during the year.

Among the members of standing committees appointed were Frank W. Flowers of Quincy as a member of the committee on petitions.

Although born in Boston, England July 21, 1877 the new Grand Patriarch has been a resident of Quincy for a number of years coming here with his parents in 18889. He reecived his early education in his native town and at the Wollaston school. Leaving school he entered the employ of the Tubular Rivet and Stud Co., where he has since been employed.

He married Miss Emily Linde, March 2, 1897. He became a member of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows in 1889 and passed through all of the chairs to that of Noble Grand. In 1899 he became a member of Manet encampment and passed through the various chairs to that of Chief Patriarch which he held in 1904. During the years 1905, '06, '07, and '08, he served as a district deputy and in 1908 he was elected as Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Encampment.

IMPERIAL VAUDEVILLE

(Continued from Page One.)

The caricature of Doctor Bowles, one of Wollaston's dentists next appeared, followed by that of Samuel Holmes, the sexton and Irving L. Shaw, president of the Social society. These were produced with telling effect and applause resounded to the echo. The last feat consisted of connecting five points, placed at random on the sheet by a member of the audience, so as to form a humorous face. Northrop is to be congratulated on his talent and skill.

The Imperial Pony Minstrels announced on the program as "premier black-face artists with sparkling specialities, refulgent repartee and rolicking chorusus" concluded the performance.

George E. Brown and Axel G. Nelson were the ends, and a quartet consisting of William A. Mann, C. Arthur Powers, Ray F. Weston and Louis B. Weston made up the circle. The interlocutor was Clifton H. Baker.

The minstrels were complete with opening chorus, end songs and choruses. The audience was left gasping with the rapid gags and crossfires let go by the end men.

"Mammy's little shufflin' dance" was sung by Axel G. Nelson, "Clang of the forge" by Louis B. Weston, and "Woodman spare that tree" by George E. Brown. The quartet contributed "Honey is ma lady love" and the "College medley," and "On the Dump Dump Line."

To an exit march by the Imperial orchestra the audience departed well satisfied in seeing one of the best entertainments that Wollaston has known.

Responsible for the success of the affair was a committee consisting of Irving L. Shaw, chairman; Clifton H. Baker, Jesse I. Litchfield, Roy C. Baker, Axel G. Nelson and Mrs. Carl G. Horst. Mention should be made of a fine advertising program made under the direction of Jesse I. Litchfield.

—Considering the high cost of living, there is more reason than ever why everybody should be economical. Americans are the most wasteful people in the world, and they are getting more and more wasteful all the time. —Somerville Journal.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

Rev. C. P. Marshall Addresses Parents' Association

MASS. FIELDS

The Parents' and Teachers' association of the Massachusetts Fields school held its monthly meeting in the school hall Thursday evening.

Rev. C. P. Marshall, city chaplain, was the speaker, taking for his subject "Vocational guidance." He urged the need of vocational guidance rather than vocational training at the present time.

Every boy should have a friend in somebody older to guide him. The speaker regretted that he had not known certain men twenty years earlier in life. Few fathers understand their boys. The boys know that their fathers do not and cannot understand them. They should have a friend to go to who does.

Too many boys are driven to become poor professional men when they might become splendid mechanics Too often we try to make a square peg fit a round hole. How much better it is to make a square peg fit a square hole.

The speaker urged the appointment of competent supervisors along this line for the Quincy schools and asked the teachers to try and guide their boys and girls into the right vocations.

Piano solos by Mrs. A. H. Rogers were much enjoyed and a male quartet from the Fowler family contributed vocal selections that found favor.

A permanent committee, to consist of the officers of the Association and the master and master's assistant, was appointed to have charge of the school decorations and expend the money raised at the recent Art exhibit.

At present this committee consists of Sidney Smith, S. J. Ripley. Mr. Altstein, Mrs. Reynolds, David H. Goodspeed, and Miss Ruth Taylor.

William E. Hingston, chairman of the playground committee reported progress.

PRESENTED WITH SIGNET RING

A pleasant surprise was tendered Earl Church of Arlington street, on Tuesday evening, when over a score of his young friends trooped in upon him.

He was presented with a signet ring, Alderwin Hatfield making the presentation speech. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and games, refreshments being served.

Vocal solos by William Bullock and C. N. Gardner were enjoyed, while Miss Elizabeth Sayward and George Brown presided at the piano. Arthur Dewsnap accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Sayward contributed violin solos.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. P. D Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Oxner, Miss Elizabeth Sayward, Miss Mildred Sayward, Miss Ethel Hatfield, Miss Madeline Nesbitt, Miss Alfreda Dewsnap, Miss Eleanor Dunn, Miss Olive Hatfield, Austin Story, C. N. Gardner, John Miller, Arthur Dewsnap, Alderwin Hatfield, William Bullock, George Brown, Lester Porter, and Paul Brewster.

FUNERAL OF FIRE VICTIMS

Two of the bodies of the three men who lost their lives in the fire at Quincy Point last Thuesday have been claimed. The body of Daniel F. Leary was claimed by his brother Cornelius, who asserted that the deceased was a member of Bunker Hill Camp, United Spanish War Veterans. The burial will take place Sunday afternoon from the undertaking rooms of Charles M. Dacey, 48 Warren street, Charlestown. Leary is the son of Mrs. Julia and the late Dennis Leary and was in his 42nd year.

Mrs. John Hannan of Lawrence, a sister, identified the body of Patrick McDonald. She made arrangements for his funeral this morning. It is said that McDonald is survived in Ireland by a wife and four children.

As yet, the body of Donald Graham has not been claimed. If no relatives come to identify him, he will probably be buried by a stranger, a friend of the deceased, who voluntarly offered to do this. It is also said that Graham had four children in Tredegar, Wales.

There is only one best kind of Mince Meat "like mother used to make," and that is

NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT

"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

Been at it 26 years.

Two-pie package 10 cents

MERRELL-SOULE CO. SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

CITY OF QUINCY

IN COUNCIL.

March 4, 1912.

ORDERED:

On the petition of the Citizens' Gas Light Co., to lay mains on West Squantum, Smith and Garfield streets, all as shown on a plan filed with its petition, that a public hearing be given by the City Council to all parties interested on Monday evening, March 18, 1912 at 8 o'clock in the Council Chamber, City Hall, and the petitioner is hereby directed to give notice of this hearing to all parties interested by publishing a copy of this order in the Quincy Daily Ledger, Quincy Advertiser and Quincy Telegram.

Adopted March 4, 1912.

Attest: GEORGE T. MAGEE.
Clerk of Council.
8-1t

CITY OF QUINCY

IN COUNCIL.

March 4, 1912.

ORDERED:

On the petition of the Wollaston Central Garage to keep and sell gasoline, that a public hearing be given to all parties interested, by the City Council, Monday evening March 18, 1912 at 8.15 o'clock in the Council Chamber, City Hall, and the petitioner is hereby directed to give notice of this hearing to all parties interested by publishing a copy of this order in the Quincy Daily Ledger, Quincy Telegram and Quincy Advertiser.

Adopted March 4, 1912.

Attest:—GEORGE T. MAGEE,
Clerk of Council.
8-1t

NOTICE

TO FURNITURE MOVERS AND OWNERS OF JOBBING WAGONS.

The City Council of the City of Quincy having by Ordinance No. 53, Section 9, relating to furniture movers and owners of jobbing wagons and Ordinance No. 360, Section 1-2-3-4-5, relating to persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of moving or transferring household furniture, pianos, or other articles or personal effects, made it incumbent upon the owners of furniture and jobbing wagons to procure a license from the City Council for operating the same, they are hereby notified that they should procure licenses immediately. Applications for licenses may be made to the City Clerk. Licenses may be granted in April to take effect on the first day of May then next ensuing.

Signed—FRANK E. BURRELL.
Chief of Police, City of Quincy.
March 8 3t

PROPOSALS.

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 8, 1912.

Sealed proposals for delivering F. O. B. cars at Quincy Adams, Mass., about Five Hundred and sixty-five (565) tons Cast Iron Coated Water Pipe will be received at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, City Hall, Quincy, Mass., Monday, March 18, 1912, until 10 o'clock A. M., when they will be publicly opened and read. Sizes and quantities are approximately as follows:

10 tons 4 inch.
270 tons, 6 inch.
125 tons, 8 inch.
110 tons, 10 inch.
50 tons, 12 inch.

The same to be delivered at the Water Works Siding, Quincy Adams, Mass.

Weights and character of pipe to conform strictly to Class E. specifications of the New England Water Works Association.

The right is reserved to increase or diminish the above quantities and also to reject any and all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

Please state time of delivery.

FREDERICK E. TUPPER,
Commissioner of Public Works.
8-1t

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Annie Gillooly, late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

JAMES F. BURKE, Executor.
(Address)
1372 Hancock street, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy.
March 8, 1912. 3t 8-14-21

The Cigar Maker's Blue Label

is only found on boxes containing cigars made under clean healthy conditions by first-class workmen

This Label Means Living Wages

Look for this Label in Blue on Every Box of Cigars

If you are a dealer or buy cigars by the box for your own use, see that the label or imprint on the bottom of the box reads 3rd District of Mass., and then you will be one of the great number of earnest citizens of Massachusetts who are conscientiously booming home industry.

Mar. 4—4t F

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 4

Evaporated Milk, Peerless	large can 7c	small	4c
Shrimp, Barataria,		can	9c
Salmon, Medium red		can	14c
Rolled Oats, Fancy Kiln dried,		5 lb bag	17c
Corn Starch, Fancy,		pkg	4c
Cocoa, Gray's		1-2 lb can	12c
Soap, Lenox		bar	3c
Prunes, Extra large Santa Clara		per lb.	10c
Molasses, New Orleans,	gal. 32c	qt.	10c
Pickles, Sour Mixed, Sour Gherkin, Chow-chow,		large bottle	17c
Macaroni or Sphaghetti,		pkg	7c
Olives, Plain or stuffed		bottle	9c
Olive Oil, Plaginol,	qt. tin 80c	pint tin	45c
Crackers, Kennedy's Grahams,.		per lb.	8c
Best Creamery Butter		per lb.	34c

Mar. 4—M. W. F.

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

For Commercial Printing

Don't forget that we are headquarters.

We also print Circulars, Books Pamphlets, Posters, or anything you want

GEO. W. PRESCOTT PUB. CO.

Quincy, Mass.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Mar. 4.	12.00	12.00
Tuesday,	12.30	12.45
Wednesday,	1.15	1.30
Thursday,	2.00	2.15
Friday,	2.45	3.15
Saturday,	3.30	4.00
Sunday,	4.15	5.00

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	48 degrees
Mar. 8, 1911,	35 degrees
Mar. 8, 1910,	45 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Miss Ruth Kemp, teacher at the Adams school is absent on account of illness.

Charles E. Jennings of 55 Elm street is making plans to move to Wellesley.

The Boston Ice Cream Co., is planning to erect a building near the Quincy Adams depot.

The Finance committee of the City Council met Thursday evening to consider the annual budget.

The automobile show is the magnet which daily draws many from Quincy to Mechanics Building, Boston.

George Jennings of 55 Elm street is home for a few days, from Staunton Military academy, Staunton, Virginia.

E. Cavicci has moved his machine shop formerly on the east side of Water street to the west side of the street.

Friends of Miss Elizabeth Palmer of Grand View avenue will regret to learn of her death at her home early this morning.

Newman H. Savage at one time in the grocery business on Hancock street has accepted a position as salesman for a grocery firm.

David G. Melville of 42 Stewart street who has been confined to the house the past week with blood poisoning has improved and is able to be about.

William Childs of Elm place gave a few selections on the cornet, Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. College Club meeting. The meeting was well attended.

A Ladies' Night will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on March 22. There will be games as usual conducted under the auspices of Alden Blanchard, Boys' Work Director of the Y. M. C. A..

The boys who went to the Y. M. C. A. conference at Fall River, Feb. 23, 24 and 25, are to conduct a series of meetings in Atlantic, Wollaston, South Quincy and Houghs Neck. The meetings will be interesting and as good as those last year, which were well attended.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

WON'T SPLIT UP TAFT CABINET

Roosevelt Expected to Get at Least Three Members

MANAGERS ARE D SAPPOINTED

Stampede of La Follette Followers to Roosevelt Band Wagon Fails to Materialize—Colonel's Announcement of Candidacy Puts New Life Into Movement In Behalf of Wisconsin Senator, Who Is Getting Busy

Washington, March 8.—The Roosevelt managers have suffered two keen disappointments already and a third appears to be promised in some of the states, notably Massachusetts, where their insistent demand for a primary law will be met. It is said that Roosevelt expected at least two and possibly three members of the Taft cabinet to resign and go with him in the event of his candidacy. The three men counted on were Secretaries Meyer and Stimson and Postmaster General Hitchcock.

The Roosevelt men had planned to make great use of this expected break in the Taft family. They were to point to the fact that the men most closely identified with the Taft administration and themselves a part of it would no longer stand by their chief. They would have used these defections to try to convince the country that these men left Taft for Roosevelt because they believed Roosevelt could win and Taft could not.

The three cabinet officers have declared for Taft and are doing all in their power to renominate him. Taft men find in Roosevelt's angry response to Stimson's speech in Chicago corroborative evidence that the colonel had counted on splitting up the Taft cabinet.

The second cause for the disappointment of the Roosevelt campaign managers is to be found in the refusal of the La Follette type of Republican to get aboard the Roosevelt wagon. When Medill McCormick, Gifford Pinchot, Amos Pinchot, James R. Garfield and the other men who were pretending loyalty to La Follette deserted him and went over to Roosevelt, they persuaded the former president to believe, it is said by persons who are on the inside, that an announcement from Roosevelt that he would take a third term would bring the La Follette followers to him with one grand rush.

According to the information that was laid before the former president, the Wisconsin senator was out of the race in spite of anything he might do, and all that was necessary to bring a stampede to Roosevelt in the La Follette territory was a declaration of candidacy from the former president. Here again Roosevelt was badly advised. The stampede to him did not take place. On the contrary, his announcement served to put new life into the La Follette movement.

The Wisconsin senator, convalescing from a nervous breakdown, took hold of the situation with some of his old-time vigor, and within a week he has reformed his fighting lines in half a dozen states, issued commands to his lieutenants that mean much to them, and has ordered a general forward movement all along the line. In North Dakota, in Minnesota, in South Dakota, in California, in Nebraska, to say nothing of the senator's own state, Wisconsin, the La Follette forces are showing great activity.

A small army of La Follette orators from Wisconsin will invade North Dakota next week. La Follette's appeal will be to the farmers of the state who for years have been under the foot of the harvester trust. These North Dakota primaries are to be held March 19. The Roosevelt people had confidently counted on carrying them for their candidate. They may do it yet, but they will not do it without having to meet the La Follette forces in battle.

TO RUN WITH TAFT

Bates of Massachusetts Being Groomed For Vice Presidency

Boston, March 8.—Former Governor John L. Bates is being boomed by his friends as a candidate for vice president of the United States. If the presidential primary bill goes through, Bates' name will be placed on the ballot as the candidate of the Taft league of Massachusetts.

The ex-governor is a strong supporter of President Taft, and it is expected that the linking of his name with that of the president on the primary ballot will secure thousands of votes for Taft that might otherwise go to Theodore Roosevelt.

The boom for Bates, according to present plans, will be extended into every New England state, and an effort will be made to give him the solid backing of the Taft forces.

Life Sentence For Mrs. Gentry

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 8.—Mrs. Bessie Gentry was convicted of murder in the first degree and her punishment fixed at life imprisonment. She was tried for the murder of her husband.

JOHN L. BATES

Taft League Choice For the Vice Presidency

PRODUCES THE GOODS

Mill Hand Gets $17,000 For Device to Check 'Phone Eavesdropping

Webster, Mass., March 8.—Philip Lavery, 21 years old, working for the Stevens Linen company at $9 a week, has sold to the New England Telephone company for $17,000 the patent rights to an invention to prevent eavesdropping on the telephone. The device is one telephone corporation electricians have been trying for years to produce.

The invention of Lavery is the work of nearly two years, and the young inventor said the idea is so simple it was a mystery nobody thought of it before. The contrivance is about two inches wide and fits into each individual instrument. There are two working parts of mica and steel.

CHAPMAN DECLARES HIS WIFE IS INSANE

Lynn Woman Held Without Bail on Charge of Murder

Lynn, Mass., March 8.—Mrs. Jessie Chapman, who shot and killed Mrs. Eva F. Ingalls on Fair Oak avenue, Lynn, was arraigned before Judge Lummus on the charge of murder.

On the request of her counsel, who was unable to be in court, the hearing was continued. Mrs. Chapman did not plead, was held without bail and was sent to the county jail at Salem.

According to Mrs. Ingalls' husband, Charles M. Ingalls, a water inspector for the city of Lynn, Mrs. Chapman had repeatedly threatened his wife because of certain talk in the neighborhood of clandestine meetings between Mrs. Chapman, who is 46 years old, and "a man."

Chapman declares his wife is insane and asserts he will do everything in his power to save her. He has engaged counsel to defend her.

ANSWER OF STEEL TRUST

Destroyed Papers After They Had Been Produced In Court

Trenton, March 8.—The United States Steel corporation filed in the United States circuit court its answer in the suit brought by the government to restrain the destruction of papers that might be considered as of use in the government's suit for the dissolution of the corporation.

The answers are to the effect that the papers that were destroyed, which seem to have formed the basis for the proposed injunction, were destroyed in good faith after they had been produced in court and when it was believed that the government had no further use for them.

WITHOUT A STOP

Salvey Makes Trip From London to Paris In Three Hours

Paris, March 8.—Henri Salvey, the French flying man, arrived at Issy-les-Moulineaux, a suburb of Paris, in his monoplane, having traveled from London without a stop. He covered the distance of about 222 miles in two hours and fifty-seven minutes.

During his trip from London Salvey navigated his monoplane by compass. He traveled at an average height of 6000 feet and was generally above the clouds, only occasionally catching glimpses of land or sea. The quickest possible trip between London and Paris by rail and boat is six hours.

MRS. CARTER LOSES

Court Decision Against Actress After Long-Fought Contest

Washington, March 8.—After being fought for years from court to court, the suit of Mrs. Analisa E. Heerman of New York against Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, for $1400 worth of theatrical costumes, came to a close in the supreme court of the United States.

Mrs. Carter's appeal from the decision of the New York courts was dismissed because of her failure to print the record.

SOUTH POLE IS FOUND BY SCOTT

Definite Statement Sent Out by Explorer Amundsen

IS BEATEN BY ENGLISH RIVAL

Climax to Race Which Five Explorers of Different Nationalities Have Been Making to Reach Last Extremity of Undiscovered Portion of Globe—Finely-Equipped Expedition's Way to Goal Paved by Shackleton

London, March 8.—The South Pole has been discovered by an Englishman. This announcement was made by the Daily Express in a special cablegram from Wellington, New Zealand. It quoted Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, who has just arrived at Hobart, Tasmania, with saying positively that Captain Robert F. Scott, who headed an English expedition, had succeeded in the long quest for the pole.

The editor of The Express said that his correspondent at Wellington was a reliable and trusted man, and that he had the utmost confidence in his word.

In the battle for the pole Amundsen had no ponies and no motor sledge, as his experience led him to place all his reliance on Siberian dogs. He had with him a pack of 110 of these animals. They were not only trained to draw the sledges, but were available as food. Amundsen's men also counted on the use of skis, the Norwegians being capable of rapid travel over snow and ice by this device.

The other competitors in the race were Lieutenant Filchner of the general staff of the German army; Lieutenant Shirase of the Japanese navy and Dr. Mawson, representing Australia.

Lieutenant Filchner followed largely the plans of Dr. Nansen and sailed on Oct. 5 last year. He was one of the first to reach Lhassa in Tibet, and much confidence was felt in him by the Geographical Society of Berlin.

The Japanese explorer followed the Shackleton route into Ross sea, but returned to Sydney, Australia, in 1911, to repair damage done in Terror bay. His second start was not made until November last, so that he was rather behind in the race.

Dr. Mawson accompanied Shackleton on his previous trip to the Antarctic. He took his route from the harbor of Hobart and took the land route to the east end of Ross sea.

From a geographical and scientific viewpoint the discovery of the South Pole, while a momentous event, has not the same features of importance and danger as relates to the North Pole. The quest for the North Pole has been through great fields of open water and floating ice, whereas the South Pole is situated on solid land.

Scores of navigators have perished in the quest for the North Pole, but relatively few in that for the South Pole.

The fact that Scott has reached the South Pole does not occasion the surprise that was felt when the announcement was made of the discovery of the North Pole by Cook and shortly afterward by Peary in the fall of 1909. The great preparations made by the Scott expedition, which is admittedly the best equipped of any which ever set out for northern or southern explorations, in addition to the fact that the way to the southern centre had been so well cleared by Scott's predecessor, Shackleton, led to the belief on the part of most well-informed men, including Admiral Peary, that the object of the journey would be attained.

In addition to the discovery of the pole, Scott also planned that his party should obtain valuable scientific information of various sorts. Shortly before starting he summarized the objects of the journey as follows:

Geographical: To explore King Edward VII. Land, to throw further light on the nature and extent of the great barrier ice formation, and to continue the survey of the high mountainous region of Victoria Land.

Geological: To examine the entirely unknown region of King Edward VII. Land, and to continue the survey of the rocks of Victoria Land.

Meteorological: To obtain synchronous observations at two fixed stations, as well as the weather records of sledge journeys.

Magnetic: To duplicate the records of the elements made by the Discovery expedition with magnetographs; the comparison should throw the most important light on secular changes.

In addition, attention will be paid to the study of marine biology at both stations and in the ship, and the examination of physical phenomena will be continued. The plan which has been outlined to secure the main object of the expedition, together with subsidiary plans for the complete exploration of the region of King Edward VII. Land, will necessitate the establishment of a strong party of men at the winter stations, and a more ample equipment than has hitherto been taken.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN BAKING APPLES.

ONE of the best investments the housewife can make in winter is a barrel of apples. This is, of course, if she has a good place to store them, for they must not be allowed to freeze, nor yet is it safe to keep them too warm.

The apples make delicious desserts, and if they are picked over every little while and the bruised ones removed it is surprising how long they will keep.

Baldwins or Greenings are good winter apples and the best varieties for baking.

A baked apple for breakfast is, so far as the health is concerned, worth its weight in gold.

Sugared and Spiced.

Plain baked apples are cooked in about the same way in almost every household.

Lemon Baked Apples.—Use cooking apples of equal size, pare and core. Fill the cavity with moist sugar, place in baking dish, sprinkle with powdered sugar, lemon juice and melted butter and bake as usual. Serve with sugar and cream.

Baked Apples With Cinnamon.—Select apples that are not too tart. Wipe them clean and remove the cores without paring the apples. Stand them on an earthen baking dish. Fill the empty space in the center of each apple with brown sugar, bits of butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Allow to bake until tender. The butter and sugar will make a delicious jelly dressing. Serve plain or with sweet cream.

With Nuts.

Apples With Nuts.—Take large Greenings or Baldwins. Wash, core, but do not peel. Fill the apertures with jelly and chopped nuts and bake. Serve hot or cold with cream.

Baked Apples and Mixed Nuts.—Fill the apples with chopped hickory and English walnut meats. Sprinkle with white sugar. Put in the oven and bake slowly, basting all the while with sirup made of one cupful of sugar, one-third cupful of water, cooked until in threads. Bake until the apples are clear. Serve with whipped cream.

Apples en Casserole.—Take a half dozen apples, wash, pare, quarter and core the apples. Brush the casserole dish with butter. Put a layer of apples into casserole dish and sprinkle with one-third of a cupful of sugar. Then add another layer of apples and sugar and a third layer.

Cover the casserole and put into a moderate oven for two hours, or until they are cooked or baked through.

This makes a nice thick marmalade and is delicious.

NOVEL BAKED POTATOES.

BAKED in the skins, potatoes are delicious and appetizing, but there are other ways of baking them that will appeal to the housekeeper in these days when nutritious vegetable dishes are in demand.

Culinary Hints.

Cold baked potatoes can be utilized in several ways. One of them is given here.

Potatoes Stuffed.—Cut the baked potatoes in half, take out the inside of each and, after heating, place in a mixing bowl with some melted butter and salt to taste. A little sweet cream may also be added. Mash the potatoes and whip until light and flaky.

Take the empty potato shells, dust the inside with Parmesan cheese, fill with the potato mixture and cover the top with cheese sprinkled with cayenne pepper. Place in the oven to brown and serve hot. The whites of one or two eggs beaten and added to the potatoes will add to the value of this dish.

In Individual Vessels.

Browned Mashed Potatoes.—These are nice served in individual baking dishes and garnished with sprigs of parsley. A nice way of preparing the mashed potatoes for browning is to add to them a teaspoonful of salt and half a cupful of cream to the quart of mashed potatoes.

Then put into the baking dishes or baking dish, if only a single large one is used, furrow with a fork, place a few little pieces of butter on the top and set in the oven to brown.

Delectable Dishes.

Royal Potatoes.—While there may be nothing in a name, these potatoes are certainly worthy of the one they bear. They are prepared as follows: Take a pint of medium sized potatoes, one egg, a teaspoonful of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt and a scant saltspoonful of white pepper. Wash, pare and boil the potatoes; when dry put in the butter, salt and pepper and mash quickly. Add the egg well beaten and three tablespoonfuls of cream or milk.

Mix and form into a flat cake half an inch thick. Cut into oblongs or squares or shape into balls, brush over with white of egg or milk and bake in a hot oven until a delicate brown.

Anna Thompson.

Death and Destruction by Snowslides

Telluride, Col., March 8.—Edwin Thomas was killed and half a dozen dwelling houses were carried away by snowslides in Marshall Basin.

Four Men Blown to Atoms

Scranton Pa., March 8.—Four men were blown to atoms by the explosion of the boiler in Gilpin's wood handle factory at Greentown.

Borden's

A rich, creamy milk and the most nutritious elements of wheat and barley, are combined in Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes and stimulates body and brain because it supplies what both need. Try it at lunch time—between meals and before retiring. Don't ask for malted milk. Ask for Borden's, Borden's and Borden's.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,

Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

TO KEEP DEATH PENALTY

Largest Vote Ever Registered Against It In the Bay State

Boston, March 8.—The proposed amendment providing for the abolition of caipital punishment in Massachusetts was defeated in the house of representatives. The defeat of the amendment means that the death penalty will still hold in Massachusetts.

The voice vote taken on the matter showed ninety against to nineteen in favor of making life imprisonment the extreme punishment for murder. A roll call vote showed 161 against the amendment to forty-two in favor. This was the largest majority ever registered in the house in favor of the death penalty.

BERMUDA GOVERNOR DEAD

Sir Frederick Kitchener Was Brother of Famous Field Marshal

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 8.—Lieutenant General Sir Frederick Walter Kitchener, governor and commander-in-chief of Bermuda, died after an operation for appendicitis, which was performed at the military hospital.

Sir Frederick, who was born in 1858, was a brother of the famous field marshal, Viscount Kitchener of Khartum, who is now British agent and consul general in Egypt. Sir Frederick joined the British army in 1876 as a lieutenant and had a distinguished military career.

In order to make sure that no legislation should be passed, we understand that Congress will spend the day debating the question as to whether the canals of Mars should be fortified.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &

H. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

is a story of humor and dramatic thrills. Stirring and laughable scenes alternate along its shores like the whirlpools and eddies of a mountain stream. The court scene at Balaam's Cross Roads is a joy, the fight at Slosson's Tavern a thriller, the Judge's jail-breaking a comedy, the surprise at the church door a tragedy, the final climax a whirl of excitement.

—Chicago Record-Herald.

We have secured the serial rights of this great story

Do Not Miss the Opening Chapter

FRESH FROM MINES

WHITE ASH NUT
LEHIGH EGG
LEHIGH STOVE
} Just Received

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

27 GRANITE STREET

Tel. 232--W

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Peterngill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Thomas J. Joyce late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Anora Joyce of said Quincy without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of March A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of February A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 1-8-11

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeannette Woodward late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by James W. Woodward of Brookline, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t- Mar. 1-8-15

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

LATEST OFFER OF MILL MEN

Strikers Delay Action Until They Meet Wood Again

ADVANCE OF SEVEN PERCENT

Head of American Woolen Company Will Show How It Will Affect Various Departments—Clashes With Lawrence Police Grow More Frequent—Clubbing and Stabbing In Riots Along the Picket Lines

Lawrence, Mass., March 8.—Before taking action on the proposition President Wood of the American Woolen company made yesterday afternoon, forming an average advance of 7 percent in wages, the strikers' committee voted last night to await the action of another conference which Wood has promised to hold with them within four days.

In the meantime Wood has promised to prepare for the strike committee a complete schedule of wages, showing just how the average of 7 percent is going to affect the various departments. It is believed here that the advance promised will include a 15 percent increase in the lower paid branches of the industry, with the scale becoming smaller in the departments where higher wages are now received.

It is unofficially stated that the strikers will concede the double pay for overtime, made in their demands, but that the premium will be abolished.

It was announced at last night's meeting that the time between now and the next conference must not be taken as a truce, but the aggression which has marked the past few days must be followed, if success is to crown their efforts.

As the strike progresses the friction between the strikers and the police is becoming more and more marked and each day witnesses a greater hostility, that has an ominous suggestion. Acting under orders, the police have assumed an aggressive attitude and the frequent club play has aroused the spirit of the strikers.

All day fighting occurred on the picket lines and eighteen arrests were made. Twice last night the police reserves were sent double quick to clear the streets. The most sensational of these attacks occurred on Water street, where a crowd of strikers held up an electric car filled with returning workmen from the mills. The arrival of the militia and police prevented greater disturbance.

The early morning riots with the stabbing of two men and the wholesale clubbing by the police roused the city.

During the day the trial of Salvatore Bruno, charged with the attempted murder of Officers Murphy and McCloud of the Metropolitan police in the riot Feb. 26, occupied the greater portion of the time. Bruno was held in $10,000 bail for the grand jury.

It has become known that some of the city authorities have requested United States Immigration Inspector Gordon to put the question of deporting persons arrested here before his department at Washington. Gordon has been taking down the names of those found guilty by the court who have not been residents in this country three years.

Last evening the party of thirteen children who attended the congressional hearing at Washington returned. There was a joyful meeting at the railroad station and the little tots looked healthy and happy after their experience.

CLARK IS EULOGIZED AS SECOND LINCOLN

Members of Congress Remember Him on Birthday

Washington, March 8.—Speaker Champ Clark celebrated the sixty-second anniversary of his birth by presiding over the deliberations of the house in the Sixty-second congress. When the house convened the speaker was greeted with applause.

Representative Rainey of Illinois delivered an eulogy of Clark, likening him to Lincoln whose career from a Kentucky farm to the presidency, he declared, was being duplicated by Clark.

Representative Austin of Tennessee, Republican, paid tribute to Clark as a man and as an official.

Former Speaker Cannon also congratulated the speaker and commended the Democrats for their evident intention to nominate Clark for president. He extolled Clark for his unfailing fairness as a member and later as speaker.

When the demonstration began Clark turned the gavel over to Representative Borland of Missouri and escaped from the chamber.

AFTER FAVORABLE REPORT

Bill to Permit Sunday Games In Bay State Is Beaten In Senate

Boston, March 8.—The Sunday recreation bill, made famous by long controversies at the state house, was defeated in the senate by a roll call vote of 6 to 16, with six men paired each way. The bill was before the senate with favorable committee report.

It provided for the issue of a license from the police authorities of cities and towns to those who want to play golf, baseball, tennis, croquet and other out-of-door sports after 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

TO COVER THE WORLD

Sulzer Asks For $20,000 to Start Cost of Living Probe

Washington, March 8.—An appropriation of $20,000 as a first step in carrying out President Taft's plan for an international conference on the cost of living was proposed in a bill by Representative Sulzer of New York.

The president would invite all nations to participate in the conference. The object is a world-wide study of the rise in prices of the last few years, its causes and remedies.

Asks For Steel Probe Vouchers

Washington, March 8.—Charles G. Gates, son of the late John W. Gates, has written Chairman Stanley of the steel trust investigation, asking him for the vouchers for the witness fees and mileage allowed his father for testifying. The amount due Gates was $24.70. His son says he would like to have the vouchers for "memorial purposes."

MADE A TARIFF ISSUE

House Will Undertake Investigation of the "Woolen Trust"

Washington, March 8.—That the house will investigate the American Woolen company and the conditions which brought about the Lawrence strike has become certain. The investigation will be conducted by the committee on labor. It is expected that the hearings before the rules committee will be concluded today, that early next week the house will consider the resolution, and that the investigation proper will be under way within a fortnight.

The Democratic leaders feel that this inquiry is perhaps the best justified of the many investigations yet undertaken. They feel first, that the country at large is in sympathy with the inquiry because it not only strikes at a trust which has grown up under high protective tariff, but which also, it is alleged, has ground down its employes to the limit.

The direct excuse for a federal investigation is the alleged fact that "the police power of the city of Lawrence and the militia of the state of Massachusetts are being used to forcibly prevent parents from sending their children into other states"—an action described in the Wilson bill as "a violation of the fourth and fourteenth amendments to the constitution and the inherent right of citizens to travel from state to state."

DURBAR CAP

This Durbar cap is copied from the ones worn by the Indian princes. It is of dull red velvet interlaced with jeweled gold ribbon and has a gold motif in front, holding a white osprey.

Dark Tailored Suits.

The tailor suit is without doubt the necessity of the moment, and although these are now to be seen in dark shades, a redeeming touch of color generally relieves the somber effect which they give, while it lies with the milliner to add the crowning of brightness and chic to the toilette.

The pin striped velveteens are frequently to be seen in tailor costumes, but velveteen may be considered rather an expensive material for coats and skirts, as it rubs so easily that it soon assumes a woe-begone appearance—and, surely, nothing looks half so shabby as a worn and tumbled velveteen. For the woman who has many costumes, of course, a frock of this kind is a delightful addition to her wardrobe, although the fact that cheap, ready-made coats and skirts are to be obtained in this material will rather prevent it becoming adopted by those in quest of novelty.

TAKING CARE OF JEWELRY

Should Always Be Cleaned at Regular Intervals—Best Methods of Proceeding.

Provide yourself with an old tooth brush and a soft brush such as jewelers use, a bottle of grain alcohol and a box of jewelers' sawdust. You will also need a soft cloth, a piece of plain chamois thoroughly impregnated with rouge powder. A few additional small bits of chamois are also necessary for polishing. Then provide two dishes of lukewarm suds made with fine white soap, and your outfit is complete.

First work on your plain, bright gold jewelry, or other material, which requires a high polish. Rub gently but thoroughly with the rouge chamois until you bring it up to a brilliant polish. Next select the gold articles which look most difficult to you, put them in the suds and scour thoroughly with the toothbrush. Practically all the dirt should come off in this process.

When completed, rinse in a second suds to clean still better. Then dip in alcohol and give a further brushing. Then dry carefully on a soft cloth and drop into the sawdust and rub about until they show a bright luster. With the jeweler's brush remove every particle of sawdust and give the articles the degree of polish they ought to have, using the soft brush and the plain chamois for this purpose. The rouge chamois is the highest polisher, but it can be used only before an article has been washed, because it leaves rouge powder on the jewelry.

All precious stones, except the pearl, will be beautiful after such a cleaning, nor will it dim the brilliancy of semi-precious stones, or even of common glass imitations. It will enhance their brilliance.

Silver jewelry that looks black will come out of this process with a fine white luster and gold will be returned to its original richness. Sterling silver jewelry can also be cleaned with remarkable ease by boiling in sal soda water.

Home-Made Brooches.

The peculiarity of the side frill or lapel that needs a pen to hold it in place has brought about the use of many ornamental brooches. One of the newest of these is made of gold braid with colored beads for the center. And any girl can make such a brooch. Disks of gold braid sewed together and centered with jewels or beads of desirable colorings make up easily. All sorts of shapes are given them and often pendants are added to tarnished gold buttons, of passementerie ornaments or of beads or jewels. The brooches have strong safety pins sewed on at the back.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED

It Is Rapidly Growing Because of British Coal Strike

London, March 8.—The first sign of any break in the coal strike comes from North Wales, where the colliers of some of the smaller mining companies have reopened negotiations with the owners with the view of starting work in the pits again.

The railways are in a state of utter chaos and the steamship service to the continent and the United States is badly crippled owing to the curtailment of transatlantic service.

Prices of foodstuffs are rising daily, and many hotels and big industrial establishments are so short of coal they are curtailing its use. The army of unemployed is growing hourly.

The poor throughout the country are beginning to feel the effect of the strike most severely. The small shopkeeping classes are threatened with bankruptcy.

RUSH TO BUY COAL

Fear of Strike Causes Prices to Jump $1 a Ton In New York

New York, March 8.—Fears of a strike of the 180,000 anthracite coal miners on April 1 has caused a general rush by consumers for coal to carry them over a strike period. This sudden demand became widespread when it was reported that the railroads, instead of having a large amount of coal in storage in preparation for a possible strike, were really running short.

The hard winter, it was reported, has made it difficult for the railroads to store coal because of the increased demand. In consequence many dealers increased the price of coal from $1 to $1.25 a ton, while wholesalers are charging more. The operators state that the coal at the mines is now selling at the regular March price.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Call Quincy 501 W
If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 34-2 Quincy. Feb. 9-1m-p-10-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Dark brown curly, Spaniel, Sunday, Mar. 3, no collar, Answers to name Teddy. Reward if returned to 47 Palmer street, Houghs Neck. 6-3t

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOUND

FOUND—On Sunday, Feb. 25, in Wollaston, a small purse. Apply to 145 Warren avenue, Wollaston. 6-3t.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

TO LET

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

R. E. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Purity--Value Received

PURITY. Pure and nutritious foods are of first importance to health. No one would knowingly eat injurious foods.

VALUE RECEIVED. Whenever you buy an adulterated article you don't get what you pay for.

Worth considering. Do you buy at the one pure food store? Foy's.

HOME DRESSED FOWL

It's the tender, juicy fowl—choice young pullets—the fresh killed, home dressed fowl that's hardly through clucking when they come to you.

They'll make a Sunday dinner you'll tell your friends about on Monday. 20 cts lb.

Weigh about 3 1-2 lbs each

NAVEL ORANGES

California Navel Oranges are the finest flavored and sweetest orange grown. We have an extra bargain at, a doz. 20c

ALSO

Another lot of GOLDEN RUSSET Florida oranges at, a dozen 23c

THE FAMOUS

BEECHNUT PRODUCTS

can always be found fresh and nice at this store. No old stock.

Sliced Bacon, in glass,	15c, 30c
Delicious Peanut Butter, jar,	15c, 25c
Grape Jelly, very fine, jar,	15c
Black Currant Jelly, jar,	20c

FRESH VEGETABLES

Fresh vegetables from the South are coming good. For your Sunday dinner we have

Florida Tomatoes, Radishes, Fancy Rhubarb, Cauliflower, and Crisp, Tender Lettuce.

It's New, It's Good---A Relish

ONION SALAD

TO INTRODUCE IT. A BOTTLE, 10c

A DEMONSTRATION -- OF --

KEYSTONE BISCUIT FLOUR

AT THE STORE THIS WEEK

-- AND --

Liebig's Extract of Beef, jar,	19c
Holbrook's Table Sauce, bottle,	20c
Genuine Maple Syrup, at	50c
Kirkman's Soap Powder,	3 pkgs 10c
Dutch Hand Soap,	5c
Cando's Silver Polish,	10c, 15c

R. E. FOY & CO.

2 PHONES 2 PHONES

BRIEFS

Charles Young, Q. H. S. '14 is to hold a dance in Brasee hall, April 8.

Paul R. Blackmur, Jr. of Harvard college, is home for a short vacation.

Marion McLoon, Q. H. S. '14 has returned home after a week end visit with her sister in Norwich, Conn.

Elden Howe, Q. H. S. '14, has excepted a position with the Alco Automobile Co., in Boston.

The loss by the fire at Quincy Point was adjusted Thursday afternoon for $1,370.

The Quincy Point Church Men's club hold their annual banquet on April 10.

The first annual dance of the Nonpareil club wil be held in Alpha hall, Monday evening, April 8.

Rev. Thomas F. McGlynn, O. S. F., visited relatives on Buckly street, West Quincy, Thursday.

A regular meeting of the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum was held Thursday evening.

The Play Square club holds its annual dance Friday evening in Colonial hall. Music by Provost's orchestra.

Tax Collector Child has placed all unpaid poll tax bills of 1910 in the hands of the deputy collector for immediate collection.

Arthur H. Alden of Weymouth, of the firm of Alden, Walker & Wilde, has been chosen a director of the National Mount Wollaston Bank.

Lenten devotions, consisting of the stations of the cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, will be held in St. John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches this evening.

The Boy Scouts are looking forward to the banquet on Easter Monday Fred Hamil, the Scout Master is more than pleased at the way the boys took up scout craft, and has promised them that when the warm weather comes he will start work on the log cabin they expect to build.

Missouri has decided to content herself with furnishing one President at a time.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

GYM GIRLS PLAY AT ROXBURY

Fast and Close Game. Leadership Unchanged

19 TO 17

The Quincy Gym Girls' basketball team added another victory to its long list last evening at Roxbury by defeating the Roxbury Y. W. C. A. Girls' team by the close score of 19 to 17. The game was very fast from start to finish and the leadership in the score was interchanged several times before the struggle came to an end.

Mildred Smith proved to be the star of the contest when it came to a question of getting baskets from the floor, while Anna Lewis of the losing combination was conspicuous in shooting goals from free tries. The all round work of the local team in passing and blocking was in evidence at all times and enabled the Quincy girls to emerge in triumph. The summary:

Quincy Gym	Roxbury Y.W.C.A.
Mildred Smith rf	lb Jennie Gill
Isadora Beale lf	rb Edith Harvey
Edith Mullen c	c Anna Lewis
	Catherine Gill
Lena Clark rb	lf Ethel McLeod
Marie Goodhue lb	rf Catherine Gill
	rf Anna Lewis

Score, Quincy Gym 19, Roxbury Y. W. C. A. 17. Goals from floor, Miss Smith 4, Miss Beale 2, Miss Mullen 2, Miss C. Gill 2, Miss McLeod 2. Goals from fouls, Miss Smith 3, Miss Lewis 8, Miss C. Gill. Referee, Johnson. Umpire, Miss Grout. Scorer, Miss Mitchell. Timer, Miss Hurley. Time 15m halves. Attendance 200.

REACH'S 1912 GUIDE.

With the Spring of 1912 Reach's American League Guide—the official handbook of the great junior major league—makes its welcome appearance, being once more first in the field as it is in everything else; as this publication, in the course of years embracing virtually an entire base ball generation, has become the standard annual publication of the entire base ball world. This is a big claim, but it is absolutely sustained by the text, illustrations, quality of paper, serviceable binding and all other details that go to make up a handsome, readable and saleable book. Topping all, it may be said without fear of successful contradiction that the American League Offiical Guide for 1912 is in all respects a first-class handbook for the National game and a decided credit to the American League and to the publishers, the Reach Company, of Philadelphia. This is the eleventh annual issue of the Reach Guide as the official handbook of the American League and the thirtieth consecutive year of its publication by the A. J. Reach Co. as a book of record and reference for the entire base ball world.

HALL—FRYE.

About a hundred friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Hall, Goffe street, Thursday evening for the wedding of Ralph Hazen Hall, son of Mr. Hall and Miss Dorothy Frye, sister of Mrs. Hall, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franklin Frye of New York.

The ceremony was solemnized at half past seven by Rev. A. L. Hudson, D. D., of First church. George W. Bailey of Boston formerly of Wollaston was best man and the matron of honor was Mrs. Charles F. Goodale of Ashmont. The ushers were Frank F. Dodge of Westerly, R. I., and Samuel Crowell of Dorchester, classmates of the groom, Harvard 1907, also Charles T. Goodale of Ashmont and Henry I. Hall of Quincy.

The charming little bride was beautiful in a gown of embroidered white satin, with bridal veil and shower bouquet. She wore a diamond and pearl pin, a gift from the groom.

Southern smilax and spring flowers made a pretty setting for the bridal party and an orchestra of ladies enlivened with sweet music.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall have gone to Poland Springs, Maine and on their return are to reside in Ashland, Mass., receiving their friends after June first.

ANNUAL BALL.

The tenth annual concert and ball of Division 253 of the Street Railway Employees' Benefit Association is announced for Friday evening, April 12, at Music hall and promises to be fully as successful as affairs of other years. There will be o promenade concert from 8 to 9 o'clock by Wilson's orchestra and dancing will be in order until 3 A. M. at which time special cars will leave for all points.

ANOTHER WIN FOR QUINCYS

Champions of Greater Boston League Play Great Game

AT WEST QUINCY

Although the victory of the second team of the Quincy A. A. was a source of contentment to the many ardent admirers of the local team who assembled in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, last evening, it was not until the last three minutes of play that the fearful anxiety, lest the champions of the Greater Boston A. A. U. basketball league would be made to taste spoils of defeat—was appeased and satisfaction realized. Up to this crucial moment the St. Mary's A. C. combination from the North End was leading the Quincy A. A. first team by a score of 16 to 14, but the stamina and endurance, together with a knowledge of all the fine points of the game, were displayed at this opportune occasion and by securing five baskets from the floor, the local five was also enabled to enjoy the same distinction as the second team.

Both games were of a high order and were pronounced by all in attendance to have been the best attractions offered in local circles this season. The first team of the local association was a 24 to 16 winner, while the second team representing the same organization was victorious to the tune of 10 to 4.

In the game between the first teams, the visitors displayed superiority in every department of play during the first period, thus making the score at the end of the first session stand in their favor 16 to 8. In the beginning of the second half, they again seemed to display the form that had characterized their work thus far and with only five minutes to play, the St. Mary's A. C. team was leading 16 to 14.

The enthusiasm of the local rooters was intensified to a superlative degree. The local boys were seen to get into action, and when Dan Duggan placed the ball through the net, the applause that greeted the play was deafening. Hardly had the applause subsided, when he repeated the performance.

The rally had been started beyond a doubt and Quincy A. A. was now in the lead. Kelley threw the ball from the centre of the floor and it went in the basket. It was one of the most spectacular shots of the season.

"Sid" Duggan showed his ability in shooting and added another goal to his credit while a basket a few seconds after by his brother ended the contest.

In the game between the second teams, the visitors failed to register a basket, all their goals being made from fouls. The all round work of the local team was conspicuous throughout, while McMann played well for the losers:

QUINCY A. A.	ST. MARY'S A. C.
O'Rourke rf	lb Arthur
D. Duggan lf	rb Mead
	rb Walters
P. Duggan c	c Weiss
Boyle rb	lf Flaherty
Kelley lb	rf Grant

Score, Quincy A. A. 24. St. Mary's A. C. 16. Goals from floor D Duggan 5, P. Duggan 4, O'Rourke, Kelley, Flaherty 2, Weiss 2, Grant, Walters. Goals from fouls, O'Rourke 2, Grant 4. Referee, Coady. Scorer, Manning. Timer, McCue. Time 20m halves. Attendance 400.

QUINCY A. A. 2d	ST. MARY'S A. C. 2d
H. Chapman rf	lb Slager
Dackers lf	rb Tibbetts
	rb Keating
Jenkins c	c McMann
Harmon rb	lf Bench
M. Chapman lb	rf Fife

Score, Quincy A. A. 2d 10. St. St. Mary's A. C. 2d 4. Goals from floor, H. Chapman, Dackers, Jenkins, Harmon. Goals from fouls, Dackers 2. McMann 3, Slager. Referee, Coady. Scorer, Mannig. Timer, McCue. Time 20m halves. Attendance 400.

—An Ohio city has an alderman who possesses a deep sense of gratitude. Some weeks ago he saved his life by climbing a telegraph pole when a bull chased him, and now he has refused to vote for an ordinance providing for the placing of telegraph wires underground.—Milford Gazette.

(ADVERTISE.)

Too Late For Classification.

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

IS SURE OF OBITUARY

ONE REASON WHY MR. SPARROW-GRASS LIVES IN COUNTRY.

There Are Others, of Course, But This One Is Paramount—Sort of a Letter of Recommendation to St. Peter.

One argument against the rush to the cities is the city obituary column. I have known men to lead long, useful and honorable lives in the city and get only four or five lines at last, whereas if they had stayed on the farm the country papers would have given them columns.

We don't have porcelain bathtubs up here in the hills. Steam heaters and janitors are scarce. There's a good deal of snow, too, and no delicatessen around the corner. But there is always the satisfaction of knowing that the local paper will print a fine piece about us when our turn comes to be shoveled on, as Shakespeare puts it.

I may have to raise my own turnips, instead of paying a market gardener three prices to raise them for me, and a grocer six prices for bringing them to me. I may work hard in the sunlight and the air of the fields when I might be lolling in the gaslight and the dust of a factory. I may have to send my children a mile to school instead of two miles to a sweatshop; and perhaps there is a Plymouth Rock rooster on the premises instead of one of them things your newspaper calls pianoletups. I admit the country's disadvantages freely. But when this vale of tears is done with me and I am laid to rest under the pine trees in the old family lot, I know there will be a generous write-up by Editor Green in the Backwoods Weekly Guide, Joyville and Passaic county papers please copy.

I shall not go out like a common critter of the pasture, without a letter of recommendation to St. Peter There will be a long article right down the middle of the first page, and Lemuel Green will spread himself to make it a first-class job. He will tell the neighbors all the good things in my history that the neighbors can think up to tell him; how I was industrious, sober, honest, patient under trial, kind in prosperity, a loving son, a devoted husband, a fond father, a faithful friend, a man true to principle and spotless in character, a worthy citizen, whose loss is a severe blow to all Would there were more of my kind.

He will recall my public deeds and private virtues; the time I ran for sheriff on the Prohibition ticket; the poor families I helped shelter the year the dam broke, and the time I carried water to save the Widow Garwin's cottage from the flames and caught my last cold. No matter how lowly my life has been, I shall go out in style and good order, and a loving hand will write "The End" after my own has dropped the pen. You see, Mr. Editor, the country still has something the city can't offer.—"Simon Sparrowgrass" in Newark News.

Women's Convoy Corps.

The mothers and sisters of the Boy Scouts of England, not to be outdone in the matter of home defense, have organized themselves into service companies under strict military orders. It is no idle. movement for show or spectacular effect, but the outcome of a serious purpose. In case of war a well-trained body of women fully uniformed and equipped for hospital work and campaign hardships.

Under the general name of the Women's Sick and Wounded Convoy corps, the organization has been in existence for a little over a year and is steadily growing. Riding, camp and hospital cooking, bicycling, home nursing, laundry work, signaling and stretcher drill are included in the training. Riding drills are held monthly after the "raw recruits" are first broken into service. In the stretcher drill a real man is employed to give practice in lifting a body on and off a stretcher, as well as in binding up wounds. Particular attention is paid to dietary kitchen methods, and the preparation of simple dishes that will tempt the jaded appetite of sick and wounded is the subject of practical consideration. The training in every department is as thorough as it is modern.—Harper's Bazar.

Chinese Ingenuity.

"I hope our dear Dr. Wu Ting-Fang is on the right side in these Chinese troubles," said a diplomat at a dinner in Washington.

"Dr. Wu," he continued, "used to tell me many illuminating anecdotes about the Chinese character. I remember one about ingenuity."

"A Chinaman, the anecdate ran, found his wife lying dead on a field one morning—a tiger had killed her.

"The Chinaman went home, procured some arsenic, and, returning to the field, sprinkled it over the corpse.

"The next day the tiger's dead body lay beside the woman's. The Chinaman sold the tiger's skin to a mandarin and its body to a physician to make fear-cure powders, and with the proceeds he was able to buy a younger wife."—Washington Star.

Wonderful Experiences.

"When I was out in the country last summer," said the beautiful chorus girl," I milked a cow."

"Oh, you haven't anything on me," replied the artist's model. "I visited an aunt of mine in the country last fall, and one evening I helped her wash the dishes."

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

The members of the Quincy A. A. basket-ball teams played their last home game of season in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, last evening and the "champs" certainly did wind it up in a blaze of glory. To give credit to any one player in particular for the success attained would indeed be doing an injustice to all who aided in giving local fandom the best article of basket-ball ever exhibited in local confines, but to omit congratulating manager and ex-councilman William H. Flynn for his interest, loyalty and enthusiasm, displayed at all times, even under the most embarrassing and trying conditions, toward the interests and welfare of the local association would indeed be the height of effrontry. All the local sporting bloods are now singing the praises of the Quincy A. A. in its endeavors to promote athletics in local circles, and it is sincerely hoped that the same success will be merited in other branches as well.

Quincy High encounters the Salem Normal basket-ball team at the local gymnasium this afternoon for the second time this season. The local boys have been indulging in hard practice during the past week in an effort to reverse the tables for the defeat sustained at Salem early in the season. Coach Staff has informed me that he will put Johnson at centre, play Chapman in the backfield and Trask in one of the forward positions. In this way the star centre of the Salem team will be properly cared for and we trust that the change will conduce to such benefit as will enable the local players to emerge in triumph.

"Patsy" Duggan, one of the heaviest hitters among the local baseball players, has again signed with Lowell of the New England league and his many friends are already predicting great things for him this coming season.

A report is in circulation that ex-councilman Smith is to revive the old Copeland baseball team. As yet the former city Solon has given no definite information to us concerning the matter, but if the Hon. John D. does decide to place himself at the helm, I believe he will be able to "bat 'em out and make 'em touch the bases" in the same manner as he did in the council chamber.

The game of all games between girl basketball tossers will take place next Tuesday evening in St. Mary's Hall, where the Quincy Gym girls face the Oliver Ames High girls' team in a contest that will go a great way in deciding the champion girls' team of the state.

A Greeley, Colorado, man claims to have perfected a seedless watermelon, and is now experimenting with peanuts, crossed with sweet peas. He expects to get blossoms and peanuts from the same vines, the peanuts growing above ground instead of in the earth. He has hopes of producing a succotash plant by crossing corn and beans, and looks forward to growing a breakfast food which will include qualities of coffee. In the meantime, where's Luther Burbank?—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
c 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
c 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
c 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
c 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
c 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
c 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
c 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
c 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
c 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
c 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
c 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	ledcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
c 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

7 43	abc	8 03	6 30 ba 6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfecba 9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05 Exp 9 21
c 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedcba 10 42 r
9 13	abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba 12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45 Exp 1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedcba 1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15 hgfedcba 2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba 3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27 cba 4 48 r
c 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba 5 42 r
c 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedcba 6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 cba 7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba 8 41 r
c 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45 a 9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30 ihgfedcba 9 57 r
c 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45 cba 11 04 r
c 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4 09, 5.13 5.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5 21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10 25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10,15 P. M.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M..) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6. 5, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 59 QUINCY MASS., SATURDAY EVENING MARCH 9, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

LEGACIES TO CITY HOSPITAL AND QUINCY BOARD OF TRADE

Citizens' Association Votes to Dissolve and Divide its Funds Between the Organizations

Each Organization Will Receive About $136

The Citizens' Association, which has been in existence since about 1906 is no more, having ceased to exist at 8.49 Friday night, at which time a formal vote to disband was passed, at a special meeting held at Union hall.

Previous to the vote, the Association took action, disposing of the money in its treasury, amounting to $268.45. The meeting was called for 7.30. At that hour only seven members had reported. As it took fifteen to make a quorum, runners were sent out to drum up members with the result that at 8.15 there were sixteen present and enough more came in to swell the number to 20.

Nathan G. Nickerson, treasurer, made his report which showed all bills paid and a balance on hand of $268.45. The question of disposition of this money then came up.

D. King believed that it should be given to the Board of Trade. The Board of Trade was an organization working along the same lines as that of the Association.

Mr. Swithen thought if the money was to go to the Board of Trade that it should be provided that members of the association, not now members of the Board of Trade should be taken in.

Fred B. Rice, presented the many needs of the City Hospital and hoped that at least part of the money would be given to that institution. It was something that did not recognize sect or creed and an association in which all citizens were interested. An operating room was now being built and funds were needed to equip it.

Clarence Burgin had a word to say in favor of the Day Nursery. Here was an organization that was doing good work and needed money.

Ex-Mayor Shea said there were half a dozen charitable organizations in the city that were all doing good work and one was as much entitled to be remembered as the other. The City Hospital however was the one organization in which everybody was interested.

Ex-Mayor Sears also had a word to say for the City Hospital.

D. King said he realized that the hospital was a grand institution and thought perhaps some compromise might be made.

After several motions and amendments it was voted that the funds in the treasury should be equally divided between the Board of Trade and City Hospital.

This over, H. L. Kincaide moved that the association be dissolved and it was voted unanimously.

BIT OF HISTORY.

Mr. Kincaide was one of the prime movers in the formation of the original association. Its objects were to promote the general business interests of the city as well as to take a hand in seeing to it that the best citizens were selected to represent the city at City hall.

One of its first moves was along the latter lines. A committee was appointed who made an investigation of the several candidates for Mayor and Councilmen and made its report in print. The printed pamphlet was never distributed however for the reason probably, that it was thought law suits might result.

The next thing to come up was the question of a new charter for the city. Committees were appointed and two plans were presented. Several prolonged and exciting meetings were held at which the various amendments proposed were discussed and so warm did the argument become that some of the members resigned and a breach opened which grew wider and wider. Both plans were later flatly turned down at a mass meeting of the citizens held at City hall.

The feeling engendered in the Citizens' Association however was never healed up, and although meetings were frequently called, it was seldom that the association was able to get a quorum. An attempt was also made to have the Board of Trade become a part of the association but as the latter was the older organization it was thought by them that if anything was done the Citizens' association should become a part of the Board of Trade.

These plans all fell through however and the meeting Friday evening was the first the association has held for several years.

ST. MARY'S GUILD ELECT OFFICERS

The annual meeting of St. Mary's guild was held last evening in the music room of the church and largely attended. The report of the treasurer, showed the finances to be in an excellent condiiton and with a good balance to the credit of the guild.

The following officers were elected: President—Miss Catherine M. Shea; vice-president—Mrs. Catherine E. Teasdale; treasurer—Miss Annie T. Burns; recorder and financial secretary—Miss Elizabeth O'Neil; directors—Mrs. Abbie Little and Miss Annie Anderson; entertainment committee—Miss Elizabeth Farrell, Miss Alicia Elcock, Miss Mary Monahan, Miss Mary King, Miss Annie McGilvray, Miss Sadie Monohan, Miss Josephine Gregnon and Miss Rena Mannix and chaplain—Rev. Henry T. Grady.

A social hour followed the business meeting during which light refreshments were served.

BAKER—ALEXANDER.

Before a beautiful altar, specially erected for the purpose in the home of George Alexander, 152 Strathmore road, Brookline, Watson Freeman Baker, Jr. and Miss Dorothy Alexander were united in marriage Thursday night.. The full Episcopal service was read by Rev. Edmund S. Rousmaniere, D. D, rector of St. Paul's church, Boston, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The Alexanders were for several years residents of Quincy, the bride being born here. She attended the Woodward Institute, being graduated in 1910, and is well known here, having many friends who etxend congratulations.

Mr. Baker is descended from a long line of New England ancestors, his father having been one of the principal town officials of Dennis on Cape Cod for more than a quarter of a century.

The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse satin with Chantilly lace and orange blossoms, and carried a bridal shower bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor, Miss Gertrude A. Shaw, was gowned in a light yellow dress and carried a bouquet of marguerites. The best man was Watson W Baker, and the ushers were Eben F. Phillips, Frank Kennedy, Ernest A. Comer and Herman Place.

The young couple will spend a short time in Washington, D. C. and on their return will reside at Hillside avenue, Melrose.

DELIGHTFUL MUSIC RECITAL

On Thursday evening Enrico Barraja gave the third informal recital in the series of interesting musical evenings with which he is so delightfully entertaining his own and his brother's friends. In each instance the program has been introduced by a short but comprehensive sketch of the life of the composer from whom Mr. Barraja was to play, and a brief analysis of his compositions and manner of rendering them, read by Joseph B. Frauenfelder.

Once again in Mozart we find the old proverb holding good as in the case of Chopin, that "Whom the God's love, die young," for this master of music was but thirty-six when he died. At twelve he had composed his first opera and from that time on he produced many with increasing beauty and musical value which reached its climax in Don Giovanni, which was given for the first time in Praque in 1781.

Living as a contemporary of Beethoven it was natural that much of his work should take the form which Beethoven had made so famous—that of the Sonata, and the program—a charmingly arranged combination of selections from Mozart's best known opera, Don Giovanni, and many of his most interesting sonatas were interpreted by Mr. Barraja, assisted by Miss Alice Foley, soprano; Leone Stroppiana, tenor; Joseph Barraja-Fraunfelder, bass, and Miss Rina Bizzozero, pianist.

The entire program was thoughtfully and sympathetically rendered, the guests feeling it to be an unusual privilege o listen to four performers so thoroughly artistic in their conception and interpretation of the master's works. Those who remained after the completion of the program had the further pleasure of listening to several numbers which may be called encores as follows:

Minuet in B flat from a Sonate of Mozart for the orchestra transcribed for the piano by Guiseppi Montucci Mr. Barraja.

Io vivo et 'arno—duet, soprano and bass, Miss Foley and rM. Fraunefelder.

"Mamma Mia" Nutile, Mr. Stoppiana and a most dramatic rendering of the first act of Faust by Mr. Stroppian and Mr. Fraunenfelder with Mr. Barraja at the piano.

PRIVATE DANCING PARTY.

A private dancing party was held Friday evening in Alpha hall, which proved to be a very pretty and successful affair. The grand march started promptly at eight o'clock, led by Harry E. Glover and Miss Florence Barker, Albert G. Coffin and Miss Linda E. Hill, Mathew Nicolls and Miss Edith E. Jenkins followed by sixty couples. The feature of the evening was a Paul Jones, directed by Arthur Thomas. The hall was very prettily decorated, the orchestra being nearly hidden from view by a profusion of flowers and plants. There were many beautiful gowns.

The matrons were Mrs. Walter E. Burke and Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide. Frappe was served during the evening.

The affair was in charge of the following committee Harry E. Glover, Albert G. Coffin and Mathew Nicolls and the music was by Wilson's orchestra.

(ADVERTISE.)

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

ENTERTAINMENT BY MEN'S CLUB

The annual entertainment of the Point church Men's club promises to be an exceedingly well patronized affair, judging from the advance sale of tickets. Already a full house has been assured for the first night and the sale for the second performance gives indication that tickets will be at a premium before the opening night. The club this year presents the old New England play "Our Folks," a drama in three acts. It is one of G. M. Baker's and is very popular with amateur performers. In the hands of the following cast a pleasing interpretation is confidently looked for.

CHARACTERS.

Capt. Thompson, a retired shipmaster J. T. Melville
Harry Thompson, his son R. Estey
Capt. Sleeper, a returned Californian D. Melville
Teddy Sleeper, his son C. H. Holmes
Hiram Small, a mill owner G. C. Russell
Phil, Capt. Thompson's man of all work D. Melville
Mrs. Thompson, "Good as gold" Mrs. W. F. Perry
Mrs. Sleeper, "hoping against hope" Miss H. M. Lermond
Becky Sleeper, "the tomboy" Mrs. J. A. Melville
Hulda Prime "full of complaints" Mrs. C. Barrows
Lilly York, "Slipshod but willing" Miss M. Lorentsen

The play briefly deals with a situation created by the unaccountable absence from his home for five years of Capt. Sleeper, during which his two children, without the restraint of a strong hand, run into all kinds of mischief, in which they are assisted at first by Harry Thompson, who later is driven from home by his father because he would not follow his father's wishes. Capt. Thompson, a growler, but good hearted, assists the Sleeper family, as he hopes, without it becoming known but he is at last discovered and through Becky, for whom he had formerly a dislike as thorough as that he held for his son, he is prevailed upon to ask his son to return to him. At this juncture Capt. Sleeper returns from his wanderings and satisfactorily explains his long absence his return restoring to good health again his wife who has long lain on a sick bed. He is also in time to rejoice over the betrothal of Becky and Harry, and lead the cheering when Hiriam and Hulda announce thot they too have "gone and done it."

The play is to be given on Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the vestry of the church. The curtain will rise sharp at 8 o'clock.. Following the highly successful fair held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid this week it would appear that various organizations of the Point church are very much alive and about their business.

☞Bake bread if you like, but PRATT'S BREAD is baked for you.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

OPENING RECEPTION

Members of the City Council, as well as department officials have been invited, with their ladies, to the opening of the new Wollaston Central garage near the Wollaston depot on Tuesday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. This garage has recenty been completed. It is of concrete and is an imposing structure.

BAD ACCIDENT WAS AVERTED

A bad accident was narrowly averted shortly before the curfew hour last evening, when Timothy White, of 9 Willow street, displaying wonderful nerve and presence of mind, brought a runaway horse to a standstill, on Hancock street, in the vicinity of the Auditorium theatre. The horse belonged to the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and was standing in front of the company's office on Hancock street, when it became frightened.

The horse ran at great speed and there happened to be many people on the street at the time returning from Lenten services at St. John's church, while others were coming from the moving picture show. White lost no time in grasping the animal by the bridle and although he was dragged several feet, succeeded in stopping him, receiving the thanks and congratulations of bystanders for his heroic work.

—Cheshire has the distinction of having the first home for friendless cats to be established in Connecticut, if not in New England. Walter Scott, proprietor of an inn, has fitted up a large room in the basement of his hostelry where any homeless cat can take refuge and get three square meals a day. Ninety-seven breakfasted there in a recent wintry morning.

FIRE DEPT. IS APPRECIATED

It is always pleasing to the members of the Fire Department to know that their efforts are appreciated. Such letters as the following, just received by Chief Litchfield go a great way toward increasing the efficiency of the department.

Boston, Mass., March 6, 1912.
Quincy Fire Department,
Quincy, Mass.

Gentlemen:—We write to express our appreciation of the effective work rendered by your department on the morning of Feb. 27, when our plant was burned.

As a result of your efforts, the property of our own and others was doubtless saved. We recognize the fact that appreciation on the part of the public is a valuable incentive in your work and we are glad to express ourselves as thoroughly well satisfied with the efficiency of your department as shown on the above date.

Very truly yours,
Wollaston Foundry Co.,
R. F. Alvord, Treas.

—Judge Hardy says that Rose Pitonof's claim to be the "champion swimmer of America" is about as capable of being defined as that of the "greatest orator." Or, he might have added, the "prettiest woman."

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH

on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or

Pinel's Variety Store

146 Water St., Quincy

IT IS A MARVEL

9—1m

CARPETS

Oriental Domestic RUGS

Floor Coverings

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

At Lowest Possible Prices

John H. Pray & Sons Co.

646-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

PLEASURE CAR SECTION March 2-9 AUTO SHOW COMMERCIAL VEHICLE SECTION March 13-20

MECHANICS BUILDING - BOSTON

COMMERCIAL VEHICLE EXHIBIT

Auspices Boston Commercial Motor Vehicle Ass'n, Incorporated

OPENS WED., MARCH 13th, at 8 P. M.

THEREAFTER

Open 10 A.M. to 10.30 P.M. (except Sunday) to Mar. 20

"THE GREATEST EXHIBIT OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES EVER SHOWN IN THE WORLD"

ADMISSION, 50 CENTS

"THE ACKNOWLEDGED SHOWS OF THE YEAR"

EXHIBITS MORE COMPLETE - DECORATIONS MORE SUPERB

DIRECTION CHESTER I. CAMPBELL

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?
WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE

James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man

Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.

9-tf

FOR QUINCY REAL ESTATE

PHONE "480"

RICKER

REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES INSURANCE

1416 Hancock St. Opp. the Greenleaf

9-1t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

It is suggested that the duty on soap be increased. That would never bother the politicians, only so far as it applied to soft soap.

Physical culturists say you should rise twenty times on your toes on getting up in the morning, but it is never best to get up on your ear even once.

If the straw vote artists want to take a poll of our church, we believe they should at least wait until the minister finishes his prayer.

Some hopeful persons think that by the presidential election of 1912, the Senate will have finished investigating the means by which the present senators secured their seats.

It is rumored that several Congressmen have temporarily stopped the work of building fences, and are taking a week's vacation in the Capitol City.

The Lawrence strike may have caused some suffering, but were it not for these little troubles how would the muck raking magazine men get their living?

We have seen the tracks of the Money trust in our back yard, but the more time we spend in investigating him the more likely that he will gobble us up.

Lone Gulch, Nevada, used to be the place where the hair raising holdups took place, but now you look for them in the canyons between the New York sky scrapers.

If you see a man with a worried look on his face, he is probably wondering how he'll ever pay that one per cent income tax on the portion of his pay over $5000 a year.

Mr. Taft warns Americans in Mexico to come home. But as Americans often prefer to save their dollars rather than their skins, and as the walking is not good, we doubt if many of them do so.

Many of our townspeople have visited the automobile show in Boston this week and to owners or expectant possessors of cars the exhibition is especially attractive. The season will soon be here when the auto is king and several new cars as well as new drivers will be in evidence this spring in Quincy. Our own town was many attractions for motorists with its fine roads and its nearness to both hills and sea. There is much reckless driving within the town limits and we hope the officials will take measures this year to have the scorchers slow down, especially at dangerous corners and curves.

COMMON HONESTY.

A visitor to our office the other day was speaking of a certain man who is well known among his friends for his vigorous condemnation of the evils of "big business" and political graft. Yet it was said that this very man was known in inside circles to follow the custom of tipping off the buyer of a certain corporation, in order to secure contracts for supplies.

Resolution and investigations of Congress, prosecution in the courts, will amount to little so long as this yellow streak runs through the daily life of our people.

Did you ever notice what a tremendous vote the politician can get who acquires a reputation for smartness, and who is energetic in defense of the special interests of some particular class? Proved dishonesty will be ignored if he gets our bills through.

We wish our school teachers would stop about once a fortnight from their lessons about the geography of Kamschatka, and give a solemn talk to the youngsters, telling them what a cad and a cur a man or boy becomes who does not give every one an absolutely square deal in business. Also that our ministers would omit about once a year one of their sermons on the doctrine of the Trinity, and talk about common honesty.

WOL. UNITARIAN VESPERS.

At the monthly vespers at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday, at 4.30 the musical portion of the service will be rendered by the Temple Quartet of Boston. All seats are free and the public is cordially invited. Please be in your seat at 4.25. The following is the order of service:

Organ Prelude
Doxology
Introductory service
Chant, Gloria Patri
Quartet, "My Heaven in Thee," Scott
Responsive reading from the Psalms
Chant
Quartet, "He Careth for me," Arranged
Scripture reading
Solo, "In God's Acre," Jordan
Prayer
Quartet, "Even Me," Warren
Congregational hymn 780
Offering
Quartet, "In Heavenly love abiding" Brown
Sermonette
Congregational hymn
Benediction
Chant
Organ Postlude

The Temple Quartet—E. E. Bullock, tenor; E. F. Webber, 2d tenor; F. A. Varney, baritone; G. E. McGowan, basso.

PETER MacQUEEN COMING.

Wednesday evening, March 27, Peter MacQueen, the world-famous raconteur, author and lecturer, will give his wonderful color-travelogue on Africa in the Wollaston Congregational church, under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. Mr. MacQueen will take his hearers into the very heart of Africa, where no white man ever before ventured, he will reveal in color the wonderful country which Livingston discovered and where he died; he will tell of strange people, strange places and thrilling experiences. All who have ever heard him will welcome the chance of hearing him again and those who have never enjoyed one of his interesting lectures will not want to miss the oppo rtunity of hearing him in our own city.

THAYER ACADEMY DANCE.

A very pretty little dance was held last evening at the White Gymnasium, Thayer academy from half after seven to half past ten. It was given under the direction of the senior middle class. The Misses Edith Kimball and Ruth Harding were in charge and it is to them the greater part of the evening's success is due. Two pieces from the popular Baldwin played most acceptably throughout the evening. During the intermission, delicious ice cream was served in the ante-room and proved most palatable after the warm dance hall.

Although no matrons were in evidence, most of the faculty of the academy were present and expressed themselves as well pleased at the success of a most delightful evening.

GREAT STRUGGLE MAY SOON BE ENDED

Strikers and Mill Men to Meet In Conference Today

Lawrence, Mass., March 9.—Settlement of the big textile strike which has held this city in its grip for eight weeks hinges on the single question of the percentage of increase the unskilled operatives shall receive from the advance offered by the mill owners.

Members of the strike committee last night received a communication from George H. Ellis, chairman of the legislative committee on conciliation, asking them if the committee of ten would meet with the legislative committee and the mill owners in the state house this afternoon.

The strike committee sent back word that their representatives would be at the state house at 2 o'clock.

President Wood is to present the strikers' committee a full schedule of wages for all departments. This schedule will show a greater percentage for the weavers than any other branch, and will run as high as 20 percent, it is stated. On the question of shaving this scale down so that the unskilled workers will receive the higher percentage, they being the most poorly paid, hangs the entire issue.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.
Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

CALERO MAKES STRONG DENIAL

Did Not Say Foreigners Would Be Held as Hostages

PREPARING FOR RESISTANCE

Americans and People of Other Countries Resident In Mexico City Ready to Act Should Anti-Foreign Disturbances Occur—Miranda and Other Former Followers of Madero Have Joined Forces Opposed to Him

Washington, March 9.—Emphatic denial has been made to American Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City by Manuel Calero, the Mexican minister of foregn affairs, of the interview accredited him declaring Americans and other foreigners would be held as hostages should a foreign force invade Mexico.

Ambassador Wilson, in a dispatch to the state department, said Calero had declared his sentiments were exactly the opposite of those expressed in the alleged interview. He also asserted he would not let the matter rest with mere denial, but intended to pursue a rigid investigation of its origin.

Four hundred Americans in mass meeting at Mexico City discussed plans for self-protection should disorders of an anti-foreign character occur in the capital. This action followed similar meetings of other foreign colonies. Committees were named to formulate plans and to work with committees representing other nationalities, all with the approval of the authorities of the federal district. Ambassador Wilson, who attended, made a brief speech in which he cautioned Americans against taking any partisan attitude toward the political affairs of the nation.

This is the first formal action taken by Americans and was the outcome of a general feeling that has been growing for many days "that residents should provide against being taken unawares."

Application has already been made to the government for 1000 rifles by the German colony, which has taken the lead in organizing. A number of concentration points, well distributed through the residential sections, have been selected, to each of which the women and children in its vicinity will be taken at the first alarm. These places are being provisioned for a five-day siege. The Spanish colony, the largest in the city, made similar arrangements.

Further disaffection among former Madero followers is reported. Miranda, a prominent general in the Madero revolution, is said to have a large force under his command near the capital.

Outbreaks still continue in the states of Jalisco, Zacatecas, Oaxaca, Vera Cruz, Pueblo and Tlaxcala.

LED BY AMERICAN WOMAN

Suffragists Kick Up Serious Rumpus In a British Prison

London, March 9.—Defying the prison authorities, the suffragettes who were sent to prison for smashing windows rioted in Holloway prison, broke the machines at which they were working and threw the whole place into an uproar.

Miss Alice Wright, the Albany, N. Y., girl, who was sentenced to two months at hard labor for her part in the recent disturbances, led the outbreak.

After the infuriated women had been overpowered they were returned to their cells and the prison governor ordered that all the ringleaders in the disturbances be placed in solitary confinement. The solitary cells are underground and are cold and dismal.

PITNEY IS HELD UP

His Nomination Confirmed and Then Set Aside by the Senate

Washington, March 9.—The senate confirmed President Taft's nomination of Mahlon Pitney, chancellor of the state of New Jersey, to succeed the late Associate Justice Harlan on the supreme court bench, and then set aside its action for further consideration because of opposition to Pitney which cropped up in the executive session.

The discussion was sufficient to arouse friends of Pitney and to make some of them apprehensive that his nomination might be rejected. His sponsors, however, express the belief that he will soon be confirmed.

Suicide of Letter Carrier

Boston, March 9.—William J. Brolund, 34 years of age, a letter carrier, committed suicide by shooting. His wife said that he was despondent by the study for and worry of taking the examination for a custom house position.

Population of Newfoundland

St. Johns, March 9.—Newfoundland has a population of 242,000, according to the complete census returns. This shows an increase of 10 percent for the last decade.

SUNDAY SERVICES

THIRD SUNDAY IN LENT

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY (Unitarian) City Square. Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor. Residence, Hotel Bellevue, Boston. Preaching 10.30 A. M. by the pastor. Sunday school 11.50. Charles H. Johnson, Supt.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Man." Golden Text; "Blessed is that man that maketh the Lord his trust, and respecteth not the proud, nor such as turn aside to lies." Psalm 40:4. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open from 3 to 5 P. M., week days holidays excepted. All are welcome.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH — Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets. Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D. 12 M. Bible School. 6.15, Y. P. S. C. E. 7. 0, Evening Church Service. Preaching by Dr. Anderson.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington Street. Rev. Fannie E. Austin, pastor. Morning worship 10.30 a. m. Subject: "The Simplicity that is in Christ." 11.45 Sunday School. 6 p. m. meeting of the Y. P. C. U., topic, "The True Christian Idea of Church Membership." 7 p. m. preaching service, with sermon by the pastor, subject, "The Way to Religious Life and Knowledge."

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Quincy Point. — Rev. Charles P. Marshall, pastor. 9.00 A. M. Sailors' Snug Harbor Service. 10.45 A. M. Morning Worship Subject: "The Bread of life." 12.00 M. Sunday School. 5.15 to 7.15 P. M. Pleasant Sunday Evening Service of Men's Class. 7.30 Song Service. Subject: "Ways into Life."

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, (undenominational) Colonial hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building, Quincy Center. Divine services, at 3 P. M. Lectures on most important and interesting subjects C. N. Elliott, lecturer; Subject; "The Three Worlds." Illustrated by a large chart. All are cordially invited to attend. No collection is lifted.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon at 10.30. Sunday School and Galahad Brotherhood at 12.05. 7.30, Evening Prayer and Address.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH— Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Telephone 1524 M. Morning worship at 10.30. Bible School and Men's class at 11.45. Prayer circle 5.45. C. E. Service 6.00. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Thursday services. Young People's meeting at 7. Congregational prayer service 7.30.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH—Fort Square, Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence, 182 Glendale Road. Morning service at 10.3. Sabbath School and Men's League at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Evening service at 7 o'clock. Seats free. All welcome. Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Sessions will meet same evening for regular business at 7.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30. Preaching by pastor Subject: "What it is to be a Christian." Sunday School at 12 M. Junior League at 3 P. M Epworth League at 6.15. Leader, Miss Maud Nichols. Evening service at 7 P. M. Subject; "Why join the Church." Prayer Meeting Friday at 7.30 P. M. in charge of Brotherhood. All cordially welcomed.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH — Rev. Carl G. Horst, minister. Residence 67 Winthrop avenue. Telephone: Quincy 783-1. 10.45, Morning service. Preaching by minister. Topic: "The Uses of Sunday." Kindergarten at 10.45. Sunday School at 12.10. The Rollin's Class for Young Men meets in the Church auditorium at 12. Subject: "The Lawrence Strike." Vespers at 4.30. Music by the Temple Quartet. All seats free. A hearty welcome for all.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 525 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8. A. M. Morning prayer and sermon at 10.30. Sunday school at 12 M. Evening Prayer and Address at 7.30.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beal and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Miss Marion Nevers, Deaconess Morning Worship at 10.45. Subject: "The Mind of Christ." Sunday School at 12. Junior League 3.30. Epworth League at 6. Evening Service at 7.00. Subject: "Christ's Reply to Peter's Searching Question."

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Corner Lincoln and Winthrop avenues. Morning worship at 10.45. Rev. Edward A Norton. Bible School at 12.15. Christian Endeavor at 6.00.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by Pastor. Subject: "A Message to the Undecided." Sunday School at 12.15. Junior Endeavor at 3.30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Evening service at 7. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Salvation, how it is obtained and what are it's blessed results." Everyone invited to these Services,

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. 10.30 morning worship. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "The Sorrow of Christ." Sunday school at 12. 6.00, Y. P. S. C. E. 7 P. M. Evening service, sermon by pastor. Vested choir will sing at both services.

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square
If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

GENERAL DYER RESIGNS

Oldest Postmaster Goes Out of Office at Age of Ninety-Two

Skowhegan, Me., March 9.—General Isaac Dyer, postmaster here since 1900, considered the oldest postmaster in the United States, went out of office today.

General Dyer is now past 92. Prior to becoming postmaster he had held many public offices. He was in the Maine senate in 1867-1868 and was inspector general of Governor Dingley's staff.

In the Civil war he was lieutenant colonel of the Fifteenth Maine infantry and in 1865 was made brevet brigadier general.

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Bridget M. Connelly, Wilton A. Dunham and James R. Murphy of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Thomas A. Sweeney and Charles H. Sweeney of Maynard, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

Two certain parcels of land situate in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth, being lots numbered 65 and 66 as shown on a plan made by H. T. Whitman and E. W. Branch, dated March 14, 1896 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book of Plans 19.

Lot numbered 65 is bounded northerly by lot 87 on said plan, now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 66 on said plan now the property of Thomas A. and Charles H. Sweeney 97.13 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet, westerly by lot 64 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Bridget M. Connelly 95.24 feet, and containing in all 4809 square feet.

Lot numbered 66 is bounded northerly by lot numbered 86 on said plan now or formerly belonging to James R. Murphy 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 67 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 99.02 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet and westerly by lot 65 on said plan now belonging to said petitioners 97.13 feet, and containing in all 4904 square feet.

Petitioners claim as appurtenant to the above described land rights in Sea Street, a public way on which said land is situated.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court, to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the first day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
(Seal.)
3t Mar. 9-16-23

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Sarah H. Peak late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by John W. Peak, of New Bedford, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

$5.00 Per Year for Absolute Security
Safety Deposit Boxes no bigger or better protected cost $10 or more in Boston. It would be hard to find a person here in Quincy who hasn't something that it is well worth 10 cents a week to protect from fire, theft, or loss through carelessness. How about YOU?
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

IT'S AT KINCAIDE'S
NEWEST of the NEW
This Smart, Trappy CARRIAGE

has the latest device, really a double set of springs. One set is fastened to running gear, the other to body. You simply press a bar which releases the upper spring and allows you to swing the body around so the front of carriage will face the the handle. In case the wind or sun are in baby's face, this is very convenient.
Body and hood of best quality reed, with full roll edge. Both have the new light natural finish — very attractive. Removable cushions and lining of hood golden brown. Hood and back adjustable. Strong steel running gear, brown enamel finish, neatly striped, Foot brake, four 13 inch rubber tire wheels.
It has the HIGH Kincaide quality and the LOW Kincaide price $18.98
Lots more $2.98 to $35.00
Henry L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy
Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

IMPORTANT NOTICE
That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.
Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.
Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,
Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.
Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."
Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.
New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.
JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of William B. Rice, late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Harry L. Rice, Fred B. Rice, Moorfield Storey and John D. Hardy executors of the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first and final account of their administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said executors are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18,

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeanne B. Hill late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John H. Hill of said Quincy or to some other suitable person. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

The Social Realm

Miss Grace F. Spear is the guest of friends in Chicago.

* * *

Mrs. Cecil Blanchard and baby daughter of Wellesley, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Wood of Upland road.

* * *

Miss Hildegarde Ducey entertained the Clover class at her home on Arlington street, Tuesday afternoon, it being her eleventh birthday. A peanut hunt was enjoyed, games played, and ice cream and cake were served. Music and dancing followed, giving a merry time to all.

* * *

Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis of Upland road left Friday for a visit in New York city. Mr. Curtis who has been in Hartford, several weeks on a business trip, will join her in New York where they will enjoy themselves visiting old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, formerly resided in New York.

* * *

Mrs. Ernest L. Spaulding of East Jaffrey, New Hampshire was the guest this week of Mrs. Herbert L. Packard of Standish avenue.

* * *

Miss Emma Spaulding, stenographer at the Y. M. C. A. plans to spend the week end with relatives at her home in Freemont, N. H. Miss Helen Ball of Upland road will accompany her.

* * *

Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Mrs. Thomas Fenno and Mrs. John O. Short are to be the matrons at the dance to be given at Alpha hall on March fifteenth by the Library Extension committee of the Quincy Women's Club. Deleware King as head usher will be assisted by Messrs. Thomas Fenno, Henry L. Kincaide, Jesse I. Litchfield, George E. Pfaffmann, C. Eaton Pierce, Carl R. Sheppard, John O. Short and James H. Slade.

* * *

The Sevsters club was entertained Thursday evening by Miss Marion Voglar of Botolph street. The affair was a Leap Year party and was greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

* * *

Judge James H. Flint of Weymouth, judge of Norfolk Probate Court, and Mrs. Annie C. Hubbard were quietly married Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Hubbard's brother, Captain William H. Dyer, of the Boston police department, in Monadnock street, Dorchester. Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Quincy officiated. Only relatives and a few close friends were present.

* * *

Mrs. Edith Cary Page and Wendell H. Luce of the executive committee of the Quincy Choral society has arranged an opera party for this evening when about fifty members of the Society will enjoy the performance of Faust at the Boston Opera house. A special car will convey the party to and from the opera so that a jolly time enroute is anticipated as well as much pleasure from attendance at the opera. The Choral society is to give its Faust production in April.

* * *

Mrs. Stacy Southworth and little daughter Dorothy of Roxbury are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Southworth of Greenleaf street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kennedy of Botolph street have gone on a trip to Bermuda, and will return in the spring.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hall, nee Dorothy Frye, who were married on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. Hall, of Presidents hill are spending their honeymoon at Poland Springs, Maine. They are to reside in Ashland, Mass., where Mr. Hall is in business, and will be at home to their friends after June first.

Music lovers are looking forward to the Spring concert of the Wollaston Glee club to be given on Wednesday evening in the Wollaston Congregational church J. A. Crowley will be the director as usual and the club will be assisted by Mrs. Marie S. Sundelius, soprano; Miss Hazel Dell Chandler, reader; Edward E. Bullock, tenor; W. E. Weston, accompanist.

* * *

Mrs. C. J. Miller of New London, Conn., is the guest of her son, V. E. Miller of Rusesll Park.

GAVE BIRTHDAY DANCING PARTY

One of the prettiest and most delightful private parties of the year, was the tenth birthday party of Miss Frances Angier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Angier of Presidents hill, held in Alpha hall, Friday afternoon, from three till five-thirty o'clock. The hall was prettily decorated with many flowers and japanese umbrellas together with paper streamers. The program consisted of dancing and a few games. At 5 o'clock refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

About sixty boys and girls enjoyed themselves for about "three hours of the best fun," as one of the young men expressed it.

The dancing and games were in charge of Miss Agnes Hayward of Braintree and Miss Marguerite Davis of Chestnut street. The grand march was lead by Miss Marie Schenkelberger and Otis Angier, brother of Miss Frances Angier. One of the features was the confetti dance. A number of the japanese umbrellas were filled with confetti and when the excitement was at its height the umbrellas were overturned allowing the confetti to fall down much to the amusement of the dancers.

Mrs. Edward H. Angier and Miss Marguerite Davis were the matrons.

The fans which were partially used for decoration also served as favors for the Germans. These fans and some carnations brought many exclamations of delight from the boys and girls.

John, the three year old brother of Frances, must not be forgotten, and one of the many dances was given in his honor much to his delight. John wore a white duck suit, which made him an attractive little figure.

The guests brought many presents among them boxes of candy and trinkets.

FUNERAL OF MR. DUNN.

The funeral of James C. Dunn was held from his home, 508 Washington street, Wednesday, conducted by Rev. Edward Norton and was very impressive. "Under the Canopy," one of the songs composed by Mr. Dunn, was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Mary V. H. Slade, The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Burial was in the family lot at Mount Wollaston cemetery.

SUCCESSFUL PARTIES.

Patrons of the dancing parties given last month for the benefit of the Quincy Day Nursery will be pleased to know that besides being very enjoyable social affairs they were also financial successes.

The afternoon party under the management of Mrs. Charles M. Bryant netted $82.50 to which was added $8 contributed by some of the young people too old to attend the afternoon party but who wished to help.

The evening party managed by Mrs. Edward E. Jameson was also a great success netting $100.

It has been said of Quincy people that they dance for a purpose, and it would seem so for all the large and many of the small dances are given for charity.

The children who enjoyed two hours of happiness at the Day Nursery dance, by their attendance at the dance gave several weeks of happiness to the children at the Nursery. Surely we must all take to dancing when so much good results.

IS RECOVERING.

News has been received from Springfield to the effect that William Williams, who is well known in this city, was operated on for appendicitis, in a private hospital in that city. Mr Williams is a teacher at Strafford High school, Strafford, Conn. He is a graduate of Quincy High school and Boston University. The reports received are very encouraging and his many friends hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions. Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

LONG LIST OF PATRONESSES.

A long list of patronesses assures the success of the dance to be given on Friday evening by the Library Extension committee of the Women's club, among them being: Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., Mrs. Herbert H. Albee, Mrs. Albert E. Avery, Mrs. Clarence Burgin, Mrs. Horace Bean,, Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. George H. Brown, Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis, Mrs. J. Winsor Davy, Mrs. William H. Doble, Mrs. James L. Edwards, Mrs. Frank A. Ernery, Mrs. Joseph S. Evans, Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, Mrs. Arthur P. Homer, Mrs. Henry R. Holden, Mrs. N. S. Hunting, Mrs. Edward E. Jameson, Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide, Mrs. Theophilus King, Miss Georgianna Lane, Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield, Mrs. Harrison S. Loud, Mrs. Ralph L. Lovell, Miss Maud Macfarlane, Mrs. Edward E. Miller, Mrs. Edward March, Mrs. Clayton R. Marstin, Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann, Mrs. Joseph P. Prout, Miss Edith Randall, Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Mrs. Hazen T. Ricker, Mrs. Alfred H. Remick, Mrs. Charles R. Safford; Mrs. Walter S. Sargent, Mrs. John W. Sanborn, Mrs. Charles L. Seavey, Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, Mrs. Carl R. Sheppard, Mrs. John O. Short, Mrs. James H. Slade, Mrs. Maurice P. Spillane, Mrs. W. Ward Whitcher, and Mrs. William O. Wellington.

BRAINTREE

Mrs. George H. Lane of Vine street is spending the week in Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hunt of Spruce street left Wednesday on a trip to Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick of Vine street returned Sunday from their southern trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Waters of French street entertained the Bridge club Monday evening.

Frank A. Bates of Washington street is on the sick list with a severe attack of rheumatism.

The Washington whist club were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Morrison, Thursday evening.

Mrs. C. L. Smith of Washington street, returned Friday from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Austin at Milford.

Letters remain in the post office for Automatic Awl Co., Miss Constance Breeze, Berten B. Hawes, Miss Bessie Mellow, Miss Lizzie Ryan and R. Vandyke.

Albert R. Qualey of the Century Tire Company, New York, has been spending the week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James R. Qualey, and also, attend the auto show in Boston.

Mr. G. W. Stewart of Rutland, Vt., is spending a week with his son George W. Stewart, Jr., and family of Arnold street. Miss Helen Corthell of Plymouth, N. H., is also with them.

The Men's club of All Souls' church will hold its annual ladies' night next Wednesday evening. Mr. J. L. Harbour, formerly an editor of the Youth's Companion will give an address on "Blessed be Humor."

The ladies of the afternoon whist club were entertained by Mrs. W. L. Holmes of Middle street, Friday afternoon. Souvenirs were secured by Mrs. H. Parker Hobart, Mrs. John P. Witherell and Mrs. George E. Snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Morcom, nee Miss Fannie F. D. Qualey, of Mexico City, are visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. James R. Qualey. On Saturday, March 2 a son, Walter J., was born to Mr. and Mrs. Morcom.

There was a good attendance at the Civic club last night and Mr. Foster from the Y. M. C. A., Boston, instructed the young men in gymnasium work. A prize cup to be given at the end of the three chess tournaments was on exhibition.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. George A. Arnold entertained the ladies of the afternon bridge whist club at her home 242 Middle street. The souvenirs were secured by Mrs. George C. Fuller of Middle street and Mrs. Joseph G. Spear of Hayward street.

The whist party under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary No. 16 was held at the home of the Misses Florence, Sadie and Lillian Berry of School street Thursday evening. There were nine tables in play. Music and refreshments were in order. Souvenirs were presented to Mrs Michael Beatty, Mrs. J. Spaulding, Edward Monaghan and Alfred H. Holbrook.

—Does everybody know that there is no charge to a telephone patron for emergency calls, if designated as such. The word "emergency" acts as a signal, and the promptest kind of attention, gratis, will be given when that word is used in connection with "fire," "doctor," "police."

SOUTH BRAINTREE

The Pond Cemetery Association is invited to meet with Mrs. A. F. Hollis 39 Taylor street, Tuesday, March 12.

Mrs. Adoniram Dyer of Hancock street is quite ill at her home and the service of a trained nurse was found necessary.

The members of the Relief Corps work committee met with Mrs. Richard M. Sanborn of Crescent avenue, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Helen Kyte returned to her home on Pond street, Wednesday from Abington, Conn., where she has been the guest of friends for two weeks.

Mrs. Solon David of Franklin street was called to Randolph this week to attend the funeral services of her sister Mrs. Harry Shedd of North street.

Friends will be glad to learn that Mrs. William A. Tupper of Franklin street who is receiving treatment at the New England hospital is much improved.

Sympathy is extended to Mr . and Mrs. Sidney Storm of Town street because of the sudden death of their little four months old son which occurred Thursday morning.

The regular March meeting of the Pine Tree club will be postponed this month on account of the death of another of their esteemed members, George B. Moody of Fountain street.

Alfred N. Hollis of Taylor street has resigned his position at the Rice & Hutchins shoe factory to accept another with Gardner Brothers, Wholesale Woolen Dealers, Bedford street, Boston.

Miss Dwyer of Salem the resident nurse of the Friendly Aid society is doing very effective work and is well liked. By a recent arrangement, the local policy holders in the Metropolitan Insurance company may receive the benefits of the Friendly Aid nursing.

On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Otis B. Oakman of Franklin street entertained the members of the Evening whist club. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Douglas R. Hayden, Mrs. W. Austin Torrey, Azel R. French and Charles R. Cummings.

Frank E. Hollis and a party of thirty baseball enthusiasts from Hartford, Conn., have left for Bermuda where they plan to spend two weeks. A number of interesting games have been planned. While on the trip Mr. Hollis will represent the Hartford Times one of the prominent papers of the city.

EAST BRAINTREE

Mrs. T. F. J Dalton, of Elliot street has been entertaining Mrs M. E. Desmond, of Dorchester for a few days.

Oliver Tellier, of Bellevue road, who has been ill for the past few weeks is about to go to the hospital to have an operation performed.

Joseph Severance, of Front street, travelling salesman for the Clapp Shoe Co., left Tuesday on a three months' business trip to the South.

Mr. and Mrs. William Guterson, of Bellevue road have returned from Jacksonville, Florida, after a three weeks' visit to their daughter, Mrs. William Burr.

Thursday evening, Principal F. B. Taylor of the Jonas Perkins school, gave an interesting talk on Holland, to the pupils of grades 6, 7 and 8. Many stereopticon views of that country were shown.

Box 125 was rung in Saturday evening for a fire on the estate owned by Henry Hollis, on Liberty street. The house was occupied by Albert Buker. The department responded quickly and the house was only slightly damaged.

At the town meeting on Monday, Benjamin J. Loring, popularly known as the children's friend, was elected constable for the forty-first consecutive year. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Loring are pleased to learn that they are to return to their Braintree home next month.

A public meeting of the Workmen's Benefit association, lodge 27, will be held in Hose 1 hall, East Braintree, Tuesday evening, March 12th instead of the 11th as published in a former issue. The entertainment will be furnished by Boston people and will be of interest and profit to those who are able to attend.

Mrs. John Brooks Allen celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday very pleasantly yesterday afternoon at her home on Commercial street. There were greetings and remembrances from Florida and elsewhere. Among the guests were seven great grandchildren, namely: John Brooks Allen, Margaret C. Arnold, George Allen Arnold, Mary B. Arnold, Edith A. Arnold, Eleanor Prescott and Helen Louise Prescott.

RAPS RECALL OF JUDGES

Taft Declares Proposition Reactionary Instead of Progressive

Toledo, O., March 9.—President Taft made answer here last night to the propaganda for the recall of judges and for the more recent proposal for the recall of judicial decisions. His topic was "The Judiciary and Progress." He made no direct reference to Theodore Roosevelt nor to the latter's speech at Columbus, but referred freely to some of the policies that were enunciated by the former president before the Ohio constitutional convention.

Utterly without merit or utility, and reactionary instead of progressive; crude, revolutionary, fitful and unstable were the terms in which the president referred to the recall method of reversing judicial constructions of the constitution.

READY FOR THE SENATE

Massachusetts House Passes Preferential Primary Bill

Boston, March 9.—The preferential primary bill, with provisions for the direct election of all delegates to national conventions, was passed by a voice vote to be engrossed by the house of representatives.

The bill now goes to the senate, which passed a preferential primary bill without the provision for the direct election of delegates.

By a vote of 84 to 20 the rules were suspended so the bill might be taken from the bottom of the long calendar and placed at the top. In the two hours' debate charges were made that the leaders of both parties (no names mentioned) were against the bill.

Miss Barton More Comfortable

Washington, March 9.—Miss Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross, who is ill at her home in Glen Echo, Md., is more comfortable. She has been confined to her bed for six weeks.

School of Love in Germany.

In order to counteract the falling off of marriage rate a "school of love" has been started at Strasburg, Germany. The school will also give advice on obscure questions, such as how to encourage budding attentions, how to discourage them, how to converse with serious men without any serious knowledge, and how to be gay and frivolous while suffering from headache, bankruptcy, and other ills.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

9—German—Colonial Hall.
9—Travel Talk.—Young Women's Club.
10—Vespers—Wol. Unitarian Church.
11—Banquet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Founder's Day—Woodward Institute.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance—" Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

Anty Drudge Sympathizes with the Husband.

Mother—"What makes your husband get his dinner in town every Monday evening? Is he so busy he can't come home?"

Daughter—"No. But he says he cannot eat with the smell of hot steam suds all through the house."

Anty Drudge—"You needn't drive your husband from home, with such disagreeable smells. Buy Fels-Naptha soap, do away with scalding water, and boiling clothes, and soapy smells, and—enjoy your husband's company."

Too many household cares to give over a whole day to the week's wash!

Why should all day Monday be washday? Why shouldn't just Monday MORNING be "wash morning?"

And it CAN BE if you use Fels-Naptha soap. Because Fels-Naptha is made to do the work FOR you. A soap that DISSOLVES the dirt. You soap the clothes and place them in cool or lukewarm water for thirty minutes. And you then find that only light rubbing is needed to make the wash ready for the line.

Whether white goods, flannels, woolens or colored goods, you have got the very best washday results possible, and with the least effort. And because you have used cool or lukewarm water, your hands are smooth and soft.

Directions on red and green wrapper.

Good Judgment---

ZOROID LENSES

You can buy anything over a counter which does not imply a specific individual need — but it is as dangerous to buy glasses over the counter as it is to purchase an advertised panacea when you need the services of a physician.

If your eyes trouble you — you need the services of an optometrist. We charge from $1.00 to $3.00 for our authoritative examination and we can absolutely correct any visual deficiency with our own, warranted, ZOROID LENSES. Your timely call is an indication of good judgment.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 9-13

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in
NECKWEAR
We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures.
Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you
We sell May Manton Patterns
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Near and Far Glasses in a single pair, We make all kinds of bifocal lenses, but none that will give the same comfort, freedom from bother, young, stylish look that Kryptoks do. Kryptok Bifocals are incomparable.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

GAS OVEN PRODUCTS

ALWAYS RELIABLE

The steady, even heat of a gas oven insures perfect baking and roasting. Results which every housewife takes pardonable pride in.

See our display of these today and know the results you can secure with one in your kitchen.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Mar. 4.	12.00	12.00
Tuesday,	12.30	12.45
Wednesday,	1.15	1.30
Thursday,	2.00	2.15
Friday,	2.45	3.15
Saturday,	3.30	4.00
Sunday,	4.15	5.00

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	45 degrees
Mar. 9, 1911,	46 degrees
Mar. 9, 1910,	49 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Mrs. Harry Sherburne, of South street, is quite ill with tonsilitis.

Many Quincy automobile fans attended the Automobile show in Mechanics building, Boston, this week.

Rev. Malcolm Taylor, rector of St. Thomas' church, Taunton will be the preacher at the mid-week Lenten service at Christ church, Wednesday evening.

The final rehearsals for the play, "Our Folks," at the Quincy Point church are being held and all things point to a good presentation.

The next regular meeting of Whatsoever Circle King's Daughters will be held with Mrs. B. F. Bowles, Brook street, Monday evening.

At the younger boys' meeting this morning at the Y M. C. A. the subject of the talk and stereopticon views was "The Traitor." The conference delegates were present and with songs and short talks told of the benefits derived from attendance at the conference.

The Mothers' meeting at Memorial church Wednesday afternoon showed considerable interest on the part of the mothers. Mrs. Lyndon T. Gurney was elected president and Mrs. W. N. Ware secretary.

The date for the spring concert of the Wollaston Glee club is March 13 at the Wollaston Congregational church. Judging by the date selected it should be the best ever.

The Walther class will meet Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. A large number of men gather here every Sunday. Subject of discussion "Miracles of Healing, past and present." Men not in other similar classes invited.

The annual meeting of Quincy lodge of Elks will be held next Tuesday evening at Electa hall. In adition to the election the lodge will receive an official visit from Frank J. Condon, D. D. G. E. R. of North Attleboro.

At the annual meeting of the parish society of Memorial church, Thursday evening, Henry VonEmden was elected president. William F. Cummings resigned as clerk, and Harry B. Wells was elected to fill the vacancy. W. N. Ware was elected collecter and Paul Butler treasurer. E. E. Willey and C. A. Hall were re-elected as trustees for three years.

Representative George H. Ellis is to speak at the meeting Tuesday night of the Wollaston Unitarian club on "A talk on the Lawrence Strike." Dinner precedes the talk at 6.30.

On Thursday evening the Wollaston Congregational church holds its monthly supper and social.

The annual meeting of the Wollaston Co-operative Bank is to be held Tuesday evening, March 19, in the banking rooms.

The annual parish meeting of First Church will be held Monday night at eight o'clock in the chapel.

Miss Cora Whitney Davis of Worcester, violinist , is to assist in the musical service Sunday morning at First Church.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Mrs. Caroline C. Barney, State Supervisor of the Universalist Massachusetts Sunday School association, who was announced as the speaker at the Universalist church Sunday morning, has been quite ill the past week and will be unable to be here. Therefore there will be the usual morning service with a sermon by the pastor.

Evening services which have been held the last two Sunday evenings will be continued until Easter. Sunday night, the pastor, Rev. Fannie E. Austin will preach upon the subject, "The Way to Religious Life and knowledge." The hour of service is seven o'clock.

☞Give the baby bread and milk PRATT'S BREAD and good pure milk.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

AMUNDSEN'S JOURNEY TO SOUTH POLE

Explorer Gives Detailed Narrative of Great Discovery

DESOLATE ICE PLATEAU' IN ANTARCTIC REGION

Norwegian Flag Planted on Vast Plain Given Name of "King Haakon VII. Plateau"—How Winter Was Spent on Great Ice Barrier—Start For Pole Made Early In September, but Delayed Until Middle of October—Five Men Reach the Pole—Temperature as Low as 76 Degrees Below Zero—Scientific Discoveries of Great Value—Excellent Results of Expedition to King Edward VII. Land Under Prestud

Captain Amundsen's own narrative of his attainment of the South Pole, Dec. 14-17, 1911.

By Roald Amundsen. (Copyright, 1912, by The New York Times company, all rights reserved.)

Hobart, Tasmania, March 8, 11:20 a. m.—On the 10th day of February, 1911, we commenced to work our way toward the south, from that day to the 11th of April establishing three depots which in all contained a quantity of provsions of about 3000 kilos. One thousand six hundred kilos, including 1100 kilos of seal meat, were cached in 80 degrees, 700 kilos in 81 degrees, and 800 kilos in 82 degrees south latitude.

As no landmarks were to be seen, these depots were marked with flags, seven kilometers on each side in the easterly and westerly directions.

The ground and the state of the barrier were of the best, and especially well adapted to driving with dogs. On Feb. 15 we had thus traveled about 100 kilometers. The weight of the sledges was 300 kilos, and the number of dogs was six for each sledge. The surface of the barrier was smooth and fine with no sastrugi. The crevices were very local and were found dangerous in only two places.

For the rest, long, smooth undulations.

The weather was excellent, calm or a light breeze. The lowest temperature on these depot trips was minus 45 celsius or centigrade (49 degrees below zero Fahrenheit). On March 4, on our return from the first trip, beginning on Feb. 15, we found out that the Fram had already left us. With pride and delight we heard that her smart captain had succeeded in sailing her furthest south and there hoisting the colors of his country, a glorious moment for him and his comrades, the furthest north and the furthest south. Good old Fram! The highest south latitude attained was 78 degrees 41 minutes.

Winter on the Ice Barrier

Before the arrival of winter we had 6000 kilos of seal meat in the depots, enough for ourselves and 110 dogs. Eight dog houses a combination of tents and snow huts, were built.

Having cared for the dogs, the turn came to use our solid little hut. It was almost enirely covered with snow by the middle of April. First we had to get light and air. The Lux lamp, which had a power of 200 standard candles, gave us a brilliant light and kept the temperature up to 20 degrees celsius (67 degrees Fahrenheit) throughout the winter, and our excellent ventilation system gave us all the air we wanted.

In direct communication with the hut and dugout on the barrier were workshops, packing rooms, cells for provisions, coal, wood and oil, a plain bath, a steam bath, and observatories. Thus we had everything within doors if the weather should be too cold and stormy.

The sun left us on April 22 and did not return until four months later. The winter was spent in changing our whole outfit, which on the depot trips was found to be too clumsy and solid for the smooth surface of the barrier. Besides this, as much scientific work as possible was done, and some astonishing meteorological observations were taken.

Open Water All Winter

There was very little snow and there was open water close by throughout the winter. For the same reason higher temperature had been expected, but it remained very low.

In five months there were observed temperatures between minus 50 and 60 degrees celsius (58 and 76 degrees below zero Fahrenheit) the lowest temperature on Aug. 13 being minus 59 degrees celsius. It was then calm. On Aug. 1 the temperature was minus 58 degrees celsius, and there were six metres of wind. The mean temperature for the year was minus 26 degrees celsius (14.8 below zero Faherenheit). I had expected hurricane after hurricane, but I observed only two moderate storms and many

(Continued on Page Five.)

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Bay State Teachers Organize for Common Welfare—Many Local Associations Have Already Joined the New Federation—Hubbites Horrified at Dance Mistress' Assertion Girls are Knock-kneed—Why They Are Knock-kneed—Professor Moy Ging Teaches Chinese in Chinatown—New England Architects Help Engineers in Making City Beautiful.

The Massachusetts State Teachers' Federation, though less than two years old, is making surprising strides in its growth, as evidenced at the recent luncheon and business meeting attended by delegates of the various teachers' clubs and associations throughout the state. The Federation now represents a membership of more than 3,000 teachers, and a number of associations are considering joining, including the Boston teachers' association which comprises the largest membership of any in the state. Under the presidency of Ernest Makechnie of West Somerville the Federation has aroused the enthusiasm and co-operation of teachers' clubs in practically all the cities and larger towns of the state, and in the suburban towns around Boston. The breaking of bread together at the recent meeting was followed by presentation of a platform to be considered and adopted at the annual meeting in the autumn and the agreement to carry on active propaganda for an adequate teachers' retirement-salary law; a tenure-of-office law, and state certification of teachers. The Massachusetts Federation has met with such co-operation and success that its model has been adopted by a federation now forming in Wisconsin and one under consideration in Illinois.

A "perfectly horrid" member of the deadlier species has roused the ire of Boston and other girls by daring to agree with the president of the New York Athletic League in claiming that nine-tenths of all civilized women are knock-kneed and that men are, therefore, naturally better dancers. The well known dancing teacher who is guilty of this stunning blow at her sex explains that civilized girls are made knock-kneed by a combination of evils such as skirts that swirl around their knees constricting their walk high heels, being taught to stand with their feet together and toes pointing to the front instead of at right angles, and three generations of heredity in these faults. Darius Cobb, Boston's venerable artist, however, comes to the rescue with the statement that if women's knees are inclined to turn in they are more supple then men's, and that is why women's movements are in graceful curves, opposed to the direct, straightforward movements of men. Anyone who desires to refute the argument that men's knees are straight may find ample argumentative material at Revere or Nantasket on any July Sunday.

A Chinese school for the study of the native language is an institution recently established in the Hub's Chinese quarter. Teacher Moy Ging has under his tutelage 16 bright-faced pupils of Chinese parentage and American education and one Yankee boy who is ambitious to learn the Chinese language in order that he may be qualified to go to Hong Kong, Canton or elsewhere some day for the dry goods house which employs him. Moy Ging himself attends the Dorchester High School by day, and has the history, geography and language of China at his tongue's end. The students range from 10 to 19 years and a more dignified group of young gentlemen it would be hard to find, as they gather each evening from 6 to 9 o'clock to learn the language of their native land. An incident in line with the growing disposition to provide food for American school children that they may be properly nourished for their study periods was the sumptuous banquet partaken of by pupils, teacher, Chinese school committee, members and friends, before the beginning of the session. The celestials eveidently believe that learning comes quicker on a full stomach.

Many New Englanders are just beginning to realize that their metropolis is one respect at least—the co-operation between architects and public service corporations—is making notable advances over sister cities of this country. This advance is made the subject of an entertaining article by Frederick W. Coburn, whose contributions as art writer in the Boston Herald and the various fine arts magazines are familiar to many readers, appears in the current number of Art and Progress. Mr. Coburn emphasizes the valuable results to the municipality of the joint effort of the transportation company of Boston and a group of leading architects who act as advisors to the company. Designs for all structures projected by the street railway company are made in co-operation with the engineers by Robert S. Peabody, president of the Boston Society of Architects and one time president of the American Institute of Architects,, who is on the company's payroll as consulting architect. These designs are submitted for criticism and suggestion to a committee of architects nominated by the Boston Society, this committee consisting at present of Clarence M. Blackall, Charles A. Colidge, Ralph Adams Cram, Charles D. Maginnis and Edmund M. Wheelwright, all names to conjure with in the artistic world. Among the results which are making this arrangement famous are the Forest Hills terminal station, one of the handsomest stations ever constructed, the new East Cambridge concrete viaduct alongside the Charles River dam, the several power stations and transfer stations of the transportation company, which have been designed to harmonize with their individual surroundings and to embody architectural style in keeping with modern ideals as well as merely utilitarian convenience. The same esthetic considerations have characterized the more recent underground constructions of the transportation company in the designing of stations, exits and entrances, which shall be pleasing to the eye and in harmony with the adjacent surroundings. Strangers in the Hub commenting on the marked improvements in the newer architectural undertakings are frequently surprised to learn that they are due in large measure to the combined efforts of the transportation company and the leading local architects.

ETHEL ANGIER.

Boston, March 7, 1912.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

LINCOLN HIGHTS

East Braintree

25 min. by rail
Unsurpassed site for beautiful homes; restricted.

SEE
This Loveliest Spot

FRED O. ELLIS 276 Washington St.

A Sprain or Cut calls for quick treatment. Don't try experiments. You are safe and sure with the old, reliable

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE Liniment

The 101 Year Old Liniment

Used over 100 years for Rheumatism, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Wounds. Used inwardly for Colds, Sore Throat, Croup, Bowel Troubles.
25c and 50c Bottles. At all Dealers.
I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

Parsons' Pills
Best laxative. Tone the System.

Class in Every Detail
The E. & W. Shirts

The Keynote of the Spring and Summer styles. Fresh from the watchful designer and the careful cutter comes these new shirts for the most discriminating male dresser.

You see class in every detail—the lines, the fabric, color schemes and finish. They are the best known and to the minds of many well-groomed men there is nothing in better taste than the famous

E. & W. SHIRTS

New Spring Styles, each $1.50
E. & W. Red Men Collars, 2 for 25c
E. & W. Soft Collars, each. 25c

We also have a full line of Spring Shirts in handsome color effects at $1.00 each; and Soft Collars at 15 cents or 2 for 25 cents.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 7—3t.

FIRST INSTALMENT MONDAY

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By VAUGHAN KESTER

WE HAVE secured the publication rights on this great story that from January to December, 1911, was

The Best Selling Book in America

It is a story that stands out head and shoulders above the average modern story because of its mystery, villainy, love, adventure, humor, pathos and dramatic thrills.

READ IT

You'll Find There Is No Lack of Excitement in This Story

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & Co.

Out of Sorts?

Lots of discomfort — the blues — and many serious sicknesses you will avoid if you keep your bowels, liver and stomach in good working order by timely use of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1446 W.

Mortgagee's Sale

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by James Muller of Quincy in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Abbie E. Studley of said Quincy, dated, Dec. 20, 1910 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1164 Page 604 for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described on Saturday, March 30, 1912, at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the building thereon situated in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic, being lot numbered two hundred three (203) and plan of Norfolk Downs by Charles D. Elliott dated April 1892 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, plan book 14, plan 640 and bounded and described as follows: Northerly by Freeman street forty-nine (49) feet; Southerly by lot 202 on said plan one hundred (100) feet, Southwesterly by the land of Taylor Heirs so-called, forty-two and 37-100 (42.37) feet; and Northwesterly by lot numbered two hundred four on said plan one hundred and 22-100 (100.22) feet containing according to said plan, forty-five hundred sixty-eight and 5-10 (4568.5) square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to James Muller by Alice E. Pendleton by deed recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1148, page 135. Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $2500. and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be.

$100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

ABBIE E. STUDLEY,
Mortgagee.
3t-Mar 2, 9, 16

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Thomas P. Healy, late of Quincy, Mass., in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

THOMAS F. HEALY, Adm.
(Address.)
346 Adams Street.
Feb. 27, 1912. 3t 2, 9, 16

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Eunice A. S. Wellington late of Durand, Illinois, having estate in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ZENAS S. ARNOLD, Adm.
(Address)
38 Coddington street, Quincy.
Dec. 6, 1912 3t 2-9-11

DIMOCK & PATTEN
Carpenters and Builders
Plans furnished and estimates given.
All work personally and promptly attended to.
133 PROSPECT AVENUE
WOLLASTON
Telephone 1047 W Quincy.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 35 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

AMUNDSEN'S JOURNEY

(Continued from Page Four.)

excellent auroras-australis in all directions.

The sanitary conditions were of the best all the winter and when the sun returned on Aug. 24 he met the men sound in mind and body, ready to set about the task that had to be solved.

Already, the day before, we had brought our sledges to the starting place for our march toward the south. Only in the beginning of September did the temperature rise to such an extent that there was any question of setting out.

First Start For the Pole

On Sept. 8 eight men, with seven sledges, ninety dogs and provisions for four months, started. The ground was perfect. The temperature was not bad. The next day it appeared that we had started too early, as the temperature of the following days fell and was kept steady between minus 50 and 60 celsius (58 and 76 degrees below zero Fahrenheit). Personally we did not suffer at all from the cold, our good furs protecting us. But with our dogs it was a different matter. It could easily be seen that they shrank from day to day and we understood pretty soon that they could not stand the long run to our depot at 80 degrees south.

We agreed on returning and to wait for the arrival of spring. The provisions were cached, and off we went for the hut. With the exception of the loss of a few dogs and a couple of frozen heels everything was all right.

Only in the middle of October spring came in earnest. Seals and birds appeared. The temperature was steady between 20 and 30 celsius (68 and 86 degrees Fahrenheit). The original plan that all of us should go toward the south had been changed. Five men had to do this work, while the other three were to start for the east and visit King Edward VII. Land. This last mentioned trip was not included in our program, but owing to the fact that the English had not reached it, at least this summer, as was their intention, we agreed that the best thing to do was also to make this trip.

On Oct. 20 the southern party started five men, four sledges, fifty-two dogs and provisions for four months, with everything in excellent order.

The Journey to the Pole

We had made up our minds to take the first part of the trip as easily as possible, in order to give ourselves and the dogs a rational training, and on the 23rd we made our depot in 80 degrees south. We went right ahead. In spite of the dense fog an error of two to three kilometers happened once in a while, but we were caught by the flagmarks and found these on our way without difficulty.

Having rested and fed the dogs on all the seal meat they were able to eat, we started again on the 26th, with the temperature steadily between minus 20 and 30 celsius (4 and 22 degrees below zero Fahreenheit).

From the start it was the intention not to drive more than 30 kilometers a day, but it appeared that this was too little for our strong, willing animals. At 80 degrees south we began to build snow cairns of a man's height in order to have marks on our return trip. On the 31st we reached the depot at 81 degrees and stopped there one day, and fed the dogs on as much pemmican as they wanted.

We reached the depot at 82 degrees on Nov. 5, where the dogs for the last time got all they wanted to eat. On the 8th southward again, with a daily march of 50 kilometers. In order to lighten our heavy sledges we established depots at each degree of south latitude.

Like a Pleasure Trip

The trip from 82 degrees to 83 degrees became a pleasure trip, excellent ground, fine sledging and an even temperature. Everything went like a dance.

On the 9th we sighted South Victoria Land and the continuation of the mountain range which Sir Ernest Shackleton mentioned in his chart as running toward the southeast from the Beardmore glacier, and on the same day we reached 83 degrees and established here depot No. 4.

On the 11th we made the interesting discovery that the Ross barrier terminated in a bight toward the southeast at 86 degrees south latitude and 163 degrees west longtitude, formed between the southeast mountain range running from South Victoria Land and a range on the opposite side running in a southwesterly direction, probably a continuation of King Edward VII. Land.

On the 13th we reached 84 degrees, where we established a depot; on the 16th we were at 85 degrees, where also we made a depot.

From our winter quarters, "Framheim," 78 degrees 38 minutes south latitude, we had been marching due south. On Nov. 17, at 85 degrees, we arrived at a place where the land and barrier were connected. This was done without any great difficulty. The barrier here rises in undulations to about 300 feet. Some few big crevices indicated the limited boundary.

Here we made our head depot, taking provisions for sixty days on sledges, and leaving thirty days' provisions on the spot.

A Difficult Climb

The land under which we lay and

ROALD AMUNDSEN

He Gives Details of His Trip to the South Pole

which we now had to attack looked quite imposing. The nearest summits along the barrier had a height from 2000 to 10,000 feet, but several others further south were 15,000 feet or more.

The next day we began the climb. The first part of it was an easy task, light stops and well filled mountain sides. It did not take a long time for our willing dogs to work their way up. Farther up, we met with some small but very steep glaciers. Here we had to harness twenty dogs to each sledge and take the four sledges in two turns. In some places it was so steep that it was difficult enough to use our skis.

Some big crevices forced us from time to time to make detours. The first day we climbed 2000 feet, the next day mostly up some small glaciers, camping at a height of 4500 feet. The third day we were obliged to go down on a mighty glacier, "Axel Heibergs glacier," which divided the coast mountains and the mountains further south.

The next day began the longest part of our climb. Many detours had to be made in order to avoid broad cracks and open crevices. These were apparently mostly filled up and the glaciers in all probability had long ago stopped moving, but we had to be very careful, never knowing for certain how thick was the layer that covered them.

Our camp that night lay in the very picturesque surroundings at a height of 5000 feet. The glacier here was narrowed in between the two 15,000 feet high mountins, the "Fridtjuf Nansen" and the "Don Pedro Christophersen." From the bottom of the glacier rose Mount "Ole Englstad," a big snow cone 13,500 feet high.

Day's Splendid Work

The glacier was very much broken in this comparatively narrow pass. The mighty crevices seemed to stop us from going further, but it was not so serious as it appeared. Our dogs, which us to this time had covered a distance of about 700 kilometers, the last days very hard work, ran this day 35 kilometers, the ascent being 5600 feet, an almost incredible record. It took us only four days from the barrier to get up on the vast inland plateau.

We camped that night at a height of 10,600 feet. Here we had to kill twenty-four of our brave companions and keep eighteen, six for each of our three sledges.

We stopped here four days on account of bad weather. Tired of this, we set out on Nov. 25. On the 26th, in a furious blizzard and in a dense snowdrift, absolutely nothing was to be seen, but we felt that, contrary to expectations, we were going fast down hill. The hypsometer gave us that day a descent of 600 feet.

We continued our march the next day in a gale, and a dense snowdrift got our faces badly frozen. We could see nothing. We reached that day 86 degrees, dead reckoning. The hypsometer indicated a fall of 800 feet.

The next day was similar. The weather cleared a little at dinner time and exposed to our view a mighty mountain range to the east, and not far off—only for a moment—and then it disappeared in the dense snowdrift.

On the 29th it calmed down and the sun shone, though it was not the only pleasant surprise he gave. In our course stretched a big glacier running toward the south. At its eastern end was the mountain range, going in a southeasterly direction; of the western part of it no view was to be had, it being hidden in the dense fog. At the foot of this glacier, the "Devil's glacier," a depot for six days was established, at 86.21 degrees south latitude.

The hypsometer indicated 3000 feet above sea level.

A Splendid Mountain View

On Nov. 30 we began to climb the glacier. The lower part of it was very much broken and dangerous. Moreover, the snow bridges very often burst. From our camp that night we had a splendid view over the mountain to the east. There was "Helmar Hansen's Summit," the most remarkable of them all. It was 12,000 feet high and covered with such broken glaciers that it all probability no foothold was to be found. "Oscar Wistings"," "Sverre Hassels" and "Olav Hjanlands" mountains also lay here, beautifully illuminated in the rays of the bright sun.

In the distance, and only alternately to be viewed in the fog, appeared from time to time "Mount Nielsen," with its summits and peaks about 15,000 feet high.

We only saw the nearest surroundings. It took us three days to surmount the "Devil's glacier," always in misty weather.

On Dec. 1 we left this broken glacier, with holes and crevices without number, with its height of 9100 feet. Before us, looking in the mist and snowdrift like a frozen sea, appeared a light, sloping ice plateau filled with small hummocks.

The walk over this frozen sea was not pleasant. The ground under us was quite hollow, and it sounded as though we were walking on the bottoms of empty barrels. As it was, a man fell through, then a couple of dogs. We could not use our skis on this polished ice. Sledges had the best of it.

The place got the name of "Devil's dancing room." This part of our march was the most unpleasant. On Dec. 6 we got our greatest height, according to the hypsometer and aneroid, 10,750 feet at 87 degrees 40 minutes south.

On Dec. 8 we came out of the bad weather. Once again the sun smiled down on us. Once again we could get an observation. Dead reckoning and observation were exactly alike—88 degrees 88 minutes 16.6 seconds south.

Before us lay an absolutely plain plateau, only here and there marked with a tiny sastrugi.

In the afternoon we passed 88 degrees 23 minutes (Shackleton's furthest south was 88 degrees 25 minutes). We camped and established our last depot, depot No. 10. From 80 degrees 25 minutes the plateau began to slope down very gently and smoothly toward the other side.

On Dec. 9 we reached 88 degrees 39 minutes; on Dec. 10 88 degrees 56 minutes, Dec. 11 89 degrees 15 minutes, Dec. 12 89 degrees 30 minutes, Dec. 13, 89 degrees 45 minutes.

Up to this time the observations and dead reckoning agreed remarkably well, and we made out that we ought to be at the pole on Dec. 14 in the afternoon.

The Pole Attained

That day was a beautiful one—light breeze from southeast, the temperature minus 23 celsius (9.4 degrees below zero Fahrenheit), and the ground and sledging were perfect. The day went along as usual and at 3 p. m. we made a halt.

According to our reckoning we had reached our destination. All of us gathered around the colors—a beautiful silk flag—all hands taking hold of it and planting it.

The vast plateau on which the pole is standing got the name of the King Haakon VII. Plateau." It is a vast plain, alike in all directions. Mile after mile during the night we circled around the camp. In the fine weather we spent the following day taking a series of observations from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. The result gave us 89 degrees 55 minutes.

In order to observe the pole as close as possible we traveled as near south as possible the remaining 9 kilometers. On Dec. 16 there we camped. It was an excellent opportunity. There was a brilliant sun. Four of us took observations every hour of the day's twenty-four hours. The exact result will be the matter of a professionally private report.

This much is certain—That we observed the pole as close as it is in human power to do it with the instruments we had—a sextant and an artificial horizon.

On Dec 17 everything was in order on the spot. We fastened to the ground a little tent we had brought along, a Norwegian flag and the Fram pendant on the top of it.

The Norwegian home at the South Pole was called "Polheim." The distance from our winter quarters to the pole was about 1500 kilometers. The average march a day was 25 kilometers.

The Return Journey

We started on the return trip on Dec. 17. Unusually favorable weather made our way home considerably easier than the journey to the pole. We arrived at our winter quarters, Framheim," on Jan. 25, 1912, with two sledges and eleven dogs, all well.

The daily average speed on the return trip was 36 kilometers. The lowest temperature was minus 31 celsius (23.8 degrees below zero Fahrenheit). The highest minus 5 celsius (23 degrees above zero Faherenheit).

Among the results are the determination of the extent and character of the Ross barrier, and the discovery of the connection of South Victoria Land and probably King Edward VII. Land with their continuation in the mightly mountains running toward the southeast, which were observed as far as 88 degrees south, but which in all probability continue across the antarctic continent.

The entire length of the newly discovered mountains is about 850 kilometers. They have been named "Queen Maud's range."

The expedition to King Edward VII. Land, under the command of Lieutenant Prestud, has given excellent results. Scott's discoveries have been confirmed, and the survey of the Bay of Whales of the barrier Dome by the Prestud party are of great interest.

A good geological collection from King Edward VII. Land, and South Victoria Land is being brought home.

The Fram arrived at the Bay of Whales on Jan. 9. She had been delayed by the "Roaring Forties" on account of the easterly winds.

On Jan. 16 the Japanese expedition arrived at the Bay of Whales and landed on the barrier near our winter quarters.

We left the Bay of Whales on Jan. 30. It was a long voyage with contrary winds. All are well.

Roald Amundsen.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

Telephone 1196 M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8 1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-lp

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION
than a NICE PLANT
in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Light brindle French bulldog. Friday, March 1st. Answers to name Tito. Reward, if returned to 22 School street, Quincy. 4-tf

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 58 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

WANTED—A chauffeur wants Sunday driving only. Address C. Ledger Office. 24 S-W tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED,
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Call Quincy 501 W
If you want to put your furniture, mattresses, and cushions in good condition. My work is good and my prices low. References furnished.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Jan. 10-2m

TO LET

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms. Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

FOR RENT—Furnished half house, 5 rooms. All modern. 5 minutes from. R. R. Station. Small family Address F. R. Ledger Office. 4-6t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon,
17 Granite street, Quincy.
13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 26x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

R. E. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Purity--Value Received

PURITY. Pure and nutritious foods are of first importance to health. No one would knowingly eat injurious foods.

VALUE RECEIVED. Whenever you buy an adulterated article you don't get what you pay for.

Worth considering. Do you buy at the one pure food store? Foy's.

HOME DRESSED FOWL

It's the tender, juicy fowl—choice young pullets—the fresh killed, home dressed fowl that's hardly through clucking when they come to you.

They'll make a Sunday dinner you'll tell your friends about on Monday. 20 cts lb.

Weigh about 3 1-2 lbs each

NAVEL ORANGES

California Navel Oranges are the finest flavored and sweetest orange grown. We have an extra bargain at, a doz. 20c

ALSO

Another lot of GOLDEN RUSSET Florida oranges at, a dozen 23c

THE FAMOUS

BEECHNUT PRODUCTS

can always be found fresh and nice at this store. No old stock.

Sliced Bacon, in glass,	15c, 30c
Delicious Peanut Butter, jar,	15c, 25c
Grape Jelly, very fine, jar,	15c
Black Currant Jelly, jar,	20c

FRESH VEGETABLES

Fresh vegetables from the South are coming good. For your Sunday dinner we have

Florida Tomatoes, Radishes, Fancy Rhubarb, Cauliflower, and Crisp, Tender Lettuce.

It's New, It's Good---A Relish

ONION SALAD

TO INTRODUCE IT. A BOTTLE, 10c

A DEMONSTRATION -- OF --

KEYSTONE BISCUIT FLOUR

AT THE STORE THIS WEEK

-- AND --

Liebig's Extract of Beef, jar,	19c
Holbrook's Table Sauce, bottle,	20c
Genuine Maple Syrup, at	50c
Kirkman's Soap Powder,	3 pkgs 10c
Dutch Hand Soap,	5c
Cando's Silver Polish,	10c, 15c

R. E. FOY & CO.

2 PHONES 2 PHONES

BRIEFS

A regular meeting of the Metal Trades' Union was held in Protection hall, last evening

The Boy Scouts held their weekly drill and exercises Friday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. The class is slowly increasing.

The Quincy Point bridge is nearly completed and in a short time teams and automobiles will be allowed to run over it.

The date for the Self-Denial social at the Hall Place M. E. church, March 21, has been postponed one week and will be held March 27.

The last dress rehearsal for the play "Our Folks" to be given by the Quincy Point Church Men's club next week, will be held Monday night.

A committee of the Eating club of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory is completing arrangements for a first class supper and entertainment to be held in a few days.

The lecture on the Passion Play at Oberammergau at the Hall Place M. E. church, Thursday evening will be especially appropriate to the Lenten season.

Master Robert F. Fryar of 30 West street, Braintree, celebrated his eighth birthday Thursday by entertaining a host of his little friends including two of his cousins, Master Francis and George McKinnon of Chestnut street, Quincy. An enjoyable evening was spent in playing games and other amusements. After refreshments were served the little folks departed for their homes wishing him many happy returns of the day and leaving many pretty and useful tokens of their affection.

DEATHS

DINNEEN—In West Quincy, Mar. 9, Daniel Dinneen, formerly of East Boston.
Funeral services from late home 31 Grove street, West Quincy, Monday, March 11 at 8.15. High mass of requiem at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

PALMER—In Wollaston, March 8, Elizabeth Palmer, 62 years.
Funeral from residence 68 Grand View Avenue, Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

BRIEFS

Thomas F. McvGlinchey of Centre stret has gone to New York city on a business trip.

Francis T. McGlunn of Salem is spending a few days with friends on Garfield street.

Ralph Burrell, son of Chief of Police Burrell is confined to the house with a slight attack of the grip.

The next meeting of the Y M. C. A. class in journalism will be held Tuesday evening.

A business meeting of the Town River yacht club will be held tonight in the club house.

No meeting of the City Council next Monday evening. The regular meeting will be held March 18.

Lenten devotions, consisting of the stations of the cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrement were held in St John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches last evening.

The weather today is of the kind that will start the frost in the ground but it is so deep it will require considerable warm weather before it is all out, and consequently much mud.

A "Forward Movement" supper for men will be held in the parish house of Christ church, Thursday evening. The principal speaker of the evening will be John W. Wood of New York.

Rev. Andrew J. O'Brien D. D., Professor of Dogmatic Theology at Brighton Seminary, will preach the sermon at the eLnten servicec to be held in St. Mary's church, West Quincy, next Wednesday evening.

The Boys' club of Christ church will present their annual show on April 10 in the parish house. The show will include a concert and a farce entitled "The Bowery night school." The following boys have prominent parts, James Smith, Stanley Ross, Calvin Moyle and Roy Westland. The show will be under the direction of Edward J. Townsend and Walter E. Halvosa.

Mystified.

A balky mule is bad enough
When harnessed to a rig,
But the hardest thing on earth to drive
Is a bottle-fed blind pig.

His Business.

"I know a man, a good business man, too, who always takes people, no matter who they are, on their face value."

"Is he a fool?"

"No; he's a photographer."

SURPRISE AND PRESENTATION

Miss Mabel Lapham a well-known young lady of this city starts for Oregon on Monday, where she will wed a former Quincy boy now residing there.

Miss Lapham has been in the employ of the Tubular Rivet & Stud Company for the past fifteen years, working herself up in the ranks to confidential secretary of the Company. She was remembered by Holly Smith representing the shipping department who presented her with a valuable travelling bag and Fred Hill in behalf of the machine shop, presented her with a beautiful silver service. Miss Lapham will be greatly missed by the Company.

PUT OUT OF MISERY.

A horse, owned by J. A. Cook of 6 Independence avenue, Braintree, fell exhausted about 7.30 Friday evening in front of Hall's undertaking office and had to be shot by Officer Ford. The animal had shown no signs of illness since bought by Mr. Cook about two weeks ago.

The horse was about 20 years old and had once been a truck horse.

Mr. Cook is well-known throughout Quincy and neighboring towns. Filing saws and sharpening knives is the greatest part of his business. He is an invalid and does not leave his wagon from the time when he starts in the morning till he gets home at night and his patrons will be sorry to hear of the loss of his horse.

BASKET-BALL TONIGHT.

Three good games are scheduled for the Y. M. C. A. league tonight.

Although Harvard has practically won the championship of the league, the fight for second honors is still a hot one; Army, Pennsylvania, Cornell, and Dartmouth all being tied for this position.

Cornell plays Harvard the first game tonight and Capt. Rich says Harvard will have just as hard a game tonight as they did last Saturday. His "bunch" had rather win from Capt. Parker's aggregation than from any other team. Dartmouth against Navy and Tech against Carlisle are the other games on the program. The Army-Pennsylvania game has been postponed until April 6.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

NEW OFFICERS OF TENNIS CLUB

President's Hill Club Holds Annual Meeting

TO HOLD DANCE

The annual election of the President Hill Tennis club was held Friday evening at the home of R. H. Allen, 34 Avon way.

The officers elected were: President—Charles Sampson, vice president—H. C. Hallowell, Jr., treasurer and secretary—H. B. Toustillot, directors—F. W. Crane, chairman, A. M. Parker and Richard Mitherell.

The club will hold its annual dance in Colonial hall, Thursday, March 13. A large attendance is expected.

Plans for tournament and matches were discussed and the membership will be raised from 25 to 35.

Refreshments were served the latter part of the evening.

PLAY SQUARE CLUB DANCE

The annual dance of the Play Square club of the Universalist church was held Friday evening in Colonial hall. At eight o'clock the grand march led by Bartlet Spooner and Mrs. George F. Spooner followed by thirty-five couple presented a very attractive appearance. The matrons were, Mrs. Frank Hobart, Mrs. George E. Sprague and Miss Mary Cudworth.

The committee in charge were Freeman Hyland, Lester Sprague, Bartlet Spooner and Everett Andrews. Punch and ice cream was furnished during the evening and music was by Provost's orchestra.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held in association rooms Friday afternoon. speaker of the afternoon was Mrs, Mattie R. West of Newton Centre and her subject "The unconscious influence of mother over their Children. Mrs. West said in part: "I wish to speak to mothers, as I am a mother myself and I am an old fashioned mother. I believe in bringing up children to be obedient and respectful.C hildren obey your parents. Parents provoke not your children to wrath," are two good Bible precepts to follow.

"It is not so much what we say to our children, but our examples. The revelation of ourselves to our children, by our unconscious influence. If we live christian lives we stir their minds and arouse their souls to think of the nobler things of life. The home life is the essential element and the foundation of character and religious training must be begun in the home. In these modern times. when there is so much outside to attract children we are apt to separate ourselves too much from home, but let us strive to make our home the dearest place: the kindly word, the look of cheer, the smiling countenance, to walk in patience, and keep ever before us the example of our Saviour, Jesus Christ; live up to his spirit and teachings inoredr to make our home life the all important thing.

"I want to tell you of my work perhaps some of you have heard of it. I have twenty-two children in my care and have to be father and mother both as my husband who was minister and also a business man is dead. These children, thirteen boys and nine girls are children of missionaries. There are many reasons why children can not remain with their parents, one of which and a very important one, is the climate and another is their education.

"Some people think this is a charitable work but the missionaries pay for the support of their children except a few incidentals which the Americans board of Missions supply. And so I make a real home for these children and God has indeed blessed my endeavors. During the thirty-two years there has been only one death and no serious sickness. Amonug the boys, who have become men and gone out into the world seventy-five all evangelists, six teachers in colleges, others in the South as missionaries, among the colored people, some are teaching the Indians, and some are now fitting themselves as missinonaries to go into foreign service.

It is a great responsibility also a great joy. They are just normal boys and girls and I have to confront the same problems that you do.

TURNS TABLE ON SALEM NORMAL

Quincy High Duplicates Score Made by Salem Boys

28 TO 18

Convinced that the only way to defeat the Salem Normal school basketball team was to change the lineup, Coach Arthur Staff of Quincy High placed Johnson, who has heretofore played a back, in the pivot position, shifted Trask from centre to forward, put Capt. Chapman at left back and thus had the satisfaction of seeing the Granite City players come out of the contest Friday afternoon, 28 to 18.

Johnson was sent in to cover Long, the star player of the visiting combination and he certainly proved himself equal to the task, for the elongated Salem Normal centre, who secured 11 baskets in the game recently played between the two teams at Salem, had to rest contented with three goals from the floor. The victory was all the more signal, because it reversed the tables, Quincy High rolling up the same score the Normal boys did in the game at Salem.

The local boys took the lead early in the first period and kept at throughout. At the early stage it did seem as if the visitors would be dangerous, but when the first session ended 16 to 9 in favor of Quincy High the hopes of Captain Chapman's team were raised.

Trask started out by getting a goal from free try.

Johnson and Long immediately began to attract the attention of the spectators and the the visiting centre caged a basket in a most sensational manner, shortly after Trask had opened the scoring. Trask received a long pass from Holmes and placed Quincy High in the lead by getting his first goal from the floor.

The two teams began to struggle in fine style at this point. One of the local players shot for a basket and just as the ball was about to fall to the ground, Finlay jumped up on the wall and placed it in the net, thereby contributing one of the most spectacular plays of the game. The pass work of the visitors was conspicuous the next minute or so of play and Bray got the second goal from the floor.

Trask was called upon on three successive occasions and on each time responded by placing the ball in the basket. Long again managed to free himself from Johnson and get a basket.

Finlay secured two baskets in splendid style. In fact the team work of the local boys was the best this year and Finlay was able to show up in brilliant form. Long secured his last basket of the game shortly before the end of the first half and Trask closed the period by getting a goal from the floor, incidentally placing Quincy High ahead by a substanial lead.

SECOND HALF.

In the second halm the Witch City players seemed to exhibit greater endurance than in the first half and even though their pass work fully measured up to that of the local players, they were unable to place the ball in the net and take advantage of opportune moments. Trask did the bulk of the shooting for Quincy High in the second half and with Captain Chapman, who got one basket from the floor, made all the points credited to his team in the last session.

Trask opened the half by obtaining a basket, which feat was quickly duplicated by Chapman. Trask was called to shoot a foul and did so. Foley did likewise. Finn shot a basket from the middle of the floor and Trask was credited with another goal from free try.

Right here it might be pertinent to state that Trask showed great aptitude in shooting fouls and certainly proved to be the star player of the game. Foley, a few minutes later, was able to jump higher than his opponent and pushed the ball into the basket. Trask secured three goals from the floor in succession and thus made Quincy High's share of the game stand 28 points. Finn again got a basket and just as the whistle was about to sound for the end of the game McGlew, who had been substituting in the last half, caged the last basket of the game from the floor.

Although Trask was the individual player who did the best work, every member of the local team must be commended for his playing. Johnson kept to Long in tenacious style and proved himself a fine blocker. The pass work of the winners was also in evidence throughout and the players seemed at their best during the greater part of the struggle. Long and Finn played best for the losers, although Foley played well. Next Tuesday Quincy High plays the Tech '14 Quintet and a good game will surely be in order.

The summary:—

QUINCCY H S		SALEM NORMAL
Finlay rf		1b Gilmore
		1b McGlew
Trask lf		rb Bray
Johnson c		c Long
Holems rb		lf Foley
Chapman 1b		rf Finn

Score, Quincy H. S. 28, Salem Normal 18. Goals from floor, Trask 7, Finlay 3, Chapman, Long 3, Finn 2, McGlew, Bray, Foley. Goals from fouls, Trask 6, Foley 2. Referee, La Rose. Umpire, Hartnett. Scorer, Staff. Timer, Mansur. Time 20m halves, Attendance, 350.

RECEIVER APPOINTED

The first meeting of the creditors of the Boston & Quincy Express Company who were recently petitioned into bankruptcy was held in Boston this morning and J. J. Silverman was appointed as receiver.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

Civil service examinations for positions in the following classfied lst for service in the City of Quincy will be held at City hall, Wednesday, April 10, clerks, firemen, foremen of laborers and inspectors of work, janitors, engineers and policemen.

CITY BOOK.

Bids were opened by the City Clerk for Mayor Stone this noon for printing the annual reports of the officials of the city. The bids were as follows:—Fred F. Green 95 cents per page, George W. Prescott Publishing Co. $1 per page, W. G. Spargo $1.15 per page, C. E. Decker $2 per page.

Giving Him the Limit.

The reply of Henry Clay Dean, the famous Missouri lawyer of the early days, to a man accused of unspeakable crime, is historic. The man asked the lawyer to defend him and admitted to him his guilt. "No," said Dean, "I will not defend you. You ought to be shot out of a redhot cannon, through a barbed wire fence into hell."

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	iedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfecaba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 06	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4 09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10.15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

SAVES RAILROAD FARE.

Harduppe—I'm going to Catskills next week on a pedestrian trip.

Sandmann—Yes, I suppose if you couldn't go that way you wouldn't go at all.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR QUALITY PLUS

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M..) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street., Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 60 QUINCY MASS., MONDAY EVENING MARCH 11, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

HEARING ON THE PROPOSED PLANNING COMMISSION BILL

Present Bill Will be Opposed by Representatives of Upwards of Thirty Communities

To Offer New Bill for Municipal Association

The Metropolitan Plan Commission bill which provides for a $50,000 a year commission with a chairman at $10,000 per annum and a secretary at $5000 presumably, and with four other commissioners at $1000 each to have oversight of the metropolitan district will be heard next Wednesday forenoon, March 13, before the committee on metropolitan affairs at the state house.

Although 30 odd communities are now in oppostion to this scheme because they feel they know best how to manage their own local affairs, and that there are too many commissions in the state already, the promoters are preparing to make quite a display of "experts" who will enthuse over the bill.

Inasmuch as the bill provides that the commission may spend some $5,000,000 a year, of which $4,500,000 is to be apportioned back on the district and added to the Metropolitan Park and other assessments now in operation, it is easy to understand there will not be lack of town planning gentlemen anxious to see it go through.

In opposition though fortunately will be the mayors, aldermen and selectment of a majority of the cities and towns in the district who contend the bill means an invasion of home rule, will tend to confusion and greater financial burdens, and who also argue that it is money not plans that are needed if anything is to be accomplished.

But this year, besides opposing the Metropolitan Plan and the Kiley annexation bills, the city and town officers have brought forward a proposition of their own. They ask to be given authority to unite themselves in a volutary association. They ask legislative permission to form a municipal association to be made up of such of

(Continued on Page Four.)

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W

Mar. 11-1-m

There's a Ralston Shoe

That's Built For YOU---

For you—if you demand ultra-smartness, if you like to be ahead of others in Fashion's Race.

For you—if you insist on conservative lines rather than extremes.

For you—if you seek comfort. Every Ralston Shoe is made on foot-moulded lasts to fit the human foot correctly—to fit YOURS from first to last—no "breaking in."

Somewhere among our new Spring Models you'll find your style of Shoe.

Ralston---$4.00

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar.13-3t— 61w

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptoks are steadily crowding out the commoner sorts of cemented bifocals, because: — Kryptoks are easier to wear; no recementing; and much more stylish in appearance.

5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St. BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

ELECTS A NEW PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting of St. John's Holy Name Socie'y

THE NEW OFFICERS

The regular monthly services for the members of St. John's Holy Name Society were held in the basement of St. John's church Sunday evening and a large number of members attended. The sermon was preached by spiritual director Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Scannell, assistant pastor. His topic was "Salvation" and his discourse was delivered in a most eloquent manner. The services were brought to a close with benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

At the conclusion of the services the members repaired to the club rooms on Phipps street, where a meeting was held, at which the election of officers was in order and much routine business transacted. The election resulted as follows: President, Edward J. Lennon; vice president, John P. Lynch; recording secretary, Alexander McCaughlin; financial secretary, James C. Grant and treasurer, Robert T. Foye.

Michael T. Sullivan, who has been the president of the society since its establishment, ten years ago, refused to again become a candidate for the office. He was urged by several to reconsider his action, but all such endeavors were of no avail and Mr. Lennon was elected unanimously. A rising vote of thanks was extended the retiring president for the activity he had displayed at all times in the interests of the society and for the zeal he has shown in making it the successful organization it is.

The newly elected president is well known having been in the employ of the city for a number of years, as inspector for the Board of Health. He is one of the charter members of St. John's Holy Name Society and has always been a most active member. He is also a Grand Army man and is vice commander of the local post.

The meeting was addressed by a number of members and it is expected that many applicants will be enrolled into membership at the next meeting.

TO LAUNCH THE HEMLEY APRIL 3

The torpedo boat destroyer, Hemley will be launched at the Fore River yard on Wednesday, April 3, at 12 o'clock noon. It has not been decided as yet who will act as spoonsor for the vessel. The launching will probably be in the nature of a private one.

TO BE NAMED TAFT DELEGATE

It is reported on good authority that ex--Mayor Charles M. Bryant is to be one of the two Taft delegates to the Chicago convention from the Tenth district. The second delegate will probably be some gentleman from another part of the district.

—Good government depends primarily upon the quality of the citizenship behind it. It depends upon the will of the majority of the electors, whether it shall be progressive, responsive and thoroughly honest, or corrupt and inefficient. In the last analysis the question is squarely up to the man with the ballot. He will have exactly the kind of a government he wants.—Chelsea Record.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

NEW EIGHT-HOUR BILL PROPOSED

Will Allow Saturday Half-Holiday at Shipyards

PETITIONS FAVORING

Employees at the Fore River ship yard are interested in the amendment to the eight-hour bill as proposed in congress last week. Under the old eight-hour law it provided that all work for the government should be done under the eight-hour law. That is it was strictly prohibited that employees on government contracts should not work more than eight hours in any one day. Under this law it was impossible for employees in the ship year to have their usual Saturday afternoon off during the summer months.

Heretofore it was possible by the employees working more than eight hours a day to make up the extra time so that the yards could shut down at noon on Saturdays.

When the contract for the battleship Nevada was awarded the Fore River Co., it was announced that eventually in compliance with this law, that men would have to work eight hours each day for six days a week. Up to the present time however this law only affects the draughtsmen as they are the only ones now employed on the battleship work. It will only be a question of a few weeks however before the rule will be extended to all of the other workmen.

The amendment that has been proposed to the bill provides for 48 hours per week on government work. The passage of this amendment however will permit the workmen to put in the 48 hours in five days and a half thus making it possible for a Saturday half holiday throughout the year. A petition asking that this amendment be enacted is being circulated among the employees of the yard and is being generally signed. It will be forwarded to Senators Lodge and Crane and to Representative Curley.

QUINCY MAN VICE PRESIDENT

A large number of Quincy people were in attendance at the annual convention of the Archiocesan Federation of Catholic Societies, held yesterday afternoon in St. Alphonsus hall, Roxbury. The meeting was addressed by His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Patrick J. Supple D. D., of Roxbury and Rt. Rev. Mgr. Ambrose F. Roche of Watertown, a former Quincy pastor.

James F. Burke, president of the Norfolk County branch, was chosen one of the vice presidents of the Archiocesan Federation of Catholic societies.

DIVISION 5 BANQUET.

All plans have been perfected for the annual banquet of Division 5, A. O. H. which takes place on the evening of St. Patrick's day, March 17th in Hibernian hall, Franklin street. In conjunction with the banquet, a sacred concert will be provided and addresses will be made by a number of prominent speakers.

The committee in charge has made arrangements to accommodate a large number and it is expected the event will eclipse all those held in previous years.

TO HOLD ENTERTAINMENT.

Members of Division 4, A. O. H. are to hold their annual entertainment in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, next Monday evening. The success of the affair has already been assured. The program includes numbers by prominent local talent A large number of tickets have already been disposed of and a gala affair is anticipated.

☞"The Prodigal Judge" a new serial story begins today in the Ledger. Those who enjoy a good story won't want to miss a line of it. Be sure you have the Ledger every day.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

SAID TO HAVE BEEN A SWINDLE

Quincy Man Alleged Head of Peerless Chocolate Co.

IS ARRESTED

Fred D. Ellsworth, aged 50 years of 970 Sea street, was arrested Saturday evening by Lieut McKay for Boston officers by whom he was wanted for the theft of $600. It is alleged that Ellsworth was prime mover in a scheme, with Miss Jennie E. Carr of 725 Tremont street, of the Peerless Chocolate Co. It is alleged that the two attempted to dispose of stock in the Chocolate company, which was an imaginary corporation.

Among the many who are said to have invested their wealth in the concern was Oscar A. Anderson of 87 Main street, Quincy who put in $100. The stock was sold on the installment plan of one dollar or more weekly. It is claimed by the police that the company was a well designed swindle.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for: W. Blair, William J. Gillen, A. J. Greene, Margaret Killehen, F. J. Martmez, James Morris, James O'Brien, E. W. Osborne, Fred Reed, Edwin Swanson.

BRIEFS

A grand sacred concert, to be furnished by well-known local talent, is to be given in St. John's hall, Sunday evening.

The regular business meeting of the Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church will be held at the parsonage this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Mrs. W. A. McCormick, of Willard street was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Joseph L. Newton at Winthrop, Friday at luncheon and in the afternoon attended the Women's club meeting, it being president's doy.

The Library extension room at West Quincy has been much appreciated since its institution. The Library extension committee of the Quincy Women's club is to hold a dance, Friday evening in Alpha hall in order to acquire funds to extend the work in other sections.

—The 98th annual report of the Massachusetts General hospital, covering the work of the main hospital, the McLean hospital and the Waverley convalescents' hospital showing $750,802 expenditure for the sick poor, is impressive and encouraging. It marks not only the alleviation of suffering, but constructive strengthening of a community.—Boston Record.

THE SATURDAY EVENING GERMAN

A German held Saturday evening in Colonial hall under the direction of Miss Agnes Hayward proved a very pretty and successful party. Dancing was enjoyed from eight till ten-thirty and participated in by twenty-five couples.

The party was made up from the younger set of Quincy, Milton and Wollaston. There were also guests from Harvard college present. The matrons were Mrs. Nathan Ames, Mrs. Frederick Keep, Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Albert M. Parker. Punch was served during the evening.

The last German in the series will be held March 23 and will be from 8 to 11 o'clock.

ADAMS-CRANCH SCHOOL REUNION

The indications that there will be a large number at the Coddington school hall Wednesday evening at the union meeting of the Adams and Cranch school associations which will be addressed by George I. Aldrich, a former superintendent of schools at Quincy. In addition to his address there will be duets by John Greene and Mrs. James H. Slade, and piano selections by Mrs. Joseph Evans. At the close of the address there will be a reunion at which an opportunity will be afforded to meet Mr. Aldrich and to meet old friends.

FIFTY-SIXTH ANIVERSARY.

A few friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. William V. Hayward of Chestnut street met at their home on Friday evening and with them celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary. Twenty-five years of wedded bliss are coveted by many and the golden wedding is an occasion of great joy. Having been married in 1856 they are well on the way toward the sixtieth and their many friends hope to see them hale and hearty when that milestone is reached.

TO CELEBRATE.

A grand celebration because of the fact that the Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor have increased their members to the four hundred mark will be held this evening in Electa hall. They are to have a banquet and entertainment, also speaking by the officers of the order. It will be remembered that the Clan held a similar jolification a few months ago and the members are looking forward to a fine meeting.

☞Toast made from PRATT'S BREAD is better for your children than cake.

FUNERAL OF FIRE VICTIM

Daniel Leary. one of the victims of the fire at Quincy Point last Tuesday evening was given a soldier's funeral Sunday at the undertaking rooms of Charles M. Dacey at Charlestown. The services were conducted by Rev. James A. Donnelley of St. Mary's church and were largely attended. After the services the members of Bunker Hill camp, U. S. W. V. commanded by Michael McCarthy escorted the body through Charlestown to Keaney square. where the funeral procession passed through parted ranks. The pall bearers and firing squad escorted the remains to Mt. Hope cemetery where three vollies were fired and taps sounded. The ritual of the order was read at the grave by Commander McCarthy.

The funeral of Donald Graham, another victim was held Sunday afternoon from Hall's undertaking rooms the expense being born by workmen at the Fore River. The services were conducted by Rev. James Matheson and the burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

This afternoon the funeral of the third man, McDonald will also be held from Hall's undertaking rooms.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

FORGET

The South Pole

Here is a discovery that is of benefit to YOU.

We want you to help yourself to one of our strictly 1912 custom-made suits.

Everything is in your favor, for we have selected the latest advance patterns that are to be all the rage this year.

Here is your chance to dress exactly as YOU wish—to have the satisfaction of getting all you want and nothing that you don't want.

In plain English, we will cut, design and shape a garment to fit and please you—according to your ideas as to what a good suit should be.

For a short time, we will accept orders for our $20 suitings, for $17.50

You're the doctor—prescribe your wants and we will live up to them—right down to a "T".

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.

Dept. of Tailoring

CITY SQUARE

QUINCY

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Snowdrops, blue birds and mud on Sunday were visible harbingers of spring.

The Long Island oyster beds froze over in the cold weather, but there's a man at Oyster Bay that used to cut considerable ice.

How can they expect to enlarge the circulation of the Congressional Record, until they make it the right size to line the bureau drawer with?

While the back of winter may be broken, the dispatches from Medicine Hat indicate that the toe of his boot is still able to offer some vigorous farewells.

It seems like quite a big thing to introduce a bill in Congress, but as only one in 33,000 becomes law, it attracts less attention the nearer you get to Washington.

If the women could vote, we feel sure that Congress would give the laziness of the American hen a thorough going over, before bothering about the Money Trust.

There seems to be a feeling on the part of our Mexican brethren, that they fought, bled, and died to get rid of Diaz, and have not had a single revolution since then to give 'em the worth of their money.

Horses are worth twice as much as ten years ago, says the census. The automobile will never provide the seclusion required by young people on summer nights, and you can't make it carry a heavier load by licking it.

If the government sleuths will investigate, we beleive they will find that some of the dissolved fragments of the Standard Oil Co. have been calling up each other by telephone, and possibly have exchanged letters through the post office.

Coal dealers are asking prospective buyers to be reasonable, for a rush just now will cause a big advance in price as the supply is limited. While the output of the mines has been as much or more than usual the extreme cold weather tied up shipping, greatly reducing the quantity usually on hand at this time of the year, also the cold has caused more coal to be used.

Although a coal strike is anticipated on April 1st, it has been caused by too much comment on the part of the newspapers and an unreasonable alarming of consumers. If the strike does materialize it is not believed it will be a long one and that being the case coal will be cheaper than ever.

If people order for their immediate wants now and wait until later to stock up for next winter the present shortage can be tided over without suffering to those needing coal badly at the present time and also relieve the strain on the coal men.

PROTECT THE WOMEN.

At the present moment there is a bill before the Massachusetts Legislature, entitled House Bill No. 386, "To prohibit the employment of women in core-rooms or other parts of foundries, at forges, or in or about quarries." The Boston Women's Label League hopes to secure the passage of this bill believing that the foundry is no place for women to work, as the work of core-making is coarse, brutal and laborious. The conditions which come with foundry work are in themselves sufficient reason for the prohibition. They include profuse perspiration, breathing poisonous gases, etc. Women are now employed on cores weighing upward of 500 lbs., to say nothing of the weight of the core-box and iron core-plates which frequently weigh 200 lbs. separately.

The women shovel the sand like ordinary street laborers, and tamp and ram the sand with rammers weighing from 5 to 10 lbs., and they batter the box, before drawing same, with mauls and mallets weighing from 5 to 20 lbs. The sand used is mixed with oil or a dry or moist chemical, which is offensive to the smell and filthy in its appearance and application. Frequently they are obliged to use barn manure, the hands being the agency employed. They are also obliged to lift and carry hot and heavy iron arbors and rods, and do lugging that is at once brutal and heavy, such as hauling heavy iron trucks from the ovens by heavy chains. It is also a part of their labor to go into hot ovens, and black hot cores and paste same, and they are frequently overcome by the heat and gas fumes. The women are Russians and other non-English speaking people; but they should be guided to a more gentle employment than that which requires the shovel, the railroad, tamper and a heavy maul. These are the conditions in some of the foundries in and about Boston; conditions which, if not corrected, are bound to extend to all foundries and who knows where it will end?

In many of the states women are prohibited employment in the abusive trades. In Pennsylvania a few years ago a moral wave caused the mine owners to dispense with the women as slate pickers at the breakers. Women are also prohibited from tending bar and other work which public opinion has ordained is unfitted for the woman, who is to be the mother of the future generations, unfitted because of the moral, physical and health objections.

SANITARY MILK.

The State Board of Agriculture has issued in pamphlet form, as advance sheets from its annual report for 1911, a lecture by Charles E. North, M. D., of New York, on "The Production of Sanitary Milk by our Present Milk Producers." The Board believes that this is one of the most important contributions to the milk question ever issued from any source and is desirous of giving it the widest publicity. Copies will be sent to any one desiring the same on application to J. Lewis Ellsworth, Secretary, State Board of Agriculture, State House, Boston, Mass.

Dr. North is one of the leading bacteriologists of the country. He has devoted a great deal of time to the study of the milk question along the lines of clean milk, for the health of the community, and has carried out an experiment at Homer, New York, in its production, the successful operation of which is detailed in this report. His study of the question has led him to the belief that it is possible to produce clean milk, practically as good as the so-called certified milk, at an advance in price so slight as to leave it within reach of all. At Homer his producers are sending in milk averaging below 10,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter, and that without inspection, except that which they themselves ask for, and without extensive changes in their stables and other equipment. How this has been brought about by a system of cash premiums is fully set forth in the pamphlet above referred to.

In closing Dr. North says: "If it be admitted that the most powerful factor in bringing about the adoption of sanitary measures is the economic factor, then the solution of the milk problem lies primarily with the consumer. It must not be forgotten that the milk industry is a gigantic industry. In the United States the production of dairy farms ranks third in value and is exceeded only by the production of corn and beef. Dairying is the backbone of agriculture. In an industry which is so broad and which affects the interests of such a body of producers and consumers the question of improvement in quality must be finally settled by the producers and consumers themselves. Laboratory analyses have a part to play. Dairy inspections are also a factor, but above all in influence lies the advance in retail price which must be paid by the consumers themselves. When the milk consumers in our large cities are sufficiently aroused to be willing to pay the small increase in the retail price which is the cost of cleanliness, clean and safe milk will be obtained. At the present moment milk producers and milk dealers are ready and willing to supply a much larger quantity of milk of this character than milk consumers are willing to pay for."

SECRETARY KNOX'S MISSION.

Secretary Knox is now in South America on a job of oil pouring and fur smoothing. It will require some diplomacy to apply words of wisdom, that will soothe the heated brows of some of the Latin-American statesmen.

It should be said, however, that the Southern republics are by no means wholly to blame for the suspicion and dislike that has often existed between them and Uncle Sam. While our government has in the main treated these republics honorably, the general attitude of the American people has been one of contempt. Anything south of the Caribbean is a dago, and a South American republic is supposed to be merely a nursery of revolutions.

While Venezuela, Hayti, San Domingo, and a few others of these tropical nations have had long periods of political delirium, our people do not realize what a gain in stability of government has been accomplished in the more important South American republics during twenty years.

For instance, there is Brazil, a country which buys $300,000,000 of goods abroad every year—manifestly a business friend worth conciliating. The Brazilian republic has maintained unbroken authority since 1891.

Take Argentina, the last successful revolution in which occurred in 1890. Here is a country that buys $250,000,000 worth abroad yearly. Peru is another which has maintained stable government, since 1895.

When in these three powers, and others, possessing a conglomerate population, composed of high strung races, stable government has been maintained for twenty years, a very considerable achievement in statesmanship has been accomplished. It is one entitling them to respect the world over.

Secretary Knox's task is not merely one of allaying the sensitive feeling of these warm blooded races. It is also to open the eyes of the American people to the fact that some of these states of the tropics are acquiring a substantial and dignified life. They are friends and neighbors, and no mere houn' dawg to be kicked around our back yard.

MEETINGS FOR OLDER BOYS

The boys of the Conference delegation who represented the Y. M. C. A. at the state conference in February will hold a series of meetings at the different churches, throughout the city this week. The schedule is as follows:

Monday evening at 7.30, Wollaston Baptist church, Tuesday evening First Presbyterian church in South Quincy. Wednesday evening, at the Atlantic Memorial church. Thursday evening, Union Chapel Houghs Neck.

The Sunday afternoon meeting will be the last, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The speaker of the day will probably be H. W. Gibson, State boys' secretary of Boston. Music will be furnished by the newly organized Y. M. C. A. orchestra. Every older boy in the city is invited to attend any of the meetings.

The delegates are George McDonald, Fred Ward, Henry Safford, Sturgis D. Hunt, James Jenkins, George Daniels, Harold England, Winthrop Sherman, Carl Ahlstrom and George Dahlquist.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to William E. Duggan, Madison avenue, Bradford street.

Charles C. Barton et al trs to Edgar H. DeForest, River road.

William L. Burt to Edward J. O'Neil, Crosby street.

Omie E. Carter to George S. Grueby, Webster street.

Manley E. Clough to Alma M. Anderson, Arthur & Nelson streets.

Milton L. Conant to Maurice E. Kilpatrick, Faxon & Colby roads.

Milton L. Conant to Clara B. Kestner, Herbert road.

Edmund W. Courtney to Thomas M. Butler et al, Putnam street, Butler road.

Valentino DiFlavio to Clarence Burgin, Water street.

Wilton A. Dunham to Albin M. Boyson, Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Dunham to Emily J. M. Pennington, Houghs Neck.

William H. Fay to Mae B. Murphy.

Joseph Gibb to Charles E. Walters, Ballou street.

Merrill K. Green to Janie E. F. Stewart.

Henry W. Hunt to Thomas N. Elliott, Hancock street.

John ' Johnson to Clarence Burgin, Guild street.

Maurice E. Kilpatrick to Milton L. Conant, E. Squantum street, Colby & Milton roads.

Thomas F. Mitchell to Harry A. Tabor, Brook street.

John W. O'Neil to William L. Burt, Crosby street.

James R. Oxner to Herbert S. Barker, Fayette street, $150.

Edward J. Parker to Jennie Scolamiero, Liberty street.

Mikel Priscella to Clarence Burgin, Water street.

Emma J. Ray to Elizabeth E. Ray, Manet avenue, Babcock street.

Michele Scolamiero to Edward J. Parker, Liberty street.

Levi Willcutt to Harry D. King, Waterston avenue.

Myra H. Winegar to Victor Harrie, Fayette street.

Herman Wolff to Fred W. Wood et al trs, Waterston avenue.

Fred W. Wood et al trs to Eva J. Paddon et al, Vassall street.

Josephine M. Wright et al to First Church of Christ Scientist of Quincy, Greenleaf street.

GEO. WASHINGTON BUILDING.

A largely attended meeting was held Friday afternoon at the Boston Art Museum in response to invitations sent out in the interests of the George Washington Memorial Building Association. Mrs. Barrett Wendell presided. Among those attending from Quincy was Mrs. Williams Ward Whitcher who is much interested in this patriotic work.

The Association is planning to erect a memorial building in Washington to our first president to be used for higher education in America. The building will be a beautiful home costing a million dollars and it is hoped to have an endowment of $500,000. There will be large halls for conventions and many small rooms.

At the meeting in Boston Friday prizes were given art students for the three best copies of Stuart's portrait of George Washington, the prizes being $100, $50, and $25 respectively.

PHILIPPINE HANDBOOK.

During the fourteen years since the United States acquired "dominion over palm and pine," a great deal has been published in the way of correspondence and official reports, descriptive, statistical and analytical, concerning our new possessions, but the information it has conveyed, has been of a rather fragmentary character, dealing with special phases rather than covering in a general review any considerable and homogeneous group of our recent acquistions. The broader the knowledge of the people of this country concerning our far-away dependencies, the deeper will be their interest in them and the greater their concern for their welfare, and it is gratifying to learn that in the comparatively brief period in which our authority has been exercised there has been a general and very decided advance in the scale of civilization and the measure of prosperity.

Of these new Territories the most distant and in many respects the most interesting and potentially valuable are the Philippines, and it was desirable that the knowledge of that part of our jurisdiction should be gathered in compact form for the benefit of the general reader, Americans in particular. This service has now been rendered by the publication of "an official guide and handbook of the Philippines." It has almost all the qualities that we always hope for but do not always find in such a publication. It is not merely comprehensive, but for all practical purposes exhaustive, and in typography and illustrations, of which there are over seventy, it leaves little to be desired.

This book has been prepared under the direction of Charles B. Elliott, secretary of commerce and police in the Philippine government, by John R. Arnold, formerly of Quincy, and the author of "The Philippine Civil Service" in the February number of the North American Review, upon which we recently commented. More than two hundred pages are required to tell the story, which is written in a clear and interesting way, with thorough indexing the valuable specific amplification in the way of appendixes, including the best map of that country that has come to our notice. It all bears evidence of painstaking work but gets its color from the evident enthusiasm of its author, who has not set about this task in any perfunctory manner, but as one having a love for it and faith in the results of his labors. His love of the East is not newly born. When still a student at Harvard its life appealed to his imagination and the reality has not been a disappointment.

In his preface he announces that the book has been written with two main objects in view—"first, to fill the long-felt want for a thorough and reliable guide-book; secondly, to give to all, though more particularly to Americans, who might have the means to travel to this part of the world, a realizing sense of what the Philippine Islands, long left to one side of the beaten track of tourist travel, have to offer in the way of scenery, of peculiar customs, of historic monuments, of natural resources and of visible signs of the change that has been wrought under American guidance in the past half-score years." The latter purpose in particular has kept his standard up to a high level of excellence. Of course the guide book portion will carry its largest appeal to those who intend to visit the islands, but that intention will doubtless be stimulated in many instances by a perusal of pen as well as pencil pictures of the attractions in which they are so rich. The chapter on "The Traveller in the Philippines" contains all that is necessary for the tourist to know for his comfort and convenience, and even in that once primitive country he can now find both. It is a publication upon which the Government need not be ashamed to set the seal of its official approval, for unlike most public documents it will be pretty sure to be read by any person into whose hands it may fall.—Boston Transcript.

For The Woman Who Cares To Cook Well

Tacoma, Wash., March 2, 1911.
Weir Stove Co., Taunton, Mass.
Gentlemen:
We have been using since last November, in our home, one of your Glenwood combination coal and gas ranges, having secured same through your California house, and we consider the term "Glenwood Combination Coal and Gas Range" merely a synonym for "perfection" and we never tire of escorting visitors into our kitchen to admire our beautiful, convenient and perfect range.
Yours truly,
Mrs. W. B. Hawthorne.

Glenwood Range
H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

BOSTON AUTO SHOW.

Saturday night one of the best Automobile Shows Boston has ever seen or, in fact, that has ever been held in the country, bid farewell to the hundreds of thousands of motor enthusiasts. This show has surpassed the other national shows, both in the number of different makes of cars and in the total number of cars and chassis.

The pleasure Car section has had so many novelties and special features that it is difficult to enumerate them all. Many of the exhibitors have made particular endeavor to embellish their spaces in addition to the beautiful scheme of decoration supplied by the management notably among these was the Buick Exhibit. This company has enchanced the beauty of its space by a quantity of cut flowers and foliage. This, together with the extra lighting effects, made the Buick Exhibit a bright spot that attracted one's attention from every point.

The women of to-day are not only working their way up as suffragettes but are also coming to the front in the Automobile world. Miss Virginia S. Aiken of Brookline is representative for the Babcock Electric car. She is only sixteen years old and very pretty, and has the distinction of being the youngest automobile representative in New England. Miss Aiken is thoroughly familiar with everything that is to be known about the mechanism of an electric car, and it was her great knowledge of this that has made her so successful. Another woman who has made a name for herself among the motorists is Margaret E. Knight, who with Mrs. Davidson has invented a new Sliding Valve Motor called "K. D.", Knight-Davidson. This motor is unlike anything that has been seen before in the gasoline engine line. The sliding valves of crescent slides differ entirely from other motors of this type. This exhibit was surrounded at all times by a crowd, chiefly of engineers and those who knew.

The Boston Pleasure Car section, which ended last Saturday night, will long be remembered for its beautiful and artistic decorations, and more than that, for the great record-breaking attendance it has drawn and for the business-getting medium it has proven itself.

With the close of this show Boston will not lose its place as the present attraction for the motorists, for Wednesday, March 13th, Mechanics Building will be again open to the public, and the First Independent Motor Truck Show to be held in Boston will be ushered in. Practically all the accessory dealers will remain for the second week. The rapid strides made in the Motor truck has been carefully watched by the business man, so that although the attendance may not be quite as great as that of the Pleasure Car Section, those who do attend will be directly interested.

The business man looking for the light or heavy truck will find it here. There will be on view, wagons and trucks suitable for every line of business, from the light delivery to heavy trucks up to five and more tons capacity. The arrangements of the power plants in some of the makes give added body space, and by bringing the engine forward under the driver's seat the weight can be better distributed and the overhang dispensed with.

OWES ABOUT $3,500,000

Old Wall Street Stock Exchange Firm Makes an Assignment

New York, March 11.—The stock exchange firm of Connor & Co., one of the oldest in Wall street, and former brokers for Jay Gould and Russel Sage, announced its suspension and made an assignment.

The failure was immediately caused by the sudden mental breakdown of the senior member of the firm, Ezra S. Connor, according to his brother, Washington D. Connor. Connor is 72 years old and the fifth oldest member of the stock exchange.

The nominal liabilities of the firm, according to its attorneys, amount to about $3,500,000 and the assets are about the same.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS HERE
Perhaps you do not fully realize all this bank could do for you if you were a depositor here As a depositor you would be entitled to many valuable privileges free of charge that would help you in your business. It is important for you to know something about these privileges—call and let us explain them.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Let us Rub out the Question Mark

Young Man! Young Woman!
ABOUT TO MARRY
Don't let the question of ready funds interfere with the plans for your new home. Come to us. All we have learned about happy home furnishing in 20 years' experience is yours FREE for the asking. We'll furnish your home from top to bottom as you want it done, and divide the amount into small weekly payments. We have pleased thousands. We can please you. Come in. Let us rub out the question mark.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

THE REASON
WHY YOU SHOULD BUY
YOUR SPRING SUIT OF US
We're the first in this section to demonstrate our willingness to share the profit with you.
The Payson Special
IS A FIFTEEN DOLLAR SUIT
It's better than the average sold at that price.
We've marked them
$12.89
Your share of the profit is $2.11.
We're not afraid to put a guarantee on our clothes. They are made on honor and are going to be sold that way.
We are ready! Are you?
PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.
City Square Quincy

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

IN QUINCY EVERYBODY READS THE HOME DAILY
THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Anncuncements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH.

The Sunday school, under the leadership of Alexander Stewart, the new superintendent has insitituted a seven fold contest to run to July 1st between the male and female members. A new scholar counts 100; church attendance 30; Sunday school 25; one hour study of lesson 30; one-half hour 15; good deportment 5; memorizing verse 5; offering 5 for each cent. The defeated side is to furnish a supper for the winners.

WASHINGTON CONGREGATIONAL.

There was a large attendance at the morning service. The sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Charles P. Marshall. His topic was "I am the Bread of Life." The services were of unusual interest.

In the evening the regular prayer service was conducted, at which a short address was made by the pastor.

Fully 50 men were present at the meeting of the Men's Club, called to order at 5.15 P. M. The subject of "Men and Religion" was discussed and the meeting was enjoyed by all.

The annual church meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 7.30 and it is expected that the capacity of the church will be fully taxed.

The Men's Club gives an entertainment Wednesday evening, which will be repeated the following evening.

The members of the Ladies' Home Missionary society will meet Friday afternoon at 2 at Miss Preemeta Shephard's home on Mill street.

The regular mid-week prayer services will take place next Friday evening.

BETHANY CHURCH.

At Bethany church, Sunday morning Dr. Asher Anderson, occupied the pulpit taking for his text, Psalms. 130:1, "I will extol thee O Lord: for thou hast lifted me up. and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me;" subject: "Comfort." Dr. Anderson said in part: "The great value in religion lies in this fact, the personality of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ met in himself, the great need of your soul and mine. The whole story of human aspiration is a testimony of the pure and fine sense our own hearts have, reflected in God's divine goodness and blessing.

"As the only deep satisfaction of the human covenant we have and hold the consciousness of the Christian church: the value of our service, the spirit in which we worship and our work for the betterment of humanity; the character which is perfected by the grace of God, grasping that strength which is stronger than our own and looking to God for guidance and wisdom in every moment of doubt.

"We do not depend on ritualism or symbolism. I sometimes think the worship we should give to God is bestowed upon persons. There are good and great men who have been of inestimable benefit to mankind, but allow no man to stand between you and your God. If we want help in times of trial, and often circumstances arise in which we find ourselves alone, we realize our deep need. The simple story of the Christ-life, the smallest child can comprehend it, we can go to Him for counsel, comfort and consolation.

"Seek the wisdom of God, and the Divine spirit will find its counterpart in the gladness of our soul's immersed in the love of Jesus Christ.

"David called upon God in his distress, "I cry unto my Lord," and we have many other instances in the Bible where God has never failed His children. "My help cometh from the Lord." "I will not leave you comfortless."You can place implicit confidence in Him.

"Do you know of anything meaner, than to repose confidence in friends and have that trust betrayed? We know of such occurrences, perhaps you have experienced them. How it cuts to the heart. We cannot imagine anything more ignoble.

"There are depths of sorrow and trouble, when every avenue of help seems closed, the way is dark and defeat is certain. Have you ever been there? If we could only have celestial visions. I had a brother. Before he died, he said "If there is any way I can come to speak to you from the other side of life, I will most certainly do so." He has been dead eighteen years and I have not heard from him. Perhaps I have been in depths as deep as some of you, we all at times have been in the dark waters of affliction, but I never have doubted the providence of God. God lives! And if we fail to recognize His presence we lose the comfort He is ever ready to bestow and we will have to bear the burdens He will gladly bear for us and take from us. He overrules our failures, our trials, our disappointments to the accomplishment of His divine plan.

"Manifold problems confront us. Why is earth so full of discontent? Why is war, disaster, famine, despoiling of virtue, disease, shipwrecks, strikes? Some men reply, "educate the masses:" but some of our best educated men are in jails: others say, "the legislature," others, "divide the wealth of the world." Books have been written which baffle us and perplex reason. But the solution is this: When God answers in your heart and mine. There are depths of pain and sorrow. Light comes and darkness goes. We must obey the Divine voice within us: His voice clearer than human, wiser than man's counsel. No more death, no more sickness no more sin.

The choir rendered appropriate music. A large audience was present. Dr. Anderson gave a very inspiring sermon in the evening, in the vestry.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST.

There was an unusually large attendance at the Wollaston Baptist church Sunday morning at 10.45. The pastor preached to the children on "Jesus the Soul's Pilot" after which the children sang "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me."

The pastor's subject for the older people was "A Message to the Undecided," text I Kings 18:21.

The Sunday school was largely attended and the Walther and Rand classes had large groups of men. A meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school was called at the close of the Sunday school session to plan for Easter exercises and music.

The Junior Endeavor society met as usual at 3.30 Miss Ethel M. Campbell assisted by Mrs. Kendall F. Harriman had charge of the meeting.

The Y. P. S. C. E. service was held at 6. Miss Clara Porter led the meeting and the subject was "Christian Testimony that Counts."

The evening service was held at 7 in the auditorium. The pastor continued his sermon, begun last Sunday evening on the subject, "Salvation: How it is obtained and what are its blessed results." Miss Ruth Hardy sang, "The Penitent." and there was a good audience.

This evening a number of our people will attend the banquet and monthly meeting of the Sunday school Superintendent's Union of Boston and vicinity returning in time to attend the Wollaston Parents' and Teachers' meeting in the new Wollaston school building.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 the pastor's first class in the Fundamental Principles of the Christian Faith will meet at the parsonage and on Wednesday the second class will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry J. Grass in Montclair. Tuesday evening at 7.45 a cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Selden H. Nickerson, Montclair; James C. Porter leader.

Thursday evening at 7.30 the Nearer and Farther Lights society will meet at the home of Mrs. Louis S. Cleaves, 152 Beach street. Miss May Huston of Boston who has labored as missionary among the North American Indians will give an address. All dues, mite boxes and money earned for Missionary purposes should be presented at this meeting.

Friday evening at 7.45 the regular meeting for praise, prayer and testimony will be held in the chapel; subject: "His Gladness and Joy.". This subject will continue our meditation on the Life and Character of Jesus.

A number of our people attended today at 10.30 the public meeting of the Evangelical Alliance of Greater Boston, when Mrs. Louie E. Brittain, ex-wife of a Mormon Apostle, spoke on "From Mormonism to Christianity," and Mrs. George W. Coleman on "The Missionary and Political Activities of the Mormon church." Rev. Lucius H. Bugbee of Malden and William Shaw secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor also spoke.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN.

Again Rev. Carl G. Horst took as his text the 27th verse of the 2d chapter of Mark's Gospel: "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath." "No generation more than ours" claimed the preacher "needs the repose and relaxation of a day of rest and reinforcement of spiritual poise.

"Our method of intensive labor, the sub-division of toil so that a multitude of people have none of the joy of creative labor, and see only a part of the finished whole, makes the daily life so monotonous as to demand frequent seasons of cessation.

"Our Sunday should be a day of education, both such as belongs specifically to Sunday, and also of general cultivation; of devotion to home, a gathering of families, rather than a scattering, and of worship, which should be the greatest of all privileges of the day." A strong plea was made for the preservation and protection of our Sunday as a holy day, and not as a holiday, that we may make of ourselves Godly and worthy ancestors for those who will follow us and profit by our earnestness.

The Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters meets with Mrs. B. F. Bowles, Brook street, this evening.

The Wollaston Unitarian club meets Tuesday evening, dinner at 6.30, speaker: George H. Ellis, subject: "The Lawrence Strike."

Do not fail to attend the Wednesday evening Lenten service at 7.45. The Rev. Joseph P. MacCarthy, Ph. D. of Waltham will preach the sermon. Miss Winifred White will sing two solos and Miss Olney will preside at the organ.

Thursday, at 6.30 occurs the church supper and social. The entertainment for the evening is a play entitled "The Joint Household," given by Mrs. Paul Brodbeck and Mrs. Harold Green. The Alliance Cook Book which Mrs. M. Burrell has been compiling with so much care will be for sale. Also a genuine Lady Baltimore cake expressly made for the Ladies' Aid Alliance by one of Charleston's S. C., best cake-makers will be sold by the piece for the benefit of the Unitarian church in Charleston, S. C., which was badly damaged in the recent hurricane.

The Lenten Study class of the New Testament will be held Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock at the minister's home.

Members of the Y. P. R. U. will attend the banquet and dance of the Boston Federation, Saturday evening, at 6 o'clock in the Church of the Disciples, Boston. The after dinner speakers will be Rev. Benjamin R. Bulkley of Beverly, Rev. Dudley H. Ferrel of Brockton and the Rev. Abraham M. Rihbany of Boston. Frank E. Cook President of the Boston Federation will preside. Dancing will follow the speaking.

At the Y. P. R. U. meeting Sunday evening, March 17, at 7 o'clock Rev. Carl G. Horst will give a stereopticon lecture on American Unitarianism. The public is cordially invited. The devotional service will be led by Louis Weston.

ATLANTIC MEMORIAL.

At the Memorial Congregational church, Rev. T. W. Davison spoke on "The Sorrow of Christ;" text Matthew 26:38.

Mr. Davison said in part: "Christ felt the world's sin, wickedness and hatred as no other could feel it. He came filled with love, sweetness and Divine goodness. But he was met by the malice and perversity of the Jews, treachery of a disciple, and the desertion of friends. He knew that e would receive unjust condemnation at the hands of religious people.

"Goodness alone can feel sorrow for the sins of men. A bad person is not burdened or sorrowful for the sins of the world. The ruination of a life is of small account to a person whose life is sinful and wrong. Christ seemed to see the ruination of the Jewish nation, the weakness, and unconsciousness of the infant church; the scattering of the flock, but He also saw the sure growth of the kingdom of God on the earth. Christ's sorrow and conflict was a representative struggle for men.

"We think of Marathon, Bannockburn, Arbela, Orleans and Gettysburg being the great battles of the world. But let us think of the great conflict of Christ in Gethsemane, and know that by His struggle, He found by submission to God's will, He could change the habits, the opinions, the ambitions and dispositions of men. He had to decide whether to save the world or save self. He submitted his will to God and became the Saviour of the world."

At the evening service Mr. Davison spoke on the reclaiming of a disciple. The lesson being on the life of Peter He said: "Many are like Peter in having an abundance of physical courage, but lacked the moral courage to stand up for and do the right. Peter's trouble like many today was that he would not be superior to his company and surroundings. He feared to tell the truth, and lacked those rock-like qualities which make men a power. We speak of the good fellow who could easily be influenced for good but give me the men who can move slowly, but after they have decided will never go back. They are away ahead of the easy influenced fellow who is moved by every breeze.

Most of us are conscious of a superior and an inferior self. We know that when we do not bend for the wrong, there is a sense of complacency, that the better self is coming to the surface. The disciple looked to Christ, and the Lord on him. The look recalled his words, reclaimed a life, and made a leader out of a weak and timid disciple.

The meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society Wednesday is expected to be very interesting as Mrs. Harry W. Read is to give a talk on her travels in the Orient. The refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. R. B. Harding.

(Continued on Page Six.)

READ LEDGER ADVS.

CARRIED OUT LEAP YEAR IDEA

Young People Memorial Church Hold Leap Year Party

INTERRUPTED PROPOSAL

The Leap Year social given by the Christian Endeavor of Memorial church, Atlantic, was greatly enjoyed. Each girl invited a boy and carried out the Leap Year idea as much as possible all the evening. Various signs were posted about the vestry to the effect that no lady should remain seated while a gentleman was standing, etc.

The program consisted of a drama entitled "An Interrupted Proposal" with the following cast:

Stephen Howard, a practical joker William Northrop.

Samuel Livingston, his friend, Kenneth Blake.

Thomas Stone, a householder, James Houston.

Mrs. Stone, his wife, Eleanor Nelson.

Helen Stone, their daughter, Margaret Read.

Mrs. Ramsey, their next door neighbor, Marjorie Young.

Betty, a maid, Mabel Cheney.

After the drama every one was given a slip of paper and a number. Then each tried to get the signature of everyone in the room. In this game every one met in trying to get his paper full.

Next was a game called occupation. Each was given a slip and when his number was called, acted out what the paper said. Boys had things such as mixing bread and girls putting on a necktie, etc. This caused great merriment as both sexes were awkward n their occupation.

The boys filed into an ajoining room, the girls being given handfuls of toothpicks. The boys were auctioned off as one by one they appeared with a white sheet thrown over them, the girl bidding the highest winning the fellow.

After this excitement the girls and their partners sat down to refreshments, the boys being served first. The girls began to think they were going to get the worst of it but they didn't have to worry long. A flash light was taken of the members of the Endeavor and those in the play.

BRIEFS

Charles Wade, Q. H. S. '15 has accepted a position with the James A. Houston Co. Boston.

John Flahive, Q. H. S. '09 has accepted a position with the Suffolk Engraving Co., Boston.

Isaac Goddard of Hancock street gave a supper to several boys of his Sunday school class, Saturday night.

The many friends of Councilman Gilliatt will be pleosed to hear that he is convalescing from a severe attack of bronchial pneumonia.

Earle Gilliatt, Q. H. S.'14 had an operation performed on his nose, Friday at the home of Dr. E. R. Johnson, Wollaston.

Lawrence Pope of Squantum street, entertained a number of friends at whist, followed by a fine supper, Saturday night.

The College club at the Y. M. C. A. will meet Wednesday, to settle upon definite plans for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Charles C. Mueller of 535 Washington street, who has been confined to the house most of the winter with a serious illness, is able to be about once more.

Mrs. John Sheppard of 18 River street who has been confined to the house with a slight attack of lumbago, is much improved and once more able to be about.

Many people of the Park and Downs will be pleased to hear of the new quartet, composed of Misses Painten, Brown, Dingwell and Richerson, who are being trained by Mrs. Tanner.

All tickets for the first night of the play, "Our Folks," staged by Quincy Point church Men's club, have been sold and the tickets for the second night are almost all gone. A large attendance is expected.

The Women's guild of the Park and Downs church are to present a three-act farce, May 12, entitled "Maidens all Forlorn," The several characters will be impersonated by, Bell Sheriffs, Freda Merelda, Bessie Lawrence, Fannie May, Lima Ewer and O. I. Wonder. There will also be vocal selections by A. Francis Capen. The proceeds will go towards pews for the new church.

RESULT IS UNCERTAIN

Coal Miners and Operators to Hold Another Conference This Week

New York, March 11.—The miners and the operators will meet here again on Wednesday and negotiate whether the coal industry shall have strike warfare or busy peace. What the attitude of the operators in the final show down will be will depend upon how much coal they have on hand.

The present agreement between the miners and operators ends with this month. On April 1 the men want a 20 percent wage advance, a minimum wage, a shorter working day and to have union dues paid direct by operators. The operators have declined to accede to any of these demands.

The battlefield, if there is a strike will be the Pennsylvania anthracite fields.

—Almost any time now the world may receive news from the Antarctic explorers. As Lieutenant Scheckleton penetrated to a point within 111 miles of the South Pole, it is probable that either Captain Scott or Captain Amundsen has reached the goal this year, but how unfortunate it would be if their return to civilization were marked by such a controversy as has raged over the rival assertions of Commander Peary and Dr. Cook!

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

11—Banquet Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor No. 1.—Electa Hall.
11—Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter.
11—Junior Friday Club.
11—Women's Missionary So.—Universalists.
11—Quincy Alliance.
12—Founder's Day—Woodward Institute.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.
31—German—Colonial Hall.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Banquet—Boy Scouts.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Borden's

Men who work with their brains and under pressure—the heads of big enterprises—find both food and drink in a cup of Borden's Malted Milk. Why do they prefer it to a heavy luncheon? Because they learn by experience it is the best and safest food for active brain workers.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

HAVE YOU A VACANT HOUSE?

If you have, let me put it on my list. As the warm weather approaches, calls for houses are increasing every day.

DON'T WAIT.
GIVE ME A TRIAL NOW.

RICKER REAL ESTATE

1416 Hancock Street
QUINCY

Mar. 11—1t

CLEANEST HANDIEST CHEAPEST FUEL GAS

It Needs No Witchcraft

to make pots and kettles seethe and bubble on a gas range. Don't be a slave to your old kitchen stove, when you can be master of a gas range without much expense.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

CANNED TOMATOES

A BIG CAN of big, ripe, whole Tomatoes packed in the cleanest and most sanitary factory in the world is what you get when you buy the

Richardson & Robbins Brand

They are DIFFERENT from ordinary varieties --- rich, luscious, juicy, carefully handled, clean, and pure.

And this big can is packed "chock-a-block" full of the sun-ripened tomatoes.

Foy's up-to-date grocery has received a big lot of them --- new goods --- not holdovers. A can 17c

R. E. FOY & CO.
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

THE SUNDAY LIQUOR RAID

The police had a hard time Sunday afternoon reaching the premises of Luigi Conchoiri which they raided armed with a search warrant. The house is located in the woods near the Hitchcock quarry and in order to get to the house it was necessary to crawl over the mountain of grout, that had been dumped near the house. In the raiding party were Inspector Goodhue and Officers Curtin, Broberg, Hinchon, and Cahill. The officers seized one full half barrel of ale and another half barrel partly full. After seizing the liquor it was necessary to roll the barrels up over the hill to the patrol wagon. Conchoiri was in court this morning and had his case continued until Saturday.

Man and Wife Suffocate

Bridgeport, Conn., March 11.—When firemen entered the home of Patrick Gill on Ives street to fight a fire on the first floor, they found Gill and his wife dead in bed on the second floor from suffocation. The fire started from an overheated stove in the kitchen.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR.

A reception was tendered Rev. F. G. Merrill and family, Wednesday evening, in the vestry of the Pilgrim church, North Weymouth, by the men with whom Mr. Merrill is a great favorite.

Tower's orchestra furnished music and rendered some fine selections. There was no formal program but a good old fashioned social time was enjoyed. The ladies helped the men in serving refreshments which consisted of ice cream, cake of various kinds and confectionery. Flowers in abundance were used in decorating, and were very artistically arranged.

The W. R. C. presented a large and beautiful American flag, to Mr. Merrill which was accepted by him with a great deal of feeling.

The vestry was crowded to its utmost capacity, friends being present from Brockton, Hingham, Braintree, Quincy and all the Weymouths.

Many cordial handclasps were given and received. There was singing in which all united, and in parting all wished Mr. Merrill and family a hearty God speed.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1295 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	40 degrees
Mar. 11, 1911,	43 degrees
Mar. 11, 1910,	40 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The employed boys of the Y. M. C. A. hold a banquet the latter part of the month.

C. L. Wilcox having a room at the Y. M. C. A. is employed at the Central Garage in Wollaston.

Miss Iva Briggs was the week end guest of Miss Gladys Robinson of Waban, a former classmate.

Mrs. H. H. Albro of Brooklyn, New York is visiting her sister Mrs. C. C. Mueller of 535 Washington street.

Mrs. C. F. Lincoln and children of East Braintree have been visiting Mrs. P. P. Kittredge of 425 Washington street.

Miss Emma Spaulding of Upland road is spending the week end at Freemont, New Hampshire, with friends.

Mrs. Samuel Oxford of 8 River street has returned from a short visit, at the home of her daughter Mrs. G. M. Bates of Waltham.

The dormitory men of the Y. M. C. A., are preparing an entertainment and supper for March 19, J. E. Fitzgerald is chairman of the committee.

Mt. Wollaston Lodge, I. O. O. F., will confer the first degree on candidates from Neponset and John Hancock lodges at its meeting tomorrow evening.

George H. Campbell has returned from Springfield, where he has been for the past two months. He has accepted a position with the Telephone Company.

The ladies of Quincy Point are to meet at the home of Mrs. F. A. Drake, 48 Farnum street, Tuesday afternoon to form a Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the Town River Yacht club.

The official guide and handbook of the Philippines written by Jack Arnold, who is in the government service in the Philippines can be found at the public library and will interest his many home friends.

Rev. Charles J. McCormick C. SS. R., of the missionary band of the Mission church, Roxbury, will preach his second of a series of Lenten sermons at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic, tomorrow evening.

The Jolly Twelve meet with Miss Edna Shaw of Beech street, March 17. This club is composed of many popular young people of the Park and Downs. The members are Miss Florence Crow, Marjorie Snow, Edna Shaw, Merle Daniels, Mildred Podbury, Clara Coombs, John Dingwell, Stanley Smith, Edwin Brown, Earle Gilliatt, Ralph Marr and Fred Painten.

☞PRATT'S BREAD never varies. Baked scientifically under thorough sanitation.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions. Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

MYSTERY IN SCOTT RUMOR

Englishman May Have Succeeded In Reaching Pole

NO TRACE, SAYS AMUNDSEN

Norwegian Explorer, However, Thinks That Rival Achieved His Object, as Weather Was Very Favorable—Reticence Aboard the Fram—Struggle For Breath While Ascending Great Heights—Dog Meat "Delicious"

London, March 11.—A dispatch from Hobart, Tasmania, to the Daily Chronicle, says Captain Amundsen stated in an interview that he thought it was extremely likely that Captain Scott had reached the South Pole either before or after he (Amundsen) got there. The weather was very favorable for such an achievement.

Captain Amundsen said he hoped Scott did get there because he deserved to succeed. He, however, did not see the smallest sign of anybody having been there before him.

Captain Scott, the Norwegian explorer said, could not have built a cairn for documents because there were not stones there, only a wide snow plain.

Of course, said Amundsen, it was possible that Scott left some record which had afterwards been destroyed by the weather, but it was so calm he did not think this likely.

The explorer believes that calm weather ordinarily prevails at the South Pole.

It is said that one of the members of the Amundsen crew stated that he knew positively Scott had reached the pole.

The belief is general in Hobart that the men on board the Fram know more about Scott's expedition than they will tell. The reticence of these men and Amundsen's attitude serve to deepen the mystery surrounding Scott and his party.

Captain Amundsen detailed some of his experiences more fully than they were told in his original dispatch. He said the chief troubles of the party arose from the necessity of ascending the heights. Six weeks were passed at great elevations. There was often difficulty in breathing, and sometimes it was a struggle for breath. Some of the heights reached 16,750 feet, but the pole itself was at a height of 10,500 feet.

The party never lacked food, said Amundsen, although the men had ferocious appetites after a hard day's sledging. The dogs which he reported killed in his original dispatch had all been eaten.

The fat of these, the explorer said, was "delicious," and he assures the world that it is no hardship to eat dog meat.

One of the most interesting narrations by Amundsen is about the escapade of three of the dogs, which at 83 degrees deserted the expedition. They returned to seek a mate, which had been killed at 82½ degrees. The explorers on their return ourney found that the deserters had discovered and partly devoured the corpse of the dog. What was left was stored in a snow heap for future use. The deserters also ate two other carcasses and raided one of the food depots. Amundsen does not say whether the deserters were recovered.

Eleven dogs survived the expedition and are now on the Fram.

The Christmas dinner of the explorers was porridge. It was eaten on a mountain near the pole and thoroughly enjoyed.

Captain Amundsen says the trip furnished very hard work, but few adventures. His success in discovering the pole was due to his comrades and the dogs and skis. The men and dogs were fat when they reached the Fram on their return, but had smaller appetites than when they started.

Washing and shaving were compulsorily foregone during the trip, but they trimmed their beards. Amundsen pulled a tooth for one of the party.

The men who explored King Edward Land report that they saw an unknown bird, which Amundsen does not describe.

Captain Amundsen's arrival at Hobart, the correspondent says, caused great surprise and sensation. On landing from the harbor master's launch, Amundsen got his mail and locked himself in his room, where he was besieged by reporters, but they were unable to get a word of information from him.

REMEMBERS PET PARROT

Capitalist Bequeathes Income From $50,000 to Care of Polly

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 11.—S. M. Billingsley, a capitalist, died yesterday, leaving a will which provides that the income from $50,000 invested in real estate here shall be used to care for Polly, a parrot that has been in the Billingsley family many years.

Three trustees are appointed to handle the fund and see that the bird is cared for as long at it lives.

THE MAN AND THE WAY

Amundsen and Map Showing His Route Toward South Pole

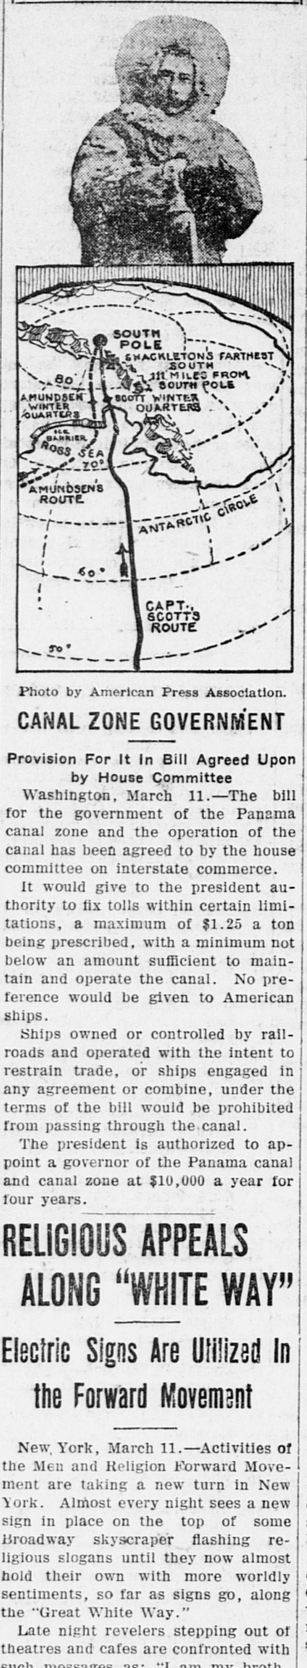

Photo by American Press Association.

CANAL ZONE GOVERNMENT

Provision For It In Bill Agreed Upon by House Committee

Washington, March 11.—The bill for the government of the Panama canal zone and the operation of the canal has been agreed to by the house committee on interstate commerce.

It would give to the president authority to fix tolls within certain limitations, a maximum of $1.25 a ton being prescribed, with a minimum not below an amount sufficient to maintain and operate the canal. No preference would be given to American ships.

Ships owned or controlled by railroads and operated with the intent to restrain trade, or ships engaged in any agreement or combine, under the terms of the bill would be prohibited from passing through the canal.

The president is authorized to appoint a governor of the Panama canal and canal zone at $10,000 a year for four years.

RELIGIOUS APPEALS ALONG "WHITE WAY"

Electric Signs Are Utilized In the Forward Movement

New York, March 11.—Activities of the Men and Religion Forward Movement are taking a new turn in New York. Almost every night sees a new sign in place on the top of some Broadway skyscraper flashing religious slogans until they now almost hold their own with more worldly sentiments, so far as signs go, along the "Great White Way."

Late night revelers stepping out of theatres and cafes are confronted with such messages as: "I am my brother's keeper," "Welcome for everybody in the churches of New York" and "The church wants men in her work for man."

Not only in lights, but in every device of the advertising expert, the promoters of the movement plan to get their message to the people.

HOT SHOT FROM PERCY

Refuses to Resign and Pays Respects to Mississippi Legislature

Washington, March 11.—Senator Percy has answered the Mississippi legislature's demand that he resign by flatly declining to do so. He has sent his answer in a spirited letter which rings with accusations of cowardice, falsehood and malignant hatred.

"I shall pay no heed to your resolutions," he writes. "I did not receive any commission from you; I shall not lay it down at your behest, but shall continue to do my duty to the people of Mississippi in the United States senate as God gives me to see it, conscious that my course will meet the approval of the brains and manhood of my state."

Fatal Accident on Destroyer

San Diego, Cal., March 11.—The blowing out of a boiler aboard the torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones here, caused the death of Albert Grau, a fireman, and serious injury to Peter Wiera, fireman, and John J. Eberlin, coal passer.

Thirty Years For Rebel Leader

Havana, March 11.—General Acevedo, who headed an uprising at Guanabacoa, was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment on the charge of fomenting a rebellion and of murder.

Taft Is Indorsed

Philadelphia, March 11.—By an overwhelming vote the Union League club indorsed President Taft for another term.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

MAPLE SUGAR DESSERTS.

NOW that the season for fresh maple sugar is at hand housewives who are able to avail themselves of this delicious American sweet may be glad of some recipes which will enable them to make a more extensive use of it.

For the Lunch Basket.

Maple Sandwiches.—Remove the crusts from thin slices of whole wheat or Boston brown bread. Butter lightly and sprinkle over the butter some pounded maple sugar and finely chopped nut meats. The nuts and sugar may be put through the food chopper.

Here is a recipe for a nice yet wholesome cake.

Maple Layer Cake.—Take a cupful of powdered maple sugar and mix it with half a cupful of rich cream. Sift a teaspoonful of baking powder in one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour, adding a teaspoonful of cinnamon and half as much allspice.

Add the yolks of three eggs beaten light, a tablespoonful of cold water, then mix in the flour and, lastly, the stiffly whipped whites of four eggs.

Pour in layer cake pans or bake in a loaf. The frosting for this cake has desiccated or fresh cocoanut mixed in. For a filling between layer cakes make it quite thick with the cocoanut and a little thinner for the smooth frosting for the top of the cake.

Luscious Puddings.

Maple and Tapioca Pudding.—Put two cupfuls of milk in an enameled saucepan. Stir into this two tablespoonfuls of fine tapioca, cook for twenty minutes and remove from the fire. Add the well beaten yolks of three eggs and a pinch of salt.

Put again over the fire and stir till it thickens, then allow it to get cold. Add one cupful of chopped nut meats and two-thirds of a cupful of maple sirup. Pile the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs on top and serve.

Maple sauce that may be served with a plain pudding, one that is not too sweet, may be thus prepared.

Maple Dressing.—Take ten tablespoonfuls of powdered maple sugar. Add a tablespoonful of pastry flour and pour slowly into a cup of boiling water. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly for about five minutes. Then mix in two level tablespoonfuls of butter. Take from the fire and add just enough vanilla to flavor, but not to kill the maple taste. Serve with any pudding that is not very sweet and rich.

CODFISH RECIPES.

A FISH that is available everywhere and for every one, like codfish, must hold an important place on the Lenten bill of fare.

An Old and Popular Dish.

Picked Up Codfish.—Pick up the fish in small particles, separating the fibers, the finer the better; freshen by leaving it in water one hour.

Pour off the water and fill up with fresh. Bring it to the scalding point, pour off and put on the fish just enough water to cover it.

Add to a quart of the soaked fish a bit of butter the size of half an egg, a very little flour and a dust of pepper. Beat up two eggs and after taking off the fish thicken it by stirring in the egg. Some let it boil after the egg is added, but if this is done the egg will be curdled.

Creamed Codfish.—Soak in water overnight about a half pound of shredded codfish. Rinse and place in a pan with a piece of butter the size of a walnut. More butter may be used if desired.

Add one tablespoonful of flour, one large cupful of cream or good rich milk and stir until smooth. One hard boiled egg may be cut up in small pieces and served on the dish as garnish.

Ways of Using the Steaks.

Holland Codfish.—Take two or three good thick cod steaks, lay them in a frying pan with enough water to cover, add a bunch of herbs and an onion and simmer for fifteen or twenty minutes.

Take out carefully, drain and set on a hot dish, garnish with boiled potatoes cut in half inch slices. Pour over all two and one-half ounces of melted butter mixed with a tablespoonful of parsley, a little chopped lemon rind, pepper and salt to taste. Serve very hot.

Baked Steaks With Tomatoes.—Cut three or four slices of cod an inch thick, divide them, take off the skin and remove the bones.

Sprinkle the slices with lemon juice, pepper and salt and place them in a well buttered fireproof dish.

Bake in a moderate oven from twenty-five to thirty minutes, turning once during that time, and moisten them with a little stock.

Stew four tomatoes. When cooked rub them through a sieve and mix with them the juice of half a lemon, a dust of pepper and salt and add liquid that is in the dish in which the fish has been cooked.

Stir well, make thoroughly hot and pour over the fish.

Anna Thompson

King Lays Foundation Stone

London, March 11.—King George laid the foundation stone of the new palace of the London county council on the south side of Westminster bridge.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

METROPOLITAN PLAN BILL

(Continued from Page One.)

the forty cities or towns as may care to join, at which metropolitan matters can be discussed. It is provided that in this association each city or town shall have only one vote so all will be on equal basis, and it is further provided that no town need join that does not desire and that any town which joins may withdraw at will.

A primary argument for this association is the need of defense. As matters stand, municipal officials say their most serious task is protecting themselves from undesirable legislation like the Planning Bill, and they want to be able to work as a unit against it.

In support of this Association bill the contention is made that before the legislature burdens the district with a new expensive commission like the Metropolitan Plan Board that the cities and towns are entitled to make a try for themselves.

The Metropolitan Plan bill was discussed in passing on Tuesday last before the committee. Daniel J. Kiley was present, talking on his annexation bill, and he scored the city and town solicitors, many of whom were present, for their opposition to his bill and the Plan bill. He said they were little "job holders" trying to hold their places on the municipal payrolls, and that they were "pooh bahs" now who wanted to hold on. Kiley warned the people that Boston was going to get this territory in the end no matter what cities and towns might object, and that the Mayor of Boston would finally be Mayor of the whole district and the Mayor of Cambridge the second city deputy mayor. Wm. S. McNary of South Boston, who also spoke, commended the Metropolitan Plan bill as something which would pave the way for the erecting of borough government as in New York, and make for the final control of all the suburban territory and Boston with a strong central government. The planning people who sat by listening did not like this, but McNary went ahead linking up the planning bill with annexation and his judgment of the trend of such matters can be taken as expert.

It is hoped that the whole matter can be closed up next Wednesday forenoon. A good representation of those opposed is desired in the event of a show of hands being called for. Interesting speaking in opposition is promised.

The committee in opposition to the Metropolitan planning bill will offer a new bill authorizing cities and towns to form a municipal association. This bill is as follows:

Sec. 1—Any city or town may associate itself with another city or town, or with other cities and towns for the purposes of obtaining and publishing information, and of securing more active and efficient co-operation between the several cities and towns upon all matters where co-operation is found to be desirable, for the purpose of promoting the spread of knowledge among the citizens of all matters affecting their general welfare, and for the purpose of considering any or all questions which affect the several cities and towns or the public and of making recommendations thereon.

Sec. 2—Any such municipal association may adopt a constitution and enact by-laws, provided nothing therein contained shall be contrary to the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth.

Sec. 3—Any city, by vote of its City Council approved by the Mayor or by vote of its other governing board or boards, and any town by vote of its inhabitants qualified to vote and duly assembled in annual meeting or special meeting called for that purpose may elect to join such association at any time. And any city or town wihch has joined such association may withdraw therefrom at any time in the same manner as it elected to join.

Sec. 4 — Every city or town which joins such an association is hereby authorized to pay an annual membership fee of such amount as may be fixed by the association, provided that such membership fee shall not exceed the sum of one hundred dollars annually.

Sec. 5—In every city which joins such association, the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen or other governing board having the powers of a Board of Aldermen, may appoint one delegate to the association. And in every town which joins such association the Board of Selectmen may appoint one delegate to the association. A delegate to the association shall hold office for one year or until his successor is chosen, unless the city or town which he represents sooner ceases to be a member, provided always that if the city or town which any delegate represents shall withdraw from such association, the delegate shall not thereafter vote as its representative.

Sec. 6—All votes of the Association upon public questions shall be taken by municipalities and each municipality shall be entitled to one vote to be cast by the delegate from such municipality, if present and voting.

Sec. 7—Any town, by vote of its Board of Selectmen, may join such association before the said special meeting or before such town's annual meeting next after the passage of this act.

Sec. 8—This act shall take effect upon its passage.

BURDENS LIFTED

From Quincy Backs—Relief Proved by Lapse of Time.

Backache is a heavy burden;
Nervousness wears one out;
Rheumatic pain; urinary ills;
All are kidney burdens—
Daily effects of kidney weakness.
No use to cure the symptoms,
Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.
Cure the kidneys and you cure the cause.
Relief comes quickly—comes to stay.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney ills.
Prove it by your neighbor's case.
Here's Quincy testimony.
The story of a permanent cure.

Mrs. W. H. Lowe, 246 Washington St., Quincy, Mass., says: "We still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as strongly as we did in 1907. A member of our family was afflicted with kidney complaint. He suffered from lameness through his back and the least exertion tired him. Finally he began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and they improved his condition in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WESTERN UNION

Day Letters
They beat the mails
Night Letters

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,
Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in
NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

BABY DROPS FOUR STORIES

Its Slumber Undisturbed as Mother Takes Desperate Chance

Auburn, Me., March 11.—Snatched from its crib by a panic-stricken mother, a baby was thrown out of the window of a burning building into the arms of a man, four stories below, wintout injury and without awakening from its sleep during a fire which caused $50,000 damage here.

Most of the building, which was a four-story wooden block, the lower floor being occupied as a department store, was burned. The start of the fire found a number of persons asleep, and some difficulty was experienced in arousing them.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &C.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Eunice A. S. Wellington late of Durand, Illinois, having estate in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ZENAS S. ARNOLD, Adm.
(Address)
33 Coddington street, Quincy.
Dec. 6, 1912 6t 2-9-11

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of J. Franklin Faxon late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

CAROLINE F. FAXON,
CHARLES A. PRICE,
HENRY M. FAXON,
Executors.
(Address) Quincy, Mass.
Feb. 29, 1912 3t Mar. 2-4-11

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Sarah H. Peak late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by John W. Peak, of New Bedford, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of William B. Rice, late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Harry L. Rice, Fred B. Rice, Moorfield Storey and John D. Hardy executors of the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first and final account of their administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said executors are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18,

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeanne B. Hill late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John H. Hill of said Quincy or to some other suitable person. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By VAUGHAN KESTER

ILLUSTRATIONS BY D. MELVILL

COPYRIGHT, 1911, THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

CHAPTER I.

The Boy at the Barony.

The Quintards had not prospered on the barren lands of the pine woods whither they had emigrated to escape the malaria of the low coast, but this no longer mattered, for the last of his name and race, old General Quintard, was dead in the great house his father had built almost a century before and the thin acres of the Barony, where he had made his last stand against age and poverty, were to claim him, now that he had given up the struggle in their midst.

Though he had lived continuously at the Barony for almost a quarter of a century, there was none among his neighbors who could say he had looked on that thin, aquiline face in all that time. Yet they had known much of him, for the gossip of the slaves, who had been his only friends in those years he had chosen to deny himself to other friends, had gone far and wide over the county.

That notable man of business, Jonathan Crenshaw, was closeted in the library with a stranger to whom rumor fixed the name of Bladen, supposing him to be the legal representative of certain remote connections of the old general's.

Crenshaw sat before the flat-topped mahogany desk with several account-books before him. Bladen stood by the window.

"I suppose you will buy in the property when it comes up for sale?" the latter was saying.

Crenshaw nodded.

"He lived entirely alone, saw no one, I understand?" said Bladen.

"Alone with his two or three old slaves—yes, sir. He wouldn't even see me."

There was a brief pause, then Crenshaw spoke again. "I reckon, sir, if you know anything about the old gentleman's private affairs you don't feel no call to speak on that point?" he observed.

"All I know is this: General Quintard was a conspicuous man in these parts fifty years ago; he married a Beaufort."

"So he did," said Crenshaw, "and there was one child, a daughter; she married a South Carolinian by the name of Turberville. Great folks, those Turbervilles, rolling rich."

"And what became of the daughter who married Turberville?"

"Died years ago," said Crenshaw.

They were interrupted by a knock at the door.

"Come in," said Crenshaw. The door opened and a small boy entered the room dragging after him a long rifle. Suddenly overcome by a shyness, he paused on the threshold to stare with round, wondering eyes at the two men. "Well, sonny, what do you want?" asked Mr. Crenshaw indulgently.

"Please, sir, I want this here old spo'tin' rifle," said the child.

"I reckon you may keep it—at least I've no objection." Crenshaw glanced at Bladen.

"Oh, by all means," said the latter. Spasms of delight shook the small figure. With a murmur that was meant for thanks he backed from the room, closing the door. Bladen glanced inquiringly at Crenshaw.

"You want to know about him, sir? Well, that's Hannibal Wayne Hazard. But who Hannibal Wayne Hazard is—just wait a minute, sir"—and quitting his chair Mr. Crenshaw hurried from the room to return almost immediately with a tall countryman. "Mr. Bladen, this is Bob Yancy. Bob, the gentleman wants to hear about the woman and the child; that's your story."

"Howdy, sir," said Mr. Yancy. He appeared to meditate on the mental effort that was required of him.

"It was four years ago come next Christmas," said Crenshaw.

"Old Christmas," corrected Mr. Yancy. "The evening befo', it was, and I'd gone to Fayetteville to get my Christmas fixin's. Just at sundown I hooked up that blind mule of mine to the cart and started fo' home. A mile out of town I heard some one sloshing through the rain after me. I pulled up and waited, and then I made out it was a woman. She spoke when she was alongside the cart and says, 'Can you drive me on to the Barony?' When I got down to help her into the cart I saw she was toting a child in her arms. Well, sir, she hardly spoke until we came to the red gate, when she says, 'Stop, if you please; I'll walk the rest of the way.' The last I seen of her she was hurrying through the rain toting the child in her arms."

Mr. Crenshaw took up the narrative. "When morning come she was gone, but the child done stayed behind. I've heard Aunt Alsidia tell as now the old general said that morning, pale and shaking like, 'You'll find a boy asleep in the red room; he's to be fed and cared fo', but keep him out of my sight. His name is Hannibal Wayne Hazard.' That is all the general ever said on the matter."

"This," Said Yancy, "Are Scratch Hill."

The old general was borne across what had once been the west lawn to his resting-place in the neglected acre where the dead and gone of his race lay, and the record of the family was complete, as far as any man knew. Then Crenshaw, assisted by Bob Yancy, proceeded to secure the great house against intrusion.

They passed from room to room securing doors and windows, and at last stepped out upon the back porch.

"Hullo!" said Yancy, pointing.

There on a bench by the kitchen door was Hannibal Wayne Hazard asleep, with his old spo'tin' rifle across his knees.

"Well, I declare to goodness!" said Crenshaw.

"I reckon you'd rather drop a word with yo' missus before you toted him home?" suggested Yancy, who knew something of the nature of his friend's domestic thraldom.

"A woman ought to be boss in her own house," said Crenshaw.

"Feelin' the truth of that, I've never married, Mr. John. But I was going to say, what's to hinder me from toting that boy to my home?"

"If you'll take the boy, Bob, you shan't lose by it."

Yancy rested a big knotted hand on the boy's shoulder.

"Come, wake up, sonny!" The child roused with a start and stared into the strange bearded face that was bent toward him. "It's yo' Uncle Bob," continued Yancy in a wheedling tone. "Here, give us the spo'tin' rifle to tote!"

Yancy balanced the rifle on his great palm and his eyes assumed a speculative cast.

"I wonder what's to hinder us from loading this old gun, and firing this old gun, and hearing this old gun go—bang! Eh?"

The child's blue eyes grew wide.

"Please, Uncle Bob, make it go bang!"

"You come along, then," and Mr. Yancy moved off in the direction of his mule, the child following.

Thereafter beguiling speech flowed steadily from Mr. Yancy's bearded lips, in the midst of which relations were established between the mule and cart, and the boy quitted the Barony for a new world.

The afternoon sun waned as they went deeper and deeper into the pine woods, but at last they came to their journey's end, a widely scattered settlement on a hill above a branch.

"This," said Mr. Yancy, "are Scratch Hill, sonny. Why Scratch Hill? Some say it's the fleas; others agin hold it's the eternal bother of making a living here, but whether fleas or living you scratch fo' both."

(To be Continued.)

PREFERRED TO BE BEATEN OR SCOLDED

Woman Quits Her Husband Because of His Perfections

Oakland, Cal., March 11.—Edwin Hirsch, an Irvington merchant, got a decree of divorce from Hazel Hirsch, who deserted him two years ago, unable to endure longer his perfections.

According to his testimony, Hirsch gave his wife every luxury within his means, set no restraint on her amusements and never showed jealousy. He never spoke an unkind word and never smoked, drank, swore or kept late hours.

"Didn't she ever find fault with you?" asked the judge.

"Oh, yes," responded the witness, "she frequently said she could have loved me if only I beat her, or at least scolded her once in a while."

BODY TERRIBLY MANGLED

Train Runs Over Man After Being Killed by Third Rail

Boston, March 11.—The body of James B. Dennehy, 23 years old, a track walker employed by the Boston Elevated, was found decapitated, the left arm cut off just above the elbow and the body terribly mangled, in the Cambridge tunnel yesterday afternoon.

According to Medical Examiner Magrath and Elevated employes, the man in some way came in contact with the deadly third rail and was thrown prostrate upon the track shortly before a train issuing from the tunnel ran over him. It is suggested the track walker's lantern, as it swung in his hand, may have come in contact with the live rail.

UNIQUE SURGICAL FEAT

Sheep Bone In Cripple's Foot Will Enable Him to Walk

Baltimore, March 11.—Born a cripple, George Goeller, 7 years old, probably will be able to walk in a few weeks, after an operation in St. Agnes hospital Sunday, in which a bone of his left foot was removed and that of a sheep substituted.

Ever since his birth the boy has suffered from a clubfoot and he was able to walk without crutches only with great pain. The centre of the crippled foot was first opened and the smaller bones removed. It was necessary to avoid important blood vessels, as the operation had to be performed with as little loss of blood as possible. The smaller bones were removed.

Dr. Taylor measured the foot and arched the sheep bone in proportion. He inserted the animal's bone and the operation was complete.

AN OBLIGING DEPUTY SHERIFF SUSPENDED

Allowed Abe Ruef to Give Dinner Party at Roadhouse

San Francisco, March 11.—Abe Ruef, former political boss of San Francisco, under a fourteen year sentence for bribery, entertained a party of friends at a road house near San Raphael. As the result, Deputy Sheriff O'Kane, who had Ruef in charge, is suspended from duty.

Ruef had been brought to San Francisco on a court case. O'Kane was instructed to remove Ruef to prison in the regular van, but permitted the ex-boss to use an automobile.

The dinner party, which was attended by two women and a San Francisco physician, lasted until nearly midnight and Ruef was several hours late in arriving at the penitentiary. The deputy sheriff said that a punctured tire had caused the delay.

This is the second time that Ruef's fondness for gaiety has been brought to the attention of the officials at San Quentin.

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or

Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Telephone 1196 M.

Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8 1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf 1p

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 285-3 Jan. 17-tf

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

WANTED

WANTED—English speaking maid, with references, for general housework. Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., 18 Spear street, Quincy. 11-3t

WANTED—Young man for clerical work. High or Mechanics Arts graduate preferred. Boston Gear Works, Norfolk Downs. 11-1t

WANTED—Every customer satisfied, my best advertisement. S. Ernest MacMillan, Graduate Optician, 1463 Hancock street, (Singer Shop) Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, by appointment only at Residence Office, 837 Hancock street Wollaston. 11-3t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 874 W

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5nl

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock s reet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

H.D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

TO LET

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms. Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 11

Eggs, Fancy, large, brown, strictly fresh,	doz.	25c
Peanut Butter,	per lb.	12c
Quaker Oats, Family size, with china,	pkg	21c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless large can	7c small	4c
Raisins, Seeded, fancy,	pkg	9c
Corn, Fancy Maine, Wilton brand,	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska,	tall can	11c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Soap, Ives Family,	bar	3c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria,	can	9c
Peaches. California festival, fancy,	can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked,	can	8c
Starch, Fancy Laundry,	3 lbs	11c
Ketchup, Blue Label,	large bottle	17c
Maple Sugar Syrup, "Golden Tree"	large bot.	22c
Crackers, Baby Lunch,	per lb.	8c
Oranges, Fancy California Navel,	doz.	25c

Mar. 11--M. W. F.

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?
WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY
AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE

James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man

Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.

9-tf

BRIEFS

The opening entertainment of the Quincy Yacht club will be held April 19, at the club house.

Albert Hall and family have moved to the new house on Faxon road which they recently purchased.

The City Council Committee on Finance meet tonight. The budget will be considered.

A public whist party is to be held in Poland's hall, Norfolk Downs, tomorrow evening.

Mrs. A. E. McLoud, 74 Edison street is somewhat improved after a long illness of the grip.

The Automobile Show in Mechanics' building, Boston was attended by several hundred Quincy Auto fans last week.

The annual banquet and entertainment of the Granite City club will be held Wednesday evening, April 10. It is probable that the banquet this year will be held in Alpha hall.

The regular meeting of Paul J. Revere Corps 103 will be held Tuesday afternoon at G. A. R. hall. A public whist will be held in the evening for the benefit of the relief fund.

Hodenosaunee Tribe, of the Order of Red Men are to receive a visit from Alexander Gilmore, G. C. of R. at the meeting on Friday evening in Greenleaf hall.

A large delegation from John Adams Aerie, F. O. E. was present at the Memorial exercises held by the order of Eagles in Faneuil hall, Boston, Sunday afternoon. The ovation was delivered by acting Mayor John J. Attridge of Boston.

Rev. Andrew J. O'Brien D. D., will preach the sermon at the Lenten devotions, to be held in St. Mary's church, Wednesday evening. Rev. Dr. O'Brien is a West Quincy boy. He is Professor of Dogmatic Theology at Brighton seminary.

DEATHS

SCOTT—In West Quincy, March 9; Mary, wife of William Scott in her 62d year.
Funeral services at late home 6 Ballou street Tuesday March 12 at 2.30 P. M.. Relatives and friends invited. 1t

DONOHER—In West Quincy, March 11, Lucy M. widow of Dennis Donoher of 22 Rogers street, aged 97 years 18 days.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

(Continued from Page Three.)

WOLASTON M. E. CHURCH.

At the Wollaston M. E. church, Rev. Wesley Wiggin, the pastor, preached from the text found in Phil 2.5 taking for his subject, "The Mind of Christ." He spoke of the conditions which called forth these words, he said that the mind of Christ was best illustrated by Christ's teaching about God which was threefold, the idea of God's unity, the idea of His holiness, and the idea of His grace. He spoke of the unity that found expression in relationship, and a relationship that expressed itself in human personality. We may draw there lessons from these words, First, The mind of Christ would transform life: It would give a deeper charity for all mankind; it would mean a broader sympathy for all whom we touch or influence.

The Sunday school was in charge of J A. Sedgwick, the superintendent who summed up the lesson by the use of the blackboard. Miss Marion Nevers, the deaconess, had charge of the Junior league. Miss Mary Cleveland led the Epworth league service at the close of which, Miss Rena M. Chamberlin gave a five minute talk on the early Christian church.

At 7 o'clock the pastor preached on Christ's reply to Peter's question. Large audiences were present at all of the services. Today at 2.30 o'clock the Woman's Missionary society will meet with Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick, 240 Goffe street. At 7.45 o'clock the choir will rehearse in the vestry. The Royal Daughters Bible class will entertain the Wiggin Bible class in the vestry Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

THE MARCH RUDDER

Yachtsmen will be especially interested in the Rudder for March as it is the outing number and full to the brim with yachting matter well illustrated. The contents, opening with the beautiful frontispiece. "Discovery of Block Island," by Warren Sheppard will be found worthy of careful perusal. Among the articles of interest is the conclusion of the story on "The Log of Totem 1911" by T. H. and C. G. Hine, "How to build a 9-foot skiff, Pollywog." by Fred W. Goelles, Jr.; "The Boston show," "Monovex" "Hunah's Nest," "Designs," "The New York Show; etc. Published by the Rudder Publishing Co., Hudson street New York.

Too Late For Classification.

LOST—A Woodward class pin(1911) between Garfield street and Quincy Centre, Sunday evening, March 10. Finder please return to 29 Garfield street. 11-1t

MILL WORKERS' PAY IS RAISED

More Than 125,000 Will Benefit by the Increase

EFFECTS ALL NEW ENGLAND

Advance of Five to Seven Percent Goes Into Effect In New Hampshire and Maine at Once—Mills Affected Include Those of American Woolen Company—Lawrence Strike Causes Mill Owners to Act

Boston, March 11.—A general advance in the wages of textile operatives in northern New England was announced by the various mill interests which have their head offices in Boston.

More than 125,000 persons, including employes of cotton mills in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine and woolen mill operatives in six New England states are affected by the decision of mill directors and treasurers to increase pay.

While few cotton mills have made definite announcements, it is understood here that the advance generally will not be less than 5 percent and for certain classes of operatives 7 percent or more.

The New Hampshire and Maine cotton mills, which employ 45,000 people, will make the change in the pay roll today, other mills will do so March 18, and the Lowell mills, with nearly 20,000 hands, will put the advance into effect March 25.

The Lawrence cotton mills, excepting the Everett, employing 13,000, the American Woolen company's thirty-three New England plants, with 33,000 operatives, and a number of independent worsted mills raised wages last Monday.

To the advance in Lawrence, necessitated by the clamor of the operatives in that city for better wages, the advances elsewhere are largely attributed.

In Massachusetts the millhands underwent a cut in wages of more than 3 percent Jan. 1 because of a new state law which lowered the hours of employment for women and minors from fifty-six to fifty-four weekly.

The Lawrence strike followed, and a demand was made in Lowell by the cotton mill loomfixers for an increase in wages of 10 percent.

The American Woolen company found that if it advanced wages in its Lawrence mills it would be compelled to take similar action in all its factories elsewhere. Accordingly notices of the increase were posted last week in all its plants and at a number of independent mills.

The Lawrence cotton mill heads in Boston, with one exception, felt obliged to agree to a policy of higher pay, and their action practically meant that to keep the peace the Lowell mill owners had to follow their competitors down the river.

In the meantime the Pacific mills of Boston, employing 5500 hands in Lawrence and 3000 in Dover, N. H., granted an advance at their New Hampshire plant.

The result of all these advances was that the directors of practically all cotton mills in northern New England decided to make the advance general, beginning today.

The movement will embrace nearly all the cotton mills of New Hampshire, including the seventeen mills of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company of Manchester, the largest cotton concern in the world. The Amoskeag mills employ 15,500 operatives.

Whether the cotton mills of Fall River, New Bedford, eastern Connecticut, Rhode Island and the Blackstone Valley will meet the raise given in northern New England is not known in this city.

The advance, it is understood, will also affect the cotton mills of Chicopee, Holyoke, Waltham, Salem and at several points in Massachusetts.

The probable exceptions in northern New England are the mills in Augusta, Me., Suncook, N. H.; Amesbury and Fiskdale, which follow the Fall River print cloth schedule, and the Monadnock mills.

TRIUMPH FOR I. W. W.!

Tuesday Will Probably Witness Settlement of Lawrence Strike

Lawrence, Mass., March 11.—At a score of meetings Sunday, the striking textile workers, with prolonged cheers, greeted the announcements that the industrial warfare, which has waged in this city for eight weeks, would in all probability be declared off tomorrow afternoon.

William D. Haywood, who returned from Paterson, N. J., yesterday, told the strikers at at a mass meeting on the common Tuesday afternoon they would probably be called upon to vote upon the acceptance or rejection of the offer of the mill owners.

Today, at the state house in Boston, the sub-committee of the strikers and Industrial Workers of the World will meet the officials of the American Woolen company, who are to present them with a wage scale, showing how each worker is to be benefited by the general advance of 7½ percent offered.

At the big meetings Sunday the triumph of the I. W. W. in securing by their big fight in this city an increase for the workers in all the textile centres of New England was received with loud acclaim.

TRAINMEN'S WAGES CUT

Employes of the Grand Trunk Railway Receive Unwelcome News

Toronto, March 11.—Grand Trunk employes were startled by an official circular cuting the monthly salaries of conductors, brakemen and baggagemen from the figures as fixed by the terms of the strike settlement last year.

Cuts in the wages of conductors ranging from $74 to $10 a month are made in the circular. Brakemen and baggagemen suffer proportional losses. The Northern, Western, Middle, Eastern, and Ottawa divisions of the Grand Trunk are affected by the cuts.

The company gives as the reason for the reduction the necessity of making an adjustment based on a comparison of conditions on various runs, taking into consideration the duties and responsibilities involved, and a desire to correct the wage scale.

BRIEFS

Miss Lillian Ericson of Newbury avenue is seriously ill at her home.

Paul J. Revere W. R. C. 103 holds a whist party in G. A. R. hall tomorrow night.

William Caldwell will hold a whist party in Stone's hall, Washington street, Thursday evening.

Mrs. John Walter of Duxbury, spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Spencer Apollonio, of Botolph street.

Many new houses have been constructed throughout Quincy Point this winter, thus raising the value of property.

Don't fail to read the opening chapter today of the Ledger's new serial, "The Prodigal Judge." It is an intensely interesting story.

Friends of George Deans of Appleton street will be pleased to hear that he has decidd that Atlantic is a better place to live in than Randolph, so will remain here.

Mrs. Jennie Ewell, formerly of this city and past president of Paul J. Revere W. R. C. is doing good work in and around her new home at Halifax by presenting the American flags to the different schools.

Harry L. Rice of Adams street is one of a party of intimates, who have been enjoying a cruise on the yacht Savalo and fishing, in the vicinity of Cape Sable.

Several member of George L. Gill Rebekah Lodge go to Roslindale Wednesday evening to witness the work of Harriet M. Durrell Lodge, which they say is worth going miles to see.

The adult class of Memorial church organized Sunday, Lyndon T. Gurney being elected president; Harry B. Wells secretary and Frederick Burditt general recruiting agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Oxford, 8 River street, have completed plans to spend the larger part of the summer in England visiting London and the neighboring towns. They leave the latter part of May.

The many friends in this city of Miss Marion Kerby will be pleased to know that she will be at the Hollis Street Theatre the next two weeks, in William H. Crane's new comedy, "The Senator Keeps House."

Mrs. William Blanchard, the accomplished wife of Dr. Blanchard, surgeon of the Fore River Company, spent the week end with Mrs. Charles H. Waldron of Dorchester, and will also be her hostess at the musicale of Dorchester Guild, to be held at The Tuilleries this afternoon.

Spring has arrived at the store of the Payson-Mitchell Co., not only as indicated by the pots of daffies and tulips which make their show window so attractive, but inside spring goods are everywhere and at the prices marked there is no excuse for any man in Quincy going without an Easter outfit.

Maple street may become a street of attractive little shops which appeal to the women. Those now in the Johnson building certainly catch the eye of passersby. The "Lady's Shop," which proved a great attraction during the Christmas season is to have an opening of Easter millinery the last of March.

—Six-inch letters on municipal automobiles in New York city are reported to have caused a marked diminution in joy riding and the like. And wouldn't the bouncing of a few employees who offend in this manner also have a tendency to push the reform still further? Abuses which thus flourish in sundry municipal circles would hardly be tolerated in many a private industry.—Salem News.

BLUE-JAYS AND THE ROBINS

The Robins and Blue Jays, composed of members of the Melon Chopee club, engaged in a bowling match at the Brunswick alleys Saturday evening. The Blue Jays managed to take three straight.

The star of the game was Jenkins, of the winning team, who had a mark of 109 for a single string and 304 for the total. J. Stewart also played well for the winners, while Giles excelled for the losers.

The summary:—

BLUE JAYS.

				Totals
Jenks	96	99	109	304
Ross	71	70	77	218
Russell	78	77	79	234
Troup	87	100	89	276
J. Stewart	100	82	86	268
Kenn		82	70	152
Totals	432	510	510	1452

ROBINS.

				Totals
Giles	89	91	91	271
Robertson	92	57	82	231
R. Stewart	82	89	72	243
Morris	82	86	79	247
Williams	73	80	88	241
Denney		70	70	140
Totals	418	473	482	1373

PEOPLE'S FORUM.

At the meeting of the Braintree People's Forum, Sunday afternoon Dr. Cleveland Floyd of Boston gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "Tuberculosis; what it means and how to prevent it." Dr. Floyd's remarks were concise and authoritative yet with a delightful freedom from long and perplexing technical words and phrases. He told of the various forms and manifestations of the disease, the lesions characteristics of it, and stated that it had been a scourge of the race from the earliest times, the Egyptian mummies and bones of American Indians showing evidence of its ravages.

According to Dr. Floyd the disease is not considered hereditary but rather is transmitted by contact and infection. He quoted some staggering figures among them being that some 125,000 people annually are killed by it in this country alone and that there are 15,000 persons in Boston suffering from the malady. He expressed the opinion that it would be stamped out in years to come but that all the people must be lifted to a higher plane of living before such a desirable result could be attained.

Dr. Floyd cited the negro race as being most susceptible to tuberculosis because of their confined methods of living in unsanitary cabins and thought the Jewish people the most resistant to the disease due probably to the law of the survival of the fittest.

The speaker considered the milk supply a great carrier of disease germs and a grave menace to the public health unless properly safeguarded. In this connection he said that people could not expect better milk until they were willing to pay a higher price because it required more money than is paid at present to insure a pure and sanitary product.

Dr. Floyd's remarks were brief but he courteously enswered many questions from his audience in a way that showed him thoroughly conversant with the subject. He advocated the open air treatment as being the most efficient way found thus far to combat the disease and said there was much truth in the oft quoted statement that one is a fool who dies from tuberculosis.

In the fight against the white plague, the application of good sound commonsense coupled with the cooperation of the patient with the method of treatment must be had before a cure is possible. On motion of Mr. Herbert F. Kneeland, a rising vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Floyd for clear presentation of the subject and for the courteous and enlightening way in which he answered all questions.

Next Sunday afternoon, James Schermerhorn, publisher of the Detroit Times will address the meeting.

TODAY'S COURT.

Frank J. Kerrigan of Milton, John E. Cartland of Braintree, Michael Hollaran and Timothy Lynce of Quincy were fined $15 each, Thomas Kennedy of Quincy $5 and Thornton P. W. Nelson of Quincy $3 for drunkenness.

Luigi Concheiri was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

Howard K. Abbott of Braintree was arraigned for evading fare on the railroad at Quincy. Case continued until March 13.

A movement is on foot to have servant girls addressed as "Miss," but that won't help much in families where they don't dare speak to her at all.

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

A game of unusual ocurrence in basket-ball is promised for tomorrow evening in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, where the Oliver Ames High Girls' tem, a combination of feminine players who are now laying claim to the championship honors of this state, clash with the members of the Quincy Gym girls.. The two teams in question met at North Easton some time ago and the Oliver Ames girls were victorious by a decisive score. At this stage of the season the local team had been organized but a short time and it being the first game away from home, adverse conditions had to be met.

The local girls have been training very hard during the past week for this coming event and I am informed by manager Helen Mitchell of the local team, that those who attend tomorrow's game may expect to see the tables turned. The North Easton rooters claim that Gertrude Flannagan and Louise Drake are as good as any school girl players, but the local team has three good stars in Isaore and Mary Beal and Marie Goodhue. The price for admission is nominal and as members of the masculine gender are to be admitted, the popular West Quincy hall should be taxed as never before.

With the authorities in the matter unable to designate any one High school basket ball team as the peer of the state, but with these same dispensers of honors conceding that the members of the Quincy High basketball team are worthy of merited consideration, it does seem as if the Granite City lads still have as much claim to the title as any other contender. The interview with Physical Director LaRose last week seemed to be to the point, for he stated that Quincy High should shape up as the most formidable school team in Eastern Massachusetts, owing to the fact that it has played more games than any other High school contingency.

In this there is no one who will not vie with him, for a record to date of 15 victories to 4 defeats, is just what the local players have attained this season. Five games yet remain to be played, three of which will take place this evening. Tomorrow afternoon, the Tech '14 will be encountered in the local gymnasium. Wednesday it plays Wellesley High at Wellesley and on Friday afternoon the Provincetown High aggregation will be entertained. The local boys should find no difficulty in annexing victories on each of these occasions.

Quincy High has secured victories over Winthrop, Reading, Salem Normal, Weymouth, Haverhill, Worcester South High, Rockland, Oliver Ames, and Milton High schools. Newton High defeated the local team by one point in the game at Newton while the game here resulted in a tie after two overtime periods had been necessitated. Reading High defeated Quincy High at Reading by two points, but the local boys took its measure in the local gymnasium by a much larger number of points.

Franklin High has also beaten the local team, but when it is considered that the above team in question played under intercollegiate rules, it is not to be expected that coacher Staff's team, which confirms to regular amateur rules, could readily emerge in triumph. Next week the Franklin team comes to Quincy and the local assert that their contention as to the difference of paying under a change of rules will be proven beyond a doubt.

The local team has scored 634 points to its opponents 320. Trask and Finlay have each scored more than 100 of the 280 baskets made by Quincy High. I have in my possession a complete account of the work of the team this season, and expect to give a detailed account this week.

Joseph H. Phelan, a well known local runner, is to compete in the annual cross country run of the Cathedral Y. M. C. A., to be held on the afternoon of April 6

Frank Bruce and Domenic Fascia, of the Italian American A. C. of this city are to run in the A A. Marathon April 19, from Ashland to Boston.

The St. John's club is to have a fast baseball team on the diamond this year Manager Crimmins had already arranged a fine schedule of games.

Great enthusiasm has been stimulated among the local fans over the possibility of the Quincy A. A. first and second teams being sent to either New York or Philadelphia to compete in the basketball championships to be held under the auspices of the A. A. U. Both teams in question have won the titles in their respective classes in the Greater Boston Basket Ball league, which consist of the usual gold die A. A. A. U. medals and team trophies.

In the meantime Manager Flynn is trying to arrange games with independent teams, in an endeavor to bill some good attractions for the local sporting bloods. eH is anxious to arrange a series with his second team and the Cunninghom gym second team. Such a series would undoubtedly be a great drawing card and would attract a crowded house at each game.

Speaking of the Greater Boston Basekt Ball league reminds us that all teams have not gone through the season as successfully as was at first contemplated. Some of the managers were fighting among themselves and so much controversy ensued over professionalism that it is doubtful of the league will again be sanctioned by the A. A. A. U. officials. Incompetent officials were responsible for the drawbacks encountered at first and it was not until Hugh McGrath, rightly termed "The right man in the right place," was put in charge that conditions became changed and affairs were arranged to satisfaction.

Only a little less than two weeks ago, the local boys had to be escorted by police protection from the Ward room on Blossom street, after a victory had been attained over the St. Joseph's A. A. team. It was difficult to determine whom the guilty parties were, but such a spirit of sportsmanship dedtracts greatly from any game.

CLAN McGREGOR TEAM DEFEATED

The Clan McGregor bowling team went down to defeat at the Brunswick alleys Friday night before the five from the McKenzie clan in the Scottish Clans' league. Hughes played the best game for the local team. The losers won the second string, but were outclassed on all others. The high bowler for the sum total was Stewart of the winners who had a mark of 287. The same players tied his team mate Bell for second honors for the single string, 105, which was one less than the mark attained by Simpson of the same combination.

The summary:

	1	2	3	Totals
Clan McKenzie	468	425	499	1392
Clan McGregor	433	432	411	1276

HIGH TRACK TEAM.

The Quincy High school track teams have a good outook, and perhaps the best Quincy has seen in the last few years. Manager Ralph Prout has a fine schedule almost completed containing many of the neighborhood schools including Weymouth, Milton and Thayer academy.

The track teams are in charge of acting captain R. Estey, and coach Manson has a bright outlook before him.

The cross country team last fall brought forth Wade, Kingsbury and Williams. three sterling long distance runners, that will prove good in the meets this spring.

Holmes, Prout, Trask and Estey are four of the best sprinters to be found in any of the local schools.

In the running broad jump, records should be broken with such jumpers as White, Trask and Holmes. All jump-19 feet in practice.

In the high jump the record is sure of being broken if R. Estey can manage to keep up in his studies as he has done 5 feet 5 inches for the local Y M. C. A.

The hop, step and jump is also in danger of being broken as Holmes is good for 40 feet.

The new relay team composed of olmes, Prout, Kingsbury and Trask completed a new record of 3 min. 26 4-5 seconds, breaking the record of last year's team.

NOTICE

TO FURNITURE MOVERS AND OWNERS OF JOBBING WAGONS.

The City Council of the City of Quincy having by Ordinance No. 53, Section 9, relating to furniture movers and owners of jobbing wagons and Ordinance No. 360, Section 1-2-3-4-5, relating to persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of moving or transferring household furniture, pianos, or other articles or personal effects, made it incumbent upon the owners of furniture and jobbing wagons to procure a license from the City Council for operating the same, they are hereby notified that they should procure licenses immediately. Applications for licenses may be made to the City Clerk. Licenses may be granted in April to take effect on the first day of May then next ensuing.

Signed—FRANK E. BURRELL.
Chief of Police, City of Quincy.
March 8 3t

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 61 QUINCY MASS., TUESDAY EVENING MARCH 12, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

LOYAL LADIES HOLD BANQUET

Held in Celebration of Reaching a Membership of 400

ENTERTAINMENT

To fittingly commemorate the attainment of a membership of four hundred, exactly two hundred and eighty-eight Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor gathered in merry concourse at the grand banquet, held Monday evening in Electa and Protection halls. The affair was exclusively for ladies of the Clan, and whenever a man appeared near the scene, he was looked upon as an object of curiosity.

Even the janitor and newspapermen were compelled to entertain a feeling of bashfulness at the sight of so large a gathering of the fair sex. Never before did either hall present a more charming spectacle.

Sharply at 7.30, the president Mrs. Margaret Stronach called all present to order and after prayer by the Chaplain Mrs. Margaret Ross, a most attractive menu furnished by C. C. Whittemore, the well-known Boston caterer, was ushered in as the first number on the program. The menu was as follows:

Roast Turkey Cranberry Sauce
Baked Ham Boiled Tongue
Mashed Potatoes
Escalloped Oysters
Banana Fritters Wine Sauce
Chicken Salad Rolls
Fancy Creams
Strawberry Vanilla Chocolate
Frozen Pudding
Sultana Roll Claret Sauce
Strawberry Mousse
Sherbet
Lemon Orange Raspberry
Cake
Almond Pound Frosted
Macaroons Lady Fingers Kisses
Coffee

Before partaking of the good things set before them the ladies joined in singing the following refrain:

Feasting tonight, we're feasting tonight
Feasting in the Banquet Hall
Oh many are the hearts that are gay and glad tonight
Feasting in the Banquet Hall.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the president ordered the financial secretary Mrs. Jennie Fyfe to proceed with the roll call. This being finished an entertainment was provided by the members, which kept the audience in continual mirth throughout the remainder of the evening.

In connection with the entertainment the president gave the opening remarks, while the origin of the order was ably presented by Mrs. Mary A. Smith.

The first number was a solo by Mrs. Margaret Gammon, which called for great applause. A reading by Mrs. Grace Cappacioli was favorably appreciated and applause was again evoked by a song rendered by Miss Huena Morrison. Mrs. Henrietta Marr gave a readings in her usual style.

A sketch entitled "Packing of the Missionary Barrel" next proved a great attraction and the members of the cast acquitted themselves in good style. They were Misses Alice Joss, Lizzie Grassick, Violet Robertson, Mary Summers, Mary Barton, Lillian McIntosh, Margaret McIntosh, Georgie Michael and Mrs. Sarah Dunstan.

Mrs. Belle Peirce rendered a song that elicited loud applause, while the reading by Mrs. Lucy Evans, that followed called for the same reception. Mrs. Alice Nicol sang a solo with marked ability and a violin duet was next furnished by Miss Alice Joss and Miss Helen Cummings in a manner that savored of professional talent.

The entertainment then came to a close and incidentally ended an affair which was pronounced the most successful in the history of the order.

The affair was in charge of the amusement committee, comprised of Mrs. Margaret Stronach, Jennie MacKay, Effie Scarborough, Mary Muckle, Alice Joss, Bella Grassick, Johann Norrie, Margaret Ross, Julia Dawson, Margaret Tinney, Annie Mutch, secretary.

The officers of the order are:—

President—Mrs. Margaret Stronach.

Vice President—Mrs. Jennie MacKay.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Margorie Milne.

Financial Secretary—Mrs. Jennie Fyfe.

Treasurer—Mrs. Grace Cappacioli.

Chaplain—Mrs. Margaret Ross.

Senior Conductor—Mrs. Alice Nicol.

Junior Conductor—Mrs. Annie McKenzie.

Inside Guard—Mrs. Julia Dawson.

Outside Guard—Mrs. Margaret McMillan.

The trustees are Mrs. Katie Russell, Mrs. Maggie Mundie and Mrs. Emma Marnock.

Following is a list of the charter members:

Lillie Huntington, Mary A. Smith, Lizzie Chalmers, Phenuel Gordon, Mary Bissett, Annie J. Pratt, Helen Dickie, Christina Mitchell(Margaret Sullivan, Mary O'Neil, Isabelle Kelman, Annie Gallety, Christine Raleigh, Lizzie Mason, Lizzie Johnston, Jane Mason, Annie Giles, Agnes Turner, Mary A. Bowman, Margaret S. Michael Robina Allen, Mary Kennedy, Elizabeth Thomson, Mary Dackers, Margaret Smith, Charlotte Howie, Josephine Schools, Isabella Mason, Eliza Dickie, Ellen Mundie, Isabella Hector, Helen Kelly, Hannah Miller, Elizabeth Hector, Maggie Hall, Annie Hart, Bell Stuart, Jane McIntosh, Annie Reynolds, Caroline Weir, Jennie Ogg, Margaret M. Kenzie, Annie B. Smith, Bella Rose, Catherine McGregor, Emma Marnock, Eliza Smith, Agnes Kelly, Margaret Booth.

ANDERSON—FRYER.

Dr. John H. Anderson of Washington street was married on Monday to Mrs. Eva E. Fryer of Edison street, daughter of Mrs. Sarah E. Hall. The groom is a Quincy boy and a well-known physician. He was graduated from Tufts Medical school eight years ago and has since practised in this city. He is at present the first assistant surgeon in the eye department of the Boston Homoeopathic Hospital. He is well-known in Masonic and other fraternal circles.

The bride is the daughter of the late Charles Hall, a well-known Quincy Point grocer. She was formerly a teacher in the Quincy schools and is well-known socially. She has an only daughter, Constance, who attends the Washington school at the Point.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson will reside on Washington street in what is known as the Nash place which Dr. Anderson rented a few months ago.

Miss Louise Prout, of 83 Goddard street entertained a few frends, Sunday evening. Singing was the principal amusement of the evening. Piano selections were rendered by Miss Louise Prout and Miss Elsie Burrell. Refreshments were served in the latter part of the evening

READ LEDGER ADVS.

CANNED TOMATOES

A BIG CAN of big, ripe, whole Tomatoes packed in the cleanest and most sanitary factory in the world is what you get when you buy the

Richardson & Robbins Brand

They are DIFFERENT from ordinary varieties --- rich, luscious, juicy, carefully handled, clean, and pure.

And this big can is packed "chock-a-block" full of the sun-ripened tomatoes.

Foy's up-to-date grocery has received a big lot of them --- new goods --- not holdovers. A can 17c

R. E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

CLAIM ERROR OF $44,728.24

Seagirt Figures of City Solicitor Disputed

SIGNED COMMUNICATION

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 12, 1912.
Editor of Ledger:—

As a matter of public interest there is an error amounting to $44,728.24 in the City's figures submitted by the City Solicitor to the Legislative committee March 7th protesting against separation.

Seagirt petitioners claim this and present the company statement in proof, a copy of which has been filed with the Committee on Towns.

Will you in courtesy and fairness to Quincy people give this statement equal prominence to that of the report made of the hearing when in bold type you printed, "City Solicitor Presents Some Astounding Facts" (Seagirt) "Has Received Nearly $100,000 more than Section has Contributed in Last Four Years."

Boston, March 11, 1912.

Honorable Joint Committee on Towns of the Legislature of 1912.

Gentlemen:

In the brief submitted by the City of Quincy on the paper headed "EXPENDITURES BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS IN THE HOUGH'S NECK DISTRICT DURING THE YEARS 1908-1909-1910-1911." we find some glaring inaccuracies in the figures, to which we desire to call the attention of the Committee.

In three items alone we find a difference of $11,128.06 for one year, and this multiplied by four years would mean a difference of $44,728.24.

In these items are the following:—

Metropolitan Water Assessment
Bond Payments on Water Account
Interest on Water Account.

By referring to the Report for the year 1910 (the last published, Quincy City Document No. 21) on page 380, it will be seen that the total expenditure by the City was $50,951.31.

The amount charged to Seagirt in the brief before your Committee is in each case about one-seventh of the total, when it should be nearer one-twentieth.

TABLE.

Amount expended per Report p. 380—Metropolitan Assessment, $50,950.-31; Seagirt's share 5.16 per cent, —$2,629.04; Charged to Seagirt by Quincy—$7,278.68; Overcharge— $4,-649,.64.

Amount expended per Report p. 380—Bond Payment Water Account, $45,500.00; Seagirt's share 5.16 per cent—$2,629.04; Charged to Seagirt by Quincy—$7,278.68; Overcharge—$4,-649.64.

Amount expended per Report p. 380—Bond Payment Water Account, $45,-500.00; Seagirt's share 5.16 per cent—$2,347.80; Charged to Seagirt by Quincy—$6,500.00; Overcharge—$4,152.20.

Amount expended per Report p. 380—Interest on Water Debt, $25,800.-00; Seagirt's share 5.16 per cent—$1,331.28 Charged; to Seagirt by Quincy—$3,711.50; Overcharge $2,380.-22.

Overcharge for one year $11,182.06.

Overcharge for four years $44,728.24.

In the $176,341.82 expenditure charged against Seagirt in the four years we find included items for PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS, such as Water Construction, School House Construction, Sewer Construction, etc. These are amounts to be met by payments spread over a series of years and of course could not be met from the "receipts" of any one year. Only the Serial Debt Requirement and Interest Requirement is a proper charge against Receipts.

If these figures are a sample of the balance of their figures, we unhesitatingly say that no confidence should be placed in the figures as submitted by them.

We have had no time to carefully scrutinize these figures, but have selected the large items because they appeared to be of extraordinary character at first glance.

An error amounting in the total to $44,728.24 against Seagirt in a matter of expenditures of $176,341.82 for four years seems incredible.

(Continued on Page Six.)

EDUCATION FOR BUSINESS

Address at Meeting Wollaston Parents' Association

JAMES E. DOWNEY

An audience of about 300 gathered in the assembly hall of the new Wollaston school, Monday evening at the monthly meeting of the Wollaston Parents'-Teachers' Association.

This increase in attendance showed the increased interest and new life brought forth by the removal to more ample quarters with improved facilities.

James E. Downey, master of the Boston High School of Commerce was the speaker of the evening, taking for his subject, "Education for business." He was introduced by J. A. Favreau, a member of the association.

A report from the Cchild Nurture committee was received and the announcement made of an interesting meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. H. H. Albee of Highland avenue on the afternoon of March 25.

Mrs. Robert E. Park, told of the Mothers' Pension bill in which movement she has been a leader. The bill is being considered today by the Ways and Means Committee at the State. House.

Mrs. W. E. Rowe, a delegate of the Association to the meeting of the National Congress of Mothers at Lynn, told of the meeting and of the many good suggestions received.

In response to a letter from Albert L. Barbour, superintendent of schools, an art committee was appointed to have charge of school decorations.

This will consist of David H. Goodspeed, master of the school, Miss Lillian Newman, supervisor of drawing, Frank P. Waterhouse, Mrs. H. L. Seavey, Charles P. Hutchins, C. E. Goodspeed and Mrs. Moses Brown, the last five named serve for one, two three, four and five years respectively, a new member being elected annually to the committee, upon motion of David H. Goodspeed, Henry Turner Bailey was made an honorary member of this committee.

James E. Downey, prefaced his remarks by complimenting the Association on the new building and the spirit of co-operation evidenced.

In the same way in which public sentiment is moulded by an association of this kind was the Boston High School of Commerce, brought about by Boston business men.

Starting 5 years ago with 141 scholars it has at present an enrollment of 967 with 750 in the first year class and was obliged to turn away 250 applicants. The school has been called the best high school of commerce in the world and is favorably known all over the United States, for its methods and results.

Where the average commercial course in the high school and the business college aim for secretarial positions, the Boston High School of Commerce has a broader scope and prepares its pupils for the distribution of goods and competitive business.

The school still retained old fashioned ideas by having a required course of study, but this in the opinion of the speaker was a benefit to the boy who is to enter the business world where conditions are not always to his liking.

The school is broadly utilitarian and its contribution to the educational world lies in the practical experience it gives the boy.

It aims not at the preparation for life, but life itself and with this in view the school introduces as much practical work as possible.

The boys are urged to work during the summer and are considered more or less in disgrace if they do not,. Last summer 65 per cent of the school were employed.

At Christmas time and at other rush seasons of the year, the boys are employed in the department stores and learn something of salesmanship, besides getting practical experience and ideas as to the value of money.

Mention was made of the savings bank established at the school all of the work being done by the boys. Savings bank insurance is also being started in response to the demand.

The school paper, the Tradesman was referred to among the prime movers in its establishment being Herbert Lavery, a Wollaston boy.

Besides taking employment at various times and hearing talks by various business men the boys are taken in groups to study particular industries.

In all these ways the boy gets more or less of an idea what line he wants to go into. The school portrays the world as best it can and leaves the boy to choose for himself. Questions followed.

During the evening piano solos by Mrs. Mary Chandler West and vocal solos by Miss Winifred White were enjoyed , both artists receiving many encores.

Refreshments were served under the direction of a committee composed of Mrs. F. A. Page, Mrs. Herbert Y. Follett, Mrs. E. R. Johnson, Miss Grace Parker, Mrs. O. A. Blaisdell, Mrs. Charles Alden, Mrs. Amos T. Leavitt, Mrs. Walter E. Simmons and Mrs. Christopher.

☞For the children's supper PRATT'S BREAD and milk. Better than cake.

REDUCTION IN PRICE
OF
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,
By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912. Feb. 24—to May 1

NARROW ESCAPE OF TEAMSTER

Falls From Team and is Dragged by the Heels

BELONGED IN BRAINTREE

Herbert Thompson who claims his residence as Liberty street, Braintree had a narrow escape from a bad accident on Hancock street, Atlantic, Monday afternoon. Probably the only thing that saved him from being killed was the fact that he was helplessly drunk.

Thompson was driving a grain team toward Quincy when in some way he lost his balance and fell forward onto the ground. He just cleared the wheels, of the heavily loaded wagon, but his foot became tangled in the chain of the whiffletree and he was being slowly dragged along the street by the foot. Fortunately the horses were moving slowly and even then it is remarkable that he was not killed.

He had been dragged some distance when his predicament was seen by passengers on a electric car. The car was stopped and the man taken from his perilous position. The police were notified and he was taken to the police station. Here he was examined by Dr. Garey but was found to be uninjured save for a few scratches. The Doctor found him very much the worse for liquor and said that doubtless the only thing that saved his life was the fact that he was stupid drunk. In court this morning he was fined $15.

HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

A statement has been issued by Head Master Howlett of High school about the percentages of the different classes in connection with the absentees for the month of February. The attendance for the month was much poorer than that of the preceding month.

Parents should make a practice of sending their children to school every day unless it is necessary for them to stay home, on account of sickness.

There may be days when the weather makes it impossible for the pupils to attend but outside of this the school ought to have a perfect attendance.

Following is the statement by classes for February:

1911—87.2 per cent.
1912—93.1 per cent.
1913—95.1 per cent.
1914—94.3 per cent.
1915—92 per cent.
Average 94.2 per cent.

The standing for the past six months was as follows:

Sept. 98.4 per cent.
Oct. 96.8 per cent.
Nov. 92.3 per cent.
Dec. 95.9 per cent.
Jan. 93.0 per cent.
Feb. 94.2 per cent.

The head of the school department is hoping for at least 98 per cent for the month of March.

FIREMEN GIVEN USELESS RUN

The central station apparatus were given a useless run Monday afternoon by an alarm from box 12, which sounded at 4.11. The box is located on Palmer street near Bakers, one of the most thickly settled parts of Germantown. The Auto chemical Hose 1 and Ladder 1, responded from the central station and made a quick run to the box. There was no one at the box to direct the firemen to the supposed blaze and a diligent hunt on the part of the firemen failed to bring to light any blaze, although they went to the extreme end of Germantown in their search.

—To be or not to be. That's what the cats want to know about the proposition to license them. Upon the one hand it is well argued that Tabb's tribe should be so limited as that the birds shall not be killed as the birds are the farmers' best friends in keeping down the insect pests. Upon the other hand it is possible that the large number of cats keep down the rats and mice. And there you are, Who knows?—Framingham News.

(ADVERTISE.)

LEGISLATORS VISIT QUINCY

Committee on Harbors & Lands Inspect Town River

LUNCHED AT FORE RIVER

The Joint Committee on Harbors and Public Lands of the Legislature are in Quincy today, looking over the basin opposite the Wollaston yacht club house and the Town river, bills for which are now pending before that cimmittee. The bill for deepening the basin at the Wollaston yacht club asks for an apropriation of $6,000 and the bill for dredging the Town river calls for an appropriation of $25,000.

The joint committee accompan ied by Representative Piper and Leslie arrived from Boston in automobiles going first to the Wollaston yacht club house where they met Mayor Stone, City Engineer Sargent, Commissioner of Public Works Tupper, Dock and Water Front Commissioner Crane, John O. Hall, secretary of the Board of Trade, a representative of the Ledger, ex-Representative William R. Thomas.

The party arrived from Boston in automobiles at Wollaston at 11.30 where they were received and entertained informally by Vice Commodore Charles Austin and ex-Vice Commodore Frank Taylor.

In the legislative party were Hon. Arthur L. Nason of aHverhill, chairman of the senate committee, Hon. Frederick Hersey of Boston, Hon. George Grainger of Boston, John H. Cogswell of Lynn, chairman of the House committee, and Representatives Alfred Tweksbury of Winthrop, Henry Parsons of Gloucester, Arthur Burns of Webster, John Stevens of Marblehead and Timothy Kiernan of Chelsea.

The party spent some time in viewing the harbor opposite the club houses of the Wollaston and Squantum yacht clubs.

Leaving Wollaston beach in the vicinity of 12.30 they came to Quincy Point and made an inspection of Town river, for which an appropriation of $25,000 is asked for deepening the channel.

From here the automobiles took the party to the Fore River Shipbuilding plant, one of the largest shipbuilding plants in the country. An opportunity was afforded the legislators to make an inspection of the plant and of the Argentine battleship Rividavia, now nearing completion, after which the Fore River Co., served lunch to the party. Shortly after 2 o'clock the party took their automobiles for Boston.

While the legislators were non-committal it was quite evident that they were favorably impressed with what they saw and of the merits of the two bills.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Congress can add materially to its lustre by doing something.

The London Suffragettes are smashing plate glass windows, but we do not hear of their smashing any mirrors.

The Pope bars hobble skirts and we believe he also abridges the privileges of the sex by requiring women to appear fully dressed.

The more things a man has done, the less available he becomes as a candidate, from the politician's viewpoint.

The good old days have passed when you could leave a good "issue" lying around loose. Better lock it up, or some of these Indian politiciains will run off with it.

From the number of rocks in the possession of Theodore and Will, there is an impression that innocent bystanders should soon take refuge behind the barn.

All the congressmen favor reducing the number of navy yards and army posts, but as any one of them is in some one's state, none of them can be eliminated.

President Madero of Mexico says the present revolution is of no importance. No doubt it is just as necessary as to let out the school children for a recess and fresh air.

It now appears that Roosevelt volunteered to lead a regiment to invade Mexico. It would seem as if his job as fighting editor of the Outlook should have satisfied his combative disposition.

It is reported that collectors of antiques are quite anxious to secure copies of the United States constitution, as it is a long time since any one has been seen with a copy of that venerable document.

Now they are proposing to tax people having incomes of $5000 or more, though in view of the sufferings of this down trodden class, it might seem more appropriate to take up a collection in their behalf.

The editor of the Congressional Record permitted the last number to go to press without including the speeches delivered before the Billville farmers' institute on the question "Does farming pay?" Congress is evidently getting away from the plain people.

Now that Speaker Clark is practically assured of the Missouri delegation to the Balitmore Convention, there isn't much left to worry him. Certainly the duties of the speakership divested of its former power and authority, are not sufficient to worry anybody.

DO-NOTHINGISM OF CONGRESS.

One of the most marked impressions made on the visitor to the galleries of Congress is the tendency to block legislation by a policy of idling. This does not seem to be so much laziness as an attempt to defeat somethng else b. indirection.

For instance, on a recent date, the Senate spent a large part of two days having the clerk read verbatim from the reports of the majority and minority on the case of the election of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin. The galleries were greatly edified thereby, but a large part of the time there would be scarcely half a dozen Senators who gave anv any appearance of listening.

The reports were in printed form so that any Senator could familiarize himself with their contents in a short time. Not merely were the conclusions of the committee thus read, but extended portions of the testimony given to the committee.

On Washington's birthday, the Senate gathered in solemn conclave to read the resounding periods and conservative philosophy of Washington's farewell address. To the galleries this appeared to be such an exhausting process, that the Senate had to adjourn from Thursday to Monday to permit the Solons to recuperate.

The excuse given was that no work was yet ready for the Senators to take up. Yet here the session was nearly half gone and if the committees had not got some tough legislative nuts ready for the Senate to spend its skill in cracking, they very much needed prodding

The Senate in decorum, dignity, ability, statecraft as seen in debate, is naturally superior to the House. The House has its own sins to answer for, but the Senate is the graveyard of legislation. This is no new condition, but a tradition handed down irrespective of party.

During the period referred to a gentleman in the Senate gallery was rebuked by a door-keeper because on the day previous he had consulted a pocket memorandum book to answer a lady's question. The sergeant at arms on the floor had spotted him with his eagle eye, and notified the door-keeper to look for him the next time he should enter, and inform him that he had violated the rules of the Senate.

It is a pity that this strictness of rule imposed on the people who come in to witness these deliberations, cannot be enforced upon some of the senators.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHY AN ADVISORY BOARD.

Editor of Ledger:

A very pertinent question at this time seems to be, just what is to be accomplished by the much talked of advisory board. If the city of Quincy is employing competent men on the board of assessors and they in turn are performing their duties in a commendable way there seems to be little warrant for an extra expenditure of eleven hundred dollars of the city's good money which might be spent to better advantage in some other department.

If our present board of assessors commanding the salary they are paid by the citizens of Quincy are not fitted to do the work involved it does not seem possible or probable that such men as the bill calls for would be obtainable for the sum of two hundred dollars a year.

It is to be hoped that our present city council is composed of men who will have the courage of their convictions and will "dare to do all that becomes a man."

A Citizen.

MUTILATING TREES.

Editor of Ledger:—

Shade trees in these days of bugs and beetles have hard work to survive without being used for posters. I think a noble old elm serves its purpose as a shade tree and is ornamental but is decidedly the reverse when all kinds of posters are tacked on its trunk.

One of the old elm trees on the Library grounds on Washington street for several days has borne on its trunk a placard of a dance. The card is securely tacked and placed high so as not to be torn down. I hope it is too high to read, for anyone that would use a tree that way, should not benefit.

A wooden sign has been on another Library tree all winter announcing the closing of the Point bridge. Now I maintain that such things are wrong and should not be allowed and further I believe there is a law against such use of trees.

A Remonstrant.

METROPOLITAN PLANNING.

There is and must be much suspicion attaching to every proposition emanating from Boston looking to any kind of a Union for any kind of a purpose of Boston and the suburban cities and towns. We all remember very well that these projects started with a plan for physical union. The opposition developed against that scheme speedily gave it a quietus. Since then there has been a yearly modification of the scheme, each year with a new and different sugar coating and each put up in a seemingly more plausible form than its predecessor. It may readily be admitted that there are points of contact among all the municipalities in what is known as the Metropolitan District. There are certain interests common to them all and lines in which a harmony and co-operation in work would produce better results at a less price, but it is a poor method to bring about desirable results to give Boston a preponderating influence in every question affecting the proposed scheme. By the present bill a commission of five has complete control over everything connected with the working out of the method. Of this five the Governor appoints three and the Mayor of the City of Boston two. The thirty-nine cities and towns in the suburbs have no voice in anything, under the bill, and if the Governor should appoint a single Bostonian that city would have complete control. Indeed the Governor may appoint his three wholly from the city of Boston. It is not to be wondered at that the suburban cities and towns do not manifest an overwhelming desire to rush into this spider and fly arrangement. A modification of the bill in two essential particulars would win it many friends who now are resolutely opposed to it. For all practical purposes of the act the cities and towns in the district lose their autonomy; then let each be represented by one delegate in the General Council—none more and none less. Furthermore as an evidence of perfect sincerity in statement and to head off such schemes as that advanced in the Kiley bill let it appear as a part of the act that no city or town in the district shall be annexed to any other city or town unless by an affirmative vote of a majority of the total number of voters—not of those voting but of the total number of registered voters. With such provisions as those it may be possible to pass a Metropolitan Planning bill.—Waltham Free Press.

UNION MEETING.

The Adams and Cranch schools teachers' and parents' associations are to have a union meeting Wednesday evening in the Coddington school hall. George I. Aldrich of Brookline formerly superintendent of schools in Quincy will speak on, "School Problems of the Day." There will be duets by Mrs. James H. Slade and John Greene; Mrs. Joseph Evans at the piano. Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann is in charge of the music. An informal reception and music will close the evening, giving all an opportunity to meet Mr. Aldrich and also old classmates and friends.

NIKISCH IN BOSTON.

The advance mail order sale for the Nikisch concert to be given in Boston shows the interest in this great musical event which is to favor America in a few of the large cities next April. The London Symphony orchestra, with which Mr. Nikisch is to appear, is the largest and said to be the finest in Europe. All music lovers who know Mr. Nikisch from the former days when he was so much admired as conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra are glad of this opportunity to hear him again. To those who have not heard him, a rare treat is in store. The program for the Boston concert at Symphony hall, Tuesday night, April 9th, is as follows:

Overture, "Leonora No. 3," Beethoven
Symphony in C minor, No. 1, Brahms
Symphonic Poem, "Francesca da Rimini," Tschaikowsky
Overture, "Tannhauser," Wagner

Fatal French Blank Cartridge.

A strange and sad accident occurred in the course of drill maneuvers at Montreuil-sous-Bois, in the suburbs of Paris, where a soldier was killed by a blank cartridge discharged at him by a fellow soldier. A company of the Thirty-first regiment was taken out to Montreuil for maneuvers. At three o'clock in the afternoon the lieutenant in command decided to order a sham attack on a fort, which his soldiers were to storm. Some of the soldiers were posted as sentries, and the others were told that in storming the imaginary fort they were to try specially to take the sentries prisoners, but a formal order was given to the soldiers that they were not to load their rifles. In spite of this a shot was suddenly heard, and a soldier fell with a groan. He was a young recruit called Laurent, and near him stood another soldier who had acted as sentry and was completely dumfounded by what had happened. Either he did not know that there was a cartridge in the weapon or he fired thinking that it was only a part of the sham fighting. Laurent was taken to the hospital at Begin, and soon afterward expired. He had been killed by the packing of the blank cartridge, which, being fired within only a yard or two of him, acted like a bullet. The unfortunate soldier was the eldest son of a widow, who has three smaller children to bring up.—Paris Correspondence London Telegraph.

Maybe He Thinks So.

"Why are you trying so desperately to flirt with that man? Don't you know he is married?"

"He's a widower."

"He's nothing of the kind."

"Why, he told me his wife is an angel!"

"He lied. I know her intimately."

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

SETBACK GIVEN TO PEACE TALK

Strike Leaders Blame Mill Men For Injunction Move

REVIEW OF GREAT CONTEST

Twenty-Five Thousand Persons Out of Work Three Days After Handful of Italian Operatives Walk Out of Mill—Financial Loss Due to Protracted Conflict Estimated at $2,600,000 Up to Present Time

Lawrence, Mass., March 12.—The settlement of the big textile strike in this city, which has been wavering in the balance for three days, may be changed into indefinite, bitter warfare as the result of the effort to secure injunction proceedings against the representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World to restrain them from using funds sent them to support the strike.

The strike leaders declare that rival interests of the American Woolen company, in their belief, are behind the threatened injunction proceedings. They state that they consider it an attempt to prevent a settlement of the difficulties.

Yesterday marked the opening of the ninth working week snice the inception of the strike. During the forenoon of Friday, Jan. 2, the first pay day under the new state law by which women and minors are allowed to work but fifty-four hours, a handful of Italian operatives in the Washington mill of the American Woolen company walked out.

The strike quickly spread to other mills and other classes of operatives and three days later it was estimated that 25,000 men, women and children were out of work. Of this number 18,000 were actual strikers and the remainder were forced out by lack of work.

From the first the strike has been marked by rioting and sensational incidents. Two persons have been killed, large quantities of dynamite were found hidden in different sections of the city, while the sound of shooting and the sight of soldiers dispersing crowds long since ceased to be a novelty.

While the strike came during the coldest weather that this section of the country has known in many years, the mercury for days keeping below the zero mark, there has been comparatively little suffering. Soup kitchens and relief stations have been opened under the auspices of union bodies and charitably disposed persons, where men, women and children have been fed, and it is estimated that no less than $100,000 has been distributed in strike benefits.

The most riotous scenes of the strike were enacted on Jan. 29. On that morning street cars were mobbed, workers stoned and for more than an hour the city was practically in the hands of the strikers and a state of anarchy existed. The police and soldiers finally subdued the rioters, but that evening trouble broke out afresh and Annie Lopizzo, a striker, was shot and killed.

The authorities laid the shooting at the door of Strike Leader Joseph J. Ettor and his lieutenant, Arturo M. Giovannitti, alleging that their inflammatory speeches were responsible for the outbreak and consequently the woman's death. Both were arrested, charged with being accessories to murder, and are now held without bail for the grand jury. A few days later John Raney, a Syrian, was stabbed to death with a bayonet. On successive Mondays there were other outbreaks, but none of so serious a nature as on Jan. 29.

After the strike had been in progress some time the leaders commenced sending parties of children to other cities to be cared for until conditions should become settled. When the strike leaders sought to ship more children to Philadelphia on the morning of Feb 24 the police interfered, taking fourteen little ones into custody as neglected children and holding several parents. The action of the authorities opened a new feature of the situation, which has resulted in a hearing before the congressional committee on rules at Washington and other investigations.

The financial losses directly or indirectly due to the protracted labor conflicts will aggregate at least $2,600,000, according to conservative estimates. One-half of this amount falls upon the strikers and other operatives in loss of wages. The manufacturers whose plants have been crippled are next in order, and their loss is placed at $750,000, while freight carriers have lost no less than $100,000 worth of business. Merchants and storekeepers' losses swell this amount.

Feared Losing Husband's Love

Cleveland, March 12.—Fearing that she was losing her husband's love because of her long illness, Mrs. Katherine Buckholzer, 25, shot and killed Andrew Buckholzer, 28, with a rifle and then killed herself by cutting her throat with a butcher knife.

FRAZIER DISAPPEARS

Experts Working on Books of Treasurer of Seamen's Union

Boston, March 12.—William H. Frazier, secretary and treasurer of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's union and national secretary of the International Seamen's Union of America, has disappeared from his home in this city, and expert accountants commenced work on his books at the seamen's headquarters yesterday afternoon.

The sudden departure of Frazier aroused the suspicion of the local officers of the Seamen's union. They went over the treasurer's books, and decided to send for the other national officers. President Furuseth and Vice President Flynn, both of San Francisco, who were in Washington, arrived in Boston yesterday. Second Vice President Olander of Chicago also came, and the three officials decided to call in expert accountants.

DEMOCRATS ARE WINNERS

Elect Four Mayors In Five City Elections In Maine

Portland, Me., March 12.—In five city elections in Maine the present mayor received another term in each instance. Governor Plaisted's appeal to Augusta Democrats that the re-election of Mayor Noyes was vital to Democratic success in September was successful. Noyes received a majority of 69 over Frank G. Farrington, his Republican opponent.

The other mayors elected are: Charles W. Mullen, Dem., Bangor; Edgar F. Hanson, Dem., Belfast; Albert C. Marcille, Dem., Biddeford, and Victor H. Mutty, Rep., Brewer.

SPENCER'S PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL REFUSED

Exceptions to Be Passed Upon by Supreme Judical Court

Springfield, Mass., March 12.—Judge Crosby of the superior court has overruled the petition asking for a new trial for Bertram G. Spencer, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Miss Margaret B. Blackstone, a school teacher, on the evening of March 31, 1910.

Spencer was found guilty at a special sitting of the superior court last October. On Feb. 1 his counsel filed a list of exceptions. These exceptions were allowed by Judge Crosby and will be passed upon by the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts.

WOMEN JURORS AND JUDGE

They Give Colorado Bootleggers Some Cause to Become Worried

Glenwood Springs, Col., March 12.—Several men charged with bootlegging in Eagle county have additional anxiety as to the outcome of their case because they will be tried before a woman judge and their fates, from all indications, rest with a jury composed partly of women.

Mrs. L. M. Tague, the only woman judge in Colorado, will preside in the county court of Eagle county, where the bootlegging cases will be tried. Nearly half of the venire summoned for the present term of court are women.

AKIN APOLOGIZES

Remarks Aimed at Taft and Others Withdrawn In the House

Washington, March 12.—Representative Akin of New York, independent, apologized to the house for the language employed by him in a speech appearing in the Congressional Record of March 7, in which he assailed President Taft, Senator Root and former Representative Littauer.

He also requested permission to withdraw the objectionable matter, which was granted. Akin's action made needless the naming of an investigating committee, and the resolution adopted by the house was vacated.

INDICTED IN SMITH CASE

Mrs. Vermilya Now Charged With Murder of Railroad Man

Chicago, March 12.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya was indicted for the murder of Richard T. Smith, a collector employed by the Illinois Central railroad, March 11, 1911.

Preparations were made to try the woman for the murder of Arthur Bissonette, but when the case was called the state attorney dismissed it and preferred the Smith charge.

The woman has been in jail several months and a number of other deaths of those near to her have been investigated.

Highwaymen Get $1200

Yonkers, N. Y., March 12.—Two highwaymen got away with nearly $1200 by holding up and robbing James J. Rossi, a prosperous marketman, as he was on his way home.

Brazilian Cabinet Minister Slain

Rio Janeiro, March 12.—Political disturbances at Maccio resulted in the assasination of Secretary of the Interior Cerrea, who was shot down by an anti-militarist.

What Use YOU Can Find for THIS Bank

Every depositor, large or small, is entitled to service worth real money.

The bank is a reliable source of information on business credits. It keeps accurate accounts for you, renders you a monthly itemized statement and facilitates your business affairs.—Give us an opportunity to explain these, and many other advantages, our depositors enjoy.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Crex Rugs for Less

This live, progressive store carries a full and complete line of genuine Crex Rugs. The kind you see advertised in magazines and on bill boards. Just to introduce you to our big, busy Rug Department we will cut standard prices as follows:

PRICES GOOD ONLY ON MARCH 13

Genuine Crex Rugs 6 x 9 $3.98
Genuine Crex Rugs 8 x 10 4.98
Genuine Crex Rugs 9 x 12 6.98

What We Lose In Dollars
We Hope To Gain In Friends

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

Have your measure taken at home for a custom-made suit

It's easy — just drop us a card or call us up and our representative will call any time of the day or evening.

Call in your Mother, Wife, or Pa and let them help you to select what will become you from our big line of the newest and prettiest weaves, colorings and patterns.

You'll find everything that's new — all that's worth while, from blue serges to Scotch mixtures. They are all strictly 1912, and were selected to meet the demands of the most critical dressers.

Our made-to-measure clothes are more than up-to-date. They are fashioned from all wool fabrics that have been perfectly shrunk. The linings are the best that we can find in New York or Chicago — tested for strength and color.

We try to deserve your patronage by giving you a little more than most tailors. We try mighty hard to do this, and we keep on looking after your wants so as to merit your future orders.

Our honor is woven into every suit that leaves the premises.

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY
DEPT. OF TAILORING
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Don't forget the coffee we are still selling at 25 cents a pound.

Cuban Grape Fruit, Delicious Breakfast Dish,
Curtice Bros.'s Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Have you tried that delicious canned Asparagus? Best ever. 15c per can.

New Cliquot Club Ginger Ale just arrived.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

BACHELORS MAY BE TAXED $5

Quite a Few in Quincy Interested in Proposed Bill

HEARING MONDAY

Quincy bachelors will be interested in the bill now before the legislature which provides a tax of $5 per year upon unmarried men, who have passed the age of 35 years, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of "improvident spinsters." A hearing on the bill was held Monday before the Committee on Taxation and provided an hour's entertainment.

Mrs. Charlotte Smith, the author of the bill said the bill would impel the men to abandon the unmarried state and to furnish homes for some of the 12,000 girls who are turned out upon the streets of Boston each year. She said there are too many men who don't care to settle down and make a home, and this bill would lessen the number. She also suggested that it would reduce the number of "bachelor married men" who go around making love to young girls.

Miss Farrar said she finds great difficulty in finding position for the older girls, because the demand of the business world is for young girls. She believed the number of women who have to earn their own living would be greatly reduced by such a bill.

Mrs. Susan E. Stevens said she is in the real estate business, and she favored the bill because anything which would tend to increase home-making would improve her business.

Representative Alfred Tewksbury of Winthrop spoke in the interest of the old men, who drift through life unmarried and finally reach the age when they cannot support themselves and became town charges. With a bachelor tax law, he said, most of these men would marry in their younger days and have families to take care of them in their old age.

There are quite a few young men in Quincy who would be financially interested in the bill should it pass and while they have outwardly taken no steps to get the bill killed it is reported that secretly they are moving in that direction.

INSPECT FORE RIVER BRIDGE

The new Fore River bridge, with its 125 foot draw was officially inspected Monday afternoon by the bridge trustees and the Norfolk County Commissioners. The party made a thorough inspection of the bridge and witnessed the working of the new draw, which is now operated by electricity. The bridge has not been officially turned over to the trustees as yet however owing to some little work that remains to be done.

The trustees have provided the draw tender with a boat which will often come in handy, especially so, should anyone happen to fall overboard. The draw in this bridge is said to be the largest opening with one exception of any bridge in the country.

TODAY'S COURT.

Herbert Thompson, Patrick Gorman Andrew Murphy were fined $15 each and Thomas H. Miller $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Did He?

Alice—Who was the young gentleman that was throwing old shoes after the married couple with such enthusiasm?

Ethel—Oh, that was Mr. Sniggins the rejected suitor. He was trying to slug the bridegroom in the neck.

Her Artistic Eye.

"I sometimes think," said Mrs. Lapsling, who was looking at a collection of family portraits, "that the pictures they take nowadays aren't half as good as the old vagariotypes they used to take sixty years ago."

Their Limit.

"There is one queer thing about fish stories."

"What is that?"

"Fishermen, in telling of their catches, never seem able to draw the line."

From Bucket to Brush.

She (in art museum)—They say that famous marine artist was once a plain farmer's boy. I wondered where he developed his talent?

He—Probably drawing water on the farm.

INSPECTORS TRANSFERRED

Charles M. Perkins, who has been postoffice inspector for the Metropolitan Boston district for seven years has been transferred from the Boston district to Spokane, Washington. Charles E. Jennings of Quincy who has been the service inspector in the Worcester and Middlesex fields since 1903 will succeed Inspector Perkins in the Metropolitan district and Col. W. L. Moore of Cincinnati will take Inspector Jennings place in Worcester.

It is announced that the change was made at the request of Inspector Perkins who is a native of Boise, Idaho, and has been in the postal service for 22 years. He was brought up in the west and is a crack revolver shot. Whenever a dead-shot inspector has been wanted anywhere on a job a requisition has been made for Perkins.

He has a great record for trailing criminals who have tampered with Uncle Sam's mail.

MEETING AND SOCIAL HOUR

The regular monthly buisness meeting of Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church, was held at the parsonage Monday evening, followed by a St. Patrick's social. The meeting was called to order by the president, J. M. Francis, and the usual reports were given by the officers. Recomendations presented by the first vice-president were approved by the League and she was given power to carry them out.

At the close of the business session the meeting was in charge of the fourth vice-president. The program of the St. Patrick's social consisted of duets by Camille Fuller and J. Lawrence Martin and reading by Miss Hilda Francis after which those present enjoyed some fun blowing soap bubbles.

A contest for dressing clay pipes as dolls was held, Miss Olive Grant receiving first prize for the best dressed doll and Miss Hilda Francis the second prize.

Next each was given a booklet and pictures and the name of some person present and asked to write the biography of said person, using the pictures to illustrate the story. Arthur Williams received first prize for writing the biography of Edna Miller and Miss Hilda Francis, the second prize for writing the biography of Julin Fuller.

Sandwiches, cake, cookies and cocoa were served by the hostess and an enjoyable time enjoyed by all.

SOUVENIR FOR EX-MAYOR

Dock and Water Front Commissioner, Frank Fessenden Crane received by mail this morning a handsomely bound volume of the proceedings of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention held at Richmond, Va. last November. Commissioner Crane attended this convention as a representative of ex-Mayor Shea and in behalf of the Mayor presented the Governor of Virginia with a sample of the granite from which Bunker Hill monument was cut.

This souvenir was presented at the convention and its occurrence is made a part of the printed report of that convention, a bound volume of which was sent to Commissioner Crane to be presented to ex-Mayor Shea by Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania.

Sidelight on Lloyd-George.

On the day Lloyd-George became chancellor of the exchequer he left the house with a friend of his boyhood (and his love of old friends is not the least attractive phase of his character). As they talked of his advancement he said: "In all my career I do not remember a hand being held out to me from above and and a voice saying: "Dring i fynoy yma' (climb thou up here). But don't misunderstand me," he went on, "there have been thousands of hands which have pushed me up from behind." He does not forget these hands. He does not forget from whence comes his authority and his commission. There have been times when one has feared—times when his light anchorage seemed in danger of yielding to the impact of opportunism. But that memory of his own people, that loyalty to the inspiration of the mountains and the simple traditions of his fathers has saved him and will save him.—London Daily News.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON.

Money Trust.

It is getting to be considered a dull week in Washington when the Democrats do not start some line of investigation.

However, it has been clearly shown that their sole object in starting these investigation of the Departments in Washington and elsewhere has been to make campaign literature to aid Democrats in the Presidential Campaign of this year.

A few of the progressive Democrats wanted an investigation of what is called the "Money Trust" to ascertain whether a few men practically control the finances of the country or whether this vast power is properly distributed throughout the country. The Democrats found themselves in a position where they were compelled to investigate this matter on account of public sentiment but it is very evident from the way they are going about it, that the investigation will be merely a farce and the results will be of no importance whatever. This simply shows that they are going to rely on the "Money power" of the country to buy the election for the Democratic Candidate so of course they have no desire to offend the big "Money Trust" of the country.

Further evidence could be multiplied showing how thoroughly malefactors of wealth as Roosevelt calls them, have got the Democrats by the throat.

Parcels Post.

The country is clamoring for the establishment of a Parcels Post, for reducing the cost of transportation of small articles, but the big express companies seem to be able to do anything they wish with the Democratic house of Representatives and of course no ill can become a law without its consent.

Republican Tariff Bill.

It will be recalled that President Taft vetoed the bills reducing the tariff on manufactured woolen goods last summer on the ground that his Tariff Board has not made a report which would determine just how much the tariff could be reduced without injurying the woolen industry. The Tariff Board made its report in December and threw a great deal of light on this subject. Instead of the Democrats proceeding to prepare a tariff bill in accordance with this information they have been running away from that subject and proceeding with bills on chemical and iron industries, knowing that President Taft will veto those bills until the Tariff Board has made its report so that he will have light for his guidance.

However the Republicans are preparing a tariff bill reducing the tariff on manufactured woolen goods which is prepared with the information furnished by the Tariff Board and it will be interesting to see whether the Democrats will pass this bill or not.

The Match Bill.

John J. Esch of Wisconsin, Republican, has introduced a bill prohibiting the use of poisonous phosphorus in manafacture of amtches. The Republicans being in the minority and the Democrats being entirely subservient to corporate influence the Republicans are having a difficult job in forcing this meritorious and humane bill through Congress. But it is believed that it will pass soon and thus prohibit the use of poisonous phophorus in the manufacture of matches, which has caused death of thousands of innocent employees in various match factories that have been in the habit of using the poisonous phosphorus simply because it was a trifle cheaper than the harmless kind. The Diamond Match Co. usually regarded as the 'Match Trust' has not used poisonous phosphorus for many years. This must surely be one of the 'good trusts' as Teddy calls them.

NEW TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS.

The following subscribers have been added the past week to the service of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., at the Quincy exchange:

Granahan, Jos. E., (At.,) Quincy 1567-W.

Johnson, Edward, Quincy 1572-M.

Common Quarry Co., Quincy 1580.

French, W. A. (Wol.) Quincy 1558-W

Hill, Jennie M. (Wol.) Quincy 1576-W.

Cleary, P. E. (H. Neck) Quincy 658-J.

Masonic Mutual Insurance Co., Quincy, 1588-M.

O'Meara, D., (At.) Quincy 1578-W.

Whitman, Addie A. Mrs. (At.) Quincy 1583-M.

Gray, E. E. Co., (Wol.) Quincy 1586-M.

Hamilton, D. (At.) Quincy 1587-W.

Norris, Ella M. Quincy 1134-M.

Barry, Richard J. (At.) Quincy 1592-W.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

BRAINTREE TOWN MEETING.

The first Braintree town meeting for the year 1912 was held in Long's hall, last Monday evening with a record breaking attendance. The voters came by train, auto, special cars, etc. so that when the proceedings started, even standing room was at a premium as the aisles were partially filled and many citizens were unable to enter the hall. The meeting was called to order at 7.30 o'clock by Town Clerk, Henry A. Monk.

Under article 1, Benjamin H. Woodsum was sworn in as moderator.

Under article 2 the following officers were chosen:

Measurers of wood and weighers of hay: J. Marcus Arnold, Wilford F. Woodsum, Charles G. Sheppard.

Measurers of Lumber:—H. W. Borden, George H. Holbrook, Charles O. Miller.

Trustee of school fund to fill vacancy caused by death of W. W. Mayhew, Herbert F. Kneeland.

The Selectmen were authorized to appoint one measurer of leather, one poundkeeper and three field drivers.

Under article 3, the town treasurer was authorizd to gorrow a sum of money not to exceed $80,000, in anticipation of taxes and to issue notes of the town therefor.

Article 4 was taken up in connection with article 8 which relates to raising and appropriating money for the erection of a town house. Under these articles the following votes were passed: Voted that the Town erect and furnish a town house on the site of the one recently destroyed by fire near the public library, to contain all necessary town offices and rooms, including a town hall. That the sum of $50,000 plus the interest money and salvage collected on account of the destruction of the old town house, amounting to about $20,550 is hereby appropriated to be expended in the erection and furnishing of said building. That a committee of nine be appointed by the moderator with full authority, general and incidental to erect and furnish said building. That for the purpose of erecting a town house the town treasurer be and hereby is authorized to borrow with approval of the selectmen, a sum or sums of money not exceeding $50,000 and to issue bonds of the town therefor. These bonds shall be dated Jan. 1, 1912 and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding 4 p. c. per annum payable semi-annually and shall be due as follows: $3,000 annually June 1, 1913 to June 1, 1922 inclusive. $2,000 annually Jan. 1, 1923 to June 1, 1932 inclusive. They shall be signed by the treasurer and countersigned by a majority of the Selectmen and shall bear the authenticating certificate of the Old Colony Trust Co., Boston. Any premiums received from sale of bonds shall be applied to the payment of the principal of the bonds first maturing. The passage of these votes was greeted with loud cheers from the large meeting.

Article 22, which relates to purchasing of additional fire apparatus was a hard nut to crack and no decision was reached at adjournment. There were arguments pro and con during which the efficiency of various types of fire apparatus was discussed. Mr. Kneeland moved for an appropriation of $5500 for the purchase of a combination auto chemical. This motion was lost by a vote of 224 to 207. Mr. Abercrombie favored a committee to look the matter up and report at some future meeting. There was much oratory by various citizens, some of whom wandered far from the subject.

Adjournment was reached at 10 o'clock until the following evening at 7. 30 P. M.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

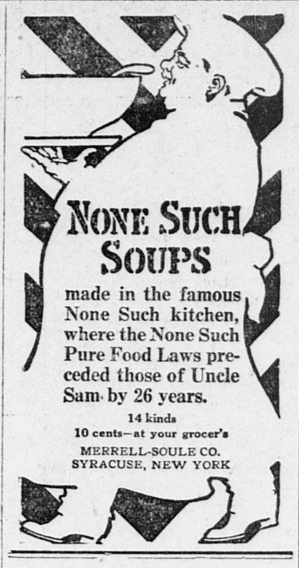
Competitive examinations of applicants for positions in the classified service will be held for the service in Quincy as follows:—April 10—clerks, messengers, class 3; April 10—firemen, class 21; April 10—foremen of laborers, inspectors of work, class 22; April 10—janitors and engineers of public buildings, class 24; April 10—engineers in the service of Quincy employed in positions where by law they are required to hold first and second class licenses, class 26; April 10—policemen, class 15.

Blank applications for the above examinations can be obtained by applying to George T. Magee, Secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners for said city, and, when filled out, should be filed with him at once.

Applicants for Quincy Civil Engineering service should file their applications with the Civil Service Commission, State House, Boston; they will be examined Jan. 1, 1913, in Boston.

Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year and of Quincy for the six months last past have a right to apply.

In order to receive a notice to appear at any examination, an applicant should have his application on file at least ten days before the date set for holding the examination.



Peculiarities of Taste.

The South Sea Islanders gazes with disgust upon an American eating rare roast beef, but he will eat a fish raw, especially if he is an Hawaiian, with great relish. He also finds a dozen or more relatives of the oyster on the reef at low tide and thinks them highly appetizing. There is the devil fish, for instance. The squid is regarded as being a delicacy.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included send it in.

March

12—Founder's Day—Woodward Institute.
12—Wollaston Unitarian Club.
12—Lecture—Quincy Women's Club.
13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Food Sale—Universalist Vestry.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.
31—German—Colonial Hall.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Banquet—Boy Scouts.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?
WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE

James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man

Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.

9-tf

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

He Spoke to Him.

Willie, accompanied by father and mother, was crossing the ocean. Father and mother were both very seasick, but Willie was immune. Throughout the trip he had been annoying the passengers. Finally his mother, turning to the father, said, in a very weak voice, gasping between each word: "Father—I wish—you'd—speak—to—Willie."

Father, turning a sea-green face toward that rampant youngster, spoke in a languid voice: "How-de-do, Willie?"—Ladies Home Journal.

A Wise Woman.

"Now, for $2," announced the star gazer, "I will furnish you with a philter which will make your husband love you to the exclusion of all others."

"I don't think I'll invest," decided the practical housewife. "But if you have a philter which will make him bring home some of his salary on pay days, I'll allow you a percentage on all sums realized."

Favorite Fiction.

"I Haven't Time."
"Fresh Buttermilk."
"North Temperate Zone."
"The Grand Calumet River."
"One Word More, and I Leave the Subject With You."
"Certainly, Madam; It Will Afford Me Pleasure to Contribute Something."
"Go ahead, Dear; I'm Listening."

NOTHING DOING.

Customer—Say, is my credit good for a shave.

Barber—Naw. If you can't raise a ime, keep on raisin' whiskers.

This Would Account for It.

Perhaps the planet Mars is ruddy
(For that's its color, so 'tis said),
Because instead of being yellow
The dandelions there are red.

WELL WORTH THE WHIPPING

Adventurous Small Boys Determined to See Cause of Commotion, and Had Their Reward.

Ed Howe, the great Kansas editor of Atchison Globe fame, tells the following story in the American Magazine:

"So little that is really exciting or worth while has happened in my life that I am greatly interested in Jim and Dan Ayers, who run a restaurant in the town where I live. Something really happened to them once upon a time, and when I go to their restaurant I enjoy hearing them tell about it.

"When they were boys, they lived on a farm in Virginia; I have heard them say their post office was Sudley Springs. One Sunday morning their father started them to Sunday school, and after they had loitered along the way a mile or two Jim Ayers remarked a commotion over beyond what they called the Big Woods.

"'What's that?' Jim asked, stopping.

"It was getting late by this time, and Dan replied:

"'I don't know, but we'd better hurry and get to Sunday school, or we'll get a whipping.'

"Then they hurried on, but the commotion over beyond the Big Woods broke out again, faintly, but it was very unusual, and Jim stopped and listened. He had never heard anything like it before, although he was a big boy twelve years old and, listening a while, he said:

"'I'm going over there.'

"'Better not,' Dan said. 'You know father whips hard.'

"But the strange commotion continued, so Jim said he was going, whipping or no whipping. Dan followed, but kept saying they would catch it when they returned home.

"They walked and walked and walked; all the time the commotion over beyond the Big Woods became more pronounced, but they couldn't tell what it was. They forded streams, and were chased by strange dogs, but kept on from ten o'clock in the morning until three o'clock in the afternoon. They had nothing to eat, and they didn't know that they could ever find their way back, because they were in a country strange to them. But they kept on, and a little after three o'clock, as a reward for their perseverance, they walked into the battle of Bull Run. I never before heard of boys going anywhere and finding anything as great as they expected."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F J Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar.
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	41 degrees
Mar. 12, 1911,	42 degrees
Mar. 12, 1910,	43 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Charles Tuck of Billings road is ill.

The game of marbles has the floor at the present time.

Work has begun in earnest on the rebuilding of the Wollaston Foundry.

F. F. Crane of 426 Washington street has returned from a short business trip in New York.

The last rehearsal of the play "Our Folks" to be held in Quincy Point Church, Wednesday and Thursday nights will be held this evening.

A new house is being erected on the property of Dr. Hunting at the corner of Woodward avenue and Whitney road by contractor J. M. Nowland.

The new court house on Coddington street is practically completed. The grounds have not been graded, but will probably be in shape by the middle of April.

There is great rejoicing and congratulations are in order at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McLellan, Adams shore. The stork arrived Sunday with a 11 3-4 pound boy.

The Royal Daughters' class of the Wollaston M. E. church is to entertain the Wiggin class this evening in the vestry of the church. The two classes have recently had a contest in which the Wiggin class won.

Supt. John T. Conway of the street railway is taking his first vacation in 15 years. Considering the strenuous work he has done in that time it would seem he was entitled to some respite says the Brockton Enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Campbell of Newbury avenue, Atlantic have the sympathy of friends in the death of their youngest child, who died on Thursdoy and was buried Saturday. This is the second child that they have lost in the last three weeks.

J. A. Crowley is to conduct the concert of the Wollaston Glee club tomorrow night at Wollaston Congregational church. The club is to be assisted by Mrs. Marie S. Sundelius, soprano and Miss Hazel Dell Chandler reader, also Quincy's favorite tenor and W. E. Weston, accompanist.

George Finlay and Lester Chapman, two local athletes, are intending to enter Williston academy in the fall to continue their studies. George Finlay is a High sophomore, and has played on the football and basket ball teams, while Chapman has played on both teams and is a promising candidate for the batting for the High school the coming season.

☞We bake PRATT'S BREAD for you, your cousins, uncles and aunts.

(ADVERTISE.)

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

HAVE LITTLE TIME TO AGREE

Coal Strike Unless Settlement Is Reached by April 1

NEGOTIATIONS ARE STILL ON

Should American Miners Go Out Trouble In Coal Fields Would Be World-Wide—Anxiety Over Outcome of Operators' Reply to Miners —Workers In Idleness In Great Britain Number Two Million

New York, March 12.—A world-wide strike of coal miners is regarded by the coal trade as more than a likelihood, if the present negotiations now in progress between the anthractie and bituminous workers and their employers in this country do not result in a settlement of working conditions before April 1.

With more than 1,000,000 coal miners on strike in Great Britain and 150,000 miners out in Germany to force higher wages, a severe coal shortage in Europe is faced.

The anthracite coal operators drafted their reply to the hard-coal workers here for presentation to the miners tomorrow, while next week at Cleveland the bituminous operators and their employes confer for the purpose of trying to bring about an adjustment of conditions in the soft-coal fields. Meanwhile coal is being loaded on the Atlantic seaboard for South American and European ports usually supplied by English firms.

The reply which the committee of Anthracite Coal Operators drafted, refusing the demands for a 20 percent increase in wages, recognition of the union and certain conditions of labor, is expected to give in detail the reasons for the refusal of the operators to meet the demands. The statement is made that until the reply is formally made to the men its contents will not be made public.

The answer of the operators, it is believed, will be of a character that will lead to a submission of modified demands on the part of the men and a series of further conferences looking toward an adjustment.

Meanwhile consumers are heavy purchasers in the retail market and premiums are being paid on coal for the privilege of stocking up. It is stated that a month's supply of small steam sizes of anthracite is above the ground at different points and that from now on to the end of the month, when the present working agreement with the miners expires, the railroads expect to move a heavy tonnage.

It is said that over 8,000,000 tons of coal are being engaged for delivery in New York this month and that on many orders premiums from 75 cents to $1 a ton are being paid.

Situation In Great Britain

London, March 12.—The British coal strike which began on March 1, when nearly 1,000,000 men employed in the collieries of England, Scotland and Wales laid down their tools at a given signal, shows little sign of being settled. The government has been trying to bring the miners and the coal owners together, but has not yet succeeded, and it is thought probable that as a final measure a minimum wage bill for miners will have to be introduced in the house of commons.

Besides the miners, another million workers, men and women employed in factories and mills in all parts of Great Britain, have been thrown out of employment, owing to the impossibility of obtaining fuel to run the machinery. Prices of provisions and all the necessaries of life have gone up to such an extent that deep distress has been occasioned among the poorer classes. Railroads have had to restrict their train services, river steamers have had to cease running, the gas and electric supply works have been compelled to restrict their illuminants, the mail services have been retarded and many ocean steamers have had to be laid up in harbor.

HELD FOR MISDEMEANOR

New York Agitator Spits Upon and Tramples Our Flag

New York, March 12.—Felix Adolfe was held in $1000 bail for trial by a Brooklyn magistrate, charged with a misdemeanor in that he spat upon and trampled under foot an American flag while addressing a gathering of anarchists in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.

During his address Adolfe took a small American flag from his pocket and after he had spat upon and trampled it under foot, set it on fire. Two policemen promptly placed him under arrest.

The meeting had been called to protest the attitude of the state authorities in the Lawrence, Mass., strike.

Raised From Ocean's Bed

Portsmouth, Eng., March 12.—The British submarine "A3," which sank with the whole crew of fourteen officers and men on Feb. 2, after a collision with the submarine depot ship Hazard, was raised last evening and towed into harbor.

COAL OPERATORS

Two Who Refuse to Grant the Demands of the Miners

© 1912, American Press Association. Above, W. H. Taylor, president St. Clair Coal company; below, John C. Haddock, president Plymouth Coal company.

PARDONS PRISONERS AND REMITS TAXES

Yuan Marks His Inauguration by Act of Generosity

Pekin, March 12.—One of the first acts of President Yuan Shi Kai, after taking the oath of office, was to signalize the definite inauguration of the republic by pardoning all prisoners except murderers and robbers and by remission of all overdue land taxes.

The manifesto proclaiming this act of grace on the part of the new president also announces that the old Chinese laws will be applied temporarily for the present unless they are contrary to the spirit of republicanism.

The document contains an exhortation to all officials to unite in the promotion of the welfare of the republic.

Yuan was formally inaugurated provisional president in the presence of a great gathering of delegates, provincial envoys, military officers and other prominent personages. Many foreigners attended the ceremonies.

WOMEN TO BE HEARD

Leading Suffragists Will Argue Their Case Before Senators

Washington, March 12.—Woman suffrage will be advocated before the senate suffrage committee by a delegation of the most prominent women in American public life.

Arrangements have been made for an open hearing and addresses will be made by Rev. Anna Shaw, Miss Jane Addams, Professor Sophonisba P. Breckenridge of the University of Chicago, Mrs. Susan W. FitzGerald, Miss Alice S. Blackwell, Mrs. Mary W. Bennett, Miss Bessie Ashley, Mrs. Harriet B. Laidlaw and Miss Inez Milholland.

MAYOR'S RECALL URGED

Charged With Surrendering Waterfront to Corporate Interests

Oakland, Cal., March 12.—Resolutions demanding the recall of Mayor Mott and the entire city administration were indorsed at a Socialist meeting here. Recall petitions, it was announced, would be started immediately by the Socialists.

Seven reasons were stated in the petition for the recall of Mott and his subordinates. Among them were charges that the waterfront had been turned over to corporate interests and that contracts for work on the new city hall, amounting to $500,000, had been let illegally.

OPPOSED BY DEMOCRATS

Confirmation of Pitney Is Again Hung Up In the Senate

Washington, March 12.—The nomination of Mahlon Pitney, chancellor of the state of New Jersey, to be an associate justice of the supreme court to succeed the late John M. Harlan, was fought an hour and a half in the executive session of the senate yesterday, and action was deferred. The debate was hot.

The regular Republicans are solidly for the nomination and express confidence that the chancellor will be confirmed despite the increased opposition by the Democrats.

Poison Eaten by Baby

Pawtucket, R. I., March 12.—Eating some strychnine pills which she thought were candy, Gladys M. Higginbotham, aged 2, died here.

ACCOUNTING OF STRIKE FUND

Demanded In Suit Against I. W. W. Leaders at Lawrence

MOVE BY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Contributors to Fund For Aid of Destitute Strikers Claim That Money Has Been Misapplied—Sums Ranging From $1500 to $4000 Said to Have Been Received Daily—Large Amount Perhaps on Deposit

Boston, March 12.—Attorney General Swift, upon complaint of Herbert S. Johnson, James M. Prendergast and Robert A. Woods, all of whom contributed money for the aid of destitute strikers and their families at Lawrence, has filed a bill in equity against Joseph Ettor, now in the Lawrence jail; William D. Haywood, William Yates, William Trautmann and Joseph Bedard, of parts unknown, and at present in Lawrence, and the Lawrence Trust company, seeking to obtain information in regard to the uses for which the money has been spent. The case will be heard Friday.

It is alleged that all of the defendants, conspiring together, have used substantial portions of the fund for purposes entirely different from those for which the fund was donated, and for purposes other than the proper promotion of the trust on account of which the contributions were made and received; that the fund has, in part at least, been improperly used for private and personal purposes of the defendants and their associates; that the defendants, or some of them, have drawn sums from the fund as salaries, a purpose for which they had no right to appropriate such funds, and that substantial amounts have been contributed for board and private expenses of the defendant Ettor; that large amounts have been paid for the transportation to the city of New York and other cities of numbers of children for uses in connection with appeals for further contributions to the fund; that sums have been paid to counsel for defending Ettor and others; that large amounts have been turned over to the Industrial Workers of the World, in violation of the trust, and that the money has been appropriated to other uses than those intended.

It is further claimed that a demand has been made in behalf of the contributors for an accounting and for a disclosure of the amounts received, and that information only as to the amounts received a day, from $1500 to $4000, has been given.

The money, or a large part of it, it is stated, has been deposited with the Lawrence Trust company, subject to check, and it is the belief of the complainants that some of the money is still on deposit.

The plaintiff prays that a temporary injunction be granted restraining the defendants from withdrawing from the Lawrence Trust company any funds deposited, except for the purpose intended; that the defendants be restrained from making disbursements except those which shall actually be made for the support and relief of striking employes and their families, and that the temporary injunction may be made permanent.

That a receiver be appointed to take possession of the trust fund and disburse the same under the direction and order of the court for the benefit of those persons for whom the fund was contributed, also is asked, and that an account be taken of the fund and inquiry made as to the extent of the improper and illegal disbursements, and the defendant be made to account for and restore all sums improperly abstracted to the receiver.

FIRE SPREADS QUICKLY

Consumes Clarendon Street Baptist Church In Boston

Boston, March 12.—A spectacular fire gutted the Clarendon Street Baptist church, at the corner of Montgomery and Clarendon streets, last night, giving the firemen a most stubborn fight. Owing to the fear of the roof and the steeple of the church falling the firemen were compelled to fight the flames from the street.

The fire started in the upper church near the main entrance on Clarendon street, it is thought, from defective wires; it spread with great rapidity through the rafters into the roof and up into the steeple. The loss will amount to between $50,000 and $60,000.

Damage by Mine Cave-In Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 12.—Twelve houses and many graves in the abandoned St. Vincent's cemetery were damaged by a cave-in of the Gaylor mines of the Kingston Coal company at Plymouth.

Tabuteau's Great Flight

Poitiers, France, March 12.—Maurice Tabuteau reached here from Pau, a distance of about 261 miles, in his monoplane, in 2 hours and 35 minutes. He traveled at the rate of approximately 101¼ miles an hur.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EGGPLANT COOKERY.

EGGPLANT will not taste nice unless before cooking it has been soaked in salt water to take out the bitter flavor. It should be sliced for soaking.

Fried eggplant is the most popular because if the preliminary work of taking out the acidity has been well done it can be prepared to both look and taste well.

For Frying.

The simplest way of frying eggplant is to put the slices into a frying pan with butter and after one side has been browned turn it to cook on the other side. Another and more elaborate method is this one:

Browned Eggplant.—Cut the slices about a half inch thick and rub each with salt. Put the slices in a dish and pour cold water over them. Let them remain in the water several hours with a weight to keep them under. Then rinse and dry.

Season, dip in beaten egg, then in sifted cracker crumbs, and fry in drippings, lard or butter until a golden brown.

The egg mixture may consist of one egg to a tablespoonful of milk beaten together.

A Daintier Method.

Steamed Eggplant.—First steam the whole plant instead of soaking it in water. When tender, but not soft, drain and let cool. Then cut in slices one inch thick. Let them lie in salt water two hours before frying them. Dip each slice in beaten egg seasoned with pepper, cover with dry, coarse breadcrumbs and fry in deep fat or saute in a frying pan in a little bacon or salt pork drippings.

Eggplant Croquettes.—Put an eggplant into water and let it boil until it is soft. Then take out the inside, season and make into little cakes, dip into egg and crumbs and fry in hot fat.

Baked Eggplant With Vegetables.—Cut the eggplant in two, scoop out the inside, leaving about half an inch of pulp and skin.

Take a couple of tomatoes, an onion and a green pepper. Chop these separately. Then mix them together with the minced inside of the eggplant.

Add to these some breadcrumbs, a little minced parsley, salt, butter and pepper. When smooth fill the hollowed eggplant with this, butter the top and bake for about thirty minutes.

SAGO IN VARIOUS FORMS.

SAGO is a food which is recommended for illnesses, but it is also valuable to those who are in health It will help in a remarkable degree to build up the body, for this starch, which comes from the sago palm, has many merits of its own.

A reddish looking sago is the best. It may be used in soups or for puddings. The sago dissolves readily and forms a jelly in hot water.

A Well Flavored Dish.

Sago Soup.—Take about two quarts of good stock made with beef, veal or poultry. The stock may be prepared with any one of these meats or with all of them combined and is what is known as a good medium stock.

Wash five ounces of sago in cold water and little by little add it to the boiling stock and simmer until the sago is sufficiently dissolved to form a jelly. The yolks of two eggs beaten with a little cream and added to the soup just before serving add to its flavor and richness.

About an hour is long enough for the soup to cook, and when done there should be enough for eight people.

Of course if less soup is required the quantities of stock and sago should be reduced.

For instance, a quart of stock and two and a half ounces of sago should make enough soup for four persons.

Some Nutritious Puddings.

Lemon Sago Pudding.—Heat a pint and a half of rich milk and put into it the rind of half a lemon and allow it to boil. Strain the milk, mix with it five tablespoonfuls of sago and three ounces of sugar and simmer for fifteen minutes.

Let the mixture cool a little and stir into it two eggs well beaten and one and one-half ounces of butter.

Flavor with a little grated nutmeg, butter a pudding dish, pour the mixture in and boil for an hour and a half.

Baked Orange Pudding.—Take a pint and a half of milk, three tablespoonfuls of sago, the rind of half an orange, a tablespoonful of orange juice, three ounces of sugar, an ounce and a half of butter, four eggs, grated nutmeg and some puff paste.

Put the milk and lemon rind into a saucepan together and place it on the fire, where it may simmer until the milk is well flavored with the orange. Add the orange juice, strain and put in the sago and sugar and let it cook for about fifteen minutes.

Let this cool and then stir in the butter and the eggs well beaten.

Roll out the puff paste, line the edges of a baking dish with it and pour in the sago mixture. Bake from forty-five minutes to an hour, longer if the oven is a slow one.

Anna Thompson.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

It Stands the Test of Time 101 Years in Use

Stone Bruises, Cuts, Aches, Pains, and other like troubles of children quickly relieved by

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

The old reliable household remedy. Give inwardly for Coughs, Colds, Cholera Morbus and Bowel Complaint. Sold by all dealers.

25c and 50c Bottles

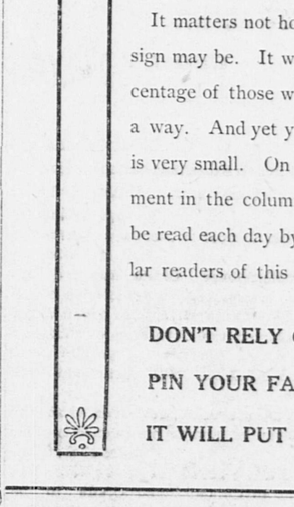
I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

Parsons' Pills regulate the bowels and keep the liver active.

CLEANEST HANDIEST CHEAPEST FUEL GAS

It Needs No Witchcraft

to make pots and kettles seethe and bubble on a gas range. Don't be a slave to your old kitchen stove, when you can be master of a gas range without much expense.



CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

Do You Believe in Signs?

Too many storekeepers depend upon signs. They are all right to mark your place of business, but you need something more forceful to bring customers right up to your counters. You need general, far-reaching publicity as a real trade-getter.

It matters not how elaborate or artistic your business sign may be. It will be read only by a very small percentage of those who pass your door, It is necessary in a way. And yet you know that its sphere of usefulness is very small. On the contrary a business announcement in the columns of THE DAILY LEDGER will be read each day by thousands and thousands of regular readers of this paper.

DON'T RELY ON SIGNS.

PIN YOUR FAITH IN THE DAILY LEDGER.

IT WILL PUT GINGER IN YOUR BUSINESS.

LAWYER ELECTROCUTED

Grasped Electric Light Fixture While Standing In Bathtub

Rutland, Vt., March 12.—Standing in the bathtub partly filled with water with his hands grasping an electric light fixture, Robert A. Lawrence an attorney, was found dead at his home, a victim of accidental electrocution. The body was discovered by his wife.

The wires for lighting purposes are supposed to carry but 110 volts, not enough to cause death, but had apparently become crossed with another wire outside the house.

Lawrence was 33 years of age and had served as city attorney and a state attorney for Rutland county.

NOVEL WEDDING TRIP

Aviator and Bride Start on Honeymoon Tour in Aeroplane

Paris, March 12.—The first authentic aeroplane wedding is signalled from Avignon. The bridegroom, an aviator named Voisier, flew to a field next to the church where the wedding took place.

Directly after the ceremony the airman and his bride, who was Mlle Bremond, mounted the two-seated Bleriot and flew the 100 and more miles separating Avignon from Nice where the first part of the honeymoon is to be passed.

Voisier hopes to fly on to Genoa and home to Paris with his wife.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. McVill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER II.

Captain Murrell Asks Questions.

In the deep peace that rested like a benediction on the pine-clad slopes of Scratch Hill the boy Hannibal followed at Yancy's heels as that gentleman pursued the not arduous rounds of temperate industry which made up his daily life, for if Yancy were not completely idle he was responsible for a counterfeit presentment of idleness having most of the merits of the real article.

The Barony had been offered for sale and bought in by Crenshaw for eleven thousand dollars, this being the amount of his claim. Some six months later he sold the plantation for fifteen thousand dollars to Nathaniel Ferris, of Currituck county.

"There's money in the old place Bob, at that figure," Crenshaw told Yancy.

"Bladen's got an answer from them South Carolina Quintards, and they don't know nothing about the boy," added Crenshaw. "So you can rest easy, Bob; they ain't going to want him."

"Well, sir, that surely is a passel of comfort to me. I find I got all the instincts of a father without having had none of the instincts of a husband."

A richer, deeper realization of his joy came to Yancy when he had turned his back on Balaam's Cross Roads and set out for home through the fragrant silence of the pine woods.

Just beyond the Barony, which was midway between Balaam's and the Hill, down the long stretch of sandy road he saw two mounted figures, then as they drew nearer he caught the flutter of skirts and recognized one of the horsewomen. It was Mrs. Ferris, wife of the Barony's new owner. She reined in her horse abreast of his cart.

"Aren't you Mr. Yancy?" she asked. "I am Mrs. Ferris, and I am very pleased to make your acquaintance."

"The same here," murmured Yancy with winning civility.

Mrs. Ferris' companion leaned forward, her face averted, and stroked her horse's neck with gloved hand.

"This is my friend, Miss Betty Malroy."

"Glad to know you, ma'am," said Yancy.

Miss Malroy faced him, smiling. She was quite radiant with youth and beauty.

"We are just returning from Scratch Hill," said Mrs. Ferris.

"And the dear little boy we met is your nephew, is he not, Mr. Yancy?" It was Betty Malroy who spoke.

"In a manner he is and in a manner he ain't," explained Yancy, somewhat enigmatically.

"Do you know the old deserted cabin by the big pine?—the Blount place?" asked Mrs. Ferris.

"Yes, ma'am, I know it."

"I am going to have Sunday school there for the children; they shan't be neglected any longer if I can help it. Now won't you let your little nephew come?"

"I reckon you-all can count on my nevvy," Bob said.

Hannibal and Yancy were the first to arrive at the deserted cabin in the old field Sunday afternoon. Shy children from the pine woods, big brothers with little sisters and big sisters with little brothers, drifted out of the encircling forest.

Mrs. Ferris' missionary spirit manifested itself agreeably enough on the whole. She read certain chapters from the Bible, finishing with the story of David, a narrative that made a deep impression upon Yancy, comfortably seated in the doorway.

"You will all be here next Sunday, won't you?—and at the same hour?" she said, rising.

There was a sudden clatter of hoofs beyond the door. A man, well dressed and well mounted had ridden into the yard. As Mrs. Ferris came from the cabin he flung himself out of the saddle and, hat in hand, approached her.

"I am hunting a place called the Barony; can you tell me if I am on the right road?" he asked. He was a man in the early thirties, graceful and powerful of build, with a handsome face.

"It is my husband you wish to see? I am Mrs. Ferris."

"Then General Quintard is dead?" His tone was one of surprise.

"His death occurred over a year ago, and my husband now owns the Barony; were you a friend of the general's?"

"No, madam; he was my father's friend, but I had hoped to meet him." His manner was adroit and plausible.

"Will you ride on with us to the Barony and meet my husband, Mr.——?" she paused.

"Murrell—Captain Murrell. Thank you; I should like to see the old place. I should highly value the privilege," then his eyes rested on Miss Malroy.

"Betty, let me present Captain Murrell."

The captain bowed, giving her a glance of bold admiration.

By this time the children had straggled off into the pine woods as silently as they had assembled; only Yancy and Hannibal remained. Mrs. Ferris turned to the former.

"If you will close the cabin door, Mr. Yancy, everything will be ready for next Sunday," she said, and moved toward the horses, followed by Murrell. Betty Malroy lingered for a moment at Hannibal's side.

"Good-by, little boy; you must ask your Uncle Bob to bring you up to the big house to see me," and stooping she kissed him. "Good-by, Mr Yancy."

CHAPTER III.

Trouble at Scratch Hill.

Captain Murrell had established himself at Balaam's Cross Roads. He was supposed to be interested in the purchase of a plantation, and in company with Crenshaw visited the numerous tracts of land which the merchant owned; but though he professed delight with the country, he was plainly in no haste to become committed to any one of the several propositions Crenshaw was eager to submit.

"The Barony would have suited me," he told Bladen one day. They had just returned from an excursion into the country and were seated in the lawyer's office.

"You say your father was a friend of the old general's?" said Bladen.

"Years ago, in the north—yes," answered Murrell.

Murrell regarded the lawyer in silence for a moment out of his deeply sunk eyes.

"Too bad about the boy," he said at length slowly.

"How do you mean, Captain?" asked Bladen.

"I mean it's a pity he has no one except Yancy to look after him," said Murrell; but Bladen showed no interest and Murrell went on: "Has Yancy any legal claim on the boy?"

"No, certainly not; the boy was merely left with Yancy because Crenshaw didn't know what else to do with him."

"Get possession of him, and if I don't buy land here I'll take him west with me," said Murrell quietly. "I am willing to spend five hundred dollars on this if necessary."

"I'll have to think your proposition over," said Bladen.

The immediate result of this conversation was that within twenty-four hours a man driving two horses hitched to a light buggy arrived at Scratch Hill in quest of Bob Yancy, whom he found at dinner and to whom he delivered a letter. Mr. Yancy was profoundly impressed by the attention, for holding the letter at arm's length, he said:

"Well, sir, I've lived nigh on to forty years, but I never got a piece of writing befo'—never, sir. People, if they was close by, spoke to me, if at a distance they hollered, but none of 'em ever wrote."

"What's your answer?" demanded the stranger.

"You tell him I'll be monstrous glad to talk it over with him any time he fancies to come out here."

The next day Yancy had occasion to visit Balaam's Cross Roads. Crenshaw gave him a disquieting opinion as to the probable contents of his letter, for he himself had heard from Bladen that he had decided to assume the care of the boy.

He Had Not Long to Wait, for Presently a Buggy Hove in Sight.

"I reckon Bladen will have the law on his side, Bob!"

"The law be damned—I got what's fair on mine. I don't wish fo' better than that," exclaimed Yancy, over his shoulder. He strode from the store and started down the sandy road at a brisk run. Miserable forebodings of an impending tragedy leaped up within him, and the miles were many that lay between him and the Hill.

As he breasted the slope he came within sight of a little group in his own dooryard. Saving only Uncle Sammy Bellamy, the group resolved itself into the women and children of the Hill, but there was one small figure he missed. The patriarch hurried toward him, leaning on his cane.

"They've took your nevvy, Bob!" he cried, in a high, thin voice.

"Who's took him?" asked Yancy hoarsely.

"Hit were Dave Blount. Get your gun, Bob, and go after him—kill the miserable sneaking cuss!" cried Uncle Sammy. "By the Fayetteville Road Bob, not ten minutes ago—you can cut him off at Ox Road forks!"

Yancy breathed a sigh of relief. A rifle was placed in Yancy's hands.

"Thank you-all kindly," said Yancy and turning away he struck off through the pine woods. A brisk walk of twenty minutes brought him to the Ox Road forks.

He had not long to wait, for presently the buggy hove in sight. As the buggy came nearer he recognized his ancient enemy in the person of the man who sat at Hannibal's side, and stepping into the road seized the horses by their bits. At sight of him Hannibal shrieked his name in delight.

"Uncle Bob—Uncle Bob—" he cried.

"Yes, it's Uncle Bob. You can light down, Nevvy."

"Leggo them horses!" said Mr Blount.

"Light down, Nevvy," said Yancy still pleasantly.

Hannibal instantly availed himself of the invitation. At the same moment Blount struck at Yancy with his whip, and his horses reared wildly thinking the blow meant for them. Seeing that the boy had reached the ground in safety, Yancy relaxed his hold on the team, which instantly plunged forward. Then as the buggy swept past him he made a grab at Blount and dragged him out over the wheels into the road, where he proceeded to catch Mr. Blount a smack in the jaw. Then with a final skilful kick he sent Mr. Blount sprawling. "Don't let me catch you around these diggings again, Dave Blount, or I swear to God I'll be the death o' you!"

Hannibal rode home through the pine woods in triumph on his Uncle Bob's mighty shoulders.

(To be Continued.)

BOSTON BROKER SHOT

Wounded in Shoulder by Aged Man Who Has Lost a Fortune

Boston, March 12.—Herman Lewinski, 68 years old, a traveling salesman, so brooded over the loss of nearly $80,000 in twenty years of stock speculation that he walked into the offices of Richardson, Hill & Co., at 50 Congress street, the brokers with whom he dealt mostly, and shot Spencer D. Hill, junior member of the firm, wounding him in the shoulder.

The shooting was witnessed by twenty persons, including two women clerks and a dozen customers. Hill was able to walk without assistance to the waiting ambulance. He was taken to the City hospital relief station, and later to the City hospital. He will recover.

Lewinski will not be prosecuted by Hill, who believes him insane.

BY VOTE OF 18 TO 15

Presidential Preference Primary Bill Passed by Massachusetts Senate

Boston, March 12.—The senate yesterday afternoon passed the presidential preference bill, giving the voters the right to choose their delegates directly and to indicate for whom these delegates shall vote.

The bill has already been passed by the house and now goes to the governor for his signature. The governor, it is declared, will sign the bill. The vote was 18 to 15.

The passage of the legislation means that the citizens of the state on April 2 will vote to elect two delegates from their congressional districts, eight delegates-at-large, and will indicate their preference for a candidate for president and vice president.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

NEVER PAID 'EM.

The Heavy Man—Manager Connem is a wonderful manager, and it has always been his endeavor to uphold the actor's rights.

The Comedian—And to "hold up" the actor.

CASE WILL GO ON

Mrs. Schenk to Be Tried For Alleged Poisoning of Husband

Wheeling, W. Va., March 12.—Laura F. Schenk must again go before a jury on a charge of poisoning her husband with murderous intent.

She appeared in court here and her counsel fought to have the case dropped, but failed. Prosecuting Attorney Handlan insisted on a second trial and won his point. On March 23 a date will be set for trial.

AN AUDACIOUS AND AUTOCRATIC TRUST

Baseball Monopoly Brought to Attention of Congress

Washington, March 12.—A congressional investigation of the "baseball trust, the most audacious and autocratic trust in the country," was proposed in a resolution introduced by Representative Gallagher of Illinois.

The measure would create a special committee of seven representatives to inquire of the department of justice: "What steps have been taken against the baseball trust as against other illegal combinations?" to subpoena witnesses and employ assistants.

It accused the "baseball trust" of presuming "to control the baseball game, its officials announcing daily through the press the dictates of a governing commission, how competition is stifled, territory and games apportioned, how men are enslaved and forced to accept salaries and terms or be forever barred from playing."

A Comparison.

"That was a tempestuous outburst of oratory our friend indulged in," said one statesman.

"'Tempestuous' is the word," replied the other. "Whenever he makes a speech it makes me think of a cyclone that has somehow learned to articulate."—Washington Star.

The Kentucky Legislature is fighting against tipping. A man has to work pretty hard in a modern hotel to fight off the vultures that won't let you wash your own face.

NOTICE

TO FURNITURE MOVERS AND OWNERS OF JOBBING WAGONS.

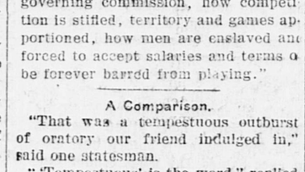
The City Council of the City of Quincy having by Ordinance No. 53, Section 9, relating to furniture movers and owners of jobbing wagons and Ordinance No. 360, Section 1-2-3-4-5, relating to persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of moving or transferring household furniture, pianos, or other articles or personal effects, made it incumbent upon the owners of furniture and jobbing wagons to procure a license from the City Council for operating the same, they are hereby notified that they should procure licenses immediately. Applications for licenses may be made to the City Clerk. Licenses may be granted in April to take effect on the first day of May then next ensuing.

Signed—FRANK E. BURRELL.
Chief of Police, City of Quincy.
March 8 3t

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-—m



LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

MY BUFF ROCKS LAY heavily in winter when eggs are high. I am getting 25 to 35 eggs a day from my 55 layers. Order your settings now from this superb laying strain, and get them when you want them. Settings $1.00 each, $1.25 delivered. Fertility guaranteed. MRS. KATE REEVES, 362 Beale St., Forbes Hill, Wollaston. Tel. Quincy 1547-W.
Feb. 13-3t T.-Th.-p 17-4w

Telephone 1196 M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8 1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf lp

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Piano, large upright, good condition. Apply 112 Sagamore street, Atlantic, Mass., near depot; at home mornings. 12-3t

FOR SALE—Parlor set, 6 pieces, centre table, large mirror, rocker. All in good order. Apply to Edward Smolick, 37 Granite street, Quincy. 6-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—By young man position in men's furnishing store. Best references. Address 129 Glendale road, Quincy. 12-3t

WANTED—Few hours' work daily by young Scotch woman. Address S. W. Ledger Office. 12-1t

WANTED—Young man for clerical work. High or Mechanics Arts graduate preferred. Boston Gear Works, Norfolk Downs. 11-2t

WANTED—English speaking maid, with references, for general housework. Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., 18 Spear street, Quincy. 11-3t

WANTED—Every customer satisfied, my best advertisement. S. Ernest MacMillan, Graduate Optician, 1463 Hancock street, (Singer Shop) Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, by appointment only at Residence Office, 837 Hancock street Wollaston. 11-3t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

WANTED—A Million Dollars for Eyesight! Charles Broadway Rouss, of "ten cent store" fame, was blind, and offered a million dollars for restoration of sight. Can you risk your precious sight with a man of a few months' experience? In our window are displayed thousands of prescriptions of glasses that we have made. Our first was written 18 years ago—two years after we commenced the study of optics. Williams, Graduate Optician, 1473 Hancock street, Quincy. 6-6t

WANTED—By young man experienced in the granite and monumental line, position with reliable concern. General office work or salesman. Address, D. Ledger Office. 6-6t

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R
Jan 6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS.
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

TO LET

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms. Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon, 17 Granite street, Quincy. 13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

There's a Ralston Shoe

That's Built For YOU---

For you—if you demand ultra-smart ness, if you like to be ahead of others in Fashion's Race.

For you—if you insist on conservative lines rather than extremes.

For you—if you seek comfort. Every Ralston Shoe is made on foot-moulded lasts to fit the human foot correctly—to fit YOURS from first to last—no "breaking in."

Somewhere among our new Spring Models you'll find your style of Shoe.

Ralston---$4.00

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar.13-3t— 01w

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BRIEFS

John Smith, who resides in the Y. M. C. A. dormitorys is ill with a severe cold.

William Wood, janitor at the Y. M. C. A. is to take the civil service examination for engineer on April 1st.

The City Council Committee on Finance meet again tonight to have another round with the budget.

Russell Green of 1550 Hancock street is confined to the house with a slight attack of tonsilitis.

H. M. Faxon is repairing his house at the corner of Washington and Maple streets, recently occupied by Mary A. McDonald.

Alden Blanchard, Boys' Director at the Y. M. C. A., made a flying trip to Wellesley, Monday, to inspect his brother's new poultry farm.

Grace, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown of Elm street is confined to her home with scarlet fever.

Myrick Crane, of 11 Avon way, who has been confined to the house with a severe attack of the grip is better and able to be about once more.

Many of the city officials and department officials will attend the opening of the Wollaston Central garage at Wollaston tonight. The reception will be from 8 to 10 o'clock.

Em. Sir. Albert W. Foy, Inspector General will make an official visit to William Parkman Commandry at East Boston, Thursday evening. He will be accompanied by several from Quincy Commandry.

Mrs. James H. Broughton entertained members of Abigail Phillips Quincy chapter D. A. R. of Wollaston, on Monday afternoon at her home on Newport avenue.

Mrs. John H. Whitehead of Kemper street returned the first of the week from Fitchburg where she has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bill for a week.

Friends will be glad to hear that Charles Smith a well known young man of this city, has recovered from an attack of rheumatism. He has been confined at his home since the latter part of November. Smith expects to start work the first of April.

DEATHS

CONLON—In Quincy, Mar. 10, Miss Catherine Conlon in her 67th year. Funeral services at late home 86 Brackett street, Wednesday, Mar. 13, at 8.15. Requiem Mass at St. John's church at 9 A. M. Relatives and friends invited.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1185 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

BRIEFS

The Quincy Tennis club is to hold its annual meeting Saturday evening at The Greenleaf. Election of officers will take place.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team is arranging games for the coming season. They are preparing a large schedule.

Founder's day exercises at the Woodward Institute tonight. The program, a musical one will be given by the pupils of the school.

The Y. M. C. A. junior's basket ball team play the Cunningham gym juniors, Friday evening at the boys' exhibition in the local gym.

C. K. Blanchard, brother of Alden Blanchard, Y. M. C. A. boy's director and a former Quincy boy is agent of the Board of Health in Wellesley where he now lives.

New Russian Oil Field.

Baku hitherto has been known as the great oil producing province of Russia. Its output has been enormous. We are now told of the Saliany Steffe, some 130 miles from Baku, which gives promise of going a bow shot on many of them beyond any performance credited to the latter as a producer of petroleum. The possibilities of the new field are said to be very great.

Touching Suggestion.

Departing Guest—I'd gladly give you a tip, waiter, but I find I've only cab fare left."

Waiter (benignly)—Ah, sir, you don't appreciate the beneficial effect of a good after-dinner walk!—Judge.

UNCONVENTIONALITIES.

"I know well enough I'm not lending you this money, Dinguss; I'm giving it to you."

"If you could drop in some time when you hadn't so long to stay, Mr. Pnoodles, I should be glad to see you."

"My only reason for indorsing your note, old chap, is that I haven't anything the law can touch."

"Keep on talking, Uncle Cyrus; I like to see you make your teeth move up and down."

"I used to know your old grandfather, Hewligus, and he was always poking his nose into other people's business, same as you are."

"I asked mamma if she wouldn't like to have you come and see us today, Mrs. Lupsome, and she said no."

"I've come to you, Mr. Sharpe, because I can't afford to employ a first-class lawyer."

Excusable.

"Drat the luck! I wrote a paragraph about a Turkish towel and a printer made it 'Turkish howl.'"

"Oh, well, don't blame the poor fellow. He was probably thinking about what Italy is doing to Turkey now."

He Was One.

"I'm surprised," said Gabble, "that Taft hasn't hit upon a real remedy for the trust evil."

"Perhaps it's rather a hard thing to do," suggested Wise.

"Nonsense! Why any fool could frame up one. I know I could."

SHIPYARD MEETINGS

Religious meetings are to be held at the Fire River shipyard, conducted by Lawrence Greenwood, executive secretary of the Committee of One Hundred from Greater Boston. Mr. Greenwood believes the Religion Forward movement should be brought to the attention of the men at the shipyard, old and young.

Meetings have been held there before with good results by Lester H. Clee, formerly boys' work director at the local Y. M. C. A., but now of Providence, R. I., where he is working along the same line and doing good work.

All hope for good results from the metings at the shipyard.

PARISH MEETING FIRST CHURCH

Monday evening members of the First Congregational Society met in the chapel for their annual parish meeting. The attendance was not large probably because of the special meeting held a few weeks ago when much parish business was transacted and the vital question of calling a new pastor definitely settled.

The parish committee made their report in a printed circular which was distributed to those present. The church now has a permanent endowment fund of $27,838.32 well invested; the income being used for special church expenses.

J. Brooks Keyes, clerk read the call for the meeting and John Q. A. Field was elected moderator.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Parish assessors—James H. Stetson, Henry M. Faxon, Frederick H. Smith, treasurer—Thomas Fenno; collector—George H.Field; clerk—J. Brooks Keyes. The same committes on Hospitality, Music and Chapel were re-elected and votes of thanks passed for their work the past year.

L. H. H. Johnson, Thomas Fenno and George E. Pfaffmann were elected trustees of the Adams fund, and the parish assessors of other church funds.

The sum of $6,100 was appropriated for the coming year.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Junior Alliance for their work as Flower committee and they were re-elected; also to the ushers who had served so faithfully the past year, and to the parish committee.

The pledge system was discussed, also plans for raising money for church expenses and the committee which did such good work in raising funds for gilding the dome was selected to consider the subject more fully.

Among the reports was one of special interest given by Mrs. William B. Nichols of the Hospitality committee showing what the committee had accomplished along social lines the past year.

The meeting adjourned just before ten, all feeling that the parish was entering upon the new year with bright prospects and with more than usual interest being taken by the members at large.

FAMILY AT HOME DAYS.

The Society of Pilgrim and Puritan Families have inaugurated special at home days for the reception of descendants, (both members and non-members) of its associated families, and families for which the society has established departments. On these days articles and matters of special interest will be arranged for the entertainment of descendants of these families.

Assistance and advice by expert geneologist will be freely given in filling out registration papers and in looking up ancestry. These at home days are popular and many pleasant acquaintances are made. Descendants are requested to bring records, photographs and articles of interest to the family members for their entertainment or to be deposited in the family department. The rooms 65—66—67 of the Family Society at 15 Beacon street, Boston, will be open from 12 to 5 o'clock.

Dates have ben set for the meeting of the following families:—March 13 White; 14, Cushing; 15, Howe; 16, Bradford; 18, Clark; 19, Benton; 20, Davis; 21, Warren; 22, Lincoln; 23, Adams; 25, Soule; 26, Richards; 27, Fairbanks; 28, Williams; 29, Jones; 30, Perkins. April 1, Smith; 2, Alden; 3, Kimball; 4, Lovell; 5, Moore; 6 Hopkins; 8, Stetson; 9, Carver; 10, Elliott; 11, Mills; 12, Robinson; 13, Turner; 15, Rogers.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

A WOMAN AGAIN

By JEAN ELGINBROD

The rush of the day's work was nearly over in the telephone office. Jeanette Whipple, trunk operator, facing the clock, saw that in a little less than two hours her time would be up. She wondered if Richard were watching the clock as impatiently as she. Such a long, long time to six o'clock and the happy walk home.

She glanced over at the local board. The local girls were always busy. Their hands flew as they connected line after line. The drops fell quicker than they could answer them. The chief operator (No. 25 officiall), was working back of the board on the Hayes.

The monitor walked up and down, up and down, back of the girls, who hated her nearly as much as they did their chief. She had been 15 years in the business—and showed it. She was reported to have a soft spot in her heart for the young, curly-headed assistant chief operator at the desk.

The messenger boys called him the fellow with the "pretty blue hair." The girls called him "twelve-and-a-half," being assistant to No. 25.

Jeanette laughed to herself as she thought of it. Then she turned down a jack to see if No. 270 were still talking to Ridgeton. Captain Henry's big voice boomed in her ear, and she caught a sentence.

old, been foreman of the Electric

"—tall and dark, about 30 years old, been foreman of the electric company six years."

Mechanically she turned up the jack. Then, as she realized what she had heard she listened again. Why, Richard was foreman of the Electric company. What could have happened!

"Oh, Lathrop'll die. There is no chance. Don't know just how it happened yet. Nash has always borne a good name, though there has been bad blood between him and Lathrop a long time, I hear. Have your men watch sharp. If he did go on that four o'clock I'll head it off at Saturne. It gets there about 4:30. If he got off at Ridgeton, which I doubt, he can't have gone far yet. I think he will keep on toward the west. Got it all? — 5 feet 11, dark, smooth face, well built, brown suit, black derby—all right. Goodby."

270 rang off.

Jeanette took the connection down and leaned back in her chair. The bulletins on the board swayed up and down with a horrible, sickening action. The noise of falling plugs grew faint. The hum of voices died into silence. The board seemed an immeasurable distance away.

Then, slowly her brain cleared. She had no trouble in realizing now what it all meant. Richard Nash, her Richard Nash, had killed Lathrop.

His face came up before her, clear cut as a cameo, the wise, tender face, the frank, steady eyes. Why, every one had hated Lathrop, but Richard. He had only laughed at him. It could not be true. Some one was playing a joke on her.

She looked swiftly down the long line of girls. All were working, still and sober. The monitor paced slowly, back and forth. No. 12½ was writing out trouble reports.

A drop fell. It was 270. She took it before the recording operator could reach it, and plugged in on the line. Her voice sounded strange to her as she spoke.

"Toll line."

"Give me police station. Saturne. Captain Briggs to the telephone. And right away quick, too, central."

She made out the ticket slowly. Her fingers were stiff and cold. She felt numbed all over except her brain. That seemed on fire. She looked down at the small diamond on her left hand. Whether it were true, or not, he was Richard—yes—and she loved him.

If Ridgeton had not been able to get a man down to the train in time to search it, after getting Captain Henry's message, there was a small chance for his escape—perhaps she could make it a bigger one, if he were really on that train, as they thought. Could she keep 270 from getting Saturne before the train passed there, a whole half hour yet?

New York was probably his goal. If she could keep the train from being searched before it reached New York he might escape west, or across the water.

Was he thinking of their walk home at the end of the day, now, she wondered, remorse and fear fighting within him. Or had he had no time to think of her yet?

270 was calling again.

"Can't you get Saturne, Central? What is the matter?"

"Wire is busy. I will call you," she answered clearly. It was only quarter of five now.

She cast a furtive look at the monitor, who was coming toward her. She answered two other calls, and made quick connections. The monitor glanced at her board, then walked slowly away again. Time seemed to stand still, 4:57—4:58—.

270 called again.

Captain Henry's voice boded trouble for somebody.

"Why can't I have Saturne? I must have them before 4:50."

Jeanette almost laughed. Her blood was up now. 270 must have— Captain Henry said so. 270 must not have—Jeanette Whipple said so. Which would win?

"Wire is still busy. I will call you," she said.

Captain Henry fumed. Jeanette listened in silence. Then he slammed up his telephone. She watched the clock and waited. 4:55—she drew a long breath, and passed the call. In a few moments they were talking.

Captain Henry gave the same details that he had given to Ridgeton, gave them like a flash. Then having evidently learned wisdom, he passed calls to Lakeville, New Burn and New York at the same time.

Jeanette had not thought he would do that. The train did not get into New York until nearly six o'clock. Dared she delay that call so long a time?

She took the calls slowly, making him repeat several times, until his voice was like a cannon roar with anger. Then she set her teeth, folded her arms, and waited. Once she made a feint of receiving reports on the calls and after giving the bogus information courteously to Captain Henry recorded it on the back of the tickets.

5:00 N. C. (no circuit).

5:10 By (busy).

The girl beside her was watching her curiously. How queer Jeanette Whipple was looking.

The fight was on. 270 called every other breath.

Jeanette tried to keep him good natured. If he should call No. 25 and complain, an investigation would quickly settle everything. She would be sent away on the spot. Every minute's delay meant hope, perhaps life.

The intense strain was telling on her. She tried to hold herself still and calm that she might think clearly. She began to realize the terrible thing that had happened. The agony of it sank in slowly. Perhaps she would wake up suddenly and find that she had been dreaming.

But 270 was grim reality. He was calling again.

Then for over an hour she stubbornly fought every inch of the way. Captain Henry was a big man and a smart one, but he could not manage something he did not understand. He had been obliged to wait for busy wires before this. It was nothing new nor surprising. He never even dreamed that this peculiar combination of busy wires, with other technical terms that sounded perfectly proper, even familiar, was due to a slip of a girl, one-quarter his age, in the central telephone office just four blocks up the street.

The numbers danced before her tired eyes. Her face was hot with the excitement. But when six o'clock came she had just put up the connection between 270 and New York. She had won.

She stumbled out of her chair. She was so rigid she could scarcely move. She put on her hat and cloak with stiff fingers. The girls seemed to shun her, or was it her fancy? They must know it, too. Every one must know it. Why, the world was full of it. Richard was a murderer, flying for his life, and yet, so strange and untrue it seemed that, even as she said it, she waited at the street door a minute for his familiar figure. Then she started home alone.

Oh, to know he was safe, to know where he was!

She caught her breath sharply and hurried on.

It had evidently been raining. The dark was coming early. The mist clung to her skirts and dampened her hair. The electric light flickered on little pools of wind-swept water in the road.

Susan met her at the door, her kind, sisterly face placid and smiling. Then she started.

"Why, Jeanette, dear, what has happened?"

But Jeanette could not speak. Something was beating in her throat like a mad thing. She brushed past her and went in. Susan did not shut the door. Jeanette heard her saying, "Have you two been quarreling?"

Who was Susan talking to? A man's voice answered.

"It does look like it," he said. "She has been over a block ahead of me all the way, going like a race horse."

"Richard!"

She turned back to the door and tried to call his name, but it was only a gasp. Then he caught her.

"Sweetheart, has some one been frightening you? Why, Jeanette—Why, Jeanette!"

With a great effort she struggled out of the darkness that threatened to engulf her.

"The murder, Richard, you—"

He lifted her up into his arms and, carrying her in, sat down in the big, old-fashioned rocker with her.

"There, there, child. It's all right, Jeanette. Nash Farnsworth shot Lathrop, but he is not going to die, though they thought he was at first. Did you get it wrong? It was mixed at first, in the excitement. Did they tell you it was Richard Nash who did it? His first name being my last one, and description being rather alike did make a little bother. He got away, I guess. I imagine he got that four o'clock train. Why, little girl, you could not think it was I who shot him, could you?"

And in the hush, while Susan got supper, and the light from the fire played on the walls, the rocking chair swayed gently with its burden, while she told him how she had played the part of Fate to a man she never saw.

After she was quite herself again he looked at her solemnly and shook his head.

"It's just as the poets and philosophers always tell us," he said. "A big door hangs on a little hinge. It takes a woman to fool a man, every time, and to save one, too, God bless her, even if it did not happen to be me."

CLAIM ERROR

(Continued from Page One.)

If each year computed separately based on the relation of Seagirt's valuation to the whole valuation, this difference would even be greater than it is here shown, because of the remarkable increase in Seagirt's valuation in the years 1908, 1909, 1910. 1911.

Respectfully submitted,
Matthew J. Connors
For Petitioners

Resourceful Woman.

Miss Mary Donnelly, cashier of Mrs O. H. P. Belmont's new "suffrage lunchroom" in New York, was praising during an afternoon lull the resourcefulness of her sex.

"Let the anti-suffragists beware," she said. "Woman is bound to get the vote everywhere. She is too resourceful to lose.

"How resourceful woman is! A girl sat in a train one day with an uncut magazine in her hand. She wasn't reading; she couldn't. She was just lifting apart the edges of the uncut leaves and nearly standing on her head to peer at the text and pictures within. So an old gentleman across the aisle took out his knife shyly.

"But the girl didn't look at him. She kept on peering betwen her uncut pages. And finally the old gentleman opened his knife and reached across the aisle, but—

"The girl drew a hairpin from her pretty coiffure and proceeded to cut the leaves briskly.

"The old gentleman drew back and his neighbors smiled, thereupon he said, sotto voce:

"'I've heard that woman can do anything with a hairpin; but, at any rate, she can't sharpen a pencil without a penknife.'

"At that moment the girl, still intently reading, took a pencil from her pocketbook, bit three or four splinters of wood off the end of it, and calmly made a note on the margin of her magazine."

No Pity Needed.

Pastor—I was sorry for your wife during the sermon this morning, doctor. She had such a dreadful fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her.

Doctor—Don't be unduly alarmed. She was wearing her new hat for the first time.—Fliegende Blaetter.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41
r 6 16	abcd	6 35
r 6 33	e	6 49
r 6 40	abcf	7 00
r 7 08	abcd	7 30
r 7 25	d	7 42
r 7 33	Exp	7 48
7 42	ab	8 00
7 57	a	8 13
r 8 09	abcd	8 31
r 8 30	Exp	8 45
r 8 53	ad	9 10
r 9 15	abc	9 33
r 10 03	a	10 20
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45
11 12	a	11 28
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50
12 04	a	12 20
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45
r 1 22	a	1 40
2 04	a	2 20
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45
r 3 13	Exp	3 28
4 04	a	4 20
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52
5 06	Exp	5 20
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55
6 12	a	6 30
7 03	b	7 21
r 7 22	Exp	7 37
r 7 30	a	7 46
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30
r 9 01	abc	9 20
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30
r 11 25	abc	11 45

FROM BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
6 30	a	6 47
7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
7 41	a	7 58
7 45	c	8 03 r
8 35	cb	8 53
8 42	a	8 59
9 20	fedba	9 42 r
9 45	a	10 01 r
10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
10 50	Exp	11 05
11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
11 50	a	12 07
12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
12 37	a	12 54
12 50	Exp	1 05
1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
1 45	a	2 02
2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 35	Exp	2 50
3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
3 45	a	4 02
4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
4 41	c	4 58
5 14	a	5 31
5 24	a	5 42
5 31	dcb	5 50 r
5 43	a	6 00 r
5 55	iedcba	6 21 r
6 14	Exp	6 30 r
6 31	ecba	6 52 r
7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
7 12	a	7 29
8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
9 25	dba	9 46 r
10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30 ba 6 45 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfeacba 9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05 Exp 9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedcba 10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba 12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45 Exp 1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedcba 1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15 hgfedcba 2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba 3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27 cba 4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba 5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedcba 6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 cba 7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba 8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45 a 9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30 ihgfedcba 9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45 cba 11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5 20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

PRIZES FOR Y.M.C.A. BOWLING

There will be a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock of the twelve men who have qualified for the finals of the bowling championships that have been going on the past month.

The twelve who have qualified are: Beane, Brooks, Fitzgerald, Croucher, Littlefield, LaRose, Wilson, Clapp, Morris, Burns, Blanchard, Thomas.

Lee Brooks is high man in the tournament and Burns, Morris, Clapp and LaRose, who have been giving him a run for the title.

Many beautiful prizes in the forms of cups, have been offered for: First Prize, high string, Second Prize high three string, Third prize high total.

Appreciative Tourist.

A lady distinguished as a society leader in New York recently made an extensive motor tour through France, and on her return to America she was asked how she enjoyed the trip. After recounting other pleasures she said, "But my most delightful experience was hearing the French 'pheasants' sing the 'Mavour e'!"

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.,) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6. 5, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.05 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 62 QUINCY MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 13, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE STRIKE AT LAWRENCE

Representative Ellis Before Wollaston Men's Club

UNITARIAN

"The Lawrence Strike" was the subject of Representative George H. Ellis of Newton before the Wollaston Unitarian club at its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening.

Representative Ellis is thoroughly conversant with the labor situation at Lawrence inasmuch as he is House Chairman of the conciliation committee appointed from the Legislature to bring about the settlement of the strike.

The speaker stated that as a result of yesterday afternoon's conference the strike was more nearly at the point of a peaceful settlement than at any time since its inception.

Mr. Ellis was introduced by President Adams of the club, not only as the champion of pure milk, but also as a champion of peace.

"The strike at Lawrence is not a strike in the ordinary sense of the word, " declared the speaker, "in that the movement was unorganized at first and there were no labor unions involved.

"The real thing upon which the strike pivoted was the reduction in hours of labor from 56 to 54 with a corresponding reduction in pay.

"A few years ago, hours were reduced from 58 to 56 with no cut in pay. The employees not well informed expected the same thing to hold true this time but when they heard of the cut in pay they went out even before the new pay envelopes were distributed.

"The large unamalgamated foreign element gathered in cities like Lawrence was described. For this condition the enterprise of the steamship lines should be taken to task and not the mill owners.

"The great mass are drawn to this country by false pretences and when you get 30,000 together as in Lawrence who do not find things as they expected, it does not take much to create a disturbance.

"The militia were called out, not because a large number of the people were dangerous but because there were some dangerous people.

"In an organized labor union there are members who cannot be controlled and in that conglomerate mass at Lawrence you can readily see what you have got.

"The militia deserve a tremendous amount of credit and it is a wonder they have behaved as well considering the jeers they have received.

"Some critics say that there was no need of calling out the militia. The fact is that the reason there was no need of calling out the militia, was because the militia were already there.

"With that disturbing element no one knows what might have happened. It was the power behind those men

(Continued on Page Two.)

THE "MAIDENS ALL FORLORN"

Three-Act Comedy at Park and Downs Church by Guild

THE CAST

A three act comedy entitled "Maidens All Forlorn" was presented in the Park and Downs vestry on Tuesday evening and drew a large audience in spite of inclement weather.

The play opens at Shoreley Cottage, a seashore resort where three young ladies have been send by their parents to spend the vacation season.

There is not a man in the place, the male inhabitants even being away on a fishing trip, and the girls are desolate. Finally they write to a childhood chum inviting him down.

Scene two opens with receipt of the reply which their man hating aunt discovers. This states that he is unable to come but is sending a young doctor Jocelyn Denby by name in his stead.

Much to the girls' surprise their aunt as well as themselves begins to make herself as attractive as possible in anticipation of Doctor Denby's visit.

In the final act each of the four have contracted some ailment, which they hope to have treated by the doctor, and all are at work on various presents they intend to give him.

The doctor is announced and great excitement ensues. Doctor Denby enters and is found to be an attractive young lady physician. The play closed with the girls in deep disgust with the expresson that men are deceivers ever.

The comedy was well acted, the cast of characters being as follows:

Maude Meredith
Mrs. George H. Stebbens
Elizabeth Lyndon, a cousin
Miss Freda Klingenhagen
Bertha Banisdale, another cousin
Mrs. Arthur F. Capen
Louisa Martin, their aunt
Miss Fanny Fraser
Mrs. Maloney, landlady
Mrs. W. A. Thompson
Jocelyn Denby, M. D.,
Miss Ida Williams

The entertainment was under the direction of the entertainment committee of the Women's Guild, consisting of Mrs. George H. Stebbins, Mrs. Chester A. Boynton, Mrs. Arthur F. Capen and Miss Fanny Fraser.

The ushers were: Hazel Henry, Natalie Scott, Edna Shay, and Mildred Podbury, Maybelle Atkins and Merle Daniels acted as pages. To Mrs. Charles F. Bryant who coached the cast much credit is due.

An orchestra composed of Max Pinkham, Ernest Pletsch and Irving Hayden furnished music. The entertainment served to demonstrate the advantages of the new stage.

The English suffragettes may not have proved their qualification to vote by smashing the windows, but they have disposed of the ancient libel that a woman can't throw a stone.

GIVEN LEAVE TO WITHDRAW

Committee on Towns Report on Seagirt Petition

NOT SURPRISING

It is pretty near certain that Houghs Neck will not be set off as a separate town under the name of Seagirt this year for the Committee on Towns, before whom the petition and bill was pending in the legislature reported Tuesday, leave to withdraw. The report is in the calendar for today and will probably be reached this afternoon. Unless some member should pass the report when it is read, the report becomes accepted.

WIGGIN BIBLE CLASS HOSTS

In the vestry of the Wollaston Methodist church on Tuesday evening, the Royal Daughters' Bible class entertained the Wiggin Bible class, the affair resolving itself into a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor who are leaving town shortly.

The couple were presented with a beautiful lamp of imported bronze. Eric H. Ewertz who made the presentation speech, also tendered them a set of toy garden tools as it was understood they were to live on a farm.

Mr. Taylor in replying was visibly afected, but soon recovered and in his usual humorous manner said that those present had stolen a march on him. Both himself and Mrs. Taylor regretted leaving Wollaston, but they hoped it would be but af ew years before they were back again.

The evening opened with an address of welcome from Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick, president of the Royal Daughters, and was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Orville Estes.

George Taylor, president of the Wiggin class responded for the men and told of his pleasure in being present. Games followed, among them a guessing game in which Louis E. Crosscup and Mrs. Wesley Wiggin were the winners. The former was presented with a tiny hod and the latter with a snake.

Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies. Mrs. Sedgwick distributed green confections from a minature Irish plug hat, all of the decorations being in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

Green flags and streamers adorned the room while each of the guests was presented with a shamrock ornament for his button hole.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick, Miss Arvilla Merrill, Mrs. G. J. Holmes and Mrs. Orville Estes.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor who reside on Winthrop avenue are leaving in April for North Hanson where they will take up their abode on a 200 acre farm.

The couple have been among those most active in the Wollaston Methodist church and their departure is witnessed with regret.

Mr. Taylor has been a steward and trustee of the church for a long term of years and at present is chairman of the latter body. He is president of the Wiggin Bible class and an ex-president of the men's club.

Mrs. Taylor has been an active worker in the Ladies Aid and Women's Missionary societies being at one time president of the first- named organization.

Mr. Taylor is connected with the Eastern Expanded Metal Company of Boston, of which concern he is general manager.

—There is at least a sad satisfaction in knowing that the last body has been recovered from the wreck of the Maine. After the catastrophe of 1898 sixty-five bodies were missing. These have been found one by one during the progress of raising the wreck, and now the last to complete the list has been recovered. This consummation alone was worth the cost of the work, and the nation will be thankful, that full honor of burial can be given all the victims who died at their post.—Taunton Herald.

BOARD OF TRADE TO AFFILIATE

Invited to Join International Chamber of Commerce

LEADING BUSINESS BODY

The Quincy Board of Trade has been invited to join the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, the leading business body of the world, and to send three delegates to the sessions to be held in Boston September 24 to 28. The local organization assisted the Boston Chamber of Commerce in June, 1910, in persuading the Congress, which met in London at that time, to come to the United States for 1912.

As the Congress has never before met in the United States, it is attracting much attention from American business men on account of the opportunity which it will afford to enter into relations with the commercial leaders of all other civilized countries. Great stimulus to the foreign trade of this country is expected to result.

President Taft is Honorary President, and Secretaries Knox and Nagel, Senator Cullom and Representative Sulzer, Honorary Vice-Presidents, of the General American Committee of the Congress. While the sessions are to be held in Boston, under the auspices of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the event will be made national in its scope by a tour of many of the leading industrial centers of this country, to be made by 100 or more of the distinguished foreign delegates in a special train after the close of the business sessions.

Business organizations in all civilized countries of the world, and particularly in South American and Far Eastern countries, are being invited to send delegates.

A resolution is now pending before the Congress of the United States which extends official government recognition to the International Congress and under which the United States Government will itself extend invitations to the governments of the world, in addition to the business organizations, to be represented.

The International Congress of Chambers of Commerce and Industrial and Commercial Associations is an organization representing the business men of the entire world. The purpose of the Congress is to facilitate the commercial intercourse of nations, and to promote cordial relationship between them. It strives to secure harmony of action on all international questions affecting commerce and trade by enlisting the co-operation of the various nations to obtain uniform laws with reference to commercial matters. To this end it considers at its biennial sessions questions of international scope affecting business and business relations. The recommendations adopted by vote of the delegates are carried out by a permanent committee, the headquarters of which are at Brussels, and which keeps in touch with the constituent organizations and the governments of all countries.

This Congress will give consideration to a number of important questions affecting international commercial relations. The questions to be considered will be selected by the Permanent Committee from among those suggested by the constituent organizations, and will be announced in advance of the Congress.

These Congresses have attained a notable place in the business life of Europe, where the Chambers of Commerce are almost governmental in character.

The leading business organizations of Europe are already members of the International Congress, the representation from the great commercial countries of England Germany and France being especially strong. The decision to hold the Fifth Congress on this side of the Atlantic has given a marked impetus to the American membership in both North and South America. Scores of the leading progressive business bodies of the United States have already joined, or will act upon the matter within a few months. It is already certain that the business ment of America are eager to co-operate with those of the other nations in the effort to promote international commercial good will.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

FOUNDER'S DAY AT WOODWARD

Fine Musical Program by Past and Present Pupils

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Even the inclement weather failed to keep any holder of a ticket away from the "Founder's Day" exercises held Tuesday evening in the assembly hall of the Woodward Institute and as a result a full house enjoyed the program. The affair was given by the past and present pupils of the school, under the direction of John D. Buckingham.

Streamers of red, white and blue were conspicuously thrown about in the hall, while a number of potted plants and ferns added great luster to the charming event. In all, there were nine numbers on the program, each of which merited prolonged applause.

The opening chorus, two songs, "Madrigal" and "To Me Thou Art a Flower," was rendered by the entire student body, which had marched into the hall in single file, headed by the members of the senior class. The blended harmony of the different voices in the chorus was readily discernible, as was evidenced by the appreciation manifested by the audience.

Two violin selections, entitled "Nocturne" and "La Menetrier" were given by Miss Ruth Keating a graduate of the class of 1910, in her usual exquisite manner and suffice it to say that the applause given to her by the audience attested sufficiently to her marked ability and talent.

Miss Margaret Read, a member of the junior class, next entertained those present with a beautiful rendition of Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata." This number was the occasion for repeated encores. The "Ave Maria," a soprano solo, with violin and 'cello obligato, sung by Miss Anastasia Harkins, proved enrapturing and a source of especial enjoyment to all.

Miss Maud Read, of the class of 1906 gave two recitations, "The Bear Story" and "The Book Canvasser" in her characteristic style and came in for her full share of well earned applause.

"Rondo Brilliant" a piano solo by Miss Amy Fallon of the graduating class was rendered in a manner that savored of professional talent. The orchestral part was played on the second piano and the entire number was greatly relished.

Miss Esther Dasha also a member of the graduating class rendered a soprano solo entitled "Ernani Involami." Miss Dasha is possessed of a fine soprano voice and sang her number with marked ease and ability. The various tones in her voice could be readily distinguished and she acquitted herself to complete satisfaction.

Miss Marion Moorhouse '10, gave two selections on the violincello, "Meditation" and "Capriccio," which elicited the same applause as had greeted the other participants.

The closing number an "Indian Serenade" and an "Indian Dance," was given by the entire student body, and incidentally one of the best and most successful functions in the history of the Woodward Institute had been brought to a close.

Conspicuous among those in attendance were Mayor Eugene R. Stone, Superintendent of Schools Albert L. Barbour, Principal James D. Howlett of the High school, County Commissioner John F. Merrill, Councilman Edward J. Sandberg and School Committeemen Joseph F. McPherson, Arthur B. Foster, Arthur W. Newcomb and Dr. Edward H. Bushnell.

The ushers were all members of the senior class, Misses Edith Kolstad, Marion White, Esther Beckford, Frances Kain and Mary Beale.

Programs were distributed by Lillian McDermott and Hilda Ellison.

GOOD BALANCE.

The recent entertainment given at the High school in aid of the athletics of the school was a grand success in every way, especially financially. The financial report shows the expenses to have been $28.15 and the receipts $220.15 leaving a balance on the right side of $192.

Y. M. C. A.

The finals of the bowling Tournament will start this evening which will continue up to April 10, when the prizes will be awarded.

The following twelve men are in the finals: L. F. LaRose, Lee Brooks, C. H. Bean, W. Elder, John Burns, John Fitzgerald, Eldon Clapp, John Wilson, Fred Croucher, Dave Morris and John Smith.

☞Bread is the staff of life. PRATT'S BREAD nourishes body and brain.

OPENING OF NEW GARAGE

Hundreds Inspect Plant of Wollaston Central Garage

IMMENSE BUILDING

The formal opening of Quincy's newest business industry, the Wollaston Central Garage, was held Tuesday evening and in spite of the stormy weather was largely attended. Had the evening been pleasant it is safe to predict that the immense garage would have been none too large to accommodate those who would have attended.

The building itself presented a very attractive appearance from the outside with its hundreds of colored electric lights and yards of bunting of the national colors, making it shine forth like a bright beacon. If the outside was attractive the inside was much more so. The visitors were very much surprised at the immenseness of the building and many favorable comments were heard on the courage of the promoters, which prompted them to embark upon such an enterprise. The company is very optimistic however and believe that the garage with its modern equipment will fill a long felt want.

The decorations were not confined to the outer building for the interior was fully as profusely decorated. Hundreds of electric light bulbs as well as a dozen or more immense arc gas lamps served to make the interior as light as day.

On the westerly side, or that nearest the railroad track, is the office. Adjoining this is a sales room for automobile supplies and further on a large machine shop. There is also a large elevator by which automobiles may be taken to the upper floor which is

(Continued on Page Two.)

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1857
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

PLEASURE CAR SECTION March 2-9
AUTO SHOW
COMMERCIAL VEHICLE SECTION March 13-20
MECHANICS BUILDING · BOSTON

COMMERCIAL VEHICLE EXHIBIT
Atspices Boston Commercial Motor Vehicle Ass'n, Incorporated OPENS TONIGHT AT 8
THEREAFTER
Open 10 A.M. to 10.30 P.M. (except Sunday) to Mar. 20
"THE GREATEST EXHIBIT OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES EVER SHOWN IN THE WORLD"
ADMISSION, 50 CENTS
"THE ACKNOWLEDGED SHOWS OF THE YEAR"
EXHIBITS MORE COMPLETE · DECORATIONS MORE SUPERB
DIRECTION CHESTER I. CAMPBELL

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1882
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Persons who venture on ice floes in winter are the same persons who rock the boat in summer.

William R. Hearst is beginning to exhibit symptoms of experiencing that dark horse feeling.

An old-fashioned winter should in all justice be followed by an old-fashioned spring.

Considering all the hold-ups they have out in Chicago, it is a very unsafe place for policemen.

Chairman Mack says that the plans of the Democratic National convention are the best ever made. But who's to be the candidate?

Governor Dix of New York has one of the most remarkable minds for not staying made up that has ever been seen in this country.

President Taft's advocacy of two new battleships indicates that there is no weak sentimentalism about his peace propaganda.

At the best, only a small portion of the population gets any higher wages through a high tariff, while everyone is taxed by it.

On those blue days when you despair of the future of the republic, just try washing the office windows, and see how much better you feel.

A presidential lightning rod that remains up for over a year generally shows signs of wear by the time the storm comes along.

They may be able to reduce Congress to order by bringing on the mace as an emblem of authority, but you could never quiet down a boy's Sunday school class in that manner.

One good way for your wife to pay a part of the bill for her new spring gown, is to get a $50 prize for one of these articles on "How to dress on $50 a year."

The Missouri Supreme Court has ruled that you cannot only print the facts, but the inferences therefrom. That's fortunate, for it usually takes the inferences to make good headlines.

CLASS IN JOURNALISM.

The class in journalism held its second session Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. and much enthusiasm was shown in the work by the boys who have been busy all the week gathering and writing news for the local papers.

George B. Gavin, one of the editors on the Boston Globe is instructing the boys and Monday night discussed their writings with them, explaining how to gather and write news so as to make it readable and of interest to the public.

Mr. Gavin is a native of Quincy and although now residing in Braintree has many interests here, showing it in a practical way in helping the young men of the city by the class just started in journaljsm.

The next meeting of the class will be on Monday afternoon at five o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

BLOW TO PACKERS

Federal Judge Decides That Their Cases Must Go Before Jury

Chicago, March 13.—Federal Judge Carpenter yesterday afternoon decided that the packers' cases must go to the jury. This decision is the most severe blow that the packers have suffered since their trial began many weeks ago.

Their attorneys had been confident that the contention of the defense that the government had not established its charges with the evidence presented would be decided in favor of the ten packers accused of violating the anti-trust law. The defense will now have to present evidence to combat that offered by the government.

GYMNASTIC EXHIBITION

Second Annual Exhibition of Y.M.C.A. Juniors

FRIDAY EVENING

The second annual gymnastic exhibition of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. junior class will be held Friday evening March 15, in the gymnasium under the direction of physical director L. F. LaRose. Preparations are being made for handling a very large crowd.

An immense and enjoyable program has been well planned which is as follows:

Marching, Calisthenic Drill, Mass Running.

Apparatus Work—First Div. Parallel Bars. Leaders Falconer, Erickson, Osberg. Second Div. Spring Board and Jump Standish. Leaders Roache, Johnson, Bates, Armstrong. Three "A" Div. Buck and Mats. Leaders Morrison, Gronberg, McGrath. Three "B" Div. Side Horse. Leaders McMillan, Davis.

Obstacle Relay Race. Pyramids and special exercises on Horse by Leaders.

Games "Corn-Cutter" first and second divisions. "Toe" Wrestle, Guston vs. Colligan. "Bull" wrestle, J. Smith vs. H. Johnson. Tug of War, Briggs, Welsford, Prout.

Tug of war, Torrey, Beach, Baker.

Potato Relay Race—Red Sox, Cubs, Athletics. Basketball, Boys vs Girls. Pommell Tag, Third Divisions. Basketball, First half Quincy vs. Cunningham Gymnasium. Indian club Relay Race, Giants, Tigers, Braves and Basketball second half.

THE COCHATO CLUB.

The annual business meeting of the Cochato club was held Tuesday evening in Cochato hall. First vice president, A. E. Avery read the call of the meeting at eight o'clock. He also stated that the executive committee had no formal report to make. It was voted to accept the treasurer's report as it appeared in printed form. The secretary's report was read and accepted. George O. Wales made a motion which was carried that a committee of three be elected by the chair to receive, assort and count the votes. Mrs. M. O. Garner, Miss Jennie Edgcomb and Mr. F. H. Waters were chosen for that purpose and the balloting for officers preceded. There were 41 votes cast. The officers elected:

Treasurer—William A. Mckean.

Secretary—F. Edgar Norris.

Executive committee—Albert E. Avery, L. O. Crocker, H. E. Curtis, H. M. Gage, M. O. Garner, Geo. H. Hamblett, Gordon M. Keating, H. F. Knight, H. P. Readmon, W. F. Rogers, J. H. Stedman, G. O. Wales, Geo. H. Wetherbee, Geo. E. Williams and Geo. S. Young.

The Cochato club is to be congratulated upon its flourishing condition. It is the one club of Braintree which has ever been successful in obtaining and retaining as it has, its splendid opportunities for good fellowship and a forward promotion of clean sportsmanship. A prominent man well-known in club circles around Boston recently said that the Cochato club had the good qualities which had been often imitated but never equaled by any other club south of Boston.

There's a Ralston Shoe

That's Built For YOU---

For you—if you demand ultra-smartness, if you like to be ahead of others in Fashion's Race.

For you—if you insist on conservative lines rather than extremes.

For you—if you seek comfort. Every Ralston Shoe is made on foot-moulded lasts to fit the human foot correctly—to fit YOURS from first to last—no "breaking in."

Somewhere among our new Spring Models you'll find your style of Shoe.

Ralston---$4.00

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar.13 3t—. 01w

LAWRENCE STRIKE

(Continued from Page One.)

and guns that had an influence where nothing else would."

The speaker described in graphic detail how a peacefully moving parade of several thousand strikers could, with the turn of a hand be changed into a howling mob by such a simple act as stepping on each other's corns.

"The critics have not given the police fair treatment. It was a parade one minute and a riot the next and they could'nt take chances.

"In regard to the sending of children from Lawrence the attitude of the militia was simply this: That they would prevent it unless they were sure of the parent's consent.

"On that memorable Saturday morning under discussion, the militia had been withdrawn and the police were in charge.

"Whether the police made a mistake or not, may be a question but it is certain that the action was taken with the best of intentions.

"It is a well-known fact that the children are being sent out under false pretences. With the avowed purpose of saving the children from starvation and where they would get better care such was shown not to be the reason.

"When two of these children's parents were arrested one was found to have 700 dollars in his stocking and the other $165."

Representative Ellis denounced the leaders of the I. W. W's. They had not been in control when the strike started but were sent for to show the strikers how to run the strike. The strike committee of the strikers is not in sympathy with the extreme views of these leaders.

In describing the condition of the mill operatives at Lawrence the speaker declared that the philanthropists did not get the whole of the situation.

"It is not a fair comparison to compare their standard of living with ours. It is next to impossible to make the foreigner live in any other way than he does."

Mr. Ellis drew a picture of the change in the class of mill workers from the time that farmer's children used to enter the mills to eke out the revenue of the farm products.

"Then came the Irish, the French Canadians and other races until now in process we have gotten next door to the bottom. I do not know whether the Chinese would be a step down or not."

The solution of the problem according to Representative Ellis lay first in the enactment of a national child labor law and then in the proper amalgamation of the incoming foreigners either through the restriction of immigration or with the help of an organization like the American Federation of Labor.

Organized labor was advocated by the speaker to control a certain element among employers that was not a bit better than among the employees.

Organized labor demands that skilled labor command a fair price and this is in a crude way what the unions aim at.

A lively discussion followed the speaker's address and the question was further threshed out by members of the club. The usual roast beef supper was served.

A nominating committee was appointed to consist of E. Tyler Brigham, G. Ernest Carr and William Burrell.

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

HEAD LEDGER ADVS.

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER

Absolutely Pure

Makes Home Baking Easy

No other aid to the housewife is so great, no other agent so useful and certain in making delicious, wholesome foods

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum No Lime Phosphates

OPENING OF NEW GARAGE

(Continued from Page One.)

particularly well arranged so that many machines may be taken care of.

The main room is also of immense size having large doors opening toward Hancock street. Here there is also accommodation for many cars. The building itself is of concrete and practically indestructible. The gasoline tank is located outside of the building and the greatest precaution is taken against possible fire.

There were quite a few cars in the garage on the opening night several being exhibition cars with patent appliances so that the main room resembled somewhat the automobile show.

As stated above there was a large number present at the opening which included besides a number of city officials many from Wollaston and Quincy proper. Among the city officials noticed were Councilmen Studley, Craig, Carruthers, Sandberg and Barker, Assessor Adams, Treasurer Tilden, Tax Collector Child, City Engineer Sargent, Inspector of Buildings Parker, Messrs Teasdale and Thomas of the Board of Health, Sealer of Weights and Measures Cantdill, Chairman Miller of the School Committee, President Charles C. Hearn and Vice President W. G. Shaw of the Board of Trade.

An opportunity was afforded during the first part of the evening to inspect the building. During this time the Winsor orchestra rendered a number of selections. There were no formal exercises but Temple A. Winsloe briefly welcomed the guests in behalf of the owners and introduced Charles J. Higgins clerk of the corporation. Mr. Higgins read congratulatory messages from Gov. Foss and others and spoke briefly on the business the concern intended to conduct.

President Hearn of the Board of Trade extended the welcome of his organization, and assured the promoters that the Board of Trade was always glad to welcome any new business enterprise. He congratulated them on the fine plant which they had and wished them all kinds of success. He also assured them that anything that the Board of Trade could do to help along the industry would be gladly done.

W. G. Shaw the vice president of the Board of Trade also had a good word to say and extended his congratulations.

Chairman Miller of the school board also spoke at length. He very much regretted the opposition that had been shown the enterprise from certain quarters. Quincy had need of many such enterprises and they should be encouraged. He then paid his respects to the "Advisory Board" which he characterized as the most visionary scheme he ever heard of.

Between the remarks of the several gentlemen Deputy Sheriff William McDevitt of Suffolk rendered a number of vocal selections and Mr. Morrison gave a trombone solo. It was expected that Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston would be present but in his absence Mr. McDevitt sang "Sweet Adeline."

After these exercises an adjournment was made to the upper floor where refreshments were served.

The proprietors of the garage were wished all kinds of good luck and as they certainly have a modern plant there seems to be no good reason why the business will not be a successful one, as there are within the city something over 350 automobiles at the present time.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

13—Concert—Wol. Glee Club—Wol. Cong. Church.
13—Union Meeting — Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Coddington School Hall.
13 Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian
13—Annual Entertainment— Men's Club, Quincy Point Church.
14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Food Sale—Universalist Vestry.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Banquet—Boy Scouts.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
15—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Real Service Free To Our Depositors

You are entitled to valuable service if you are a depositor here: To free consultation with our officers or legal department on business matters; to credit information; to advice on matters of investment; to estimates on value of securities; to liberal and broad business treatment as an aid in your business. Let us tell you more about this.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

OLD FURNITURE MADE NEW

What have you in your home that needs fixing up? We can do it; and do it RIGHT. All kinds of furniture repaired, re-finished, re-upholstered. Mattresses made or re-made. Cushions for chairs. Cozy corners. Boats made to order. NOW is the best time to place your order. 'Twill have our prompt attention. Our prices admittedly moderate. Write, call, or telephone.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

SWEEPING TARIFF RULING

Importers Are Given Right to Appeal If Duties Are Too Low

Washington, March 13.—A decision of sweeping importance in the administration of the tariff law, declaring that an importer can appeal from an assessment of duty by a collector of customs on the ground that the assessment was too low, was rendered by the United States court of customs appeals.

The decision, according to customs experts, means that manufacturers, disagreeing with the treasury department's interpretation of the tariff act, can import a test shipment and appeal to the customs court to get more protection through higher duties.

BRYAN FOR RECALL OF THE JUDICIARY

He Tells Ohio Convention That Judges Should Not Fear

Columbus, O., March 13.—William J. Bryan advocated the initiative and referendum and recall in a speech before the constitutional convention here. Speaking of the recall Bryan said:

"The only difference between the recall as now proposed, and impeachment as it has been employed, is that in impeachments the trial is before a body of officials, while the recall places the decision in the hands of the people.

"The judge, like every other officer, is the servant of the people; and there is no reason why he should be made independent of a permanent public opinion upon questions fundamental in character. The people are much more apt to deal justly with judges than they are to receive justice at the hands of judges who distrust the good intent of the masses.

"The judge who would be swayed by fear of a recall would not be fit for the place anyhow."

BITTER FIGHT AGAINST IT

House Finally Passes Agricultural Appropriatiton Bill

Washington, March 13.—The second filibuster within four days preceded the passage of the agricultural appropriation bill in the house last night.

The measure, which carried approximately $15,800,000, was delayed in its final legislative stage in the house by Minority Leader Mann. He led a bitter fight against it in an effort to obtain added appropriations for the national forests and to eliminate those voted for drainage purposes.

In both of his contentions the Republican leader lost.

Secretary McVeagh says that Taft is like Roosevelt. He is except for the trifling circumstance that he is different.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

A STRICTLY 1912 Custom-Made Suit $17.50

An amazing variety of the prettiest and newest weaves, colorings and patterns. Made to your measure as you choose, from this year's fashion plates by expert tailors.

STYLE QUALITY FIT WEAR

are all woven, fashioned and sewed into every garment.

For a limited time, we will accept orders for our all-wool-made-to-measure suits, for $17.50

Remember, that this garment must please or we don't expect you to accept it. Our clothes all bear the Guaranty Bond.

Drop us a card and our representative will call any day or evening.

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.
Dept. of Tailoring
CITY SQUARE
QUINCY

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

WHAT THEY ARE DOING AND SEASONS' PLANS

Many subscribers to the dance to be given at Alpha hall, Friday night by the Library Extension committee of the Quincy Women's club, indicates that a goodly sum will be raised for library extension work. Mrs. John O. Short is chairman of the committee.

* * *

A Japanese party will be the attraction at the meeting of the Young Women's club on March 23 at the clubhouse.

* * *

Mrs. Emery L. Crane is to entertain the Katharyn Crane Memorial club at her home on Whitney road for the March 20th meeting.

* * *

Mrs. Arthur W. Hall of Upland road was hostess on Monday afternoon for the Junior Friday club and Mrs. Alfred P. Thompson in charge of the program, the subject being Richard Brinsley. Sheridan. Club members were pleased to meet Mrs. Hall's sister, Mrs. Roy Franklin Stewart, (Clara Merrill) who is on from Washington for a month's visit.

* * *

After a most successful and enjoyable season the class in modern literature under the auspices of the Literary committee of the Quincy Women's club, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, lecturer, will end with the meeting on March 20. This meeting will have for its subject, Margaret Deland. It will be held at the clubhouse and tea will be served. Members of the Quincy Women's club may attend by showing their membership ticket.

* * *

The Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts hold their annual meeting on Saturday at Tremont Temple building, Boston, beginning at 10 A. M.

* * *

The next meeting of the class in parliamentary law will be held at the club house on Tuesday morning at 10.30 Considerable interest is being shown in the class by club members.

* * *

A meeting of the Charitable Tens' Circle of King's Daughters will be held Monday, March 18, at 2.30 P. M., at the home of Mrs. W. F. Hodgkinson, 70 Chestnut street.

* * *

Children of St. John's parochial school may obtain garden seeds of Miss Mary Griffin of 143 Mt. Pleasant street, as follows; 5 kinds of flower seeds for 5 cents; 5 kinds of vegetable seeds for 5 cents, or both kinds at same rate. This entitles them to compete for the prize gardens this summer conducted under the auspices of the Quincy Women's club.

* * *

Rehearsals of "The Lady of Shalott" and Arthur Foote's "Flower Song" cycle for a Saturday matinee concert in May under the auspices of Hospital Aid Association will be held Wednesday afternoons from 3.45 to 5 p. m. at Miss Spear's music rooms 118 Granite street. All ladies interested to assist are cordially invited to attend.

* * *

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard of Greenleaf street, president of the Quincy Women's club, is confined to her home with a severe cold, and for the first time since her election to the presidency of the Women's club was unable to be present at the meeting on Tuesday afternoon. She was missed by the club memebrs and has received kindly messages.

* * *

D. A. R.

The Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter D. A. R. of Wollaston were entertained at the home of Mrs. James A. Broughton, 465 Newport avenue, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Walter F. Jones, Regent in the chair.

The resignation of Mrs. Edward A. Chase, a charter member and wife of the former pastor of the Congregational church was received and accepted with regret.

A luncheon and bridge party will be given at the home of Mrs. William A. Chase on the Boulevard, March 18.

Mrs. Ida S. Waterhouse was elected a delegate to serve with the Regent at the State meeting for election of a State Regent. Mrs. Crocker asked for a generous contribution of May baskets for the children's party under the auspices of the Quincy Woman's club. The musical program was given by Mrs. Harry Slade of Quincy who sang delightfully, "Chant de Bacchante," by Bermberg; "Little Maid with lips so rosy" by Niewiadomski; "The World is full of April;" "Peasant's Lullaby," and "Chrysanthemum," with Mrs. Joseph S. Evans at the piano.

Mrs. Paige of the program committee then introduced Mrs. Charles A. Pinkham who told a most fascinating historical story of the Hancock Family John Hancock the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and his charming wife Dorothy Q.

A social hour followed and refreshments were served by the hostess; Misses Millicent Chapman, Lucy Waite, Mary and Elsie Broughton assisting.

QUINCY ALLIANCE.

The meeting of Quincy Alliance was held in the parlor of First church, Monday afternoon, the president, Mrs. George G. Saville in the chair. The secretary and treasurer both gave excellent reports. $5.00 were voted to the hospitality committee on recomendation of Mrs. Edward Marsh. Mrs. Wilson Marsh, as delegate, reported on the social service work in connection with the South End school. Contributions are solicited to carry on this good work.

Invitations were extended to the Quincy Alliance, from the Taunton, North Easton, and Dorchester Alliances to be present at their all day meetings.

Miss Edith Hyland sang two numbers very sweetly and with much expression, "Polly and I" and "Shoogy Shoo." Mrs. Cutter of Weymouth presided at the piano.

Rev. Mr. Hudson made a few remarks: saying in part, "I am reminded that this is the second time I have come before the Alliance. I was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Butler and I was invited to speak at one of your meetings. I never shall forget the joy and pleasure I experienced in the home of your former pastor, and in the renewal of old associations, the sacred tie of friendship, which exists between us, is more firmly and closely established.

"The work which Mr. Butler has been compelled to lay down, with your help, we will carry on with trusting hearts and renewed zeal, keep alive the old ideals with the conviction that we are working for the brotherhood of man.

"I appreciate the work of the Alliance I find the members cordial and full of sympathy: our forces are in touch throughout the country. In Dallas, Texas, the most influential church is the result of the Alliance.

"Isolated Unitarians tell me of the cheerful letters and booklets they receive. In the matter of raising money a large amount consists of small sums. Great masses of the people give small sums, which is much better than a few giving large contributions. A wonderful achievement! A real touch of the Spiritual life is keeping the individual in touch with the needs of humanity.

"I wish to help you in many ways, not to be a dominator over your faith, but a participator in your joys."

Mrs. F. W. Sumner of Canton Junction then addressed the audience, taking for her subject, "Image Makers:" speaking as follows: "It was a hot day in early August and with a party of tourists we had left the city of Geneva at eight o'clock in the morning. Geneva, with its fine buildings, its gardens by the lake-side, whose bowers and blossoms vied with the stately swans, swimming on placid lake Linan in their attractiveness, must be left behind.

"For two hours we sailed on this wondrous lake of the mountains, drinking deep draughts of joy in the varying charms of new and unwonted scenery. Several times the steamboat made stops, and we became a little acquainted with a few of the Swiss towns, which nestle near the lake until finally at Ouchy, we left travel by water and by the funicular railway were carried to the thriving town of Lausaune overlooking the lake.

"The place was arrayed for the vintner's festival, garlands of gay flowers and gay streamers, as if for our coming. Towering high above the market place is the Gothic cathedral, whose walls rose in the thirteenth century, a period of time when stone piled above stone attested the faith of believers. Three centuries later, the cathedral became the scene of a famous debate between John Calvin and others, which confirmed Protestantism in the Canton of Vaud. That was the period when men were shaking off the restraints of authority and beginning to think for themselves.

"Here for the first time the word iconoclast became to me a word of real meaning. I recalled when with youthful avidity I had devoured the published sermons of the preachers at Parker Memorial, and which one introduced to my mind the idea of iconoclast, I remember not, but I do know how for weeks the word seemed to fit in so aptly to the life about me, until I had made it my own in its application, if not in its reality. The idea that infuriated zealots, had really broken images, beloved for centuries' was not, I fancy very real to my mind. mind.'"

"Here then on this sweet summer day at Lausaune, was the record plain of the iconoclasts: here were the sacred images, headless, armless, cast down and disgraced. Near the entrance door were the fragments of a long stone which may have been above the doorway, cut deep into it were the words: "J'enterai dans ta maison, avec la respecte qui l'est due," and it was with some difficulty that I succeeded in piecing together the characters inscribed so long ago, but still full of tender and devout feeling. Much have I forgotten about the old Cathedral, but the broken images, the depression in the floor at the altar, where so many lowly knees had worn hollows in the stone and the cast down inscription at the door have remained vividly in my recollections, for they told of a faith, blind and unreasoning if you will, but a faith which cannot be nurtured too carefully and kept alive if rightly guided.

"Was it chance, do you think that put into the hearts of loyal Unitarian women the thought which started the Alliance? Is it chance do you think that has increased the workers and memebers until nearly eighteen thousand women are united in its fold?

"Sometimes it seems as if the old fashioned virtues of faith and reverence were extinct. The trend of modern thought has swung so far afield and we take so much pride in our liberality and independence, we sometimes appear too liberal to have any faith or reverence.

"Do not be pained, no doubt some of you here are open to the accusation, or you would not be Alliance members, but there are too many persons, who without realizing it, are iconoclasts, they are image breakers.

"They are willing by their absence from religious services to weaken the power of the church in their community.

"They are willing by their withdrawal of help and support, to break down the ideals of faith, reverence, hope, patience and respect for holy things which the old churchmen set up.

"I believe the spirit which prompted Unitarian women to start the Auxiliary which later grew into the Alliance was really a newer and wiser form of the old one which existed centuries ago.

"You have read of St. Vincent de Paul, the true saint, who may be so loved and respected.

"Born in southwestern France in the last part of the sixteenth century 1576 the son of a farmer, he tended flocks in his youth. But he possesed so sweet a temper and so active a mind that his father decided to have him educated and he became a Francescan priest when twenty years old. Sent to Marseilles, and returning by sea, he was captured by pirates and sold into slavery. From this he escaped and became teacher to the sons of the Count of Joegny. But what will make him always remembered is his zeal to improve the moral and physical condition of the poor and sick. His own captivity had taught him sympathy for prisoners, and he worked to relieve and reform the prisoners in the galleys at Marseilles. He founded La Madeline hsopital for the Magdalines of Paris, an order of Sisters of Charity and a foundling hospital. He ministered to the sufferers of the wars of the Froude and well deserved to be called the Lieutenant of Providence and Father of the Poor.

"We should waste our time, were we to set up an image of St. Vincent de Paul in our churches and prostrate ourselves before it, but what that image would stand for is just what our Alliance founders meant when they made their fourth object: "To devise ways and means for more efficient usefulness." This is the spirit of St. Vincent de Paul when we start associations for supporting a nurse who shall visit and care for the sick in their home when the patients cannot afford to pay.

"When we have medical inspection in our schools that little children may be helped to see and hear. Like him is our saintly Lillian Freeman Clarke in her work of assistance to unmarried mothers. Another noble work is the appeal for the relief of tuberculosis: open air camps, a pure milk supply and the guarding of child labor.

"In every good work, we can institute or support in city or town we are increasing the power of our church and the cause of Unitarianism.

"Another saint whose image has been held up for veneration is Ignatius Layola, a Spaniard born the year before Columbus discovered America. He was a page at the court of Ferdinand, a gay soldier, proud of his handsome person and noble birth. Wounded in battle he endured tortures to prevent lameness, but in vain, and it was at this time he turned his attention to the life of Christ and resolved to become a soldier in the army of our Lord.

"At first he started with less than a dozen followers who called thmselves "The Company of Jesus." In addition to their strict obedience to the pope, they promised to go to any part of the globe. As the years passed and their numbers increased, they travelled all over the world; preaching,, guiding and teaching the young.

"On the evils which later grew out of this powerful concentration of work for the Catholic church I will not dwell but it is doubtless true that Layola never went to the extremes reached by his successors. But his spirit, I hold, is the same as is expressed in our third Alliance object, when we are exhorted to collect and disseminate all matters of interest to the denomination, needs of local societies collection and distribution of money.

"The flame of this spirit has enkindled our zeal and we have distributed money for sustaining preaching as far apart as Redlands, St. John, Winnipeg and Atlanta. It has guided souls at Hauska, Shelter Neck, Alleghany City, Meadville the Pacific Coast Calhoun, Camp Hill, Morgan Memorial and Berea. There are only a few random names from the long list helped by our Alliance. Look through our manuals and see if you are not amazed at the money collected during the last ten years. This money is devoted to the spreading of truth, worship and service.

"The names of our churches established since 1899 will bring joy to our Alliance workers. We have helped so many struggling groups of our friends to organize and stand together for liberalism it gives us renewed courage.

"Our beloved secretary, Mrs. Davis takes the money collected and travels in the far West and along the Pacific coast, enduring the discomforts of the long journey, for the benefit and uplifting of her sisters, and she is happy in carrying out the spirit of our church.

"A third image we are making, near the close of the twelfth century, Clara d'Osieir was born. She was beautiful, noble and wealthy but resolved when quite young to devote her life to religious work. She founded the order of "Poor Claras", whose lives were governed by the severest rules. St. Clara spared not herself these penances and became ill and bedridden from excessive privations, but when the Saracens came to ravage the convent, she arose from her bed and began to sing.

"We would not be St. Claras: the needless infliction of pain and privation on the body will not accomplish much good in this world, but in her gathering together and organizing women for missionary work, we may emulate her example. And this is the second object of our National Alliance.

"The gathering together of women in large organizations has broadened the minds of our women: has taught them to think large and to include in their thoughts, churches from Maine to Louisiana, from Minneapolis to Los Angeles.

"All the Alliances generously respond. Every Unitarian woman is a power for good, but 17.975 women gathered in 74 branches have more power than working singly and alone.

"Another saint's image I call to your attention and the last, is Saint Veronica. You will recall the legend that when Christ was bearing his cross on the way to Calvary, a woman having compassion on His suffering gave him a napkin to wipe His brow: when she received it again, it bore the imprint of His sacred features.

"Alliance friends, when we go to our church, let us lay aside secular thoughts. Let us have the spirit of faith, worship, reverence. Let us be image makers. Let our church mean to us the Temple of the Living God. Let us raise in our hearts this inscription. 'I will enter into Thy house, with the respect that is due unto it.'"

A social, informal hour was enjoyed during which the hostesses, Mrs. James Edwards and Mrs. George Wilson served refreshments, consisting of cocoa, cake and other dainty confections.

UNIVERSALIST MISSIONARY CO.

The Missionary society connected with the Universalist church held its regular meeting with its president, Mrs. Thomas A. Addison. There was a large attendance, and the meeting was very uplifting and inspiring. Miss Austin, the pastor, gave a very interesting account of the work of Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfel, a Harvard graduate, who has established a medical missionary society on the coast of Labrador. His work is a most noble and ideal one and he is meeting with marvellous results.

The watchword for the month is "self denial" and each one present had a few words, a verse, or quotation to say.

Mrs. John Williams read an interesting letter from a missionary friend in China, relating incidents of the recent massacre.

Plans were made for the Easter services: committees being chosen to arrange for flowers and decorations.

Evening services will be continued: the following ministers occupy the pulpit in turn, Rev. Melville S. Nash of the Universalist Publishing House, Perry Bush, D. D., of Chelsea and Rev. William H. Dix of Weymouth.

After the meeting a social informal hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Addison made a delightful hostess. All kinds of delicious cakes and fancy crackers were served; Mrs. John Williams and Mrs. Robert J. Read presiding at the cocoa and tea urns.

The youngest members of the society was present, little Lois Smith, a grand niece of Mrs. Addison's and the next youngest member of a society in the state.

GENERAL FEDERATION ENDOWMENT.

The General Federation of Women's clubs has reached the point where it can no longer perform the work waiting to be done unless it has a larger income. The membership dues have been kept at a low figure in order to enable the small club to join as well as the large ones, but printing and postage consume so large a porportion of the income, that each department has but a small sum at its disposal for conservation, pure food, civil service reform, and the many other branches that are claiming the women's attention at the present time.

To meet this need the idea of an endowment has received hearty approval and to make this a reality is the present task of club women all over the country. A fund of $100,000 is the goal toward which they are working and of that sum, $10,000 is considered as the share of Massachusetts, since this State Federation is one of the largest in the country. Already the clubs are making generous responses, about $2,000 having already been secured, but to reach the desired end will require many individual gifts. The Massachusetts State Federation appeals to the friends of the club movement in the State to assist.

The General Federation is recognized as a power in the country and it is continually being asked to lend its support to beneficient measures. It is generally conceded that it saved the day for the pure food law, and has helped in the passage of forest preservation measures. In a smaller way it has taught the women how to differ amicably in discussion, to think soundly and broadly, to work harmoniously. It has brought together women from all over the country to consider common interests and this alone is unifying the nation in a way which will be felt more and more as time goes on.

The fund will be safe-guarded in the hands of trustees and only the income will ever be used.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

In spite of lowering skies a goodly company of club members and friends gathered at the club house on Tuesday afternoon for the regular meeting of the Quincy Women's Club.

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard the President being ill, Mrs. Wilson Marsh the 1st Vice Pres. presided calling the meeting to order promptly at 2.30.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted.

Mrs. Marsh read an interesting announcement regarding a House Economic Conference to be held in Winchester also an announcement concerning the Pure Food Exposition to be held in Worcester March 21-30 inclusive.

Reports of various committees followed. The class in Parliamentary Law numbers 28 and single tickets are 35 cents. Mrs. Bishop spoke of attending the hearing on the car step question, and reported progress being made.

Mrs. Short of the Literature Com. announced that all club members were invited to attend Mrs. Gurney's last lecture before the class on Modern Literature. This lecture occurs March 20th, and is to be held in the Club House. The subject is "Margaret Deland."

The club is also invited to Mrs. May Alden Ward's last lecture. Mrs. Short also spoke of Library Extension, and stated that the proceeds erceived from the dance of March 15 were to be used in buying a reflectoscope for use among the children at the main library or its branches.

(Continued on Page Six.)

Anty Drudge's Way the Only Way.

Mrs. Dainty—"I feel like crying, Anty! Look at these fine little white frocks I made the baby. They are literally eaten through by the strong stuff my washwoman puts in the water to bleach the clothes."

Anty Drudge—"Have your washing done at home with Fels-Naptha soap, and you need have no fear of the daintiest, sheerest articles being spoiled. And they will be pure and white, too."

Save the clothes by using Fels-Naptha soap.

Half the life of clothes goes in the washtub under old-fashioned washday methods. It is hard rubbing that wears out the fabric. Just as scuffing on the floor makes holes in the youngster's stockings, the friction of the washboard wears out the clothes. The week's darning shows you the effect on the boy's stockings. The wear of the washboard is not so easy to detect. But it is just as certain.

Why waste your strength wearing out the week's wash? Think how Fels-Naptha soap saves the clothes. The wash is soaked in cool or lukewarm water for 30 minutes while Fels-Naptha loosens every particle of dirt. Light rubbing and rinsing make the clothes clean, and sweet and white. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME? WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE

James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man

Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.

9-tf

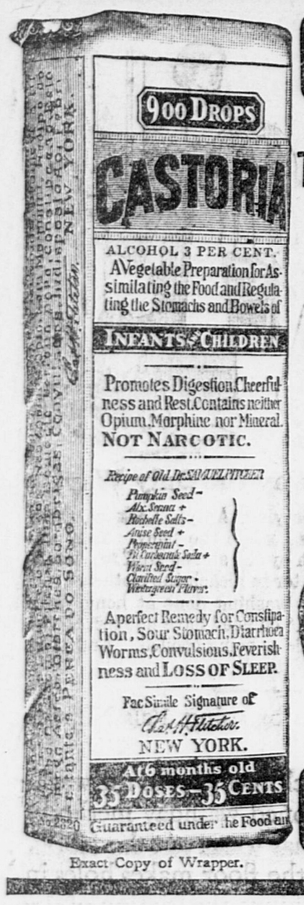
CLEANEST HANDIEST CHEAPEST FUEL GAS

It Needs No Witchcraft

to make pots and kettles seethe and bubble on a gas range. Don't be a slave to your old kitchen stove, when you can be master of a gas range without much expense.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street



CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

Good Judgment---

ZOROID LENSES

You can buy anything over a counter which does not imply a specific individual need — but it is as dangerous to buy glasses over the counter as it is to purchase an advertised panacea when you need the services of a physician.

If your eyes trouble you — you need the services of an optometrist. We charge from $1.00 to $3.00 for our authoritative examination and we can absolutely correct any visual deficiency with our own, warranted, ZOROID LENSES. Your timely call is an indication of good judgment.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 9-13

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	58 degrees
Mar. 13, 1911,	43 degrees
Mar. 13 1910,	40 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Elberton Clapp of Merrymount road has purchased a new Stanley steamer.

Thompson B. Crane is to build a two-flat house on Edinboro road, Quincy Point.

Miss Lulu Ball of Freemont, N. H., is visiting her sister, Miss Helen Ball of Upland road.

Miss Ethel Hatfield Q. H. S. '13 is confined to the house with a slight attack of the grip.

Many new houses have recently been completed on Massachusetts avenue, Quincy Point.

The Quincy Ministerial Association held its monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday morning.

John Smith of the Y. M. C. A. has recovered from recent illness and returned to work Tuesday.

Mrs. G. Hillman Eggleton of New London, Conn., has been visiting her mother Mrs. Isabella Cameron.

The ladies auxiliary of the Town River yacht club held their first meeting at the clubhouse Tuesday afternoon.

Private dancing party is to be held at the Bungalow, Houghs Neck, Friday evening, conducted by Misses Alice and Mabel Coffin.

M. P. Hayward of 232 Goffe street is making a tour of the southern states in the interests of the Religion Forward movement.

Aden DeMeary of Upland road will open a new grocery store in East Milton. L. Woowill, also of Upland road, will manage the business.

G. E. Russell of 9 Glenwood way has blood poisoning in his left arm. It first started from a boil on his wrist, and has now turned into an abscess.

A special meeting of the Presidents Hill Tennis club, is called for Friday evening at the home of its president, Charles Sampson, Dixwell avenue.

The conference delegation held a meeting at the United Presbyterian church of South Quincy, Tuesday. James Jenkins was chairman of the meeting.

There is some doubt as to whether G. E. Russell who has blood poisoning will be able to take his part in the play, 'Our Folks" to be given tonight at the Point.

The Elliot club of Wollaston closes its meetings for 1911-1912, and also its thirty-seventh season on March 20 at the home of Mrs. Daniel L. Jewell, Grand View avenue.

The South Quincy baseball club will have a strong battery this coming season. George Barry will be on the receiving end and Joseph Fahey of Medford high school will perform the slab work.

Word has been received in Quincy announcing the death at Portland, Oregon of Mrs. Emily Wood Pickering on March 3d. She was the daughter of Henry Wood and sister of the late John A. Wood of Quincy.. She was 97 years old.

Next issue for the Golden Rod, the High school paper, is due March 29. The paper is edited by the students of the school and has a good standing among the schools of Greater Boston and vicinity. It contains long and short stories, jokes, athletic, an alumni and exchange sections. The price of the paper is 15 cents a copy and it is issued every other month.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE

LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine, the world wide Cold and Grip remedy removes cause. Call for full name. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. 25c.

☞By using PRATT'S BREAD you require less butter and can save money.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy

Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

FIVE NORSEMEN REACHED POLE

Amundsen Took Four Companions on Final Dash South

DOGS SACRIFICED FOR FOOD

Camp Ready For Occupancy Left For Future Explorers In Vicinity of Bay of Whales—Norwegian Takes Issue With Reported Statement of Briton That King Haakon Plateau Is In Reality King Edward VII. Plateau

Hobart, Tasmania, March 13.—Sharing with Roald Amundsen the fame of having traversed the icy wastes of the south polar regions to the pole itself are four strapping Norse voyagers, expert ski runners and sledmen, whose names are now given to the public. These men are Sverre Hassel, Olaf Bjanland, Oscar Wisting and Helmer Hansen, described by their commander as a fine, loyal and determined party.

Complete absence of alcoholic stimulants was a notable feature of the sledge journey. The men had been served with grog on Saturdays while in winter quarters, but none was taken on the polar dash. Dog and seal meat and pemmican were the staples of diet, and powdered milk, chocolate and biscuits completed the daily menu.

Amundsen acted as photographer for the party, taking numerous pictures en route and several at "Polheim," the place determined upon as the pole. Weakened dog harness resulted in the loss of two dogs in crevasses. The slight weight of the animals enamled them to cross over snow bridges which would have collapsed under the weight of the ponies used by a rival expedition.

It was with extreme reluctance that twenty-four of the faithful animals were sacrificed for food, and Amundsen declares the killing of the dogs caused a pang in the hearts of the men.

Future explorers in the vicinity of the Bay of Whales will find a well equipped camp ready for occupancy at the deserted winter quarters of the Fram party. Fuel, table and kitchen crockery, lamps filled with oil, ample food in the storehouses, and everything in readiness for visitors will greet the next voyagers to that rugged and isolated refuge. Food also remains in the caches at 80 and 82 degrees. Amundsen offers these accommodations with a hearty welcome to the Japanese expedition, which is expected to avail itself of them.

It is probable the Framheim camp will be the base for a geographical expedition to King Edward VII. Land and Victoria Land in the near future. Amundsen has presented his surviving dogs to Mawson's expedition.

Issue is taken by the explorer with the reported statement of Lieutenant Shackleton that the polar plateau christened by the Norwegians "King Haakon Plateau" is in reality King Edward VII. Plateau, so named by Shackleton. In a general sense it may be part of the same elevated area, but, he maintains, it is a distinct plateau, lower and farther south than Shackleton's southernmost exploration.

Extreme pains was taken by the explorers to determine accurately the position of the pole. Reckonings were taken five miles from the end of the journey and observations by Amundsen and his companions taken subsequently at Polheim verified the reckonings to within a slight percentage of certainty. Instrumental errors will be corrected in the official report of the observations.

STATEMENT IS EXPECTED

President Taft to Discuss Mexican Situation With Texas Delegation

Washington, March 13.—President Taft will have a conference today upon the situation in Mexico with Secretary Stimson, Senator Culberson and the Texas delegation. It is understood that the president and the secretary of war wish to impress upon the Texas authorities that the neutrality laws must be strictly enforced and that no aid to the Mexican insurrectos must go from Texas.

It is intimated that after the conference President Taft may issue a statement defining the attitude of the United States toward Mexico in the present crisis. It is understood that such a statement, if one is issued, would contain assurances to Mexicans that the United States now has no intention of intervening.

Freight Conductor Killed

Rochester, N. Y., March 13.—In a rear-end collision between two freight trains on the New York Central near Macedon, Conductor Leonard of one of the freights was killed in his caboose.

Woman Suffrage Turned Down

Boston March 13.—The committee on constitutional amendments voted to report adversely on the woman suffrage bill. Several members of the committee reserve the right to dissent.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE ESCULENT ARTICHOKE.

ARTICHOKES are of two kinds, the Jerusalem and the Globe. The former are tubers, the latter flowers which grow on a plant resembling the thistle.

In preparing Jerusalem artichokes for cooking it is necessary to peel them. Then they are thrown into cold water in which is a little vinegar. This is to preserve the color in cooking.

When preparing Globe artichokes trim away the lower leaves. Boil in salted water.

Artichokes With Sauce.

Artichokes which are a little dry may be cooked to advantage in stock.

Artichokes With Brown Sauce.—Soak the artichokes in water. Then stew in stock until tender. Take out of the stock, leaving just about enough in the pan to make a good dressing and add to it a little brown sauce. Pour this over the artichokes when served. Dress with green peas.

Artichokes With White Sauce.—Wash, peel and shape to a uniform size. Throw into boiling salted water and let them boil fifteen to twenty minutes. Drain and serve with the following sauce poured over them:

Mix over the fire one ounce and a half of butter with a tablespoonful of flour, add half a pint of boiling water, white pepper and salt to taste. Stir till the sauce thickens, then take the saucepan off the fire and stir in the yolks of two eggs beaten up with the juice of a lemon and strain.

Jerusalem Artichokes.

Artichokes In Milk.—Pare some Jerusalem artichokes after they have been well washed. Boil in milk and water until soft. They may be served with white or brown sauce or fried in butter and served upon a napkin with parsley.

Mashed Artichokes.—After some Jerusalem artichokes have been washed and peeled put into a saucepan of warm water with salt in it, boil till tender, then serve them. If they are to be mashed mash them at once, with salt, pepper and butter. If they are to be whole keep them covered until served. Melted butter improves the look.

They may also be mashed with a little gravy. Put in a dish, with bread crumbs over, and browned in the oven they are very nice.

Or they can be treated in every way like turnips.

WAYS OF COOKING SHAD.

SHAD is now in the market and is one of the favorite dishes on the fish lover's bill of fare.

Shad should be well washed and dried. It may be cut in half and broiled or you may split it open and put a small quantity of salt over it and lay it upon a gridiron well buttered. It will broil in about twenty minutes and should be thoroughly done. Melted butter may be served with it.

Baked on a Plank.

Planked Shad.—Butter a hickory or oak fish plank quite generously and place upon it a shad that has been split, cleaned and seasoned and squeeze a liberal amount of lemon juice over it. Garnish with potato roses put on with a pastry tube and sprinkle with bits of butter and finely minced parsley.

Place the plank in the oven and cook until potatoes are slightly browned. Garnish before taking to the table with sliced hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers, dressed in vinegar, between the potato roses.

If you are not accustomed to cook fish in this way these hints may be useful. About twenty-five minutes is long enough to leave a good sized shad in the oven.

Baste often with melted butter.

The fish may be fastened to the board with a few tacks.

The board should be set in a dripping pan. The lower part of the oven is the best place for it.

The boards or planks, as they are called, should have been well seasoned and heated before they are used for this purpose.

The fish appears at the table on the plank and may be garnished with parsley and radishes. It is served with butter sauce.

Some Side Dishes.

Potted Shad.—This should be cooked in an earthern pot or covered baking dish. Take the backbone out of the shad, cut it in small pieces, then put into the dish one layer of shad, one small piece butter, some salt, pepper and a very small piece of mace, clove and allspice. Cover with vinegar. Bake in the earthen pot, well sealed, six hours. Six whole cloves and the same of allspice are enough for three shad. Seal the cover with dough so as to keep the air out.

Shad Roe Salad.—Boil the roe of the fish in salted water for twenty minutes and set it aside to cool. When it is cold take off the skin and cut the roe into thin slices.

Arrange lettuce leaves in a salad bowl, lay upon them the slices of roe, which should overlap one another. Pour over them a mayonnaise dressing and serve.

Anna Thompson.

Burned Schooner's Crew Safe

Boston, March 13.—Saved from the sea after the fishing schooner Leo took fire and was destroyed by an explosion of gasolene off the Isle of Shoals, Captain Devine, with his crew of eight men and the cook, were landed here by Captain Turner of the fishing schooner Marion E. Turner.

H-O

Cooked two hours in the mill—keeps your fuel bill down. Enables you to sleep an extra hour. H-O Oatmeal is digestible and nourishing because already thoroughly cooked.

Makes strong, healthy children—and vigorous, energetic men and women. Because of its delicious flavor has been America's Favorite Oatmeal for over 30 years. Costs less than half cent a dish.

Ready to serve in twenty minutes.

H-O is for sale by

JOHNSON BROTHERS,
BERRY BROTHERS,
HANCOCK MARKET,
OTIS MARKET,
BROWN & CROWELL.
C. H. BACKUS, Wollaston,
OLIVER C. FOSDICK, Houghs Neck,
THOMAS GURNEY, Atlantic,
JOSEPH P. PROUT, South Quincy.

FORTY-SIX IN COURT IN DYNAMITE CASE

Motion to Quash Indictments Overruled by Judge

Indianapolis, March 13.—Demurrers to indictments against forty-six defendants in the government's prosecution of the alleged dynamiting conspiracy were filed before Judge Anderson by counsel for the indicted men when they were arraigned in the federal court yesterday.

Elijah Zoline, one of the attorneys for the defense, began the argument in support of a motion to quash the indictments on the ground that many of them charged the same offense of conspiracy to transport explosives from state to state legally.

Judge Anderson interrupted Zoline's motion to quash the indictments on the ground of confusing multiplicity with the statement that the argument was absurd.

"These defendnats will never go to trial without thoroughly understanding what they are charged with," said he. "They will not be embarrassed or confused in this court. The motion is overruled."

Judge Anderson turned to the defendants, for whom seats had been arranged in tiers, and said:

"Gentlemen, do you know the nature of the charges against you?"

"We do," came in a heavy chorus.

Then one by one the indicted men arose as their names were called by the clerk, and responded "not guilty." The trial was set for Oct. 1.

RETIREMENT OF WILEY

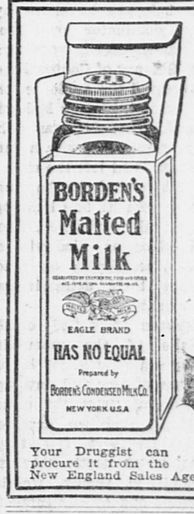
Stories That Doctor Has Made Definite Decision Are Premature

Washington, March 13.—Some of the eastern newspapers announced that Dr. H. W. Wiley has definitely made up his mind to resign as chief of the bureau of chemistry in the department of agriculture. The latest story is that he is to became the editor of a monthly magazine at Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Wiley says that he is not responsible for such publications. Close friends of Wiley know that he has recently received some tempting offers from outside the department, and they would not be surprised if he should retire soon.

Mexican Rebels Badly Beaten

Washington, March 13.—A telegram to the state department from the consul at Monterey, Mex., states the rebels have been defeated in a decisive battle with the federals at Torreon. The dispatch does not say how many men were engaged in the fight.



Borden's

Men who work with their brains and under pressure—the heads of big enterprises—find both food and drink in a cup of Borden's Malted Milk. Why do they prefer it to a heavy luncheon? Because they learn by experience it is the best and safest food for active brain workers.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 11

Eggs, Fancy, large, brown, strictly fresh,	doz.	25c
Peanut Butter,	per lb.	12c
Quaker Oats, Family size, with china,	pkg	21c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless large can 7c	small	4c
Raisins, Seeded, fancy,	pkg	9c
Corn, Fancy Maine, Wilton brand,	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska,	tall can	11c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Soap, Ives Family,	bar	3c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria,	can	9c
Peaches. California festival, fancy,	can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked,	can	8c
Starch, Fancy Laundry,	3 lbs	11c
Ketchup, Blue Label,	large bottle	17c
Maple Sugar Syrup, "Golden Tree"	large bot.	22c
Crackers, Baby Lunch,	per lb.	8c
Oranges, Fancy California Navel,	doz.	25c

Mar. 11—M. W. F.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER IV.

Law at Balaam's Cross Roads.

But Mr. Yancy was only at the beginning of his trouble. Three days later there appeared on the borders of Scratch Hill a gentleman armed with a rifle. It was Charley Balaam, old Squire Balaam's nephew.

"You Are Empowered to Seize Said Yancy Wherever He May Be At."

"Can I see you friendly, Bob Yancy?" Balaam demanded with the lungs of a stentor, sheltering himself behind the thick bole of a sweetgum, for he observed that Yancy held his rifle in the crook of his arm.

"I reckon you can, Charley Balaam, if you are friendly," said Yancy.

"I'm a-going to trust you, Bob," said Balaam. And forsaking the shelter of the sweetgum he shuffled up the slope.

"How are you, Charley?" asked Yancy, as they shook hands.

"Only just tolerable, Bob. You've been warranted—Dave Blount swore hit on to you." He displayed a sheet of paper covered with much writing and decorated with a large seal.

"Read it," he said mildly. Balaam scratched his head.

"I don't know that hit's my duty to do that, Bob. Hit's my duty to serve it on to you."

At this juncture Uncle Sammy's bent form emerged from the path that led off through the woods in the direction of the Bellamy cabin. With the patriarch was a stranger.

"Howdy, Charley. Here, Bob Yancy, you shake hands with Bruce Carrington," commanded Uncle Sammy. At the name both Yancy and Balaam manifested interest. They saw a man in the early twenties, clean-limbed and broad-shouldered, with a handsome face and shapely head. "Yes, sir, hit's a grandson of Tom Carrington that used to own the grist-mill down at the Forks."

"Where you located at, Mr. Carrington?" asked Yancy. But Carrington was not given a chance to reply. Uncle Sammy saved him the trouble.

"Back in Kentucky. He takes rafts down the river to New Orleans, then he comes back on ships to Baltimore, or else he hoofs it no'th overland. He wants to visit the Forks," he added.

"I'm shortly goin' that way myself, Mr. Carrington, and I'll be pleased of your company—but first I got to get through with Bob Yancy," said Balaam, and again he produced the warrant. "If agreeable to you, Bob, I'll ask Uncle Sammy to read this here warrant."

"Who's been a-warrantin' Bob Yancy?" cried Uncle Sammy.

"Dave Blount has."

"I knowed hit—I knowed he'd try to get even! What's the charge agin you, Bob?"

"Read hit," said Balaam. "Why, sho'—can't you read plain writin', Uncle Sammy?" for the patriarch was showing signs of embarrassment.

"If you gentlemen will let me—" said Carrington pleasantly. After a moment's scrutiny of the paper that Balaam had thrust in his hand, Carrington began:

"To the Sheriff of the County of Cumberland: Greetings:

"Whereas, It is alleged that a murderous assault has been committed on one David Blount, of Fayetteville, by Robert Yancy, of Scratch Hill, said Blount sustaining numerous bruises and contusions, to his great injury of body and mind; and, whereas, it is further alleged that said murderous assault was wholly unprovoked and without cause, you will forthwith take into custody the person of said Yancy, of Scratch Hill, charged with having inflicted the bruises and contusions herein set forth in the complaint of said Blount, and instantly bring him into our presence to answer to these and several crimes and misdemeanors. You are empowered to seize said Yancy wherever he may be at; whether on the hillside or in the valley, eating or sleeping, or at rest.

"DE LANCY BALAAM, Magistrate.

"Fourth District, County of Cumberland, State of North Carolina. Done this twenty-fourth day of May, 1835.

"P. S.—Dear Bob: Dave Blount says he ain't able to chew his meat. I thought you'd be glad to know."

Smilingly Carrington folded the warrant and handed it to Yancy.

"Well, what are you goin' to do about hit, Bob?" inquired Balaam.

"Maybe I'd ought to go. I'd like to oblige the squire," said Yancy.

"Suppose I come to the Cross Roads this evening?"

"That's agreeable," said the deputy, who presently departed in company with Carrington.

Some hours later the male population of Scratch Hill, with a gravity befitting the occasion, prepared itself to descend on the Cross Roads and give its support to Mr. Yancy in his hour of need. Even Uncle Sammy, who had not been off the Hill in years, announced that no consideration of fatigue would keep him away from the scene of action, and Yancy loaned him his mule and cart for the occasion. Yancy led the straggling procession, with the boy trotting by his side, his little sunburned fist clasped in the man's great hand.

The squire's court held its infrequent sittings in the best room of the Balaam homestead, a double cabin of hewn logs. Here Scratch Hill was gratified with a view of Mr. Blount's battered visage.

"What's all this here fuss between you and Bob Yancy?" demanded the squire when he had administered the oath to Blount. Mr. Blount's statement was brief and very much to the point.

"He done give me the order from the judge of the co't—I was to show it to Bob Yancy—"

"Got that order?" demanded the squire sharply. With a smile, damaged, but clearly a smile, Blount produced the order. "Hmm—app'inted guardeen of the boy—" the squire was presently heard to murmur. The crowded room was very still now, and more than one pair of eyes were turned pityingly in Yancy's direction. When the long arm of the law reached out from Fayetteville, where there was a real judge and a real sheriff, it clothed itself with terrors.

"Well, Mr. Blount, what did you do with this here order?" asked the squire.

"I showed Yancy the order—"

"You lie, Dave Blount; you didn't!" said Yancy. "But I can't say as it would have made no difference, squire. He'd have taken his licking just the same and I'd have had my nevvy out of that buggy!"

"Didn't he say nothing about this here order from the co't, Bob?"

"There wa'n't much conversation, squire. I invited my nevvy to light down, and then I snaked Dave Blount out over the wheel."

"Who struck the first blow?"

"He did. He struck at me with his buggy whip."

Squire Balaam removed his spectacles and leaned back in his chair.

"It's the opinion of this here co't that the whole question of assault rests on whether Bob Yancy saw the order. Bob Yancy swears he didn't see it, while Dave Blount swears he showed it to him. If Bob Yancy didn't know of the existence of the order he was clearly actin' on the idea that Blount was stealin' his nevvy, and he done what any one would have done under the circumstances. If, on the other hand, he knowed of this order from the co't, he was not only guilty of assault, but he was guilty of resistin' an officer of the co't." The squire paused impressively. His audience drew a long breath.

"Can a body drap a word here?" It was Uncle Sammy's thin voice that cut into the silence.

"Certainly, Uncle Sammy. This here co't will always admire to listen to you."

"Well, I'd like to say that I consider that Fayetteville co't mighty officious with its orders. This part of the county won't take nothin' off Fayetteville! We don't interfere with Fayetteville, and blamed if we'll let Fayetteville interfere with us!" There was a murmur of approval Scratch Hill remembered the rifles in its hands and took comfort.

"The Fayetteville co't air a higher co't than this, Uncle Sammy," explained the squire indulgently.

"I'm aweer of that," snapped the patriarch. "I've seen hit's steeple."

"Air you finished, Uncle Sammy?" asked the squire deferentially.

"I 'low I am. But I 'low that if this here case is goin' again Bob Yancy I'd recommend him to go home and not listen to no mo' foolishness."

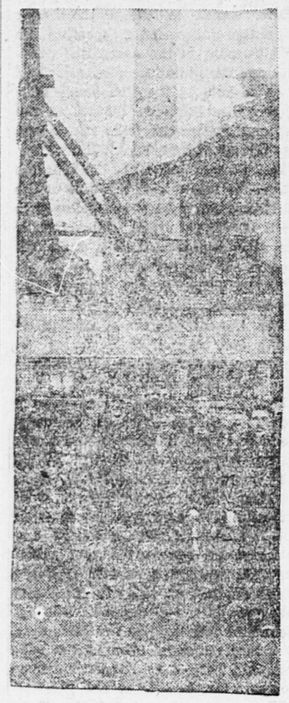
"Mr. Yancy will oblige this co't by setting still while I finish this case," said the squire with dignity. "Mr Yancy has sworn to one thing, Mr Blount to another. Now the Yancys air an old family in these parts; Mr Blount's folks air strangers. Consequently," pursued the squire, somewhat vindictively, "we ain't had any time in which to form an opinion of the Blounts; but for myself, I'm suspicious of folks that keep movin about and who don't seem able to get located permanent nowheres, who air here today and away tomorrow. But you can't say that of the Yancys They air an old family in the country and naturally this co't feels obliged to accept a Yancy's word before the word of a stranger. And, in view of the fact that the defendant did not seek litigation, but was perfectly satisfied to let matters rest where they was, it is right and just that all costs should fall on the plaintiff."

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MINERS WALKING OUT

Snapshot of Start of England's Great Strike



© Central News, London.

AGAIN IN NEGOTIATION

Disputants In British Coal Strike May Reach an Agreement

London, March 13.—The disputants in the British coal war, which has involved the throwing out of employment of more than 2,000,000 men in England, Scotland and Wales and has caused the greatest distress among the population, met again yesterday afternoon in a round table conference.

The meeting was a momentous one, as it established the fact that the long standing deadlock had been broken. It took place at the foreign office under the presidency of premier Asquith. The meeting adjourned until today.

There are still many difficulties in the way of an immediate settlement of the dispute, but the fact that the two parties have again come together and that negotiations are proceeding has served to bring about a feeling of hope.

TOWN IS SURPRISED BY OWN DECISION

Lynnfield Goes Wet For Second Time in 276 Years

Lynnfield, Mass., March 13.—For the second time in its history of 276 years Lynnfield has gone license. To the consternation of the conservative and religious portion of the community, it was found after the annual election that the "wets" had won by 58 votes.

The result of the election is a complete surprise, even to the license advicates. Last year they won by only eight votes, and it was expected that they would be defeated easily this year, as the one saloon which is allowed apparently has not been popular.

Since Lynnfield was founded in 1633 it has been noted for its temperance.

In Colonial times a drunkard always was placed in the stocks and labelled. And in later days the occasional lapse from grace of a resident has been regarded as a severe crime and the offender is severely dealt with.

SHE UNDERSTANDS POLITICS

Taft Headquarters In Minnesota In Charge of a Woman

St. Paul, March 13.—Miss Eloise L. Calihan, who is said to be the only woman in Minnesota who really knows practical politics, after more than ten years of retirement from active politics, yesterday took charge of the local Taft headquarters.

Miss Calihan took part in several campaigns in the days when Tams Bixby was chairman of the Minnesota state central committee, and John Goodnow, former minister to China, along with Senator Nelson and others, was a power in Minnesota politics.

INCREASE IN IMMIGRATION

Americans Going to Canada This Year Number About 150,000

Ottawa, March 13.—Statistics by immigration officials place the number of immigrants from the United States to Canada this year at 150,000. This is an increase of about 20,000 over last year's figures.

The rush is unprecedently heavy for this season of the year. The British coal strike, on the other hand, may retard immigration from the mother country.

WOMEN OUT IN FORCE

Cast Big Vote at Cambridge, Where Democrats Carry Election

Cambridge, Mass., March 13.—Professor Joseph H. Beale of Harvard was defeated for re-election as school committeeman-at-large in the Democratic wave of victory that swept Cambridge yesterday.

The place held by Beale was the storm centre of the whole election. Five thousand three hundred and eighty-four women voted. Beale's opponent, John W. Bradley, was swept into office by a safe majority, giving Cambridge its first Democratic majority on the committee.

Mayor Barry was re-elected with a plurality of 2745. With him in office he will have his entire board of aldermen Democratic and thirteen out of the twenty-two councilmen.

The fight for principal assessor went to the Democratic candidate, William M. Hogan. All over the city the Democratic vote made gains. The "yes" vote also was larger than ever before, though not approaching license.

You Often Want

quick relief from biliousness—from its headaches, its sour stomach, hiccoughs, flatulence, unpleasant breath and the general feeling of good-for-nothingness it causes. Thousands—through three generations and the wide world over—have found, as you will find, that give the necessary relief quickly, safely, gently, naturally. This harmless family remedy is justly famous for its power to put the bowels, liver, kidneys and stomach in regular active working order. In every way—in feelings, looks, actions and in powers—you will find yourself altogether better after you have used Beecham's Pills

Beecham's Pills

For Quick Relief

You ought to be sure to read the directions with every box.
Sold everywhere, 10c., 25c.

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11- -m

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-3m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Piano, large upright, good condition. Apply 112 Sagamore street, Atlantic, Mass., near depot; at home mornings. 12-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appl at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—By a lady, work by day, laundry work preferred. Apply to Frisk Employment Agency, Johnson Bldg. 13 3t

WANTED—You to see plainly and distinctly. Every time I come to town the folks keep kicking ma dawg aroun'. Now it makes no difference if he is a houn' you've got to quit kickin ma dawg aroun'. Mac Millan Jeweler and Graduate Optician. 1463 Hancock street (Singer Shop.) Residence office 837 Hancock street. 13-3t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED—By young man position in men's furnishing store. Best references. Address 129 Glendale road, Quincy. 12-3t

WANTED—English speaking maid, with references, for general housework. Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., 18 Spear street, Quincy. 11-3t

WANTED—Every customer satisfied, my best advertisement. S. Ernest MacMillan, Graduate Optician, 1463 Hancock street, (Singer Shop) Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, by appointment only at Residence Office, 837 Hancock street Wollaston. 11-3t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock s reet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

TO LET

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 13-6t

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms. Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

TO LET — 7 Room House, with modern conveniences, ready for occupancy April 1. C. H. Penniman, Granite street. 8-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

The minute you think of Spring

there comes a craving for "green things" to eat as well as to see. Our line of canned vegetables will help to satisfy this craving — and you should try them.

We select the most reliable canners in each section of the country where the different fruits and vegetables are grown. This means that when you buy canned goods of FOY you are getting the finest goods of uniform quality and flavor. It means that you get your money's worth, and that's what counts when you are buying quality goods.

"Hatchet Brand" Wax Beans

2 Cans 25c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Cor Water and Quincy Sts
Quincy Adams

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store
During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale
In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BRIEFS

Mrs. Charles Mossman of Walker street is confined to her home with tonsilitis.

Mr. P. Bostwick and family came to their home on Brunswick street, Squantum today where they will remain until fall.

It is the examination for janitors and not engineers which William Wood of the Y. M. C. A. is to take in April.

The Finance committee of the City Council meet Saturday night when it is expected that the budget will be completed.

Mrs. H. G. Hayford of Worcester is spending a few weeks with her son son Lugene J. Hayford of East Squantum street.

George Grueby of Webster street sailed from New York last week for England and Holland, where he will inspect foreign fisheries. He expects to be gone six weeks.

The property of Joseph Warren Hayden on Howard street, has been sold through the office of Frank F. Crane to the Fore River Shipbuilding company.

Wm. Cranshaw captain of the last year's High school track team is a likely candidate for the championship cup on March 23, which will be held at the Y. M. C. A.

Foundation is being laid for a building on the corner of Atlantic and East Squantum streets. Rumor has it that the first floor will be occupied by a store, with living apartments on the second floor.

The committee, Mr. Fitton, Mrs. Ida Crane and Mr. Marr have drawn up a constitution for the proposed Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Point District. The next meeting will be held at the Washington school, March 28.

The annual meeting of the Walther Men's class will be held on Thursday evening in the chapel of the Wollaston Baptist church. The meeting wll be addressed by Hon. J. Mitchell Galvin of Boston. Refreshments and a social hour will follow.

Bessie Wasn't That Kind.

"I wouldn't drink out of that cup," said little Johnnie to the well dressed young stranger, "that's Bessie's cup, and she's very particular who drinks out of it."

"Ah," said the young man as he drank the cup dry. "I feel honored to drink out of Bessie's cup. Bessie is your youngest sister, isn't she?"

"Not much! Bessie is my dog."—Ladies' Home Journal.

DEATHS

PICKERING—In Portland, Oregon, March 3d., Mrs. Emily Wood Pickering, daughter of the late Henry Wood and sister of the late John A. Wood, of Quincy. Aged 97 years.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

PITNEY IS ASSAILED

Supreme Bench Nominee May Not Be Confirmed by Senate

Washington, March 13.—For more than three hours last evening the senate, in one of the stormiest and most protracted executive sessions in the recent history of congress, debated the confirmation of Mahlon W. Pitney of New Jersey, whom President Taft has nominated to succeed the late Justice Harlan on the supreme court bench, and then finally agreed to resume debate at noon today and vote on the confirmation at 4 o'clock.

A rough canvass made by Pitney's supporters after the fray last night showed that the vote probably would be very close and that there was some danger of his rejection.

When the discussion began Senator Culberson led in the attack, and in his speech and those of other senators, the New Jersey judge was assailed in bitter language, which extended even to an attack upon his fitness for the bench.

TANK STEAMER WRECKED

Two Seamen Drown as Craft Goes on Rocks Near Shore

Gaviota, Cal., March 13.—Lying on the rocks, only fifty feet from the Gaviota shore, where she struck, the tank steamer Rosecrans of the Associated Oil company's fleet is practically a total wreck. Two of her crew were drowned, and the remaining thirty-three and her commander, Captain Johnson, are waiting here for orders.

The rolling and grinding of the vessel's hull on the rock barrier caused her to spring aleak and, being in danger of capsizing, Johnson ordered that the valves be opened.

SUGAR MEN ON TRIAL

District Attorney Says They Engaged In Most Brazen Conspiracy

New York, March 13.—The trial of officers, directors and counsel of the sugar trust on a charge of criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law began in earnest when the jury was sworn in and District Attorney Wise made his opening address.

In this he charged the defendants with having engaged in the most brazen conspiracies ever brought to the attention of the federal authorities.

Glue Tonic.

Chinese medicine developed a special fondness for fossilized "dragon bones," derived from extinct herbivora. They are also fond of "dragon teeth," as fossilized shells are called. In Shantung glue is made from asses' skins. In a certain town of that province is a well, the water of which when drunk by asses makes their skins especially good for making glue. This glue brings a fancy prize, as it is a famous tonic throughout China.—Chicago Tribune.

Joe Folk finally saw the handwriting on the wall and has retired gracefully from the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination. Mr. Folk is probably the only one who took his candidacy seriously.

Too Late For Classification.

TO LET—House of 6 rooms and bath. All modern improvements, convenient to Fore River and square. Good location. Apply to Mr. Murray, 11 Glenwood Way. 13-3t

BUSINESS CARS IN LIMELIGHT

Trucks and Delivery Wagons in Place of Pleasure Cars

MECHANICS' BUILDING

Boston will uncover in Mechanics Building, tonight the first commercial vehicle show ever held in this section. It will supplant the pleasure car exhibition that has had its innings and came to a close last Saturday evening. From March 13 to 20, inclusive, this commercial show will continue, and from all indications it will rival the exhibit just ended as a drawing card.

All of the elaborate decorations that proved so fitting a setting for the pleasure car will be left in the building where the limousines, touring cars, and runabouts have been viewed by thousands during the past week, and trucks for every purpose will be shown in their place.

Almost everything in the form of a self-propelled vehicle for use on the public roads will be seen, from a three-wheeled motorcycle with parcels van, suitable for use by small laundries, men's furnishing stores, etc., to a 10-ton truck for hauling coal or large and heavy materials.

There will be many special purpose machines including motor fire apparatus, patrol wagons, ambulances, hearses, omnibuses, emergency wagons for street railways, dump trucks, fitted with tipping bodies, operated by power from the motor, trucks equipped with power winches for hoisting purposes, and even a tractor truck for hauling plows in the field and driving threshing machines, circular saws, hullers and other farm machinery.

Preices as diversified as constructions, and range from as low as 50 cents per pound of carrying capacity to more than $3. One might take his choice of a 16-20 horse power, two cylinder gasoline wagon of 1500 pounds capacity, selling at $650 complete, or an electric delivery wagon of 1000 pounds capacity at $3500. The selection should depend on such considerations as where the vehicle is to be used, nature of business engaged in, class of trade, kind of drivers employed and so on.

Interest in the commercial vehicle is growing rapidly, and predictions were freely made last week at the pleasure car show by those in the trade and out that this branch of the automobile industry will in a few years exceed in importance the pleasure car business.

Largely as a result of the fine display of trucks at last year's Boston show, it is believed the number of commercial motor vehicles in use in New England increased 35 per cent in the four summer months last year.

With the hard winter weather we have just passed through, when ice and snow often paralyzed horse traffic and the simultaneous rise in price of hay and feed, this rate of increase is likely to become even larger. Experiences of horse owners during the excessively hot weather last July also had a telling effect that is counted on by truck makers to be reflected in the interest taken by business men in the coming exhibition.

Practically all of the largest and most prominent makers of industrial and commercial motor vehicles will have representative exhibits at the show. These will include a score of makes that are new to the public, never having been exhibited before at any of the national shows, and many entirely new models brought out by well-known companies for 1912 to adapt their lines to a wider range of requirements as to load capacity. In this list, too, the new concerns will be most prominent and will introduce a large number of distinctive ideas in their newest product.

Why There Was No Tip.

In a downtown restaurant which is usually crowded during the midday meal time a waiter took pains to secure places at one of his tables for two men who had been waiting for some time. The waiter received the thanks of both men and attended to their wants in a highly satisfactory manner. When the check was presented one of the men paid, received the change and left nothing on the salver for the waiter. "You forgot to tip the waiter," said his companion. "No, I didn't. He's my landlord."—New York Tribune.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

CONCESSIONS BY MILL MEN

Strikers Say They Are Much Greater Than Were Asked

PEACE REIGNS AT LAWRENCE

Lower Paid Workers to Receive Advance of Twenty-Five Percent, According to I. W. W. Leaders—Time and a Quarter Overtime and Fortnightly Payment of Premium Also Granted—Definite Terms of Agreement Not Yet Divulged

Lawrence, Mass., March 13.—Leaders of the strikers in official statements claim that the terms of peace offered by the mill owners in some instance have even exceeded the original demands of the strikers.

The wage increase offered, they declare, scales from 25 percent to 5 percent, and includes time and a quarter overtime, payment of the premium fortnightly instead of monthly, and all employes to be accepted back at the mills without discrimination.

The lower paid workmen are to receive the 25 percent advance, the I. W. W. leaders declare.

Frequently premiums were lost to the workers under the monthly system because they made good for three weeks and fell back on the fourth, which was one of the greatest grievances of the strikers.

Leaders of the big textile strike, now in its ninth week, announced that the long-looked-for settlement may come before Saturday.

At a conference at the state house yesterday afternoon the sub-committee of the strikers' committee reached an agreement with the mill owners.

What the agreement is and its definite terms will not be divulged until after the executive session of the full strike committee, to be held at the Franco-Belgian hall today.

From those who are closely associated with the committee it was stated that practically the entire demands made by the Industrial Workers of the World had been met and agreed upon by the representatives of the mill owners.

The full strike committee will hear the report of the sub-committee and at the executive session will decide whether the terms are such that they can place them before a mass meeting of the entire striking body.

But when Chairman Reilly of the sub-committee announced as he stepped from the train at Lawrence last night that for the first time an agreement had been reached, it was practically definitely settled in the minds of the concourse that had gathered to greet the committee that only such terms as would satisfy the strikers had been entertained at the Boston meting.

Warned by the leaders at meetings Monday night to refrain from any disturbances until the peace negotiations had been concluded, the strikers passed a restless but quiet day yesterday. In the morning their picket lines covered miles of area, but not a single disturbance was recorded.

The feeling that peace was soon to follow the nine weeks of turbulent industrial warfare was in the air. For the first time since the strike commenced the vigilant pickets ceased their aggressive tactics and all are awaiting the outcome of the coming executive session, when the details of the advance in wages will be made public.

FIVE PERCENT INCREASE

Fall River Corporations Follow Example of Mills In Other Places

Boston, March 13.—The crest of the higher wage movement in New England textile circles reached Fall River yesterday afternoon, and the 25,000 employes of 100 print-cloth mills there will receive a 5 percent advance on March 25. The action of the Fall River mills brings the total of wage earners in New England textile plants who will share in better pay to 175,000.

The Fall River mills and the Whittenton Manufacturing company's cotton plant in Taunton were the first in southern New England to join the upward movement.

The textile council of New Bedford has decided to ask for an advance in that city, and if a raise is granted there, mill owners elsewhere engaged in the manufacture of fine goods will follow.

Among mills outside of Fall River which joined in the advance movement yesterday were the Lyman mills of Holyoke, Dwight mills of Chicopee and Boston of Waltham.

Fifteen Injured In Train Wreck

Milwaukee, March 13.—Part of a passenger train was derailed near Oakwood. Fifteen persons were injured, some fatally, but none was killed outright.

Spanish Premier Stays In Office

Madrid, March 13.—The Spanish cabinet, which resigned Monday, has been reconstructed. Pemier Canalejas retains the leadership.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

(Continued from Page Three.)

Mrs. Smith of the Philanthropic committee announced a meeting on next Tuesday of the Associated Charities and the Philanthropic Com. This is to be held at the club house at 3 P. M. Miss Purchase the sec. of the Associated Charities is to speak, and all club members are invited.

Mrs. Edward Marsh for the Program committee stated that the date of the Children's Party had been changed to April 13. There would be dancing for the older children, and a doll's reception for the younger.

The children of the waiting list are invited to attend.

Mrs. Cummings gave a most interesting and instructive report of the Conservation Conference held at Jamaica Plain in January.

Mrs. W. F. Cummings long delayed report of the conference at Jamaica Plain was most interesting and worth waiting for, being as follows:

By invitation of the Jamaica Plain Tuesday club, the Conference on Conservation was held Jan. 22, in Eliot hall, Jamaica Plain. Forestry and Conservation committees, club presilents, and all interested in the subject were invited to be present and take part in the discussion. The object of the meeting was two-fold; first, to create an enthusiasm in the subject, and second to impart information.

The conference was led by Mrs. Fred H. Tucker, chairman of the Conservation department of the Mass. State Federation of Women's clubs, taking the form of questions and answers. Mrs. Tucker answered all questions in a clear and masterful way, creating much interest in the Forestation of Massachusetts. She said in part:

"Conservation is a question that effects the social condition of our city, our state and our country. It is fundamental, and by it many evils are palliated. The conservation of our national resources will bring less crime, less disease and greater prosperity.

"Three-fifths of the area of Massachusetts is in waste, or woodland today. Most of the so-called waste land could be redeemed by forest culture. Most of the woodland could be greatly improved by intelligent management. Nearly all this area can be cultivated more profitably for wood than for agricultural crops. Only five per cent. of the forest products used in Massachusetts are grown within the state, hence we have a good home market and Massachusetts should derive large revenues from cultivated wood crops.

"In 1909, a law was made to the effect that the State Forester with the approval of the Governor and his Council, could buy land for not over $5 an acre, which the state will take care of, and forest. Sufficient funds were not given to buy all the land offered to them. Mr. Rane, State Forester, is about to ask for a larger appropriation in order to forest these state lands.

"What is meant by municipal forests? A piece of woodland which belongs to the town, and is cultivated for revenue, and this source of revenue is sufficient in some cases to make taxation unnecessary.

"While this has not been tried in the United States, there are many European towns where the establishment of the municipal forests has proved a great success. The town of Orson, in Sweden, had patriotic citizens, a generation or two ago, who planted these forests, and, as a result today, they have free telephone system, railways free to every citizen in the town, and the schools and libraries cost the citizens absolutely nothing; and while the town of Orson was paying her municipal expenses for the past year from the proceeds of a well kept forest, the American nation, through neglect of her forests, was sufferng a fire loss alone of $200,000,000, and many lives besides.

"At least 13 cities and towns of Massachusetts have had the State Forester examine their water supply and seven of these have done planting and other forest work under the plans made by the State Forester. One of these is Fall River. Also in Clinton and Boylston white pines have been planted to protect our Metropolitan water supply. This may eventually be of mercantile profit.

"Pennsylvania is the most progressive state in regard to municipal forests and parks."

The Chairman urged all clubs to join the Forestry Association which costs $5 a year. By this means, they would receive all literature published and be able to understand conditions of local interest.

In regard to the moth menace, many encouraging things have been learned. It has been discovered that the little caterpillars have favorite foods, and so, in one badly devastated forest, the oaks, birches and other hard wood trees were cut down, and, with their favorite food gone, the animals died, and the other trees were not troubled at all. Then it is found that caterpillars thrive best in dry places and if trees can be kept moist they contract a disease which destroys them.

One of the discouragements to private forestry is the fire danger. In 1911, a law was made providng for fire wardens who shall prevent the spread of forest fires. The new law did not go into effect last summer until much destructve work had been done, but it did extinguish 40 fires. Massachusetts is to be divided into 15 lookout stations, each station is to be looked after by a District Warden who is to have a telephone and runabout at his disposal, so that fires can be quickly reported and more readily suppressed.

In regard to taxation, there must be a change in the Constitution in order to classify property, so as to reasonably tax woodland. At the next Federation meeting, we are to be asked to endorse this resolution. It has already been passed once, and now must be passed before the General Court.

What shade trees can be planted most successfully by the roadside? On wide streets, plant white ash, and rock maple. On narrow streets, plant Norway maple, catalpa, speciosa and gingko.

Mrs. Tucker will be very glad to give an illustrated talk on the pruning of trees at any time, and at any place, if so desired.

So much time had been spent on the conservation of forests that the conservation of water and other supplies could only be dwelt upon briefly.

France, and other countries, have done a great deal in fixing sand-dunes. This has been done on the Cape Cod shores, starting from Provincetown for a little way. Children should be taught of the moving and shifting of the sand-dunes, and ways of preventing. The sand-dunes at Chatham are a fine example of the shifting and changing of the coast lines.

Mrs. Emmons Crocker of Fitchburg, Chairman of the Conservation committee of the General Federation called attention to a book that will attract the attention and hold the interest of children of all ages entitled the "Land we live in," by Overton W. Price, at the cost of $1.50. If this book could be read by every boy and girl in the home and school, and the book placed in every public library, School library and Sunday school library the future of conservation would be assured.

Mrs. Crocker also gave those present a new design for a Jennie Wren bungalow, which she hoped the clubs would be interested in, and thus encourage the children to make, so that the wrens could have homes which would not be devastated by the ever present sparrow and larger bird.

The pleasant and profitable afternoon closed with a few cordial words by the State President, Mrs. Mulligan, who thought that study clubs could profitably take up conservation of national resources, a question which affects the welfare of us all, of our children, and of everything we hold dear.

Mrs. Pinkham stated that she wished to make one more plea for the endowment fund. Only $25 had been raised thus far. This brought the business meeting to a close.

The musical program of the afternoon consisted of two songs very sweetly sung by Miss Gertrude Allen, with her sister Miss Olive Allen as accompanist.

Mrs. Edward B. Marsh chairman of the Program Committee presented to the audience the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Ralph Parlette, who proved to be a humorist of the first water, and like all such, a philosopher and thinker, tearing away the husks of worthless artificiality and revealing the hidden truths of life. His subject, "Some of the things that make me rich" was a fruitful one and offered many opportunities for satirizing the modern tendency to reduce everything to a money basis. The home wherein mother drew a salary for minding the baby became equally as impossible as the breath of life subject to slot-machine charges and emphasized the fact that the best things are beyond the reach of the dollar.

The tendency is to think first of what a man has in his pocket when estimating his happiness and worth, but the reality is that he only owns what he can see, enjoy and appreciate. What we use is all we really own, and if we give service day by day to the world, the whole world repays in work for us. Try to realize that we fortunate dwellers in the 20th century are billious with blessings. Kings and Emperors of the preceding centuries could not command one of the modern luxuries that are necessities to us. As no one can ever realize the wonder of sight until temporarily deprived of it, or the miracle of health until he has lost it, or the blessing of real hunger that like truth crushed to earth ever rises again, until he has lived on a diet and has had to say to his stomach "please may I eat?" and heard the ever recurring answer "No!"—so no one may be able to feel the blessed privilege of work, the blessed privilege of friends, the blessed privilege of liberty and the blessed privilege of a national flag that makes all these things our natural heritage, until he has visited some other country where these things are impossible. True happiness, true wealth, are after all a matter of the heart, home is a palace or a hovel, just as our own hearts and minds make it; we are all building homes, let us build palaces and not hovels, let us see the radiance illuminating the inner life, let us get rich and own what we can see and hear and put in our hearts.

Despite the underlying seriousness of Mr. Parlette's discourse, the genuinely comical illustrations drawn over the whole made his lecture a series of "word cartoons" at sight of which the laugh invariably came first even thought the lesson so skilfully presented touched the depths of truest life. Those who heard him will not soon forget his description of a boy's first pair of trousers, the impersonation of a man who has been robbed and has to face the fact by living up to his own theories that money does not mean hapiness, and lastly of his own pathetic search for the buckwheat cakes "like mother used to make."

All regretted that Mr. Parlette was obliged to hurry for a train immediately after closing his lecture as many would have been pleased to meet the speaker.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptok Bifocals will keep their young, new, stylish appearance permanently, and will never fall into the shabby untidiness that all cemented bifocals do in a short time.

5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

READY FOR SIGNATURE

Attempt to Reconsider Direct Primary Bill Fails on Beacon Hill

Boston, March 13.—Governor Foss will sign the direct primary bill. This announcement was made from the governor's office last night.

It is expected that the legislation will be enacted in the house and reach the governor today.

The attempt to have the bill reconsidered failed, as not enough senators could be induced to go on record as favoring such action when Senator Vinson made the motion, and President Greenwood declared the motion lost without a roll call.

Navy Fireman Murdered

Key West, Fla., March 13.—J. Goodwin, second class fireman on the battleship North Carolina, was stabbed to death in a saloon here by a civilian named Knight.

Yes; the potatoes are not only scarce, but of poor quality. Try rice. It is a great American crop, palatable, when properly prepared, and highly nutritious.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 63 QUINCY MASS., THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 14, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

ADVOCATES OF METROPOLITAN PLANNING BOARD ARE HEARD

Legislative Committee Devotes Wednesday to Arguments in Favor of Plan

Report of Special Commission Discussed at Length

The first of the hearings on the much discussed Metropolitan Planning bill was held Wednesday at the state house before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs. It was an all day hearing and the report of the planning commission was discussed at length. The entire day was given up to the advocates of the plan and members of the commission appeared and explained the scheme in detail. Today the opposition will have an opportunity to present their side.

Roy F. Bergengren of Lynn, who is in general charge of the scheme, outlined the plans of the commission, introducing Edward A. Filene, its chairman, as the first speaker. Mr. Filene emphasized the necessity for co-operation here if Boston is to prevent the cities of the Middle West from taking away her commerce.

"The West," he said, "will take this business, which depends mainly upon the cost of the raw material, because it is geographically nearer the source of supply, but Boston fortunately has compensation in its port, by means of which it is enabled to reach the entire Atlantic Coast, and, by the Panama Canal, can get the business of the Pacific Coast at one-tenth the cost of railroad transportation.

"Chicago and the West can beat Boston when it is a question of the cost of raw material as in iron or steel. The cost of labor, and the efficiency of labor, however, depend upon the stability and good will of labor, and these in turn upon the metropolitan planning and metropolitan co-operation.

"There is no other district in the world," continued Mr. Filene, "where there are 38 municipalities so closely related in their kindred business interests, and yet which have no common commercial method for their mutual advancement, no co-operative method, and nothing to bind them except their parks, sewers and water supply."

In reply to a question from Senator Allen, Mr. Filene declared that he did not personally believe in annexation, adding that if the cities would come together on a basis of co-operation it would stave off annexation.

In closing Mr. Filene said that if there is objection to the appointment of commissioners—three by the Governor and two by the Mayor of Boston—he had no objection to the different communities choosing their own commissioners.

(Continued on Page Two.)

EVASION OF FARE CHARGED

Right to Use Coupon-Ticket Without Book is Tried Out

A TEST CASE

A case in which the general public who patronize the cars of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad are interested was heard before Judge Avery in the district court Wednesday, and occupied the greater part of the day. The defendant in the case was Howard K. Abbott of Braintree who was charged with evading fare.

Under a recent rule of the railroad, or rather the enforcement of an old rule, coupon tickets will not be accepted for fare unless presented with the book. Many Quincy people have been held up when they presented the coupons and were obliged to pay their fare, as they did not have the covers of the book with them. This was the case of Abbott. He came from Boston on a Sunday train and when the conductor approached, tendered him a coupon ticket.

The conductor refused to accept the coupon ticket as Abbott did not have the covers, and the cash fare was demanded. This Abbott refused to pay alleging that the coupon tendered was good for a fare. The result was that when the train arrived in Quincy he was placed under arrest for evading fare.

The case was really a test one and was fought out Wednesday, both the railroad and Abbott being represented by counsel. The court found Abbott guilty and imposed a fine of $5. An appeal was taken and the case will be tried out before the superior court.

Many Quincy patrons of the railroad have been caught without their book covers and the outcome of the case will be watched with interest.

☞Hungry children relish PRATT'S BREAD and good butter. It makes them grow.

GEORGE I. ALDRICH ADDRESS ON "SCHOOL PROBLEMS OF THE DAY"

Former Snperintendent of Schools Addresses Adams-Cranch Parents' Associations

Reception and Reunion of Old Classmates

A large number of former classmates and friends of George I. Aldrich, Superintendent of Public Schools in Brookline, who spoke on "School Problems of the Day" at the joint meeting of the Adams-Cranch Schools Parents' and Teachers' Associations, held Thursday evening in the assembly hall of the Coddington school, took advantage of the opportunity to listen to the former head of the local school department, and incidentally renew acquaintances of a most happy nature. The hall had been very prettily decorated for the occasion, streamers of red, white and blue being draped about in great abundance, while everywhere the stars and stripes were conspicious. Potted plants and ferns adorned the platform and the scene of the gathering was indeed a most charming one.

Previous to the opening of the meeting, many of the teachers in the local schools, who had formerly served under Mr. Aldrich, greeted the guest of the evening in one of the rooms, adjoining the entrance on the lower floor. Noticeable among this gathering was Miss Eliza C. Sheahan, the well-known Adams school teacher, who has resigned after active service of over forty years.

Promptly at the appointed hour, Mr. Aldrich was escorted to the platform by Principal Arthur S. Townsend of the Adams school and a delegation of school officials, who sat on the platform during the exercisces. These included Superintendent of Schools, Albert L. Barbour, and School Committee John L. Miller and Arthur W. Newcomb and Alfred O. Diack, president of the Adams school Parents' and Teachers' Association.

In his introductory remarks, Mr. Townsend spoke of Mr. Aldrich's connection with the schools of Quincy and also the interest he had taken along lines in general of an educational nature. He paid a complimentary tribute to the speaker of the evening, and loud applause was accorded Mr. Aldrich as he arose to address the gathering. Without any display of eloquence or oratory, Mr. Aldrich readily launched forth into his subject and talked to his audience in a straightforward, heart to heart manner.

The speaker dwelt on school problems of a varied nature in the course of his remarks and brought out the many difficulties and obstacles that must be encountered in the present day systems of education. He spoke of the influence wrought by competent officials and teachers on the children, who were being imbued with the first principles of knowledge and added that the secret of efficient education seemed to lie in the ability and management displayed by those who were in charge.

Continuing Mr. Aldrich said, 'If a person becomes accustomed to employ the services of a dentist and is thoroughly satisfied with the work done by that dentist, that person does not change for another dentist. If a lady is satisfied with the work of a dressmaker, she continues to patron-

(Continued on Page Three.)

AUDIENCE WAS APPRECIATIVE

Annual Spring Concert by the Wollaston Glee Club

IMMENSE AUDIENCE

The spring concert of the Wollaston Glee club took place in the Wollaston Congregational church Wednesday evening. Continuing the success of the preceding concert which broke all records the club was greeted by an immense audience and one that was highly appreciative.

The club was assisted by Mrs. Marie S. Sundelius, soprano; Miss Hazel Dell Chandler, reader; Edward Bullock, tenor; William E. Weston, accompanist and E. Payson True, organist.

Mrs. Sundelius proved to be the most popular soloist that has graced the presence of the club. The loud and continuous applause which followed every number forced encore after encore.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. Sundelius is not unknown in Wollaston having been a member of the choir of the Congregational church some eight years ago, before her musical education abroad.

"I wish to tune my quivering lyre" by Stross was the opening number and brought into play the full strength of the club with Mr. Weston at the piano and Mr. True at the organ.

A solo, "Aria from Traviata" by Verdi was the offering of Mrs. Sundelius the foreign tongue lending itself readily to the fluent flow of liquid notes and testing in full measure the ability of the soloist. She was accompanied on the piano by Mr. Sundelius.

"Ashes of Roses" by Hawley was sung by the club in even tone and was followed by "The Skippers of St. Ives" by Roeckel whose clackety clack refrain proved most refreshing.

Miss Chandler was entertaining and dramatic in her reading "Miss Civilization" by Richard Harding Davis. This told of a pair of burglars held for capture by the courage and resource of a maiden.

A recitation "The little bisque doll" with "a pain in its sawdust" given with success to piano accompaniment was very amusing.

"Miserere" from Verdi's opera "Il Trovatore" with Mrs. Sundelius and Mr. Bullock in the solo parts closed the first half of the program.

The piece was most pleasing, the soloists voices blending in harmonious contract and with the background of the chorus, piano and organ produced a most telling effect.

The familiar "Sweet and Low" was

(Continued on Page Three.)

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

DRAMA WELL PRESENTED

"Our Folks" Given by Men's Club at Quincy Point Church

REPEATED TONIGHT

The second annual entertainment of the Quincy Point Church Men's club was held Wednesday evening in the vestry, and consisted of music and a three-act drama entitled, "Our Folks." A large audience witnessed the performance and the actors took their parts in very creditable manner.

The drama was in three scenes, representing the old fashioned New England home. The characters showed good talent and were roundly applauded. The cast was:

Capt. Thompson, a retired shipmaster — J. T. Melville
Harry Thompson, his son — R. Estey
Capt. Sleeper, a returned Californian — D. Melville
Teddy Sleeper, his son — C. H. Holmes
Hiram Small, a mill owner — G. C. Russell
Phil, Capt. Thompson's man of all work — D. Melville
Mrs. Thompson, "Good as gold" — Mrs. W. F. Perry
Mrs. Sleeper, "hoping against hope" — Miss H. M. Lermond
Becky Sleeper, "the tomboy" — Mrs. J. A. Melville
Hulda Prime "full of complaints" — Mrs. C. Barrows
Lilly York, "Slipshod but willing" — Miss M. Lorentsen

The play briefly deals with a situation created by the unaccountable absence from his home for five years of Capt. Sleeper, during which his two children, without the restraint of a strong hand, run into all kinds of mischief, in which they are assisted at first by Harry Thompson, who later is driven from home by his father because he would not follow his father's wishes. Capt. Thompson, a growler, but good hearted, assists the Sleeper family, as he hopes, without it becoming known but he is at last discovered and through Becky, for whom he had formerly a dislike as thorough as that he held for his son, he is prevailed upon to ask his son to return to him. At this juncture Capt. Sleeper returns from his wanderings and satisfactorily explains his long absence his return restoring to good health again his wife who has long lain on a sick bed. He is also in time to rejoice over the betrothal of Becky and Harry, and lead the cheering when Hiram and Hilda announce that they too have "gone and done it."

The club orchestra played between the acts and during the drama, their selections being much enjoyed. The members of the orchestra are as follows: piano, Irving Hayden; first violins, J. A. Melville, leader and R. MacFarlane; second violins, W. F. Perry and D. McLaughlin; flute, J. Horan; cornets, R. Murphy and D. Sharpe; horn, W. Neusson; drums, Walter Brooks.

The drama was given under the personal direction of J. W. Hendry, assisted by the following committee: W. E. Lee, W. F. Perry, J. C. Collingwood, C. Eaglesham, J. McCulloch, J. Lander, C. H. Sherburne and J. Johnston.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening and a large crowd is expected.

CAMP INSPECTED.

Mayor Stone, Commissioner Tupper Chairman Teasdale of the Board of Health and Councilman C. A. Ross visited the tuberculosis camp on a tour of inspection this morning. They found everything in ship shape and were very much pleased with what they saw. After inspecting the camp the party visited the proposed lot for the new Adams school on Madison avenue.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

ALL RAILROADS MUST ELECTRIFY

The legislative Committee on Railroads voted unanimously this morning to report favorably on a bill which will compel railroads entering Boston to electrify all parts of their system which are within the limits of the Metropolitan Park district. The bill expressly stipulates that work is to be completed on or before Jan. 1, 1920.

The original bill referred only to railroads of standard gauge, but this bill now is very broad in its effect and will apply to narrow gauge and also to the Boynton railroad if admitted.

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see

Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's

samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 700 new samples to choose from. Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.

Room 4 Johnson Bldg.

14-6t

MISS SARAH E. DUNPHY

announces the opening of

THE CORSET SHOP

No. 8 MAPLE STREET, QUINCY

where will be found a full line of popular and up-to-date corsets and accessories. Corsets from $1 upwards in these well-known makes.

NEMO ROYAL WORCESTER
La GRECQUE BON TON
R & G WARNER BROS.
C-B A LA SPIRITE

All corsets carefully fitted, Ferris Waists for children, misses and women. Brassieres from 50c to $1.50. Also Hose Supporters Ruffles, etc.

15-2t

GIVEN AWAY FREE

Absolutely Free

A package of National Oats on Friday. Remember, one day only, so please don't forget. Call at our store and get a package of it. All you have to do is to get a newspaper called the Boston Evening Record and bring it to us. We hope to give away 1,000 packages so don't fail to call.

3 pkgs Macaroni 25c
7 bars Lenox Soap 25c
2 doz Sweet Navel Oranges 25c
6 bars Kirkman's Soap 25c
with pkg of powder free

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 & 10c Store

GREEN TRADING STAMPS

14 1t

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT

1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.

Telephone Connection 14-tf

The minute you think of Spring

there comes a craving for "green things" to eat as well as to see. Our line of canned vegetables will help to satisfy this craving — and you should try them.

We select the most reliable canners in each section of the country where the different fruits and vegetables are grown. This means that when you buy canned goods of FOY you are getting the finest goods of uniform quality and flavor. It means that you get your money's worth, and that's what counts when you are buying quality goods.

"Hatchet Brand" Wax Beans

2 Cans 25c

R. E. FOY & CO

COR WATER AND QUINCY STS

QUINCY ADAMS

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

There are four dozen states of us already. Just to think of it!

Never offer a man advice until you find out just what kind he wants.

Don't imagine that people are going to call you a liar every time they think it.

Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin makes quite a splash as he falls into the whitewash.

Any more of this third-term talk and we may expect some spiritualistic rappings from George Washington.

When a poet sings of golden butter these days, there is more truth than poetry in it.

As China is to be modernized, and adopt the English language, it would be a good time to reform the spelling of the word queue.

Matrimony transforms the poetry of life into an itemized expense account.

Now that another German warship has been launched Britain will have to hurry and launch two.

Considering the cost of a good sleek derby, the judicious candidate will keep his hat on his head instead of throwing it in the ring.

A gun made of cement is one of the latest devices for war purposes. It is dangerous to stand either at the muzzle of the breech. And more so, we should imagine at the side.

We are not informed that any one has as yet sent flowers to the express companies officers, in sympathy with their feelings under investigation, but no doubt the omission was unintentional.

THE SOUTH POLE WON.

As forecast in our columns a few days ago, Mother Nature appears to have yielded up her last retreat amid the gloomy recesses of Antarctica. While waiting for the details of this great triumph, we have been interested to refresh our recollection of the problems of polar exploration, by rereading the thrilling story of E. H. Shackleton's dash for the pole in 1909.

A remarkable aspect of the Shackleton narrative, was the success attained in keeping the men in good health. No doubt the experience there gained has helped the Amundsen and Scott parties.

The older stories of polar exploration were full of suffering by scurvy, which is said to have killed more sailors than all other causes, including battle, tempest, and other diseases.

Lack of fresh vegetables brings on this complaint, but the Shackleton party did not have a case of it, during all their absence in a snow bound country. Vegetables and fruits were so perfectly preserved in bottles that this dread terror of remote solitudes wholly disappeared.

The Shackleton party maintained a fair degree of comfort without wearing the heavy fur and pilot cloth garments with which Polar explorers ordinarily encumber their movements. They found that if garments were wind proof, and if they had enough to eat, their vitality would keep them warm. It was also remarkable that none of the members had colds, until one day when a bale of clothing was opened in a hut, when all the members at once acquired catarrh.

In spite of all that science and experience could do, the suffering of the men in the final struggle was appalling, and no doubt this will prove the case also of the parties now returning. The 10,000 foot altitude of the highest plateau in the world produced intense headaches and made exertion difficult.

Every page recording the final dash of the Shackleton party is a wail of famished men for food. When the scanty biscuits of one package proved to be shrunken and hard baked, the men used to soak them in tea to make them swell and look bigger. But they found that if the swelling was carried too far, the sensation of biting something was lost.

APPEALING TO NEWCOMERS.

In the old days before advertising became general, there were some stores that could seem to get along merely on old established reputation. Population was more stationary then, and the trade of many families was roped and tied down, because their fathers and grandfathers had bought there before them.

These conditions have gone, never to return, both as respects older residents, but emphatically and particularly with newcomers. People move from place to place more easily than before. In most towns today there is a large proportion of comparatively new residents.

A man's business reputation may be ever so well established, but the newcomers know nothing about that. When the newcomer is told orally that a certain store is reliable, he does not know whether this represents merely an impartial judgment or personal friendship.

The newcomer's only way of estimating the character of merchants is through the newspaper advertisements To these he turns to get his impressions of local trade. The merchant that advertises freely, truthfully, and convincingly gets the business of the people that move into town.

METROPOLITAN PLANNING

(Continued from Page One.)

J. RANDOLPH COOLIDGE

Acting president of the Chamber of Commerce but who appeared as a member of the Metropolitan Planning Commission, spoke at some length on the value of co-operation in the various activities of the district. He laid some stress on the good that would undoubtedly come to the various municipalities in the conduct of technical schools, almhouses and other of the conveniences that cost the taxpayers money.

Mr. Coolidge said that there was still another direction in which a great saving of money and material might be effected and this he termed the invisible work.

The fire hazard, he said, was something outrageous in the Metropolitan District, and there is every likelihood that it will grow larger instead of smaller if some change is not made in the methods of dealing with it. He said that the valuation of the cities and towns included in the Metropolitan District in 1910 was 02,250,000,000 and that the fire loss in that year was $1,400,000.

In Malden, he went on, the tax levy was $17.75 per capita while the fire levy was $8. In Braintree there was $16.50 per capita levied for taxes and $10 more for fire. In Brookline there was $50 per capita of taxes levied, with a fire loss of $5.50 per capita and an additional levy of $4.50 for Fire Department maintenance. Wellesley levied $34 per capita of taxes and lost $4 per capita by fire. Milton levied $40 of taxes and lost $16 by fire, Dover levied $20 taxes per capita and lost $16 by fire while Hull with a $50 capita tax levy lost $24 per capita by fire.

Mr. Coolidge said there were two chief causes of the fire loss, they being the inflammable construction and the inadequate fire protection. It was idle for municipalities to talk of reducing the fire hazard by changing the building laws so long as one place may lose population to its neighbor by the enactment of proper and stringent building regulation. A Metropolitan Planning Commission would cure that evil immediately.

The suspensive veto part of the report he recommended as a wise provision. Under this feature the Planning Commission would have the power of vetoing any improvement for one year.

R. CLIPSTON STURGIS,

President of the Boston Society of Architects, favored the general plan of the commission but believed that it should devote most of its attention to the highway improvements. The fire risk, he said, would eliminate itself in time, as the cost of what is termed inflammable construction and first-class consrtuction are constantly growing closer.

Mr. Sturgis also disagreed with the commissioner's report as to the makeup of the planning board. The report stipulated that the chairman should receive $10,000 a year and other members $1000 a year. Mr. Sturgis did not think those high salaries were necessary, and he was of the opinion that the members should be selected by some of the representative organizations of the city.

Frederick Law Olmsted, Samuel B. Capen, Arthur Shurtleff and John H. Fahey of the Chamber of Commerce also spoke.

☞PRATT'S BREAD is the Staff of Life for the family.

NEW SCHEDULE SATISFACTORY

Lawrence Strike Committee Votes Favorably Upon It

WILL URGE ITS ACCEPTANCE

To Be Submitted to Mass of Strikers, Who Are Expected to Return to Work on Monday—Maximum Increase In Wages Is Twenty-Five Percent, Which Goes to Lower Paid Operatives—Other Concessions

Lawrence, Mass., March 14.—The great mill strike, which has been fought bitterly for nine weeks and has resulted in an increase of wages in textile mills all over New England, was practically ended when the general strike committee of Industrial Workers of the World accepted the new wage schedule of the American Woolen company.

The new schedule, which raises wages in the American company's mills in amounts ranging from 5 to 25 percent, is to be read at a mass meeting of the strikers on Lawrence common. This great body, comprising between 12,000 and 15,000 men and women, will then vote whether or not they will accept the new schedule.

The strike committee will recommend that they accept the new rate of wages and return to work. It is believed that they will do so without a murmur.

It is expected that the strikers will return to work next Monday. This will be decided at the mass meeting.

The following is a copy of the notice sent by the American Woolen company to the operatives of the Washington, Wood, Ayer and Prospect mills.

"All employes formerly receiving 9½ cents or less an hour will get an increase of 2 cents an hour.

"Those who received more than 9½ cents and less than 10 cents an hour will get 1¾ cents an hour.

"Those who received more than 10 cents and less than 11 cents an hour will receive an increase of 1½ cents an hour.

"Those who got more than 11 cents and less than 12 cents will receive an increase of 1¼ cents an hour.

"Those who received 12 cents and less than 20 cents will get an advance of 1 cent per hour.

"Those who receive 20 cents or more an hour will get an increase of 1 cent per hour.

"All job work will receive an advance of 5 percent flat.

"The premium already being adjusted to a fifty-four-hour basis, it will readily be seen that the increase of 5 percent in the wage list is that much advantage to the weaver in more easily acquiring the premium.

"Premiums will be distributed every two weeks instead of, as heretofore, every four weeks. Time and a quarter will be paid for overtime."

The general strike committee, in executive session, voted to have committees of three members each visit the agents of each of the textile mills in an effort to have the other mills follow the example of the American Woolen company and amplify the earlier announcements of wage increase, showing to what extent each individual employe will benefit. This is done to make the settlement of the strike as near general as possible.

The strike committee made arrangements to confer with the heads of other Lawrence mills in an effort to have them adopt schedules similar to that granted by the American Woolen company. Many of the committee hope that the situation will be cleared up in time to permit the end of the strike next Monday morning.

WAGE INCREASE GROWS

More Than 200,000 Operatives In New Engand Mills Benefited

Boston, March 14.—More than 200,000 textile operatives in the cotton and woolen mills of New England will receive a 5 percent raise, or better, before April 1, the action of the Fall River Iron Works company last night in announcing a raise, effective March 25, rounding out the second hundred thousand benefited by the recent raise campaign.

Mills in Belmont and Somersworth, N. H., and in Ipswich and South Boston also posted notices of the raise yesterday.

Indicating the wide spread of the upward wage movement is a dispatch from Montreal that the Dominion Textile company, with eleven mills, employing several thousand hands, yesterday posted a 5 percent raise notice.

Mills Closed by Floods

New Haven, March 14.—Thousands were made idle in Connecticut by the shutting down of many industrial plants because of floods. The rivers are raging torrents.

Crane May Be Delegate-at-Large

Washington, March 14.—It is understood here that Senator Crane will be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.

MEETING OF THE MINISTERS

Meeting of the Quincy Ministers' Association Tuesday in the Y. M. C. A. was one of the mast aggressive meetings held by the ministers this year.

A committee was appointed to ask a representative of the Law to speak befor the ministers at their next meeting and suggest from the legal standpoint where ministers and churches might be more helpful in working for civic betterment. A committee was also chosen to draw up resolutions to be presented to the city council.

All the ministers spoke heartily of the good efforts of the chief of police in trying to make the city more commendable.

It was also decided to recommend to all churches of the city to adopt Thursday evening for the prayer meeting. At present one third of the churches have their prayer meeting on Friday evening.

Committees were also appointed to look into the public institutions and places of amusement throughout the city. Hereafter when a good church member sees the pastor or Y. M. C. A. secretary at the show he may know that they are not getting worldly but are only there to be sure that the influence of the play is wholesome in the city both for church people and nonchurched.

LADIES' NIGHT.

With fine weather and a large attendance the ladies' night of All Souls' Men's club, Braintree, Wednesday evening, was a most enjoyable function. With church and parish hall thrown open there was none too much room to accommodate the members and their ladies who had assembled to the number of two hundred and sixty. There was a social gathering at six o'clock followed by supper at 6.30 in the assembly hall which was resplendent with its new tungsten lamps and its decorations of crimson carnations.

A most tempting menu of hot roast beef, mashed potato, french peas, cabbage salad, rolls and coffee, fruit, ice cream and cake was prepared and served in the way for which this club is famous. Seated at the head table were President and Mrs. Alva Morrison, ex-presidents Horace R. Drinkwater and Herbert F. Kneeland, Mrs. H. R. Drinkwater, Mr. J. L. Harbour, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Faxon, Col. and Mrs. A. C. Drinkwater, Mr. and Mrs. George O. Wales, Rev. and Mrs. D. Roy Freeman.

Although disclaiming all attempts at eloquence, the president of the club, Mr. Morrison, in a very graceful speech, welcomed the ladies on behalf of the club and assured them that the members felt greatly honored by their presence. In his characteristic and happy way, Mr. Morrison then introduced Mr. J. L. Harbour of Boston who spoke on "Blessed be Humor."

Mr. Harbour was formerly an editor of the Youth's Companion, is a contributor to many magazines and has been prospector, reporter, manuscript reader, school teacher, etc. He taught the first school in Leadville, Colorado, and as a reporter of news in that locality tells many amusing stories. Mr. Harbour disclaims being merely a funny man but prefers to be known as an exponent of cheerfulness. He thinks pure wholesome humor and a hearty laught great aids to happiness and longevity in this strenuous, money-mad, all too serious age and says the humorist has a true mission in life, that of radiating happiness and good cheer.

To quote his stories and quips would be to rob them of their charm as told in his own inimitable way. He kept his audience in roars of laughter so that in some cases hysterics seemed inevitable. He read and recited examples of Irish, German and Jewish wit in a way that showed him to be a natural comedian. His spring poems were delightful, while his readings of curious letters, and extracts from the press both rural and Metropolitan were so funny that the laughter was continuous.

Mr. Harbour has an inexhaustible collection of humorous and witty stories and sayings to which he is continually adding. His talk showed the value of good hearty laughter in making people happy and oblivious for a time at least to the dull and carking cares that beset us all.

Mr. Harbour provided a delightfully clean and wholesome entertainment and his efforts were applauded to the echo. After the singing of "Home Sweet Home," the gathering dispersed with the feeling of a most happy and well spent evening.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

101 Years Old
1810-1911
No other liniment has ever become so popular with all the people.
Countless aches and pains have been relieved, swellings reduced, sprains, scalds, bruises, cuts, rheumatism and lamenesses cured.
JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT
A few drops in sugar or sweetened water, taken inwardly, effect a magic cure of colds, sore throat, cramps, bowel disorders.
25c and 50c Bottles at all dealers.
I. S. JOHNSON & CO. Boston, Mass.
PARSONS' PILLS tone the system, giving vigor and strength.

MISS CATHERINE CONLON.

The funeral of Miss Catherine Conlon of 86 Brackett street took place from her late home Wednesday. A high mass of requiem was celebrated in the church of St. John the Baptist at 9 by Rev. Fr. John J. Casey. The Gregorian music was rendered during the mass by the regular choir, under direction of organist John Mahan. Solos were sung by Miss Angela McCarthy and Mrs. Mary Burns King She sang the "De Profundis" at the offertory, while the former rendered the "Pie Jesu" after the libera. The funeral services were attended by a large number of friends and there was a profusion of floral tributes. Interment was at St. Mary's Cemetery.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

14—Supper and Social—Wol. Congregational Church.
14—Forward Movement Supper—Christ Church.
14—Stereopticon Lecture—Hall Place M. E. church.
14—Lecture—C. H. Johnson—Coddington School Hall.
15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Food Sale—Universalist Vestry.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampment—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Important to Women
As Well As To Men
You have your jewelry to think of, or some keepsakes that to you have a value no sum of money can express. Your home is not a safe place for such things. Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing that they are beyond reach of theft or fire in one of our steel safety deposit boxes. $5 a year rental.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

RED CROSS
Sanitary Brand.
Our Trade Mark.
ELASTIC DURABLE PURE HYGIENIC WARRANTED.
YOU CAN SAVE
$2.02
We offer for Friday only an even dozen of these Staple, Standard-Price $15.00 Mattresses at $12.98
Make that investment. 'Twill return you dividends of delicious rest every night for 20 years.
On our big, bright, airy third floor we can show you the finest line of mattresses in Norfolk County.

Serviceable Mattresses,	$1.98 to $2.50
Good Soft Top Mattresses,	3.00 to 4.00
Felt Mattresses,	5.95 to 15.00
Silk Floss Mattresses,	12.50 to 20.00
Ostermoor Mattresses,	10.75 to 18.50
Hair Mattresses,	10.00 to 35.00

EASY TERMS ELEVATOR SERVICE COME IN
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Matchless Mattress Merchants
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

DEFENDANTS TO BE TRIED TOGETHER

General Conspiracy Charge Stands In Dynamite Trial

Indianapolis, March 14.—Federal Judge Anderson sustained the motion of District Attorney Miller to consolidate twenty-nine indictments charging conspiracy to transport dynamite illegally under the third indictment returned by the federal grand jury.

The ruling was made after attorneys for the defense had been heard in arguments in a motion for a separate trial. It means all the defendants will be tried at one time under the general conspiracy charge.

In the consolidation of the cases the indictments against fifty-four men are merged in one with 128 counts, twenty-eight of which charge conspiracy to violate the statutes forbidding carrying dynamite and nitroglycerine on passenger trains, and 100 charge direct violations by the defendants both as abettors of and as principals with Ortie McManigal, John J. and James B. McNamara and Herbert S. Hockin.

SUGAR PAPERS MISSING

Prosecution Wants Them In Trial of Officials of Corporation

New York, March 14.—Many papers, letters and books of record, of extreme importance in the prosecution of the sugar trust men for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, have disappeared, it developed, when trial was resumed before Judge Hand in the United States district court.

It is the purpose of United States District Attorney Wise to show that the six defendants, officials of the American Sugar Refining company, violated the Sherman law by absorbing the Pennsylvania Refining company, of which Adolph Segal was president.

QUINCY REGISTRY
FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.
Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

Who Made Your Suit?
Ever been asked that question? Did you hesitate in answering?
You wouldn't, had we taken your measure—had you selected your pattern from our perfectly shrunk woolens. We make note of the little trifles that some tailors overlook.
It's the small details that count—the right designing the careful stitchings of the cloth, linings and trimmings.
That's why our custom-made clothes are so different. They fit so well, wear so long and look so stylish, we seldom ever lose a customer.
To get you started, we will accept your order for a $20 suit, for $17.50
Here's your chance to save a few dollars. We have all the new advance 1912 weaves, colorings and patterns—all that will be popular on Fifth Avenue and Broadway.
Telephone or drop us a card and our representative will call any time of the day or evening.
PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.
Dept. of Tailoring.
CITY SQUARE
QUINCY

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

PARENTS' MEETINGS.

The large attendance at the meeting of the Wollaston Parents' Association on Monday night and again at the joint Adams-Cranch Association meeting last night is indicative of the interest which parents are now taking in the school affairs of their children. This interest has increased to a marked extent within the present school year and not only makes school administration vastly pleasanter and more effective for the teachers but also tends to bring to the schools a strong and sympathetic popular backing in any movement which is plainly designed for the children's good. With interested support the school's efficiency is immensely increased.

WOODWARD INSTITUTE.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of Woodward Institue, Rev. Wesley Wiggiu of Wollaston was elected Secretary to take the place of Rev. R. J. Davis who has gone to Yarmouth, Maine.

It was also voted to request the Trustees of the Woodward Fund to replace the four foot boiler which together with a smaller boiler now heats the building, with a six foot boiler. The old boiler is worn out and it will be possible with a six foot boiler to heat the entire building in the coldest weather with one fire, while the smaller boiler will be used only in the mild weather of spring and fall.

HIGH SCHOOL.

On Friday, March 8, Quincy High School's basketball team defeated the five from Salem Normal by a score of 28-18; the same score by which Salem defeated Quincy in the Salem game. Quincy is still in the race for the championship of eastern Massachusetts.

Tuesday, the team was due to play the Technology sophomores, but the Technology team failed to put in an appearance.

On Friday of this week, Quincy plays Provincetown High School five. Mr. Holbrook, who was submaster at Quincy for a number of years, is now principal of the Provincetown High School, and is bringing the boys up with him to see Boston.

The second edition of the Golden Rod will soon be out. The last edition proved a great success, and much interest is being taken in the school paper.

At a meeting of the class of 1912 held Monday, March 11, it was decided to have Miss Brown coach the senior dramatics as she has done in previous years. The dramatic committee was elected as follows: Esther Briggs, Philip Halvosa, Raymond Hall, Olive Barnicoat, May Knapp, Felix Favorite. A reception committee, picture and class party committees, were also elected.

MASS. FIELDS.

The Parents' and Teachers' Association held its regular meeting last Thursday evening. Mr. Sidney J. Smith, the president, presided.

Rev. C. P. Marshall, City Chaplain, gave a very instructive address on "Vocational Guidance."

Music was furnished by Mrs. Rogers and the Fowler Quartet.

The following committee was appointed to take charge of the school decorations and to spend the money made at the recent art exhibit, Sidney J. Smith, president of the association, Oscar F. W. Alstein, vice president; S. J. Ripley, secretary;; Mrs. C. W. Reynolds, treasurer; D. H. Goodspeed master, and Miss Ruth Taylor, master's assistant.

The boys are out for daily practise in base ball and hope to win the championship of the city for a second time this year. A captain will be elected in a few days.

WOLLASTON.

The stereopticon lecture "Historic Quincy" by Mr. Chas. H. Johnson on Friday evening at 8 o'clock promises to be well patronized. Altho' the seating capacity of the new assembly hall is over 500, nearly all of the tickets were sold in two days. There will be music by the following pupils: Piano solos by Joyce Buchanan, Katherine Kimball, piano duet—Eunice Leach and Robert Page Polson, violin solo—Roy Ewertz. The proceeds will be used to equip the gymnasium and playground.

The Parents' and Teachers' Association held a very interesting and instructive meeting in the new assembly hall Monday evening nearly 300 being present. Mr. James E. Downey, master of the Boston High school of Commerce spoke on the subject "Education for Business." In response to a letter from Mr. Albert L. Barbour, superintendent of schools an art committee was appointed to have charge of the school decorations. Committee appointed: David H. Goodspeed, master of the school, Miss Lillian Newman supervisor of drawing, Frank P. Waterhouse, Mrs. H. L. Seavey, Chas. P. Hutchins, Chas. E. Goodspeed and Mrs. Moses Brown, the last five named to serve for one, two, three, four and five years respectively, a new member being elected annually. Mr. Henry Turner Bailey was made an honorary member of the committee. Refreshments were served. Piano solos by Mrs. Mary Chandler West and vocal solos by Miss Winifred White were very much enjoyed.

The vacuum cleaning system has been installed in the new building and the initial trial on Tuesday afternoon proved very successful, rooms being cleaned in twenty-minutes without the usual inconvenience of dust.

JOHN HANCOCK—LINCOLN.

We wish to remind our friends of the stereopticon lecture "Historic Quincy, Past and Present" by C. H. Johnson for the benefit of our athletics to be given tonight at the Coddington school hall at 7.30.

Invitations are to be issued at the end of week for a Mother's meeting to be held at the John Hancock school, Tuesday, March 19 at 4 P. M. and Wednesday Mar. 20 at 4 P. M. at the Lincoln School. Mr. A. L. Barbour, Superintendent of schools, will speak at both meetings on some of the new phases of education and what is being done at present in the educational world. It is hoped that a goodly number of parents and friends will respond as Mr. Barbour has something worth while to tell.

Miss Moir's third grade at the John Hancock school had perfect attendance last week.

DIANTHUS CLUB.

Mrs. Walter P. Hill entertained the Dianthus club of Atlantic, Tuesday afternoon at her home on Clive street. The first part of the meeting was devoted to a brief business session at which Mrs. William I. Hartley of Appleton street was elected president. Preparations are being made for a gentlemen's night to be held Saturday, March 23.

Shamrocks and harps, artistically arranged, constituted the decorations, and the souvenirs were awarded to the following ladies: Mrs. Herbert Smith of Newbury Avenue, Mrs. George A. Deans of Appleton street, Mrs. Lugene J. Hayford of East Squantum street.

The club members were all overjoyed to have with them again Mrs. Julia D. Rogers of Webster street who has been in Detroit for some time.

Refreshments were served by the hostess after which all wended their ways homeward, having spent another delightful afternoon.

The next meeting will be held Mar. 26, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brown 42 Woodville street, Roxbury.

SHOWERS NUMEROUS.

Miss Elsie Badger of Clive street, who is soon to be married has been pleasantly surprised several times recently.

On one occasion the Rebeccas, of which organization she is a member, gave her a surprise shower at her home one evening. Games were played and refreshments served and Miss Badger was the recipient of many useful and ornamental gifts.

The next occasion for merriment was last Saturday evening, when Miss Elsie Woll of Walker street gave a linen shower for Miss Badger. The decorations were very artistic, being the work of the hostess whose talent in that direction is so well-known.

The game of hearts was played and refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Badger was showered with linen of every description in a very interesting way. A delightful evening was spent by all.

Until recently Miss Badger has been employed in the office of the John Hancock Insurance Co., of Boston, and on the evening her resignation of her position took effect she was most pleasantly surprised by a shower from her friends there.

MRS. JAMES S. HIGGINS.

Word was received today of the death in Oakland, California on Mar. 5 of Mrs. Sophia A., widow of James S. Higgins, in her 90th year. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins were married in Boston and lived in Quincy until 1851 when they moved to California. She leaves many friends and relatives in Quincy and vicinity.

WHAT IT MIGHT ACCOMPLISH

Editor Daily Ledger:

In your issue of March 12 "A Citizen" suggests that "a very pertinent question at this time seems to be, just what is to be accomplished by the much talked of advisory board." Assuming this interrogation to be put in good faith, the writer believes it might be well to present through your columns some of the things that might be accomplished by such a board.

Argument as to the competency of our present board of assessors need not necessarily enter into this question, for we grant that were they actually carrying out the intents and purposes of their office they might accomplish the objects planned for this advisory board. Perhaps the office of assessor has degenerated, although previous boards have passed this same problem of compiling a schedule of standardized valuation without much attempt at improvement.

Citizens familiar with the work of the assessors know that their judgment is not always allowed to prevail—that pressure and influence often thwarts their best efforts, and that the results obtained one year are passed down to succeeding boards by whom they are apparently accepted without question or verification, destroying all uniformity or system.

Now if this sort of thing has been going on for years, and no intelligent citizen doubts it, what assumption can there be that our property owners are receiving equal or fair assessments of their property?

Remove the present board of assessors, and the chances are nine to one that the new board will take office and follow in their footsteps, using the records and information of their predecessors without any attempt at systematic valuation of the city.

What is to be accomplished by the advisory board? Just how far "A Citizen" pushed his inquiries we do not know, but our own curiosity has brought us the information that it is not intended this board shall deal with individual valuation, or that they are to be concerned with the ownership of property, but rather that they shall deal with the problem by division of the city into streets, sections, or localities. That is, the board's work is planned to be a general revaluation of the city, not an estimate of individual holdings; or in reality the establishof a schedule of rates which shall be equal, which can only be done by a careful study of conditions, environments and improvements, work that can be carried on more effectively by disinterested parties than by the board of assessors.

Of course it is common knowledge that the work of the advisory board has no value unless its reports are accepted and put into effect by the assessors, but there is no evidence that the assessors have not in the past travelled along the line of least resistance, consequently why may we not expect they will adopt the findings of the advisory board, if by so doing they can lighten their labors

The point made by your correspondent that five men with aggregate salaries of eleven hundred dollars will not perform the work left undone by three men drawing over three thousand dollars, is perhaps well taken, and is the strongest talking point against the measure. In fact it is the matter of salary which opens the proposition to criticism, for any man qualified to act in this capacity will be a man to whom two hundred dollars will be insignificant. And the same argument holds as regards the assessors' office. The chairmanship carries a salary of but fifteen hundred dollars, which no sane busines man will contend is sufficient to procure for the office the service of a man competent to fill the office as it should be filled. It perhaps is regrettable that the advisory board could not be unsalaried, which would remove the suggestion of politics or graft. Doubtless there are men in our city who would undertake this work without recompense for the benefit that would accrue to the city. That is surely the type of man wanted, and two hundred dollars holds less allurement than the opportunity for public service.

It may be that members of the council, even following "the courage of their convictions," may see sufficient good in this measure to enlist their support.

A. N. Murray.

Editor of Ledger:

In answer to a letter in Tuesday's Ledger headed "Why an Advisory Board," and signed "A Citizen," I give the following:

One of the reasons why is that an equalization of real estate values should be made so far as possible, and another is that this board would assist the assessors to the extent that the labor and intelligence of five men would give them Is it fair for "A Citizen" to say that he does not believe it possible or probable that any men obtainable can obtain results before such a board has been appointed?

Why presuppose the intelligence of any five men? "A Citizen" must remember that all wisdom is not confined to any one man, and that five men chosen for their fitness to do certain things are more than likely to produce results and whatever may be the results of this board (if appointed) will not only apply to this year but to the years to come.

Now Mr. Citizen, is it not much better to give our assessors every assistance we can, rather than to sit back and criticize, for it is quite possible that even you and I with all our wisdom could not do as well as they.

You hope that the city council is composed of men with the courage of their convictions who will "dare to do all that becomes a man." Why there is not the slightest doubt about that; and when the opinions of the city council have been recorded, (and perchance do not meet with your approval) they will still be men with the courage of their convictions just the same as if their opinions were approved by you.

A Taxpayer

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual church meeting of the Washington Street Congregational Church was held Tuesday evening and was attended by a large number. The greater part of the evening was taken up in electing officers of the church and Sunday school for the ensuing year. After the election, the reports of the different officers were read and accepted and much routine business was transacted.

Herbert Bonney and William E. Dean were chosen deacons, while T. B. Pollard was elected clerk. Carl McNeil, Matthew Mead and Rudolph Schlenker were elected ushers. The deaconesses elected for the year are Mrs. L. A. Cook and Mrs. Daniel Higgins.

Charles H. Sherborn was elected superintendent of the Sunday school, Harry Sherborn, assistant superintendent, James Carleton McNeil, secretary and Miss Amey Newcomb treasurer. Miss Mary L. Connors was elected superintendent of the primary department.

FOR FILING FALSE PAPERS

Seaver and Sheehan Get a Year and Mahoney Six Months

Boston, March 14.—Augustus Seaver, labor candidate for governor last fall; Patrick F. Sheehan and Dennis F. Mahoney were sentenced to the house of correction, the first two for a term of one year and the other for six months.

Seaver was found guilty on sixteen counts, eight of which charged him with falsely making and eight with filing nomination papers. Mahoney had previously pleaded guilty and has been in jail for about six weeks. Sheehan was found guilty of falsely making the same papers.

Acting upon the suggestion of Assistant District Attorney Lavelle, Judge Chase stated that he would consider the whole sixteen counts as one offense. Otherwise Seaver might have been sentenced to sixteen years.

GIFT OF $2,500,000 BY A BUSINESS MAN

Name of Technolgy's Benefactor Known Only to Mac'aurin

Boston, March 14.—The Massachusetts Institute of Technology is to receive a gift of $2,500,000 from a donor whose identity is known only to President Maclaurin.

The announcement of this splendid gift, which is the largest single donation ever made by a living man to an American college, was made public by Maclaurin at a meeting of the Technology corporation last night.

President Maclaurin stated that the the donor was not a graduate of the institution, but a "public-spirited business man who desires to do a great thing quietly and without fuss, and wishes, for the present, to remain anonymous."

Members of the corporation are at a loss to know who the donor is, and at the close of the session there was much speculation.

GUILTY OF BRIBERY

Ohio Senator Received $200 In Relation to Insurance Bill

Columbus, O., March 14.—"Guilty as charged in the indictment," was the substance of the verdict returned last night by a jury in the case of State Senator Andrews of Ironton, charged with having accepted a bribe of $200 relative to an insurance bill.

Senator Andrews was indicted along with a dozen other state legislators and attaches more than a year ago, and his trial and conviction followed closely final disposition of the case of Rodney J. Diegle, former senate sergeant-at-arms, who recently began serving a penitentiary sentence of three years for having abetted the bribery of Andrews.

Save Ten Dollars A Year

Any worn out range burns at least three cents more in fuel every day than a new Glenwood. That's putting it small. Three times 365 is $10.95. You see it doesn't take long to waste the cost of a new Glenwood and the expense isn't all, the chances are the old range is the "worry kind"—covered with filigree and hard to keep clean.

"Makes Cooking Easy."

Glenwood Range

H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

SCHOOL PROBLEMS

(Continued from Page One.)

ize that dressmaker and not change for another. So too, in the case of officials and teachers; if they be weighed in the balance and found to measure up to the standard they should be retained for they certainly are in the best position to cater to the needs of a community and thus bring about those things which are conducive to its best interests and general welfare. If this foolish idea of rotation in office be dispelled, it will readily be found that conditions will be in a far better state.

"Positions on such a body as the school board should be filled by the best men available, men who are willing to give their time and energy to a study of such problems that are impending, and who will exert themselves to their utmost to alleviate any and all unfavorable conditions that may arise from time to time. Of course we cannot expect that men like Homer and Horace will arise to the situation, yet something must be done to maintain such conditions as existed in those pre-historic times. To deduce the logic of the argument in its most forceful form, I would refer you to Edmund Burke, who once said, "Find me the man who will suit the place, not the man whom the place would suit."

Mr. Aldrich then went into a discussion of the various methods employed in school systems and told of the different problems imminent during inclement weather, dealing with the advisability of keeping or closing the school session. He said that the case of a strong, robust youth would not seem to warrant the closing of school during a rain or a snow storm, but added that the consideration for a sickly child would seem to alter the case entirely. The speaker then took up the opportunities of the school children of the present day and showed the many ways in which they may de dealt with. "There is a limit to the things which schools should attempt to do," continued Mr. Aldrich, it should be an established fact while opportunity is a good thing it is not the determining factor in education."

The democracy of the day, its tendencies and works, was discussed in an able way and when the speaker had concluded he was accorded loud applause.

The musical program, which was in charge of Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann was in order at the close of the address and suffice it to say that the finished work of the talent added greatly to the success and enjoyment of the evening. An orchestra, composed of three members of the Quincy High school, Clarence Lundin '12, pianist, William Roache '12, violin and Elton Chase '13 drums, entertained those present and merited hearty applause. Mrs. Joseph Evans officiated at the piano and acquitted herself in splendid manner, her work evoking great appreciation on the part of the auditors. Solos by John Greene and Mrs. J. H. Slade and duets by the same two contributors elicited prolonged applause and they were forced to respond to repeated encores.

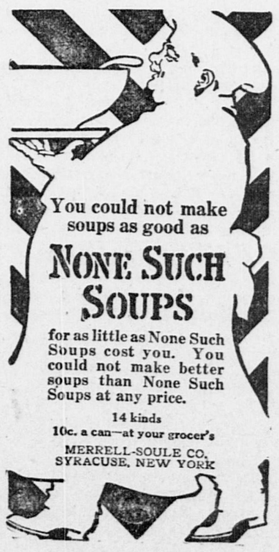
At the close of the program, the meeting was placed in charge of Alfred O. Diack and a rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Aldrich.

The orchestra provided music during the informal reception which brought the affair to a close and nearly everybody in attendance took part in meeting Mr. Aldrich.

The teachers of the school were the ushers. They were all dressed in white, the teachers of the Adams school wearing violets, symbolic of the school colors, and the teachers of the Cranch school wearing daffodils

The committee in charge comprised Miss Beatrice Rothwell of the Adams School and Miss Alice Igo of the Cranch School.

If you are going to Europe or Panama this spring, and if you don't have an airship in your wood-shed, and can't swim, you should engage your berth about now.



The JONES' SPECIAL HAT at $2.50

INSTEAD OF $3.00 IS THE BEST ADVERTISED LOW-PRICED HAT IN GREATER QUINCY

Years ago, when I started to advertise the Jones' Special Hat, I knew full well my money and time would be wasted if I did not give the value I advertised to give. You see I planned that if a fellow bought a JONES' SPECIAL he'd forever be a JONES' SPECIAL HAT customer as well as a JONES' SPECIAL "booster," because of the satisfaction it gave. And, believe me, I took good care to see the value was in the hat.

Now don't you think it would be a good investment for you to "try" one of these hats at $2.50 instead of $3. The variety of styles will insure a becoming hat, and my personal guarantee will insure your complete satisfaction.

Other grades, "The Best in the City," $2. Lamson & Hubbard, $3.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 14—3t

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

(Continued from Page One.)

the opening contribution of the club for part two. The arrangement was by J. A. Parks.

Mrs. Sundelius sang a group of songs "My heart and lute" by Kjerulf; "The daisy's secret," by Sinding; "I wander through the stilly night" and "Song of a shepherd" by Fox.

These were received with enthusiastic applause and the Swedish folk song with which she responded was accorded an ovation.

A negro melody "De Sandman" by Protheroe was sung by the club, being followed by "Nelly was a lady" with Herbert J. Gurney in the solo part.

"Story of an only child" was given by Miss Chandler with all the naivete of a young lad and was followed by a humorous description of "Childhood at one A. M."

"The house by the side of the road" a poem by Sam Walter Foss was the closing selection of Miss Chandler in response to a series of encores.

"Invictus" a stirring masterpiece by Bruno Huhn with the full strength of chorus, soloists, piano and organ brought to a close an evening of rare enjoyment.

Edward Bullock was in fine voice. To William E. Weston and E. Payson True much credit is due for their able accompaniment.

The club is deserving of and is receiving the hearty support of the community on account of the high musical standard it is maintaining in its club work and because of the able talent it is able to attract to its concerts.

The club's director J. A. Crowley is to be congratulated upon the manner in which the members respond to his training.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in
NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

A REASONABLE CONCLUSION

ADVERTISERS KNOW THAT A CLOSELY READ HOME NEWS PAPER HAVING THE CONFIDENCE OF ITS READERS, IS OF MUCH GREATER VALUE THAN A HURRIEDLY READ PRODUCTION, HENCE THEY ARE JUSTIFIED IN THEIR EXPECTATION OF GREATER RESULTS FROM THEIR ADVERTISING IN THE

Quincy Daily Ledger

Quincy Daily Ledger
FOR SALE AT
BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	50 degrees
Mar. 14, 1911,	49 degrees
Mar. 14, 1910,	58 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The annual banquet and ladies' night of the Quincy Point church will be held April 10.

Miss Mildred Bonney is making plans to go to Hudson, N. H. the last of the month for a visit.

Mrs. E. H. Bonney of 9 Glenwood way has gone to Hudson, N. H. to spend the week end with relatives.

Albion Bonney writes from Alexandrie, Egypt, where he has opened a dentist's office that he is pleasantly situated and enjoying his work.

The Junior King's Daughters met this afternoon at the home of Miss Esther Beckford 294 Washington street. The next meeting will be with Miss Dorothy Edwards.

Eleven tables were in play and a most enjoyable time was in order at the whist party, held Tuesday evening in Grand Army Hall, under the auspices of the Paul J. Revere Women's Relief Corps. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. P. Walsh, Mrs. Anna J. Gould, Mrs. Mary E. Power, Mrs. Sarah Williams, Mrs. Mary Thomas and John Thomas.

QUINCY LODGE OF ELKS.

The annual meeting of Quincy lodge of Elks was held Tuesday evening and these officers were elected:

Exalted Ruler—George A. Jordan.
Esteemed Leading Knight—Philip H. Sullivan.
Esteemed Loyal Knight—John Hilderbrand.
Esteemed Lecturing Knight—Edward D. Larkin.
Secretary—John D. Smith.
Treasurer—Charles R. O'Connor.
Tyler—Maurice F. Cohen.
Trustee three years—James W. Sweeney.
Representative to Grand Lodge—Robert J. Williams.
Alternate—Elmer L. Paine.

The lodge also received a visit from Frank J. Condon, D. D. G. E. R. of North Attleboro.

Leo J. McMaster who has been the secretary of the lodge for several years declined election as his present business takes him out of town for the greater part of the time.

SACRED CONCERT.

No efforts have been spared by the members of Division 4, A. O. H. to make the sacred concert, to be given in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, next Sunday evening, worthy of being treasured up for many a day. The committee in charge has arranged a fine program, to be furnished by well known talent and a most pleasing affair is in store for all who attend.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

NORFOLK COUNTY PROBATE COURT

Judge Loyed E. Chamberlin held probate court for Norfolk county at Quincy Wednesday and transacted the following business.

WILLS ALLOWED.

Of Ariel B. Chandler late of Norwood, Edwin M. S. Chandler executor.

Of George L. Haynes late of Milton, Viola A. Haynes executrix, bond $2000.

Of Mae L. Hicks late of Quincy, Walter S. Pinkham executor, bond $25,000.

TRUSTEES.

George H. Morrill was appointed trustee of certain estate of George H. Morrill late of Norwood for the benefit of Louisa T. Morrill et al. Bond $2,500,000.

ADMINISTRATIONS.

Willard E. Everett on estate of Emily A. Graves late of Walpole, bond $600.

Anora Joyce on estate of Thomas J. Joyce late of Quincy, bond $1000.

Mary E. Shumway on estate of Clara A. Shumway late of Medway, bond $3000.

Edroy W. Austin on estate of John B. Austin late of Holbrook, bond $20,000.

Charles E. Minchin on estate of Paul J. Minchin late of Braintree, bond $3600.

Lendall W. Smith on estate of Clarissa J. Smith late of Weymouth, bond $1400.

Sarah A. Johnson on estate of John A. Johnson late of Quincy, bond $1500.

Ann Winters on estate of George M. Winters late of East Weymouth, bond $400.

Ernest H. Chute on estate of George A. Chute late of Dedham, bond $1000.

Elizabeth C. Westall on estate of Annie E. Cushing late of Quincy, bond $6,000.

Lester C. Reed on estate of Henry W. Reed late of Medway, bond $1,800.

Mary C. Pignet on estate of Silas A. Stone late of Sharon, bond $800.

ACCOUNT ALLOWED.

First and final of Thomas F. Mitchell executor of will of Clara J. Mitchell late of Quincy for $1,696.

Fourth and final of Frederick G. Katzman, trustee under will of Jacob Dashuch late of Brookline for $538.24.

First and final of John F. Kiley administrator of estate of Dennis McCarthy late of Norwood for $2850.

MISCELLANEOUS.

An inventory was filed on the estate of Ellen F. Stetson late of Braintree. Personal estate $23,094, real estate $4,800.

Permission was granted Sarah A. Johnson to sell real estate of John A. Johnson late of Quincy to the amount of $725.

A distribution was ordered on the estate of Rose A. Silva late of Cohasset.

AUXILIARY TO BE FORMED

The ladies of Quincy Point met a the club rooms of the Town Rive Yacht club, Tuesday, for the forma tion of a ladies' auxiliary in connec tion with the club.

No definite plans have been arrive at as yet and no officers have bee elected.

Next Wednesday afternoon, th ladies will again assemble at the clu room and they will complete the elec tion of officers. No name has yet bee decided upon.

The meeting Tuesday was well at tended by the ladies and no doubt large number will attend next Wed nesday and the auxiliary is sure to b formed and the officers as soon as they are elected will immediately form plans.

The ladies are sure to do good worl in their vicinity as other auxiliaries c the city are now doing.

MRS. LUCY M. DONOHER.

The funeral of Mrs. Lucy M. Dono her, conceded to be the oldest residen of this city, took place Wednesda from the home of her daughter, Mrs John J. Barry, 22 Rogers street. A funeral high mass of requiem wa celebrated in St. Mary's church, Wes Quincy at 9 by her godson, Rev. Fr Edward R. Fegan of Rockland.

The regular choir under direction c Mrs. Frank L. Reardon, furnished th Gregorian chant, and the services wer attended by a large number of rela tives and friends, to whom the de ceased had greatly endeared hersel Burial was at St. Mary's Cemetery.

The deceased was 97 years of ag and is survived by two daughters, wh have the sympathy of a wide circle o friends in their bereavement.

WOULD RENEW OLD COMPACT

Coal Operators Urge Careful Consideration by Miners

REFUSE EMPLOYES' DEMANDS

Say Present Conditions of Industry Will Not Allow Them to Raise Pay of 180,000 Men—Old Agreement Stands Recognized as Most Just and Sound Solution of Labor Difficulties Ever Secured In This Country

New York, March 14.—Absolute refusal of the miners' demands for higher wages in the anthracite fields was conveyed to the representatives of 180,000 employes by a sub-committee of the coal operators. The reply was given at a conference attended by both the operators' and the miners' leaders.

Shortly after the conference began an official statement was issued by the operators containing the rejection of the miners' demands. The operators said:

"We are unable to accede to the demands presented by you at the joint conference in New York city Feb. 27. Were we to do so, we should cast aside in large part the work of the anthracite strike commission appointed by the President of the United States in 1902.

"After months of conscientious and painstaking effort in the investigation of the problem presented to them, the award they rendered stands recognized as the most just and sound solution of labor difficulties ever secured in this country. It has stood the test of time, has been twice renewed by mutual agreement, has preserved peace in an industry long subject to contention and interruption; has brought good wages to the employes, stability of employment to the many industries depending upon mining, and general prosperity to the anthracite region. It should be conclusive as to all facts and issues which they covered, and these have not been changed."

In conclusion the operators urged a renewal of the present agreement, saying:

"Our proposition is that the present agreement between the anthracite mine workers and the operators be continued for and during the time of three years from the first day of April, 1912. This agreement embraces the entire finding of the anthracite coal strike committee, together with the various modifications made in 1906 and 1909, of which some were made at your request and others were effected by the operators on their own initiative. We urge careful consideration of our proposition and its acceptance by you."

The operators said the present condition of the industry would not allow them to do more than continue the present agreement. They warned the miners that the responsibility for upsetting the present prosperous conditions in the anthracite coal fields would rest with them.

The miners asked adjournment until Friday, when they will present their counter reply, and the meeting adjourned.

BOOKS SHOW SHORTAGE

Treasurer Frazier of Seamen's Union Being Sought by Police

Boston, March 14.—Following an examination of his books by Boston police inspectors a warrant charging larceny has been issued for William H. Frazier, the missing secretary and treasurer of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's union and national secretary of the Seamen's Union of America.

Frazier disappeared last Wednesday. It is alleged that a shortage of $2542.10 was discovered in his accounts by officials of the union after he disappeared.

AT MIDNIGHT HOUR

Delaware Couple United In Wedlock In Middle of a Bridge

Wilmington, Del., March 14.—A marriage performed at Chestertown, Md., is a true exemplification of Longfellow's poem: "I Stood on the Bridge at Midnight."

Rev. Dr. L. E. Barrett, a Methodist preacher, married Louis Van and Miss Emma Leager, while standing in the middle of the span across the Chester river, near Chestertown, as the midnight hour struck. A signal lantern of the bridge furnished the only illumination.

A MID-AIR COLLISION

Aeroplanes Fall to Ground After Bumping Together In Germany

Berlin, March 14.—A collision occurred between two aeroplanes flying round the aerodrome at Johannisthal, the machine driven by the German airman Schade, who was carrying a passenger named Badowski, striking violently another aeroplane driven by the German airman Rettinger.

Both the aeroplanes were smashed and fell to the ground, Badowski being injured, while the two airmen escaped unhurt.

LEADERS IN COAL ROW

G. F. Baer, Head of Owners, and J. P. White, President of Miners

CORNFIELD N APPENDIX

Discovery of Doctors When Operating Upon Indiana Farmer

Lawrenceburg, Ind., March 14.—Three grains of corn that had begun to sprout were found in the appendix of James B. Powell, a wealthy farmer, when he was operated upon for acute appendicitis yesterday.

The appendix was eleven inches long. Powell had a habit, he said, of eating a few grains of corn every time he fed his stock.

DASH TO SOUTH POLE IN AN AEROPLANE

Contemplated by Aviator With the Mawson Expedition

Hobart, Tasmania, March 14.—The South Pole will be reached by aeroplane if Lieutenant Watkins, an aviator who is with the Mawson (Australian) Antarctic expedition is successful.

The steamer Aurora, upon which the Australian party went south, is in the harbor here, having arrived from Adelie Land. Captain Davis reported that two parties had landed, one for scientific purposes and the other to attempt to reach the pole.

Dr. Mawson's party was landed Jan. 19 and it is with this party that Watkins and his monoplane are traveling.

DID NOT HEAR FOG SIGNALS

Claim of Captain of Steam Collier Wrecked Off Nova Scotia

Halifax, March 14.—The 3000-ton British steam collier Islesworth, from Boston, while creeping into port through a dense fog, crashed on the rocks near Chebucto Head lighthouse and two hours afterward was a total wreck. Captain Redding and his crew of thirty-nine men reached the shore in safety.

The Islesworth was in a crippled condition, having only one blade on her propeller, and was making port to have new blades adjusted.

The captain claims he did not hear the fog signals, and before he realized his position, the big ship was on the rocks and within 100 yards of the lighthouse. Once she struck her doom was sealed.

KILLS PAIR OF BANDITS

Express Messenger on Train In Texas Is Right on the Job

Sanderson, Tex., March 14.—Two robbers attempting to loot the express car of a Southern Pacific train, west bound, were killed by Express Messenger John Trousdale, and the money of the express company was saved.

Trousdale hit the first robber on the head with a mallet as the bandit crawled into the car. As the second robber entered, the messenger, with the pistol dropped by the dead bandit, shot the other desperado.

The two men climbed aboard the engine at Dryden, Tex., and forced the engineer to run ahead with the express and baggage.

The passengers took up a large collection and presented it to the messenger.

Sugar Takes Another Drop

New York, March 14.—All grades of refined sugars were lowered yesterday 10 cents per hundred pounds.

The Kitchen Cupboard

WHEN TO EAT PARSNIPS.

IT is in the spring that parsnips are at their best if they have been properly kept. The farmer's wife has some one bury her stock in the ground below the frost line. This is done in the fall, and the parsnips are not touched until spring, when the ground seems to have developed a particular flavor which is very pleasing to epicures.

When prepared for cooking, parsnips must be scraped and washed until clean. They are boiled for about an hour. If cut in half, less time is needed.

Some Palatable Dishes.

Parsnips With Cream Sauce.—Take boiled parsnips, cut them into cubes and serve with cream sauce. Young parsnips are the best for this purpose. If the parsnips are old an hour and a quarter is not too long to let them boil. Thus cooked they are served with fish.

Fried Parsnips.—Boil, peel and drain the parsnips, cut into halves, season with salt and pepper and dip first into melted butter and then into sifted flour. Place some drippings or cooking butter into a frying pan. Put in the parsnips and fry until they are brown on all sides.

Parsnip Fritters.—After the parsnips have been boiled and the skins taken off mash them and season with salt, pepper and butter. Mold the mashed parsnips into little flat cakes, flour and fry in butter until golden brown.

Novel Recipes.

Parsnips With Carrots.—Wash and split the parsnips and carrots and lay them in a saucepan with the flat side down. Put on boiling water enough to cover them and boil until tender, when the skins may be removed. Then add a butter sauce and they are ready to serve.

Cold boiled parsnips may be sliced and fried.

Parsnip Soup.—To make a soup for four persons take a quart of stock, two ounces of butter, salt and pepper to taste and a pound of sliced parsnips.

Put the parsnips into a saucepan with the butter, which has been melted, and simmer until tender. Then boil in a pint of stock for half an hour. Take off and strain and put in the rest of the stock. Season and serve.

THE TOOTHSOME CRAB.

THE popularity of crab meat depends so much on the way that it is served that it is not to be wondered at that inland cooks who cannot avail themselves of the shellfish fresh from the sea are wary of trying any but the plainest ways of cooking crab.

Before cooking, the sand bags and waste from the sides should be pulled off and the fish washed and dried. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, roll in crumbs and then in egg and fry in hot lard.

For Boiling.

Boiled Crabs.—Crabs which are to be boiled should be heavy and have stiff joints. They should be moderate in size. To kill them, plunge them head first in boiling water. Cook for fifteen minutes. Then take off the outside shell and the waste. Rinse and serve on a platter.

Scalloped Crabs.—Remove the meat from the shell, mince and mix with cream sauce. Season and return this mixture to the shells or put in scallop shells. Cover with butter and cracker crumbs and bake until brown.

For Lenten Luncheons.

A salad and a souffle that will make excellent items on the Lenten luncheon bill are given:

Crab Salad.—Peel and scoop out the inside of six ripe hothouse tomatoes. Remove the meat from six or eight crabs, according to size. At serving time mix lightly with mayonnaise dressing which has been delicately flavored with tarragon vinegar, and put into the tomato cups. Serve on lettuce.

Crab Souffle.—Make one pint of rich cream sauce, add the yolks of three eggs and beat well together. Add a dash of cayenne, a cupful of grated dairy cheese and one pint of finely picked crab meat.

Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, pour into a baking dish and bake in a quick oven.

Serve when taken from the oven before it can fall.

Better Than Its Name.

Most persons who eat crabs prefer them deviled. They are delicious cooked that way. Canned crab meat can be used for this purpose.

Deviled Crabs With Cream Sauce.—Buy a can of the best crab meat. Shred the meat, add the juice of one-half lemon, small teaspoonful of mustard, a dash or two of paprika. Mix with cream sauce.

Cream Sauce.—One-half tablespoonful butter, one-half cup milk, salt and pepper to taste; thicken with teaspoonful flour. Put in shells, sprinkle with crumbs and put one-half tablespoonful of melted butter on each. Bake in a hot oven until light brown.

Anna Thompson.

Burning Oil Steamer Sinks

New York, March 14.—The steamer Jose, laden with 10,000 cans of oil, caught fire while at her pier here. Fifteen men barely escaped with their lives, and the burning steamer, after being pulled out into the East river, sank.

(ADVERTISE.)

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?
WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE
James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man
Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.

9-tf

CLEANEST HANDIEST CHEAPEST FUEL GAS

It Needs No Witchcraft

to make pots and kettles seethe and bubble on a gas range. Don't be a slave to your old kitchen stove, when you can be master of a gas range without much expense.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

We are Enlarging our Store During the Alteration
We offer an Alteration Sale In All Departments

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

SAVES TRAINS WHILE DYING

Towerman Receives Fatal Wound at Hands of His Friend

Boston, March 14.—Up in the Southampton street tower of the New Haven road yesterday afternoon, Towerman George H. Bishop threw several switches for two oncoming passenger trains, watched them thunder safely by, twice wrote in a book, according to regulations, the time at which they passed, and a moment later sank to the floor, shot through the stomach by his friend, Watchman William O'Neil.

Bishop died last night. Before he died, however, it is said Bishop assured O'Neil that he did not hold the shooting against him, but believed his story that the shooting was entirely accidental.

After he was released on bail last night, O'Neil said that he had arrested a man in the railroad yards and had drawn his revolver to capture him. He took him up in the tower where Bishop was at work, and was talking with Bishop about a place to lock the prisoner up, when in some way his revolver, which he held in his hand, accidentally went off.

HALF COW, HALF DEER

Queer Freak of Nature Makes Its Appearance on Bay State Farm

Holbrook, Mass., March 14.—Elmer Kingsley exhibited a week old calf at his farm on Plymouth street yesterday. The animal is half cow and half deer.

The hind parts of it are deer, and the front parts cow. It has a short tail, and deer legs, and the small, pointed feet of the deer and the general resemblance of a deer.

The front of the calf has the features of a cow; the feet are different, however, being larger and flatter. It weighs exactly twenty pounds, while an ordinary calf weighs sixty pounds. It is handsome, being almost entirely red.

Kingsley intends looking after the freak carefully, and will invite scientists to view it later.

THOUSAND ARABS SLAIN

As Many More Wounded In Fierce Encounter With Italians

Benghazi, Tripoli, March 14.—More than 1000 Arabs were killed and another 1000 wounded, according to Italian advices, in the course of one of the stiffest encounters of the war, when the Italians stormed and occupied two oases situated to the northeast of Fojat, which were strongly intrenched and held by a large force of Arabs.

The Arabs defended their position with the utmost bravery, but were finally routed by the Italian troops

NO REASON FOR IT

You are Shown the Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. The following is convincing proof.

Calvin Porter, 150 Beaulah street, Whitman, Mass., says: "I am sorry that Doan's Kidney Pills did not come to my attention sooner for if they had, I would have been spared a great deal of suffering and expense. I suffered from a weak back for years and there was a constant, dull pain in my loins. I had to pass the kidney secretions too frequently, especially at night. As soon as I began to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and by the time I finished the contents of four boxes, I was entirely free from my troubles." (Statement given Oct. 6, 1908.)

A CONFIRMED ENDORSEMENT

Mr. Porter was interviewed by our representative on June 27, 1911 and he said: "I am always pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and you are welcome to continue the use of my former statement. I know that this remedy can be relied upon."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER V.

The Encounter.

Betty Malroy had ridden into the squire's yard during the progress of the trial and when Yancy and Hannibal came from the house she beckoned the Scratch Hiller to her.

"You are not going to lose your nephew, are you, Mr. Yancy?" she asked eagerly, when Yancy stood at her side.

"No, ma'am." But his sense of elation was plainly tempered.

"I am very glad. I rode out to the Hill to say good-by to Hannibal and to you, but they said you were here and that the trial was today."

Captain Murrell, with Crenshaw and the squire, came from the house, and Murrell's swarthy face lit up at sight of the girl. Yancy would have yielded his place, but Betty detained him.

"Are you going away, ma'am?" he asked with concern.

"Yes—to my home in west Tennessee," and a cloud crossed her smooth brow.

"But ain't you ever coming back, Miss Betty?" asked Hannibal rather fearfully.

"Oh, I hope so, dear." She turned to Yancy. "I wonder you don't leave the Hill, Mr. Yancy. You could so easily go where Mr. Bladen would never find you. Haven't you thought of this?"

"That are a p'int," agreed Yancy slowly. "Might I ask you what parts you'd specially recommend?" lifting his grave eyes to hers.

"It would really be the sensible thing to do!" said Betty. "I am sure you would like west Tennessee—they say you are a great hunter." Yancy smiled almost guiltily.

"Mr. Yancy, if you should cross the mountains, remember I live near Memphis. Belle Plain is the name of the plantation—it's not hard to find; just don't forget—Belle Plain."

"I won't forget, and mebby you will see us there one of these days. Sho', I've seen mighty little of the world—about as far as a dog can trot in a couple of hours!"

Betty glanced toward the squire and Mr. Crenshaw. They were standing near the bars that gave entrance to the lane. Murrell had left them and was walking briskly down the road toward Crenshaw's store, where his horse was tied. She bent down and gave Yancy her slim white hand.

"Good-by, Mr. Yancy—lift Hannibal so that I can kiss him!" Yancy swung the child aloft. "I think you are such a nice little boy, Hannibal—you

"I Don't Know but What I Should Pull You Out of That Saddle and Twist Your Neck."

mustn't forget me!" And touching her horse lightly with the whip she rode away at a gallop.

"She sho'ly is a lady!" said Yancy, staring after her. "And we musn't forget Memphis or Belle Plain, Nevvy."

When Betty Malroy rode away from Squire Balaam's Murrell galloped after her. Presently she heard the beat of his horse's hoofs as he came pounding along the sandy road, and glanced back over her shoulder. With an exclamation of displeasure she reined in her horse. Murrell quickly gained a place at her side.

"I suppose Ferris is at the Barony?" he said, drawing his horse down to a walk.

"I believe he is," said Betty with a curt little air.

"May I ride with you?" he gave her a swift glance. She nodded indifferently and would have urged her horse into a gallop again, but he made a gesture of protest. "Don't—or I shall think you are still running away from me," he said with a short laugh.

"Were you at the trial?" she asked. "I am glad they didn't get Hannibal away from Yancy."

"Oh, Yancy will have his hands full with that later—so will Bladen," he added, significantly. He studied her out of those deeply sunken eyes of his in which no shadow of youth lingered, for men such as he reached their prime early, and it was a swiftly passing splendor. "Ferris tells me you are going to west Tennessee?" he said at length.

"Yes."

"I know your half-brother, Tom Ware—I know him very well."

"So you know Tom?" she observed, and frowned slightly. Tom was her guardian, and her memories of him were not satisfactory. A burly, unshaven man with a queer streak of meanness through his character.

"You've spent much of your time up north?" suggested Murrell.

"Four years. I've been at school, you know. That's where I met Judith Ferris."

"I hope you'll like west Tennessee. It's still a bit raw compared with what you've been accustomed to in the north. You haven't been back in all those four years?" Betty shook her head. "Nor seen Tom—nor any one from out yonder?" For some reason a little tinge of color had crept into Betty's cheeks. "Will you let me renew our acquaintance at Belle Plain? I shall be in west Tennessee before the summer is over; probably I shall leave here within a week," he said, bending toward her. His glance dwelt on her face and on the pliant lines of her figure, and his senses swam.

"I imagine you will be welcome at Belle Plain. You are Tom's friend." Murrell bit his lip, and then laughed as his mind conjured up a picture of the cherished Tom. Suddenly he reached out and rested his hand on hers.

"Betty—if I might think—" he began, but his tongue stumbled. His love-making was usually of a savage sort, but some quality in the girl held him in check. Betty drew away from him, an angry color on her cheeks and an angry light in her eyes. "Forgive me, Betty!" murmured Murrell, but his heart beat against his ribs, and passion sent its surges through him. "Don't you know what I'm trying to tell you?" he whispered. Betty gathered up her reins. "Not yet—" he cried, and again he rested a heavy hand on hers.

"Let me go—let me go!" cried Betty indignantly.

"No—not yet!" He urged his horse still nearer and gathered her close. "You've got to hear me. I've loved you since the first moment I rested my eyes on you—and, by God, you shall love me in return!" He felt her struggle to free herself from his grasp with a sense of savage triumph.

Bruce Carrington, on his way back to Fayetteville from the Forks, came about a turn in the road. Betty saw a tall, handsome fellow in the first flush of manhood; Carrington, an angry girl struggling in a man's grasp.

At sight of the new-comer, Murrell, with an oath, released Betty, who, striking her horse with the whip, galloped down the road toward the Barony. As she fled past Carrington she bent low in her saddle.

"Don't let him follow me!" she gasped, and Carrington, striding forward, caught Murrell's horse by the bit.

"Let go!" roared Murrell, and a murderous light shot from his eyes.

"I don't know but I should pull you out of that saddle and twist your neck!" said Carrington hotly. Murrell's face underwent a swift change.

"You're a bold fellow to force your way into a lover's quarrel," he said quietly. Carrington's arm dropped at his side. Perhaps, after all, it was that.

CHAPTER VI.

Betty Sets Out for Tennessee.

Bruce's first memories had to do with long nights when he perched beside his father on the cabin roof of their keel-boat and watched the stars or the blurred line of the shore where it lay against the sky, or the lights on other barges and rafts drifting as they were drifting, with their wheat and corn and whisky, to that common market at the river's mouth.

Bruce Carrington had seen the day of barge and raft reach its zenith, had heard the first steam packet's shrieking whistle, which sounded the death-knell of the ancient order, though the shifting of the trade was a slow matter and the glory of the old did not pass over to the new at once, but lingered still in mighty fleets of rafts and keel-boats and in the Homeric carousals of some ten thousand of the half-horse, half-alligator breed that nightly gathered in New Orleans.

After the reading of the warrant that morning, Charley Balaam had shown Carrington the road to the Forks, assuring him when they separated that with a little care and decent use of his eyes it would be possible to fetch up there and not pass plumb through the settlement without knowing where he was.

He was on his way to Fayetteville, where he intended to spend the night, and perhaps a day or two in looking around, when the meeting with Betty and Murrell occurred. The girl's face remained with him. It was a face he would like to see again.

He was still thinking of the girl when he ate his supper that night at Cleggett's Tavern. Later, in the bar, he engaged his host in idle gossip. He had met a gentleman and a lady on the road that day! he wondered, as he toyed with his glass, if it could have been the Ferrises? Mounted? Yes, mounted. Then it was Ferris and his wife—or it might have been Captain Murrell and Miss Malroy. Miss Malroy did not live in that part of the country; she was a friend of Mrs. Ferris', belonged in Kentucky or Tennessee, or somewhere out yonder—at any rate she was bringing her visit to an end, for Ferris had instructed him to reserve a place for her in the north-bound stage on the morrow.

Carrington suddenly remembered that he had thought of starting north in the morning himself.

The stage left at six, and as Carrington climbed to his seat the next morning Mr. Cleggett was advising the driver to look sharp when he came to the Barony road, as he was to pick up a party there. It was Carrington who looked sharp, and almost at the spot where he had seen Miss Malroy the day before he saw her again, with Ferris and Judith and a pile of luggage bestowed by the wayside. Betty did not observe him as the coach stopped, for she was intent on her farewells with her friends. There were hasty words of advice from Ferris, prolonged good-bys to Judith, tears—kisses—while a place was being made for her many boxes and trunks. Carrington gathered that she was going north to Washington; that her final destination was some point either on the Ohio or Mississippi, and that her name was Betty. Then the door slammed and the stage was in motion again.

All through the morning they swung forward in the heat and dust and glare, and at midday rattled into the shaded main street of a sleepy village and drew up before the tavern where dinner was waiting them.

Betty saw Carrington when she took her seat, and gave a scarcely perceptible start of surprise. Then her face was flooded with a rich color. This was the man who saw her with Captain Murrell yesterday! There was a brief moment of irresolution and then she bowed coldly.

It was four days to Richmond. Four days of hot, dusty travel, four nights of uncomfortable cross-road stations, where Betty suffered sleepless nights and the unaccustomed pangs of early rising. She occasionally found herself wondering who Carrington was. She approved of the manner in which he conducted himself. She liked a man who could be unobtrusive.

The next morning he found himself seated opposite her at breakfast. He received another curt little nod, cool and distant, as he took his seat.

"You stop in Washington?" said Carrington.

Betty shook her head. "No, I am going on to Wheeling."

"You're fortunate in being so nearly home," he observed. "I'm going on to Memphis."

Betty exclaimed: "Why, I am going to Memphis, too!"

"Are you? By canal to Cumberland, and then by stage over the National Road to Wheeling?"

Betty nodded. "It makes one wish they'd finish their railroads, doesn't it? Do you suppose they'll ever get as far west as Memphis?" she said.

"They say it's going to be bad for the river trade when they're built on something besides paper," answered Carrington. "And I happen to be a flatboatman, Miss Malroy."

No more was said just then, for Betty became reserved and did not attempt to resume the conversation. A day later they rumbled into Washington, and as Betty descended from the coach Carrington stepped to her side.

"I suppose you'll stop here, Miss Malroy," he said, indicating the tavern before which the stage had come to a stand.

"Yes," said Betty briefly.

"If I can be of any service to you—" he began, with just a touch of awkwardness in his manner.

"No, I thank you, Mr. Carrington," said Betty quickly.

"Good night . . . good-by." He turned away, and Betty saw his tall form disappear in the twilight.

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

NEW RULES FOR BOWLING

At the meeting of the twelve men who have qualified for the finals of the bowling tournament at the Y. M. C. A. old rules were discussed and new ones formed, they are:

First; 75 per cent of the matches must be rolled off to qualify for a prize (at least 7 of the 11).

Second; No competitor shall receive more than two prizes.

Lee Brooks now stands in the lead in all three events.

High single string134 pins.

High three strings—329 pins.

Total pin fall—30 strings—2736 pins.

These all are three new records at the Y. M. C. A., and he is capable of bettering these records as he has shown better form in practice with some of the local boys at the gym.

Bowling has at last taken a good hold of the members of the Y. M. C. A., thanks to the efforts of L. F. La Rose, and by all outlooks the future ought to prove successful to the members that take to bowling.

Lee Brooks has been hard pressed by local boys and has well earned his title of record holder at these three events.

WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP

The wrestling championships of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New England, will be held under the auspices of the Salem Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening, March 30th at seven-thirty o'clock.

Many of the local wrestlers, from the Y. M. C. A., Clapp Memorial and Cunningham Gym, have formed plans to compete in the different events.

The championships are strictly governed by the rules of the A. L. N. A. and all contestants must be amateurs and must accordingly apply with the rules of the A. L. N. A.

The following events will take place during the course of the evening for which several good prizes may be sure to be well contested for:

Bantam Weight—105 and under.
Feather Weight—115 and under.
Special Weight—125 and under Light Weight—135 and under Welter Weight—145 and under Middle Weight—158 and under Heavy Weight—Over 158.

Many of the local wrestlers are forming plans to contest in the events. P. Skevakis, C. Parker are no doubt well prepared and are sure to bring back prizes and honor for the local Y. M. C. A.

J. H. Burns the local wrestler would be sure of a place in any of the classes but owing to the fact that he has a sprained ligament in his knee will not be able to compete.

The entrees will close Wednesday March. 27, with W. P. Bradley, of the Salem Y. M. C. A. The entrance fee is 50 cents for each man in each event.

All contestants will be weighed at six-thirty o'clock. One-half pound will be the greatest excess allowed in any class.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Annie Gillooly, late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

JAMES F. BURKE, Executor.
(Address)
1372 Hancock street, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy.
March 8, 1912. 3t 8-14-21

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1-m

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 335-3 Jan. 17-tf

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

STRAYED, from 65 Chestnut street, yellow angora kitten. Finder will please notify above address. 14-1t

FOR SALE

Hoop-iron "Mainsprings for 25cts." we don't keep we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE—Piano, large upright, good condition. Apply 112 Sagamore street, Atlantic, Mass., near depot; at home mornings. 12-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—By a lady, work by day, laundry work preferred. Apply to Frisk Employment Agency, Johnson Bldg. 13-3t

WANTED—You to see plainly and distinctly. Every time I come to town the folks keep kicking ma dawg aroun'. Now it makes no difference if he is a houn' you've got to quit kickin ma dawg aroun'. Mac Millan Jeweler and Graduate Optician. 1463 Hancock street (Singer Shop.) Residence office 837 Hancock street. 13-3t

WANTED—By young man position in men's furnishing store. Best references. Address 129 Glendale road, Quincy. 12-3t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

MY BUFF ROCKS LAY
heavily in winter when eggs are high. I am getting 25 to 35 eggs a day from my 55 layers. Order your settings now from this superb laying strain, and get them when you want them. Settings $1.00 each. $1.25 delivered. Fertility guaranteed. MRS. KATE KEYES, 302 Beale St., Forbes Hill, Wollaston.
Tel. Quincy 1547-W.
Feb. 13-3t T.-Th.--p 17-4w

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

TO LET

TO LET—House of 6 rooms and bath. All modern improvements, convenient to Fore River and square. Good location. Apply to Mr. Murray, 11 Glenwood Way. 13-3t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 13-6t

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Tenement of three rooms. Apply at 22 A. Granite street. Near Centre. 8-6t

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 30-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cen s can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

BRIEFS

After a short visit with friends in Brockton, Miss Eliza C. Sheahan has returned to this city.

Rev. William J. Glynn, O. S. A. of Lawrence visited friends on Upland road Wednesday.

The Camera club is to hold its first meeting March 20, at the Y. M. C. A. to complete its organization.

Albert G. Dolliver of 33 Saville street is confined to the house with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

It is rumored that Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rice of Adams street are going to move to Dover, Mass., the last of the month.

Miss Margaret Riley who has been for several years in the government employ in Washington is at home on an extended visit.

Allison Marsh, Amherst '13 who has been ill at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Marsh of Irving place, is convalescing.

Henry M. Faxon is renovating and repairing the property at the corner of Hancock street and Russell park, recently purchased by him.

The question of Metropolitan planning will be taken up and discussed at the smoke talk of the West Quincy Improvement society tonight

Miss Isbell is to have an exhibition on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week at the Handcraft Gift shop (Miss Spear's) 118 Granite street.

Mrs. Cecil K. Blanchard who has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Wood of Upland road, returned Wednesday to her home in Wellesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baxter, of Ketchum, Idaho who have been passing the winter with Mrs. George W. Morton of Spear street are visiting Mrs. Edward Lowe, of 495 Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Eaton of Montello, are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a grandson, a son being born to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Eaton, of Montello. All formerly resided in Quincy and have many friends here.

Members of Orphans Hope lodge of Masons of East Weymouth pay a fraternal visit to Wollaston lodge next Tuesday evening at a special communication, and the officers of Orphans Hope lodge will work the degree, in full, upon one of the candidates.

Secretary Bromley of the local Y. M. C. A., has received an invitation from William H. McPherson, physical director of the Newton Y. M. C. A, to attend the annual gymnasium demonstration to be given by the younger boys in their gymnasium March 27 and 28.

The last in the course of lectures at the Hall Place M. E. church will be a stereopticon lecture on Oberammagau or The Passion Play, this evening, by Rev. L. W. Adams of Lynn. Mr. Adams has a very superior lantern which he operated very successfully at the last lecture given by Dr. Franklin Hamilton of Washington, D. C.

DEATHS

HIGGINS—In Oakland, Cal., Mar. 5, Sophia A. widow of the late James S. Higgins, aged 89 years, 6 months, 8 days.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

The Knights of Malta will have a public installation of officers this evening at Greenleaf hall, after which there will be addresses by several speakers, including the Grand Commander. The installation will be under the direction of Grand Deputy Bamford, assisted by twelve members of the Grand Commandery in uniform. O. A. Barron is the Knight Commander for the coming year.

LENTEN SERVICE.

At the special Lenten services at the Wollaston Unitarian church Wednesday evening. Rev. Carl G. Horst read a part of the 9th chapter of Mark as the scripture lesson and Rev. Joseph P. MacCarthy of Waltham, took his text from the same chapter: "and he bringeth them up into a high mountain apart by themselves."

In a manner at once direct and sympathetic the scene, long ago enacted, was re-created and made human in its appeal to the group of hearers. The preacher painted out the symbolic meaning of the transfiguration, and of the special need and value of a season set apart for the soul to ascend into the high places, and to be filled with the great thoughts and enlarging visions of prophets and seers of today. Our seasons of private and public worship were likened to this same "Going apart into the mountain to pray," and these brief seasons of inspiration should give us strength to return to the level of daily life with a message of courage for those whose circumstances do not permit of the breaking away from the beaten track.

The best of life is in the occasional vision, when we see and hear things unknown to the physical senses, are conscious of aspirations which cannot be weighed, emotions which we may not measure and the glory of life is in making bright the lives of those about us, with the vision which has elevated us.

WHIST TOURNAMENT.

There was a good attendance Wednesday evening at the weekly whist tournament of the Granite City club. The high scores ran unusually close. James H. Penniman had the top score with 68.7 per cent while Thomas G. Smith, the genial chairman of the entertainment committee was second high man with 68.5 per cent.

Willing to Pay—But—

"Your wife is very nervous, and she must be kept quiet at any cost."

"Yes, Doctor, I am willing to pay all right————but————" —Woman's Home Companion.

Accounting For It.

"That man has the digestion of a goat."

"Perhaps that is why when there is anything to eat, he is always butting in."

Considerate.

Though humble are his labors,
He's fit to sit with kings.
Because he loves his neighbors,
He never, never sings.

Twelve candidates were initiated at the meeting of the local lodge of the Order of Moose, held Wednesday evening in Faxon hall. Much routine business was also transacted.

Too Late For Classification.

WANTED—For spot cash, horses, wagons and harness suitable for produce business. No traders. Address or call 66 Chestnut St. Quincy. 14-3 t

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

SURPRISE FOR QUINCY HIGH

Loses Game Most Unexpectedly to Wellesley High

23 TO 19

The surprise of the season in basket ball in interscholastic circles was sprung yesterday afternoon at Wellesley when the High school quintet of that town defeated the Quincy High combination 23 to 19. Over confidence and an underestimation of the ability of Wellesley High due to the fact that not long ago the local boys took the measure of these same opponents right here in the local gymnasium by the decisive score of 79 to 9, were without doubt largely responsible for this inglorious defeat sustained at the hands of a High school aggregation that was practically unheard of in the athletic world.

The game was witnessed by the largest number of spectators that ever assembled in the gymnasium of Wellesley Highs chool and the result of the contest proved nothing short of miraculous to many of the home team rooters, who had expected to see Quincy High, a five that was considered a foremost contender for the championship honors of the state, win without the least difficulty. Many were in attendance, so it was said, simply to see the much heralded Granite City boys in action, but when the game was brought to a close this same number was inclined to wonder what there was to the local team that caused it to acquire so much notoriety this season.

Both teams played about evenly, but the local players were outclassed in passing the ball, a department of the game in which they have exhibited great efficiency throughout the season. The shooting of the ball by both sides was also of an even calibre and though the local players did not measure up to the standard which they should against such a team as Wellesley, still there were times when the game was characterized with spectacular plays.

The home team lost no time in getting down to action. Within ten minutes Wellesley was in the lead. Towards the middle of the first session Quincy High was enabled to overcome this lead, which was soon gone when the home five closed the first period, with a lead of 17 to 14. Even now the local players had a fine chance to redeem themselves and those who had taken the trip with them were expecting tosee Coach Staff's words of advice conduce to such good as would permit of the Quincy High team displaying marked superiority in the different departments of play.

But the second half saw no such anticipated change and both teams continued to play an even game. In this half great floor work was done by both teams, yet the home contingency managed to keep in the lead. Finlay seemed to be the only player for Quincy High who seemed able to locate the baskets with any accuracy and even he got but three baskets. Trask, who has shown himself to be the most consistent player in the local lineup this season, was also off color in shooting from the floor, though he did secure eight goals from free tries. McDonald failed to live up to his reputation and Holmes seemed to be the only man to play in the usual form that characterized the work of Quincy High this season.

Keefe was the star player for the winners, although every member of the Wellesley team displayed rare form. Tomorrow afternoon the local boys encounter the Provincetown High team and though we might feel inclined to say that "there should be nothing to it" perhaps it were better to refrain from giving vent to any opinions we might entertain lest the same fate that was handed to Quincy High yesterday might be forthcoming on this occasion. The summary:—

WELLESLEY H. S.	QUINCY H. S.
Keefe rf	lb Johnson
Plympton lf	rb Holmes
Putnam c	c Trask
Curry rb	lf McDonald
Stover lb	rf Finlay

Score, Wellesley H. S. 23, Quincy H. S. 19. Goals from floor, Keefe 3, Putnam 2, Plympton, Stover 2, Finley 3, Johnson, Trask. Quincy awarded one point for interference. Goals from fouls, Curry 7, Trask 8. Referee. A. J. Woodlock. Scorer, Jennings. Timer, Staff. Time 20m halves. Attendance 300.

It used to be customady to place a lot of corporation magnates on the platform at political rallies, but this year it is supposed to have a good effect to put all captains of industry out of the hall.

BARS PUT UP ON FRONTIER

Check on Promiscuous Shipment of Munitions of War

LOOPHOLES IN PRESENT LAWS

The Are Overcome by Resolution Adopted In Senate and Certain to Be Agreed to In House—President Given Discretionary Authority to Rule Upon Individual Cases—Stubborn Fact to Mexican Rebels

Washington, March 14.—Revolutions, filibustering expeditions, or the promotion of domestic violence in any country in Pan-America hereafter may not hope for war supplies of any description from the United States.

This principle, proclaimed yesterday in a concurrent resolution adopted by the senate, at the instance of President Taft, is practically certain to be adopted by the house today.

Though aimed primarily to meet the inadequacies of the present neutrality laws, to which the Mexican government called the president's attention, the resolution when put into effect will empower President Taft to prohibit at his discretion, by the issuance of a proclamation, the exportation of munitions of war to any country with which the United States is at peace.

Anticipating summary action by the house today, treasury department and war department officials issued instructions last night virtually halting all shipments of arms into Mexico until the resolution is declared effective.

Loopholes for the violation of neutrality laws admittedly are many, and professional promoters of revolutions in Latin America by various devices have succeeded in evading the statutes. To put an end to this, the president told members of the senate foreign relations committee and the Texas congressional delegation yesterday that he required discretionary authority to rule upon individual cases or it would be difficult to maintain peace hereafter in Pan-America.

Senator Scott immediately framed a resolution to give to the president comprehensive power, and unanimously the senate adopted the measure. To the Mexican rebels, who captured Juarez recently with the sole aim of possessing a port of entry through which they might import arms unrestrictedly, the resolution will prove a stubborn fact.

Yesterday's action is a departure from the policy of the United States during the Madero revolution, when ports of entry held by the rebels received arms and ammunition if regularly consigned to merchants.

Senator Root used but one argument in favor of breaking the precedent, and that was that thousands of Americans in Mexico are fleeing from their homes there, imperilled by the very arms which are being shipped into that country by Americans.

Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, said that probably a larger border patrol would be required to enforce the letter of the new measure. The department of justice will exercise close scrutiny upon all exports of arms from this country, and it is believed unlawful shipments will be taken hereafter at points of origin.

THE MAINE'S "FUNERAL"

Program For Final Sinking of Famous Battleship Is Completed

Havana, March 14.—The program of ceremonies for the burial at sea of the old battleship Maine next Saturday was perfected last night.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Maine will leave the harbor under tow, escorted by the North Carolina and the scout cruiser Birmingham, four Cuban gunboats and a flotilla of steamers carrying the cabinet officers, diplomatic representatives, officials, various societies and the general public.

The steamers will proceed outside the maritime limit, where the sinking of the Maine will be effected by opening the sea valves.

BY ORDER OF YUAN

Three Members of Chinese Imperial Family Are Arrested

Pekin, March 14.—By personal order of President Yuan Shi Kai, three princes, members of the Chinese imperial family, were arrested on the charge of inciting the recent army mutiny and conspiring to kill him.

Their names were not revealed, but one of them is said to be the most prominent of the younger Manchu princes, who opposed the abdication of the boy emperor.

The leaders of the young princes in their opposition to the republic are Prince Tsai-Hsun and Prince Tsai-fao, brothers of Prince Chun, the former regent.

Packers Must Stand Trial

Chicago, March 14.—Another blow was dealt the packers charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law when Judge Carpenter denied a motion for the discharge of Edward Morris and Louis H. Heyman, two of the defendants, on a technical objection to the indictment.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Sunday afternoon, the speaker at the local Y. M. C. A. will be H. C. Leggett, boys' work director of the Worcester Y. M. C. A., subject: "Clean Living."

As it is one of the greatest topics of the day, his talk is sure to be of special interest. Mr. Leggett has been in Quincy before and his talks have been well attended the last two years.

The local Y. M. C. A. is making arrangements for a large attendance and it is expected it will be the largest meeting of the year. The religious work of the Y. M. C. A. has been well taken care of and much interest is shown in the meeting next Sunday.

Also to make it more interesting the Conference delegation will be present and in brief speeches outline what they heard at the conference. The delegates were Sturgis Hunt, Harold England, James Jenkins, Carl Alstrom, Willitt Safford, George Dalquist, Winthrop Sherman, Fred Ward, George Dainels, George McDonald.

The meeting will start promptly at 3 o'clock and there will be illustrated songs and music by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra.

The meeting Saturday morning, will begin at 9 o'clock sharp; speakers, delegates to the conference held at Fall River a short while ago. Among them will be; Sturgis Hunt, Harold England, James Jenkins, Carl Alstrom, Willitt Safford, George Dalquist, Winthrop Sherman, Fred Ward, George Daniels, George McDonald.

There will be music and good singing mostly illustrated, which the boys enjoy greatly.

BRADFORD DESCENDANTS.

March 16, the descendants of William Bradford will assemble for their annual winter at home day, to which all descendants of the historian of the Pilgrim Fathers are invited to attend. Photographs, ancestral records, and articles of interest to the meeting are requested. Plans are formulating for a great summer reunion and for a complete family history. Names for registration in the charter list should be sent in before the meeting.

The 1920 Tercentennial Memorial Book of Bradford Descendants is open for registration and it is hoped to enroll one thousand names. Descendants at a distance can send their signature to be transferred to the book, which will be put on exhibition at the Pilgrim Exposition. This meeting will be held at 12 o'clock at Rooms 65, 66, 67 of The Pilgrim and Puritan Society, 15 Beacon street, Boston.

FLYER PLUNGES TO RIVER

Loss of Lives Prevented by Great Thickness of the Ice

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 14.—Thirteen persons injured, several seriously, but none, it is believed, mortally, sums up the casualties from the wreck of the first section of the south-bound Twentieth Century limited, the New York Central's crack flyer, a mile south of Hyde Park, near this city.

Running behind schedule at an estimated speed of sixty miles an hour, and rounding a curve close by the banks of the Hudson, the train struck a rail cracked to the breaking point, and in an instant four cars had left the track and plunged down an embankment to the ice-covered river.

The thickness of the ice, acting as a check to the thundering rush of the toppling cars as they plowed through the shallows near the bank, keeping them from sliding into deep water, and the material of the coaches—steel—probably prevented a far worse disaster.

OPPOSITION CRUMBLES

Senate Confirms Pitney as Justice of the Supreme Court

Washington, March 14.—Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey yesterday was confirmed by the senate as an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

The vote was 50 to 28. The opposition to Pitney crumbled during the first two hours of the senate's executive session and a vote was reached shortly after 2 p. m. Under the agreement reached Tuesday night the vote was scheduled for 4 o'clock, but the debate was briefer than anticipated.

Army Aviator Killed

Pau, France, March 14.—Lieutenant Seville, an army aviator, was killed here while making a flight.

Unable to See.

"Would you want your wife or your mother or your sister to have to mingle with men at the polls?"

"I can't see why it would be any worse than mingling with them in overcrowded cars."

Its Effect.

"Drink often causes paradoxical conduct in a man, doesn't it?"

"How so?"

"When a man gets tight, it often makes him loosen up."

STANDING IN Y.M.C.A. LEAGUE

The basketball teams at the Y. M. C. A. are nearing the end of the season and although many of the players are beginning to tire of basketball there are many who are still ready to play the game to their full extent at the present time.

The season of 1911 and 1912 has been one of great improvement at the local gym and prospects are bright and with such good men as Parker, Holmes, Trask, Morris, Alstien and Rich no doubt a good team is due for next year.

There has been great rivalry this year and lots of fun has been enjoyed by those who take part in the games.

The league has brought forth many surprises in the form of team work and good head work, following is the teams averages:

	Played	Won	Lost	Aver.
Harvard	8	8	0	1000
Army	9	7	2	777
Penn.	9	7	2	777
Dartmouth	8	6	2	750
Yale	10	6	4	600
Cornell	7	4	3	571
Tech.	9	3	6	333
Michigan	9	3	6	333
Columbia	8	2	6	250
Brown	8	2	6	250
Carlisle	9	2	7	222
Navy	8	0	8	000

The highest scorers of baskets are:
Kemp, 47 Baskets.
Trask, 47 Baskets.
Brooks, 35 Baskets.
Dineen, 35 Baskets.
Rich, 35 Baskets.
Parker, 32 Baskets.
Thomas, 30 Baskets.
Shirley, 26 Baskets.
Pinel, 20 Baskets.
Newcomb, 20 Baskets.

The formality of initiation and paying entrance dues to the Ananias club might well be waived, as the whole American people will be received into membership before the campaign gets very far along.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston
b Norfolk Downs
c Atlantic
d Neponset
e Pope's Hill
f Harrison Square
g Savin Hill
h Crescent Avenue
i South Boston
r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON Leave	Stop	Arrive	FROM BOSTON Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dcba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfecaba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bedefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.31, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.18 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8.17, 10.15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

NOTICE

Sealer of Weights and Measures.

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 14, 1911.

Notice is hereby given that under the law all persons using, weights, measures or balances for the purpose of selling goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities, or for public weighing, must have the same adjusted and sealed forthwith. For the purpose of adjusting and sealing all such weights, measures and balances, the Sealer of Weights and Measures will be at his office, in the basement of City Hall on SATURDAYS from 9 to 10 A. M.

Sealer of Weights and Measures.
JAMES M. CANTFILL,
Mar. 14-3t

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & Co.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice,

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.35, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 64 QUINCY MASS, FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 15, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

OPPOSITION TO PLANNING BILL

Real Issue to be Considered is the Matter of Money

NEW MEASURE

Opposition to the report and bill of the Metropolitan Planning Commission and to the Fahey and Kiley bills as well was heard by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs at the State House Thursday. People interested in both sides filled the hearing room.

Remonstrances signed by citizens and members of local governments were submitted from 10 cities and 20 towns. Of the 125 signatures, 85 were members of the local governments

Among those who spoke in opposition were Judge Samuel C. Bennett of Weston, A. W. Blakemore of Newton, George A. Sweetser, town counsel of Wellesley; City Solicitor Kahn of Somerville, Representative Roger Wolcott and City Solicitor Arthur G. Wadleigh of Lynn.

Mr. Sweetser submitted a new bill to take the place of the measure proposed by the Metropolitan Planning Commission.

Mr. Kahn was before the committee, he said by vote of the city council of Somerville, to oppose this bill in its present form. What he would have would be a commission of five persons —two to be appointed by the Mayor of Boston, with the approval of the Finance Commission; two by the mayors of cities in the Metropolitan District and one by the towns of the district.

Mr. Blakemore said that if the men who drew the bill had ever held municipal office of any kind they would know that the main difficulties facing the district today are problems of financing and not of planning and that the cities and towns are doing only what they can afford and not what they wished they might do.

Mr. Sweetser said that Wellesley opposed the provisions of the Planning

(Continued on Page Two.)

ANIMATED DISCUSSION ON PROPOSED LECISLATIVE BILLS

West Quincy Association Holds Lively Discussion on Two Important Matters

To be Continued at its Next Meeting

An animated discussion was held by the West Quincy Improvement association, Thursday evening on two of the important bills now pending before the legislature, namely the Metropolitan Planning bill and the Kiley annexation bill. The meeting was very largely attended and it was one of the liveliest debates the association has ever held.

In the beginning the two bills in question were read so that those present might be informed of their full object.

Joseph Walker was the first speaker and he favored both bills, with some slight modifications. He believed them to be on the lines of progress and that they would result in great benefit for Quincy.

Robert J. Teasdale said that at the present time he was not prepared to vote for either bill. Later with some modification he might change his mind, that is if he could see that they would be of benefit to Quincy.

Dr. John H. Ash favored both bills. He spoke along the same lines as Mr. Walker and believed that great benefits would result from annexation with Boston and the furtherance of the planning bill.

George F. Elcock was non committal at the present time. After the bills had been sifted down and the chaff taken out he might favor, if it was made plain to him that benefits would result. He wanted more light on the subjects.

Ex-Councilman John D. Smith was decidedly against both propositions. He showed by his argument that he had made a careful study of both measures and was entirely familiar with the objects they were supposed to attain. Annexation with Boston might come some time but the time was not ripe as yet. He said we should be careful how we gave up our individuality for an uncertainty. He then took up the several sections of the two bills and explained in a concise manner why he believed it would not be a good thing for Quincy to endorse either measure.

James H. Elcock objected to the Metropolitan Planning bill for, he believed that with a commission of five, two of whom would be appointed by the Mayor of Boston and three by the Governor, Quincy would get the small end of the stick.

W. H. Teasdale was also against the proposed bills, although he believed there were many good points in each.

No action was taken on either matter and the discussion was continued until the next meeting, March 28 at which meeting all interested will be welcome.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by the entertainment committee.

CHURCH SOCIAL SUPPER AND PLAY

At the church supper and social in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry Thursday evening a play, "The Joint Household" was presented by Mrs. Paul R. Brodbeck and Mrs. Harold C. Green. The play told of the trials and tribulations of joint domestic relations, the taste of one housewife being in direct antagonism of the other. Things are brought to a climax and the scene closes, leaving but one in possession. The play was well acted and elicited much aplause.

A real "Lady Baltimore Cake" from the Unitarian church at Charleston, S. C. was put up at auction by the slice under the able direction of Charles T. Baker.

The Alliance Cook Book complied by Mrs. William Burrell from the favorite recipes of the ladies of the church made its initial appearance. The publication is a neat book of nearly 300 favorite dishes and over each is the name of the contributor. It contains a frontispiece showing the church. It bids fair to be a popular book and will probably contribute many savory dishes to tempt the appetite.

A supper of the usual excellence was served by a committee, consisting of Mrs. J. N. Smith; Mrs. Edmund Taylor, Mrs. Axel Nelson, Mrs. Samuel Chapman, Miss Olive Fay, Miss Dorothy Fay, Miss Helen Foser, Mrs. F. H. Thayer, Mrs. F. W. White, Mrs. A. R. Moulton, Mrs. F W. Atwood, Mrs. Royal L. Turner, Mrs. Everett Simmons, Mrs. F. A. Page, Mrs. Irving L. Shaw, Mrs. Stiles, Miss Weston, Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. West.

A meeting of the managers of the Woodward Fund and Property was held in the office of Mayor Stone, Thursday evening.

HOLDS PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Many Present at Installation of Knights of Malta

ADDRESS BY MAYOR

In the presence of Mayor Eugene R. Stone, Grand Commander Dr. Charles Purtom of the Grand Commandry of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and suite of Grand officers, Rev. Wesley Wiggin and Rev. Charles P. Marshall, John Adams Commandry, Knights of Malta began its eighth year Thursday night with a public installation of its officers in Greenleaf hall. Deputy John A. Bamford with a staff of twelve uniformed knights from the Grand Commandry had charge of the exercises. The work was performed in a creditable manner, and witnessed by a large audience, every bit of space being taken and some being unable to enter the hall.

At the close of the installation ceremonies Deputy Bamford and suite were warmly applauded for their excellent rendering of the ritual and floor work.

The meeting was then turned over to Past Commander John D. McKay as master of ceremonies.

Addresses were made by Mr. McKay Grand Commander Partom, Rev. Wesley Wiggin of the Wollaston M. E. church, Mayor Eugene R. Stone and Rev. Charles P. Marshall of Washington street Congregational church. All of the speakers told of the excellent work of the order in the city and state and spoke high words of praise for the selection of the officers just inducted into office.

The Grand Commander was accompanied by Grand Recorder Frederick H. Willson and Grand Standard Bearer, Reuben Tucker. The Grand Commander resides in Pawtucket, Rhode Island and came to this city for the purpose of participating in last evening's exercises. At the conclusion of the speaking refreshments were served to the guests.

The officers installed were:—
S. K. C.—Oscar A. Barren.
Generalissimo—Robert Falconer.
Capt. General—Alfred Coates.
Prelate—Rev. Charles P. Marshall.
Recorder—George H. Jaques, P. C.
Asst. Recorder—Robert P. St. Clare.
Treasurer—Frank Mellive, P. C.
Senior Warden—Alexander Allison.
Junior Warden—William Sherrif.
Standard Bearer—John Chalmers.
Sword Bearer—William Young.
Warden—John W. Tate.
First Guide—B. R. McQuinn.
Second Guide—William Gray.
Sentinel—A. H. Shores, P. C.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Y. F. K.'s. a club composed of twenty-eight West Quincy young ladies held their annual meeting Thursday evening in Farnum's hall and elected these officers.

President, Miss Annie Mullen.
Vice President, Miss Louise Curry,
Secretary, Miss Lillian Barry,
Treasurer, Miss Celia A. Ogle.

Entertainment committee, Miss Catherine Nimerskern, Miss Theresa Elcock, Miss Lillian Donovan, Miss Marie Cahill, Miss Louise Driscoll.

A social hour followed the election of officers at which time, refreshments were served. The club voted to hold a May dancing party the first of May. The next meeting will be held with Miss Nimeskern on April 1.

OFFICIAL VISITATION.

Em. Sir. Albert W. Fay, Grand Lecturer, accompanied by Em. Sir. Henry P. Furnald as Deputy Grand Warden, paid a nofficial visitation to William Parkman Commandery at East Boston, Thursday evening. Em. Sir. Fay was also accompanied by a unusually large suite among whom were Em. Sir. Arthur W. Stetson, Sir. Walter E. Piper, Generalissimo and Sir John Morgan, Captain General of Quincy Commandery. There was also a large delegation of Sir Knights of Quincy Commandery present. Both Em. Sirs Fay and Furnald were presented with handsome bopuets of roses.

You can't judge how a woman will run for office by the way she runs for a street car.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912. Feb. 24—to May 1

SHOWING GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Letter Carriers are Preparing for Annual Reunion

TO BE HELD MAY 28

The Letter Carriers of this city, and their brother carriers of the Boston Postal District, which comprises some eighty-seven branches or Post-offices within the precincts of Greater Boston, are busily at work preparing for their Annual Reunion, which takes place on Tuesday evening, May 28, in Mechanics' Hall, Boston, Mass.

The Reunion is held under the auspices of the Boston Letter-Carriers' Mutual Benefit Association, and the proceeds of the reunion will be devoted to the disability and death benefit fund of the Association. The Letter-Carriers of this city are members of this Association, and are taking a great interest in the success of the reunion, and they are determined to show by their enthusiasm that Quincy is one of the most progressive branches of the Association.

The attendance at the last Reunion, of the Carriers and their friends from this city was noteworthy, and elicited so much praise from the offices of the Association, that the local "boys" are determined to have one of the largest delegations present at the Reunion this year of any Post Office in the Metropolitan district. Where there are so many interests to be found, as there are offices in this Postal District, there is of course, an intense rivalry among the different offices to be first in the effort to make the Reunion a grand financial success, and to bring home the congratulations of their fellow members for being one of the stations contributing most to his end.

This is the gala event of the Carriers year—the one time when he ceases to be "Billy the Postman," on his weary round, and gives himself up to the delight of a night of music and mirth. When his feet, weary with tramping on the city's streets, take on a new lightness, as they glide through the mazy numbers of La Danse. It matters not that on the morrow, he returns to the same old grind;—this night he lives, and is determined to extract from it, its full measure of enjoyment.

Here he meets his friends from the main office and the other stations, and to the pleasures of the dance is added the joy of renewing old associations, which otherwise would fade into memories, vague and indistinct. He thus keeps his friendships ever fresh, and genial, and if he misses an old familiar face among the merry throng, he has a thought also for the absent one, who perhapes was the life of the party, but the year before.

Messrs J. J. Cunniff and C. Connor of the local office are members of the Committee of Arrangements, and are rendering valuable assistance to the officers of the Association, in their efforts to make this year's Reunion the greatest in the history of the Letter-Carriers' Association.

DANCING PARTY.

Scandavia lodge of Vasa held a social dance in Alpha hall, Thursday evening. The committee in charge were John Hedien, Ernest W. Johnson, Carl Bastin, Fred Mattson, Bernard Ericson Olaf Sandstrom.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

LECTURE POSTPONED.

An audience of 500 gathered in the Coddington School hall, Thursday night to listen to the popular lecture on Historic Quincy, by Charles H. Johnson. Owing to some trouble with the electricity of the building the lantern could not be operated and the lecture had to be postponed. It was a great disappointment to the lecturer and audience but it will be given next Tuesday evening at 7.30. Mr. Johnson lectures tonight at the Wollaston school, the lecture also being for the benefit of the school gymnasium, etc.

☞Creamed toast tonight of PRATT'S BREAD will bring him home early tomorrow.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

MISS SARAH E. DUNPHY

announces the opening of

THE CORSET SHOP

No. 8 MAPLE STREET, QUINCY

where will be found a full line of popular and up-to-date corsets and accessories. Corsets from $1 upwards in these well-known makes.

NEMO ROYAL WORCESTER
La GRECQUE BON TON
R & G WARNER BROS.
C-B A LA SPIRITE

All corsets carefully fitted, Ferris Waists for children, misses and women. Brassieres from 50c to $1.50. Also Hose Supporters Ruffles, etc.

15-2t

R. F. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Lamb, Poultry and Beef

Foy carries good meats. You'll hear this in every household that has had dealings with our store. There is a reason for it. We buy only the best and a great deal of it we SELL AT PRICES THAT OBTAIN ELSEWHERE FOR INFERIOR MEATS. One trial of our meats will convince you of this.

California Navel Oranges, Elephant Brand 2 dozen 25c
Fancy Baldwin Apples, peck 40c
White Potatoes, peck 35c

For Lent
3 pkgs Gilded Dome Threaded Salt Fish 25c

For St. Patrick's Day
Mason Jar of Selected Olives 25c

The Pastry Flour that made this store famous
FOY'S SPECIAL PASTRY FLOUR 75c
Superb Brand Flour, bag 85c
Keystone Rye Flour
Keystone Rye Meal
15c package

Everyday Wants
Kirkman's Soap 6 bars 27c
Kirkman's Soap Powder 3 pkgs 10c
Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk 3 cans 25c
Kennedy's Graham Crackers, 3 pkgs 25c
Hecker's Buckwheat Large pkg 15c
Fancy Canned Spinach 15c
Tomato Soup 3 cans 25c

R.E.FOY & CO.

$2100

This is the price of a Double House for sale near the Wollaston Station.
Rents for $22 per month
$300 Cash secures this splendid investment property.
Will you Investigate!
RICKER 1416 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
2t

The JONES' SPECIAL HAT at $2.50

INSTEAD OF $3.00 IS THE BEST ADVERTISED LOW-PRICED HAT IN GREATER QUINCY

Years ago, when I started to advertise the Jones' Special Hat, I knew full well my money and time would be wasted if I did not give the value I advertised to give. You see I planned that if a fellow bought a JONES' SPECIAL he'd forever be a JONES' SPECIAL HAT customer as well as a JONES' SPECIAL "booster," because of the satisfaction it gave. And, believe me, I took good care to see the value was in the hat.

Now don't you think it would be a good investment for you to "try" one of these hats at $2.50 instead of $3. The variety of styles will insure a becoming hat, and my personal guarantee will insure your complete satisfaction.

Other grades, "The Best in the City," $2. Lamson & Hubbard, $3.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 14—3t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Will the coal miners kindly wait a month or so before starting the big strike.

Although Congress has been in session since Dec. 1, no garden seeds have as yet been received.

During courtship a man thinks the girl in the case is "dear" to him; after marriage he knows she is.

Why should Mr. Roosevelt want to be president when he can have so much fun every four years as an imminent candidate?

"Secretary Knox is for a great navy" and, therefore, it's reasonable to suppose is Hobson's choice for almost anything he wants.

There is much speculation as to why Col. Watterson is so still, but even the river of words will run dry under emergency use.

There are said to be traitors in Madero's cabinet, but down in Mexico any man who doesn't want you to hold office is defined as a traitor.

Many of our contemporaries are insisting that the man is more important than the dollar, but the dollar can run a whole lot faster.

We wish those fellows who have been trying to sell stock in Mexican investments would come around with something secure like sea water gold or trans-Atlantic air ship bonds.

Uncle James Wilson has begun his 16th year as secretary of agriculture, but he must remember that no matter how hard up Uncle Sam may be, he never mortgages his farm to any one.

We are thankful that our Suffragettes still think it's better fun to look through the windows at the spring hats, rather than smash the glass like their London sisters.

If young people are seen reading a book of Browning's love poems, there is nothing doing, but if you catch them with a book of house plans, it is time for Dad to clear the house at 10 P. M.

We stop two men when they indulge their private feelings by a harmless little scrap on the street, but if a coal strike should raise the cost of living of millions , we have no power to interfere.

George I. Aldrich in his address given before the Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Adams, Cranch and Coddington schools, Wednesday night touched upon a subject vital to parents of today. A man came to him to talk over the progress of his son and in the course of conversaton, Mr. Aldrich asked if the boy had taken French, the man replied, "I really could not say, but he has been exposed to it."

This is only too true and illustrates one of many things in the course of education that children are exposed to. Future years alone can testify as as to what they have really taken.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

St. Patrick is a character so overflowing with optimism and good humor that he commands a general interest to an extent rare with any racial hero. Protestants frequently show a friendly sympathy by wearing a bit of green, and they might well also learn something of the traditions of the day.

Patrick kindles the enthusiasm of every Irishman, perhaps for one reason because of a dauntless courage that is very typical of the race.

Tradition says that in Patrick's day the idol Cromcruach was worshipped by King Tigernas and his nobles and people, with the highest veneration. Yet disregarding pains and penalties of courts and kings, Patrick lifted up his staff when approaching the image of gold and silver, and commanded the devil to come out of him. Thereupon the image fell over, and twelve smaller idols were swallowed up in the earth.

And so in after years, the genius of the Irish race has never stopped to count the cost of defiance to potentates or enemies. The rolls of our soldiery have always been thickly strwede with Irish names, and no strain of blood can be found more largely in the American National Guard or the regular army and navy to-day.

ADVERTISING FOOD PRODUCTS.

Merchants handling provisions should understand better than any one else the value of advertising. Food is the most vital need of all. No other advertising gets such interested reading as a well written notice describing food offerings.

The manufacturers of food products on a national scale learned this some time ago. Money is poured out like water to advertise food products in the magazines. It must pay or it would not be spent.

Yet in the local newspapers in a great many towns, the grocers, butchers, and other provision men do not advertise with the freedom shown in the dry goods, furnishings, furniture, and other trades. Probably the reason for this is that many merchants of this type never studied advertising enough to realize its possibilities.

Here is a sample ad, clipped from an article in the Publishers' Guide:

BRANDON CORNER GROCERY.

Remember when in the city to make this your trading place. Highest market prices paid for country produce and always a square deal. We always carry a full line of staple and fancy groceries. Canned goods a specialty. Brandon's Corner Grocery, Phone 261.

This is an excellent illustration of how not to do it. There is no selling power in that ad. It tells the public that Brandon is alive and wants their trade, which has value as far as it goes. But it might go a great deal farther.

The provision man who will mention prices of some of his best lines, describe them a bit so as to stir the appetite of the reader, will find his store crowded. Here are a few items from a well written ad showing how the trick is turned:

"Celery, Presley's white plume, crisp and tender, extra good flavor, large bunch for 5 cents."

"Sweet cider, made from the choicest of apples, per gallon, 25 cents.

"Oysters,—Our oysters come in sanitary sealed packages. The ice never touches. Remember our price. Solid meats, qt., 40 cents.

Does it not make you hungry to read an ad like this?

PILGRIMAGE TO WASHINGTON.

The month of March, during which old Father Time is in one of his most grouchy moods through all the North, is a particularly popular date for a visit to the national capitol. Parties of school and college pupils for the radius of a thousand miles feast their eyes on the capitol's impressive architecture.

Still more interesting is the chance to look into the faces of famous statesmen. As a rough old character once expressed it, you learn that "Every man is about alike when he gets his jacket off."

Tourists visiting Washington for the first time commonly expect a chance to shake hands with the President. They get a letter from their congressmen to the president's secretary, and expect that gentleman to stop the wheels of the nation for five minutes, while he learns the state of political opinion at North Jay.

When they are dealt with by the secretary to the secretary to the secretary to the president, their pride has a jar. Afterward when they have to enter the White House's side entrance on a basement level, and ordinarily only see the East room, they feel as if our government were rapidly assuming monarchial characteristics. They go back and complain that "Mr. Taft made us come in through his cellar door."

Washington's latest marvel is the new Union station. Americans used to treat a railway station architecturally much as they did a warehouse for storing iron and steel. But these magnificent arches, dignified with quotations from Scripture and poetry, add the touch of reverence to our commercialism. The echoing hush of the vast waiting room is like the awe inspired as you enter Cologne cathedral.

Perhaps the most picteresque sight in Washington consists of the tourists and their eccentricities. The other day, in the National Museum picture gallery, in the little room where are concentrated their finest masterpieces, including Corot, two Millets, a Troyon, a Ruysdael, etc., there blew in a typical force of barbarians.

"These aint hand painted" pronounced their leader, as she brushed out of sight of a group of pictures that would probably bring $3,000,000, "because they're covered with glass."

OPPOSITION TO BILL

(Continued from Page One.)

Commission bill and not the broad general principles of planning and foresight. He offered a new bill which is called, "An Act to authorize cities and towns to form a Municipal Association." The purposes of the proposed association would be such as "to secure more active and efficient cooperation between the several cities and towns upon all matters where cooperation is found to be desirable, for the purpose of promoting the spread of knowledge among the citizens of all matters affecting their general welfare, and for the purpose of considering any or all questions which affect the several cities and towns of the public and of making recommendations thereon."

Judge Bennett pointed out that there was no lack of plans but there was a lack of funds. He said that the new commission was likely to invade fields already occupied by existing agencies—State, county and municipal—and that in his opinion it seemed wise to rely upon these existing boards and their accumulated experience of years.

Representative Wolcott said Canton had voted unanimously against this proposition and that Milton is absolutely opposed. He thought the bill was opposed to the general principle of town government, and said that there were many general features of the bill which could be obtained by a voluntary organization.

City Solicitor Wadleigh of Lynn described how Lynn was "pitchforked into the Metropolitan Park District," and other experiences of his municipality in connection with State control. He offered reasons wherein the provisions of the bill would, in his opinion, prove inexpedient when applied to Lynn..

SELF-DENIAL WEEK.

The annual campaign of the local Salvation Army corps, under Capt. Wick to raise funds for the Home and Missionary work is now in progress in Quincy and will continue until April 7, by which time it is hoped the sum of $500 will have been raised. Of this sum one-half, or $150 will be used for the work of the corps in Quincy, the remainder to be used for missionary work. This effort is an annual one and is known as self-denial week. The Salvation Army is doing an inestimable amount of good and any funds contributed to the work will be used to good purpose.

It should be understood however that the Salvation Army boxes that have been left at many houses are not from the Quincy corps but from Boston and any funds collected by these boxes will be used in Boston. Parties desiring Quincy boxes will gladly be supplied upon inquiry at the barracks on Granite street. An officer of the corps will be stationed at the Quincy depot Saturday to receive any funds. Checks or money may also be sent to the barracks.

The corps will hold an open air service in City Square this evening to be followed by a concert at their hall on Granite street.

THE MORNING FIRE.

The alarm from Box 42 at 1.30 this morning called the department to a lively blaze on Quarry street in an engine house, near the Hardwick quarry operated by Djerf Bros. Just how the fire started is not known., but when discovered by Officer Dinneen it was well under way. The officer ran to Box 42, the nearest to where he was although not the nearest to the fire, and the apparatus made a quick run.

The auto chemical was the first to arrive and the fire was extinguished by its stream. In the building was a boiler and hoisting apparatus but it is not thought that this is damaged much. Chief Litchfield estimates the loss at $1,000.

CONDUCTOR RETURNS $10,000

Woman Who Had Lost It Gives Him a Dollar For His Honesty

South Berwick, Me., March 15.—For returning a handbag containing nearly $10,000 in bills, which an aged Kittery woman had lost, Charles E. Chaplain, a conductor on the Atlantic Shore Line railroad, received a reward of one dollar.

The handbag was found by Chaplin in the aisle of one of his cars. The Kittery woman was much disturbed when she discovered that her handbag and money was missing. When the conductor handed the bag to the woman her agitation subsided.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

TABLEAUX OF FOOD PRODUCTS

Unique Feature at Wollaston Congregational Church

THE C MMITTEE

The monthly sociable of the Wollaston Congregational church took place in the vestries Thursday evening. Following a fine supper a series of tableaux depicting various food products was produced under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Tenney. They were:

Soap, the oppressor—Mrs. Eric H. Ewertz and Gordon Ewertz.

Pompeian Cream—Miss Mertie Goodspeed.

Colgates Tooth Paste—Mrs. David H. Gloodspeed, Miss Dorothy Bates.

National Oats—Miss Dorothy Hennigar.

Fairy Soap—Miss Elinor Birse, Miss Dorothy Bates, Miss Dorothy Hennigar.

Armour's Extract—Norton Nickerson.

Gold Dust Twins—Gordon Ewertz, Albert Rhodes.

Zu Zu Clown—Wilson Blake.

Campbell's Soups—Miss Gladys DuPlessis, Norton Nickerson.

Vacuum Cleaner—Miss Dorothy Bates.

Minute Man—Roy Ewertz.

Book Lovers—Miss Helen Jones, Miss Margaret Harding, Miss Dorothy Sayward, Norton Nickerson, Theodore DuPlessis, William Hodgkinson.

Dame Fashion—Miss Dorothy Sayward.

Jello—Miss Gladys DuPlessis.

Doctor Foster—Arthur Blake.

Parowax—Miss Margaret Harding.

My Daughter—Miss Helen Jones, David H. Goodspeed.

Heinz's 57 varieties—Miss Esther Beckford.

Old Dutch Cleanser—Miss Lucille Smalley.

Kodak Specialties—Mrs. David H. Goodspeed, Edwin Smith.

Toasted Cornflakes—Leon Randall.

Graphophone—Mrs. William Hodgkinson, David H. Goodspeed.

The Well Tailored Man—Theodore DuPlessis, Miss Dorothy Sayward, Miss Gladys DuPlessis, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Margaret Harding, Miss Mary Broughton, Miss Mertie Goodspeed.

Each tableau was given an introduction by Mrs. E. S. Tenney and during the intermission children circulated among the audience with groceries for sale. They were in charge of Mrs. William Sayward and Mrs. Edwin Smith. A candy sale was conducted by the Sunday school class of Mrs. Ducey.

Composing the supper committee were: Mrs. George Fleming, Mrs. John Burke, Mrs. Horace W. Streeter, Mrs. Walter Nichols, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Alden, Mrs. William Whitney, Mrs. Walter E. Weld, Mrs. Herbert Marshall, Mrs. William Howard.

LECTURE ON OBERAMMAGAU

A stereopticon lecture on Oberammagau was given at the Hall Place M. E. church Thursday evening by Rev. L. W. Adams of Lynn. Mr. Adams saw the play in 1910, and very vividly described every feature and scene, beginning with the little village itself, its people especially the chief actors their customs and manners, and every detail of that awful week of suffering when oud Lord was betrayed by Judas into the hands of the Romans.

Old Testament scenes, prophetic of those to follow are strangely coupled with New Testament scenes by these guaint people in this little village and one cannot bue be impressed with their love and sincerity in thus presenting once in ten years the sufferings and death of Christ.

Mr. Adams is a fine lecturer. The lantern which he used cost $300, and is a very superior one. Mr. Adams worked the lantern and lectured at the same time, thus being able to explain each picture as it was thrown onto the curtain. He is a clear and fluent speaker and his careful choice of words to describe each scene made it easy for everyone to understand and inspired as he was by the memory of that great story he was enabled to give his hearers a graphic account of it, making it one of the most brilliant lectures of the course.

At the close of the lecture Mr. Adams showd a small stone which he found while visiting the country, in which a perfect white cross appears.

Before and at the close of the lecture the Ladies' Aid sold confectionery.

NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT
"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"
Who would bother to make Mince Meat when a two-pie package of None Such costs but 10 cents—5 cents a pie?
MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

HITS MEXICAN REBELS

Measure Against Shipping of War Munitions Passes In House

Washington, March 15.—The house, after a brief discussion, adopted the concurrent resolution passed by the senate authorizing the president to prohibit the exportation of war supplies to any American country where domestic violence exists.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

15—Play—Union Church,—Houghs Neck.
15—Dance—Q. W. Club—Alpha Hall.
15—Dance— Library Extension—Alpha Hall.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
17—Installation Rev. A. L. Hudson—First Church.
18—Meeting—Charitable Tens Carcle.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampment —Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Are You Satisfied With Your Bank?

Is it conveniently located and do its banking hours suit you? Are you made to feel that your business is appreciated and that it is a privilege for the officers and attendants to treat you courteously and extend to you information and advice when needed? This bank will certainly suit you in all these particulars.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

As pictured — at Kincaide's

You Can Buy this carriage Saturday for only $19.98

It's a carriage any woman would be mighty proud to own.

Why Wait? Why not give baby the benefit of these warm spring afternoons? Get your carriage NOW. We offer low prices, easy payments, and actually over 100 new spring models from which to make your selection.

Go Carts $1.98 to $7.75, Roadsters $8.50 to $16.50
Pullman Sleepers $12.50 to $23.75
Full Size Carriages $9.75 to $35.00

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

A Strictly 1912 Custom-Made Suit
$17.50

Take your choice of the newest and prettiest weaves, colorings and patterns — the finest we could find in New York and Chicago — all that is nifty, stylish, and durable for $17.50.

Right here in Quincy, you can get 100 cents' VALUE for every dollar that you put into MADE-TO-MEASURE clothes.

We can save you railroad fare, time and patience, and give you the advantage of wearing clothes that are exact duplicates of what will be worn on Fifth Avenue and Broadway.

In our Department of Tailoring you will find a surprising number of dressy patterns—woolens that are WOOLEN perfectly shrunk.

The suits that we turn out have all the fine and excellent points demanded by the most critical dressers—the garments have their shape cut and stitched into them. The linings and trimmings have been tried out for durability and color.

There isn't a detail that we don't consider when we take your measure—the little trifles that some tailors don't bother with are the very ones that we make a note of.

That is why our tailored suits bear the elegance and refinement usually found in stiff-priced suitings.

Remember, that for a few days, we will accept your order for a $20 garment, at $17.50

Telephone or drop us a card and our representative will call any time of the day or evening.

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY
DEPT. OF TAILORING
City Square, - - Quincy

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Sam Bernard in the best musical comedy of his career called "He Came From Milwaukee" and one which has already been stamped with local approval upon its presentation at the Shubert Theatre last year is coming to the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next week, beginning Monday Evening, March 18 for a two weeks' engagement.

In this delightful comedy, which it will be remembered as a bewilderment of color, music, great fun and many pretty girls, Sam Bernard is at his best, as the story allows him brilliant opportunities for plenty of comedy in his making love to a pretty gypsy, in fighting a duel and in being court-martialed and almost crowned as a Duke.

Mr. Bernard will have the support of a most efficient company which is composed of such well-known favorites as Nella Bergen, Louise Mink Anna Wheaton, Alice Gordon, George Baldwin, John J. Cain, Henry Norman, Billy Gaston and others. This is Mr. Bernard's farewell engagement in "He Came From Milwaukee."

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The last week of "The Rose Maid" is announced by the management of the Colonial Theatre beginning, March 18th. Not in a very long time has the playgoing population of Boston and its surrounding communities been offered an entertainment that is so full of sparkling and delightful music, wholesome and invigorating fun as "The Rose Maid." However, owing to previous arrangements in the bookings this delightful operetta leaves for New York on the conclusion of its engagement here. The charming music of Bruno Granichstaedten at once found way to popular favor and several of the numbers have already achieved the whistling degree of success. The seductive "Rose Waltz," the tinkling "Two Little Hearts," "Dance into His Heart," the haunting "Moon Song," and the stirring "Calvary Brigade" all combine to make the score one of the most delightful to be heard in Boston for several seasons. It is seldom that light opera receives interpretation at the hands of a cast combining as this does such splendid acting as well as singing ability. The love tale interwoven throughout the two acts is delightfully worked out and humorous situations are abundant enough to cause many hearty laughs.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Delightful and wholesome is the key note of the new "homey" play which Mr. W. H. Crane is now presenting at the Hollis Street Theatre. The story by Martha Morton fits Mr. Crane admirably and in "The Senator Keeps House" he has a vehicle which will take its place among the many notable successes he has had. Describing the play to a friend Mr. Crane was asked, "has it a punch," yes, indeed the "Home punch" and that is the story in a nut shell of "The Senator Keeps House." Mr. Crane's reception has been of the warmest and most genuine kind and as Christopher Larkin, United States Senator from the Northwest he has another of those character portrayals which bring out the comedy art to the finest and fullest point. His breezy and genial humor in the midst of congressional life, the delightful comedy of the aversion to matrimonial meshes and then finding himself caught in the net makes the theatre ring with laughter, and as a critic ably describes it sends the audience home with a genial glow in their hearts.

Mr. Crane and Mr. Joseph Brooks are delighted with the enthusiastic reception given "The Senator Keeps House" and the success is so unmistakable that were it not for engagements already contracted for the run at the Hollis Street Theatre would be continued, but unfortunately Mr. Crane's engagement will end Saturday, March 25.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.

Few theatregoers of New England have been treated to a series of tense and exciting situations as those presented in "The Deep Purple," the Armstrong--Mizner powerful play of the Great White Way, which enters upon the fourth and second last week of its engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, next Monday night. The play is one of the greatest, serious and realistic plays of its kind seen in Boston for a long time. It present four acts of modern New York city life, exposing in a vivid manner the methods untilized by a gang of thieves in their effort to work the "badger game" on a western mining engineer, that makes you feel as if you were in the midst of the entire proceedings. It sends the chills up and down the back and holds you spellbound until the final curtain. Yet withal there is a thread of the human (a delicate love story) that runs through it all that makes it the big success that it is. In short it is a bully little play that moves with a snap and a go from start to finish. There are no long conversations, no dull moments; everybody is on their toes all the time. And to insure its success the Liebler company, managers, have provided the play with a cast of unusual excellence including Ada Dwyer, Violet Heming, Rosina Henley, W. J. Ferguson, Sydney Booth, W. A. Norton, Will Beach and other well-known favorites. If you would be thrilled don't fail to see this play, which will not be seen in any other New England city.

B. F. KEITH'S.

Pauline?, the world's great hypnotist, will make his first appearance at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week as one of the features of a splendid all-star show. Pauline? has his auditors in roars of laughter one moment, and the next he is thrilling beholders by the presentation of some inexplicable feat. One of the most astounding of these is the placing of a slight young man in a cataleptic state, and then placing him, perfectly rigid in a horizontal position between two chairs. As the man lays thus, with a heavy mat over his body, Pauline and three of the men upon the stage stand upon the body, without apparantly causing the young chap any inconvenience. Jack Wilson the extemporaneous comedian, assisted by Franklyn Battie and Ada Lane, will return after a long absence in their new 1912 Review. Wilson never knows what he is going to do or say until he walks out on the stage. With Pauline on the same bill, Wilson is bound to have all kinds of opportunities for funmaking May Tully, the comedienne, will present her new and uproariously funny comedy, "The Battle Cry of Freedom," dealing with Reno and the divorce question.

SHUBERT THEATRE.

John Mason and his New York Thirty-ninth Street Theatre players will begin next Monday evening March 18th, their fourth and last week but one at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, appearing in "As A Man Thinks," the new four act drama written especially for Mr. Mason by Augustus Thomas, the famous author of an earlier Mason dramatic success, "The Witching Hour," as well as a dozen other well-known and celebrated plays, including "Arizona," "The Earl of Pawtucket," and "The Harvest Moon."

"As A Man Thinks" shows us another type of character especially written for John Nason as Mr. Thomas says he patterned Doctor Selig, the strangely sympathetic physician in the play, befittingly in tone with the peculiar histrionic ability and personality of the odd star, just as he modelled, for Mr. Mason, Jack Brookfield in "The Witching Hour." John Mason representes the highest type of American Actor. He belongs to the magnetic school of players.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Trilby" took the whole world by storm when it was first produced, and bids fair to do as much when John Craig revives it at the Castle Square next week. Dramatized by Paul M. Potter from George Du Maurier's celebrated novel of the same name, it tells a romantic picturesque story of life in the Latin quarter of Paris. The plot follows closely the plot of the novel from which it is taken, and its characters are practically the same. The story of the artist's model who won the hearts of the three artists,—Taffy, the Laird and Little Billee—is told through four acts of alternating comedy and drama. The Bohemian life of the Latin quarter of Paris is revealed at the very beginning of the play, and the dramatic action moves steadily forward thereafter, growing all the stronger with the appearance of Svengali on the scene. This master-hypnotist gains control of Trilby, hynotizes her, compels her to write a letter of farewell to her friends and takes her away from Paris. With the last act comes the most dramatic climax of all, in the foyer of a Paris theatre. Trilby emerges as a famous singer who has astounded all Europe, but it appears that it is only under Svengali's sway that she can sing, and with the withdrawal of his power, her skill leaves her. The end of the play is sensationally dramatic, and never fails to thrill the audience. The cast at the Castle Square will include John Craig as Svengali, Mary Young as Trilby, George Hassell as Taffy, Walter Walker as the Laird, Carney Christie as Little Billee, and Donald Meek as Zou-Zou. The run of "Trilby" will be for only one week.

TOO MANY CIDER JACS

Efforts to Close Stores Which Sell the Juice of the Apple

Georgetown, Del., March 15.—Asserting that stores that sell cider in Georgetown are a common nuisance, a petition signed by several citizens was presented to council last night, with the request that council have the places closed.

Proprietors of the cider shops declare that apple cider is not an intoxicating beverage, and as they pay a state license to sell cider, say that their places cannot be closed. They will fight every effort to stop their business.

Drunkenness is becoming common in the town, and the cider places are being blamed for the trouble. For the last few Saturday nights the town has been in a hubub from drunken men on the streets, and last week matters reached a climax, when fights took place in some of the stores.

DISPOSES OF $2,000,000

Father Hands Out Fortune to His Children In a Hat

Yoakum, Tex., March 15.—To distribute his property, valued at $2,000,000, aamong his eight children, J. A. Lander of this place arranged a lottery with numbered tickets and each ticket corresponding to the number of some part of the estate. The tickets were drawn from a hat by the children. They took turns drawing, and, there being no blanks, every drawing represented a winning.

The members of the family agreed to the scheme, and the luckiest members drew the best of the property.

Lander is hale and hearty at 87 years of age, and the drawing took place on his birthday anniversary. He has been a resident of the state for sixty years and accumulated his fortune in land and cattle.

FORWARD MOVEMENT

Excellent Supper and Good Speaking at Christ Church

THE GUESTS

About one hundred men were present Thursday evening at the Forward movement supper at Christ church. The supper which was an excellnet one, was served by the Women's guild the menu consisting of cold meats, chicken and potato salads, macaroni and tomato, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake. The supper was served in the parish house, the head table being occupied by the members of the vestry and invited guests, namely, Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, John W. Wood, William L. Thomas, Merton Turner, William H. Haslett, Charles M. Chase, William Deacon, A. McLeod, Byron Miller, Albert L. Barbour, C Theodore Hardwick, James H. Steadman and Howard Whittemore. The tables looked particularly attractive with their trimmings of green.

Cigars lighted, William L. Thomas who presided at the meeting, briefly welcomed the men and introduced John W. Wood as the first speaker. "A few years ago," said Mr. Wood, "it took six months to travel from the United States to the mission fields in China, now it is reached in five weeks. He told of the development and changes in conditions that had taken place in China during the past five years and of the good work that was being done by the Protestant Episcopal missionaries engaged in the China field, bringing that country under Christian doctrine.

He also spoke of the report of the church mission of New York and the amount it had collected for foreign mission work.

Howard Whittemore of Newton Highlands spoke of the results of the Forward movement in this diocese and of the splendid results obtained in his own parish as well as the good results in parishes at Lynn and other cities.

Albert L. Barbour spoke of the advantage to be gained by team work during the coming campaign and urged all to do their share to make the meetings a success.

Rev. Richard E. Armstrong ,rector of the church spoke briefly on the financial standing of the church at the present time and of the coming movement.

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn.

SECOND NIGHT OF "OUR FOLKS"

The second evening of the play "Our Folks," given by the Men's Club of Quincy Point church, was a repetition of the first night and enjoyed by a large audience. All the actors took their parts in a very creditable manner, their efforts receiving appreciative applause Much credit is due Mrs. J. A. Melville who took the part of leading lady and also of the tomboy. She showed great talent and her work was enjoyed by the audience.

R. Estey as leading man took his part well. He was dressed in latest fashion with white flannel trousers, straw hat and pumps.

Teddy, who was impersonated by C. Holmes was humorous, much to the delight of young and old, giving them something to laugh at.

Mrs. Perry, who took the part of Mrs. Thompson, carried out the character very well indeed and received the embraces of her son, Harry, as a good dutiful mother should.

Capt. Thompson, as acted by J Melville was a typical old sea captain and proved to be just , as all good captains are, and he forgave his son Harry and made up for his anger and all ended well.

Phil, Mrs. Thompson's man of all work, proved to be a typical Irishman, fresh from the Emerald Isle and his red hair and beard contrasted well with the green patches on his overalls. The characters of Captain Sleeper and Phill were both well taken by David Melville and he proved that he was equally as good either as an Irishman or as the sea captain just back from California.

Hulda Prime as acted by Mrs. M. Barrows was capital. Her attacks of lumbago and rheumatism and the idea that a cancer was about to extend to the end of her tongue was so well acted that it set the house in an uproar.

Miss M. Lorentson, starred in the part of Silly York; her name tells the story of her part and there is no necessity of telling how good and humerous her conversation was, when it was needed to help bring things to close.

Great credit is due J. W. Hendry who coached the play and put much of his valuable time into it. He was assisted by W. E. Lee, W. F. Perry, J. C. Collingwood, C. Eaglesham, J. McCulloch, J. Lander, C. H. Sherburne and J. Johnston.

The stage electrical effects were in charge of W. F. Perry who did wonders. In the second act the stage was illuminated with red lights and when Hulda and Hiram were alone and talking of their troubles, the lights helped to carry out the idea of the scene.

The Club orchestra rendered several pieces between the acts, under the leadership of J. A. Melville.

The stage furnishings were from the well-known furniture house of H. L. Kincaide & Co., Hancock street.

The play as given both nights was a great success and said to have been the best given in Quincy for a long time. It was surely the best the Men's club has ever put on the stage. It is hoped there will be many more in the future.

BRAINTREE TOWN MEETING.

The adjourned town meeting was called to order at 7.30 o'clock Thursday evening and article 22, relative to the purchase of additional fire apparatus was taken up. On motion of Mr. H. F. Kneeland, it was voted that all discussion end and a vote be taken on the matter at 8.30 o'clock.

Mr. E. E. Abercrombie favored a combination of the police and fire departments under one official and an automobile equipped so as to be suitable for either department.

Mr. May's motion that the town appropriate $8,500 for a fully equipped motor-driven pumping engine was defeated.

The motion of Mr. Orr that the matter be referred to a committee consisting of the selectmen, one member of the engineers and one member each from the majority and minority was also voted down.

The motion of Mr. Kneeland was then carried by a vote of 144 to 72 and the result was received with loud cheers. The motion is to the effect that the town appropriate the sum of $5500 for the purchase of a motor-driven hose wagon provided with two 35 gallon chemical tanks, extension ladder and equipment. It was also voted that a committee of three be appointed by the Moderator to purchase the truck.

The motion of Mr. Bryant that a paid chief be appointed and the force reduced to 40 men was defeated. It was voted on motion by Mr. Watkins that the department be re-organized such re-organization to be done by the selectmen. The articles were then taken up in order and they were disposed of with a rush.

Article 5 was disposed of by the following appropriations Moderator, $25. Expenses, committee, $125. Selectmen, $487.50. Clerical help and other expenses, $400. Auditors, $150. Treasurer, $525. Bond of treasurer, $120. Expenses of treasurer, $50. Tax collector, $600. Expenses of tax collector, $125. Asessors, $487.50. Clerical help and other expenses, $600. Salary of town clerk, $500. Expenses of town clerk, $200. Legal expenses, $300.

Under Article 6, the sum of $150 was appropriated for the salary of the board of registrars and $800 for election officers and other expenses.

Under Article 7, the following sums were appropriated:

Salary of janitor of town house $450. Maintenance of the town offices, $700. For insurance, $26.25.

Under articles 9 and 10 the sum of $3,385.50 was appropriated for salaries in the police department, the sum of $250 for other expenses and the sum of $50 for the payment of court fees and expenses.

Under articles 11 and 12, $5,850 was appropriated for hydrant service, $1,935 for pay of engineers and firemen including their poll taxes, the sum of $1000 for general expenses and the sum of $400 for extra pay of firemen on the 30 cents per hour basis.

Relative to article 13 and 14 all action was indefintely postponed. These articles relate to telephones for the houses of the engineers and forest warden and to appropriating $100 for a concrete platform at hose house 3 on Hollis avenue.

Under article 15, the sum of $50 was appropriated for painting hose 3 of Braintree.

The following action was taken on articles 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21:

The sum of $800 was appropriated for the purchase of new hose, said hose to be purchased by the "motor-hose-wagon" committee subject to the approval of the chief of the fire department. $150 was appropriated for the maintenance of the fire alarm system and $1,700 for the improvement of the same. The sum of $1000 was ap-

(Continued on Page Six.)

ELECTS A NEW PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting Walther Men's Class of Wollaston

REPORTS

At the annual meeting of the Walther Men's Class held in the chapel of the Wollaston Baptist church Thursday evening the following officers were elected: President—John L. Miller; vice president—Philip S. Dresser; secretary—W. E. S. Oxner; treasurer—O. W. O'Connell; teacher—Joseph Walther.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Joseph Walther following which the minutes of the previous meeting were read. President Eben Hardy presided.

The report of the secretary, Philip S. Dresser showed a gain in membership of one third and an increase in attendance of 42 per cent. both instances being a source of congratulation.

Reports were received and accepted from J. E. Leavitt the treasurer and the chairmen of the social, membership and visiting committees.

The president and teacher of the class were both tendered votes of thanks in appreciation of their efficient services during the year.

President Hardy for a few minutes reviewed the work of the past year after which he introduced J. Mitchell Galvin of Roxbury as the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Galvin's remarks dealt chiefly with a three years' visit made to Mexico in the 80's which he described at length. His trip was made in charge of a mining enterprise for the house of Kidder Peabody and company of Boston.

El Paso, Texas was then the terminus of the railroad and the station was an empty freight car. Travel from this point to Chihuahua a Mexican city near their destination was of necessity on foot and horseback.

The crossing of the Rio Grande River was made in flat bottom boats, no bridge having yet been built, and the party of 67 started on their perilous 400 miles' journey across Mexico.

The Apache Indians, a most cruel tribe, were on the warpath in that vicinity at the time and not an hour passed without danger of an attack.

Evidences of their depredations were described and false alarms related but the journey was made without an actual encounter. In fourteen days the party arrived safely at the city of Chihuahua.

Mr. Galvin told interestingly of the customs of the people—their great vanity and politeness, their marvelous endurance and the small pay they received.

The mines and mining processes were touched upon and the great fertility of the soil emphasized. The rugged and lofty peaks towering over the broad fertile valleys were pictured.

The return trip was made in 12 hours as against 14 days, the railroad having been constructed in the meantime, and the speaker and his wife with joy looked once more upon the American flag.

Mr. Galvin's remarks included several songs and recitations and closed with appeal to patriotism and the flag.

A hearty vote of thanks was put by President Miller and the remainder of the evening was pleasantly passed with a social hour and refreshments.

She Couldn't Say.

A little boy out in Stockton, according to the Rooks County Record, said to his mother the other day: "Ma, am I a descendant from a monkey?" "I don't know," replied the mother. "I never knew any of your father's folks." The father, who was listening, went out in the coal shed and kicked the cat through the roof.—Kansas City Star.

(ADVERTISE.)

NOTICE

Sealer of Weights and Measures.

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 14, 1911.

Notice is hereby given that under the law all persons using, weights, measures or balances for the purpose of selling goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities, or for public weighing, must have the same adjusted and sealed forthwith. For the purpose of adjusting and sealing all such weights, measures and balances, the Sealer of Weights and Measures will be at his office, in the basement of City Hall on SATURDAYS from 9 to 10 A. M.

Sealer of Weights and Measures.
JAMES M. CANTFILL,
Mar. 14-3t

Borden's

Men who work with their brains and under pressure—the heads of big enterprises—find both food and drink in a cup of Borden's Malted Milk. Why do they prefer it to a heavy luncheon? Because they learn by experience it is the best and safest food for active brain workers.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connection. 11-tf

OPPORTUNITY

Is presented to you through the

Reliable Real Estate Office of James F. Burke

Call and look over the largest list of property ever offered for sale in QUINCY. Consisting of single and two-family houses, for home or investment; terms and prices reasonable.

WHY PAY RENT, WHEN YOU CAN OWN YOUR OWN HOME?
WHY NOT INVEST IN A GOOD PIECE OF RENTAL PROPERTY AND HAVE YOUR MONEY EARN 10 PER CENT?

My time and advice is yours, to aid you in making a selection.

"GET BUSY" AND SEE

James F. Burke, The Real Estate Man

Room 4 Savings Bank Bldg.
9-tf

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 528 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	52 degrees
Mar. 15, 1911,	50 degrees
Mar. 15, 1910,	48 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Stillman Green of School street is recovering from a short illness.

William Westland of Goddard street is recovering from a brief illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Atwood of Quincy Point are to move from their present residence to the home of Mrs. William Chubbuck on Washington street, the first of April.

The new corset store in the Johnson building, Maple street, looks very attractive and is sure to be the mecca for women who are particular about being well dressed.

The Boy Scouts of America will assemble at he Y. M. C. A. at noon, Saturday, to go to the Middlesex Fells where all the Scouts of Greater Boston will participate in an experimental hike. The Quincy boys will take an active part in the manoeuvres that follow the hike.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Copeland of Upland road was held at their home on Upland road Thursday morning, Rev. Charles L. Marshall, pastor of the Washington Street Congregational church officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Copeland, accompanied by Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Copeland's mother, and son George, left immediately after the service for Bath, Maine, their native place, with the body for interment in their family lot. As they go on their sad journey, the sympathy or friends is extended to them. Little Willie has been called home, but "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

ENTERTAINS WHIST CLUB.

The True Blue Whist club were delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Kate A. Blaisdell at her home on Minot street, Neponset. After an hour's whist the guests were invited to the dining room where a fine collation of salads, hot biscuits and coffee was enjoyed. The decorations were green as were also the souvenirs, apropirate to St. Patrick's Day. Little Miss Mary E. Darrow, four years old, gave the W. R. C. salute to the flag very cutely. The next meeting will be held March 21 with Mrs. Emma E. Marnock at her rooms in the Adams building.

Despondent Over Ill Health

Westfield, Mass., March 15.—Ill-health is given as the cause of the suicide of William E. Champlain, 21 years old, by drinking poison. Champlain's body was found in an open lot near his home.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

☞PRATT'S BREAD makes the best sandwiches. Get it of leading grocers.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

LONG BATTLE REACHES END

Lawrence Strikers Vote to Return to Work Monday

MASS MEETING ON COMMON

Fruits of Victory Proclaimed on Same Spot Where Leaders Opened Big Industrial Warfare Nine Weeks Ago—Ban Remains on Few Independent Mills—Militia and Outside Police Not In Evidence In the City

Lawrence, Mass., March 15.—Fifteen thousand striking textile workers, at a mass meeting on Lawrence common, voted to declare off the strike against the American Woolen company's mills and the Kunhardt and Atlantic mills. This means that of the 31,650 employes of the Lawrence mills, all but 6400 will be at their places in the factories Monday.

In an uproar of wild cheering, heard for blocks throughout the business section, the strikers accepted the peace plan of the Industrial Workers of the World committee.

The failure of the Arlington, Pacific, Duck, Everett and Pemberton mill owners to meet the strikers' committee and the increase in wages offered by the other concerns, will continue the strike in these places.

Between now and Monday, the whole force of the striking body is to be concentrated upon the mills which stand in the way of an entire victory for the mill workers.

Thousands of jubilant strikers surged through the city streets last night, laughing, chatting and noisily, although not boisterously, celebrating their achievement.

Up at the strike headquarters the entire force of committees are planning the last battle of New England's great textile war, which is to be directed against the mills now holding out.

The leaders assert that the task of compelling the surrender of the few independent mills will not be difficult. In each of these mills an advanced wage scale has been posted, but in no case does it measure up to the concessions made by the American Woolen company, followed by the Kunhardt and Atlantic mills.

The mass meeting on the common, at which the vote was taken yesterday afternoon, was a remarkable demonstration. From the bandstand where the leaders opened the big industrial warfare nine weeks ago they proclaimed the fruits of victory. Before them 15,000 men, women and children joined in mighty cheers and prolonged applause.

From the bandstand the I. W. W. banners and an occasional red flag fluttered in the wind that carried the voices of the speakers to the outskirts of the great circle of humanity, embracing more than twoscore nationalities. Back and front on the bandstand the speakers in different languages announced the recommendation of the strikers' committee. William D. Haywood was the dominant figure and put the question of the vote to the assemblage.

As the motion to return to work today was moved and seconded, Haywood in a brief speech advised its acceptance, but a thunder of "No" somewhat startled the spectators who had gathered to witness the vast demonstration. Another motion was made to return Monday, and this was carried almost unanimously.

It was unofficially stated that the greatest obstacle which the strike leaders have met in their efforts to get the men to return to work, was a satisfactory explanation of what disposition could be made on the release of Ettor and Giovannitti. The Polish and Italian factions have been demanding their release before they would vote or would return to work.

To secure this end, the strike leaders are to bend their energies, and as soon as the grand jury reports it is believed that it will be possible to get them out on bail, unless the governor uses his influence for pardons.

Contrary to expectations, the strikers made no effort to parade after the mass meeting. In all the speeches made, they were urged to return peacefully to their homes upon adjournment of the unique gathering.

As the vast concourse of people melted away from the common, Lawrence for the first time in nine weeks assumed its normal aspect. The swarm of extra police, the patrols of militia tramping all the main business streets, with fixed bayonets, were no longer in evidence, and last night for the first time since the wage struggle began, the three big searchlights which had played with mechanical precision over and around the immense plant of the American Woolen company were unswung from their positions in the big towers and the mill district ceased to be a segregated section to all but a uniformed force after nightfall.

Bachelors Must Marry or Get Out

Dublin, March 15.—The district council of Dunshaughline, County Heath, has ordered all bachelor inhabitants to get married within three months or leave the town.

HOLDING UP COAL

Storage Piles In Anthracite District and Barges Held Back

MINERS WON'T GIVE IN

White Looks For General Suspension of Work at End of This Month

New York, March 15.—"The United Mine Workers of America will not compromise a single demand that they have made of the anthracite coal operators," declared John P. White, president of the mine workers. "I look for a general suspension of work in the anthracite fields on April 1," he added.

"The operators have notified us that their reply is final. When we meet them we will file merely a formal reply, reiterating our demands. It will then be up to the operators. If they make no concessions, every union hard coal miner in Pennsylvania will lay down his tools on the night of March 31."

DEFENDING ACTION IN OUSTING LEWIS

American Bar Association Head Sends Out Circular

Boston, March 15.—The action of the executive committee of the American Bar association in recalling its admission of United States Assistant Attorney General Lewis on the ground of his race is defended in a circular signed by President Gregory, sent to all the members of the association. The circular contains the following statements:

"Mr. Lewis was elected to membership by the members of the executive committee in entire ignorance on their part as to his race.

"Every effort was made to represent the matter to Mr. Lewis in such a way as to induce him to relieve the situation by retiring voluntarily.

"Notwithstanding all efforts to raise an issue not involved, the fact remains that Mr. Lewis was elected to membership in the association under a misapprehension; and he now insists on retaining the advantage of an election thus obtained."

TRIED TO BURN HOUSE

Three Negroes Are Taken From Two Constables and Lynched

Olar, S. C., March 15.—Three negroes, under charge of two constables, on their way from Olar to Bamberg to be lodged in the county jail, were taken from the officers by a mob at Odoms Bridge, seven miles from this place, and shot to death.

The mob of seventy-five to 100 men surprised the constables and finished its work in short order. The negroes had confessed to attempting to burn the residence of J. E. Cook, mayor of Olar.

TWO MEN KILLED

Fatally Crushed When Tower of Burning Courthouse Falls

Hamilton, O., March 15.—John Hunker, a fireman, was killed and William L. Love was fatally crushed when the high tower of the Butler county courthouse, in which they were fighting a fire, toppled inwards, burying them.

Although the fire was kept to the two upper floors, the courthouse was so badly damaged that it is said that it will be impossible to rebuild it. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

No Tax on the "Old Bach"

Boston, March 15.—The bachelors' tax bill fails to draw any better luck on a leap year than it did last year, when it first appeared. The legislative committee on taxation voted unanimously to report adversely on this bill to tax marriageable bachelors $5 a year and give the tax to the deserving old maids.

WHOLE COURT IS WIPED OUT

Friends of Man Sentenced Open Fire on Officials

JUDGE IS FIRST TO FALL

District Attorney and Sheriff Meet Same Fate, While Clerk of Court and One Juror Are Probably Fatally Injured—Terrible Scene Enacted In Old-Fashioned Courthouse In Virginia Mountains

Hillsville, Va., March 15.—In a flame of unprecedented outlawry, the entire human fabric of the Carroll County circuit court, in session here, was wiped out by assassination. Just as Judge Massie had sentenced Floyd Allen to one year in prison for aiding in the escape of a county prisoner, two of Allen's brothers and several of his friends opened fire with revolvers. Massie fell dead in his place on the bench on the first volley.

The weapons were then tutrned on Commonwealth's Attotrney William Foster, and he sank to the floor with several bullets in his brain, death being instantaneous. Sheriff Lewis Webb, making a desperate effort to reach the ringleaders, was shot dead before he had taken ten steps. Several of the jurors who had tried the case were seriously wounded, J. H. Blankenship probably fatally.

The Allens, including the prisoner and other friends, after the killing of the sheriff, backed slowly out of the courtroom, holding all would-be pursuers in check at the point of revolvers. Once outside they made a dash for the mountains on horseback.

A posse of citizens soon was in pursuit, and reports have reached here that one of the Allens had been seriously wounded in a pitched battle which was fought with the posse.

Special officers are being rushed into the county to help in running down the murderers. Governor Mann is holding two companies of militia in readiness in case the Allens and their friends gather recruits in the mountain fastness.

Hillsville is in a remote quarter, fifteen miles from Barren Springs, the nearest railroad station, and outside help will be late in arriving.

The village was thrown into a ferment. The wiping out of the law officers left affairs in the hands of untrained citizens, but nearly every man in this section of the county has joined in the hunt.

The scene of the wholesale murder was the quaint litttle old-fashioned brick county courthouse, Hillsville being the seat of Carroll county. There had been reports that an attempt might be made to rescue Floyd Allen, who himself had aided a prisoner friend recently to escape from the county officers. The trial had been in progress for several days, however, without any indication becoming public of the carefully planned plot of the Allen brothers and their associates.

Floyd Allen had been found guilty and had been called for sentence. The stuffy little courtroom, with its coal stove and crude furniture, was crowded. Sidney and Jack Allen were among the first arrivals and were seen to take their places near the rail marking the enclosure for prisoner and counsel engaged in tne case. Standing nearby were a number of their associates and friends from the Blue Ridge mountains.

Judge Massie went about the sentencing of the prisoner in the usual matter of fact way, but the words "one year of hard labor" had scarcely passed his lips when there came the crack of a revolver.

In an instant this was followed by a volley of shots, and the judge, who had partly risen at the first shot, lay dead and bleeding on the bench. Commonwealth's Attorney Foster was sitting directly in front of the bench and was next to succumb to the well directed shots of the suddenly turned outlaws, who had taken what they deemed justice into their own hands.

The brothers and their friends must have been well armed, for it seemed to spectators who escaped from the bloody courtroom that fully 100 shots were fired.

At the first fusillade several jurors had been wounded. Sheriff Webb, whipping out his own weapon, made for the prisoner, who had joined in the shooting, but the officer was stopped by a hail of lead and crumpled into a lifeless heap on the floor.

By this time the shooting in the courtroom had become general and there was a wild rush of the unarmed for windows and doors.

Dexter Goad, clerk of the court, received a bullet wound in the neck and is desperately hurt. His death would mean the wiping out of the last vestige of the court's officers.

Judge Massie was one of the most prominent jurists of the state. He was 48 years old and is survived by a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Commonwealth's Attorney Foster had held his office for eight years. He was 40 years of age and known as a fearless prosecutor. He was a Republican leader in the county.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NOW FOR HOT MUFFINS.

THOSE who have tasted English hospitality will never forget the hot muffins that are so often a part of the afternoon tea. Muffins are of many kinds, but the British muffin is an institution peculiar to the British housewife.

However, if the American cook wishes to try them, here is a recipe said to be successful:

Muffins For Anglomaniacs.

English Muffins.—Take a quart of flour, a half teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, generous spoonfuls, one and a quarter pints of milk.

Sift together flour, sugar, salt and powder; add the milk and mix into a smooth batter a trifle stiffer than for griddle cakes.

Have the griddle heated oil over, grease it and lay on muffin rings. Half fill them and when risen well up to the top of the rings turn over gently with a cake turner. They should not be too brown, just a buff color. When they are all cooked, open in half, toast delicately, butter them well, serve in folded napkin, piled high and very hot.

Health Flour Muffins.

Graham Muffins.—Combine one cup of graham flour, one cup of flour, one-quarter cup of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder, all of which must be sifted. To these add gradually one cup of milk, one egg well beaten and a tablespoonful of melted butter.

These should be baked in a hot oven in buttered gem pans for twenty-five minutes.

Rye muffins may be made from this recipe by substituting rye meal for the graham flour.

Rice Muffins.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled rice, a pint of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, three eggs, a half pint of milk and one and a half teaspoonfuls of sugar.

Pour the milk on the rice, freeing it from lumps, and add the eggs, which should have been well beaten. Sift together the flour, sugar, salt and baking powder and add to the rice and milk.

Mix into a smooth firm batter. Pour into greased muffin pans, making each about two-thirds full, and bake for a quarter of an hour.

STUFFED EGGS.

EGGS appear on the Lenten table so often that the following recipes, which make dainty and appetizing luncheon dishes, may be useful in many households.

Some Luncheon Dainties.

Eggs With Ham.—Boil as many eggs as are needed, take off the shells and cut them in half lengthwise and remove the yolks without breaking the whites.

Mash the yolks in a bowl, season to taste, add a small lump of melted butter, a bit of cider vinegar and a trifle of dry mustard. When a smooth paste put in some cold ham chopped very fine, refill the whites with this mixture and garnish with parsley.

Eggs With Chicken.—Boil a half dozen eggs for twenty minutes, take off the shells and cut lengthwise. Take out the yolks and lay the two halves of the white together.

Mash the yolks and add two teaspoonfuls of soft butter, a few drops of onion juice and half the quantity of minced chicken. Season to taste and add a pinch of salt, pepper and mustard.

Fill the whites with the mixture and press the two halves together evenly.

Spread the remainder of the mixture on a shallow dish and place the eggs on it. Cover with a thin white sauce or gravy.

Sprinkle buttered crumbs over the whole and bake till the crumbs are a delicate brown. Garnish with parsley.

Stuffed and Then Fried.

Eggs With Veal.—Let these eggs boil for ten minutes, then lay them for five minutes in cold water. Take off the shells and cut the eggs in half lengthwise. Remove the yolks, beat them smooth with a little melted butter and salt and pepper to taste and work in thoroughly.

Fill the halved whites with this mixture. Lay them on a hot platter and set in the oven until heated through, then pour about them a thick tomato or brown sauce and serve.

Fried Stuffed Eggs.—Boil the eggs hard, then take off the shells. Make a cut in each and carefully remove the yolk. Put all the yolks into a basin with two ounces of butter, three teaspoonfuls of anchovy sauce, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and a little salt and pepper.

Work the ingredients well together, then fill in the whites of eggs with the mixture.

Dip each egg in flour, then beat up an egg, brush the stuffed eggs over with it, then roll them in breadcrumbs and fry in boiling fat until a golden brown.

Anna Thompson.

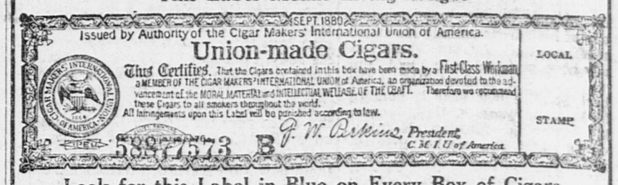
Roosevelt Quits Jury Job

Mineola, N. Y., March 15.—Theodore Roosevelt has ended his experience as a juror at his own request. As a result of his nine days' presence in the Nassua county supreme court he is $36.40 richer, $27 of this sum being earned by his jury duties and the balance being allowed by the state for traveling expenses.

The Cigar Maker's Blue Label

is only found on boxes containing cigars made under clean healthy conditions by first-class workmen

This Label Means Living Wages



Look for this Label in Blue on Every Box of Cigars

If you are a dealer or buy cigars by the box for your own use, see that the label or imprint on the bottom of the box reads 3rd District of Mass., and then you will be one of the great number of earnest citizens of Massachusetts who are conscientiously booming home industry.

Mar. 8—1t F

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 11

Eggs, Fancy, large, brown, strictly fresh,	doz.	25c
Peanut Butter,	per lb.	12c
Quaker Oats, Family size, with china,	pkg	21c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless large can 7c	small	4c
Raisins, Seeded, fancy,	pkg	9c
Corn, Fancy Maine, Wilton brand,	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska,	tall can	11c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Soap, Ives Family,	bar	3c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria,	can	9c
Peaches. California festival, fancy,	can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked,	can	8c
Starch, Fancy Laundry,	3 lbs	11c
Ketchup, Blue Label,	large bottle	17c
Maple Sugar Syrup, "Golden Tree"	large bot.	22c
Crackers, Baby Lunch,	per lb.	8c
Oranges, Fancy California Navel,	doz.	25c

Mar. 11—M. W. F.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

All the Latest Novelties in

NECKWEAR

We are constantly adding new patterns in Percales, Ginghams and Prints. We also have a full line of Corsets to fit all figures. Money spent here means 4 per cent returned to you

We sell May Manton Patterns

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

CLEANEST HANDIEST CHEAPEST FUEL GAS

It Needs No Witchcraft

to make pots and kettles seethe and bubble on a gas range. Don't be a slave to your old kitchen stove, when you can be master of a gas range without much expense.

CITIZENS GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite Street

At ATLANTIC

Quincy Daily Ledger

On Sale after 3.30 P. M.

--- AT ---

BRANSCHIED & MARTENS

Why not put in an order and have it left every day at your home?

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

(Continued from last issue)

A month and more had elapsed since Bob Yancy's trial. Just two days later man and boy disappeared from Scratch Hill. Murrell was soon on their trail and pressing forward in hot pursuit. Reaching the mountains, he heard of them first as ten days ahead of him and bound for west Tennessee; the ten days dwindled to a week, the week became five days, the five days three; and now as he emerged from the last range of hills he caught sight of them.

Yancy glanced back at the blue wall of the mountains where it lay along the horizon.

"Well, Nevvy," he said, "we've put a heap of distance between us and old Scratch Hill."

For the past ten days their journey had been conducted in a leisurely fashion. As Yancy said, they were seeing the world, and it was well to take a good look at it while they had a chance.

Suddenly out of the silence came the regular beat of hoofs. These grew nearer and nearer, and at last when they were quite close, Yancy faced about. Smilingly Murrell reined in his horse.

"Why—Bob Yancy!" he cried in apparent astonishment.

"Yes, sir—Bob Yancy. Does it happen you are looking fo' him, Captain?" inquired Yancy.

"No—no, Bob. I'm on my way west."

Murrell slipped from his saddle and fell into step at Yancy's side as they moved forward.

"They were mightily stirred up at the Cross Roads when I left, wondering what had come of you," he observed.

"That's kind of them," responded Yancy, a little dryly. There was no reason for it, but he was becoming distrustful of Murrell, and uneasy.

They went forward in silence. A sudden turn in the road brought them to the edge of an extensive clearing. Close to the road there were several buildings, but not a tree had been spared to shelter them and they stood forth starkly, the completing touch to a civilization that was still in its youth, unkempt, rather savage, and ruthlessly utilitarian. A sign announced the dingy structure of logs nearest the roadside a tavern.

Presently He Heard a Distant Sound —a Splash.

From the door of the tavern the figure of a man emerged. He was black-haired and bull-necked, and there was about him a certain shagginess which a recent toilet performed at the horse trough had not served to mitigate.

"Howdy?" he drawled.

"Howdy?" responded Mr. Yancy.

"Shall you stop here?" asked Murrell, sinking his voice. Yancy nodded. "Can you put us up?" inquired Murrell, turning to the tavern-keeper.

"I reckon that's what I'm here for," said Slosson. Murrell glanced about the empty yard. "Slack," observed Slosson languidly. "Yes, sir, slack's the only name for it." It was understood he referred to the state of trade. He looked from one to the other of the two men. As his eyes rested on Murrell, that gentleman raised the first three fingers of his right hand. The gesture was ever so little, yet it seemed to have a tonic effect on Mr. Slosson. What might have developed into a smile had he not immediately suppressed it, twisted his bearded lips as he made an answering movement. "Eph, come here, you!" Slosson raised his voice. This call brought a half-grown black boy from about a corner of the tavern, to whom Murrell relinquished his horse.

"Let's liquor," said the captain over his shoulder, moving off in the direction of the bar.

"Come on, Nevvy!" said Yancy following, and they all entered the tavern.

"Well, here's to the best of good luck!" said Murrell, as he raised his glass to his lips.

"Same here," responded Yancy. Murrell pulled out a roll of bills, one of which he tossed on the bar. Then after a moment's hesitation he detached a second bill from the roll and turned to Hannibal.

"Here, youngster—a present for you," he said good-naturedly. Hannibal, embarrassed by the unexpected gift, edged to his Uncle Bob's side.

"Thank you, sir," said the boy.

"Let's have another drink," suggested Murrell.

Presently Hannibal stole out into the yard. He still held the bill in his hand, for he did not quite know how to dispose of his great wealth. After debating this matter for a moment he knotted it carefully in one corner of his handkerchief.

In the tavern the three men were drinking—Murrell with the idea that the more Yancy came under the influence of Slosson's corn whisky the easier his speculation would be managed. Mr. Yancy on his part believed that if Murrell went to bed reasonably drunk he would sleep late and give him the opportunity he coveted, to quit the tavern unobserved at break of day.

"When yo' get to feelin' like sleep, young boss, Mas'r Slosson he says I show yo' to yo' chamber." It was Slosson's boy Eph.

"Yes, you can show me my chamber," Hannibal said.

Eph secured a tin candle-stick with a half-burnt candle in it and led the way into the passage back of the bar.

They mounted a flight of stairs and passed down a narrow hall. This brought them to the back of the building, and Eph pushed open the door on his right.

"This heah's yo' chamber," he said, and preceding his companion into the room, placed the candle on a chair.

The moon was rising and Hannibal went to the open window and glanced out. For a moment he considered the night, not unaffected by its beauty, then, turning from the window, he moved his bundle and rifle to the foot of the bed, where they would be out of his way, kicked off his trousers, blew out the candle and lay down.

Yancy had become more and more convinced as the evening passed that Murrell was bent on getting him drunk, and suspicion mounted darkly to his brain.

"Have a drink with me!" cried Slosson, giving way to drunken laughter.

"The captain's dropped out, and I 'low it's about time fo' these here festivities to come to an end. I'm thinking some of going to bed myself," said Yancy. He kept his eyes fixed on Murrell. He realized that if the latter could prevent it he was not to leave the bar. He never shifted his glance from Murrell's face. Scowling now, the captain's eyes blazed back their challenge as he thrust his right hand under his coat. "Fair play—I don't know who you are, but I know what you want!" said Yancy, the light in his frank gray eyes deepening. Murrell laughed and took a forward step. At the same moment Slosson snatched up a heavy club from the back of the bar and dealt Yancy a murderous blow. A single startled cry escaped the Scratch Hiller; he struck out wildly as he lurched toward Murrell, who drew his knife and drove it into his shoulder. Yancy dropped heavily to the floor.

How long the boy slept he never knew, but he awoke with a start and a confused sense of things. It was evidently very late, probably long after midnight—but where was his Uncle Bob?

He sank back on his pillow intent and listening. A chilling terror that gripped him fast and would not let him go, mounted to his brain.

Where was his Uncle Bob? Why didn't he come to bed? Memories of idle tales of men foully dealt with in these lonely taverns flashed through his mind.

He slid from the bed, and for a long moment stood cold and shaking, his every sense on the alert. With infinite caution he got into his trousers and again paused to listen, since he feared his least movement might betray him. Next he secured his pack, and was ready for flight.

Encumbered by his belongings, but with no mind to sacrifice them, he stepped out upon the shed and made his way down the slant of the roof to the eaves. He tossed his bundle to the ground and going down on his knees lowered his rifle, letting the muzzle fall lightly against the side of the shed as it left his hand, then he lay flat on his stomach and, feet first, wriggled out into space. When he could no longer preserve his balance, he gave himself a shove away from the eaves and dropped clear of the building.

As he recovered himself he was sure he heard a door open and close, and threw himself prone on the ground, where the black shadow cast by the tavern hid him. At the same moment two dark figures came from about a corner of the building. He could just distinguish that they carried some heavy burden between them and that they staggered as they moved.

They passed out of sight, and breathless and palsied, Hannibal crept about a corner of the tavern. He must be sure!

Presently he heard a distant sound—a splash—surely it was a splash—

A little later the men came up the lane, to disappear in the direction of the tavern. Hannibal peered after them. His very terrors, while they wrenched and tortured him, gave him a desperate kind of courage. As the gloom hid the two men, he started forward again. He reached the end of the cornfield, climbed a fence, and entered a deadening of timber. In the long wet grass he found where the men had dragged their burden. He reached down and swept his hand to and fro—once—twice—the third time his little palm came away red and discolored.

There was the first pale premonition of dawn in the sky, and as he hurried on the light grew, and the black trunks of trees detached themselves from the white mist that filled the woods and which the dawn made visible. There was light enough for him to see that he was following the trail left by the men. He emerged upon the bank of the Elk river, white like the woods with its ghostly night sweat.

The dull beat of the child's heart quickened as he gazed out on the swift current that was hurrying on with its dreadful secret. Then the full comprehension of his loss seemed to overwhelm him and he was utterly desolate. Sobs shook him, and he dropped on his knees, holding fast to the stock of his rifle.

"Uncle Bob—Uncle Bob, come back! Can't you come back!" he wailed miserably. Presently he staggered to his feet. As he glanced about, he saw almost at his feet a dug-out, made from a single poplar log. It was secured to an overhanging branch by a length of a wild grape-vine. With one last fearful look off across the deadening in the direction of the tavern, he crept down to the water's edge and entered the canoe. In a moment, he had it free from its lashing and the rude craft was bumping along the bank in spite of his best efforts with the paddle. Then a favoring current caught it and swept it out toward the center of the stream.

(To be Continued.)

WANTS TO DIE IN PRISON

Wish of Old-Time Crook Considered Likely to Be Gratified

New York, March 15.—Charles W. Bartlett, an 80-year-old forger and swindler, the oldest known to the New York police, pleaded guilty to attempted forgery in the second degree. He expressed the hope that he would be given a long term, that he might die in prison.

Justice Swann sentenced him to five years in Sing Sing prison. The physicians who have examined him since he has been under arrest say he cannot live that long.

"I'm the oldest crook in the business," he told Judge Swann, "and I want to die in prison. That's where I belong. I have been a crook all my life. My stealings never profited me anything. It doesn't pay to be a crook, judge."

TO GIVE CASE TO JURY

Packers Decide to Present No Evidence In Criminal Prosecution

Chicago, March 15.—The ten Chicago packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, will submit their case to the jury without presenting any testimony. This announcement was made by counsel for the defendants. Court was then adjourned until Monday, when arguments to the jury will begin.

The move came as a surprise to the government representatives, who believed the defense would call a number of witnesses in an effort to refute the testimony already heard in the case.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THIRTY-FOUR INJURED

Passengers In Darkness as They Crawl From Debris In Train Wreck

Waterloo, Ia., March 15.—Andrew Bennett was fatally injured and thirty-three other passengers were more or less seriously hurt when a passenger train was derailed three miles north of Dunkerton. The train consisted of baggage, mail, three chair cars and a steel sleeping car.

The foremost chair car, for some reason, while rounding a curve, lurched violently from the rails, followed by the two remaining chair cars and the sleeper. The chair cars ran on the frozen ground for a short distance, turning over on their sides thirty feet from the track. The sleeping car remained upright.

Within the wrecked cars the passengers were tossed about. When the cars left the track the lighting system was ruined and the victims of the wreck had difficulty in crawling out of the debris in the darkness.

THOUSAND DEAD AT CANTON

Insurgents Threaten an Attack on the Foreign Quarter

Hong Kong, March 15.—Four gunboats have been dispatched to Canton from Hong Kong. An eye-witness describes the scenes at Canton as terrible. One thousand persons have been killed. The British gunboat Kinsha has been compelled to shift her anchorage. It is probable that all shipping will be prohibited from approaching Canton.

The insurgents number about 28,000 and are being reinforced.

The leaders in the movement are anxious to attack Shameen, the foreign quarter, to bring about intervention by the powers. The insurgents atatempted to concentrate for an atttack on Shameen but were intercepted by the regulars and retired.

Death of Lorillard Spencer

Newport, R. I., March 15.—Lorillard Spencer, millionaire lawyer and one of the leaders of Newport's exclusive social set, died here, aged 52. He was a member of many Newport, Boston and New York clubs.

Lamson & Hubbard

Hats

Best in America

For Sale by Leading Dealers

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeannette Woodward late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by James W. Woodward of Brookline, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of February in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t- Mar. 1-8-15

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1-m

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1 m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy, Mar. 9-tf-lp

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 388-3 Jan. 17-tf

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

Hoop-iron "Mainsprings for 25cts.," we don't keep; we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Cooks, laundress, general work and experienced nursery maid, also housekeeper. Have only first-class families, best of wages, reliable office. 30 years' experience. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Tel. 485-W. 15-3t

WANTED—For spot cash, horses, wagons and harness suitable for produce business. No traders. Address or call 66 Chestnut St. Quincy. 14-3 t

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

WANTED—By a lady, work by day, laundry work preferred. Apply to Frisk Employment Agency, Johnson Bldg. 13 3t

WANTED—You to see plainly and distinctly. Every time I come to town the folks keep kicking ma dawg aroun'. Now it makes no difference if he is a houn' you've got to quit kickin ma dawg aroun'. Mac Millan Jeweler and Graduate Optician. 1463 Hancock street (Singer Shop.) Residence office 837 Hancock street. 13-3t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see
Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's
samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 700 new samples to choose from Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.
Room 4 Johnson Bldg.
14-6t

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1163 M Nov. 3-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

TO LET

TO LET—House of 6 rooms and bath. All modern improvements, convenient to Fore River and square. Good location. Apply to Mr. Murray, 11 Glenwood Way. 13-3t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 12-6t

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 30-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Quincy Boston Malden Pawtucket Providence Manchester

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO.

ADVANCE STYLES IN

SPRING APPAREL

For Men, Women, Boys and Girls

At Surprisingly Low Prices Is What We Now Submit

"A Charge Account"—We open accounts with all trustworthy people in or within 25 miles of Quincy. It enables them to have without delay such clothing as they now desire, the same to be paid for in convenient partial payments while earning the money.

Ladies' Spring Suits

In this department we show a splendid assortment of Ladies' and Misses' Suits that are absolutely correct in style. Materials are Serges, Worsteds, French Serge and Diagonals, Whipcords, Widewale Worsteds and Stripped and Fancy Suitings. All of the Staple Colors and high shades. Coats cut 26 to 30 inches long, in one, two or three-button effect, lined with splendid quality of satin or silk. New style skirts, some plain tailored, others elaborately trimmed. Strictly man tailored, perfect fitting. Our prices will save you from $3 to $8 on your Spring Suit, and range from

$10.98 to $45

MISSES' and GIRLS' SUITS

The young Miss will find in this department just what she is looking for, in a stylish Spring and Easter Suit. Splendid Suits in Serge, Whipcords, Worsted and Fancy Suitings. All sizes from 11 to 17. Priced from

$8.50 to $19.98

ALTERATIONS FREE

Men's Spring Suits

Our display of Stylish, Serviceable Men's Suits is now complete. We show the latest and best styles in all the new shades, stripes and checks, also black and blues. Fine Cheviots, Cassimeres, Thibets, Worsteds and Fancy Suitings. Tailoring and fit excellent. Priced from

$9.98 to $27.50

Young Men's Suits

The young man is inclined to be particular about his dress. Our stock of Youths' and Young Men's Suits embrace the style, dash and snap that is sure to appeal to him in up-to-date reliable materials. Our prices touch the pocketbook very lightly.

$7.98 to $24.50

ALTERATIONS FREE

We Are Complete Outfitters for Man, Woman and Child.

Open Monday, Friday and Saturday evenings

Joyce Bros. & Co.

HAVE YOUR PURCHASES CHARGED

13-15 GRANITE STREET, QUINCY

BRIEFS

A pupils' recital and short French play is to be given this evening by the students at the Quincy Mansion school.

Granite Conclave of Heptasoph held its regular meeting Thursday evening and initiated two candidates. Arrangements are being made for a dance to be held April 15.

The International Association of Machinists held a meeting in Electa hall, Thursday evening and arranged for a smoke talk to be held next Thursday evening to which the trade will be welcome.

BRIEFS

Edward L. Goodridge who has been confined to his home the past three weeks by sickness was given a surprise party Thursday night by 18 of his brother Odd Fellows. Some excellent music was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream, cake, confectionery etc., were served, cigars were then in order and a general good time enjoyed.

The young man who marries an heiress may not have to wait fifty years in order to celebrate his golden wedding.

DISHES NEW PRETTY DISHES

Special Serviceable Set of 36 pieces for $2.39

NEWEST DESIGN — UNIQUE PATTERN

BLUE AND WHITE, WITH GILT EDGE

EVERY ONE PERFECT—STRONG—DURABLE

You get 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 oatmeals, 6 sauce dishes, 6 tea plates, (6 in.), 6 dinner plates (9 in.), one week only, $2.39.

☞ Well worth buying to save wear and tear on your good full set. ☜

KINCAIDE'S ANNEX

WILL WORK FOR NEW TEL. BILL

Rep. Piper Dissents from Committee Report on Tel. Bill

WILL MAKE FIGHT

The legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs, of which Representative Piper is a member has reported adversely upon all of the various petitions and bills, relating to telephone matters, that was referred to it. Representative Piper however, with Representative Coon of Watertown and Breath of Chelsea dissent on the bill of the United Improvement Association for legislation that will take the control of the telephone now vested in the Highway Commission and place it in the hands of the Gas and Electric Light Commissioners. When the matter again comes up in the legislature, Representative Piper will make a fight for the bill.

The Journal says:

Representatives Piper of Quincy, Kennard of Somerville and McMorrow and Meins of Boston were guests of the executive committee of the Greater Boston Telephone Association at a meeting held at the City Club Thursday.

Charles M. Conant of Cambridge, George W. Moore of Brookline, James M. Folan of Norwood, Charles Warren of Dedham, Edward E. Elder of Medford, William M. Noble of Newton, Augustus A. Fales of Charlestown, James F. Bliss of Boston, Robert H. Magwood of Dorchester and Benjamin C. Lane of West Roxbury, being all but two of the members were present, and it was unanimously agreed to concenetrate the efforts of the association to secure the passage of House bill 1024.

This bill, originally introduced by the United Improvement Association provides for the transfer of all jurisdiction over telephone companies in this State form the Highway Commission to the Gas and Electric Light Commission, and is regarded by the committee as the most simple and practical solution of the question at this time.

It is felt that the success of the Gas and Electric Light Commission in dealing with the companies under its control and its greater experience in such matters, would insure more satisfactory results to telephone subscribers generally, and particularly in the Greater Boston district.

BRAINTREE TOWN MEETING.

(Continued from Page Three.)

propriated to be expended for a fire alarm in place of the alarm bell on the First Congregational church recently destroyed. The question of appropriating money for stabling horses at engine houses was indefinitely postponed.

The sum of $100 was appropriated for purchasing two sets of harness for hose wagons in precincts 1 and 2.

Articles 23 to 26 were disposed of thus:

Sealer of weights and measures, $100.

For supression of gypsy and brown tail moths, and care of trees, $2,000.

For forest fires, $400.

For the salaries and expenses of the Board of Health, including contagious diseases also for vital statistics and for the inspection of milk, animals, slaughtering and provisions. Salaries, $300. Printing, $50. Fumigation, $200. Quarantine, $100. General expenses, $100. Care of dumps, $100. Inspector of animals, $100. Inspector of milk, $100. Vital statistics, $50. Inspector of meats, $200.

Under article 26 all action on building a drain on Hobart avenue was indefinitely postponed and under article 27, the sum of $500 was appropriated for making necessary changes in the sanitary arrangements of the Pond school.

Article 53 was then taken up. Voted against changing the date for charging interest on all unpaid taxes from December 1, to November 1, and voted a six per cent rate of interest after December 1.

Article 28 was disposed of with the following appropriations:

Surveyers of Highways $487.56.

Clerical help and other expenses, $175. For general repairs on highways, bridges, sidewalks, stone roads, watering and oiling streets, $10,000. (Plus abutters' tax, excise tax, and street railway tax.) For removal of snow, $1,000.

All action on articles 29 and 30 was indefinitely postponed. These articles relate to the laying out and altering of certain streets.

Articles 31 and 32 were voted upon as follows:

Overseers of the Poor, $487.50.

Clerical help and other expenses, $225. Maintenance of the Braintree Home, $1,500. Outside relief, $4,500. (Plus reimbursements from other cities and towns.) Insurance, Braintree Home, $42.50. (State aid and soldiers' burials, $3,000. Not to be included in tax levy.) Military aid, $144. Soldiers' relief, $500.

Under article 33, the recommendation for the appropriation of $33,000 for salaries of teachers and the superintendent of the public schools was laid on the table. The other divisions of the article received these appropriations:

Janitors, $4,268.98. Text books and supplies, $3,500. Incidentals, $750. Repairs and incidentals, $1,500. Fuel, $2,500. Conveyance of pupils, $1,700. Hire and care of outside rooms, $168. Seats in High school, $500.

All action on article 34 relating to the equipping and furnishing of the Hollis school building was deferred until a future meeting. The meeting was adjourned at 10 o'clock until Tuesday evening, March 19, at 7.30 o'clock.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

CONVICTS MURDER THREE OFFICIALS

Escape From Penitentiary While Blizzard Rages

Lincoln, Neb., March 15.—Three prisoners at the Nebraska penitentiary at Lancaster, three miles south of here, assassinated Warden James Delahunty, Deputy Warden Charles Wagner, Usher A. C. Heilman and wounded Cell House Keeper Doody.

The three convicts then made their escape from the front entrance of the penitentiary and were swallowed up in the blizzard which is raging here.

The killing was done by Convicts Morley, Taylor and Dowd, each sentenced for bank robbery. Morley has previously served in Missouri for murder.

The trio shot Wagner in his office, which looks out into the prison yard. Doody was shot just outside the cell house of which he was the keeper.

After blowing off the lock of the first steel door which leads into the public entrance of the prison, the murderers rushed the turnkey at the point of a revolver, forced him to unlock another door, took his keys and let themselves into the main corridor.

Before the men let themselves out they had shot Delahunty and Heilman by firing through the barred doors, the two men having rushed out of their offices into the main corridor when the first shot was heard.

None of the other convicts attempted to escape. The turnkey immediately locked the remaining convicts in their cells.

WATCHMAN O'NEIL FREED

Judge Finds That Towerman Bishop Was Accidentally Killed

Boston, March 15.—William O'Neil, the railroad watchman who accidentally shot George H. Bishop, a New Haven railroad towerman, so that Bishop died later, was discharged in the South Boston court, Judge Fallon declining to grant a warrant for manslaughter.

O'Neil arrested Forrest H. Chick for larceny of railroad iron. Guarding Chick with his revolver O'Neil took him to the railroad tower in the South Boston yards. The revolver was discharged, wounding Bishop fatally.

Chick, the man arrested for larceny, pleaded guilty and was sent to the house of correction for one month.

No One to Blame For Disaster

Portsmouth, Eng., March 15.—The verdict of the coroner's inquest into the cause of the death of the officers and crew of submarine "A3" was that the collision was entirely accidental and that no blame could be attached to anyone.

If more states had more adequate corrupt practices acts there would be fewer anxious seats in the United States Senate.

Too Late For Classification.

FOR SALE—Piano, large upright, good condition. Apply 112 Sagamore street, Atlantic, Mass., near depot; at home mornings. 12-3t P-16-1w

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air, This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

CHALLENGERS FOR QUINCY CUP

Boston, Corinthian and Manchester Clubs Want Cup

GOOD RACING ASSURED

Three challenges have been received by the Quincy Yacht Club for the Quincy challenge cup, now held by the club which originally offered it for competition in 1898. The challenges received are from the Boston Yacht Club, the Corinthian Yacht Club of Marblehead, and the Manchester Yacht Club.

Of the three clubs to challenge, only one, the Boston Yacht club, has named its representative. This will be the Ellen, owned by Charles P. Curtis, which competed last year and was defeated by the defender, the Harpoon, owned by Charles Francis Adams, 2d. Changes will be made in the Ellen, with the object of increasing her speed.

The Quincy Yacht Club has not yet named its defender, but it will undoubtedly be Mr. Adams' Harpoon, which had a comparatively easy time in defending the cup last year. It is not known what changes, if any, will be made in the Harpoon, but from the manner in which she cleaned up the fleet last year, it is not considered likely that there will be many.

ROOSEVELT MEN BOLT

Oklahoma Will Have Contesting Delegations at National Convention

Tulsa, Okla., March 15.—Contesting delegations were elected from the Third Congressional district of Oklahoma to the national Republican convention. Roosevelt members colled the meeting of the congressional committee two hours before the time set for the convention, when the Taft committeemen made an effort to unseat the chairman, who was a Roosevelt supporter.

The Roosevelt faction had their convention in an opera house, and elected A. A. Small and A. E. Dennison as delegates to the national convention. The Taft forces met in the federal courtroom and elected J. A. Gill and John Hillilian as delegates.

THE HOUSE OF GOOD CLOTHES

You might think that the only reason we ask you to buy our clothes is the profit we make on them. It's one reason. But there's another good reason and that's the profit you make.

A big range of patterns from

$12.89 to $22

¶ A guarantee of satisfaction with every suit. Pick yours now while the selection is at its best.

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY

City Square Quincy

FOR SALE in Braintree on car line. House of 9 rooms and bath with all improvements. This is a very attractive house near the Railroad Station, and will be sold CHEAP. There is plenty of land and large shade trees. Owner will take back a large mortgage.

RICKER REAL ESTATE INSURANCE

Call in for further particulars

1416 Hancock Street, QUINCY, MASS

15-2t

Downfall of Venice.

It was December 28, 1805, that Venice, the "Queen of the Adriatic," was robbed of the crown that she had proudly worn for more than 1,200 years. By the terms of the treaty of Presburg, as dictated by that creator and destroyer of kings and kingdoms, Napoleon the Great, the ancient republic was annexed to Italy, and the glory of the city of the Doges was no more.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR

You try one!

WALL PAPER

F. T. APPLETON

31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy

Mar. 16-3m

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & CO.

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

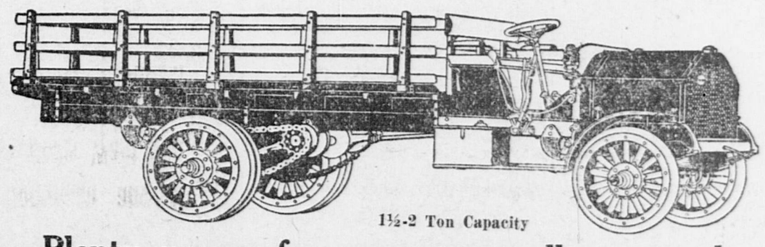
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1½ 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenue 15-6t

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 65 | QUINCY MASS., SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 16, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

GENERAL MANAGER PLAN FOR CITY GOVERNMENT

James S. Whiting Writes of the Unique Plan of City Government at Staunton, Va.

City was on Verge of Bankruptcy When Adopted

Editor of Quincy Ledger:

In the foot hills of the Alleghanies, midway between the Blue Ridge and Great North Mountains, in the state of Virginia, there is located the thriving city of Staunton, now enjoying national fame as the originator of the "General Manager" plan of carrying on its city government. Outside of the plants of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co., the Thurmond Coal Co., the Valley Tie & Lumber Co., and the Fire Creek Coal & Coke Co. the community is made up of prosperous stories and a few enterprises such as usually go to make up the average well-to-do community. It has a population of 12,000 and a valuation of $4,958,600 with a tax rate of $13.50 in 1911. Its estimated resources for 1911 were $117,500 and its appropriations a like amount.

Before the "General Manager" plan was adopted the city's finances were at the lowest ebb and the city was paying as high as 8 per cent on its bonded indebtedness. And even now that indebtedness amounts to $621,-216, being 12 1-2 per cent of the valuation. In 1908 when the city was on the verge of bankruptcy the City Council decided to make a trial of the German plan for administering city governments. It thereupon elected Charles E. Ashburner, a railroad civil engineer, as the general manager of the city at a salary of $2500 per year.

John Crosby, president of the Staunton Common Council, tells me the rest of the story, as follows:—

"In March, 1908, we threw off the yoke of municipal government by Council Committees and adopted the unique and business method of government by a general manager, whose prototype is found in every large corporation. As every person is, no doubt, more or less familiar with the cumbersome and expensive operation of municipal government through Council Committees, it is hardly necessary to dwell on the disadvantage of a system so antiquated, which should have been abolished years ago.

"Councilmen as a rule are (or should be) business men, who have their private affairs to look after, which naturally consumes all of their time and attention, and it is not reasonable to presume that they, receiving neither pay nor thanks for anything they may do for the interest of the city, can afford to neglect their private interests to look after the city's business. Hence, under the old system, the affairs of the city were run by the heads of departments with the assistance of a few councilmen who, in a great many cases, were contractors bidding for city contracts. Not infrequently, also the heads of departments were men totally unfit for the positions they occupied, who had received their appointments and held their jobs through political or other favored influence. Under the present "Staunton Plan" this is all a thing of the past, and the business of the city is conducted on the same general business principles as all large industrial private corporations are conducted.

"Under the constitution of Virginia we were unable to abolish the Council and adopt a commission form of municipal government. However, as the provisions of Section 1038 of the code permits the Council to establish such offices as may be necessary to properly conduct the city's affairs, the idea of a General Manager was conceived, and the following ordinance was adopted:—

"Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Staunton, Va.:—

1. That there be appointed by the two branches of the Council in joint session as soon as possible after the adoption of this resolution, and thereafter annually at the regular election of City Officers, in July of each year, an officer to be known and designated as General Manager.

2. The General Manager shall hold office for the term of one year and until his successor is duly elected and qualified, unless sooner removed by the Council at its pleasure.

3. The General Manager shall be paid an annual salary of $2500.

4. The General Manager shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and shall have entire charge and control of the heads of departments and employees of the city. He shall make all contracts for labor and supplies, and in general perform all of the administrative and executive

(Continued on Page Four.)

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1867
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

FOR SALE in Braintree on car line. House of 9 rooms and bath with all improvements. This is a very attractive house near the Railroad Station, and will be sold CHEAP. There is plenty of land and large shade trees. Owner will take back a large mortgage.

RICKER REAL ESTATE INSURANCE

Call in for further particulars
1416 Hancock Street, QUINCY, MASS

15-2t

WAS MISTAKEN FOR A BURGLAR

Wollaston Man Surprised by Unexpected Visit from Police

TAKEN FOR BURGLAR

Charles W. Swenning of Taylor street, Wollaston received the surprise of his life Friday night when two policemen walked into his house to arrest him as a burglar. Mr. Swenning had been away for a few days and arrived home Friday night. He was congratulating himself upon having gotten in out of the storm when there came a loud summons at the door which on being opened disclosed Officers Broberg and McNamara while just outside the gate was the police patrol wagon.

It seems that neighbors knowing that Mr. Swenning was away and seeing a light in the house thought burglars were paying the house another visit. They notified the police and the wagon was sent down. Mr Swenning had quite a hard time convincing the limbs of the law that he was not a burglar.

OF INTEREST TO CONTRACTORS

The case of William Thompson against Luciano et al to establish a mechanic's lien for labor has been decided in Thompson's favor by the Supreme court, according to a decision reported this week in a trade paper. It seems that the contractor who had the job for changing the old Graham factory on Sumner street into tenements left Quincy owing Mr. Thompson over six hundred dollars for plastering and mason work, and the question was who should stand the loss, Thompson or the owners.

The principal point which the decision of the court seems to center on is the meaning of the word "work" in a receipt for $500 which Mr. Thompson signed. He claimed he had a right to apply the money on the materials and lien the building for the labor, and the defendants claimed he had no such right, claiming the receipt required him to apply the money on the labor. The court says, "work" frequently means an undertaking, enterprise or project and is not employed necessarily as a synonym for "labor," and "There is nothing in the language of this receipt which constitutes an appropriation of the payment to the labor account alone. Lien established. So ordered." J. D. Mackay for plaintiff; P. P. Porter and J. E. Crowley for respondents.

The case was started in the Quincy court in 1907 and was appealed first to the Superior court and then to the Supreme. It has been watched with interest by contractors and real estate owners.

BANQUET AND ENTERTAINMENT

All plans have been perfected for the third annual banquet of Division 5, A. O. H., to be held tomorrow evening in Hibernian hall, Franklin street and the member's of the division expect to see the affair outclass anything they have yet undertaken. A fine menu has been arranged by a well known caterer and popular speakers and talent will participate in the post-prandial exercises.

The toastmaster for the occasion will be Patrick J. Ferguson and addresses will be made by Mayor Eugene R. Stone, City Solicitor McAnarney, Hon. William S. McNary, a former congressman from this district, County President Slattery and C. F. Buttimer Esq.

Leo P. Noonan will give a recitation, while songs will be rendered by Miss Alice O'Neil and Dennis Sweeney. Miss Alice Fay and Miss Grace McDermott will entertain on the piano and violin and the famous Coughlan Brothers will add to the enjoyment with Irish step dancing.

TAKES STEPS TO INCORPORATE

July Fourth Celebration Committee to Incorporate

THE OFFICERS

Quincy's July Fourth committee, under whose auspices celebrations of the National holiday have been held for the past two years, is to be incorporated, the first steps toward this end being taken at a meeting of the committee Friday night at the rooms of the Board of Trade.

The necessary papers were drawn up by George E. Adams Esq., and they will be presented to the Secretary of the Commonwealth today. The capital stock, as stated in the papers is nothing, it being the intention of the incorporators to raise the necessary funds to carry on its work by voluntary contributions with the aid of the city.

The aims and objects of the corporation as set forth are, the formulating and carrying into effect plans to bring about a proper observance of the Fourth of July, including the holding and giving of parades, band concerts, fireworks, pyrotechnic exhibitions, entertainments for children and adults, the giving and encouraging of athletic sports, such as yacht, boat and swimming races and other aquatic and field sports, balloon ascensions, aeronaut exhibitions and concerts, arranging for and giving speeches and lectures, bearing on the significance of the Fourth of July, providing for and compiling literature relating to the United States and the meaning of the national holiday; to make contracts for the carrying out of the foregoing provisions, etc.

All of the members of the executive committee of last year have signed the petition as incorporators and it is the intention to open lists for charter members. The following were elected as the officers of the association.

President—Hon. Eugene R. Stone.
Vice President—James F. Burke.
Secretary—Arthur W. Stetson.
Treasurer—Clarence Burgin.
Executive Committee—Hon. William T. Shea, James H. Elcock, Alfred N. LaBrecque, Capt. George A. Wardwell, Albert L. Whitman, James E. Neary, Charles H. Johnson, George F. Elcock and Charles W. Hanscom.

Plans for the celebration this year were discussed informally and it is the hope of the committee to make it even more of a success than that of last year.

RAIN CAUSED POSTPONEMENT

Owing to the inclement weather, the play, entitled "Parliament of Servants" which was to be given in Union Chapel, Houghs Neck, last evening, was postponed. Yet those who were in attendance were treated to an entertainment and the evening was enjoyably spent.

Piano solos were given by Harry S. Farnum and Miss Ella Acorn. Miss Gladys Nash rendered a song and Miss Emma True gave a reading. Refreshments brought the impromptu entertainment to a close.

☞"Give me PRATT'S BREAD,"—and don't take a substitute from your grocer.

NOTICE

Sealer of Weights and Measures.

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 14, 1911,

Notice is hereby given that under the law all persons using, weights, measures or balances for the purpose of selling goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities, or for public weighing, must have the same adjusted and sealed forthwith. For the purpose of adjusting and sealing all such weights, measures and balances, the Sealer of Weights and Measures will be at his office, in the basement of City Hall on SATURDAYS from 9 to 10 A. M.

Sealer of Weights and Measures.
JAMES M. CANTFILL,
Mar. 14-3t

REDUCTION IN PRICE
—OF—
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,
By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street — Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

A WILD GALE SWEEPS QUINCY

House Unroofed and Police and Fire Alarm Wires Crippled

A HARD NIGHT

In common with other New England cities and towns, Quincy experienced one of the worst storms of the season Friday night, and it was fortunate indeed that it was rain and not snow that accompanied the high wind, or transportation facilities would have been crippled.

It blew hard and rained by spells during the afternoon, increasing in the early evening until it became a gale and it was impossible to carry an open umbrella. Few ventured out except on urgent business.

At one time it seemed as though houses and trees would be uprooted. At 7.30 the storm was at its height. About this time the roof of an unfinished house near the Willows on the Houghs Neck road was blown off and landed some distance away on the street car tracks. Also about the same time a large tree and telephone pole in front of the Police station on School street fell with a crash putting two of the police signal wire circuits out of commission as well as one of the fire alarm circuits, causing several blows to be struck on the fire alarm bells.

In other places trees were uprooted and chimneys blown over and for a time it seemed as though nothing could withstand the storm. The rain abated somewhat shortly after 8 o'clock but the wind continued to blow hard and it was a wild night.

Most of the stores in City Square were open but the clerks had little more to do than to harken to the howling wind and see the rain beat against the windows.

As far as known the rain was not hard enough to do much damage to the streets although some were gullied out in places. It was a wild night.

While considerable damage was done by the tempest, especially in that section of the city which some desired to have called Seagirt, but which still continues to be known as Houghs Neck, the saying "It's an ill wind that blows no one no good," was proven true again. for in the vicinity of Hawley's boat landing, no fewer than fifty bushels of clams were released from their beds and thrown onto the shore. This work on the part of nature was a source of pleasure to the natives who indulge in clam digging, for instead of exerting any energy, all they had to do was to take their pails and pick up the clams.

Mr. Harvey, one of the oldest residents of Houghs Neck, was inclined to doubt the happening for he had never seen its like, during the many years he had been classed as a "Master of the sea."

But the damage was sufficent to offset the good fortune for several boats were driven ashore and rafts and floats were lost. A portion of the piazza of W. H. Young's house at Rock Island, blew off and crashed through the roof of an adjoining house, near the Pawsey farm.

AUTOMOBILE PARADE.

Notwithstanding the storm there was an automobile parade through several of our streets yesterday and it was surely a fine showing for there were two large touring cars, a delivery car and three runabouts, all new and attractive.

C. P. Gould was at the wheel on the first car followed by Charles H. Penniman Edwin Glover, William Elrick, Ernest Taylor and Dr. C. W. Garey. Chauffeurs and cars were much admired.

The autos were all lined up again this morning at Gould garage and photographed.

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.

16-tf

IN MEMORY OF THE MAINE

The flag on City Hall, as well as on many public buildings and private residences throughout the city, was placed at half-mast this noon and will remain so until sundown, in memory of the battleship Maine.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, the battleship, whch was the tomb in Havana harbor of many American sailors, will be sunk beneath the waves of the Caribbean Sea, and as the seas close over her final resting place, taps will be sounded and roses will dot the ocean where she sank.

In many places throughout the country all work will be suspended between the hours of 3 and 3.05 while a silent tribute is paid to the memory of the men who went down with the battleship in 1908.

TO INSTALL PASTOR.

The service of installation of Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, D. D., as minister of the First church of Quincy, will be held in the Stone Temple, on Sunday evening, at eight o'clock. Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington Street church, Boston, will preach and neighboring ministers will take part in the service. The public are cordially invited to attend.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

Use a Gas Range
- AND -
Gas Heater
And Save Coal Bills
PRICE OF GAS REDUCED
Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.
11 Granite Street

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The presidential candidates have now all got their hats in the ring, but some of them keep on talking through them.

By and by if all the relics of the Maine should be collected in one place, it might be possible to build several battleships out of them.

It's not much use to tell us "we've gotta stop kickin' that dawg aroun'" when he persists in sitting out under our window every night howling at the moon.

The income of New York's hold-up men is not so large as you might think, as the pockets of New York people are filled mostly with tradesmen's bills.

In view of the crowd hanging around the Outlook office to see T. R., Dr. Abbott should go off to some nice quiet place like a boiler factory to write his editorials.

Citizens of a conservative and humanitarian habit of mind carry around with them a pair of wire clippers with which to cut off the ends of such dangerous hatpins as they find the women wearing.

A presidential candidate wishing to be well equipped for the pending campaign needs a force of secretaries to hunt through the dictionary for a complete collection of vituperative adjectives each having a good business end.

Congress is asked to buy Mount Vernon from the association of women who now control it. But from the way the Congressmen act in the House, we fear that some of them might go down and put their feet on the bed where Washington died.

We are glad our people are awakening to the fact that the City Council is considering the matter of an advisory board to watch over the Board of Assessors, and are giving publicity to their thoughts through the press. We hope it will stir things up so that the Council will go slow in voting for such a board and adding unnecessary expense to our already over-burdened city.

If our Assessors are so incompetent that we have got to hire a watch dog it is time to consider a change in the assessors themselves or in the power of appointment.

Our citizens at large do not believe the proposed change will be any improvement, or that an advisory board will do any better work than the assessors.

We commend to our readers the letters on this subject in another col; umn that of John L. Miller, being especially pertinent and the points well taken.

CUSTOMS UNDERVALUATIONS.

The government has closed its investigations of reported frauds in the valuations of surgical instruments, knives, and razors and is suing for $1,100,000 on account of alleged undervaluations.

Public attention as respects the custom house is mostly turned on the smal contingent of people who attempt petty smuggling while returning from European travel. It takes more tears and carnage to collect a million or two there, than the hundreds of millions levied for merchandise in the ordinary channels of trade, where the chances of fraud are correspondingly greater.

Few people have any conception of the delicacy of the questions arising from the interpretation of our labyrinthine customs law, or of the acuteness required to circumvent the agile devices of the importers.

For instance, a quick witted appraiser one time noticed that a lot of uncut diamonds were marked with very slight lines of red ink. Most men would have thought nothing of such an infinitesmial detail.

Uncut precious stones come in free, as they are of compartively little value until expert workmen have finished them. The most delicate and costly work is that of the cleaver. After he has indicated the division of the stone, any ordinary lapidary can grind and smooth it. The theory apparently was in this case, that by marking the facets of the stones with fine lines of red ink, it could be imported free, and put on the market at a greatly reduced cost.

In handling all lines of art goods, pottery for instance, the appraiser must be able to locate at a glance the period of workmanship, and estimate the skill of delicate craftsmanship.

If it should prove true that Uncle Sam has been bled out of great sums through inability of the appraisers to tell one kind of knife from another, or by deliberate fraud, it would seem as if the opportunities for such trickery existed to even greater extent in other departments.

For instance, it takes both a very bright man and a very honest one, to say whether a jewel case shall come in as manufactured wood at 35 per cent, or shall pay something for its plush lining at a dollar a pound and 15 per cent ad valorem.

THAT ADVISORY BOARD.

Editor Daily Ledger:—

In your issue of the 14th inst. I note a communication headed "What it might accomplish," signed A. N. Murray, on the above subject. Now I have the honor of a personal acquaintance with this gentleman, and have always considered him a shrewd business man. He has been a success at the printing business, and I know he is a humorist of the first row, and I think it must have been in the latter capacity that he wrote his letter on the Advisory Board.

If he assumes what might be the benefits if such a board were appointed, have not the opponents of such a board the same privilege of assuming that there would be no benefits, and the eleven hundred dollars worse than waster, in paying some one's political debts. When Mr. Murray tries to show what might happen for good with such a board, I am reminded of the Dutchman that heard a friend declaiming on the benefits of the discovery of the north pole answered "Vel, Vel, pigs may fly, but they are very unlikly birds." So with this advisory board.

Our City Council in their wisdom got our charter amended, chapter 216, acts of 1900, so there should be a board of assessors of three, where the original article in the charter provided one from each ward. Here was a delicate act of the council to cut down the number, for any one knows that a small committee or board can work to better advantage than a large one, and the tendency is in that direction. See the Boston City government.

Mr. Murray, if you employed three men to perform a specific thing in your establishment, and they said they were capable of performing it, would you employ another five to tell them what they should do?

You say this Advisory Board would only deal with streets, or sections, or districts. One can hardly take that seriously, for you must know that would be the worst kind of comedy, for two lots of land adjoining, one might be very much more valuable than the other, and a corner lot is always considered more valuable, because more people pass it than a lot further up the street, there is more light and sunshine, and each lot from said corner will reduce in value slightly. Then land on one side of a street is more valuable than on the other, so it is impossible to value by streets.

Now Mr. Murray, you know if an employee will persist in not doing his duty, then all you can do is discharge him and look for another. Just so with our city. Our charter was intended to put our city on a business basis (although many say it has degenerated into a machine) then if the Board of Assessors will not do what they have sworn to perform, and for which we pay them, then why should they be kept in office? Why not do as you would in your own business.

I am a believer in equal justice to all. I believe there is some unequal taxation in our city, but I think it fair to assume that if we can't get three men with an aggregate salary of approximately three thousand dollars, to perform their sworn duty, is it reasonable to suppose you can get five with a combined salary of eleven hundred to do it? Is it not reasonable to suppose they would be amendable to the same influences as the three assessors. It is a position that would call down odium on any one, that would do his duty fearlessly, but if the members travelled along the "road of least resistance" then how much better would you be off?

You make one suggestion that is worthy of consideration, and in case the council thinks such a board advisable, to cut off the paltry salary and let it be a work of patriotism. I would further suggest that they be put in solitary confinement, so that no interested parties could influence or warp their judgment. Why should not such a board serve the city for nothing? Our Board of Managers of the Public Library serve for nothing, likewise our Cemetery Board, and the School Committee, then why pay these five citizens for their talents? I fear when the chance to get a hand in the public crib is removed that the applicants will be scarce.

Now Mr. Murray, if we are ever going to get efficiency in our city departments it will not come by increasing the office holding class but by demanding that those who hold an office shall perform their duty, and should not be held in their position trough favoritism. Our city Charter gives the Mayor full power to remedy the evil complained of. He appoints the assessors, and he can compel them to do their duty, but it will never be done by creating an Advisory Board, that has no standing before the laws of the State or the City Charter. The assessors can use them for a screen to hide behind in one case, and tell them to go to Chelsea on the next.

I recognize, Mr. Murray, that you are groping around in the dark on the taxation question, and you are looking for light. I also rejoice that you had the courage to sign your article, for those that are afraid to give their name and only sign Taxpayer, or Citizen reduce their influence to the minium.

J. L. Miller.

WHY ADVISORY BOARD?

Editor of Ledger:

"A citizen" is seeking enlightenment as to how the board referred to in Thursday's Ledger can revalue the city without considering individual valuation. It is generally conceded that the assessors have in the past "travelled along the line of least resistance" and others seem to have followed their example. If the salary of our assessors is not sufficient to obtain "sane business men" for that purpose it is up to the council to make a larger appropriation. In the same letter the writer states that this work can be carried on more effectively by "disinterested" parties. Does he know of any one with such qualifications?

The people of Quincy have had varied experiences in waiting until a move was an established fact and then crying baby. Far be it from any citizen to presuppose the intelligence of even one man and he is judging from what has been proved. If the writer who signs himself "a taxpayer" will again read the item referred to, he will find that it is not based on a desire to criticize either council or assessors. "The Citizen" does not feel as sanguine on some subjects as the gentleman above mentioned and has refrained from indulging in sarcasm and having asked a question in good faith was prepared for the same sort of an answer.

A Citizen.

DANCING PARTY AT ALPHA HALL

The dancing party at Alpha hall Friday evening given by the Library Extension Committee of the Quincy Women's club was well attended, although the severe storm doubtless kept some from participating. Dancing was in order from 8 to 11 o'clock and about forty couples were present to enjoy the festivities.

Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Mrs. Thomas Fenno and Mrs. John O. Short matronized the party and the ushers were Delcevare King, Thomas Fenno, Henry L. Kincaide, Jesse I. Litchfield, George E. Pfaffmann, C. Eaton Pierce, Carl R. Sheppard, John O. Short and James H. Slade.

The patronesses included the following well-known ladies: Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., Mrs. Herbert H. Albee, Mrs. Albert E. Avery, Mrs. Clarence Burgin, Mrs. Horace Bean,, Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. George H. Brown, Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis, Mrs. J. Winsor Davy, Mrs. William H. Doble, Mrs. James L. Edwards, Mrs. Frank A. Ernery, Mrs. Joseph S. Evans, Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, Mrs. Arthur P. Homer, Mrs. Henry R. Holden, Mrs. N. S. Hunting, Mrs. Edward E. Jameson, Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide, Mrs. Theophilus King, Miss Georgianna Lane, Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield, Mrs. Harrison S. Loud, Mrs. Ralph L. Lovell, Miss Maud Macfarlane, Mrs. Edward E. Miller, Mrs. Edward March, Mrs. Clayton R. Marstin, Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann, Mrs. Joseph P. Prout, Miss Edith Randall, Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Mrs. Hazen T. Ricker, Mrs. Alfred H. Remick, Mrs. Charles R. Safford, Mrs. Walter S. Sargent, Mrs. John W. Sanborn, Mrs. Charles L. Seavey, Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, Mrs. Carl R. Sheppard, Mrs. John O. Short, Mrs. James H. Slade, Mrs. Maurice P. Spillane, Mrs. W. Ward Whitcher, and Mrs. William O. Wellington.

GUESTS IN OLD FASHIONED SILKS

Unique Surprise Party on Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. HAYWARD

A very unique suprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Hayward of Chestnut street to celebrate the 56th anniversary of their wedding on March 8th. The guests were all dressed in old fashioned silk, satin or brocade gowns, with powdered hair; some of the gowns being heirlooms in their respective families and of ancient origin. A large bridal bouquet of carnations, and a bride's cake were presented to Mrs. Hayward, with many happy wishes for future anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward welcomed their guests in their usual courteous manner, and appeared to be hale and hearty and enjoying life to its fullest with their three daughters, Misses Annie, Cora and Laura.

A poem was recited by Mrs. Moses L. Brown of Wollaston, and was enjoyed not wholly on account of its being read by the composer, but by its originality.

Refreshments were served in the dining room where a display of flowers and beautiful decorations awaited the guests. Unique place cards caused quite a lot of laughter, some of them being quite original. A donation of fifty-six dollars was presented to the "Colonel" while at the table which nearly took his appetite away.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Moses L. Brown and Miss Helen S. Brown of Wollaston, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Chalmers and son of Brockton, Miss F. E. Brooks of Braintree; Mrs. Eugene T. Brown of North Scituate, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy and their three charming daughters, Misses Josephine, Angela and Marguerite and nephew Edward McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gilbert and Mrs. Margaret Cumming all of Quincy.

Violin and piano selections and a few solos were enjoyed and altogether the evening was one long to be remembered.

Following is the poem which was composed and read by Mrs. Brown:

The year was eighteen fifty-six.
The town was Scituate,
The girl was pretty little Anne;
When William met his fate.

He came, he saw, she conquered.
He whispered "Set the date."
She looked up with those eyes of blue,
And shyly said "March 8."

And so the two were married,
They were a charming pair,
He so strong and tender,
She with her golden hair.

The years they've lived together
Now number fifty-six.
Filled with the light and darkness,
That in our lives oft mix.

Fate has been kind to William,
Not played him many tricks,
But has kept him very busy
In piling up the bricks.

So now he has his hay all in;
His bins are full of coal.
No more he wields the paint brush,
As in the days of old.

His weary labor all these years,
Now has its own reward.
He now has time to smoke his brier,
And sit around the yard.

And often Frank G. calls him
For a game of High-Low-Jack.
it takes Aunt Annie, and all three girls
To go and get him back.

And now Anne too has earned a rest.
She's trained her daughters fair;
To help her with her daily toil,
And lift from her the care.

She sits a queen among her maids,
Her nimble fingers knit,
Or fashions miles of buttonholes,
To make their garments fit.

We all are glad that they can rest,
As evening draws apace.
Are glad each day that they are here
In their accustomed place.

And so we gathered here tonight,
Niece, nephew, neighbor, friend,
To bring our love and wishes best,
Good wishes without end.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

SUNDAY SERVICES

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Substance." Golden Text; "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Hebrews 11:1. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open from 3 to 5 P. M., week days holidays excepted. All are welcome.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY (Unitarian) City Square—Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor. Residence, Hotel Bellevue, Boston. Preaching 10.30 A. M. by the pastor. Sunday school 11.50. Charles H. Johnson, Supt.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH — Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets. Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D. 12 M. Bible School. 6.15, Y. P. S. C. E. 7.30, Evening Church Service. Preaching by Dr. Anderson.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington Street. Rev. Fannie E. Austin, pastor. Morning worship 10.30 a. m. Subject: "Universalist Ideals." 11.45 Sunday School. 7 p. m. Special service with sermon by Rev. Rufus H. Dix of North Weymouth, Everyone invited. There will be no meeting of the Y. P. C. U.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, (undenominational) Colonial hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building, Quincy Center. Divine services, at 3 P. M. Lecture by C. N. Elliott Subject; "The Great Judgment Day." Illustrated by a large chart. All are welcome. No collection.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. Morning Prayer, Litany and Sermon at 10.30. Sunday School and Galahad Brotherhood at 12.05. 7.30, Evening Prayer and Address.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH— Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Telephone 1524 M. Morning worshsp at 10.30. Bible School and Men's class at 11.45. Prayer circle 5.45. C. E. Service 6.00. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Thursday services. Young People's meeting at 7. Prayer and praise service 7.30. You are welcomed at all our services.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH—Fort Square, Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence, 182 Glendale Road. Morning service at 10.30. The Rev. Dr. Knight, Superintendent of the "New England Home for Little Wanderers" will speak and tell of what the Home is doing, at the Morning Service. Sabbath School and Bible classes at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Topic: "Success Worthy and Worthless." Dan IX:23-37. Evening service at 7. Seats free. All welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30. Sunday School at 12 M. Junior League at 3 P. M. Epworth League at 6.15. Leader, Miss May Williams. Topic: "Rebellion against love." Evening service at 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting Friday at 7.30. A cordial welcome for all.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH — Rev. Carl G. Horst, minister. Residence 67 Winthrop avenue. Telephone: Quincy 783-1. 10.45, Morning service. Preaching by minister. Kindergarten at 10.45. Sunday School at 12.10, The Rollin's Class for Young Men meets in the Church auditorium at 12. Subject: "Lessons from the Lawrence Strike." Y. P. R. U. meeting at 7, led by Louis Weston. Stereopticon Lecture on American Unitarianism. All seats free. A cordial welcome to all.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick J. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 23 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8. A. M. Morning prayer, Litany and sermon at 10.30. Sunday school at 12 M. Evening Prayer and Address at 7.30.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin pastor. Residence 52 Brook street. Telephone Quincy 378-2. Miss Marion Nevers, Deaconess Morning Worship at 10.45. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "Christ's Touch and Its Result" Sunday School at 12. Junior League at 3.30 in charge of the Deaconess. Epworth League at 6. Subject; "The Quality of God's Forgiveness." Leader, Miss Mildred Dunham. Evening Service at 7.00. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "The Man That's Had a Hard Battle to Fight."

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Corner Lincoln and Winthrop avenues. Morning worship at 10.45. Sermon by Rev. Edward A. Norton. Sunday School at 12.15. Christian Endeavor at 6.00.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by Pastor. Subject: "The Christian's Three-fold Standing in View of his acceptance of Christ." Sunday School at 12.15. Junior Endeavor at 3.30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Evening service at 7. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Regeneration or the New Birth." Everyone invited to these Services.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor 10.45 morning worship. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "The Lack of Consideration." Sunday school at 12 6.00, Y. P. S. C. E. 7 P. M. Evening service. Rev. Seeley Bryant of Winthrop will speak on Grenfel in Labrador. Public welcome.

ATLANTIC M. E. CHURCH—Rev. H. E. Dorr, pastor. 10.45 Morning services, preaching by minister, subject: "The abundant supply." 12, Sunday school. Bible class. 7, Evening service, subject: "Finding ourselves."

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square

If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

Aviator Instantly Killed

Berlin, March 16.—Lieut. Hirth, one of the foremost aviators in Germany, was instantly killed at Feltow, a suburb, when his Wright biplane capsized at a height of 1000 feet.

Broker Fails For $193,000

Chicago, March 16.—Edwin D. Ruggles, a broker with offices here, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gave his liabilities as $193,065 and assets $177,233.

What This Bank Is For

It is for you! To safeguard your funds to give you the facilities for quick, efficient money-transactions; to help you with your accounting; to furnish you the various kinds of financial and business information that you may desire—to loan you money for legitimate business purposes. Call in and ask questions.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Pretty
Desirable
Attractive
New Spring Furniture FOR LESS

We've been searching far and wide, early and late, factory after factory, these past weeks for good, reliable Furniture we could buy for less.

We've been successful. Very. Values as strong as the spring sun will be offered you in our Spring Opening Sale which begins Wednesday next. Wait for it. Don't buy a single thing until you see the prices we are quoting in our big 4-page descriptive sale circular now being printed. Send for it NOW. It's free.

Some of the very exceptional, way-out-of-the-ordinary, Real Bargains are:

Tapestry Rugs, Pretty, serviceable, 9 x 12	$8.75
Velvet Rugs, Heavy, rich, reliable, 9 x 12	12.75
Mattresses, Standard Felt,	5.95
Oak Dining Tables, 6 foot extension	9.98
$20 Rockers, Oak or mission, leather uphol.	13.75

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connection 14-tf

Dimness of Vision---
ZOROID LENSES

This may come from either of two causes—an improper examination or error in the prescription, or failing eyesight thro' which your glasses may have outlived their usefulness—a stronger lens being required.

We do not preach calamity—but impaired vision is misery. At a charge of from $1.00 to $3.00 for our authoritative examination your eye problem is reduced to a certainty, which may be corrected by ZOROID LENSES.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 16-20

Advertise In The Ledger

The Social Realm

A reception is to be tendered Miss Jennie M. Purchase by the Quincy Asosciated Charities on Tuesday afternoon from three until five o'clock at the clubhouse of the Quincy Women's club. Mrs. Chandler W. Smith is in charge of the arrangements and Mrs. N. G. Nickerson of the tea. Miss Purchase is the new general secretary of the Associated Charities and enters upon the work April first.

* * *

The Sevsters club was entertained Tuesday evening by Miss Gertude Hill of Walker street. An enjoyable evening was spent, many games being enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hewitson of Dorchester are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Hewitson, formerly lived in Wollaston and Mrs. Hewitson will be remembered as Mary Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson of South Central avenue.

* * *

The musical program given at the meeting of the Adams and Cranch Parents' and Teachers' associations, Wednesday evening was one of the finest ever given in this city. Mrs. Evans in her piano selectons, Mrs. Slade and Mr. Green in their solos and duets, accompanied by Miss Gertrude King, gave a musical treat not soon to be forgotten by those who enjoyed it. The officers of both associations feel indebted to Mrs. George E. Pfaffman, who presented this fine talent.

* * *

Miss Emily C. Wild of Hancock street is the guest of relatives in Canton over the week end.

* * *

Mrs. Carl R. Sheppard of Bridge street is the guest of relatives in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

* * *

The Billiken club was entertained Tuesday evening by Miss Georgiana Priest of Atlantic street. The evening was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

* * *

Miss Eleanor S. Roberts, entertained the "Never Parts" Monday evening at her home on Lincoln avenue. During the holiday season the meetings were discontinued and this was the first one of the year.

* * *

S. T. MacQuarrie left Friday to join Mrs. MacQuarrie and son Lawrence for a week end visit in Leominster.

* * *

Miss Catherine S. Parker of Dorchester was the guest this week of her mother, Mrs. John Whitney Hall of Hancock street.

* * *

Lysander S. Richards and daughter Miss Eleanor Richards who have been spending the winter in Florida, have returned to Washington, D. C., for the spring months.

* * *

Edward A. Lyman of Warwick was the guest the first of the week of Mrs. Percy L. Davidson of Marion street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson returned Tuesday from the South, where they spent a month at the beautiful hotel, Hampton Terrace at Atlanta, Georgia. They report their usual enjoyable time, with much gaiety and pleasant reunions of many former friends and acquaintances met in previous trips.

* * *

Miss Gladys Hill is enjoying a short visit with Mrs. George W. Hill of Walker street.

* * *

Miss Alice G. Eldridge of Rockland in whose musical career many Quincy people have been interested, is about returning to this country after a few years' absence in Germany. Miss Eldridge expects to land in New York, March 25th. A reception has been planned for her in Boston on April tenth by the MacDowell club at The Tuilleries.

* * *

"The Ballads of the Scottish border," was the subject Thursday morning of Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney"s lecture for which Mrs. Harry McDonough opened her home on Prospect avenue.

* * *

Rev. and Mrs. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson are to be given a reception by the parish of First church on Friday evening of next week, when it is hoped all attendants at the church will be present to get acquainted with their new pastor and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson are at Hotel Bellevue, Boston, for the present but hope to locate in Quincy soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell of Water street entertained several friends, Thursday, the occasion being the celebration of their little daughter's first birthday. She received many pretty and useful presents. Games were played and all left at a late hour after spending a most enjoyable time.

* * *

George Stone is pleasantly situated in Portland, the "Rose City" or Oregon.

* * *

Miss Elsie Verega of Neponset spent a few days this week with her cousin, Miss Mildred Hadlock, of Webster street.

* * *

Mrs. Arthur P. Homer of Warren avenue entertained a few friends, Thursday evening at Bridge whist. Souvenirs were given to Mrs. George W. Glover and Charles Breslin.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Oxford, 8 River street, have completed plans to spend the larger part of the summer in England visiting London and the neighboring towns. They leave the latter part of May.

* * *

Mr. George A. Kline of the engine drafting room of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., and Miss Isabelle J. Bill, formerly of Quincy, now of Dorchester have announced to a few of their Quincy friends that they are to be married today. The wedding will be a quiet affair only the immediate relatives being present. Rev. Edward Norton of this city will officiate. They will make their home in Dorchester.

* * *

The engagement is announced of Miss Lillian Gertrude Green to Henry Stedman Arnold, both of Middle street, Braintree.

* * *

Rt. Rev. Theodore P. Thurston, D. D., Bishop of Eastern Oklahoma, will preach and administer the rite of confirmation at St. Chrysostom's church on the evening of March 28,. Bishop Thurston is one of those appointed to do the work of the diocese during the absence of Rt. Rev. William Lawrence. Bishop and Mrs. Lawrence have recently been enjoying a trip up the Nile in J. Pierpont Morgan's luxuriously appointed dahabeyah.

* * *

Mrs. Lewis Bill and daughter, Helen went to their home in Fitchburg today after spending the week with Mrs. John H. Whitehead of Kemper street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kennedy of Botolph street have gone on a trip to Bermuda, and will return in the spring.

* * *

A pretty dance, well attended in spite of the storm was that given by the Junior class, Braintree high school in Monatiquot hall last evening. The party was called the "Emerald Hop" and was under the auspices of the whole class as a committee with Lowell A. Norris as the chairman. The matrons were Mrs. F. Edgar Norris, Mrs. Ralph L. Wiggin and Mrs. F. C. Mann. Among those present were, Dr. L. Paul Chapin, principal of the high school, Superintendent R. L. Wiggin and several of the teachers. All present pronounced it a very pleasant evenng.

* * *

Mrs. E. C. Follett who has been spending the winter in Washington, D. C. is returning to her home on Putnam street the first of the week.

BLOW AT COMMERCE COURT

Attack on Administration Seen In Vote to Abolish It

Washington, March 16.—The United States commerce court has received its first blow—a blow not unexpected. By a strict party vote of 11 to 8, the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce voted to abolish the court.

Following Attorney General Wickersham's plea for the continuance of this judicial body, the decision of the committee is taken by Washington to be a sharp criticism of the administration and the administration's railway policy. It is expected that the real contest for the court's existence will be waged in the senate.

OKLAHOMA FOR ROOSEVELT

Republicans Will Send Solid Delegation For the Colonel

Guthrie, Okla., March 16.—At the end of an all-night session the Republican state convention of Oklahoma voted to send a solid delegation instructed for Theodore Roosevelt to the Chicago convention. Taft workers employed every tactic to get in a commanding voice in the proceedings. Outnumbered almost two to one, they failed.

Just at the close of the arduous work, one delegate, S. S. Denison, dropped dead. Excitement resulted in apoplexy.

ST. PATRICK'S DANCING PARTY

A private dancing party, which took the form of a St. Patrick's day function, was held in the assembly hall of the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum, last evening, and attended by a number of well-known young people. The affair was given by Misses Alice Coughlin, Mabel Coughlin and Irene Harvey.

Green was the predominating color of the pretty decorations. Green festoons and shamrocks being conspicuous in the artistic display, while the feature of the evening was the pretsentation to every one in attendance of a green favor, which was used during the "favor dance," the special number on the dance order.

An intermission took place shortly after ten, during which a collation was served, after which dancing was in order until midnight. The music was by McGivney's orchestra, and the matrons were Mrs. Michael E. Coughlin, Mrs. B. C. Leonard and Mrs. Jason L. Harvey.

Among those present were: Vera Leonard, Elva Leonard, May Harvey, Eleanor Files, Agnes Coughlin, Kate Coughlin, Edna Holyoke, Grace McGivney, Elizabeth McGivney, Alice Coughlin, Mabel Coughlin, Irene Harvey, Viola Files, Dorothy McDonald, Marion Phillips, Vivian Cowling, Edith Johnson, Mildred Hadlock, Hazel Watson. Louise Wilson, Fred Baird, Stewart Baird, Curtis Southwick, Walter Marcoscrup, Henry Trask, Samuel Prout, Joseph Betts, Ralph Prout, Wallace Coughlin, Fred DuPlessis, Edward Bullock, William Manning and Anthony Medros.

MONDAY NIGHT'S COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the City Council to be held Monday night is an important one. Aside from the report of the Eiance committee on the annual budget the famous order creating an advisory board will also come up for passage and a debate is sure to follow. At this meeting the Mayor will probably announce the six assistant assessors who start in the first of April to take the poll tax, etc., and it is also probable that a Registrar of Voters will be appointed as the term of Michael B. Geary expires April 1st. There are several other important matters due to come up at this meeting.

CELEBRATES THIS EVENING

The members of the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum will hold their second annual St. Patrick's observance this evening in the hall of the clubhouse. A fine menu has been arranged, while the entertainment to be furnished will also be of a high class order.

The committee in charge has been actively engaged during the past three weeks in preparation for the occasion and it is expected that the affair will be a most gala one.

Thomas F. Phillips, the president, will be the toastmaster and the principal address of the evening, a panegyric on "St. Patrick" will be delivered by Representative Timothy J. Ahern, of Roxbury. Representative Ahern is a graduate of Boston College and is conceded to be one of the most eloquent orators of the Massachusetts legislature.

Whirlwind Tour by Roosevelt

New York, March 16.—"Starting with next Wednesday, I'm going to try to stir things up in New York state. I shall make half a dozen speeches in this state before the primaries," is the announcement of Mr. Roosevelt.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

ENTERTAINMENT NETTED GOOD SUM

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Point Church Men's club held last night, a report was made by the sub-committee in charge of the entertainment given Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, and after accounts were balanced it was found that the club treasury would benefit in a handsome manner as the result of the two performances. From a financial point of view therefore, as well as histrionically, the play was an unqualified success, a fact which appears to be appreciated also in other quarters, as already the club has been requested to give a performance before one of the up town church organizations, while it is not improbable that it will be given before a Weymouth audience.

Too much cannot be said regarding the creditable manner in which all members of the cast entered into the spirit of their respective parts and special mention inadvertently omitted from our issue of yesterday, may be made of the excellent interpretation of "Hiram Small," the up country mill owners, given by G. C. Russell, for his initial bow before the footlights and considering that he only took hold of his part within three weeks of the first performance. Mr. Russell is to be congratulated on the showing he made. Not the less capable in her first appearance on the stage, was Miss Hattie May Lermond's conception of Mrs. Sleeper, wife of the long missing Capt. Sleeper and mother of his frolicsome children Becky and Teddy, whose mischievous pranks, added to the continued absence of their father, finally caused her dramatic collapse at the end of first act; a scene which well deserved the curtain call it received.

The annual banquet and ladies' night of the club will be held in the vestry on Wednesday evening, April 10th and among the guests of the evening will be the cast of "Our Folks" and the club orchestra. The latter organization has became one of the most attractive features at the club meetings and it is expected that their playing at the banquet will contribute in great measure to the enjoyment of the evening.

The following committee has the arrangements in hand W. E. Lee, H. E. Bonney and W. F. Perry, and a gathering even more enjoyable than that of last year is confidently looked forward to.

QUINCY CHORAL SOCIETY.

The Quincy Choral Society has issued a circular this week giving full details of the Music Festival of Tuesday, April 9. There will be an afternoon orchestral concert at which a chorus of High School Scholars will sing, under the direction of Miss Emma A. Perkins, supervisor of music in the public schools. In the evening Gounod's Faust will be sung by the Choral Society Chorus of one hundred voices, under conductor Osbourne McConathy, and assisted by Miss Estelle Patterson of Boston as Margarita, Miss Viola Van Orden of Boston as Siebel, Mr. G. E. Rasely of Worcester as Faust, Mr. Willard Flint of Boston as Mephistopheles, Mr. Loyal Phillips Shawe of Providence as Valentine and the Boston Festival Orchestra, Mr. John W. Crowley, principal.

At the afternoon concert a delightful program will be rendered by the first players of the orchestra, who have just returned from a Canadian tour where they gave many concerts of this character. Some of the choicest selections in their repetoire will be included in the Choral program which has been especially planned to bring an hour of the very best music to the many in our city who find it difficult to attend evening affairs. It is hoped that every music lover in our city will find time to enjoy some part of the Festival, and thus by expressed interest and appreciation encourage the society to plan a similar season next year. The backing of the guarantors makes it possible to offer tickets at the usual low prices adopted by the society, for the aim is, as it has been from the beginning, to keep these splendid concerts within the reach of all.

GIVES $15,000,000 CREDIT

Boynton Bicycle Railroad Bill Passes Massachusetts House

Boston, March 16.—The famous Boynton bicycle railroad bill was noon by a vote of 102 to 78. The bill noon by a voteof 102 to 78. The bill was substituted for the adverse report of the committee on railroads.

The bill provides that the state shall extend credit to his proposition to the extent of $5,000,000. It lacked but one vote in the senate last year. It was President Treadway's vote that killed it.

ENTERTAINS ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Sina Hedlund entertained about thirty friends, at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. John Lindholme, 56 Cranch street, Friday evening, in observance of her eighteenth birthday.

Music and games were participated in until ten o'clock when the company was invited to the dining room, which was gaily decorated for the occasion, with flowers and streamers of crepe paper, in pink and white. The principal feature of the table, was a large and very daintily frosted cake, decorated with eighteen flags. Ice cream, cake, confectionery and fruit were served.

Miss Hedlund, the hostess, was assisted in serving by Misses Clara Bergfors, Helen Peterson and Alice Lindholme.

After refreshments games were resumed and a very delightful time was enjoyed. Miss Hedlund was the recipient of many lovely gifts and "many happy returns of the day" were extended to her.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

16—Annual Meet—Q. Tennis Club.
16—Dance—Wol. Unitarian Church Helpers.
17—Installation Rev. A. L. Hudson—First Church.
18—Meeting—Charitable Tens Circle.
19—Supper—Dormitory Men—Y. M. C. A.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—C. H. Johnson LeLcture—Wol. School.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
19—Opening Entertainment—Q. Y. Club.
19—Reception to Gen. Sec. of Asso. Charities—3 to 5—Q. W. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

R. F. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Lamb, Poultry and Beef

Foy carries good meats. You'll hear this in every household that has had dealings with our store. There is a reason for it. We buy only the best and a great deal of it we SELL AT PRICES THAT OBTAIN ELSEWHERE FOR INFERIOR MEATS. One trial of our meats will convince you of this.

California Navel Oranges, Elephant Brand 2 dozen 25c
Fancy Baldwin Apples, peck 40c
White Potatoes, peck 35c

For Lent
3 pkgs Gilded Dome Threaded Salt Fish 25c

For St. Patrick's Day
Mason Jar of Selected Olives 25c
The Pastry Flour that made this store famous
FOY'S SPECIAL PASTRY FLOUR 75c
Superb Brand Flour, bag 85c
Keystone Rye Flour
Keystone Rye Meal
15c package

Everyday Wants
Kirkman's Soap 6 bars 27c
Kirkman's Soap Powder 3 pkgs 10c
Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk 3 cans 25c
Kennedy's Graham Crackers, 3 pkgs 25c
Hecker's Buckwheat Large pkg 15c
Fancy Canned Spinach 15c
Tomato Soup 3 cans 25c

R. E. FOY & CO.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special $1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One" Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

CHOIR LEADER HIGHLY ESTEEMED

The many Quincy friends of Madam Ellen Beale Morey, organist and choir leader of Bethany church, will be pleased to read of the high esteem in which she is held in the aristocratic old town of Greenfield, on the Connecticut river, where she has been teaching a large class of pupils and conducting concerts during the past winter.

The following account of one of her concerts is clipped from the Springfield Republican:—

"The entertainment given by the Greenfield woman's club Tuesday afternoon in high school hall, under the direction of Mme Beale Morey of Boston, was a success from every point of view. It began with a talk on the characteristics of the romantic school, and was profusely illustrated from the works of its composers. The chorus numbers were exceptionally well rendered, and it seemed impossible that such sonority and volume of tone came from so small a body of singers. The Schubert psalm calls for excellent vocal equipment and thorough training, and it evidently had both. The Schumann chorus, 'Gypsy Life,' was equally well rendered, the introduction of castanets and tambourine (played by Miss Hazelton) contributing just the touch of color and wildness necessary to the scene. Miss Dorothy Wood gave an excellent rendering of the Chopin nocturne, but it remained for her in the Schubert impromptu to show the stuff she is made of. She came near real greatness in her handling of this masterpiece, especially in the exposition of the middle movement. Mr. Walsh has a voice of large possibility, and tenors are few and far between who have either his range or power. To say that he did the Erl King creditably would mean much, but he did more than that. At times he was impressive, and always sincere, while the splendid accompaniment furnished by Mme Morey would have inspired and made a less fine voice appear to advantage. Miss Louise Arnold lent additional charm to her group of Schubert songs by her pure, flutelike voice, and even legato, and the Rubinstein quartet was one of the best things on the program. Mr. Willis sang a Rubinstein song too infrequently seen on programs. 'The Asra,' which showed the beautiful quality of his voice as well as its wide range. The talk with which Mme. Morey prefaced the musical illustrations was doubly interesting from the fund of personal narrative and incident with which it was interspersed. The character studies were poetical in the extreme, and her playing of the Chopin prelude, something to be remembered. Taken altogether, the writer has not heard an entertainment so well proportioned and rounded out in a long time, and the president of the club, Mrs. Titus, has reason to be proud of what she has accomplished."

—Whatever the results at the town elections. there is no call for sympathy. In the towns, as nowhere else, the people rule themselves, and if the conduct of affairs does not suit them, they have only themselves to blame. That is one of the luxuries of town government.—Brockton Enterprise.

$2100

This is the price of a Double House for sale near the Wollaston Station.

Rents for $22 per month

$300 Cash secures this splendid investment property.

Will you Investigate?

RICKER 1416 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

24

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE

NEW SPRING SUITS

$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Another reason why Kryptoks are steadily displacing cemented bifocals is:

All cemented bifocals have a patch at the lower end of the glass, which looks queer and oldish. Kryptoks have no such patch, nor anything odd looking.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	52 degrees
Mar. 16, 1911,	28 degrees
Mar. 16, 1910,	48 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Rev. Dillon Bronson, D. D. is to deliver an illustrated lecture on Oberammergau and The Passion Play on April 4 at the Atlantic M. E. church.

Rev. George Hodges, D. D., Dean of the Episcopal Theological school, Cambridge will preach at St. Chrysostom's church, Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

Pay Director, James A. Ring, U. S. N., retired, is to address the Junior Laymen of First church at their meeting on Monday evening.

Rev. William Hyde, rector Trinity church, Weymouth will preach at the weekly Thursday evening Lenten service at St. Chrysostom's church.

A unique exchange is planned for Sunday evening by Rev. T. W. Davison of the Memorial church and Rev. Seelye Bryant of the Winthrop Congregational church. Both ministers are exchanging, also their choirs and organists. Mr. Bryant will have in addition to his girls' vested choir, Ludwig C. Fichtner, baritone and Mrs. H. L. C. Barnard, soprano in solos and duets. This arrangement will give Atlantic people a musical treat. Mr. Fichtner was the soloist at the organ recital recently held in the church. Mr. Bryant will preach on Dr. Grenfell in Labrador.

The whist party to have been given by Maple Lodge K. & L. of H. on Wednesday evening, March 20, has been indefinitely postponed.

The S. Agnes Parker Sewing Circle will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Glover in the Adams building at one o'clock sharp.

B. H. Bain purchased an automobile at the recent show, which Mrs. Bain is learning to operate.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society of Memorial church was held Wednesday afternoon. It was one of the most interesting meetings of the year as Mrs. Harry Read of Squantum street gave a very interesting description of her travels to the Orient, from the sailing from New York harbor to her return to it. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Harding, Mrs. Spencer Apollonio, Mrs. Harvey Holt, Mrs. Harry Wells, Mr. Elijah Hall, Miss Maud Read and Miss Annie Harding.

Special Sunday evening services will be held in the Universalist church until after Easter. Next Sunday, Rev. Rufus H. Dix of North Weymouth will preach.

The service of installation of Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, D. D., as minister of First church will be held Sunday evening at eight o'clock in the church. Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington Street church Boston, will preach and neighboring and local preachers will take part in the service.

The Get-To-Gether club of Memorial church meets next Wednesday evening in the vestry for a 'Left-Handed Pie social," in charge of George Deans, Henry Hallet and William Buckley.

VISITING NURSING.

The work of visiting nursing in our city under the auspices of the Quincy Women's club has grown to such an extent that a second nurse has become a necessity and one has been assisting the past three months. The two nurses last month made 654 calls and still there is much work to be done.

The committee, Mrs. Murray chairman, has decided that a second nurse is needed right along and has secured for the place Miss Bessie Pierson of Marblehead, a graduate of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The suite of rooms at the Women's clubhouse have been renovated and furnished to accommodate two nurses and they have very pleasant quarters. Any information regarding the work, or services of the nurses may be had of Mrs. Albert N. Murray.

☞Bread and milk. But use PRATT'S BREAD if you want the best.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poinsettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY

Pure Food Expert Relinquishes Federal Government Position

© 1911, by American Press Association.

AFTER YEARS OF FRICTION

Wiley Resigns as Chief Chemist of Federal Government

A CONFERENCE WITH WILSON

Washington, March 16.—That Dr. Harvey W. Wiley will tear open the department of agriculture and expose the influences which have been at work to defeat the operation of the pure food law and that he will urge the establishment of a department of public health are expected by friends of the doctor, who has resigned as chief of the bureau of chemistry.

Dr. Wiley first will take the lecture platform and tell the people of the obstacles put in the way of proper enforcement of the pure food law. He had an engagement with a regular lecture bureau beginning in July, and meantime he will do some public speaking. Wiley denies that he has accepted any editorial position with which recent rumor has connected him, although he says he has several offers under consideration.

"I went to the office of the secretary with my resignation in my hand," said Wiley. "I came to the conclusion that I would present it sooner than I expected. I shall turn over the bureau to Dr. Doolittle. I have recommended a successor to myself whom I do not care to name. I do not know whether he will be selected."

Discussing the proposed health department, Wiley declared he was not a candidate for head of it. It is understood that H. A. Barnard of the Indiana state food commission is Wiley's choice as his successor. Wiley expects that Doolittle will remain on the board.

"After thirty-eight years of public service, nine in Indiana and twenty-nine in the department of agriculture, I think I have had about enough," concluded Wiley.

Dr. Wiley's resignation came as a dramatic climax to a long conference he had with Secretary Wilson in the latter's pivate office. The secretary would make no statement of the case otherwise than that Wiley had handed in his resignation. No reasons were given, he said, nor did Wiley outline his plans for the future.

Despite the fact that rumors had been current for several weeks that the government's pure food expert was about to leave the service, the actual news of his resignation came as a big surprise to official Washington. To all resignation reports Wiley had made emphatic denial.

It is known that Wiley for a long time had been unhappy in his connection with the department of agriculture. He has asserted that he has been hampered in the administration of his office and harassed by the other officials.

Merit, Old Age and Respectability

1810-1911

The liniment that has proven its virtues by 101 years of use. Has cured and healed millions.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE Liniment

Used inwardly for Coughs, Colds, Cholera Morbus, Sore Throat, Diarrhœa, Cramps, etc.

Outwardly for Swellings, Sprains, Cuts, Rheumatism, Lame Back and Wounds.

25c and 50c Bottles

I. S. JOHNSON & CO.
Boston, Mass.

GENERAL MANAGER PLAN

(Continued from Page One.)

work now performed by the several standing committees of the Council, except the finance, ordinance and auditing committees. The General Manager shall discharge such other duties as may from time to time be required of him by the Council.

5. The General Manager before entering upon the duties of his office shall execute a bond before the Clerk of the Council in the penalty of $5000 conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office.

"This ordinance, as will be seen, is brief and simple, yet broad in its general terms, and can easily be expanded should our needs demand it. In discussing the merits of this system I will compare it with that of a private industrial corporation, in order that the Staunton Plan or One Man Government as some of our sister cities have termed it, may be more fully understood and appreciated.

"The Staunton plan is not a one man system of municipal government, but is a democratic government for the people and by the peole'. Neither the people nor the Council have surrendered any of their sovereign rights; they have simply created an office known as that of a General Manger, a paid employee, who devotes his whole time and attention to the business of the city and who is responsible to the Council and the people, instead of intrusting the affairs of the city to the committees of the council. For each councilman thinks that the other members of the committee have more time than he has for looking after the business of the city, and each committeeman is of the same opinion—always willing to let the other fellow do it— and as a result that which is every one's business is no one's business, and the poor old city gets along the best it can to the detriment of the taxpayers in particular and the people in general.

"We have elected a General Manager, to attend to the business of the city and produce dividends for the taxpayer by keeping his taxes down to the mininum rate and giving him value received for every dollar he pays into the municipal treasury.

"The Mayor is the official head of the municipality and corresponds to the president of a private corporation. The General Manager of a municipality is the executive and business manager, whose duties correspond in every particular with those of the general manager of a private corporation.

"The Council adopts the ordinances, fixes the rate of taxation and formulates the policy, and the Mayor and General Manager sees that they are carried out. Under our constitution the Mayor has entire charge of the police and fire departments. The General Manager, however, does all of the purchasing for these departments on a requisition from the chiefs. We retain the Finance, Ordinance and Auditing committees, as their duties require very little time and attention, and serve as a check to the General Manager.

"As we have had this system in operation for about three years and passed the experimental stage, it will naturally be asked, What do the people think of it, and how do they like it? What have been the results?. It has not only been a complete success in every particular, but has produced results in a shorter time than was anticipated by its most enthusiastic supporters.

"I believe it is the general opinion that under the old system we never did one-half the improvements as we have been able to do under the new system, particularly in the matter of streets, side-walks, sewers and extending our water mains.

"Under the old system our bonded debt was due to bad business methods, it was the custom to allow free rein to the Council Committees and usually wind up at the end of the year with a deficit. This would be repeated each year until the deficit grew to such proportions that it could be no longer carried as a floating debt, and would be taken up an issue of bonds of the thirty year period kind.

"Since the adoption of our new plan, more generally known as "The Staunton Plan" we have not increased our bonded debt nor raised our tax rate. By reason of improvements in streets, sidewalks, sewers, water, and electric lights real estate values have increased fully 25 per cent. We have, under the new system, constructed 23,200 lineal feet of macadam streets, 3700 of which is surfaced with asphalt binder; 15,100 lineal feet of granolithic sidewalks; 4900 lineal feet of concrete gutters; 14,300 lineal feet of sewers; 14,800 lineal feet of water mains increased the electric and fire alarm service at least 10 per cent; improved our park (consisting of 115 acres) 50 per cent; increased our police force, and raised the salaries and wages of a large number of officials and employees whose salaries and wages were small; established the office of City Health Officer and increased the appropriation for schools 16 2-3 per cent.

"I will give you an illustration of saving in the matter of granolithic paving:— Under the old system we were paying from $1.75 to $2.25 per sq. yd. for granolithic work which was done by contract; under the new system we are doing a much better class of work with hired labor under the supervision of our General Manager (who is a practical engineer) for from 90 cents to $1.25 per sq. yd.

Under the old system the responsibility was distributed among the heads of the various departments and there was really no responsible head. Under the new system the responsibility is centered in the general manager, each department reports to him and works in harmony as a unit, and when there is unity there is strength where there is division there is friction.

This Staunton Plan sounds quite a little like the way in which our town fathers supposed that the Quincy city charter would work when it was adopted in 1889. Mayor Porter said in his inaugural address before the first City Council "the charter under which we are to act, has many theories; their value will be determined by time. No New England city has a charter like our own. Briefly stated, the mayor is held directly responsible to the citizens in conducting the affairs of his office. The Council is the legislative body of our city."

For 23 years the city has been governed by this charter. In 1889 the tax rate was $10.80, today we are discussing a $25.00 rate, with a debt amounting to over $2,000,000, and still increasing, and unpaid tax loans reaching towards the $200,000 mark.

The theory of our charter is excellent, but no mayor has cared to go against the Council's will, and liberally veto the appropriation orders which are constantly pouring forth from that body. From the very start of our city government the Council has overshadowed every mayor and commissioner of public works and dominated the city's affairs from top to bottom. The result of 23 years of this kind of rule is now before us.

If Quincy is to preserve itself from division into smaller towns I believe that the first step to be accomplished is the abolishment of the City Council, or its reduction to five members with nominal powers. The single headed executive is the only uniformly successful plan of getting business done, either on a small or great scale. It is successful in the great railroad systems, factories and all kinds of large business enterprises. The German municipal form of government is among the best in the world and the mayor of the city under that plan has practically the powers of the general manager of a corporation. Make our mayor a mayor in fact as well as in name, pay him $10,000 per year, for a three year term, put him under $100,000 surety bonds, place him in absolute command of our annual expenditure and then see where the tax rate will be at the end of his term.

JAMES S. WHITING.
Wollaston, March 14, 1912.

'Stains? They're Easily Taken Out,' says Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Fidget—"Do you know, Anty, I am getting to be a regular crank. I watch every egg-mark or stain that the children make on the napkins and table cloth, and I get so nervous I can't enjoy my meals."

Anty Drudge—"Don't mind the stains and above all don't get nervous. Just rub Fels-Naptha soap on the spots, soak in cool or lukewarm water and rub lightly, and your napkins and table-cloths will be spotless."

The housewife is quite likely to be judged by the appearance of the wash as it hangs on the line. It is the one part of the housework that is all out of doors; all in the eye of your neighbors.

"How nice that wash looks" is a coveted washday saying. If you knew—it was either Fels-Naptha soap or too much work that gave the nice look. Drudgery may give it; Fels-Naptha soap will give it without drudgery.

Fels-Naptha makes the clothes clean and pure, because it DISSOLVES every particle of dirt.

You first soap the clothes, roll and place them in cool or lukewarm water for half an hour. You then find that only light rubbing is needed to make them pure as driven snow.

And it's as good for every other part of the household work as for the wash. A trial will convince you. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

Woman's Best Help to the good health which comes from regular action of the organs of digestion and elimination—to freedom from pain and suffering—to physical grace and beauty—is the harmless, vegetable remedy

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

DIMOCK & PATTEN

Carpenters and Builders

Plans furnished and estimates given.

All work personally and promptly attended to.

133 PROSPECT AVENUE

WOLLASTON

☞ Telephone 1047 W Quincy.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.

Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

Mortgagee's Sale

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by James Muller of Quincy in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Abbie E. Stadley of said Quincy, dated, Dec. 20, 1910 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1164 Page 604 for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described on Saturday, March 30, 1912, at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the building thereon situated in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic, being lot numbered two hundred three (203) and plan of Norfolk Downs by Charles D. Elliott dated April 1892 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, plan book 14, plan 649 and bounded and described as follows: Northerly by Freeman street forty-nine (49) feet; Southerly by lot 202 on said plan one hundred (100) feet, Southwesterly by the land of Taylor Heirs so-called, forty-two and 37-100 (42.37) feet; and Northwesterly by lot numbered two hundred four on said plan one hundred and 22-100 (100.22) feet containing according to said plan, forty-five hundred sixty-eight and 5-10 (4568.5) square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to James Muller by Alice E. Pendleton by deed recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds Book 1148, page 185. Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $2500. and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be.

$100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

ABBIE E. STUDLEY,
Mortgagee.
3t-Mar 2, 9, 16

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Bridget M. Connelly, Wilton A. Dunham and James R. Murphy of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Thomas A. Sweeney and Charles H. Sweeney of Maynard, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

Two certain parcels of land situate in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth, being lots numbered 65 and 66 as shown on a plan made by H. T. Whitman and E. W. Branch, dated March 14, 1896 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book of Plans 19.

Lot numbered 65 is bounded northerly by lot 87 on said plan, now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 66 on said plan now the property of Thomas A. and Charles H. Sweeney 97.13 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet, westerly by lot 64 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Bridget M. Connelly 95.24 feet, and containing in all 4809 square feet.

Lot numbered 66 is bounded northerly by lot numbered 86 on said plan now or formerly belonging to James R. Murphy 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 67 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 99.02 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet and westerly by lot 65 on said plan now belonging to said petitioners 97.13 feet, and containing in all 4904 square feet.

Petitioners claim as appurtenant to the above described land rights in Sea Street, a public way on which said land is situated.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court, to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the first day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
(Seal.)
3t Mar. 9-16-23

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Thomas P. Healy, late of Quincy, Mass., in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

THOMAS F. HEALY, Adm.
(Address.)
346 Adams Street.
Feb. 27, 1912. 3t 2, 9, 16

(ADVERTISE.)

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balnam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER VII.

On the River.

Betty stood under a dripping umbrella in the midst of a downpour.

Just arrived by the four-horse coach that plied regularly between Washington and Georgetown, she had found the long board platform beside the canal crowded with her fellow passengers. Suddenly she became aware of a tall, familiar figure moving through the crowd. It was Bruce Carrington. At the same moment he saw her, and with a casual air that quite deceived her, approached.

"You're leaving tonight?" he asked.

"Yes—isn't it miserable the way it rains? And why are they so slow—why don't they hurry with that boat?"

"It's in the last lock now," explained Carrington, and gathering up Betty's hand luggage, he helped her aboard.

By the time they had reached Wheeling, Betty had quite parted with whatever superficial prejudice she might have had concerning river-men. This particular one was evidently a very nice river-man, an exception to his kind. He made choice of the steamer on which she should continue her journey, and thoughtfully chose The Naiad—a slow boat.

"I haven't a thing to offer her—this is plain madness of mine!" he kept telling himself, and then the expression of his face would become grim and determined. No more of the river for him—he'd get hold of some land and go to raising cotton; that was the way money was made.

Slow as The Naiad was, the days passed much too swiftly for him. When Memphis was reached their friendly intercourse would come to an end. There would be her brother, of whom she had occasionally spoken—he would be pretty certain to have the ideas of his class.

The days, like any other days, dwindled. The end of it all was close at hand. Another twenty-four hours and Carrington reflected there would only be good-by to say.

"We will reach New Madrid tonight," he told her. They were watching the river, under a flood of yellow moonlight.

Carrington, with his back against a stanchion, watched her discontentedly.

"You'll be mighty glad to have this over with, Miss Malroy—" he said at length, with a comprehensive sweep toward the river.

"Yes—shan't you?" and she opened her eyes questioningly.

"No," said Carrington with a short laugh, drawing a chair near hers and sitting down.

Betty, in surprise, gave him a quick look, and then as quickly glanced away from what she encountered in his eyes. As she looked, suddenly pale points of light appeared on a distant headland.

"Is that New Madrid—Oh, is it, Mr. Carrington?" she cried eagerly.

"I reckon so," but he did not alter his position.

"But you're not looking!"

"Yes, I am—I'm looking at you. I reckon you'll think me crazy, Miss Malroy—presumptuous and all that—but I wish Memphis could be wiped off the map, and that we could go on like this for ever!"

"You mustn't talk so—I am nothing to you—"

"Yes, you are. You're everything to me," said Carrington doggedly. "You shall love me—" She was powerless in his embrace. She felt his breath on her cheek, then he kissed her. Suddenly his arms fell at his side; his face was white. "I was a brute to do that—Betty, forgive me! I am sorry—no, I can't be sorry!"

They were alongside the New Madrid wharf now, and a certain young man who had been impatiently watching The Naiad's lights ever since they became visible crossed the gang-plank with a bound.

"Betty—why in the name of goodness did you ever choose this tub?" said the new-comer.

"Charley!"

Carrington stepped back. This must be the brother who had come up the river from Memphis to meet her—but her brother's name was Tom! He looked this stranger—this Charley—over with a hostile eye, offended by his good looks, his confident manner, in which he thought he detected an air of ownership, as if—certainly he was holding her hands longer than was necessary. An instant later, when Betty, remembering, turned to speak to him, his place by the rail was deserted.

All that day Hannibal was haunted by the memory of what he had heard and seen at Slosson's tavern. More than this, there was his terrible sense of loss, and the grief he could not master. Marking the course of the road westward, he clung to the woods, where his movements were as stealthy as the very shadows themselves.

"You Shall Be My Guest for the Night."

Presently, as he stumbled forward, he came to a small clearing in the center of which stood a log dwelling. The place seemed deserted.

Tilted back in a chair by the door of this house a man was sleeping. The hoot of an owl from a near-by oak roused him. He yawned and stretched himself, thrusting out his fat legs and extending his great arms. Then becoming aware of that small figure which had stolen up the path as he slept and now stood before him in the uncertain light, he fell to rubbing his eyes with the knuckles of his plump hands.

"Who are you?" he demanded.

"I'm Hannibal Wayne Hazard," said the boy. The man quitted his chair.

"Well—I am glad to know you, Hannibal Wayne Hazard. I am Slocum Price—Judge Slocum Price sometime major-general of militia and ex-member of congress, to mention a few of those honors my fellow countrymen have thrust upon me." He made a sweeping gesture with his two hands outspread and bowed ponderously.

(To be Continued.)

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John Masson et al to William S. Williams, dated June 10, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 738, Page 324, which mortgage was duly assigned to Robert J. Teasdale by assignment dated August 6, 1907, and recorded as aforesaid, Book 1068, Page 340 for breach of condition contained in said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Friday, March 29th, 1912, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the real estate and personal property described in said mortgage deed, to wit,—a certain parcel of land with the buildings, goods and chattels thereon situate in Quincy, Massachusetts, comprising the whole of lot numbered eighteen and a strip from the northerly side of the adjoining lot seventeen, ten (10) feet in width, said lots being three, bearing three numbers, upon a plan of lots at Penn's Hill, recorded with Norfolk Plans in Book 9, Plan 387 and bounded as follows:—Westerly on Brook Road for seventy (70) feet; northerly on lot numbered nineteen, for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; Easterly on lot thirteen and part of lot thirteen and part of lot fourteen for seventy (70) feet; and Southerly on lot seventeen for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; and containing eight thousand four hundred square feet of land. For a more particular description of said goods and chattels see two prior mortgages to said William S. Williams duly recorded. Also all machines, machinery, implements and improvements placed on or in said premises since said mortgages were written. Also another parcel of land containing 7200 square feet and being lot numbered Nineteen on said plan and bounded and described as per deed to John Masson & Co., from Trustees of the Adams R. E. Trust dated Oct. 18, 1894, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds libro 734, fol. 448. This last named parcel being subject to prior mortgage for $359.86.

Said property will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments and to all incumbrances of record.

Terms: $200 in cash at the time and place of sale and balance within ten (10) days at the office of my attorney.

Dated March 4th, 1912.

ROBERT J. TEASDALE,
Assignee and Present Holder of said Mortgage.
GEORGE W. ABELE, Atty., 87 Milk street, Boston.
3t 6-16-23

Books on Gardening.

Albee, H. R. Hardy plants for cottage gardens. (American nature series.)	464.18
Bailey, L. H., jr. Forcing-book: a manual of the cultivation of vegtables in glass houses. (Garden-craft series.)	462.51
Bailey, L. H., jr. Garden-making: suggestions for the utilizing of home grounds. (Garden-craft series.)	462.32
Bailey, L. H., jr. Horticulturists' rule-book: useful information for fruit-growers, truck-gardeners, florists, and others. (Garden-craft series.)	462.28
Bailey, L. H. jr. Manual of gardening: a practical guide to the making of home grounds and the growing of flowers, fruits, and vegetables for home use.	4 2.43
Bailey, L. H., jr. Nursery-book: a complete guide to the multiplication of plants.	462.30
Bailey, L. H., jr. Plant-breeding: five lectures upon the amelioration of domestic plants.	46:.39
Cook, E. T. Gardening for beginners: a handbook to the garden. ("Country life" library.)	462.1
Drury, W. D., ed. Book of gardening: a handbook of horticulture.	462.35
Earle, A. M. Old time gardens, newly set forth: a book of the sweet o' the year.	462.37
Earle, Mrs. C. M. Pot-pourri from a Surrey garden.	109.50
Ellwanger, G. H. Garden's story; or, pleasures and trials of an amateur gardener.	461.20
Ely, H. R. Practical flower garden.	464.33
Hunn, C. E., and Bailey, L. H., jr. Amateurs' practical garden-book: simplest directions for the growing of the commonest things about the house and garden.	462.33
In a Tuscan garden.	122.91
Jekyll, Gertrude. Home and garden: notes and thoughts, practical and critical, of a worker in both.	462.36
Lodeman, E. G. Spraying of plants: the history, principles, and practice of the application of liquids and powders to plants for the purpose of destroying insects and fungi.	462.74
Lounsberry, Alice. Gardens near the sea: making and care of gardens on or near the coast with reference also to lawns and grounds and to trees and shrubbery.	462.42
Massachusetts horticultural society. History of the Massachusetts horticultural society, 1829-1878.	67.00
Roberts, Harry. Book of old-fashioned flowers, and other plants which thrive in the open-air of England. (Handbook of practical gardening.)	461.28
Roe, E. P. Home acre.	635.7
Scott, Temple, comp. In praise of gardens.	522.80
Sedgwick, M. C., and Cameron, R. Garden month by month: describing the appearance, color, dates of bloom and cultivation of hardy plants, with additional lists of aquatics, vines, etc.	461.41
Skinner, C. M. Little gardens: how to beautify city yards and small country spaces.	465.11
Thomas, Mrs. Theodore. Our mountain garden.	462 40
Wright, M. O. Garden of a commuter's wife, recorded by a gardener.	303.43

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation

LINCOLN HIGHTS
East Braintree
25 min. by rail
Unsurpassed site for beautiful homes; restricted.
SEE
This Loveliest Spot
FRED O. ELLIS 276 Washington St.

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 1388-R
Jan.6-3m

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1-m

Have You Tried The
X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
148 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1 m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
86 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Surplus of 140 plaster board at a low price. Apply 458 Sea street, Adams Shore. 16-1t

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air. This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

Hoop-iron "Mainsprings for 25cts.," we don't keep; we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

WANTED

"OH GEE its great to meet a friend from your old home town." My work has made me many friends in this city and with God's help and honest dealings with my patrons I intend to gain as many more. MacMillan, Jeweler and Graduate Optician. 1463 Hancock street (Singer Shop.) Residence 837 Hancock street. 16-6t

WANTED — Monument draftsman and bookkeeper desires position as such, or foreman. First class on Mausoleum detail work, 10 years' experience. Address G. M. 96 Glencoe place, Quincy. 16-3t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED—Cooks, laundress, general work and experienced nursery maid, also housekeeper. Have only first-class families, best of wages, reliable office. 30 years' experience. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Tel. 485-W. 15-3t

WANTED—For spot cash, horses, wagons and harness suitable for produce business. No traders. Address or call 66 Chestnut St. Quincy. 14-3 t

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 500 new samples to choose from. Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.
Room 4 Johnson Bldg.
14-6t

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

READ LEDGER ADVS.

TO LET

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 16-6t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 13-6t

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon,
17 Granite street, Quincy.
13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

PLEASURE CAR SECTION
AUTO SHOW
COMMERCIAL VEHICLE SECTION
March 2-9 MECHANICS BUILDING March 13-20 BOSTON
COMMERCIAL VEHICLE EXHIBIT
Auspices Boston Commercial Motor Vehicle Ass'n, Incorporated
CLOSES WED. EV'NG, MARCH 20th
Open Every Day (except Sunday) 10 A.M. to 10.30 P.M.
"THE GREATEST EXHIBIT OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES EVER SHOWN IN THE WORLD"
ADMISSION, 50 CENTS
"THE ACKNOWLEDGED SHOWS OF THE YEAR"
EXHIBITS MORE COMPLETE DECORATIONS MORE SUPERB
DIRECTION CHESTER I. CAMPBELL

MISS SARAH E. DUNPHY
announces the opening of
THE CORSET SHOP
No. 8 MAPLE STREET, QUINCY
where will be found a full line of popular and up-to-date corsets and accessories. Corsets from $1 upwards in these well-known makes.
NEMO ROYAL WORCESTER
La GRECQUE BON TON
R & G WARNER BROS.
C-B A LA SPIRITE
All corsets carefully fitted, Ferris Waists for children, misses and women. Brassieres from 50c to $1.50. Also Hose Supporters Ruffles, etc.
15-2t

The JONES' SPECIAL HAT at $2.50
INSTEAD OF $3.00 IS THE BEST ADVERTISED LOW-PRICED HAT IN GREATER QUINCY
Years ago, when I started to advertise the Jones' Special Hat, I knew full well my money and time would be wasted if I did not give the value I advertised to give. You see I planned that if a fellow bought a JONES' SPECIAL he'd forever be a JONES' SPECIAL HAT customer as well as a JONES' SPECIAL "booster," because of the satisfaction it gave. And, believe me, I took good care to see the value was in the hat.
Now don't you think it would be a good investment for you to "try" one of these hats at $2.50 instead of $3. The variety of styles will insure a becoming hat, and my personal guarantee will insure your complete satisfaction.
Other grades, "The Best in the City," $2. Lamson & Hubbard, $3.
GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy
Mar. 14—3t

BRIEFS

Nathan Ames is to add an auto delivery car to the equipment of his hardware business.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank and family of Summer street are going to move to Atlantic where Mr. Cruikshank has obtained employment.

The Citizens Gas Light Co., on Granite street is showing two very attractive windows, demonstrating the new Reznor heaters,which are attracting the attention of passersby.

F. T. Appleton of Saville street is all stocked up with wall paper ready for the spring trade, and now is the time to get your papering done before the rush.

The Walther Men's Class will meet Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church: subject for discussion, "Paralyzed men in olden time and Now" A great company of men meet here every Sunday and men not in other similar classes are invited to attend this class.

BIRTHS

HEWITSON—In Dorchester, March 14 a daughter to Mr. Lyman and Mrs. Mary Patterson Hewitson, formerly of Wollaston.

DEATHS

BRACKETT—March 15, Annie Nason Brackett, widow of Foster H. Brackett, in her fiftieth year.
Funeral services at 10 Elm place, Braintree, on Sunday, March 17, at 2.30 P. M.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

BASE BALL LEAGUE.

The Braintree high school base ball schedule is as follows:

*April 2. Abington High at Abington.
April 16. Holbrook High at Holbrook.
April 19. Boston Y. M. C. A. at Braintree.
*April 22. Stoughton High at Braintree.
April 24. Natick High at Natick.
*April 26. Randolph High at Braintree.
April 30. Hingham High at Hingham.
May 3. Boston Y. M. C. A. at Braintree.
*May 6. Stoughton High at Stoughton.
May 8. Whitman High at Whitman.
May 10. Thayer Academy at Braintree.
May 14. Milton High at Milton.
May 17. Open.
*May 25. Stoughton High at Braintree.
May 28. Hingham High at Braintree.
May 29. Abington High at Braintree.
*June 4. Randolph High at Randolph.
*June 11. Holbrook High at Braintree.
*June 18. Randolph High at Randolph.
*June 25 Holbrook High at Holbrook.
*—Norfolk High School League game.

—An eagle was captured the other day in Lincoln park, Chicago, by four men, whom it fought successfully for an hour. One of them lost his thumb in the encounter. and had his share of the triumph further tarnished by being fined by a magistrate.

(ADVERTISE.)

QUINCY WINS LISTLESS GAME

Have a Picnic with Provincetown High School Boys

39 TO 9

Though the victory was nothing to their credit, from the standpoint of a fast and interesting game of basketball, the members of the Quincy High combination managed to register a 39 to 9 victory over the Provincetown High team in the gymnasium of the local school, yesterday afternoon. It was the first game away from home by the team from the extreme point of Cape Cod, and since its members showed a lack of experience in shooting baskets, thus making them appear as novices, the Granite City lads should have rolled up a much larger score.

To be frank in the matter, the game was anything but interesting. And even the failure of the home team, to exhibit that form which characterized their work earlier in the season, or even the form expected of any team that is possessed with players who pretend to know the game, made the contest still less interesting. Instead of viewing a basket-ball game, one would be inclined to think he was at a tea party, at one time, at a farce, or a friendship feast.

Evidently the visitors had never played on a regulation basket-ball court. At Provincetown, they are accustomed to play on a dance hall floor and consequently when they encountered Quincy High yesterday afternoon, the best they could do was to hold on to the local boys, for dear life, occasionally throwing the ball for a basket when in close proximity to it. This method of playing was a bane to referee La Rose, for where he had strictly enforced the rules, the contest would have proved nothing but fouls.

Only one player on the losing team, seemed acquainted with the game, and he was unable to show up to advantage with team mates who were seemingly at a loss to understand the first principles of the game. This player was Ventura, who, besides showing some ability as a player, demonstrated to the spectators that he was a true sport in all other departments.

As for the local boys' work in justice to Harry Staff, the centre, it must be said he played the same consistent game that has marked his endeavors all the season.The formidable centre of the local team was easily the star of the game, getting six baskets from the floor and nine on free tries. McDonald was substituted in the second half and also played well. as for the other players, the lethargic spirit with which they moved must be beradicated and if they expect to annex victories over their last two opponents of the season, Milton high and Franklin high, a vast improvement must be forthcoming over the article displayed in the last two games.

Some of the players, undoubtedly, think that the prestige acquired early in the season, is sufficient, but in this they are badly mistaken, as the Wellessly High game has shown beyond a doubt.

The last two games of the season should attract large numbers of spectators, and as the teams to be encountered are of the top notch calibre it is hoped members' of the Quincy High team will infuse their former enthusiasm and terminate the season in a blaze of glory.

The summary:—

QUINCY H S		PROVINCETOWN H S
Finlay rf		1b Rich
		1b Kenney
Chapman lf		rb Ellis
McDonald lf
Trask c		c Henderson
Holmes rb		lf Ventura
Johnson 1b		rf Allen
Baird 1b

Score, Quincy H. S. 39, Provincetown H. S. 9. Goals from floor, Trask 6, Finlay 4, McDonald4, Johnson, Rich, Henderson, Ventura, Allen. Goals from fouls, Trask 9, Allen. Referee, La Rose. Umpire, Staff, Scorer, Blackmur. Timer, Mansur. Time 20m periods. Attendance 300.

Hamilton Claims New Record

Sacramento, Cal., March 16.—Aviator Hamilton claims to have established a new American biplane record by his 33-minute flight between Sacramento and Maryville, a distance of 42.7 miles.

High Honor For Thomson

London, March 16.—King George has conferred the coveted Order of Merit, which is granted only to the most eminent persons in any walk of life, on Sir Joseph Thomson, the scientist.

BRIEFS

Liugi Concieri whose place was raided by the police last Sunday was fined $50 in court this morning for violation of the liquor law and $10 on account of costs.

John Farrell the veteran mail carrier who has been confiend to his home with an attack of rheumatism for the past few days is back on his route.

The granite dealers of South Quincy still find the travelling crane inadequate to handle the out going freight, there remaining about fifteen teams in the waiting line at 5 P. M. each day.

William J. McCalder who has conducted a store on Water street is closing out his business as he has accepted a position with the Water department.

Members of the Guild of Christ church while they are resting from social activities are making many useful things to be given to foreign missions.

During the gale last night much damage was done all over the city. The chimney on the house occupied by William Walker of Gay street was blown down.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Burns, 113 Granite street, Thursday March 21. at 3 P. M. Mrs. Tilton of Needham, the new County President is expected to greet the members and friends, and a large attendance is desired.

Friends of S. Corliss Berry will be pleased to learn that he is very pleasantly situated in Portland, Oregon, where he is in the employ of the Lumbermen's Natonal Bank, one of the large banks of the cty. He writes of green grass in February and of the trees leafing out, and is also enthusiastic over the scenery which is grand with the snowcapped Mt. Hood and St. Helena in the distance.

Over 350 braved the storm last night and attended the lecture at the Wollaston school, given by Charles H. Johnson. Mr. Johnson will repeat his lecture "Historic Quincy" at the same place next Thursday evening as there were many ticket holders unable to attend last night who desire to hear the lecture and see the fine views. These lectures are for the benefit of the equipment of the school gymnasium.

EAST BRAINTREE

The open meeting of the Workmen's Benefit association was held in Hose one hall, East Braintree, Tuesday evening. Speakers, singers and musicians were present from Boston. Owing to the bad weather the attendance was smaller than was hoped for, nevertheless a pleasant evening was spent. Members from the Supreme lodge, Boston, were present and spoke encouragingly. Refreshments ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Martin of Allen street are being congratulated on the birth of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard LeTourneau, of Allen street are being congratulated on the birth of a son.

Charles Sawyer of Hobart street has accepted a position in the electrical department at the Fore River Shipyard.

Frank Lonergan of Miller avenue, who has been on a four months' business trip to California, is expected home on Sunday.

Misses Reta Lyons and Catherine Shea of West Quincy were the guests of Miss Pauline Scollard, of Hobart street on Sunday.

Oliver Tellier of Bellevue road, who recenty went under an operation at the Carney hospital, is reported as slowly recovering.

Arthur Hamilton of Allen street, has resigned his position with the Parker Holmes Co., Boston, to accept a position as clerk in the Stetson Shoe factory of South Weymouth.

Miss Alice Doane of Bowditch street, who is teaching school in Dighton is at home on a week's vacation. Mrs. Doane is entertaining Miss Vesta Strickland of Hingham.

Word has been received from Forrest B. Whittaker, formerly of this village, who is now enjoying himself in Colombia, South America. He is looking forward with much pleasure to the time when he will return.

The Royal Arcanum with a surplus of over six million dollars is no doubt the best fraternal insurance order in the world today. Weymouth Council No. 747 Royal Arcanum is booming with new members and Grand Regent Ernest E. Robson will address the members and their invited guests next Monday evening. March 18 at 8.15 in Arcanum hall. A smoke talk, refreshments and a grand good time is promised.

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

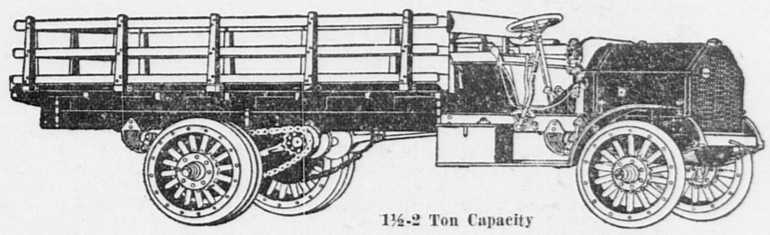
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1500 lb, 1 TON 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenue 15-6t

SOUTH BRAINTREE

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter of Hancock street welcomed a little son last Monday.

Mrs. A. S. Pennock of Washington street, who was threatened with pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

The hotel business of the Hampton house has been sold to Arthur C. West of Auburn, N. Y., who takes possession on March 25.

Edward G. Messervy, 1021 Washington street has been elected a resident member of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society.

Elisha Parker of Hancock street leaves today for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merrill and family at New Vineyard, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lawry of Dewey avenue are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Monday, mother and child are doing well.

Mrs. Adoniram Dyer of Hancock street who has been quite ill with pneumonia is reported to be out of danger and resting comfortably.

Mrs. Harry A. Cook of Central avenue who is at present at the Adams Nervine Asylum at Jamaica Plain,, is reported as gradually improving although the treatment will have to be continued possibly several months.

Charles H. Brown of Washington street, recently with Berry Brothers, of Quincy has secured a position with A. C. Demary, at the "Specialty Store." Mr. Wood, who has been at this store some time has been transferred to East Milton.

Miss Ethel Tirrell of Randall avenue has returned from the Carney hospital, Boston. She will not resume her school duties for a time, owing to her frail health. Every attention is being bestowed upon her and doubtless she will soon be well and strong.

Sympathy of friends is extended to Mrs. A. A. Smith of Hancock street because of the recent death of her mother Mrs. Emma Frances Billings widow of the late Alfred C. Billings. The funeral services were held at her late residence at Hotel Gladstone. Boston, last Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mrs. William A. Tupper of Franklin street who has been at the New England hosptital for the past ten days returned home on Thursday, much improved in health.

SOUTH BRAINTREE

The members of Braintree Council No. 1462, Knights of Columbus are looking forward to a pleasant and instructive meeting, on the evening of March 22 in Odd Fellows' hall. At that time State Deputy William J. O'Brien will address the council on "Insurance." An invitation has been extended to the men of St. Francis parish to be present.

The friends of Mrs. M. Annie Jones of Tremont street have been surprised to learn that she has been confined to her home most of the time since last September with a very stubborn case of bronchitis. Mrs. Jones until that time always had splendid health, and we sincerely hope under the skilful treatment of Dr. Brett she will soon be perfectly well.

Tuesday evening the ladies of the Matrons' whist club were entertained by Mrs. Marion C. Gillette of Hancock street. Souvenirs were secured by Mrs. George E. Snow, Mrs. William G. Benham, Mrs. Irving W. Beane and Mrs. Louis H. Tirrell. Refreshments were served and instrumental music enjoyed.

The Ivalo whist club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Ann M. Brooks at her home on Franklin street. There were five tables in play.

Chinese Delicacies.

The Chinese have several tastes in which we do not join. The beche de mer is one of these, a big sort of a wormlike creature that is fished up out of the Pacific for his especial benefit. Sh[illegible]fins also are in demand. These are saved by Pacific islanders everywhere and sold to traders who collect them for the Chinese market. The bird's nest soup is a well-known delicacy. The nests are among the most expensive articles of food to be paid for anywhere.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Charles Pearsen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

CLARA M. PEARSEN, Admx.
(Address)
Care of George E. Adams, Atty., 18 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.
March 12, 1912.
3t March 16-23-30

BRAINTREE

Edward Stevens returned this week from Florida.

Mrs. Joseph Silver spent the early part of the week with relatives in West Quincy.

Mrs. Thomas Patterson of Stedman avenue has been spending a few days in Providence.

Mrs. G. E. Loring of Washington street entertained the Bridge club at her home Thursday evening.

Laurence Hewes of Washington, D. C., was in town early in the week to visit his father Mr. H. G. Hewes.

Cards received from Mrs. M. L. Gile tell of a delightful visit in Hartford, Conn., where she formerly lived.

Mrs. H. Clifton Woodsum of Springfield is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Gage, Washington street.

The Washington whist club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Woodworth, Mt. Vernon avenue, Tuesday evening.

Dr. Almon Jones of Quincy spent Saturday afternoon with his daughter Evelyn, who is being treated at the Nervine hospital at Westboro. We are glad to know he found her much improved.

George E. Sampson, reports the following transactions this week: Amy Mann to Warren Bates, house and 5100 feet of land on Sampson avenue, Lawrence A. Holmes to Minnie Hagan, 10,000 feet of land on Middle street. Mrs. Hagan who comes from Brookline plans to build at once.

The members of the Thimble club which is associated with the Amana Rebekah lodge held a supper in I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday.

Although few politicians now will stand without hitching, yet it is not much use to tie them down if you want to preserve the hitching post in its existing location.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA-SNOW &

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 66 QUINCY MASS., MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 18, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

SERVICE OF INSTALLATION OF REV. ADELBERT LATHROP HUDSON

Well-Known Divines Take Part in Interesting Service at First Congregational Church

Installation Sermon by Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham

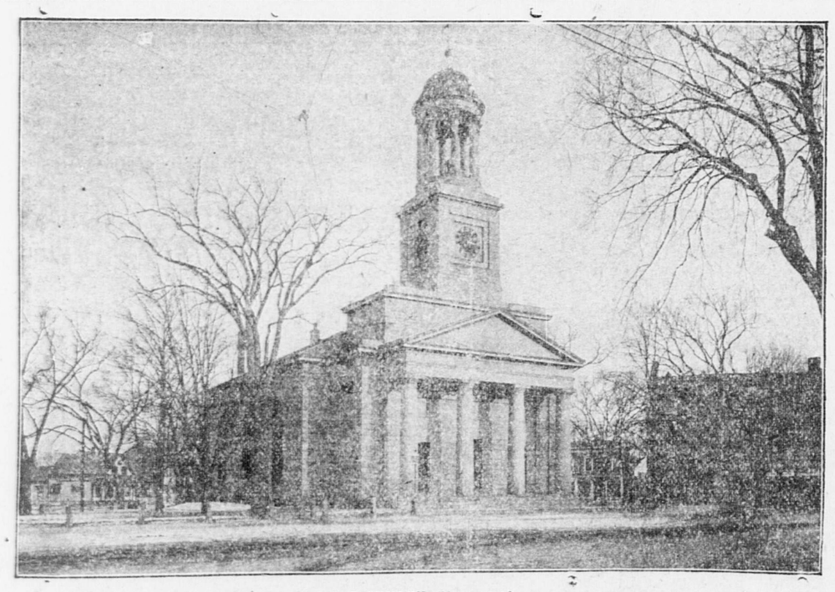
Seldom in recent years has there been a larger congregation present at the First church than that of Sunday evening when Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, D. D. was installed as the thirteenth pastor of this historic church, whose history dates back for 273 years. The audience was not confined to parishioners of the First church, for among those present was noticed a large delegation from the Wollaston Unitarian church as well as many from the other Protestant churches of the city.

The exercises incident to the installation were unusually interesting and were participated in by well-known divines of the faith from neighboring cities and towns, including Rev. Carl G. Horst, pastor of the Wollaston church, Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington street church, Boston, Rev. Daniel R. Freeman of All Souls' church, Braintree, Rev. L. C. Cornish of the Old Ship church, Hingham and Rev. Paul S. Phelan of the New North church, Hingham.

Music during the services of installation was by the regular church quartet, William Weston, organist.

The exercises opened with a prayer and scripture reading by Rev. Paul S. Phelan; sermon by Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham; prayer of ordination by Rev. L. C. Cornish; right hand of fellowship by Rev. Daniel R. Freeman; welcome to Quincy by Rev. Carl G. Horst; installation of pastor by Henry Munroe Faxon and benediction by Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson.

REV. ADELBERT L. HUDSON



FIRST CHURCH (UNITARIAN)
Under each of the central pillars is buried a president of the United States

The sermon by Rev. Mr. Frothingham was a masterly one, his text being taken from the second chapter of Revelations, seventh verse, "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches."

The speaker said that there was not a little talk today in regard to churches and the difference comes in the discussion of which spirit shall speak. A spirit of construction or of destruction. The church mut be awakened and deal with the questions in a wholesale, rather than retail form. This we are told the world is waiting for. What can the church do that it has not done. Let us consider what is behind it and think. The general sympathy of unrest prevalls in everything today and why therefor should it not affect the church as other things. Everything is being called a failure. Before long we shall be hearing that man himself is a failure.

It is natural therefor that at such a time the church itself should be called a failure. The natural feeling is that something should be done that has not been done. Something larger must be done. It is time for reconstruction. Another thing it is said the church has no definite order or program of reform for the social chaotic state.

It is due to the rising and ever prevalence of socialism, which claims that it stands for something. The important thing about socialism is that it is advocating that social evils would be done away with by the carrying out of its ideas. If you are a socialist you do not say you believe in this or that, for they will all come if the great change is secured, that is government control.

The speaker also referred to the human love for cure alls and get rich quick schemes. Continuing he said that the church appears at a disadvantage because it has no program. What many mean, is that the church should have a definite program. What does the Eternal spirit say to the church? "He that hath ears let him hear." The general feeling is that the church is not putting forth the effort that it should, "I would to God that the churches were as well united for peace and not war, as are the socialists, and that there were some program simply for the building up of individual lives and figures."

The spirit of the ages says something to the church. That moderation and wisdom that sees all sides, are permantly important in periods of unrest and strife. The church has said let reform come but let everything be done in order. Seldom in history has there been so great a need of sanity and wisdom as now. There is all too little of the spirit of reform. We need at present enthusiasm without bigotry. There is a division of labor here as elsewhere. It is our obligation to aid it by our own method and to influence life itself. There is no doubt but if conditions could be improved the chaotic state of men and women would be improved. The church is not so much an enemy of socialism as its aid, as it calls for a spiritual program. It remains for us to do something definite and higher. To bring about these reforms needs an ethical engineer. It calls for a social readjustment and the church must take its part. The church is not an end but a means to the end. Not a court

(Continued on Page Two.)

QUINCY HIBERNIANS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF ST PATRICK

Mayor Stone and Other Well-Known Speakers at Annual Banquet of Division 5

Musical Program at St. Mary's Hall by Division 4

No honors were omitted for the immortal Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, Sunday evening in Hibernian hall, at the third annual banquet of Division 5, A. O. H. The affair was easily the most successful in the history of the organization, many prominent city officials and representative citizens being present.

The hall was appropriately decorated, large American and Irish flags were placed together in most conspicuous positions, while everywhere, shamrocks, and green adornments, symbolic of the Emerald Isle, predominated. There was a large statue of the lamented John Boyle O'Reilley, on the stage. The decorations, added to the artistic arrangement of the banquet tables, causing the hall to present a most charming spectacle.

MAYOR EUGENE R. STONE.

Those at the head table included: Thomas J. Welsh, president of division 5; Patrick J. Ferguson, Mayor Eugene R. Stone, City Solicitor John W. McAnarney, Charles C. Hearn, president of the Board of Trade; Henry L. Kincaide, County president Daniel F. Slattery, Dennis Sweeney, Timothy J. Collins, Representative William Murphy of South Boston, and James F. Burke.

The banuet menu was as follows:

Escalloped Oysters Cold Boiled Ham
Mashed Potatoes
Roast Turkey Cranberry Sauce
Chicken Salad
Banana Fritters, Wine Sauce
Chicken Crouets and Green Peas
Ice Cream
Vanilla Strawberry Chocolate
Frozen Pudding
Assorted Cakes Coffee

At the conclusion of the banquet the post prandial exercises took place, and there was not one dull moment from the time the speaking began until the affair was brought to a close shortly after ten o'clock.

Thomas F. Welsh in a few well chosen remarks opened the exercises, welcoming all in a hearty manner. He dwelt forcibly on the growth of the division of which he was president, and told of the improvements effected by those affiliated with the organization. Amidst loud outbursts of applause he introduced as toastmaster of the evening, Patrick J. Ferguson, one of the foremost members of the division and a citizen of prominence.

Mr. Ferguson proved himself equal to the task and proceeded to congratulate the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary on the large representation present. He introduced as the first speaker of the evening, Mayor Eugene R. Stone.

His Honor was given an enthusiastic ovation. He spoke of different Irishmen whom he had learned to admire and esteem. "On an occasion such as this," continued the Mayor "I feel safe in asserting that I too can claim enrollment among the list of Irishmen of the country, for I was born in Ward 14, South Boston, a place conceded to be the banner Irish section of the state." This statement evoked considerable laughter and it was ome moments before he was allowed to continue.

Mayor Stone then went into a discusion of the benefits to be derived from such an organization as the Hibernians, and the influence they can have in civic and political life, "And right here," he added, "I desire to thank you for the kind invitation to be present tonight. Permit me to equaninimity, which you have at all enuaninimity, which you have at all times displayed and allow me in conclusion to add that if it is ever within my power as Mayor of the City, to aid you in any way, rest assured that I will esteem it a privilege to do so.

The Mayor said that he had attended many banquets in this city but had never been present at a better one. was greeted with deafening applause when he had finished speaking.

Miss Lizzie Fay and Miss Grace McDermott entertained on the piano and violin and their rendering was received in such appreciative manner that they were forced to respond to repeated encores.

Charles C. Hearn, president of the Board of Trade was next introduced and in opening stated that he regretted very much that he could not term himself a Hibernian. He confined his remarks to an exposition of Irish wit and humor in its best sense and told of the part it had taken in the development of literature.

Mr. Hearn spoke of the gradual departure of the spirit of bigotry that existed in the past and cited as an instance of the fairness of mind and absence of prejudice, on the part of the citizens of Quincy, the election for four successive years, as mayor to the city, of Hon. William T. Shea, to whom he paid a high tribute.

Miss Helen Walsh, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Fay rendered "Where the River Shannon Flows," in a manner that evoked prolonged applause.

In the absence of Hon. William S. McNary, who had planned to be present but was unavoidably prevented, the next speaker was Representative William Murphy, of Ward 14, South Boston, conceded to be one of the most eloquent orators of the Massachusetts legislature.

Representative Murphy delivered a very forceful discourse on the "Growth of the Irish Race," He paid tribute to Mayor Stone, whom he compared to Robert Emmet, as regards their analogous positions to the Irish in olden and present times.

Dennis and John Coughlin gave some Irish jig steps, which were so much enjoyed that the brothers were kept busy responding to encores for a considerable length of time.

City SolicitorMcAnarney, a member of Division 5, was next introduced. He gave an address on, St. Patrick and the Irish" in his usual characteristic style. His remarks embodied all the changes in orating, first teeming with humor, then with pathos, commanding the closet attention of his audience.

"We in America" he added many justly pride ourselves in the achievements of Washington; France her Napoleon, Rome her Caesar, but the universal world acknowledged in St. Patrick, a character unsurpassed, a leader without a peer, a man whose part on the progress of the world, words fail to adequately depict."

Mr. McAnarney went on to show the position of St. Patrick as a lawmaker and told of the wonderful ability he demonstrated at all times. The different scenes of splender in the Irish land were all portrayed by the speaker, also the writings of different men. "I have pondered over the writings of most emiment men, I have been deeply impressed by the accounts of certain ones in particular as I perused the pages dealings with the lives of famous characters, but never have I had greater influence exerted upon me than when I read the "Confession of St. Patrick."

Mr. McAnarney concluded by stating that the pages of history will dis-

(Continued on Page Six.)

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 21—to May 1

☞PRATT'S BREAD is more expensive, but it is worth more.

JUST LISTED

AND TOO GOOD TO KEEP UNDER COVER

A seven room house with every possible convenience. Five rooms on the first floor. 6,900 feet of land. Excellent garage.

This is a charming cottage house on a shady side street, within easy walking distance of Quincy center. Four tons of furnace coal a season heats it. How many houses are bricked up between the outside sheathing? This one is. That's why it keeps so warm in winter. For a small family, it is ideal. And say! the purchase price is only $3,300. $800 cash down. Do you dare to look at it?

RICKER

1416 Hancock St, Quincy

Opposite The Greenleaf

18-2t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE

NEW SPRING SUITS

$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Canned Goods of Quality

Canned goods of quality are becoming more and more popular with housewives. They are convenient and always ready. For a side dish with roasts there's nothing better than good sweet corn. Our is delicious. It has that sweet and natural flavor of fresh-picked corn right from the garden. It was picked and packed before the frost came, and has the taste of early summer green corn.

FLAG BRAND CANNED CORN

Flag Brand Sweet Corn, can 15c

OTHER GOOD BRANDS ARE

Hatchet Brand Corn, 2 cans 25c

Pine State Brand Corn can 10c

R. E. FOY & CO.

COR WATER AND QUINCY STS

QUINCY ADAMS

Men's New Cheney Silk Ties

50c

First of the new spring styles just opened up. The famous Cheney Silks in new colors and color combinations. Handsome patterns, plain and striped effects.

ALSO

You'll find hundreds of patterns and styles from other well-known makers. Individual styles not found in other stores, at prices ranging from 25c to $1.00 each.

E & W SHIRTS

Are here in a big assortment of styles. Handsome percale and madras in pretty color effects that will please any man.

$1.50

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 18—3t O-1w

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
210 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

If the English Suffragettes get their way, the government will need to have the voting booths carefully padded.

Both political parties at Washington are trying to put the other in the hole, but as each is in the hole already, all this bother is needless.

It has been a hard winter for water fowl, and we pity the poor birds that can't live to be killed by the sportsmen.

Under the circumstances, Mr. Bryan will probably not need to issue any statement that he will not run for a third term.

If the swallows were sitting on the wire when Roosevelt was talking to Stimson, they got their feet nicely toasted.

Governor Stubbs says Roosevelt is the greatest living American, but has he considered the claims of Hans Wagner and Christy Mathewson?

In spite of the hot feelings expressed by many people on politics, there are a number of people who disagree with us, whom we feel sure do not deserve to go to jail.

A Congress committee is to investigate the money trust, and we assume that a trip to Monte Carlo, the Bank of England, and the Paris Bourse will be needful for a thorough comprehension of the subject.

One of these days when Congress has nothing else to do, we wish the House would pass a bill that could get through the Senate and the Senate would pass one that the House would take to.

Although Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, who was enstalled so impressively last night as minister of First church, was the thirteenth to have that honor, we hope he will take the omen as a good one and his pastorate be one of the best in the history of this old church.

The tragedy of the Taft administration is the well meant endeavors that have failed: Canadian reciprocity and arbitration.

Then an enormous amount of energy has been spent in dissolving the trusts, but the higher prices for oil, and rise in Standard Oil shares are the only tangible results to date.

EATING DOG.

When the ordinary man reads that the polar exploring parties have had to eat dog meat, he classes this among the hardships of the expedition, comparable to temperatures of 60 below zero and the sting of the blizzard. Yet Capt. Amunsden says his men found dog flesh delicious, raising the query as to how there came in human instinct the existing sentiment against the use of dog flesh.

Certainly in old times it did not exist. The American Indians, the Chinese, and the Polynesians considered dog meat a great delicacy. Scientific authorities say that when fed largely on vegetable diets, this flesh is very palatable and nutritious. Cuvier says that in old times many families kept dogs as a resource for food in times of crop failure.

And yet "dog meat" is one of the lowest forms of opprobrium in the vocabulary of eatables. When a man wishes to stigmatize the resources and methods of the night lunch cart and the cheap restaurant, he talks about their "hot dogs," and the supposed use of dog meat in making sausages is a joke that antedates Mark Twain and Josh Billings.

And yet when you compare the free roving life of the dog with the muck home of the swine, why should not "hot dog" be a far more wholesome diet than hot hog?

This antipathy to dog meat can hardly be found in anything in the nature and habits of the dog. It exists precisely the same in regard to the flesh of the cat, which is an even cleaner animal than the dog, and one of the most scrupulously tidy quadrupeds in existence.

According to our theory, this antipathy is founded not on any facts of wholesomeness or adaptability, but purely on sentiment. In ancient times, dogs were eaten freely, but as the world has grown more refined, as the dog has become more intimately the friend and companion of man, eating his flesh begins to seem only one remove from cannibalism. No matter how appetizing a dog steak might be, who could enjoy its crispness with the memory of Towser's pleading eyes and wagging tail as a haunting ghost?

PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The regular meeting of the People's Forum called out a good attendance last Sunday afternoon in Parish hall Braintree, considering the fact that the fine weather doubtless lured many people out into the open. The address in many ways the finest one of the series thus far, was by James Schermerhorn, editor and publisher of the Detroit Times. His subject was "Ethics of a Newspaper man" and was given in such a delightful and entertaining way that his auditors wished he might have spoken much longer.

Mr. Schermerhorn is a born wit and while his address touched on many of the serious questions of the day it was punctuated with so many gems of humor and good natured flings at present day foibles that it never became dull or prosy and was thoroughly enjoyed from start to finish.

The speaker told of former days when people depended on forum and folio for news where now we have the press and platform. He said that a newspaper which published only pleasant things would not succeed because of too much idealism. He advocates the publishing of all news, good or gruesome, the telling of the whole truth but is decidedly against the printing of gossip, slander or such subject matter as may cast slurs and aspersions abroad.

He thinks humor is a great blessing in relieving the strain and stress of life and in this connection praised newspaper cartoonists and jokers calling them the life savers of the public press.

According to Mr. Schermerhorn, an editor in order to be successful must be able to write timely editorials and thus influence public opinion and also should have the faculty of voicing his views and policies to the people from the public platform. He spoke strongly against the Sunday newspaper, calling it a blot on the landscape, a discordant note in the Sabbath quiet and a barricade which blocked the doors, keeping the family from church and obliging the children to remain home from school the next day in order to pick up and collect its many sheets. He derided its coarse humor, its chromatic inkiness and spoke of it somewhat scornfully as literature by the pound.

He said that no audience would expect a temperance lecturer to pause in his speech and invite people to have a drink and strongly condemned those editors who write articles against intemperance, quacks, etc., and in the same issue publish large "ads" extolling the merits of whiskies, patent medicines, fraudulent speculations and other wildcat schemes.

On the other hand, Mr. Schermerhorn said that a paper which suppressed all such advertisements and printed nothing but cheerful happenings in the way of news would not succeed because the people would not buy it. He considered the newspaper of great educational value especially in the tactful and clean presentation of facts concerning sex hygiene and other mater relative to the subject. He thought that the mistakes now perpetrated by "cub" reporters would be overcome by the schools for journalism which were of great value to would-be newspapermen.

Mr. Schermerhorn spoke at length and at the close of his talk answered many questions in a very charming and instructive manner. In the evening he spoke on the same topic in Ford hall, Boston. Next Sunday afternoon, Hon. Samuel J. Elder of Boston will speak on "The judicial settlement of disputes between nations."

The meeting are of great educational value and people who stay away are missing a great opportunity for instruction and advancement.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

QUINCY REGISTRY
FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

SERVICE OF INSTALLATION

(Continued from Page One.)

of justice but where justice ought to be more wide spread.

In his prayer of ordination. Rev. Mr. Cornish referred to the long history of this church and the opening of its new chapter.

Rev. Mr. Freeman in extending the right hand of fellowship brought the greetings from the church at Braintree. This he deemed an especial privilege, as his church was one of the youngest, while this church dated back for nearly three hundred years. He also spoke of the bond of unity which binds the churches together.

Rev. Mr. Horst in his welcome to Quincy said he could congratulate the First church on having chosen so good a Shepherd to continue the social and philanthropic work of the church. He also extended the hearty welcome to a city which he said was not the least in the cities of the commonwealth. A city of hills and plains. On the one side is the sea and on the other the hills."We have a good history. We are no young upstart, for we go back to the days when the Pilgrims came to worship God according to their own dictations. We are proud of our city and proud of the men whom she has given to the state and nation; men who loved their country better than their lives.

"We are proud of our schools, our churches, library, hospital, public buildings and philanthropic societies. We are also proud of our industry where ships of commerce and mighty ships of war are built, which by some are said to be so much needed to preserve peace.

"We are also a city of homes. Although young folks get married elsewhere they come here to live. We are no race suicide city as our schoolhouses will testify, and as we may see by the long procession of baby carriages that line our sidewalks. It is a city that attracts people from all parts of the country. There are some who would like a little Finland and some who would like a little Italy, but what we need is men and women that are loyal to the Stars and Stripes, and to teach all to love sobriety and christianity. No one is prepared to die who is not prepared to live. Religion and life are inseparable. Ours is to make life divine". In closing he said. "I welcome you with all my heart to our city. May God bless you in your work and help you and the people of this church. not simply in members but in the power of influence."

Henry Munroe Faxon representing the parish said that it was his privilege to welcome the pastor to the church. He speoke briefly of the history of the church. recalling members who had passed from sight. "Today every concern must show a reason for its existence or go out of business. So it is with the church. We are proud of our traditions and we pledge your support and now Adelbert Lathrop Hudson. in behalf of the First Congregational church I welcome and declare you installed as our pastor."

The exercises closed with benediction by the pastor.

After the services many of the parishioners pressed forward to the pulpit where the pastor held a brief informal reception and received the congratulations and well wishes of many of the parishioners of the church.

SURPRISE PARTY.

The H. B. C. club of Atlantic gave a surprise birthday party to Miss Winnifred E. Pratt of Billings street, Friday evening, March 15, her sixteenth birthday, having been the day previous. The surprise was a well planned one, and carried out to perfection.

Those present were Misses Louise Churchill, Viola Jackson, Marion Wilson, Beatrice Rogers, Bertha Fuller, Laura Daniels, Thelma Holt, Jardine Davison, and the Masters George Daniels, Loyal Safford, Harold Sherwin, Paul Coombs (who, by the way, afforded great amusement during the evening,) Reginald Gay, Verne Franklin and James Jenkins.

Games were played and refreshments served. Chaperons for the evening were Miss Eleanor Pratt and Vivian Wilmore.

SHAMROCK PARTY.

Mrs. Alva Boede of Appleton street, entertained a party of friends Friday evening at a shamrock party. The house was very artistically decorated with green crepe paper and flags of Ireland and the United States. The table was also decorated in green. The color scheme was carried out in the dainty luncheon and confections. Different games were played, green souvenirs being awarded in each game. As a souvenir of the evening each lady was presented with a shamrock and each man a little green hod-carrier.

Taft Names New Federal Judge

Washington, March 18.—The nomination of John B. McPherson of Pennsylvania to be United States circuit judge for the Third circuit was sent to the senate by President Taft.

MILLER—BADGER.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the home of Ex-Councilman Frank E. Badger of Clive street, Saturday evening when his daughter. Elsie Marion was united in marriage to Mr. Byron Augustus Miller of Botolph street. Rev. T. W. Davison of the Memorial church officiated and the double ring service was used.

The bride wore a gown of white messaline trimmed with Duchess lace and pearl trimmings, and carried a bridal shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid. Miss Bertha Badger, the bride's sister, was gowned in pale blue silk and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Meta Miller, was flower girl and was gowned in white and carried white and pink sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Holbrook Lincoln of Milton. Miss Crocker of Malden played the wedding marches and Miss Edith Badger served.

The house was very artistically decorated with white wisteria. The arch under which the couple were married was also decorated with white wisteria and wedding bells.

The young people were recipients of many beautifil and useful silver gifts from the Smith Patterson Co., where Mr. Miller has charge of the engraving department. They also received many beautiful pieces of furniture, cut glass, and china and furnishings for several rooms in their new home.

Among the guests were Representative and Mrs. Langelier, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker, Mr. and Mrs. George Badger, of Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Frohawk of St. Louis, and Mrs. Boyden of Worcester.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are spending a week's honeymoon on the South Shore and expect to occupy the new house. which is being built for them on Appleton street, in April.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

(Special)

The more hopeful sentiment which first developed a month ago is making steady progress. For this most welcome change there is substantial foundation, both at home and abroad. At home this change in sentiment is discernible, not only in financial circles, but in the political, commercial and industrial worlds also.

Politically, there has been a decidedly more confident feeling. It is uncertainty that kills business, and now that this deterrent has been largely removed, uneasiness has correspondingly diminished. Congress will remain in session for some months to come, but the impression is growing that the agitations and investigations which have been going on all winter and producing so much irritation will end in comparatively little new legislation.

Commercially, the improvement is based upon empty shelves and depleted supplies. Merchants all over the country have been operating for many months upon unusually conservative lines, buying only for immediate wants, until now they find themselves totally unprepared for any real increase in demand. Consumers have done likewise, and after a long period of economy are now obliged to replenish. Liquidation has run its course in ordinary business circles, and commodity values refuse to decline further because of the relative scarcity of many raw materials. More than ever it is evident that population has been gaining upon the world's markets, and that there is little prospect for lower prices until supplies once more run ahead of demand—a condtion as yet far distant. Fortunately the crop outlook is highly encouraging owing to almost ideal conditions of soil in many parts of the country; and this accounts largely for Western optimism. The need of large crops to reduce the high cost of living was never more urgent than now.

The one dark spot in the industrial situation is the possibility, if not probability of a coal strike. Such an event would be a positive calamity, inasmuch as it would inflict suffering and loss upon thousands and thousands of innocent outsiders who have little interest in the dispute between the coal owners and operatives. It is to be hoped that sober second thought will prevent any such catastrophe, and that both sides may be induced to discuss their differences on lines of fair play and in a spirit of conciliation, not forgetting the vital interest which the public have in this dispute.

The outlook for the next few months, is for easy but not easier rates for money. From now on there is reason to expect increasing activity in stocks. Operators will soon be returning from winter vacations. When "the sap begins to rise" the stock market almost invariably puts on a more optimistic tone. Securities are in strong hands, and the market generally is in sound technical position.—Henry Clews, Banker, New York.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

A Good Gas Range

This handsome and serviceable Gas Range is a bran-new product of the Glenwood Foundry, and has all the best improvements.

The oven is extra large—18½ x 18½ inches—big enough to cook for the largest family. Oven doors are spring balanced, easily opened or shut. Ovens are lined with non-rustable aluminized iron—a splendid feature. Five cooking burners.

"Makes Cooking Easy"

It isn't all in the gas they save—it is the convenience, the comfort, the time and labor saved.

Glenwood
H. L. Kincaide & Co.,
Quincy

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

19—Reception to Gen. Sec. of Asso. Charities—3 to 5—Q. W. Club.
19—Supper—Dormitory Men Y. M. C. A.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—C. H. Johnson Lecture—Wol. School.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
19—Opening Entertainment—Q. Y Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

The Strength of This Bank

This bank is as solid as the granite hills of Quincy. It is as much a part of Quincy as they. It is owned and managed by Quincy men whom you know to be substantial and reliable. It has ample resources and up-to-date quarters, with one of the best modern vaults in the state. A depository for Massachusetts State funds. It is a good bank for your deposit.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

TINT CLOTH WINDOW SHADES
at Low Prices

Best quality cloth window shades in fadeless tint colors, with fully guaranteed rollers.

Complete House Orders 53c to 57c

Smaller lots at slightly increased prices to pay proportionate cost of measuring and hanging.

ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN
WINDOW SCREENS TO ORDER

Best quality material. Perfect fit guaranteed. Whole house orders from 60c to 75c per window

ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

IN QUINCY EVERYBODY READS THE HOME DAILY
THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

BETHANY CHURCH.

There was a large attendance at Bethany church, Sunday morning. Dr. Asher Andeson occupied the pulpit, and took for his text, Psalms, 20:7 "Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God," subject, God reigns. Dr. Anderson said in part, "The history of the century has revealed fresh evidences of God's power: His sovereignty and supremacy through all and in all the affairs of men and nations is manifested in His divine love and Providence. Behind all apparent confusion, wrong and mistakes, we can discern the infinite order, the everlasting righteousness, the perfect certainty, that God reigns.

"Through all the experiences and vicissitudes of human life, the consciousness that we are in God's keeping will enable us to revere and trust Him, who has from all eternity been working against evil and sin. God reigns! No life, however poor and simple, was ever lived on this earth, that did not fit into God's plan and not an act or deed but tended to some intelligent end. Every faculty of soul and power of body are gifts from God and he who will not open his heart to the light of God's love should have our profounded pity.

"The salvation of Joseph was the salvation of Jacob. What interpretation can we put upon Moses, placed in the bulrushes? The hiding of Moses was the redemption of Israel. And many other instances might be mentioned where we can see the Hand of God. God reigns! Coincidence, mere coincidence, some say: was it chance that Jesus, our Saviour, was born to redeem the world?. To be the light and inspiration of mankind and to give us life enternal?

"We as a nation, as business men, as individuals fit into God's plan. He reaches thrones and men to gain His ends. We go into the factory, we see the cloth in the loom on the wrong side: wars, famine, strikes, sin in every form are woven into the fabric, but when we see the cloth unrolled in the show room on the right side we behold the result.

"Heaven is doubtless saddened by so much evil but ultimately our human natures are made to harmonize with God's plans. The aftermath of human experience is in God's purposes. The higher we go the farther we see God's outlook.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST.

At the Wollaston Baptist Church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Joseph Walther, preached a sermon to the children; subject: "The Bible—the Best Book." The sermon to the adults was "The Christian's threefold standing in view of his acceptance of Christ." A large number of adults and children were present.

The Sunday school met at 12.15. Elford L. Durgin, superintendent, was in charge. The lesson considered was "The Paralytic, Forgiven and Healed." There were 300 present.

The Junior Endeavor society met at 3.30. Miss Ethel M. Campbell and Mrs. Kendall F. Harriman had the meeting in charge.

At 6 the Y. P. S. C. E. met in the chapel; subject: "Success worth having and not worth having," leader, H. L. Wilson.

The evening service was held in the auditorium at 7, the pastor preaching on "Regeneration" or "The New Birth." A large audience was present and at the conclusion of the service a rehearsal of the chorus choir under the leadership of musical director Amos D. Albee was held.

Tuesday afternoon at 3 the W. C. T. U., will meet at the home of Mrs. S. B. Harrington, 54 Grand View avenue; subject: "W. C. T. U. Settlement school in Hinman, Kentucky," leader, Mrs. Harrington. At four o'clock the pastor's first class in the Fundamental principles of the Christian Faith will meet at the parsonage and in the evening at 7.45 a cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Selden H. Nickerson, Ardell street, Montclair. The pastor will lead.

Wednesday afternoon at 3, the Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. H. L. Wilson, 186 Belmont street; subject, "Medical Missions;" leader, Mrs. Mary Finney. At 4 the pastor's second class in the Fundamental Principles of the Christian Faith ,will meet at the home of Mrs. H. J. Grass 52 Ardell street, Montclair.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Albee Woman's class will hold their annual meeting at the home of Deacon and Mrs. A. D. Albee, 80 Prospect avenue. All the members are urged to be present.

Friday evening at 7.45 the regular meeting for praise, prayer and testimony will be held in the chapel, subject: "The March Number of Missions," our Baptist Missionary Magazine. The people are asked to come bringing their magazines and prepared to give one or two minute testimonies on what they have found interesting and helpful. This meeting if as good as others in the past will be wonderfully helpful and inspiring At the close the standing committee of the church will meet in the Albee class room and all those who desire to be baptized Easter Sunday are expected to be present.

Next Sunday morning at 10.45 the large chorus choir under the leadership of musical director Amos D. Albee will sing.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN.

Rev. Carl G. Horst took as his text for the morning sermon Sunday "If any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of his," found in Romans 8 9. He said in part, "Religion is a way of life, not a doctrine. It does not consist in the acceptance of man-made creeds but in the acceptance, rather, of the spirit of Christ, which if we will we may express in our daily life. Great progress has been made since the days when belief in a fixed rule was made the test of salvation,—now education is the greatest factor in the saving of man's life here and hereafter." The scripture reading, at the opening of the service was taken from the 25th chapter of Matthew, beginning with the 31st verse.

The Rollins Young Men's class spent a profitable hour yesterday noon in discussing the Lawrence strike and lessons to be learned from it.

Wollastonians will have the pleasure of hearing the new minister of the First Congregational society in Quincy, the Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, in our church Wednesday evening, March 27, at 7.45 o'clock.

The Unitarian Church Helpers will meet with Mrs. Carl G. Horst, Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

At the Y. P. R. U. meeting last evening the minister of the church gave an interesting and instructive stereopticon lecture on "American Unitarianism."

The Wollaston Young People's Social club meets Tuesday evening in the vestry at 8 o'clock. W. E. Hingston the handwriting expect will give an address on "Forgery."

The talented young minister of the First Parish of Brighton, Rev. Palfrey Perkins, will be the preacher at the Wednesday evening Lenten service at 7.45. The music committee is very fortunate in securing for that service Carl D. Hopkins, the well-known tenor of Norfolk Downs, who will sing two selections. William Ellis Weston will preside at the organ. Mr. Perkins while in the city will be the guest of Mrs. L. K. Arnold and Ernest Arnold. Do not fail to attend this service.

The Lenten Study class of the New Testament will meet at the minister's home, Friday, afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Members and friends of the Y. P. R. U., will attend a Young People's rally in the Channing church, Dorchester, Sunday evening, March 31. The Rev. John Haynes Holmes of the Church of the Messiah, New York, will address the meeting.

"I have never seen any persons who met anxiety, pain, sorrow, or death more calmly, more bravely, or with more resignation than the Unitarians. The Unitarian faith is dear to me because I have found it to be in my own personal experience and in my observation of others, the most cheerful faith in the world in times of ease and prosperity, and the surest reliance of any faith in the world in times of trial and adversity. To propagate that faith is, to my thinking, a holy thing, a sacred duty."—Ex-President Charles W. Eliot.

The Ladies Aid Alliance of our church has published a Cook Book of 120 pages, containing a collection of tested and approved recipes contributed by ladies of the parish. There are some copies unsold, which may be had of Mrs. William M. Burrell, 114 Beach street.

The Junior Lend-a-Hand club and the Earnest Workers Lend-a-Hand society hold a joint meeting at the home of Miss Dorothy Sprague, 8 Park street, to make arrangements for their annual fair.

The Women's Alliance meets in the vestry, Wednesday, at 2.30; subject: 'Reverence." There will be music and tea will be served.

An evening whist party is to be given by the Alliance Friday evening, at 7.45, at the home of Mrs. F. A. Page, 103 Grand View avenue. Everybody is welcome.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

ATLANTIC M. E. CHURCH.

Extract of sermon delivered at the Atlantic M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. Harvey Emmonds Dorr, on Sunday morning on the subject "The Abundant Supply, 'and they all did eat and were filled,"—Luke 9:17.

"The text is the climax of a wonderful story. One day Jesus was upon the west shore of the sea of Galilee surrounded by a great many people, some were sick and lame, some were anxious to hear him speak. There were those that were simply curious, and those whose hearts were strangely warmed by his wonderful words. Into the midst of the scene came the disciples. They had just returned from the tour around the villages of Galilee, where they had been telling the glad news of the kingdom and had been healing in His name many that were sick. Jesus looked into their faces and saw that they were tired, for their zeal in spreading the news of the new kingdom had kept them going upon their nerve. How eager they were to tell Him about their journey, of those that had been cured in His strength, and those that had come into new joy in His friendship. So they began to speak to him about all those things that they had done, and all the things that they had taught. With the tenderness of a mother who looks into the face of a tired child, he said 'come ye apart into a quiet place and rest awhile'.

"What a temptation it must have been to Jesus to stay there and administer to the wants of that crowd of people upon the shore, but he must go apart with his disciples where he might bring out the lessons that had come from their experience; for these were the very men that were to be used in launching the new kingdom in a hostile world, and they needed all the personal contact with Him that it was possible for them to get.

"So they went down to the water's edge, stepped into a boat, and set out toward the northeastern side of the sea, toward the fishing town Bethsaida which was the home of Andrew and Peter. But the people saw them going and the crowd began to gather as they went on foot around the northern shore of the sea. As they traveled on in their informal march with their loose Oriental garments wrapped around them, and their sandals upon their feet, many joined them as they passed through the villages, for it must have been noised abroad that Jesus was crossing the lake to the other side. Close to the place where the river Jordan empties into the sea from the north, Jesus and his band of disciples probably landed and made they way up the valley into the mountains which were just north of the lake. As they went we can easily imagine how enthusiastically Peter told the story of their experience in the different villages, and how eagerly Jesus listened and entered into the very life of these men who were his messengers.

"But they were no sooner seated on a place of the valley where there was much grass, where they could look out over the sea to the south and to the hills to the north when they saw the immense crowd of Galileans coming along the shore. Some were lame and sick but they were making they way as best they could. And Jesus looked out over them and had compassion on them for they were like sheep without a shepherd, and he welcomed them. No one ever makes their way toward Christ no matter how blindly he may grope without being welcomed by him. And he healed their sick and told them the glad tidings of his kingdom. What a wonderful sermon that was.

"They didn't notice that the time was passing. Suddenly they became aware of the fact that the sun was sinking in the west. The even was drawing nigh and they realized that they were a long way from home and that they had brought nothing with them to eat. The disciples said, 'send the people away that they may go and buy themselves something to eat;' but Jesus said 'Give ye them to eat.' That is what people say today let everybody look out for himself; but Jesus says 'Give ye them to eat.'

"What a strange remark? Did not Jesus know that they were just as empty handed as was the crowd? But Andrew began to take account of stock, he was a practical man. Once before he had been useful and that was when he brought his brother to Jesus after he himself had found him. Now he found a small boy who had a lunch of five barley cakes and two fishes. Doesn't your imagination go back to one of those fishing villages to the boy's mother. She knew that a boy is liable to get hungrey. So she packed his little lunch for him to take along when he went to see Jesus. Mother's don't know what an influence it has or what will come to pass when with loving hands they pack lunches for the boys or get them ready to go to Sunday school amid all the other cares of the household.

"We don't know how much lunch he started with, but he had two fishes and five cakes when he got there. Andrew looked at the little lunch and then out over the big crowd and the incongruity of it all came to him and he said: 'What are these among so many?' Then came that act of consecration. The little boy handed over all he had, and Andrew took it and gave it to Jesus.

"That is the point to which we must all come. We look at our little talents and then out to a needy world and we are compelled to say, 'What are these among so many.' And then we say it isn't much. I can't talk in meeting, I can't give much money for I haven't much to give. I can't sing for my voice isn't very melodious; I can do my work in the shop or in the home a little better. And then you say I'll give that to Christ. If I can't give much I'll give a little.

"And Jesus took it. And gave directions that the multitude should be seated in regular order so that there might not be any confusion. So they sat down in companies, fifty in a company, each group forming three sides of a square so that the disciples could pass around in the opening of the fourth side. Then Jesus took the gift and looked up to the Father, blessed it out to his disciples for distribution and the food was multiplied so that 'they did eat and were all filled.' Jesus looks out over a hungry world today, a world that is hungry for the real joy of life. He says, 'give ye them to eat.' We look at our little loaves and fishes and say that it isn't much but if we give it to him behold he will wonderfully multiply it right before our eyes and our neighbors and friends shall all be filled with the food of the spirit which brings peace and satisfaction that the pleasures of the world can never supply.

"We look out into the industrial world today and there is great need. There are many who are underfed and overworked. There are many who are starving for the simple comforts of a happy home, and they can't get them because of the greed of men who seek to heap together wealth for lives of luxury and ease. There is the great struggle of men to better their condition. It is like the great crowd that made its way around the lake, Jesus came as the friend of all men. The more this old world catches the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth as he looked out over the hungry crowd that day long years ago on the shore of Galilee, the more all men will be brought to the same level. The rich will come bringing their much and hand it over to Christ for the good of the poor, and the poor will come bringing the loaves and fishes consecrating it for the good of the many.

"The time is coming when there will be an abundant supply in the markets of the world and the rich and the poor 'shall eat and they shall all be fed.' The time is coming when the hearts that are longing for friendship and sympathy will all be satisfied by the tender compassion of Christ in the hearts of men, when every one that is hungry shall be fed with the bread of life.

"A story is told of the Franco-Prussian war. A soldier who had been wounded in one of the battles that was fought on the edge of a small French village, dragged himself into the town where he was cared for by a kind French lady. The man was almost gone when the lady brought to him a glass of water and tried to give it to him. He looked up and said: 'I don't want water, I am only hungry for my wife and children.' This world doesn't need material things half so much as it does fellow feeling, real genuine kindness and helpfulness. Jesus came to heal the wounded hearts; to bring to mankind the spirit of brotherliness, to feed the hungry soul and make it glad in the joy of His life. He is the source of life, in Him is the abundant supply. He will supply all your needs according to His riches in glory. If we eat we shall all be fed."

MEMORIAL CHURCH.

Rev. Seelye Bryant of Winthrop preached in the Memorial church, Atlantic last evening in exchange with Rev. T. W. Davison.

Mr. Bryant's theme was: "Grenfell in Labrador" and he said in part: "Dr. W. T. Grenfell has been a medical missionary on the Labrador coast for about 20 years. There is no better approach to an understanding of the man and his surroundings and his work than through the writings of the novelist, Norman Duncan, who has caught, with wonderful insight and sympathy the very heart of the life of that primitive people, and whose gifted pen brings before us with simple and vivid intensity the quaint humor and the pathos and the tragedy of the hard struggle for existence in that region of snow and ice and stormy sea and barren windswept rocks.

"Grenfell is a hearty robust Saxon strong, indefatigable, devoted, jolly; doctor, parson by times, something of a sportsman when occasion permits, a master mariner, a magistrate, the director of certain commercial enterprises designed to help the folk to help themselves; the prophet and champion, indeed of a whole people and a man very much in love with life.

"His professional round extends over 2000 miles of bitterly inhospitable shore, which a man in haste must sail with his life in his hands. The folk are for the most part isolated and desperately wretched, composed of Indians of the interior, and the Esquimaux of the far north.

"Early in his medical course Grenfell had been inclined, he says, to go into practice and make a lot of money as soon as his education was finished But about that time he had a new vision of the practical meaning of the religious life, and a new conviction that the only thing really worth while was to see how much good he could do. He does not hesitate to say that he received his impulse from the great American evangelist D. L. Moody.

"Grenfell's first public confession of religion was through going to hear J. E. K. Studd, the famous English cricket player. Mr. Studd invited anyone who was not ashamed to confess Christ as his master for this life rather than a kind of insurance ticket for the next world to stand up. Grenfell stood up, then wanted to do something and went to the parson of the church where he occasionally attended and offered himself for a class of boys in his Sunday school.

"Grenfell reformed those boys in ways that appealed to himself by using horizontal bars and boxing gloves in his own home. In that way he was one of the founders of the Boys' Brigades, and assisted in the promotion of boys' camps.

"The superintendent of the Sunday school once said to him: 'You will not be able to meet your scholars with an easy conscience in the Heavenly Jerusalem if you remember that you taught them boxing.'

"He said he left the school, and so did the scholars, but he continued the classes in his home, and that many of those boys are now servants of Jesus Christ, and meet him every time he goes to London.

"When Grenfell had finished his course at Oxford, he consulted Sir Frederick Treves as to work. He wanted something that would satisfy his medical aspirations, as well as his love of adventure and his desire for practical Christian work. Sir Frederick suggested that the young man join the staff of the mission of the Deep Sea Fishermen, and try to establish a medical work among the fishermen of the North Sea. The traffic in liquors, and in all other demoralizing influences had to be fought step by step, prejudice and evil habit had to be overcome and there was room for both fighting and teaching.

"After three years of splendid work the doctor outfitted the Albert hospital ship to cruise among the fishing fleets, and put the Deep Sea mission on its feet, he looked for something harder. So he turned to the Labrador coast, where he finds fight enough, and is likely to find it as long as he lives. His love for the work and his pleasure in it are genuine.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S.

Every seat was occupied at St. Chrysostom's church Sunday morning when the Rev. George Hodges, D. D., Dean of the Episcopal school in Cambridge preached a forceful sermon on Interruption. He said:

"One of the conspicuous facts is the spirit of interruption, which besets us every day, we resent, but it hinders the person whether at work or rest, Many illustrations of both in the stories of the Gospels. How may we deal with interruption. The Lord when his Apostles were so occupied, scarcely time to eat, going and coming incessently employed doing the Master's work, told them to come across the lake and rest awhile. Why, because he saw in relaxation an opportunity to increase the quality of work. The genius, the painter, the author it is his best self put into the work which counts. Word that is said, deed that is done, sufficiently religious, is what counts. The result did not at times follow because of insufficent fastings and prayer, preparation of the soul.

"St. Paul said, 'Faith over works,' he does not depreciate work but emphasizes the spirit. Good deed is of value as it is done for the love of God—supreme impression of personality. All refreshment of mind, of body, refreshes our lives. Our Lord said, 'For their sakes I sanctify myself.' There should be times of solitude, because of better work afterward. Argument for observation of Sunday, when business stops, because the supreme thing after all is the man. The art is to improve the quality of the day, things unseen—spiritual.

"On the other side of the lake the crowd gathers. Does our Lord retreat no—he goes out to administer to them. Christ had nothing of the superstition of consistence, the pagan woman here is a call to her from God. Real hindrances—defend ourselves as we may the interruption comes, the interruption sometimes means direction—as in the case of Saul of Tarsus, blessed interruption of long ago, recall our own experiences, means of sending us in the right way.

"Bishop Brooks as a teacher in the Latin school was requested to resign because of his lack of discipline over the boys—blessed interruption, because he was afterwards a supreme prophet of God in his generation.

"Discipline of life another interruption, make the best of the last, meet it with a serene spirit symbolical of the sanctity of interruption.

At the offertory the choir rendered very acceptably the anthem "Send out Thy Light," by Chas. Gounod, with Mrs. George B. Curran at the organ.

Borden's

A Quick Lunch that can be prepared in thirty seconds and taken in thirty more; that digests and never distresses; that nourishes, satisfies and gives a healthy brace and costs only a fraction as much as expensive meats. That is Borden's Malted Milk.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connection 14-tf

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptok Bifocal Glasses are wholly free from the disfiguring seams, patches, "rainbows", dirty rims, frayed edges of all "cemented" bifocals.

Kryptoks are Handsome, Becoming, Stylish.

5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

ELEVEN FISHERMEN PERISH IN A GALE

Gloucester Schooner Runs on Rocks Off Nova Scotia

Halifax, March 18.—During a fifty-mile southeast gale that swept the Nova Scotia coast the Gloucester, Mass., fishing schooner Patrician ran ashore on the ledges at Jordan bay and soon pounded to pieces. Captain William Harding and ten of his crew lost their lives in attempting to reach the shore, ten others being saved.

The gale had kicked up a violent sea and once the vessel struck the ledge her doom was sealed. Giant waves swept the craft from stem to stern, and the crew's only hope was to launch the dories. These were put overboad with all possible speed and the men tumbled into them.

No sooner had the dories left the vessel's side than they were capsized by a great comber and twenty-one men were thrown struggling into the water. Only ten of them reached the storm-swept shore alive, some in a half-conscious condition.

Judging by the pictures of the Polar explorer, the first thing they should do is to seek out the barber's pole.

AUTO OWNER SURRENDERS

Teacher Admits Running Down and Killing a Cambridge Man

Cambridge, Mass., March 18.—Edwin M. Chamberlain, 21, teacher of English in the Rindge Technical school, yesterday surrendered to Captain Hurley at police headquarters for running down and killing Peter L. Wormley of this city, while riding in his automobile late Saturday night.

Chamberlain would not tell why he ran away after the accident without attempting to learn the identity of the injured man or the seriousness of his injuries.

He was arrested on the charge of manslaughter and bailed in bonds of $3000, which was furnished by members of his family.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & Co.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of J. Franklin Faxon late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

CAROLINE F. FAXON,
CHARLES A. PRICE,
HENRY M. FAXON,
Executors.

(Address) Quincy, Mass.
Feb. 29, 1912 Mar. 2-4-11-18

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of William B. Rice, late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Harry L. Rice, Fred B. Rice, Moorfield Storey and John D. Hardy executors of the will of said deceased, have presented for allowance, the first and final account of their administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forencon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said executors are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18,

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Jeanne B. Hill late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John H. Hill of said Quincy or to some other suitable person. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Dedham, in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Sarah H. Peak late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by John W. Peak, of New Bedford, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the twentieth day of March A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 9-11-18

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1[illegible] Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, [illegible]o. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 528 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	59 degrees
Mar. 18, 1911,	38 degrees
Mar. 18, 1910,	37 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

TALLER ANYHOW.

Mr. Henpeck—All artists say that five feet five inches is the divine height for women.

Mrs. Henpeck—I am five feet eight inches.

Mr. Henpeck—You are more than divine.

BRIEFS

Miss Mabel McKenzie of Upland road is enjoying a two weeks' visit in Washington, D. C.

George A. Thompson, of 82 Glencoe place is confined to his home with a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drew of Hamden circle, are reciving congratulations on the birth of a son born Mar. 14th. Mrs. Drew was Deborah McKenzie.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The school attendance for the month of February as reported by Supt. Barbour was as follows:—

	Whole No. at Date.	Av. Daily Attendance.	Per Cent. of Daily Attendance.	Tardiness	Dismissed	Truancy
High	758	684.0	94.2	125	88	0
Adams	352	325.2	93.5	13	4	0
Atherton Hough	165	148.1	90.2	2	1	0
Coddington	452	410.6	91.7	11	11	1
Cranch	331	315.1	95.4	4	5	0
Gridley Bryant	262	239.2	91.5	16	4	0
John Hancock	326	309.7	95.3	7	2	0
Lincoln	433	403.3	93.7	13	5	1
Mass. Fields	396	356.9	91.0	10	41	0
Quincy	616	559.2	91.7	55	24	1
Washington	446	405.7	90 8	22	16	0
Willard	782	729.7	94.5	27	16	2
Wollaston	421	381.7	91.7	54	39	0
	5740	5278.5	92.9	369	276	5

FIRST IN MANY YEARS

Special Session of Maine Legislature Convoked This Week

Augusta, Me., March 18.—The Maine legislature will be convoked in special session next Wednesday for the first time since the outbreak of the Civil war. According to Governor Plaisted's proclamation the three purposes of the session are:

First, to redistrict the state for representatives in congress; second, to amend the laws governing elections; and third, to propose an amendment to the organic law of the state, which will permit of local option with regard to licensing the selling of intoxicating liquors.

The senate has twenty-two Democrats and nine Republicans; the house eighty-five Democrats and sixty-six Republicans.

☞Morning, noon and night, plain or toasted, PRATT'S BREAD is delicious.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of Your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

RAISED PAY IN TEXTILE MILLS

Will Amount to $10,500,000 During the Next Year

AFFECTS 275,000 OPERATIVES

Cotton Manufacturers Awaiting Outcome of Situation at New Bedford, Where Request For Ten Percent Advance Has Been Refused—Strife at Barre, Where Worsted Workers Are on Strike—Conditions at Lawrence Assuming Normal Phase

Boston, March 18.—Wage increases aggregating $10,500,000 will go into the pockets of New England textile workers during the next twelve months, according to authoritative estimates of the result of the present upward trend of wages in cotton and woolen mills.

On the basis of an annual pay roll of $79,000,000 in the woolen mills, the increase there will amount to $5,000,000, while cotton mill operatives will receive an advance of $5,000,000.

Fully 275,000 operatives will share in the raise by April 1, if all the mills which have not yet joined in the wage movement follow the lead of larger concerns. Announcements made already of contemplated advances in the textile centres of Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire affect more than 200,000 mill workers.

Rhode Island, eastern Connecticut and western Massachusetts cotton manufacturers, employing many thousands, have also indicated an intention of equalling the wage advances made elsewhere, but have made no definite announcement. They are understood to be awaiting the outcome of the situation in New Bedford, where a similar grade of fine cloth is produced.

The New Bedford manufacturers' offer of a 5 percent increase will be acted on early in the present week by the textile council, which recently presented a demand for a raise of 10 percent. A heavy curtailment of production has been necessary in the mills during the past eighteen months on account of dull business and this fact is pointed to by the Manufacturers' association as a reason for the refusal of the 10 percent request.

Although there is a division of opinion among the operatives, many are said to be in favor of accepting the manufacturers' offer at present, and reviving their demand for 10 percent when business improves.

Fall River operatives also are giving evidence of a spirit of unrest, induced partly perhaps by the approach of spring and by the substantial wage increase granted as a result of the Lawrence agitation. The textile council, representing five unions, has voted to reject the offer of the manufacturers of an advance of 5 percent and demand 15 percent, arguing that the outlook for business in print cloths is promising enough to warant the greater raise.

South Barre, a Worcester county village, where 1000 operatives of the Barre Wool Combing company, limited, and the Nornay worsted mills are on strike for more pay, was the scene Saturday of a riotous demonstration reminiscent of the stormiest period of the Lawrence strike. One hundred policemen and deputy sheriffs, who dispersed the riot with their clubs, after a hand to hand encounter, seemed to have the situation well in hand, but the guard about the mills was strengthened this morning.

Organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World are active among the operatives, taking direction of the strike, as was the case in Lawrence.

Especial importance attaches to the Barre situation because many spinning mills of New England get their supplies of combed wool from the Barre Wool Combing company, limited, which operates one of the largest plants of the kind in this country. The entire plant is now idle by reason of the strike.

Small bodies of textile workers are on strike also at several other points in New England, including North Adams and Holyoke.

Although a few of the big Lawrence mills are still nominally under the ban of the strike leaders, there was a general return to work this morning in these plants, as well as in the ten mills where the strike has been officially settled. A desire to get back to work after ten weeks of idleness and fears that someone else may secure their places made most of the strikers eager for the Monday opening of the mill gates.

Statisticians figure the injury by the Lawrence strike to manufacturers at $1,500,000 on business in hand and advance business lost; a forfeit by the strikers of about an equal amount in wages, and a cost to the state and city of $300,000 for militiamen and extra police—a total of $3,300,000.

Four Seamen Drown

Baltimore, March 18.—The steamship Gloucester was in collision with the schooner Herbert D. Maxwell off Thomas' Point, Chesapeake bay. The Maxwell was sunk and four of her crew were drowned.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub Entertains Miniature Paris Salon at Museum of Fine Arts—Conservatory Musicians Give Brilliant Dramatic Performance in Aid of Needy Students—An Extraordinary Kind of "Kinks" and Queens in Boston Public Library's Genealogical Department—Is the Average Shopping Woman a "Catty Hen?"—A Saleswoman's Viewpoint on Her Sex.

The quest for a new house for the New England Historical Genealogical Society and the large number of books on genealogy which are constantly drawn from the public library indicate the interest which attaches to the ancestors of the majority of Americans. The renewed interest roused by the efforts for a suitable home for the local society recalls an incident purported to have happened recently. Not long ago a showily dressed woman went into the genealogical department of the Boston Public Library and after a couple of hours' perusal of English pedigree arose with a visible air of increased pride. "I am most pleased with my morning's work," she remarked condescendingly to the man in charge. "I have just discovered that I am connected with three royal families, that I have 27 royal ancestors, and that I am entitled to use four different coats-of-arms, all or royal origin. I am most happy, in having made all these discoveries," and with a smile of conscious superiority she entered her waiting carriage.

That the average woman is an inconsiderate, catty "hen" when she goes shopping is a conviction long held by the Boston girl and emphasized by a spontaneous and heartfelt compliment overheard as it passed from a saleswoman behind a counter to a customer. A young lady made a small purchase at a trimming counter, speaking to the saleswoman as if she were a human being and conducting her business in the same manner which she would have maintained in any public place. The saleswoman, elderly, nervous and harassed by a group of women who had pawed over every bit of stock on the counter, jawed her for not having just what they wanted, and fussed and quibbled over every inch of material purchased, was bordering on tears. As she handed her package to the young lady aforementioned, she burst out, "You are just lovely to wait on—you make it a pleasure!" The young woman flushed at the unexpected compliment and thanked her with a pleased "Why—I hope I am." The point in the incident is not that the young lady was specially agreeable, charming or smiling, but that the customers who had preceded her had been of the class which forgets that a woman behind a counter is just as self-respecting and just as human as any of its own members. The fact that a natural, unostentatious polite customer brought forth such a burst of gratitude speaks badly for the average woman whom the saleswoman meets.

To breathe or not to breathe seems the much argued question among Bostonized advocates and enemies of the fresh air principles. Dorchester, home of more children than any other suburban town of similar size in New England, rises up in wrath over the present system of open windows in the school room. Several children have been taken ill; hence the wrath. The scheme was originally adopted for the health and protection of children. It appears to be a case of "whiskey when you're well makes you sick; whiskey when you're sick makes you well." The whole controversy brings up the question once more of whether the proper way is not to provide open air schools under scientific conditions of clothing, feeding and the rest as advocated by the promoters of the Franklin Park School.

A miniature Paris salon at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts deserves as much attention from New Englanders as the recent automobile show got; but needless to say the crowds at the two exhibitions bear no comparison. Still, for an art exhibition, the display of present day French paintings at the Museum is drawing well. And what an opportunity! Yankees who go to Europe at great expense of time and money visit the salons over and over again until they get to know the pictures almost by heart. The same people may or may not take the trouble to run into the Boston Musuem for a few minutes to look over a selection from the very best of recent salons the admirably lucid and sculpturesque paintings of Cottet, the strong brilliant color of Gaston La Touche, the suffused sparkle of Aman-Jean. The logical and well constructed work of many another painter of the most artistic of modern nations. Withal there are sculptures by Rodin and others, each worthy of an afternoon's contemplation. This exhibition, in the Renaissance sculpture hall during March, is one of the most important of its kind yet brought to America. It ought to be seen by every New England man and woman who has even the faintest interest in the fine arts.

A brilliant dramatic recital at Jordan hall, arranged by that past master of pantomine, Clayton D. Gilbert, has been among Boston's Lenten diversions. Its object affects many ambitions and aspiring talents, throughout the country. The great inpouring of society folk at the New England Conservatory building was an evidence not only of their interest in the clever pantomine, "The Statue of Love," and the comedy "Cousin Kate" but also of the local recognition of the needs of music students, many of whom come to Boston from a distance meagerly supplied with funds and too often compelled to sacrifice health in a double devotion to studies and breadwinning pursuits. The performances were specifically for the benefit of the Beneficent Society of the New England Conservatory of Music, whose funds supplement the rather limited number of scholarships at the disposal of the Conservatory management. This is one of the many good causes which are highly favored at the Hub, though unfortunately in the rest of New England the requirements of young people studying music are not always appreciated even by persons who have themselves had musical training. In a city where there are upwards of ten thousand professional students of music the restricted funds of such an organization as the Beneficent Association cannot, even by the utmost stretching, be made to do all that might be wished. Yet the work of this association has been singularly effective and far reaching. Since its incorporation in 1885 it has assisted hundreds of deserving young men and young women, with loans, whose total amount approaches $35,000. No interest is charged on these advances, the recipient promising to repay as soon as possible after graduation. It shows perhaps a mistaken idea which some people have as regards the carelessness of musicians concerning their financial obligations, for the losses under this system of lending are said to have been extremely few. "Almost without exception," writes the secretary, "our beneficiaries are truly grateful for the help given them and faithfully pay their debt as soon as possible." It is good news that this year's entertainments in aid of so worthy a cause have been remarkably successful and that a substantial addition has been made to the invested amounts which help to give aspirants a chance to study in the greatest American centre of musical education.

Ethel Angier.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

COOKING THE SPECKLED TROUT.

SEASONABLE fish are trout, and those who will not eat any other are fond of these. Nothing flatters the family fisherman more than a new and delicious way of serving the fish which he brings home.

Broiled Brook Trout.—Split down the back and clean, removing the gills, fins and the blood vessels along the spine. Wash and dry the fish. Season, dip in olive oil and broil from ten to fifteen minutes or longer if the fish is large. Keep turning that the skin may not burn. When the fish has begun to broil hold it farther away from the fire until it is done. Serve with sprigs of parsley or watercress.

Hints For Broiling.

While the process of broiling is going on the fish should be basted with oil or butter once or twice.

The broiler should be heated and oiled before the fish is put into it, and it should be turned about every fifteen seconds while the broiling is going on.

Broiled fish may be served with maitre d'hotel butter.

Trout Saute.—Clean, cut into pieces and wipe dry after washing. Salt and pepper the fish, roll in sifted cracker crumbs and saute in hot pork fat until a golden brown. Serve with parsley and slices of lemon.

How to Cook Small Fish.

Baked Trout With Forcemeat.—Clean and dress and through a slit fill the fish with forcemeat made by pounding in the mortar fish from which skin and bones have been taken and to which has been added the whites of two eggs and half a cup of cream. When the trout have been stuffed brush with melted butter or olive oil. Season the fish, lay on slices of bacon or salt pork and wrap in sheets of buttered paper. Bake in a hot oven, and when ready to serve remove the papers and lay on thin slices of toasted bread. They may be served with tomato sauce.

Fried Trout.—Clean the fish, wash and drain. Sprinkle with about half a teaspoonful of salt and roll in a mixture of sifted cornmeal and flour. Take salt pork, using about an eighth of a pound of pork to each pound of fish. Cut the pork into thin slices and place in the frying pan. Fry to a crisp brown. Now take out the pork and lay the trout in the frying pan. Fry brown on both sides. Serve with the pork and sprigs of watercress.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Use a Gas Range

- AND -

Gas Heater

And Save Coal Bills

PRICE OF GAS REDUCED

Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.

11 Granite Street

MRS. LORILLARD A SUICIDE

Prominent Society Woman Who Eloped With Harvard Student

New York, March 18.—Mrs. Kathleen L. Lorillard, wife of Beekman Lorillard, a millionaire clubman, killed herself in the Holland House, where she had joined her husband after his return from a tour of the world. While he was engaging an automobile to take them out for a drive, she hanged herself in the bathroom of their apartment.

"Mrs. Lorillard had been suffering from neurasthenia, and probably was seized with a sudden impulse to kill herself because of her illness," said Coroner Feinberg, who made an inquiry into her death.

Ten years ago, when 18 years old, Mrs. Lorillard, then Kathleen L. Doyle, eloped and married Beekman Lorillard, who was a student at Harvard university. She was the daughter of a Washington banker and had been prominent in society before and after her marriage.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi		5 41	5 45 ihgfedcba		6 14 r
r 6 16 abcd		6 35	6 12 ihgfedcba		6 39 r
r 6 33 e		6 49	6 30 a		6 47
r 6 40 abcf		7 00	7 15 hgfedcba		7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd		7 30	7 41 a		7 58
r 7 25 d		7 42	7 45 c		8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp		7 48	8 35 cb		8 53
7 42 ab		8 00	8 42 a		8 59
7 57 a		8 13	9 20 fedba		9 42 r
r 8 09 abcd		8 31	9 45 a		10 01 r
r 8 30 Exp		8 45	10 15 ihgfedcba		1041 r
r 8 53 ad		9 10	10 50 Exp		11 05
r 9 15 abc		9 33	11 15 hgfedcba		11 41 r
r 10 03 a		10 20	11 50 a		12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi		10 45	12 15 hgfedcba		12 41 r
11 12 a		11 28	12 37 a		12 54
r 11 24 abcdefgh		11 50	12 50 Exp		1 05
12 04 a		12 20	1 17 fedcba		1 40 r
r 12 19 abcdefghi		12 45	1 45 a		2 02
r 1 22 a		1 40	2 15 abcdef		2 37 r
2 04 a		2 20	2 35 Exp		2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh		2 45	3 15 hgfedcba		3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp		3 28	3 45 a		4 02
4 04 a		4 20	4 12 fedcba		4 34 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh		4 52	4 41 c		4 58
5 06 Exp		5 10	5 14 a		5 31
r 5 30 abcdefg		5 55	5 24 a		5 42
6 12 a		6 30	5 31 dcb		5 50 r
7 03 b		7 21	5 43 a		6 00 r
r 7 22 Exp		7 37	5 55 fedcba		6 21 r
r 7 30 a		7 46	6 14 Exp		6 30 r
r 8 07 abcdef		8 30	6 31 ecba		6 52 r
r 9 01 abc		9 20	7 00 fedcba		7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef		10 30	7 12 a		7 29
r 11 25 abc		11 45	8 05 fedcba		8 28 r
			9 25 dba		9 46 r
			10 35 fedcba		11 02 r
			11 10 fedcba		11 35 r
			11 30 ba		11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43 abc	8 03	6 30 ba		6 48 r
	8 30 Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfedcba		9 13 r
	8 34 abc	8 52	9 05 Exp		9 21
r	8 46 bedefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedcba		10 42 r
r	9 13 abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba		12 42 r
	9 31 a	9 47	12 45 Exp		1 01
	10 23 ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedcba		1 57 r
	11 00 Exp	11 17	2 15 hgfedcba		2 42 r
r	11 16 abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba		3 42 r
	1 02 Exp	1 17	4 27 cba		4 48 r
r	1 16 abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba		5 42 r
r	3 10 abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedcba		6 42 r
r	4 16 abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 cba		7 19 r
r	5 07 abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba		8 41 r
r	6 16 abcdefghi	6 43	8 45 a		9 02 r
	7 15 Exp	7 30	9 30 ihgfedcba		9 57 r
r	7 21 abcdefghi	7 47	10 45 cba		11 04 r
r	8 11 abcdefghi	8 38
r	9 12 a	9 30
r	10 46 abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.30 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10.15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 10.15 P. M.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Perris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balsam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

(Continued from last issue)

The boy saw a man of sixty, whose gross and battered visage told its own story. There was a sparse white frost about his ears; and his eyes pale blue and prominent, looked out from under beetling brows. He wore a shabby plum-colored coat and tight drab breeches. About his fat neck was a black stock, with just a suggestion of soiled linen showing above it. His figure was corpulent and unwieldy.

"You don't belong in these parts do you?" asked the judge, when he had completed his scrutiny.

"No, sir," answered the boy. He glanced off down the road, where lights were visible among the trees "What town is that?"

"Pleasantville—which is a lie—but I am neither sufficiently drunk nor sufficiently sober to cope with the possibilities your question offers. Have you so much as fifty cents about you?" and the judge's eyes narrowed to a slit above their folds of puffy flesh. Hannibal, keeping his glance fixed on the man's face, fell back a step. "I can't let you go if you are penniless—I can't do that!" cried the judge, with sudden vehemence. "You shall be my guest for the night. They're a pack of thieves at the tavern," he lowered his voice. "I know 'em, for they've plucked me!" He rested a fat hand on the boy's shoulder and drew him gently but firmly into the shanty. With flint and steel he made a light, and presently a candle was sputtering in his hands. He fitted it into the neck of a tall bottle, and as the light flared up the boy glanced about him.

The interior was mean enough, with its rough walls, dirt floor and black, cavernous fireplace. A shakedown bed in one corner of the room was tastefully screened from the public gaze by a tattered quilt.

"Boy, don't be afraid. Look on me as a friend," urged the judge.

"I reckon I'll be glad to stop," answered Hannibal.

"Such confidence is inspiring. Are you hungry?"

"Yes, sir," replied Hannibal.

"What do you say to cold fish?" the judge smacked his lips to impart a relish to the idea. "I dare swear I can find you some corn bread into the bargain." He began to assemble the dainties he had enumerated. "Here you are!" he cleared his throat impressively, while benignity shone from every feature of his face. "A moment since you allowed me to think you were solvent to the extent of fifty cents—" Hannibal looked puzzled. "I wonder if you could be induced to make a temporary loan of that fifty cents? The sum involved is really such a ridiculous trifle I don't need to point out to you the absolute moral certainty of my returning it at an early date."

It was not the loss of his money that Hannibal most feared, and the coin passed from his possession into his host's custody.

"Thank you, my boy! I must step down to the tavern—when I return, please God, we shall know more of each other." While he was still speaking, he had produced a jug from behind the quilt that screened his bed, and now took himself off into the night.

Left alone, Hannibal gravely seated himself at the table. What the judge's larder lacked in variety it more than made up for in quantity, and the boy was grateful for this fact. Presently he heard the judge's heavy, shuffling step as he came up the path from the road, and a moment later his gross bulk of body filled the doorway. Breathing hard and perspiring, the judge entered the shanty, but his eagerness kept him silent until he had established himself in his chair beside the table, with the jug and a cracked glass at his elbow. Then, bland and smiling, he turned toward his guest.

"My tenderest regards, Hannibal!" and he nodded over the rim of the cracked glass his shaking hand had carried to his lips. Twice the glass was filled and emptied, and then again, his roving, watery eyes rested meditatively on the child. "Have you a father?" he asked suddenly. Hannibal shook his head. "A mother?"

"They both of them done died years and years ago," answered the boy. "I can't tell you how long back it was, but I reckon I don't know much about it. I must have been a small child."

"Ho—a small child!" cried the judge, laughing. He cocked his head on one side and surveyed Hannibal Wayne Hazard with a glance of comic seriousness. "In God's name what do you call yourself now?"

"I'm most ten," said Hannibal, with dignity.

"I can well believe it," responded the judge. "Where did you come from?"

"From across the mountains."

"And where are you going?"

"To west Tennessee."

"Have you any friends there?"

"Yes, sir."

"You've money enough to see you through?" and what the judge intended for a smile of fatherly affection became a leer of infinite cunning.

"I got ten dollars."

"Ten dollars—" the judge smacked his lips once. "Ten dollars—" he repeated, and smacked his lips twice.

The purple flush on the judge's face, where the dignity that belonged to age had gone down in wreck, deepened.

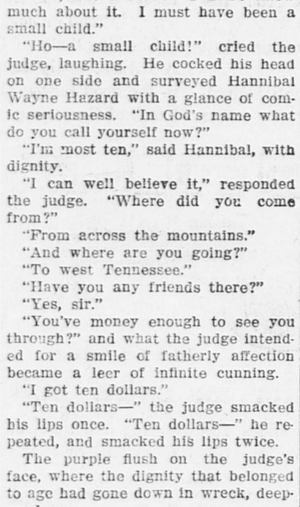
He quitted his chair and, lurching somewhat as he did so, began to pace the floor.

"Take me for your example, boy! You may be poor, you may possibly be hungry—you'll often be thirsty, but through it all you will remain that splendid thing—a gentleman! Perhaps you'll contend that the old order is overthrown, that family has gone to the devil? You are right, and there's the pity of it! The social fabric is tottering—I can see it totter—" and he tottered himself as he said this.

"Well, I'm an old man—the spectacle won't long offend me. I'll die presently." He was so profoundly moved by the thought that he could not go on. His voice broke, and he buried his face in his arms. A sympathetic moisture had gathered in the child's eyes. He slipped from his chair and stole to the judge's side.

"I'm mighty sorry you're going to die."

"Bless you, Hannibal!" cried the judge, looking wonderfully cheerful despite his recent bitterness of spirit "I'm not experiencing any of the pangs of mortality now. My dissolution ain't a matter of tonight or tomorrow—



'His Grandson Is Back of That Curtain, Now—Asleep in My Bed."

there's some life in Slocum Price yet, for all the rough usage, eh? I think you'd better go to bed."

"I reckon I had," agreed Hannibal, slipping from his chair.

"Well, take my bed back of the quilt. You'll find a hoe there. You can dig up the dirt under the shuck tick with it—which helps astonishingly. What would the world say if it could know that Judge Slocum Price makes his bed with a hoe!"

Hannibal retired behind the quilt. "Do you find it comfortable?" the judge asked, when the rustling of the shuck tick informed him that the child had lain down.

"Yes, sir," said the boy.

"Have you said your prayers?" inquired the judge.

"No, sir. I ain't said 'em yet."

"Well, say them now. Religion is as becoming in the young as it is respectable in the aged. I'll not disturb you tonight, for it is God's will that I should stay up and get very drunk."

CHAPTER VIII.

Boon Companions.

Some time later the judge was aware of a step on the path beyond his door, and glancing up, saw the tall figure of a man pause on his threshold. A whispered curse slipped from between his lips. Aloud he said:

"Is that you, Mr. Mahaffy?" He got no reply, but the tall figure, propelled by very long legs, stalked into the shanty and a pair of keen, restless eyes deeply set under a high, bald head were bent curiously upon him.

"I take it I'm intruding," the newcomer said sourly.

"Why should you think that, Solomon Mahaffy? When has my door been closed on you?" the judge asked, but there was a guilty deepening of the flush on his face. Mr. Mahaffy glanced at the jug, at the half-emptied glass, lastly at the judge himself.

"You seem to be raising first-rate hell all by yourself."

"Oh, be reasonable, Solomon. You'd gone down to the steamboat landing," said the judge plaintively. By way of answer, Mahaffy shot him a contemptuous glance. "Take a chair—do, Solomon!" entreated the judge.

"When did I ever sneak a jug into my shanty?" asked Mahaffy sternly, evidently conscious of entire rectitude in this matter.

"I deplore your choice of words, Solomon," said the judge. "You know damn well that if you'd been here I couldn't have got past your place with that jug! But let's deal with conditions. Here's the jug, with some liquor left in it—here's a glass. Now what more do you want?"

Mr. Mahaffy drew near the table.

"Sit down," urged the judge.

"I hope you feel mean?" said Mahaffy.

"If it's any satisfaction to you, I do," admitted the judge.

"You ought to." Mahaffy drew forward a chair. The judge filled his glass.

"What's the news from the landing?"

Mahaffy brought his fist down on the table.

"I heard the boat churning away round back of the bend, then I saw the lights, and she tied up and they tossed off the freight. Then she churned away again and her lights got back of the trees on the bank. There was the lap of waves on the shore, and I was left with the half-dozen miserable loafers who'd crawled out to see the boat come in. That's the news six days a week!"

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

M'FARLAND IS GUILTY OF DEATH OF WOMAN

Jury Recommends "Extreme Mercy" For the Clergyman

Pittsburgh, March 18.—Rev. William D. McFarland, formerly of Worcester, Mass., and head of the United Presbyterian mission school at Greeneville, Tenn., was found guilty of causing the death of his former secretary, Miss Elsie D. Coe. The jury recommended "extreme mercy." The judge's charge favored the defendant.

The convicted clergyman is 60 years old. He has felt keenly the disgrace to his wife and two children. Miss Coe, who was in her twenties, made charges against McFarland which led to his arrest, and her death followed soon. She was his secretary when he was head of the academic department of the Pittsburgh high school.

Dr. McFarland was arrested at Cedar Creek and protested his innocence.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Quincy, and Good Reason for it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
She finds relief and cure?
No reson why any Quincy reader
Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. E. H. Prouty, 85 North street, Quincy, Mass., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cured me of kidney trouble and I am only too pleased to recommend them to anyone in need of a kidney medicine. I was subject to backaches and headaches and the secretions from my kidneys also bothered me. It required the contents of only two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills to effect a complete cure. Another member of my family who was afflicted with kidney trouble used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

REAR ADMIRAL MELVILLE

Was Noted Authority on Arctic Exploration

SUCCUMBS TO PARALYSIS

Death of Rear Admiral Melville, an Authority on Naval Affairs

Philadelphia, March 18.—Rear Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N., retired, died at his home here from paralysis. He was national commander of the Loyal Legion at the time of his death, and was a noted authority on Arctic exploration as well as engineering and naval affairs.

Rear Admiral Melville, who was placed on the retired list Jan. 10, 1903, was 72 years old. For sixteen years he was chief of the bureau of steam engineering in the navy department. He was appointed an assistant engineer in the navy in 1861 and was a member of both the Jeanette and the Greely relief expeditions to the Arctic Circle.

Among the colleges which conferred honorary degrees upon him in recognition of his scientific work were the University of Pennsylvania, Harvard, Columbia, Georgetown and Stevens institute.

CANAL BILL REPORTED

Measure Bars Vessels That Are Controlled by Railroads

Washington, March 18.—The report of the committee on commerce on the Panama canal bill was made to the house by Chairman Adamson. The report discusses at length the various features of the bill, including the amendments which would bar the canal to vessels controlled by railroads.

The absolute control of the canal is given President Taft, as well as the control of the toll rates to be charged. The bill provides, however, that the tolls shall not exceed $1.25 per net registered ton and that no preference shall be given American-owned vessels through the remission of tolls.

If the women were running the government, they would find some way quick enough to prevent the men from smashing windows.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
Old Furniture Revinished.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 342-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1-m

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

H. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.
INSURANCE REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES CONVEYANCES TRUSTS
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE PROPERTY CARE OF MORTGAGES

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see
Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's
samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 100 new samples to choose from Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.
Room 4 Johnson Bldg. 14-6t

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1 m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 28-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

MAIN Spring in your watch 25 cts. Watch crystals reduced from 25 cts. to 20 cts. Perfect glass. MacMillan, 1463 Hancock street, (Singer Shop.) 18-3t

FOR SALE—Columbia graphaphone with 60 records and two horns. Nearly new. Will sell cheap or trade for hens. W. R. Drake. The Hen Man. Hayward street, East Braintree. 18-3t O-23-1w

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air, This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

Hoop-Iron "Mainsprings for 25cts.," we don't keep; we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appl at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Washing and ironing to take home. Apply 50 Smith street, West Quincy. 18-2t

WANTED—Young lady or gentleman of refinement, 25 to 30, is offered congenial and renumerative employment all or part of time. Address Box 1748 Boston P. O. 18-1t

ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER— Accurate at figures, familiar with typewriter, neat in penmanship. Apply to Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 18-tf

I WILL fit your eyes with the best $1.00 glasses on earth. I challenge a better record of satisfaction, square dealing, with honest goods. My ability and reliability to fit eyes successfully are too well known to make further mention. No charge for testing the eyesight. All glasses go at half the price charged by others. MacMillan the cut price Graduate Optician, 1463 Hancock street (Singer Shop) 18-3t

WANTED — Monument draftsman and bookkeeper desires position as such, or foreman. First class on Mausoleum detail work, 10 years' experience. Address G. M. 96 Glencoe place, Quincy. 16-3t

WANTED—Cooks, laundress, general work and experienced nursery maid, also housekeeper. Have only first-class families, best of wages, reliable office. 30 years' experience. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Tel. 485-W. 15-3t

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

Have You Tried The
X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

READ LEDGER ADVS.

TO LET

TO LET—House of seven rooms with all modern improvements. Inquire at 68 Goddard street, Quincy. 18-6t

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 16-6t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 13-6t

UPLAND ROAD House, 8 rooms, bath, hot and cold water, laundry, gas and electrics, furnace and range. Rent per month $35. Vacant April 1st. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Tel. 256-W. 12-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

FOR RENT—An apartment of five rooms in pleasant neighborhood in centre of Quincy. Also a furnished apartment of three rooms. Modern improvements. Address P. O. Box 367 Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x33 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

(ADVERTISE.)

GOOD ARGUMENT FOR PUBLIC DOCK

Would Save City $536 on Contract for Water Pipe

THE BIDS

It has often been argued that if Quincy had a public dock a great saving could be made in freight rates. This fact was brought forcibly to mind this morning when Commissioner Tupper opened bids for furnishing the city with cast iron water pipe. The Commissioner advertised for 565 tons of pipe of 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 inch sizes and several bids were received as follows.

United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Co., 4 inch, $25.20 per ton, 6 and 8 inch. $23.45 per ton, 10 and 12 inch $22.70 per ton.

R. D. Wood & Co. $22.70 per ton if shipped by rail and $21.75 per ton if shipped by water.

M. J. Drummond & Co. 4 inch, $25.55 per ton. 6 inch, $23.75 per ton. 8. 10 and 12 inch. $23.30 per ton.

Charles Miller & Sons Co.. $22.19 per ton for immediate shipment..

It will be noticed by the bid of R. D. Wood & Co.. that if the pipe can be shipped by water the saving will be 95 cents per ton which means a saving in round figures of $536 on the amount the city is to purchase. This represents the interest of 4 per cent or over $10.000. Quite a saving to the city.

BRIEFS

Chester Rogers of Plymouth spent the week end with friends in Wollaston.

Mrs. William F. Cummings of Elm avenue is spending a month with her parents in Philadelphia.

Mrs, Arthur H. Cook of Weymouth spent the week end with Mrs. Albert E. Kingsbury of Newton street

Miss Sybil Hobbs of Clark street, is confined to her home with the German measles.

Allison Marsh has so far recovred from his recent illness that he was able to return to Amhurst college today.

Olive Fuller of Botolph street, who has been very sick with tonsilitis in its worst form is reported some better.

The class in Parliamentary Law meets at the club house. of the Quincy Women's club tomorrow morning at 10.30.

Mrs. Dickson, Miss Barbara Dickson and Mrs. John L. Morrison of Plymouth spent the week end with the Edward Miners of Old Colony avenue, Wollaston.

Miss Louisa Allison Ross of Phillips street who has been ill for two weeks with a severe attack of tonsilitis is convalescing. Her many friends are hoping to soon see her out again.

Miss Adelaide Spencer celebrated her birthday by attending the Rose Maid at the Colonial theatre, Boston, Saturday evening in company with her mother and aunt. The opperetta was much enjoyed by all.

A reception is to be tendered the new secretary of the Associated Charities tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Women's clubhouse to which interested friends will be welcome.

Mrs. J. J. Curtis left last week for Canterbury, Conn., after an entended visit with her mother Mrs. James Forrest of Hancock street. Mr. Curtis went down a fortnight ago to settle their new home. Their home has previously been in Jersey City, New Jersey..

Mrs. F. Crowell of Right street, West Medford, entertained the G. Y. W. N. K., club of Atlantic and Wollaston, at whist Friday afternoon. Souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Howes, Mrs. A. H. Hall, Mrs. Harvey Holt, Miss Laura Coles and Miss Maud Read. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

MARRIAGES

KLINE—BILL—In Quincy, March 16th by Rev. Edward Norton, Mr. George A Kline and Miss Isabelle J. Bill, all of this city.

Established 1870 · Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

HIBERNIANS CELEBRATE

(Continued from Page One.)

close no one who has done more for his fellow man than St. Patrick.

"Ireland I Bid you the Top of the Morning," the famous poem written by John Locke, was then recited by Leo P. Noonan.

This was followed by Col. Henry L. Kincaide, who spoke in a forceful manner on the Irish surroundings that had impressed him on his recent visit to Europe. Mr. Kincaide said being himself a mixture of Scotch and Irish, he felt right at home at the banquet. He paid a high tribute to John Redmond, the Irish leader.

Dennis Sweeney received great applause for his rendition of a song and responded to several encores.

The closing address was by County President Daniel F. Slattery, on "Irish Leaders in History." Mr. Slattery spoke in eloquent style, bringing out the various characters that had played so conspicuous a part in the development of the world. Giving the toast "Here's to good old Division 5, may its shadows never grow less," the speaker led up to the present day situations and told of how the men of Irish extraction were combating the problems of the times. He spoke of the developments of the Irish race in the course of history and the influence of the Irish leaders. Mr. Slattery spoke of the Order of Hibernians, and the part the members are now playing in all walks of life.

Much of the success of the banquet was due to the committee of arrangements, composed of members and the Ladies' Auxiliary. They were Thomas J. Welsh, chairman, Mrs. Mary E. Tanner, secretary, James M. Cantfill, treasurer, Patrick J. Ferguson, David M. Warner, Daniel Mannix, James McFadden, John Coughlin, Matthew Fay, Mrs. E. Powers, Mrs. J. Queenan, Mrs. J. McFadden, Miss Agnes Colligan, Miss Mary Costello and Mrs. Thomas Cotter.

BRIEFS

After t long and serious illness Mrs. James Sullivan of Payne street is able to get out in the yard when the weather is fine

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wade for many years residents of Gay street are soon to move to Quincy avenuefi, having sold their house.

Chief Engineer A. L. Litchfield has appointed Richard Williams as a member of the permanent fire department under the civil service rules. The chef says that there are now eght vacancies in the call department service which should stimulate a large call for the civil service examination which is to be held April 10.

ANDERSON—PETERSON.

A wedding of exceptional interest among the Swedish residents of this city, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olof Peterson, 5 Spring avenue, when their daughter Sophia was united in wedlock to Ernest Anderson of Granite street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gerhard W. Palmgren, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church. By a peculiar coincidence, a brother of the bride, who was born on Feb 22 and who bears the name of William Washington Peterson was christened by the same minister about one hour previous to the wedding ceremony.

The sponsors of the child were Ellen Anderson and Axel Peterson. At the wedding the bride was attended by Amanda Peterson, sister of the bridesmaid and Dorothy Brown of Pittsfield. The bridegroom was attended by Axel and Charles Peterson.

Both ceermonies were attended by immediate relatives and friends. After the wedding, the party repairde to Union hall, where a recepton was held in conjunction with a wedding banquet. The affair was brought to a close with an entertainment and danc ing.

NOMINATION PARTY.

A nomination party was held last night at the Quincy Young Men's Hebrew Association enjoyed by twenty couples among them being Miss Annie Grossman, Miss Frances Catler, Miss Bell Ribinson, Mss Alice Avonson Miss Rebecca Shane, Miss Sarah Shane, Miss Rebecca Coughman, Miss Louise Shered, Miss Sophie Coffman, Miss Etta Litchman, Miss Fannie Litchman, Max Cutler, Judia Smith, Edward Berman, Hary Golpin, Myer Sochat, Louis Shered, Alex Desman, W. Wolf, I. Wolf, Abraham Silver and Percy Swatz. There were piano selections by Miss Etta Litchman; violin selections by Edward Berman and songs and speaking by Percy Swatz. Refreshments were served.

High Official Quits Office

Berlin, March 18.—Dissatisfied with the system of finances to cover army and navy expenditures, Adolf Wermuth, imperial secretary of the treasury, resigned. Under Secretary Kuhr was appointed to succeed him.

ROSALSKY GETS BOMB BY MAIL

Intended Victim of Infernal Machine Escapes Injury

QUICKLY SUMMONS POLICE

Inspector Who Responds Loses Some of His Fingers and Is Otherwise Hurt—Judge In Brandt Case Has No Suspicion as to Who Sent Bomb—Forgery Sentence May Have Prompted the Deed

New York, March 18.--An attempt to kill Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the court of criminal sessions with a bomb came within a hair's-breadth of being successful. It was only a defect, said to be a small collection of dirt in the machine, which the justice had unsuspicously opened, that saved him. The bomb later exploded while being examined by Inspector Egan of the bureau of combustibles, inflicting serious injuries.

Judge Rosalsky it was who gave thirty years to Brandt, Mortimer Schiff's valet, and afterward reversed his action.

The bomb came in the regular mail delivered by a postman at Rosalsky's apartments in the "Hendrick Hudson" on Riverside Drive. It was accepted by the colored maid and put on the table in Rosalsky's library. There was nothing of a suspicious character to the package.

An hour afterwards Rosalsky reached his home and began to open the package while talking to his wife. He took off the wrapper and found a plain white paseboard box not unlike an ordinary collar box. Rosalsky's own story of what then happened follows:

"I took the cover off without the slightest care. My first glimpse at the contents of the box was enough. I backed out of the room as quickly as my feet would carry me, calling out to my wife and brother, 'Why, it's a bomb.' I rushed to the telephone and summoned police and called headquarters with a special request for experts on bombs. Egan came with David I. Kelly, superintendent of the bureau of combustibles.

"Be careful," I told Egan, as he picked up the open box. "But Egan went to work. He took out a little wad of tissue paper which I believe contained fulminating mercury. At that moment I was called out to the telephone, and a moment later I heard the bomb go off in the library. I rushed in and found Egan staggering about, bleeding.

"A police patrolman made a tourniquet of the strap on his night stick and slipped the leather noose over Egan's wrist, tightening it to stop the flow of blood from Egan's hand, the fingers of which had been blown off. Egan's face was full of bleeding wounds, like buckshots, and his forearms and left hand were terribly lacerated."

An ambulance was called from a hospital, and as Egan was being carried to the vehicle he said: "This is tough. After I've been working for seventeen years, have opened hundreds of bombs and infernal machines, I am caught. I knew it was bound to come to me in the end."

Judge Rosalsky said that he had no suspicions as to who sent the bomb. Asked if he believed that the Brandt case had anything to do with the bomb sending, he replied: "I refuse to answer. What do you think?"

Judge Rosalsky was also asked what other court cases he had had lately, and he mentioned a sentence of twelve years which he recently imposed on Charles Carlessi, a forger. A few days before Carlessi was sentenced the court got a letter in which the unknown writer threatened to blow up the criminal court building if the prisoner was sentenced.

At the hospital Egan's wounds were found to be less serious than at first supposed, but he was weak from loss of blood.

KICK ON CITY WATER

Prisoners In Trenton Jail to Be Supplied With Spring Product

Trenton, March 18.—Declaring that Trenton drinking water made their jail life unbearable, the prisoners of the Mercer county jail summoned Warden Darcy and their spokesman told him they must have better drinking water.

The jail is crowded far beyond its accommodating number, and after a conference of the jail committee of the board of freeholders it was decided to serve the prisoners with bottled spring water.

Boy Accidentally Kills Brother

Peabody, Mass., March 18.—William Driscoll, 16 years old, was accidentally shot by his brotner, Frank Driscoll, and died in fifteen minutes. Four boys were playing about a hut built of brush in the woods and had three 22-calibre rifles. Frank Driscoll was handling one of the rifles when it was discharged in some unknown way, the bullet entering the right breast of his brother.

JOHN F. HILL

Noted Pine Tree State Man Passes Away at Boston

© 1911, by Harris & Ewing.

DEATH OF HILL CAUSES REGRET

Taft and Many Others Send Messages of Condolence

TO BE BURIED AT AUGUSTA

Former Governor of Maine Had Been Prominent Figure In Home State For More Than Score of Years—Chairman of Republican National Committee at Time of Death From Heart Failure In Hotel In Boston

Boston, March 18.—The body of former Governor John F. Hill of Maine, who died at the Touraine, will be taken to Augusta tomorrow. The body will be accompanied by Mrs. Hill, her son, Percy, and daughter, Katherine L.

The funeral services will take place at the Hill home tomorrow and the officiating clergyman will be Rev. Dr. Charles A. Hayden of Oakland, former pastor of the Universalist church Hill attended. The interment will be in the family lot at Forest Grove cemetery.

At the Touraine messages of condolence poured in on the family. One of the first to be received was from President and Mrs. Taft expressing sympathy for his widow. Others were received from several members of the Republican national committee, of which Hill was chairman, and many city and state officials.

Mrs. Hill and her son were with the former governor when he passed away. Death was due to heart disease, from which he had suffered for several years.

John F. Hill was a prominent figure in Maine for more than twenty years and an active leader in national politics for the last sixteen years. He was governor of Maine from 1900 to 1904, after having served in the Maine house of representatives from 1889 to 1893 and in the state senate from 1893 to 1897.

During the last presidential campaign he was regarded as the original Taft man and he was appointed chairman of the national committee to succeed Frank H. Hitchcock when the latter became postmaster general.

He was born in Elliot, Me., Oct. 29, 1855, and was graduated from Maine medical school of Bowdoin college in 1877. After a year in the practice of his profession he decided to devote his entire energies to a business career.

He was president of the State Trust company, director in the Granite National bank, trustee of the Augusta water district, director of the Augusta general hospital and member of several clubs, the Masons, Society of Colonial Wars, Society of Mayflower Descendants and the Maine Historical society.

ROSEWATER MOVES UP

He Becomes Acting Chairman of Republican National Committee

New York, March 18.—The chairmanship of the Republican national committee, which was made vacant by the death of John F. Hill, will be filled up to the time of the national convention, at least, by Vice Chairman Victor Rosewater, editor and proprietor of the Omaha Bee.

Rosewater is a member of the executive committee of the national committee, and is also a member of the sub-committee of arrangements for the Chicago convention. He is a native of Omaha and 41 years old. His entrance into national politics dates from 1908, when he was selected as delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention from Nebraska.

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

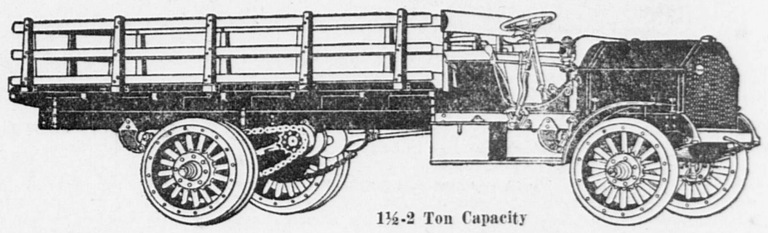
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1500 lb, 1 TON 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenu

TAFT VISITS THE HUB

Takes Part In Ceremonies Attending Evacuation Day Celebration

Boston, March 18.—South Boston is having its biggest and best Evacuation day celebration, and with the ringing of bells and firing of salutes, the holiday was ushered in this morning. The district is aglow with the national colors and the green flag of the Emerald Isle.

The main feature of the day's program will be the parade this afternoon. The Evacuation day committee has been working for months to make the reception to the president and the celebration of the 136th anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British troops, the greatest in South Boston's history.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians and other Irish organizations celebrated St. Patrick's day in all sections of the city with banquets and entertainments.

SUIT MADE "TO ORDER"

None In Prison Stock Large Enough to Fit "Big Bill" Keliher

Boston, March 18.—William J. Keliher, "Big Bill," who has just started upon his sentence of eighteen years at the Charlestown state prison, will occupy the working days of the week as a cutter in the underwear department, having been assigned to that duty. Keliher went to work this morning.

Keliher spent some time in the prisoners' fitting room, where many prison suits were tried on him. None would fit. He was finally taken to the tailor shop where the prison tailor measured the giant for a specially made suit.

AUCTION SALE

—of—

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

APRIL 3, 1912 at 9 o'clock A. M.

KINCAIDE'S STORAGE WAREHOUSE

off Granite St., Quincy, Mass.

Will be sold at public auction to satisfy lien for storage—a certain lot of general household furniture now stored in the name of formerly of Wollaston and now or late of Warren, Mass., consisting principally of 2 Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, 2 Bureaus and Glasses, 1 Chiffoniere, 1 Sofa, 1 Book Case, Morris Chair, Parlor Table, 1 Gas Heater, 1 Refrigerator, 1 Room Rug, 1 lot Parlor Furniture, Bedding, Small Rugs, Kitchen Utensils, Clock, Odd Chairs, Rockers, Crib, Drop Side Couch, and many other articles of household goods. Sale positive rain or shine.

W. H. HARWOOD

2t-18-25

TO RE-ENTER WALL STREET

Ex-Banker Morse Is Restored to Good Health and Spirits

Naples, March 18.—Charles W. Morse, who came to Italy with his wife in search of health, seems to have found it. He has been in Naples for some time and not only looks well, but is in the best of spirits.

He and Mrs. Morse are now roaming about Italy, with no particular objective points. The beautiful weather and the balmy airs of the Mediterranean have so improved Morse that those who saw him when he left New York on Feb. 14 would hardly recognize him.

Morse several times said he wanted to be back "in the game," and it seems certain he will return to New York and get back into Wall street.

Attack on Suffragettes

Glasgow, March 18.—Militant suffragettes got a taste of their own medicine here when 1000 shipyard apprentices attacked the headquarters of the suffragettes. Windows were smashed and doors torn off before the police drove off the rioters.

Contgratulates Boy Scouts

Seattle, March 18.—General Baden-Powell, originator of the Boy Scout movement, has completed his American tour. He issued an address of congratulation to the Boy Scouts of America.

COLLAPSES WHILE ON RAILROAD TRAIN

Dr. Walker Overcome by Strain of Work For Suffrage

New York, March 18.—Stricken with illness, induced by exposure during her work for the suffrage cause in Washington and Albany, Dr. Mary E. Walker collapsed while traveling on a train from the latter city to New York. She was hurried to the Presbyterian hospital in a critical condition, and a telegram summoning relatives to her bedside was sent to Oswego, N. Y.

Dr. Walker, who is about 80 years old, has been devoting all of her energy to waging a vigorous campaign for the suffragists.

Among other distinctions Dr. Walker has that of being the first woman physican in the world to hold a commission as assistant army surgeon. She was promoted to this position after service as a nurse on the battlefields of the Civil war, during which she had adopted the practice of wearing trousers.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 18

Eggs, Fancy, large, brown, strictly fresh,	doz.	25c
Peanut Butter,	per lb.	12c
Quaker Oats, Family size, with china,	pkg	21c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless large can 7c	small	4c
Raisins, Seeded, fancy,	pkg	9c
Corn, Fancy Maine, Wilton brand,	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska,	tall can	11c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Soap, Ives Family,	bar	3c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria,	can	9c
Peaches. California festival, fancy,	can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked,	can	8c
Starch, Fancy Laundry,	3 lbs	11c
Ketchup, Blue Label,	large bottle	17c
Maple Sugar Syrup, "Golden Tree"	large bot.	22c
Crackers, Baby Lunch,	per lb.	8c
Oranges, Fancy California Navel,	doz.	25c

Mar. 11--M. W. F.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 67 QUINCY MASS., TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 19, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

COUNCIL AMENDS ADVISORY BOARD ORDER AND PASSES IT

Mayor Stone Makes Sharp Answer to Questions Asked by Councilman Cunningham

Unusual Large Number of New Orders are Offered

Monday night's meeting of the City Council was the longest of any held thus far this year. There was considerable business transacted, but the long meeting was due to the prolonged debate on the so-called advisory board order. It was evident at beginning of the debate that the order would pass in some form but the opposition composed of Councilmen Cunningham, Craig, Richards and President Hobbs was determined that the matter should be thoroughly thrashed out and they had their way. During the debate there were several sharp passage-at-arms between the Mayor and Councilman Cunningham but nothing came of them.

Before the order was passed however, the clause paying the five men a salary of eleven hundred dollars was stricken out and it was provided that they should be allowed one thousand dollars for clerical services and expenses.

Another important matter that came up was a partial report of the special committee on Financial Investigation. This report will be found in full in another column and is interesting reading, inasmuch as their investigation has disclosed the fact that one department last year bought goods in November and gave orders that the bills should be dated March 1, 1912.

Councilman Gilliatt was the only absent member.

COST OF NEW STREETS

A communication was received from the Commissioner giving the cost of the construction of the following streets built under the betterment act:—Ballou, Bedford, Belmont, Birch, Fayette, Germain avenue, Hill, Plymouth, Ritchie road, Royal, Buckley, Dimmock, Euclid avenue, Kemper, Marlboro, Phillips, Tyler, West Squantum and Ring avenue. Referred to Finance Committee.

JUROR.

A venire was received for the drawing of one grand juror. The Mayor, City Clerk and Councilman Beeman drew Michael T. Sullivan according to law.

ANOTHER VETO.

Mayor Stone's third veto of the year came in the form of a communication returning Order No. 68 without his approval. This order was one taking Baxter avenue as a part of the Park system and requesting the Mayor to have plans and specifications for rebuilding the same.

The Mayor in his veto says:— "I hereby return, without my approval, Order No. 68 that the approach to Ward (2) Two public playgrounds be taken and accepted as a part of the Park system, as the Order is not properly drawn. I find that a public hearing will have to be given before the order can properly come before me."

The veto was sustained.

INSPECTOR OF ANIMALS.

The Mayor announced the appointment of Francis Abele as Inspector of Animals. Confirmed.

ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

The mayor forwarded the appointment of the following Assistant Assessors:—George T. Westland, Chester B. Mellen, August N. Weeden, Willard Burke, Felix Favoritte, William Briggs. Placed on file.

From the Mayor appointing E. Frank Mitchell, and John H. Winsloe as public weighers and Thomas N. White as a constable. Confirmed.

From the Mayor stating that the land at the corner of Washington and Coddington street could not be purchased for $4,500 but that the price was $8,000. Placed on file.

HOLMES STREET.

A petition was received asking for the acceptance of Holmes street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

SIDEWALK APPORTIONMENTS

A number of petitions asking for apportionment of sidewalk assessments were received and referred to Committee on Finance.

POLE LOCATIONS.

The Electric Light Co., petitioned for a location for a number of poles. Referred to Committee on Streets.

PENN STREET.

Councilman Richards offered a petition for the paving of Penn street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

SAVILLE AVENUE.

Councilman Ross presented a petition for the acceptance of Saville avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

FINANCIAL INVESTIGATION.

The Special Committee on Financial Investigation made a partial report, which will be found in full elsewhere, and offered an order appropriating $1,900.58 to pay deficit bills of 1911 the same to be transferred from supplementary tax receipts of 1911 paid in 1912. Adopted.

FIRE APPARATUS.

The Committee on Fire Department reported an order for $5,000 for the purchase of an automobile chemical and hose wagon for the Atlantic fire station. The order also provides that the present combination hose and chemical now at Atlantic shall be transferred to the West Quincy fire station. Referred to Committee on Finance.

FIRE ALARM BOXES

The Committee on Fire Department reported an order for $335 for fire alarm boxes. The order provides that Box 227 in City Square shall be changed to a non-interfering box and that the box now used as 227 be placed on Forest avenue. The order also provides for three fire alarm boxes at Squantum. Referred to Committee on Finance.

POLICE WIRES.

The Committee on Police reported an order appropriating $1,000 for repair of the police signal wires. Referred to Finance Committee.

AUTO DEPT. TURNED DOWN.

The Committee on Fire Department reported they ought not to pass on the order for $49,000 for auto fire apparatus to take the place of the present horse drawn apparatus. Report accepted.

SIDEWALK APPORTIONMENTS.

The Finance Committee reported orders apportioning sidewalk assessments into ten equal parts. Orders adopted.

SEWER EXTENSION.

The Finance Committee reported, ought to pass on the order appropriating $40,000 for sewer extensions. Rules suspended and order passed.

ADAMS SCHOOL LOT.

The Finance Committee reported, ought to pass on the order appropriating $8,000 for the purchase of land at South Quincy for a school lot for the new Adams building. Rules suspended and order passed.

TAX REFUND.

The Finance Committee reported an order refunding E. T. Williams $3.85 taxes illegally assessed. Adopted.

FIRE AUTO.

The Finance Committee reported ought not to pass on the order for $620 for an auto for the Chief Engineer. Adopted.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

A public hearing was held at 8 o'clock on petition of the Gas Co., to lay mains. Mr. Nichols appeared in favor and no one against. Hearing closed and order recommitted.

A public hearing was held at 8.15 o'clock on the petition of the Wollaston Central Garage for a license to keep and sell gasoline. Temple A. Winsloe appeared in favor and ex-Councilman Gardner opposed.

The later was subjected to cross examination by a number of the councilmen. The hearing was then closed and the order recommitteed.

SQUANTUM STREET.

Councilman Beeman offered a resolve requesting the Mayor to have the repairs on East Squantum street, completed as soon as possible. Adopted.

CAUCUSES.

Councilman Boyd offered an order designating the polling places for the caucuses of April 30. Adopted.

Councilman Devaney offered an order for a light on Ellerton road. To Street Committee.

DAMAGES WANTED.

Councilman Forde offered an order reimbursing John O'Connell $50. for injuries received by his son at the Gridley Bryant school. Referred to Finance Committee.

CHERRINGTON ROAD.

Councilman Barker offered an order for the acceptance of Cherrington road. To Committee on Streets.

SEA STREET.

On motion of Councilman J. R. S. Ross the order for $15,000 for widening and repairing Sea street was withdrawn from the committee and he offered a new order for $25,000. To Street Committee.

ALBERTINA STREET.

Councilman C. A. Ross offered an order for the rebuilding of Albertina street. To Street Committee.

MORE LIGHT.

Councilman Mahoney offered an order changing the light at Morton and Buckley street to an Arc light.

He also offered an order for two incandescent lights on Soumi road. Referred to Street Committee.

LINCOLN SCHOOL.

Councilman Craig offered an order for $55 to install lights in the Lincoln

(Continued on Page Three.)

PARTIAL REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON FINANCIAL INVESTIGATION

Finds That One Department Ordered Goods in Nov. 1911 and had Bill Dated March 1912

Reports Order for $1,900 53 to Cover Deficit Bills

The Special Committee on financial investigation appointed under Order 33, to whom was referred the communication from the City Auditor of March 4th enclosing a list of deficit bills having considered the same beg leave to make the following report on said communication, and partial report on the result of its investigations in pursuance of said Order:—

Even a superficial examination on the financial condition of the city must convince one that there is something radically wrong with the present method of conducting the city's business, especially in regard to the expenditure of appropriations by members of the Executive Departments.

The function of the City Council is to appropriate money for the various city purposes having due regard to the city's resources. The duty of the Executive Departments in spending the money so appropriated is to make an honest attempt to live within the appropriation and under no circumstances to use money for any purpose other than the specific purpose for which it was appropriated. In both these particulars we find that the various departments and city officials have signally failed in the past.

The communication from the city auditor giving the list of bills contracted last year by the various departments amounting to over $4000 in excess of their appropriations, clearly illustrates the failure to live within their appropriations. So far as we can learn this failure is chronic and it it has become not unusual for an official when he fears that he may over run his appropriation instead of notifying the council and asking for a further appropriation to hold back bills sufficient in amount to leave an apparent balance on hand and then proceed to contract other bills and to pay them from this apparent balance. In one instance we found a bill of goods ordered November 29, 1911 for immediate shipment, and shipped on December 1st, 1911, with the understanding that the bill was to be dated March 1, 1912. Under present ordinances as interpreted, the city auditor's approval of a bill merely means that it has been "correctly cast and duly approved" by the head of the department contracting the same, and that there is an unexpended balance from which to pay it. His approval does not mean that there is an actual unexpended balance in excess of bills chargeable against the appropriation but merely that there is an apparent balance not actually expended sufficient to pay the bill approved. Sound business policy and common honesty would seem to demand that when a bill is contracted and chargeable to an appropriation it should reduce the available balance as surely as though the bill had actually been paid. We believe that the auditor should have actual knowledge of the bills contracted by the various departments when contracted as well as of those bills sent to him for his approval before being paid, and that when the unexpended balance in excess of bills chargeable against the appropriation whether paid or not is insufficient to pay the bill sent to him for approval it should not be approved. To this end we believe that all supplies and material purchased by an official or head of a department should be by written order made in triplicate, one copy to be delivered forthwith to the auditor. No bills should be contracted by such official or head of department in excess of the unexpended balance of the appropriation after deducting all prior orders chargeable against it. This will enable the city auditor to know the actual available balance of each appropriation and to bring it to the attention of the council. To make his approval anything more than perfunctory he should have authority to require an itemized bill and to compare it with the order or orders to see that it is correct and he should refuse to approve it if it is not. Copies of all contracts and correspondence concerning changes in contracts should be in his possession and when bills are rendered arising under them his approval should mean that the bill properly conforms with the terms of the contract. At present he has no such authority and he approves a bill without knowledge of the terms of the contract relying entirely upon the previous approval by the official or head of department.

The other failure on the part of the executive department in the expenditure of appropriations which we find is a growing evil, is the disposition on the part of various officials to disregard the specific purposes for which appropriations were made and to use the money for other purposes in direct violation of the law. The instances of this are many. In one case a department drew from three different budget appropriations, sums sufficient to pay for what clearly required special action on part of the city council and a specific appropriation. It was charged to each appropriation as "supplies and repairs" when in reality it was new construction, and we were not surprised to find deficit bills chargeable to two of these three appropriations. The practice should be stopped at once. It is wasteful in the extreme and is not only a loose method of administration but is at variance even with common business honesty. We believe that before the auditor approves a bill he should be satisfied that it is properly chargeable to the appropriation to which the department official seeks to charge it.

A decent regard for the credit and good name of the city impels us to recommend the passage of the accompanying order making provision for the payment of deficit bills, but we cannot let the occasion pass without registering our emphatic condemnation of such loose methods of adminstration.

We are now considering and shall soon recommend amendments to our present ordinances which we hope will be effective in preventing the recurrence in the future of such practices as the existence of these deficit bills has disclosed.

The report was signed by all of the Special Committee, Councilman Cunningham asked what department it was that ordered goods last November, and had the bill dated March 1, 1912.

Councilman Abele replied that the bill was for supplies for the Board of Health.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS	ROMPERS
"Her Majesty's" Special $1.00 value 79c	"The Little One" Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

SACRED CONCERT DIVISION 4 A.O H.

Give Unusually Fine St. Patrick's Musical Program

ST. MARY'S HALL

The sacred concert held under the auspices of Div. 4, A. O. H. of West Quincy, Sunday evening, proved a great success. The large gathering of people that filled the hall were well repaid while listening to one of the finest musical programs ever presented in Quincy.

The concert opened with an overture, "Medley of Irish Airs" violin solo played by Paul V. Morissette, accompanied by Mrs. Mary McKay Reardon, the enthusasm of the audience stirred as it was by this well rendered overture continued to be well sustained by the other numbers on the program throughout the entire evening.

"Hail Glorious Apostle" was sung by a chorus of young men, whose pleasing voices were greatly appreciated by the audience.

Miss Angela C. McCarthy, Quincy's well-known contralto, rendered "The Irish Love Song" by Lang. The technical rendering of Miss McCarthy's number, her purity of tone, her poise and the ease of her delivery, alike, captivated her hearers. Miss McCarthy is very popular among music lovers and is promised a great future.

Mr. Joseph Ecker rendered "Sweet Dreams" by Tosti, in such a manner as to evoke well merited applause.

The program consisted not alone of musical numbers; there were also well interpreted dramatic readings by that always popular former member of the Old Boston Museum Company, Miss Kate Ryan. If the reader needed any introduction to her audience, she was not long in becoming its favorite. The humor and pathos or her selections served to keep alive the interest and stimulate the delight and pleasure of her auditors to such an extent, that she was accorded repeated returns to the platform.

A quartet, composed of Joseph Morissette, Paul V. Morissette, Peter Morissette and Daniel O'Connell, rendered some of Moore's selections in a very pleasing manner.

The "Kerry Dance" was rendered by Miss Helen L. Galvin and the satisfaction of the audience was shown by well merited applause.

Mr. Daniel J. McGrath's solo, the violin number by Mr. Paul V. Morissettte and Mr. John A. Hoy's St. Patrick's Day, were alike pleasing and satisfactory to the audience, which was shown in an appreciative manner.

Mr. Fred McDonald's selections were received as they always are so as to more firmly fix him as an established favorite with his audience.

WATER STREET GRADE CROSSING

All interested in the abolition of grade crossings, especially that at Water street will want to read the special illustrated article on the Water street crossing which will appear in Wednesday's Ledger. The article is from the pen of a well-known engineer who has made a special study of the plans for the separation of the grades at this crossing, and will contain many new facts, in relation to the same.

DATE OF MEETING CHANGED.

The date of the meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' association of the Washington school which was fixed for March 28, has been changed to tomorrow, March 20. The program will include a gymnastic exhibition and music by the eighth grade, report of the committee on organization and election of officers. A large attendance is expected.

—In April the old wooden receiving ships in navy yards will cease to be of service, the War Department having ordered that recruits shall go directly to modern war vessels.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

A 1912 Tailored Suit Made to your Measure

$17.50

Just for a few days more.

Your choice of one of our $20 garments for $17.50. Cut, designed and stitched to fit You.

Latest Fifth Avenue and Broadway styles.

Everything from Blue Serges to Scotch Mixtures — strictly 1912.

'Twill do no harm to look 'em over.

Bring along your mother, wife, or your best girl—they know what's what when it comes to selecting clothes.

PAYSON-MITCHELL CO.

Dept. of Tailoring

QUINCY

MEN'S CLUBS INVITED.

On Monday evening, April 1st, Melvin M. Johnson, a promising Boston attorney, will address St. Chrysostom's Men's club, taking for his subject "Some legal relics." All of the men's clubs in Wollaston have been invited and a general invitation to all men of the community is extended.

The meeting this week Monday night took the form of a business meeting at which reports were read and club affairs transacted. Adjournment was made at an early hour, the remainder of the evening being devoted to a rehearsal of the minstrel show to be presented by the club in the near future.

An exchange advises people to keep cool and not get excited over the coal strike. If the strike comes off, there will be no trouble about keeping cool.

☞Bake bread if you like, but PRATT'S BREAD is baked for you.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Some men who boss their wives in public are as meek as lambs at homes.

Too often it is the things we shouldn't do that seem to make life worth living.

The man who attempts to call a woman's bluff must be looking for trouble.

There will be uprisings in Mexico as long as any one suggests that this is a proper time to spade up the garden.

Capt. Amundsen has now to learn that no one can find a Pole and retain the esteem of his fellow citizens.

A Chinese base ball team is to tour this country, but they will not be permitted to use the wash-tub as a base ball bat.

Under the treaties as the Senate has left them, the United States solemnly swears to arbitrate when it feels like it.

After a frightful struggle with the old Adam within us, we have decided to give up calling for a third piece of pie during Lent.

Mr. Edison's concrete chair will never be popular. How in thunder can you tip it back and put your feet on the mantel-piece?

The Mexican revolutionists are hurling taunts across the border. They would evidently be thoroughly at home on the bleachers at a ball game.

Now that both poles are discovered, persons of a roving disposition will have to get along with such adventures as they can find as circus performers and book agents.

The kindling wood trust has been enjoined, but that is no reason why Father should sneak off to the office leaving nothing but cellar sweepings to build the fire with.

Although much time will have to be spent this year in talking about the wrongs of politics, it is advisable to work at least three hours a day at one's regular occupation.

THE PATENT DECISIONS.

The decree of the Supreme Court sustaining the rights of the owner of a mimeograph machine to control the use of supplies on the machines sold is comparatively unimportant as far as this case is concerned. But the sharp division between the justices indicates differing theories of the patent privilege, and suggests the many holes in our present patent system.

Without any reference to the case above referred to, it might be said that the general situation in patent law is like the broom seller who succeeded in monopolizing the trade and underselling his competitor, by stealing all the brooms that the other could lay hold of.

The government hands a patentee an impressive looking document with blue ribbons and red seals, which looks very good to the dreamy and hopeful inventor. He imagines that the product of his brains will be welcomed with the hosannahs of the business world, and sees in flowing wealth requiting him for days of toil and nights of thought and worry.

The infringing lawyer, however, thinks but little of the document bound up with these seals and ribbons, and instead asks how much money the inventor has to fight suit with.

Patent lawyers cost from $25 to $100 a day, experts $50 to 75 a day. It is customary to hear a mass of evidence that would be ruled out in court, and the record which the judge is supposed to digest and understand may fill 10,000 pages. Under these circumstances justice is apt to perch on the side that has the smartest lawyer.

The cost of litigation may thus easily run into hundreds of thousands. Many an inventor lies in an unmarked grave, while his ideas bring big dividends to monopolistic corporations.

Another complaint is to the effect that great corporations buy up patent rights and never make any use of them, except as a club to prevent competition. For this the remedy is urged that patentees be required to make commercial use of their rights, or let some one else have them.

DIVIDENDS AND WAGES.

The settlement of the Lawrence strike by the concession of the wages asked for, the voluntary action of New England mills in raising the pay of 200,000 workers, establishes the principle that manufacturing corporations must see that employees get a living wage.

It is unfortunate that many innocent people have bought stock in industrial corporations at a valuation based on unreasonably high profits.

Intelligent investors in future, in view of existing public sentiment, will need to give more attention to the human equation. A corporation that is paying low wages, but whose stock is held at a high value because of unusually liberal dividends, is not a safe proposition at its present figures. Before buying stocks that pay much more than 6 per cent dividends, the shrewd investor should henceforth examine the question whether wages are being paid that enable the employees to live in decent comfort.

TO BEAUTIFY LONDON.

The City Beautiful idea is all the time spreading and developing. London has taken it up, and has perfected an organization called the London Society, composed of men in all callings and including architects, painters, and sculptors and municipal and state officials, all equally concerned that the improvements of the future shall have in mind not only the question of utility but also of beauty. In this particular London, as compared with Paris, Vienna, and Berlin, to mention a few of the European capitals upon which much thought and money have been expended with this object in view, is conspicuously lacking. Though the lack may not detract from its business ability and material prosperity, the value of artistic arrangement, and embellishments is too well recognized today to be carelessly overlooked.

There is no complete success without a full measure of satisfaction; and there can be no satisfaction in the presence of ugliness, once it is recognized as ugly. It is a good sign when the people awake to recognize their surroundings as ugly and to have ambitions to make them more beautiful. This does not necessarily mean more expensive. It merely has consideration for good taste and the principles of art in the matter of line and color, with heed for effective placing of structures. Of London, it was said at the meeting that it "had a beauty of atmosphere and color all its own, and they should teach the public to realize the beautiful as well as the terrible things to be found in it.—New Bedford Standard.

THAT BURGLAR SCARE.

Editor Ledger:

I was much amused to read in one of the Quincy papers an article on the burglar scare at Wollaston, March 15th. The paper stated that a police sergenat and three officers surrounded the house with drawn revolvers waiting for the house-breaker to make his appearance. As a matter of fact the officers named were not there, but the officer on the route, Jeremiah J. Connelly who was substituting for the regular man was called to the house and on investigation found that the supposed burglar was the peaceful law abiding owner of the premises.

One Who Was There.

ARABS KILLED BY BOMBS

Value of Aeroplane In War Demonstrated by Italian Aviator

Benghazi, Tripoli, March 19.—Bombs dropped from an aeroplane belonging to the Italian expeditionary force caused the deaths of ten Arabs in a Turkish camp some distance from this city.

The aeroplane, driven by an army airman and carrying an officer as passenger, left the Italian camp and flew at a considerable altitude into the desert, where a strong Turkish and Arab encampment was found in a well sheltered position.

Before the aeroplane was noticed by the enemy the Italian officer had made valuable observations. Then some of the Arabs opened fire, to which the Italian aeronaut replied by dropping several bombs which exploded in the middle of a group of Arabs. Ten men fell dead and several were seen to be wounded as they hurriedly scattered.

The aeroplane then returned to the Italian camp.

TAFT'S GREAT DAY IN BOSTON

He Is Cheered by More Than Half a Million People

SPEECH HAS FIGHTING NOTE

Opposed to Recall of Judges' Decisions—Declares That the People Rule, Contrary to Claim of Roosevelt—References to Ex-President and "My Policies" Thinly Veiled—Members of Legislature Plainly In Sympathy With Chief Executive's Candidacy For Renomination

Boston, March 19.—The reception given to President Taft yesterday was unequalled in the history of the city. From the time that he arrived at the South station shortly after 7 a. m., until he retired at the Hotel Somerset in the wee sma' hours with the Yale cheer ringing in his ears, the president was met with one continuous round of enthusiasm. He was cheered by more than 500,000 people.

He was given a magnificent reception during the evening at the Hotel Somerset at the largest banquet ever held in the history of the Irish Charitable association. Following this the president was pledged the support of the Yale men in this state at a dinner given in the Algonquin club.

The day was replete with political significance. The president, in a speech before the Massachusetts legislature, went after Colonel Roosevelt and "my policies" in no uncertain style. He replied to the doctrine of the recall of judicial decisions set forth by Roosevelt in his speech before the legislature a few weeks ago.

The reception given to President Taft by the legislature left no doubt but that the Republican party of this state, so far as it might be represented in that body, was in favor of his renomination. He was accorded a reception which was unprecellented in the history of the general court.

The greeting given him by the legislature offered a marked contrast to that given Roosevelt. It was intended to be a contrast, too. The legislature set out to demonstrate that it had no sympathy with the candidacy of Roosevelt, and it succeeded.

The president made one of the most vigorous speeches of his political career. His references to Roosevelt were thinly veiled. The legislature went fairly wild as the president took up point after point in the Roosevelt speech and hammered his criticism home. He was continually interrupted by the cheering.

President Taft declared emphatically against the recall of judicial decisions and in favor of the preservation of the constitution. He answered the challenge directed at him by Senator Dixon, campaign manager to Roosevelt, on the direct presidential primary, by declaring himself in favor of the election of the delegates to the conventions by the people. The president went on record strong for party enrolment in the primaries, however.

Mr. Taft characterized the principles advocated by Roosevelt as a menace to the nation. He did not refer to the ex-president by name, but his inferences left no doubt whatever of what he intended to convey to his listeners. He declared that the charge that the people did not rule was unjustifiable, and that it held this country up to ridicule. He said that the cry raised that the people did not rule, if intended otherwise than as flattery pure and simple "was a reflection upon the government of this country down to the present time."

Another remark which was construed as a direct reference to Roosevelt was the declaration of the president that if reforms were to be accomplished the work must be done by men who entertained no hope of "spectacular reward."

It was easily the most effective speech that Taft has made since the announcement made by Roosevelt in this city that he would oppose the president for a renomination. The speech had a fighting note.

Every remark which the president made during the entire day which in any way could be construed as being in opposition to the policies of Roosevelt was greeted with enthusiasm. This was the feeling in the air. Taft is no stranger to this city and his close friends said last night that he was more delighted with the reception given him in Massachusetts than any other development in the campaign to date.

It was in Massachusetts that Roosevelt threw his hat into the ring. It was in Massachusetts that Taft jumped into the ring with the ex-president.

President Taft is to leave no stone unturned to capture the delegates in New England. Today he will invade New Hampshire, making speeches at Concord, Nashua and Manchester.

Governor Bass of New Hampshire is leading the Roosevelt campaign in that state. The reception which will be accorded the president in the Granite State will be watched with interest throughout the country.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to Anders Lindberg, Bennington street.

Martha A. Andrews to Charles S. Parsons, Robertson street.

Lorenzo D. Baker Jr., et al trs to Mary A. Yule.

Wilton A. Dunham to Henry T. McCarey et ux, Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Dunham to John R. Young et al, Houghs Neck.

William A. Dunham to William B. Kezar, Houghs Neck.

Charles A. Dutton to Lena D. Stuart, Broadway, Safford street, Farrington street.

Horace Eaton to Theophilus King, Adams street.

George D. Emerson to Mary E. Cochran, Rawson road.

Felix Favorite to Florence L. G. MacDougall, Brook street.

Samuel E. Goldstein to Josephine Taylor, Sea street.

Henriette Goldstein to Samuel E. Gildstein, Sea street, Charles street, Centre road.

Margaret A. Hayes to John F. McDevitt, Elm avenue, Phillips street.

Martha Hinrichsen to Gustaf A. Oster, Standish avenue.

James M. Hughes to Grace M. Toothaker, Oxenbridge road.

Alida C. Johanson to Karl F. Bockstrom, Arthur street.

Eliot C. Johnson to Maria C. Lodlengaard, Deldorf street.

Eliot C. Johnson to Maria C. Lodlengaard, Deldorf street.

William Kauffman to John R. Wilson, Clark street.

Annie M. Keating to Serrafina Sylvestra, Canal street.

Annie M. Kelley to Capt. L. D. Baker est, Washington street, Riverside avenue.

Lenor H. Knowlton to Albert Keating, Washington street, Wibird street.

Nils Loddengaard to Eliot C. Johnson, Deldorf street.

Frank A. Martin adm to Alice M. McGrail Walnut street.

Frank A. Martin gdn to Alice W. Mc Grail, Walnut street, 10.

William H. Mears tr to George H. Wilkins, Quincy Bay.

James R. Murphy to William H. Goudie, Pelican road, Curlew road.

George Nimeskern et ux to William J. Corcoran, Willard street.

Frederick A. Parker to Harry T. McCarey et ux, Hull street.

Mary A. Sanford to Minnie M. North, Island avenue.

Herbert T. Whitman et al to Mary S. Paradis, Side street.

John R. Wilson to Charles L. Stebbins, Clark street.

THE PERFECT HUSBAND.

The other night I hearn them, down at Si Granger's store,
Discussin', likewise cussin', a hundred things or more.
An' bein' I's a stranger, who jest had happened in,
I kinder set an' listened, an' let the others chin.

Till fin'ly they got talkin' 'bout how their wives went on,
An' ev'ry blessed man there looked gloomy an' forlorn.
One 'lowed his wife was peevish—
nothin' he did was right;
He sed she jest kept naggin' from early morn till night.

Another sed his woman was gettin'
mighty slack;
She didn't keep her work up—seemed to be holdin' back.
"I know," up speaks a third one,
"the things of which you speak.
'My wife's a actin' that way. Seems like a lazy streak."

An' so each told the troubles of his domestic life,
An' each one give the credit, unsparin' to his wife,
I stood there, sayin' nothin' till one man looked my way
An' called out: "Wal now, stranger!
What hev you got to say?"

"I'll tell you boys," I told 'em, "I think you all are wrong.
"Life for the av'rage woman ain't one eternal song.
"They ain't built up like oxen, the same as you men are;
"They're kinder more like posies an' need a heap o' care.

"You're off all day a workin', an'
may git tired for fair,
"But you want supper ready to eat as soon's you're there.
"An' while you are a restin' upon the sofa, she
""Must wash up all the dishes, an' scrape the pottery.

"An' then—while you're still snoozin'
—she goes an' gets the yarn
"An' thread, an' all the ev'ning it's patch, an' sew an' darn.
"An mind you, all the day time, while you've been off to work,
"She's jest a kept a hiken', without a chance to shirk."

I stopped, an' you should seen 'em, a gettin' up to go.
Sez I, as they went trailing, "now plaguey well they know
"Their wives are home a diggin' while they're a settin' here."
An' as 'twas time for closin', I jest brought up the rear.

But 'fore I made the open Si Granger grabbed my hand.
"I want to tell you, stranger," sez he "that talk was grand.
"Your wife must be right happy, with such a man," sez he,
Sez I "But I'm not married, nor never hope to be."

READ LEDGER ADVS.

BANQUET AT HOUGHS NECK

Over one hundred and fifty were present at the second annual banquet in memory of St. Patrick, held at the clubhouse Saturday evening by the members of the Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum. The affair was successful in every way and was pronounced the best in the history of the organization.

The banquet, from eight until nine o'clock, was followed by speaking. The exercises were opened by Thomas F. Phillips, president of the Lyceum, who officiated in the capacity of toastmaster. The first speaker was William J. McGlinchy, a former president of the St. Alphonsus Association of Roxbury, who told of the development of the organization with which he is affiliated and the amount of good it brings about, especially among the younger generation. He spoke of the movement under way by the Lyceum to form a boys' organization and commended it in most forceful terms, at the same time giving the history of the St. Alphonsus Association.

The principal speaker was John J. O'Hara, a well-known attorney, who spoke on "The History of the Irish Race." In the course of his remarks, the speaker described the opinion entertained by many to the effect that the mere mention of the word Irish means Catholicism and to prove his assertions, he mentioned the names of several Irishmen, who were not Catholics, but who had played conspicuous parts in Irish history and the development of the Irish race.

He was followed by Captain Oliver G. Fosdick, postmaster at Houghs Neck, who talked as a representative of the government. The City was represented by Councilman John R. S. Ross, who gave a very interestng talk in commendation of the work of the Lyceum and the influence it bids fair to have on the boys of the community.

Rev. W.. J. Sayre, pastor of Union chapel was introduced and complimented the spirit displayed at Houghs Neck by all classes, taking the opportunity at the same time to urge all to work for the interests of the immediate community.

All the speakers were heartily applauded.

An entertainment, which brought the affair to a close, was furnished by Misses Fannie and Bessie Hagan, piano and song, Charles and George O'Brien, songs, Edward Hanrahan, clog dancing, Mrs. Edward Barrett, piano and Misses Marjorie and Margaret Brice of Hyde Park, who gave selections on the violin and piano respectively.

COAL BARGE GOES DOWN

Captain and Crew of Three Men Are Drowned Off Long Island

Boston, March 19.—On arriving here Captain Bartlett of the tug Cuba reported loss of the barge Thaxter and four men off Shinnecock, L. I. The Thaxter, commanded by Captain Clarence L. Grinnell of Fall River, was middle barge of a tow and was loaded with 1500 tons of coal.

During the southwesterly gale the tow line parted and the Thaxter sunk so quickly that the Cuba was unable to rescue her men. Captain Bartlett believes the barge's hatches were battered in by the seas and she was overwhelmed. The names of the crew are not known here.

CRACE STUDLEY INDICTED

Runaway Providence Girl Must Answer to Charge of Kidnapping

Providence, March 19.—Grace E. Studley, the 14-year-old runaway girl who, it is alleged, picked up an infant from its carriage in the vestibule of a department store last November and kept the child for two days before she was found and arrested, was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of kidnapping.

She will be brought in from the reform school for girls to be arraigned. The penalty for kidnapping in this state is from five to twenty years' imprisonment.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & CO.

Good
Banking Service

This bank solicits business of the citizens of Quincy. Its intention is always to treat its customers courteously and considerately.

All its privileges are theirs.

Call and gain fuller information of its worth to you.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Kincaide's Spring Opening Furniture Sale

Now going on is just making things hum around this BIG, bright, busy, up-to-date store. No wonder. We filled a large 4-page Sale Circular with descriptions of attractive New Spring Goods and mighty interesting prices.

Write a postal right now. We'll gladly send you a copy FREE. There's a full page of helpful hints for Newly or Nearly-weds. The other 3 pages are overflowing with out-of-the-ordinary, Real Bargains. For instance

Standard Felt Mattresses, wonderful softness	$5.95
Serviceable Tapestry Floor Rugs 9x12	8.75
Round Oak Dining Table, Claw Foot, 6 ft. extension	9.98
Handsome Velvet Floor Rugs, size 9x12	12.75
$20 Rockers Spring Seat and Back, Leather Upholstered	13.75

Enough Said. The Wise Buyer is an Early Buyer

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

A Proposal to Bachelors and Others

Why not accept the Payson-Special Suit?

Sooner or later you're going to. It doesn't take a trained eye to see that it's chock full of $15 value.

Yet OUR price is but

$12.89

You'll find the SPECIAL mighty nifty when it comes to style. The woolens are WOOL — perfectly shrunk.

No reason why you shouldn't wear your PAYSON-SPECIAL when you go down to the beach or boating with "the girl." The colors of the cloths are absolutely fast — salt water or sun will not crock or fade them.

"Money Back Guarantee"

With the PAYSON-SPECIAL we give a Guaranty Bond that tells you in black and white that the suit must please you or we don't expect you to keep it.

Unless you're satisfied, we'll return the $12.89 without any kick or questions.

Can you beat that for a square deal?

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY
"Fashionable Clothes"
City Square, - - Quincy

Advertise In The Ledger

ANNUAL DANCE DOLMA CLUB

The popularity of the Dolma club, composed of well-known young men was greatly attested to, Monday evening at its second annual dance which was attended by a crowd of dancers that taxed Long's hall, Braintree, to its utmost. Delegations from clubs and organizations in and about Boston were present in large numbers.

The affair took the form of a St. Patrick's day celebration and green colors predominated throughout the evening. Moore's orchestra, rendered a pleasing repertoire from eight until nine o'clock and for the dancing.

The danve order consisted of the regular numbers and two extras. After a short intermission at ten o'clock, the light fantastic was enjoyed till midnight. The affair was a success.

The floor was in charge of James Hogan, assisted by Thomas F. Flaherty. The chief of aids was John Housberger and the following were aids:— John Curran, Charles Cullivan, Stanley Kelly, Frederick Kelly, John Tanguy, William H Taylor and James Donovan.

NEW TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS.

The following subscribers have been added to the service of the Quincy exchange of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., from March 11 to 18:

Hanley, John J,—Quincy 751-W.
Souther, F. A.—Quincy 218-M.
Ayers, William B. (Wol.) —Quincy 1590.
Milne, James.—Quincy 1597-W.
Barnard, J. H.—Qiuncy 582-R.
—Nickerson, Archer M.—Quincy 1595-W.
Smith, T. J.—Quincy 1598-M.
Collett, H. A. (Wol.) —Quincy 1599-W.
Commoss, T. L. (H. N.)—Quincy 1579-W.
Hall, Albert H. (At.)—Quincy 591-1
Kilcup, E. J. (H. N.)—Quincy 254-M
Quincy City of Water Dept. Daniel Kelliher—Quincy 1584-W.
Williamson, William A.—Quincy 1226-M.

THE WILY CHRISTOBEL

Detectives Unable to Lay Their Hands on Missing Miss Pankhurst

London, March 19.—After futile efforts for the past week to find Christobel Pankhurst, daughter of the famous British militant suffragette, the Scotland Yard detectives have practically admitted that the young woman has outwitted them.

They have not, however, given up their search for her. Failing to locate her on Atlantic liners by means of wireless, they have redoubled their efforts.

The best talent that the famous Scotland Yard boasts of has been placed on the young woman's trail, but as far as can be learned they have not obtained the slightest clue. While the officials are now convinced that she is no longer in England, her friends here smile when asked whether or not the young militant is hiding in London.

BURSTING BOILER KILLS THIRTY-TWO

Majority of the Victims Are Railroad Strike Breakers

San Antonio, Tex., March 19.—Thirty-two men are known to have been killed, many more injured and several buildings were wrecked when the boiler of a locomotive exploded in the local yards of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The victims were largely men who had been employed as strike breakers. Strike breakers have been working at the Southern Pacific shops here ever since the shopmen's strike began several months ago.

The locomotive was standing in the yards near the shops and the explosion came without warning. Parts of the roundhouse collapsed and several small buildings in the shop enclosure were wrecked, including part of the machine shops. Engines in the roundhouse were smashed as if hit with huge mallets. The roundhouse caught fire.

The half-ton jacket of the exploded locomotive boiler dropped between two houses several blocks distant, while the tender was catapulted several hundred feet and twisted into a big shapeless chunk of steel.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

CITY COUNCIL

(Continued from Page One)

school. To Public Buildings Committee.

ATHERTON HOUGH SCHOOL.

Councilman J. R. S. Ross offered an order for $45 for the installation of lights at the Atherton Hough school. To Committee on Public Buildings.

Councilman Boyd offered an order for a light on Willard street near the depot. To Street Committee.

GRADING SCHOOL LOT.

Councilman Bailey offered an order for $7,500 for completing the grading of the Wollaston school lot. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

SEWER ORDINANCE.

Councilman Craig offered an order amending the Sewer ordinance so as to provide that houses abutting the sewer shall be connected with the sewer within two years from the date of the completion of the sewer. Referred to Cimmitte on Ordinances.

CROSSWALK.

Councilman Bailey offered an order for a crosswalk on Beale street at its junction with Winthrop avenue. Referred to Committee on streets.

FIRE ALARM WHISTLE.

Councilman Studley offered an order for $425 to place a new automatic fire alarm whistle apparatus at South Quincy. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

ALMSHOUSE.

Councilman Studley offered an order for $235 for piping the Almshouse for gas and for the installation of a gas range. Referred to Committee on Public Buildings.

FLAG POLES.

Councilman Studley offered an order for 298 for flag poles at Merrymount park and on the Ward Two playground. The order was adopted but later reconsidered and referred to Finance Committee.

CROSSWALKS.

Councilman Barker offered an order for several crosswalks at Wollaston on Prospect avenue and Taylor street. Referred to Street Committee.

COPELAND STREET.

Councilman Boyd offerend an order for $4,800 to relay the paving on Copeland street between Granite street and Furnace Brook Parkway. To Street Committee.

CATCH BASINS.

Councilman Craig offered an order for catch basins on Brooks avenue, and for a drain on Ritchie road. To Street Committee.

AUCTIONEER'S LICENSE.

Councilman Studley offered an order granting F. F. Crane an auctioneer's license. Adopted. The auctioneers bond was also approved.

ADVISORY BOARD.

The order authorizing the Mayor to create an advisory board came up for its final passage.

Councilman Murray moved to amend by striking out the Clause fixing the salary for the members of the board and providing for $1,000 for clerical services and expenses.

Councilman Cunningham offered an amendment to the amendment striking out the whole of the second paragraph. His amendment was lost and the amendment of Councilman Murray adopted.

Councilman Ericson moved to amend by adding the words "Personal Estate." This was so as to provide that the board should consider personal as well as real estate values. Adopted.

Councilman Cunningham moved to amend by striking out the words that provided the men appointed should be confirmed by the council. He believed that if the Mayor was competent to appoint City Officials, as provided by the Charter, he should be allowed to appoint this committee. Motion lost.

CRAIG ASKS QUESTIONS.

Councilman Craig desired to ask the Chairman of the Board of Assessors some questions. He wanted to know how they were to get an equalization of taxes? Answer by going, through all of the streets. Do you think an advisory board with $1,000 could get a proper assessment? Answer, I do not know.

Do you need an advisory board?

Answer, they might give us some good points. In answer to a further question Chairman Adams said he did not have to take the advice of the board as final.

Councilman Craig continuing his argument said that we ought to have an equalization of taxes, but he did not believe in this board. It was not right to pay the citizens money when we have a Board of Assesors. If they do not do their work, fire them. If you can find five men that can do this work then you can find three out of the five for Assessors.

Councilman Richards thought perhaps there was no way to get results except by this board and if so we had better do it. He desired to ask the Mayor if he considered there was no other way to get the result.

Mayor Stone replied that he believed this was the proper way. There were many estates not taxed as they should be. He did not think that the assessors could do the work in the time given.

In reply to further questions by Councilman Richards, the Mayor said that he fully understood that with the increased salary of the assessors that they gave more time to the work but the assessing has got to be done in two months. He believed this was the proper thing to do. We can not raise money enough now, for current expenses.

Councilman Richards continuing said that there should be an equalization of the taxes. It was a question how it should be carried out.

Councilman Sandberg favored. He believed there was a chance to increase the valuation by five or ten million. There are many not taxed as they should be. If so the thousand dollars will be well expended. It will enable the assessors to get at the tax dodgers.

Councilman Beeman believed it would be a good thing to equalize the taxes. It was a practical proposition. and will greatly assist the Assessors. We must have improvements if we are to keep our citizens.

Councilman Craig asked the Mayor if it was too much work for the Assessors and Mayor Stone replied yes.

Councilman C. A. Ross favored. He felt that it was too much work for the Assessors and these five men may be able to get after the tax dodgers.

A BOQUET TO THE MAYOR.

Councilman Richards thought we would get better men under the order without salary. He wanted to give credit to the Mayor for having been the first to have backbone enough to suggest working out a plan af this kind.

Councilman Cunningham asked the Mayor a number of questions. He asked His Honor if he thought the Assessors would accept the report of the committee and Mayor Stone replied yes or he would find a board that would. In reply to further questions he said that he had looked into valuations to some extent but was not willing to state at this time where he had found unfair valuations, although he was hard pressed to do so by Councilman Cunningham.

Continuing the Mayor said that his plan was to go over every piece of property but he thought it better to allow the board to decide as to the detail of how the work should be carried on.

Councilman Cunningham then asked several questions as to the amount paid by the city for state and metropolitan taxes.

Mayor Stone replied that had nothing to do with this question. He did not have any figures with him and therefore would refuse to answer.

Councilman Cunningham, If I have asked an unfair question I beg your pardon.

Mayor Stone. You can get the information you desire from the City Officials.

Councilman Cunningham then asked Chairman Adams of the Assessors a number of questions along the same line but nothing additional was brought out.

Councilman Murray spoke in favor of the order. One thing that this board will study out is a rule for the assessors. It is to be a study to get at some fundamental rule. The men who do this work are entitled to more than $200 salary.

Councilman Abele had found in his practice that many of the estates were over valued rather than undervalued. He did not believe the sum total would make any material difference but he believed in equalization of the taxes. The order was a good thing. He thought the whole system of taxation wrong, that is, in relation to the removal of assessors at will for political reasons.

Councilman Studley was called to the chair.

President Hobbs taking the floor argued at length against the order. While he felt that the order would pass he believed it the duty he owed his constituents to speak against the order.

Referring to Councilman Murray, he said, he does not believe in the order and two thirds of the council do not believe in it. Ever since the christian era the question of equalization of taxes has been brought up and discussed and it is folly to think that five men in seven weeks can do what people have been trying unsuccessfully to do for years. I do not know who the men are who will be selected but had heard of one. That one was a good business man but knew nothing about real estate. Last year the salaries of the Assessors was raised so that they could give more time to the work of the office. How are we going to find five men not politicians to do this work. The name I have heard mentioned has been in politics for years. The Mayor does not advance a single method of how he is going to re-assess the city. The argument that corner lots were more valuable than others was not always so. Is there any man or men who can sit about a round table in city hall and adjust taxes? We ought to try the assessors this year who are giving more time. They can do as well as a special board.

Councilman Bailey. No one for a minute supposes the thing will be done properly at first. The problem will still remain a problem. No one thinks it can be settled in a year, but it will help materially. All believe that valuations should be equalized. He believed five men could be found who will be willing to undertake this work. He did not think any man who would look at the small salary end would give the best work. He believed they would be men who would have better judgment than the Assessors. Under the present method of political appointments, with no reflection on the Mayor, we do not get the best men.

Councilman Murray repying to the remark of President Hobbs that he was not really in favor, replied and said that he was in favor of all the order attempts to accomplish, and he believed that it would accomplish something.

Councilman Beeman moved that the debate close at 10 o'clock.

President Hobbs objected to choking off debate and before he had finished talking the hour of 10 had passed.

Councilman Beeman then moved the debate close at 10.04, but the motion was not put.

Some further argument followed, but nothing new was brought out and the order was at 10.34 put on its final passage and passed 17 in favor and five against as follows:—

Yes:—Abele, Bailey, Barker, Beeman, Boyd, Carruthers, Devaney, Ericson, Forde, Gauthier, Mahoney, Murray, C. A. Ross,, J. R. S. Ross, Sandberg, Studley, Thompson—17.

No:—Craig, Cunningham, Hobbs, Richards, Sodergren—5.

Absent:—Gilliatt.

Adjourned at 10.25.

MAKES BLUNT STATEMENT

Churchill Says British Naval Program Rests on Germany

London, March 19.—Winston S. Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, introduced the naval estimates for the coming year in the house of commons. The appropriations called for amount to $220,427,000, a decrease of $1,635,000 from the amount spent last year.

The first lord accompanied the introduction with a straight talk to Germany, promising an augmentation or retardation of British naval construction to correspond with Germany's naval program. He said he regretted the necessity of referring specifically to Germany, but continued:

"The Germans are a people of robust minds, whose strong masculine good sense and high courage do not recoil from and are not offended by plain, blunt statements of facts if they are expressed with courtesy and sincerity."

LIKELY TO RESTORE HIS MENTAL POWERS

Silver Foil Inserted In a New York Boy's Brain

New York, March 19.—A piece of silver foil three inches square resting directly against the brain of Harry Osmars, a 16-year-old patient in Bellevue hospital, has restored his lapsed memory and apparently cured him of epilepsy.

The foil was inserted by surgeons after a critical operation, during which a section of the skull three inches long and two inches wide was removed.

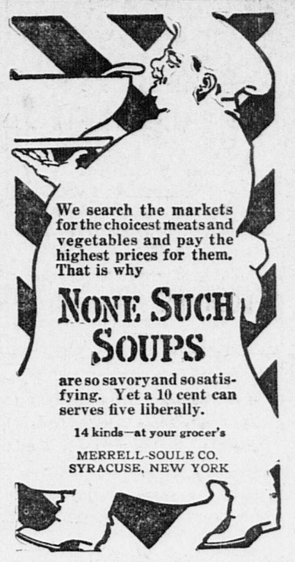
The youth had been seriously hurt in a fall and had been gradually losing his mental power ever since. The surgeons cleft the skull and found a piece of bone, dislocated in the accident, pressing against the brain.

To discover this it was necessary to penetrate under the dura—the membrane between the bone and the brain. Surgeons have done this time and again, but in many cases death has resulted from the healing pocess, in which the membrane adheres to the brain matter. This was why the piece of silver foil was inserted to prevent adhesion.

A silver plate will be placed in the skull as soon as the surgeons feel assured the incision is healing properly.

—Stenographers not being provided by the Canadian government. Justice Middleton, in deciding a case in Toronto, in which a glucose process was involved, was obliged to write by hand his entire decision and review of the case. 113 pages of legal cap. He was not so exhausted, however, but that he could devote a few pages to rebuking the government for its parsimony. The Canadian government apparently is not yet perfect.—Taunton Herald.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.
Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.



What Love Can Do.

"And do you really love me, George?' she asked.

"Love you?" repeated "dear" George fervently. "Why, while I was bidding you good-by on the porch last night, my angel, the dog bit a large chunk out of my leg, and I never noticed it till I got home.'

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

19—Supper—Dormitory Men Y. M. C. A.
19—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
19—Wollaston Young People's Social Club.
20—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Wollaston, Alliance.
20—Elliot Club.
21—C. H. Johnson Lecture—Wol. School.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
25—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
19—Opening Entertainment—Q. Y Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Canned Goods of Quality

Canned goods of quality are becoming more and more popular with housewives. They are convenient and always ready. For a side dish with roasts there's nothing better than good sweet corn. Our is delicious. It has that sweet and natural flavor of fresh-picked corn right from the garden. It was picked and packed before the frost came, and has the taste of early summer green corn.

FLAG BRAND CANNED CORN

Flag Brand Sweet Corn, can 15c

OTHER GOOD BRANDS ARE
Hatchet Brand Corn, 2 cans 25c
Pine State Brand Corn can 10c

R. E. FOY & CO.
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

Men's New Cheney Silk Ties 50c

First of the new spring styles just opened up. The famous Cheney Silks in new colors and color combinations. Handsome patterns, plain and striped effects.

ALSO

You'll find hundreds of patterns and styles from other well-known makers. Individual styles not found in other stores at prices ranging from 25c to $1.00 each.

E & W SHIRTS

Are here in a big assortment of styles. Handsome percale and madras in pretty color effects that will please any man.

$1.50

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 18—3t O-1w

Use a Gas Range - AND - Gas Heater

And Save Coal Bills

PRICE OF GAS REDUCED

Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.
11 Granite Street

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Telephone Connection 14-tf

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

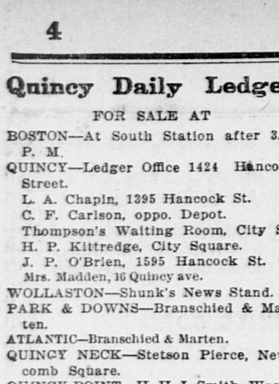
HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 18	11.10	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	11.45
Wednesday,	12.00	12.15
Thursday,	12.30	1.00
Friday,	1.15	1.45
Saturday,	2.00	2.30
Sunday,	2.45	3.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	60 degrees
Mar. 19, 1911,	39 degrees
Mar. 19, 1910,	50 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

THINKS IT A BLUFF.



Mickey—Say, Chimmie, it's wrong ter ill-treat a woman, but if me goil ever says to me wot some goils says ter dere fellers I know I'll lose me temper.
Chimmie—Wat's dat?
Mickey—Why, when I proposes to her an' she says dis is so sudden.

LEAP YEAR PARTY.

A very pretty St. Patrick leap year party was held at Colonial hall, Saturday evening by the Delta Sigma club. In observance of the day ,the decorations of the hall were green, and the dance programs were printed in green ink. The committee included Miss Bessie M. Brooks, Miss Nettie Pote, Miss Mureal Rogers, Miss Edna Thomas, Miss Lillian Sutherbury, Miss Ruth Parker, Miss Daisy Brooks, Miss Mildred Lawton, Miss Edna Rhodes, Miss Mabel Damon, Miss Iva Briggs and Miss Dorothy Packard.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for:

Harry C. Allyn, Mrs. Helena Carlsson, Mrs. Grace J. Condon, Mrs. Michael Corcoran, T. Corstello, Miss LLilian DeCatur, Matteo Ditullo, Abraham Fish, William Fraser, E. S. Hatch & Co., J. Inglis, James Inglis, Miss Leila M. Lamprey, Miss Bella McDonald,, C. J. Miner and Mary Smith.

Seavey Leaves Substantial Estate

Boston, March 19.—The estate of the late Fred H. Seavey, for many years sheriff of Suffolk county, is shown to be worth in the neighborhood of $133,061, by the inventory which was filed yesterday in the probate court.

☞Give the baby bread and milk. PRATT'S BREAD and good pure milk.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

UNIQUE PARTY AT ATLANTIC

One of the prettiest and most unique affairs ever held in Atlantic was at the home of Mrs. Harvey Holt, Botolph street, Saturday evening. At eight o'clock assembled guests were tagged with green ribbon bows and started in a round of fun until ten o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hall and W. Morton Stetson were recipients of St. Patrick favors in the game which called forth a great deal of laughter and enjoyment.

A collation was served at ten o'clock in a most artistically decorated dining room. Covers were laid for twelve and there were favors of every description, also appropriate place cards.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mallock, Misses Annie Harding, Florence Hill, Maude Read, Messrs. Kenneth Blake, W. Morton Stetson, and James Houston.

Mrs. Holt made a charming hostess and every one pronounced the affair to have been the best ever.

WOLLASTON M. E.

At the Wollaston M. E. church Sunday morning, Rev. Wesley Wiggin, spoke from the text "Bring them hither to me." He said in part: "This miracle is one of a few which the Apostle John records in his gospel. The explanation of it is found in the address upon the Bread of Life. The disciples are face to face with a great need, 5,000 men beside women and children are to be fed. They are unable to meet the need. They have only 5 loaves and 2 small fishes. They were conscious of their inability to feed the multitude. They were face to face with a great failure. The people represent by way of spiritual symblism the perishing world. They were away from God, away from the true source of supply. The disciples realizing their insufficient supply said, 'Send them away.'

"At this moment the Master's words brought relief, when he said, 'They need not depart. Give ye them to eat.' The disciples represent the church powerless in itself except as Christ touches it with his power. We should bring our lives, our powers, our opportunities. We are quite willing to give God what we do not posses. We have good desires, we make good resolutions, but they benefit no one except as they find expression in some act or service of helpfulness.

"Many unthought of incidents and almost insignificant events have been the means of feeding the hungry of the world's people. Christ adds his touch and life is quickened, faith strengthened.

"The church with its costly structure, its beautiful furnishing, its artistic decorations will fail if it does not see its source of power. The individual will fail unless he brings his life to Jesus for his added touch.

"The loaves and fishes multiply sufficiently to feed the multitude. The little church, the small talent, the widow's mite, the fragment of service all feed the hungry, and inspire hope in mankind.

AT PAROCHIAL SCHOOL HALL.

Words fail to express adequately the appreciation of the audience at the sacred concert of Irish music,, Sunday evening in the St. John's school hall, all the talent acquitting themselves in splendid style.

The opening number was by an orchestra, composed of Edward Roddan, Helen Roddan and William Leahy. Solos were rendered by Thomas Murray, Miss Celina Beliveau, Miss Alice Celeste Foley, Edward J. Sullivan and Miss Emma E. Ecker, who was given a most enthusiastic encore as she rendered her different Irish selections.

Miss Flora Haviland gave an Irish reading which merited great favor. Clarence Fouche, with a pianologue, also added greatly to the entertainment. Fred McDonald with his monologue sketches, and Gerald Sullivan, with his marked work on the xyloplone, also received well merited applause. John Mahan, organist at St. John's church, was the accompanist.

101 Years A ripe old age

If it had not had marvelous healing powers people would long ago have forgotten

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

First made in 1810. Millions have used it since. In 1911 it is still the magic remedy for Cuts, Wounds, Swellings, Sprains, Aches. Use inwardly for Coughs, Sore Throat and Bowel Troubles.

25c and 50c Bottles.

Parsons' Pills tone the system.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO. Boston, Mass.

AMERICANS ACT IN SWATOW RIOT

Marines Land Because of the Attitude of Natives

A BATTLE IN THE STREETS

Many Killed In Contest Between Hakka Tribesmen and Troops From Canton—Long and Intense Suffering and Serious Political Struggles Predicted Before Country Is Reunited—Premier Is Criticised

Pekin, March 19.—A detachment of marines from the United States monitor Monterey were landed at Swatow in consequence of the continuance of disturbances there and the threatening atttitude of some of the natives. The marines have taken charge of the customs house.

Heavy fighting between the Hakka tribesmen and the troops from Canton went on for eight hours yesterday in the streets of the city. Forty natives are known to have been killed during the fighting, but it is believed that the casualties far exceed that number. A shot from one of the combatants, who were firing wildly, killed a bluejacket on board a Japanese warship in the harbor, while several other bullets struck the hull of the United States monitor Monterey.

Reports from Waichow, a short distance from Swatow, say that the troops there are mutinous.

A battalion of the Fifteenth United States infantry from Manila has arrived at Tientsin. The battalion, which is commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Root, is made up of 444 men, including a band. The Americans are now quartered in a large warehouse in the French concession.

Anarchy and famine prevail throughout the country. The nation's finances are in a chaotic condition and China is divided into several parts. The legations do not fear any immediate or widespread risings, or anti-foreign attacks, but they do not believe that the country will be reunited, the army disbanded and reorganization and progressive development accomplished without long and intense suffering and serious political struggles.

Premier Tang Shao Yi has left here for Nanking. Certain of the foreign ministers who have met Tang Shao Yi consider him something of a visionary. The "four powers'" group of financiers, though perhaps with some bias, are of the opinion that his financial policy is dangerous, and accuse him of trickiness in negotiating the present loans with which he was entrusted.

Two hundred insurgents were executed at Canton near Sha-Meen, the foreign quarters. Late reports say that operations have been suspended temporarily in Canton.

EVERY MILL MAKES GAINS

General Return of Workers In All the Lawrence Plants

Lawrence, Mass., March 19.—Practically a complete return of the strikers to their tasks marked the official ending of the protracted strike against the mills of the American Woolen company and other textile plants in this city. The mills of the American Woolen company are now running on a nearly normal basis.

Although the strike is still regarded as in force against the Arlington, Pacific and other smaller plants, all these shared in the general resumption of work. These mills made substantial concessions to the strikers, but the figures of the new schedules were not regarded as favorably by the strike committee as those in force at the American Woolen company's mills.

SHIP GOES TO BOTTOM

One Sailor the Sole Survivor of Crew of Sixty-Five Men

London, March 19.—The Swedish steamer Canada reports that the British steamer North Britain foundered in the Mediterranean and that all on board perished with the exception of one man. The North Britain carried a crew of sixty-five men.

The North Britain was screw propelled and schooner rigged and of 2355 tons displacement. She was 346 feet long. The ship was built for H. Roberts & Sons in Sunderland, Eng., in 1907.

Congress Asked to Attend Services

Washington, March 19.—President Taft sent a letter to congress asking that the house and senate adjourn Saturday and attend in a body memorial services to be held for the dead of the old battleship Maine.

Pitney a Full-Fledged Justice

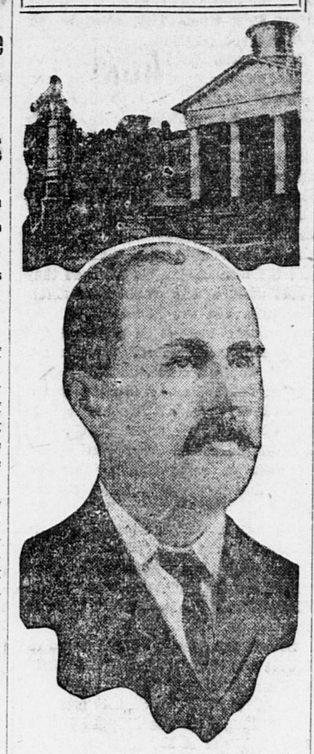
Washington, March 19.—Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey took the oath of office and assumed the duties of associate justice of the supreme court of the United States as the successor of the late Justice Harlan.

Supreme Court Takes Recess

Washington, March 19.—The supreme court has taken a recess until April 1.

JUDGE AND COURTHOUSE

T. L. Massie, Killed on the Bench, and Scene of Crime



Photos by American Press Association.

OUTLAWS IN "DEVIL'S DEN"

Impossible to Remove the Allen Gang Except by Dynamite

Hillsville, Va., March 19.—Search for the members of the Allen clan, whom the commonwealth of Virginia is determined at all costs to bring to justice for the murder here of five citizens, including the officers of Carroll county circuit court, has begun in earnest.

If it is true that the outlaws are entrenched in Devil's Den, well supplied with ammunition, as they are supposed to be, it would mean certain death to any one who attempted only to reach the place. Plans probably will be laid for a systematic siege. It has been suggested that dynamite be used to clean out the citadel.

PROPOSES HOSPITAL SHIP FOR FISHERMEN

Gardner Suggests Novel Venture For the Government

Washington, March 19.—For the convenience of the Gloucester fishermen and others who may become sick at sea, Representative Gardner of Massachusetts has proposed to congress the establishment of a "hospital ship in connection with the American fisheries."

The idea is to have a fully equipped floating marine hospital so that illness at sea may be attended to without the necessity of putting ashore The Gardner bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury to purchase a ship, which shall be under the direction and control of the surgeon general of the public health and marine hospital service, who shall equip this ship with the personnel and all other requirements necessary.

HUNT FOR BOMB SENDER

Rosalsky Turns Threatening Letters Over to the Police

New York, March 19.—Every available detective at police headquarters is searching the city for the man who attempted to slay Judge Rosalsky with an infernal machine sent him through the mails.

Similarity of the typewriting upon the package and of the manufacture of the deadly missile with that which caused the death on Feb. 3 last of Helen Taylor has led to the opinion that the same man sent both bombs. The police believe the sender to be insane.

Judge Rosalsky refuses to discuss the case, but it is reported that he has turned over to the police a number of threatening letters which he has received recently.

BROKE PROMISED TO WED

Jury Says Doctor Injured Girl's Heart to Extent of $25,000

Chicago, March 19.—It took a jury in the circuit court just fifteen minutes to decide that Miss Mary T. Lonergan, an artist, is entitled to $25,000 worth of heart balm from Dr. Daniel B. Hayden. She brought suit against Hayden for $50,000, alleging he broke his promise to marry her.

Dr. Hayden is an instructor at the university of Chicago. Miss Lonergan told the jury that she became acquainted with the doctor four years ago. Shortly afterward, she said, he proposed to her and was accepted. Not until Oct. 5, 1910, when Hayden married Miss Julia Howard, did she realize that she had been jilted.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE EASTER DINNER.

FOR the Easter dinner have the decorations in the Easter colors green and white, yellow and white or purple and white.

Duchess Soup.—Put three teaspoonfuls of butter into the frying pan and EASTER DINNER MENU.

Duchess Soup With Croutons.
Olives. Radishes.
Creamed Fish In Ramekins.
Roast Chicken or Roast Lamb.
Potato Croquettes.
Creamed Asparagus.
Easter Lily Salad.
Easter Fruit Cream.
Cheese. Crackers.
Coffee.

when it is hot add two slices of onion and two of carrots. Cook three minutes without browning.

Turn in four cupfuls of white stock with a blade of mace and boil fifteen minutes. Strain. Add two cupfuls of milk.

Blend two tablespoonfuls of butter with two tablespoonfuls of flour and thicken the soup with it.

Season with a saltspoonful of pepper and a teaspoonful of salt.

At last stir in a quarter of a cupful of grated cheese, cook two minutes and serve at once with croutons.

A Decorative Salad.

The lily salad is attractive and delicious. It is made as follows:

Easter Lily Salad.—Take the shells from as many hard boiled fresh eggs as there are to be people at the table. Beginning at one end of the egg, slit the white almost to the other end, taking care that the knife does not go deep enough to pierce the yolk.

Make five of these cuts lengthwise along the egg and turn back the strips of white thus formed for the petals of the lily.

With a fork score the yolk of the egg to look like the yellow center of a lily. Place the lilies on crisp green lettuce leaves in a shallow glass dish. Serve with mayonnaise dressing.

An Attractive Dessert.

Easter Fruit Cream.—Pass the contents of a can of apricots through a sieve. Add one cupful of sugar, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of dissolved gelatin, one cupful of whipped cream and one-half cupful of cold water.

Pour into individual molds. Turn out when set and garnish with yellow flowers. Place a large spoonful of whipped cream on top of each mold before serving.

Anna Thompson

HIS DREAM PROVES TRUE

Section Hand Arises From Sick Bed and Prevents a Wreck

Atlanta, March 19.—Awakening from a dream that a near-by railroad trestle on the Southern railroad had been washed away, O. T. Kitchens, a section foreman, although suffering from illness, arose from his bed and went to South river, six miles from here, before dawn, to discover that his dream was a reality.

The foreman found that the stream, swollen by heavy rains, had carried away a trestle spanning a sixty-five-foot chasm. He knew that a passenger train soon was due to arrive at the opposite side of the river, but he had no means of reaching that point to warn the engineer of the danger, and the river is three-quarters of a mile wide.

Standing on the bank the man put his hands to his lips and repeatedly "hallooed" for half an hour. Finally he heard an answering shout and he called out a warning to J. E. Daniel, who had heard him. Daniel flagged the train just as it neared the brink of the stream.

TRIAL ON MARCH 28

Date Agreed Upon by Attorneys In Grace Shooting Case

Atlanta, March 29.—As a result of a conference between the lawyers in the case the preliminary trial of Mrs. Daisy O. Grace, charged with shooting her husband, Eugene H. Grace, on March 5, was postponed to March 28. The question of bail for Mrs. Grace will be considered at another conference.

The condition of Grace, who is in a hospital with a bullet in his spinal canal, is reported as unchanged

It is earnestly hoped that Mr. Lorimer's grandchildren will not have to die before learning the decision of the Senate on his claim to a seat.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

THREE CONVICTS SLAIN

Fugitive Murderers Laid Out by Posse In Nebraska

Gretna, Neb., March 19.—The posse which set out yesterday in pursuit of the three convicted murderers who escaped from the Nebraska penitentiary Thursday came upon the fugitives near here yesterday afternoon. The convicts stood the big posse off with a rifle fire. All three convicts were killed.

The fugitives while being pursued captured a boy driving a wagon, climbed in and dashed on. The convicts were lying on the bottom of the wagon, their rifles protruding over the side.

Winnipeg Railway Goes to Morgan

Winnipeg, March 19.—Joseph Choate, Jr., J. P. Morgan's representative, has arrived in Winnipeg to take over the Winnipeg electric railway and its interests at a cost of $30,000,000.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	eb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedeba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	deb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	fedeba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 09	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedeba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfeaeba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 05	ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.01, 8.11, 9.07 10.00, 10.59, A. M. 12.00, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.28, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.30 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911
(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.35 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.30 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

(Continued from last issue)

By the river had come the judge, tentatively hopeful, but at heart expecting nothing, therefore immune to disappointment and equipped for failure. By the river had come Mr. Mahaffy, as unfit as the judge himself, and for the same reason, but sour and bitter with the world, believing always in the possibility of some miracle of regeneration.

At the judge's elbow Mr. Mahaffy changed his position with nervous suddenness. Then he folded his long arms.

"You asked if there was any news, Price; while we were waiting for the boat a raft tied up to the bank; the fellow aboard of it had a man he'd fished up out of the river, a man who'd been pretty well cut to pieces."

"Who was he?" asked the judge.

"Nobody knew, and he wasn't conscious. I shouldn't be surprised if he never opens his lips again. When the doctor had looked to his cuts, the fellow on the raft cast off and went on down the Elk."

It occurred to the judge that he himself had news to impart. He must account for the boy's presence.

"While you've been taking your whiff of life down at the steamboat landing, Mahaffy, I've been experiencing a most extraordinary coincidence. When I went to the war of '12, a Hazard accompanied me as my orderly. His grandson is back of that curtain now—asleep—in my bed!" Mahaffy put down his glass.

"You were like this once before," he said darkly. But at that instant the shuck tick rattled noisily at some movement of the sleeping boy. Mahaffy quitted his chair, and crossing the room, drew the quilt aside. A glance sufficed to assure him that in part, at least, the judge spoke the truth.

There was a hoof-beat on the road. down the lane, Cavendish was just rounding a bend in the Elk, a quarter of a mile distant. Leaning loosely against the long handle of his sweep, he was watching the lane of bright water that ran between the black shadows cast by the trees on either bank.

He heard a dull splash, and caught sight of some object in the eddy that swept alongside. Mr. Cavendish promptly detached himself from the handle of the sweep and ran to the edge of the raft.

It was a face, livid and blood-streaked. Dropping on his knees he reached out a pair of long arms and made a dexterous grab, and his fingers closed on the collar of Yancy's shirt. He drew Yancy close alongside, and pulled him clear of the water. Mr. Cavendish began a hurried examination of the still figure. "There's a little life here—not much. Polly!" he called.

This brought Mrs. Cavendish from one of the two cabins that occupied the center of the raft. When she caught sight of Yancy she uttered a shriek.

Her cry had aroused the other denizens of the raft. Six little Cavendishes, each draped in a single garment, tumbled forth from their shelter.

"I reckon we'd better lift him on to one of the beds—get his wet clothes off and wrap him up warm," said Polly.

"Oh, put him in our bed!" cried all the little Cavendishes.

And Yancy was borne into the smaller of the two shanties, where presently his bandaged head rested on the long pillow. Then his wet clothes were hung up to dry along with the family wash, which fluttered on a rope stretched between the two shanties.

* * * * * * * * *

The sheriff had brought the judge's supper. He reported that the crowd was dispersing, and that on the whole public sentiment was not particularly hostile; indeed, he went so far as to say there existed a strong undercurrent of satisfaction that the jail should have so speedily justified itself.

Presently the sheriff went his way into the dusk of the evening, and night came swiftly to fellowship the judge's fears. A single moonbeam found its way into the place, making a thin rift in the darkness. The judge sat down on the three-legged stool, which, with a shake-down bed, furnished the jail.

Where was Solomon Mahaffy, and where Hannibal? He felt that Mahaffy could fend for himself, but he experienced a moment of genuine concern when he thought of the child.

Then—there was a scarcely audible rustle on the margin of the woods, a dry branch snapped loudly. Next a stealthy step sounded in the clearing. The judge had an agonized vision of regulators and lynchers. The cautious steps continued to approach. A whisper stole into the jail.

"Are you awake, Price?" It was Mahaffy who spoke.

"God bless you, Solomon Mahaffy!" cried the judge unsteadily.

"I've got the boy—he's with me," said Mahaffy.

"God bless you both!" repeated the judge brokenly. "Take care of him, Solomon. I feel better now, knowing he's in good hands."

"Please, judge—" it was Hannibal.

"Yes, dear lad?"

"I'm mighty sorry that ten dollars I loaned you was bad—but you don't need ever to pay it back! It were Captain Murrell gave it to me."

"I consecrate myself to his destruction! Judge Slocum Price cannot be humiliated with impunity!"

"I should think you would save your wind, Price, until you'd waddled out of danger!" Mahaffy spoke gruffly.

"How are you going to get me out of this, Solomon—for I suppose you are here to break jail for me," said the judge.

"Well, Price, I guess all we can do is to go back to town and see if I can get into my cabin—I've got an old saw there. If I can find it, I can come again tomorrow night and cut away one of the logs, or the cleats of the door."

"In heaven's name, do that tonight, Solomon!" implored the judge. "Why procrastinate?"

"Price, there's a pack of dogs in this neighborhood, and we must have a full night to move in, or they'll pull us down before we've gone ten miles!"

"You're right, Solomon; I'd forgotten the dogs."

Mahaffy closed and fastened the shutters, then he and Hannibal stole across the clearing and entered the woods. The judge went to bed. He was aroused by the arrival of his breakfast, which the sheriff brought about eight o'clock.

"Well, if I was in your boots I couldn't sleep like you!" remarked that official admiringly. "But I reckon, sir, this ain't the first time the penitentiary has stared you in the face."

It was nearing the noon hour when the judge's solitude was again invaded. He first heard the distant murmur of voices on the road and passed an uneasy and restless ten minutes, with his eye to a crack in the door. He was soothed and reassured, however, when at last he caught sight of the sheriff.

"Well, judge, I got company for you," cried the sheriff cheerfully, as he threw open the door. "A hoss-thief!"

He pushed into the building a man, hatless and coatless, with a pair of pale villainous eyes and a tobacco-stained chin. The judge viewed the newcomer with disfavor. As for the "Now, Judge Price, you know a heap better than to ask me that!" she answered, shaking her head.

"No offense, ma'am," said the judge, hiding his disappointment, and with Mahaffy he quitted the bar.

The sudden noisy clamor of many voices, high-pitched and excited, floated out to them under the hot sky. "I wonder—" began the judge, and paused as he saw the crowd stream into the road before the tavern. Then a cloud of dust enveloped it, a cloud of dust that came from the tramping of many pairs of feet, and that swept toward them, thick and impenetrable, and no higher than a tall man's head in the lifeless air. "I wonder if we missed anything?" continued the judge, finishing what he had started to say.

The score or more of men were quite near, and the judge and Mahaffy made out the tall figure of the sheriff in the lead. And then the crowd, very excited, very dusty, very noisy and very hot, flowed into the judge's front yard. For a brief moment that gentleman fancied Pleasantville had awakened to a fitting sense of its obligation to him and that it was about to make amends for its churlish lack of hospitality. He rose from his chair, and with a splendid florid gesture, swept off his hat.

"It's the pussy fellow!" cried a voice.

"Oh, shut up—don't you think I know him?" retorted the sheriff tartly.

"Gentlemen—" began the judge blandly.

"Get the well-rope!"

The judge was rather at loss properly to interpret these varied remarks. He was not long left in doubt. The sheriff steped to his side and dropped a heavy hand on his shoulder.

"Mr. Slocum Price, or whatever your name is, your little game is up!"

"Ain't he bold?" it was the woman's voice this time, and the fat landlady, her curls awry and her plump breast heaving tumultuously, gained a place in the forefront of the crowd.

"Dear madam, this is an unexpected pleasure!" said the judge, with his hand upon his heart.

"I want my money!" shrieked the landlady. "Good money—not this worthless trash!" she shook a bill under his nose. The judge recognized it as the one of which he had despoiled Hannibal.

"You have been catched passing counterfeit," said the sheriff. A light broke on the judge, a light that stunned and dazzled.

"I can explain—"

"Speak to them, Solomon—you know how I came by the money!" cried the judge, clutching his friend by the arm. Mahaffy opened his thin lips, but the crowd drowned his voice in a roar.

A tall fellow shook a long finger under Mahaffy's nose.

"You scoot!"

Mr. Mahaffy seemed to hesitate. Some one gave him a shove and he staggered forward a step. Before he could recover himself the shove was repeated.

"Lope on out of here!" yelled the tall fellow. Mahaffy was hurried toward the road. Twenty men were in chase behind him. Then the woods closed about him. His long legs, working tirelessly, carried him over fallen logs and through tangled thickets, the voices behind him growing more and more distant as he ran.

"I Want My Money!" Shrieked the Landlady.

(To be Continued.)

READY TO MEET HALF WAY

Coal Miners and Operators Are Likely to Get Together

Scranton, Pa., March 19.—Two statements made here tend to relieve considerably the local apprehension of a coal strike. John J. Dempsey, president of district No. 1 of the United Mine Workers, said:

"We are willing and anxious to meet the operators to discuss this matter of wage agreement just as any two parties having something to buy and sell would get together and strike a bargain."

E. E. Loomis, vice president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company, said:

"There is no reason why both sides should not meet again. I do not believe the mine workers want a strike. I know the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company is not planning for a strike. I am very hopeful of a strike being averted."

WORK FOR STATE OFFICERS

Armed Men Assisting Already Large Force at Barre Mills

South Barre, Mass., March 19.—Armed with repeating rifles, eight members of the state police are stationed on the grounds of the Barre Wool Combing company, prepared to give their assistance to the large force of police officers and deputy sheriffs, should the strikers interfere in the removal of combed wool from the sheds of the mill to freight cars.

The arrival of the state police last night climaxed a day that was marked by many futile attempts to remove a large quantity of wool from the mills. The railroad men said they were afraid of bullets from guns of strikers who might be hiding in the neighborhood.

Sprinting Records Smashed

Aukland, N. Z., March 19.—Arthur Postle defeated Jack Donaldson of South Africa, the world's champion professional sprinter, in the 150-yard dash in 14 1-5 seconds and in the 200-yard dash in 18 seconds. Both are new world's records.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poonsettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

CONVENTIONS SIDETRACKED

In Bill Introduced In Senate by Cummins of Iowa

THE SECOND MONDAY IN JULY

Date Proposed For Nominations of President and Vice President In Nation-Wide Primary Measure—Provides Complete Machinery For Election, Including State Canvassing and Returning Boards

Washington, March 19.—No national nominating conventions would be held this summer and candidates for president and vice president would be nominated directly at primaries to be held the second Monday in July if a comprehensive presidential primary election bill introduced by Senator Cummins of Iowa were to be passed by congress immediately.

The senator expects no such outcome, but he has some confidence that the nominations of all parties will be made in 1916 under his plan. Should the bill be passed later on with such modifications as to make it non-applicable to the present campaign, it would reduce the old-fashioned national conventions to a mere platform-making body.

The bill provides that every nomination of a candidate or candidates for president or vice president shall be held on the second Monday in July of the presidential year and that any participation in a nominating campaign except as authorized by this law shall be unlawful.

The bill goes into detail as to the machinery through which the election shall take place and provides for a national canvassing board to be composed of five persons, each to serve four years, under appointment of the president, by and with the advice of the senate, each to receive $1000 for services in connection with each presidential primary.

State canvassing and returning boards, to be appointed in like manner, are provided for also. The state board will canvass returns from the states, and the national board from all the states. Candidates and electors are to be chosen by plurality party vote.

A "political party" is defined as one that in the last preceding election cast 5 percent of all the votes cast for president. Suffrage is given by the bill to "every person qualified under the laws of the state of which he is or shall be a citizen to vote for a governor or a member of the house of representatives." Thus a person disfranchised by any state, as in some southern states, would be unable to vote for president.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine

Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days

E. W. Grove on box. 25c

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER

LEADED STAINED GLASS. DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED. Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street WOLLASTON

Tel. Quincy 1453-1.

Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance

OFFICE—RESIDENCE

157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE. WOLLASTON

Houses and Building Lots for sale. Houses and Apartments to let.

Tel. 342-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W Mar. 11-1m

Storage FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates

Pianos and Furniture Moving

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

H. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS. MONEY

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 500 new samples to choose from. Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.

Room 4 Johnson Bldg. 14-6t

WALL PAPER

F. T. APPLETON

31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy

Mar. 15-3m

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL -- FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES

HOLMES & HALL

96 Washington St., Quincy TELEPHONE 974 W

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking

Table Board by the Day or Week

384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS

Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.

384 Granite Street, Quincy.

Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS

STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy

WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R Jan. 6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings

C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.

Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars

Demonstration by Appointment

Stable 207. Phones Residence 972 W

Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.

Robert F. Leighton

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass. 8-1m

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1361 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN

21 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Tel. Quincy 1453-W

Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Columbia graphaphone with 60 records and two horns. Nearly new. Will sell cheap or trade for hens. W. R. Drake. The Hen Man. Hayward street, East Braintree. 18-3t O-23-1w

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air. This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

Hoop-iron "Mainsprings for 25cts.," we don't keep; we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

FOR SALE THE COZY HOME

No. 56 Upland Road

Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see

JAMES F. BURKE

The Real Estate Man

Room 4, Savings Bank Building Quincy, Mass. 16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Hancock Jewelry Co., two Jewelers, Two Opticians. 1463 Hancock street. 19-9t

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee., 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

WANTED—Washing and ironing to take home. Apply 59 Smith street, West Quincy. 18-2t

ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER — Accurate at figures, familiar with typewriter, neat in penmanship. Apply to Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 18-tf

WANTED — Monument draftsman and bookkeeper desires position as such, or foreman. First class on Mausoleum detail work, 10 years' experience. Address G. M. 96 Glencoe place, Quincy. 16-3t

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Auctioneer Insurance Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets QUINCY

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or

Pinel's Variety Store

146 Water St., Quincy

IT IS A MARVEL

9—1m

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS,

303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

TO LET

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—House of seven rooms with all modern improvements. Inquire at 68 Goddard street, Quincy. 18-6t

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 15-6t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street. 13-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—New house on Butler road, suite of six rooms all modern improvements. Ready for occupancy. Best of neighborhood. Rent reasonable. Apply at 968 Hancock street or 92 Butler road. 5-12t

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon, 17 Granite street, Quincy. 13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)

Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

JUST LISTED
AND TOO GOOD TO KEEP UNDER COVER

A seven room house with every possible convenience. Five rooms on the first floor. 6,900 feet of land. Excellent garage.

This is a charming cottage house on a shady side street, within easy walking distance of Quincy center. Four tons of furnace coal a season heats it. How many houses are bricked up between the outside siding? This one is. That's why it keeps so warm in winter. For a small family, it is ideal. And say! the purchase price is only $3,300. $800 cash down. Do you dare to look at it?

RICKER 1416 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.
Opp. the Greenleaf

18-2t

BRIEFS

The tulips at the public library are coming ahead fast these warm days, showing an inch above ground.

Geo. L. Ghl Rebekah Lodge will initiate several candidates at their regular meeting in I. O. O. F. hall, Thursday evening.

The Committee on Public Buildings of the City Council will meet Friday afternoon at 4.30 at the Massachusetts Fields school.

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet Thursday evening. It is hoped by the committee to complete the budget at this meeting.

Monday and today are what might be called ideal spring days. As winter ends Thursday it is hoped that pleasant weather will be the rule.

Many friends of Miss Alma B. Reed will be glad to hear that she is now at her home at 7 Liberty Square and is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald, who is to speak on Equal Suffrage in Brasee hall, Wollaston, next Monday evening is not the wife of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston. It will be worth while to attend the meeting and hear her able presentation of this question.

The Woman's Missionary society of Bethany church has secured Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury of the American Missionary association to give an address on Schools for Mountain Whites," this evening in Bethany chapel to which all are welcome. Miss Dorothy Lowe will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Lucie N. Emery.

MISS HALL SURPRISED.

Miss Margaret Hall whose engagement to Dr. F. E. Davis was recently annuonced was pleasantly surprised by a group of her young lady friends at the home of Miss Olive Fay of Marlboro street, Wollaston, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Hall was invited by her hostess to spend the afternoon and when the bevy of girls broke in upon her the surprise was complete. The afternoon was pleasantly passed with conglomerate whist, Miss Dorothy Ficken taking the first prize, a silver picture frame and Miss Hall the booby prize of a cute green chicken.

As the guests entered the supper room Miss Hall was requested to pour from a dainty china chocolate set the gift of the assembled company.

The gift was made known by a song joined in by those present the words being composed by Miss Marjorie Fay Miss Margaret was deeply moved and prettily thanked her friends for their gift.

An attractive menu was served, the decorations being in green and white.

Among those present were: Miss Margearet Hall, Miss Dorothy Ticken, Miss Marion Sheldon, Miss Marion Bolster, Miss Marion Browne, Miss Helen Browne, Miss Mollie Brown, Mrs. Walter Field, Miss Grace Bishop, Miss Daisy Brooks, Miss Marjorie Fay, Miss Dorothy Fay, Miss Olive Fay

THE AFTERNOON FIRE.

The alarm from Box 64 at 1.30 this noon was for a slight fire in the Pope house on Atlantic street occupied by a family named Purdy. The fire started from an open fire place and did but little damage.

Sounded All Right.

Patience—Well, he told the truth anyway.

Patrice—How so?

Patience—When he was buying the solitaire he told the jeweler it was for a sister.

Patrice—Well, I'm sure that wasn't true.

Patience—Why, yes; when he offered it to the girl she promised to be a sister to him.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

NO FOUNDATION FOR THE RUMOR

New Court House Building has not Been Condemned

BUILDING ALL RIGHT

There has been considerable talk the past few days over a widely circulated rumor to the effect that the new court house had been condemned, owing to some of the specifications not being adhered to. Just who is responsible for the circulation of such a report, cannot be readily ascertained, but it has been said that a prominent official is the guilty party. It was also rumored that a certain commission had visited the court house and on investigation failed to accept it.

John F. Merrill, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners was interviewed in the matter by a Ledger reporter and declared that the rumor was absolutely without foundation. That it was the duty of the county commissioners to either accept or reject the new court house. Mr. Merrill disclaimed any knowledge of a comimttee or commission investigating the conditions of the building at the present time and said that entire jurisdiction in the matter belonged to the County Commissioners. Mr. Merrill was at a loss to understand how such a report had arisen. He said that the work in progress is being daily watched by the County Commissioners.

When asked as to the time the court house would be opened, Mr. Merrill replied that he expected to have it ready for court proceedings by the middle of next month.

THE "FRUITS" OF AMBITION.

"If you are ambitious and want to get on in life, don't wait for your opportunity—make it."

So counseled Mr. Kalestick to young Kabbage, whom he had just appointed to the management of a greengrocery stall.

All that day the youth pondered the advice, and he still remembered it when his eye suddenly caught an item in the sporting columns of his favorite paper:

"Clodville Football club requires dates for December."

Two minutes later Kabbage was busy with pen, ink and paper, and in ten more minutes he was proudly conning the following note to the Clodville secretary:

"Dear Sir: I beg to inform you that we have a choice lot of dates in stock. Inclose one as a sample, and will be pleased to supply any quantity at twopence a pound or four pounds for sevenpence ha'penny!"—Ideas.

The Superlative Degree.

"Can you give me any idea of the mean temperature in this place?" asked the traveler who had just arrived at Devil's Lake, N. D.

"We ain't got any mean temperature here," replied the old settler. "It's all meanest."

After Seeing the County Treasurer.

Man With the Bulging Brow (raising his voice)—I'm a good citizen, but——

Man With the Bulbous Nose—But, like all the good citizens I know, you do hate like thunder to pay your taxes!

—Child Welfare League of Spokane, Wash., will petition the park commissioners of the city to establish playgrounds with dance halls theatres, social rooms and gymnasiums in various parts of the city, to provide entertainment and recreation for working men and women and children. Mrs. W. H. Page, chairman of a special committee delegated by the league to investigate the welfare of the juveniles, says in a report that the committee does not think reforms can be brought about by the sweep of a pen or a rising vote, adding: "Instead of trying to prosecute the owners of cafes and restaurants for selling liquor to minors and other places where people congregate we purpose furnishing places of amusement that will attract the youth of the city and keep our young people away from places of unwholesome environment. If we furnish the right sort of entertainment for the working folk they will not go to the other resorts and with that end in view we shall present our needs to the park commissioners at their March meeting.

Too Late For Classification.

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

Under Difficulties

Trying to go through the Field museum has become a sort of mania with McGinnis. It is at once a recreation, a dissipation, a lure and a disappointment.

Years ago it dawned upon him that going through the museum was a duty he owed himself and his city. So, condescendingly one day while out for a walk he said to himself that he might as well drop in.

McGinnis had also something of the feeling of the amateur when he found a sign up saying that the museum was closed for repairs. He walked away with his respect for the institution increased as one's respect always increases for the unattainable. If he could have walked right in he probably never would have thought anything more about it, but his curiosity was now aroused. Right at hand was a wonderful collection of instructive things and he was puzzled to know why people persisted in talking about stocks and ocean trips and the cost of beefsteak and dairy products instead of holding up their hands and exclaiming over the marvels at their gates.

When his cousin John came to town McGinnis clapped him on the shoulder. "And now," he said, "we'll go and see the Field museum!"

Cousin John was glad to go. Both of them, however, became so interested in the cases of Pompeian relics and Roman bronze as one goes in that it was closing time before they knew it.

"Those bathtubs certainly were great!" Cousin John said that night. "To think that those old boys really took baths the same as we do!"

McGinnis' brother-in-law was better educated, so when some months later McGinnis started out to the museum with him in tow McGinnis felt he was going to have a treat. Having seen the first cases before, McGinnis took great pride in pointing out to his relative the old frying pans and vases and pitchers incrusted with lava.

"Over here," he said, "are a couple of bathtubs, too, that they dug up on a Pompeian estate—"

"Sorry," said the attendant, hours later, tapping McGinnis on the shoulder, "but it's closing time."

"It does beat all," McGinnis said as they started reluctantly homeward, "how much time one can waste just at the very start! Didn't you see some stuffed elephants or something farther back? We'll have to try again some day!"

The brother-in-law, however, had to leave unexpectedly and McGinnis started out alone. Bipps met him on the way and said he'd like to go, too. McGinnis laid a straight course in the direction of the huge elephants a mile or so farther back, but Bipps collared him.

"Look at those old Roman things!" he cried enthusiastically. "Fancy their being actually used thousands of years ago!"

"There's some elephants back there," McGinnis protested. "I'm told the collection of stuffed wild animals has no equal in the world—"

"Jiminy!" chortled Bipps. "Look at the bronze tables and things! And if here aren't a couple of bathtubs! Say, those are bigger'n ours today—a fellow could take a regular swim—"

"And cases of butterflies from India and Africa and China," pursued the anxious McGinnis. "Like enamels in their color."

"They must have had oodles of water in those days," said Bipps. "Say, how'd you like a bath—"

"And Egyptian tiles and inscriptions and birds from the moon, I guess, and—"

"Those bathtubs certainly get me," insisted Bipps dreamily. "Look at the effect of the atmosphere on them! To think that maybe Nero took a bath in—"

"Sorry," said an attendant while they were still looking at the bathtubs, "but it's closing time!"

McGinnis stamped out, followed by Bipps still talking about the tubs.

"There's a cuttlefish back there somewhere," McGinnis growled, accusingly. "Tweester saw it, so I know it's there. It has a tail like an aeroplane propeller and two rudders that extend back for yards! Yards, I'm telling you! And a relief map of the moon that—"

"They never could have got those bathtubs into one of our dinky modern flats," was Bipps' triumphant comment.

McGinnis went absolutely alone the next time. He resolved to cut his dearest friend if he interfered. He made a straight dash from the entrance past the Roman relics that he could see nights in his sleep and tore madly for the treasures beyond.

Just as he sighted the African war elephants and caught a glimpse of a whole menagerie of chimpanzees and gorillas and snakes and musk oxen and about a hundred doors leading into other entertainments Sadie Linman grabbed his arm.

"Oh, Mr. McGinnis!" she said. "I'm so-o-o glad I met you! I've got to write a paper for our club on Pompeian days and I'm so-o-o stupid! Won't you come back with me to the entrance and tell me what all those queer old things are that they've dug up from the ruins and read the inscriptions and things to me? There are a couple of bathtubs there, too, that are so-o-o interesting!"

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

And now the members of the Durfee High school basket ball team of Fall River, having ended their season in a manner which appealed to them as being most successful, wish to play a series of games with Quincy High for the championship of the state. It is consoling to see the Fall River team acknowledge the local contingency to be a foremost contender for the honors of supremacy, but it is disparaging on the other hand to see the methods that have been adopted to bring about such a series.

In the first place the management of Durfee High has caused a report to be spread broadcast to the effect that three letters had been forwarded to manager of the local team, in an effort to secure a game. Whether the letters were sent or not, we will not question, but it remains that manager of Quincy High, who by the way is a teacher at the school, received but one letter, and acknowledged the receipt of the same by informing the Durfee High manager that it would be impossible to arrange a game wth his team, owing to the fact that the schedule of Quincy High had long since been completed. This happened about a month ago, and was the only time that anything in the line of a basket ball game was forthcoming from the Fall River section.

Then too, when we considered that the majority of Durfee High's victories have been secured over teams practically unheard of in this section of the state, teams too that could not be classed among the strong and formidable schoolboy aggregations and consequently it is difficult to draw an inference that would have us believe that Durfe High was a championship team.

The local team has played the strongest combinations to be found, and has twice defeated the much heralded Winthrop High team, which was considered by many, throughout the season, to have been the "runner up" for the title

Quincy High has established a record that will more than compare with the record made by any High school team this season and since its work this season has enabled it to acquire a much better record than Durfee High can boast off, it doesn't seem that much attention should be paid at this time to the flamboyant defy of the Fall River team.

Quincy High will wind up its season nin basket-ball this week, by playing two of the hardest games on the schedule. Tomorrow afternoon, at Milton, the Granite City lads encounter the Milton High Quintet and as both teams are evenly matched, a warm struggle will surely be in order. The local boys have already taken the measure of the Milton players this year and will use every effort to duplicate the performance tomorrow.

The last game of the year will be played in the gymnasium of the local school and Franklin High will furnish the attraction. Franklin High defeated the local boys at Franklin some time ago, but when we realize that the game was governed by collegiate rules, it will not be surprising if the local boys turn the tables, playing under their accustomed amateur rules, when their last game of the season has terminated. Great enthusiasm has been already manifested in the outcome of these two games and it is expected that record breaking crowds will be noticeable in each occasion.

The opportunity of a life time to witness a game of basketball, played by members of the fairer sex, will be afforded all local sporting bloods, in St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, this evening, where the Quincy Gym Girls clash for the second time this year with the team from the Roxbury Y. W. C. A. The two teams met a short time ago and it was only after a gruelling struggle had ensued that the local girls were enabled to emerge with a 19 to 17 victory.

The Boston team is especially anxious to gain a victory over the Gym Girls and have been practising very diligently during the past week in an endeavor to do so.

As this is the only athletic contest in the city, this evening, as this will probably be the last game of the season for the home team and as it is one of the rare chances where male and female are allowed to be in attendance at a basketball game between girl players, it certainly should prove a great drawing card and at the same time the mecca of attraction for four hundred fans.

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

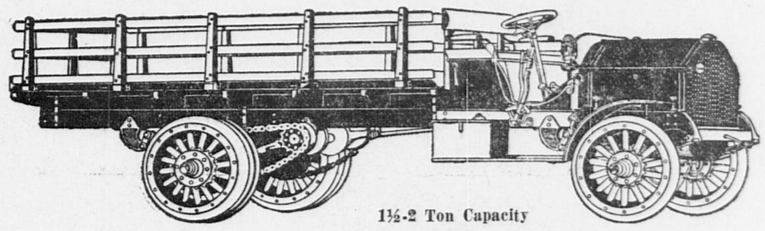
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1500 lb, 1 TON 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenue 15 6t

"Quincy will have a semi-professional baseball team ths season, and a good one." This information was imparted to one this morning by a well-known fan, who was in town surveying the situation. The gentleman in question said he thought it was too early as yet to give out any definite information in the matter, but assured me that he would soon be able to hand out some "good dope" for the benefit of local fans.

Too Much.

In persuasive tones the good-looking woman who had secured an interview with the taxicab manager tried to convince him that the company owed her $2.02.

"Something broke," she said, "and I was held up for 45 minutes while the driver tinkered with the machine."

Her manner was so impressive that the manager was on the point of writing out a check for the money demanded, but before doing so he remarked:

"It certainly was a case of overcharging. It wasn't your fault the cab broke down, and he should not have charged you for the time it took to make repairs."

"O," said she, "he didn't. It isn't overcharging I am complaining about. He made me late for a bargain sale that closed at 11 o'clock, and when I finally got there I had to pay $4 for a blouse that had sold up to 11 o'clock for $1.98. It is the difference I am fighting for."

Then the manager closed his check book.—New York Times.

Osler's Cure for Gout.

Since his proposition that man should be chloroformed at sixty, Dr. William Osler has been regarded more or less as a grim monster by many people, says "One Who Knows Him." In reality Doctor Osler is a mild-mannered man, with a fund of genuine humor, as witness the following cure for gout which he once recommended to a friend:

"First, pick a handkerchief from the pocket of a spinster who never wished to wed; second, wash the handkerchief in an honest miller's pond; third, dry it on the hedge of a person who has never been covetous; fourth, send it to the shop of a physician who never killed a patient; fifth, mark it with a lawyer's ink who never cheated a client; and, sixth, apply it, hot, to the gout-tormented part. A speedy cure must follow."

Good Way.

"Yes: we had a big home wedding."

"You say it passed off smoothly?"

"Yes; we hired a Broadway director and he staged it just as if it had been a musical comedy."

A Fair Offer.

She was strong minded and meant to have her rights at any cost, and when she was hauled up before the justice of the peace for exceeding the speed limit she demanded to be represented by counesl.

"I just tell you one thing, judge," she said, whacking the table with her right hand, "I'd rather pay a lawyer $25 than give this court $10 for a fine."

"All right, madam," said the judge "I'm th' only lawyer hereabouts, and if ye'll just hand over that $25, I'll guarantee to appear before myself and get ye off."—Harper's Weekly.

Subtle Flattery.

"Dibbles is what I would call a diplomatic man."

"In what particular?"

"Mrs. Dibbles asked him to make out a list of ten of the world's greatest women, and whom do you think he put at the head of the list?"

"I can't imagine."

"Mrs. Dibbles!"

Praise or Condemnation.

Author (cheerfully) — Couldn't I take my call now? They're shouting "Author."

Manager (doubtfully)—If you like But I'm not quite sure whether it's "author" they're shouting or "awful."—Bystander.

Confidences.

Gwennie—Why did you refuse him if he is such a prudent man?

Gertie—He said he thought if he got married he could save more money.—London Opinion.

Fitting Equipment.

"What kind of wheels are those they have on the bottom of aeroplanes?"

"Of course, they are flywheels."

HUBBY'S SCHEME A FAILURE

His Declaration of Independence Not Such a Success as Was One More Famous.

Erasmus J. Proudfoot was the husband of a suffragette, a fact well known to himself and to the neighborhood in which he resided. Nobody ever had an opportunity to forget who wore the bifurcated garment in the household. It had been many round, pale moons since Mr. Proudfoot had been able to tear himself away from his fireside in the evening. Upon this eventful evening he had decided to issue his declaration of independence.

"I will be out this evening," he remarked quite casually to Mrs. Proudfoot. It was his plan to break the thing gently but firmly, and to stand by his colors to the bitter end.

"Is that so?" she asked with a slight touch of polite sarcasm. "May I ask why, pray?"

"I have a directors' meeting."

"No you haven't. Your board of directors always meets in the afternoon. Mr. Jones told me so."

"Well—er, then I have an old college friend from out of town, and I promised to spend the evening with him."

"Old stuff!" snorted Mrs. Proudfoot. "You act as though I was a ten-twent'-thirt' vaudeville audience, ready to bite on anything. If you have an old college chum in town you can phone him to come up here."

"But I have got to meet our senior partner at six o'clock and go to the train with him," said Mr. Proudfoot, desperately.

"Your senior partner went away yesterday. You told me so yourself."

"Well, even at that," said he, in a final attempt to get by gracefully "even at that, I promised to make the fourth in a game of whist over at Mr. Podsnap's tonight, and I've got to go."

"Mr. and Mrs. Podsnap are up at Charlevoix and have been there ever since July 1. Your work is really course, Erasmus."

"Well, you know I never deceived you in my life, Matilda," said Mr Proudfoot, weakening.

"I know perfectly well that you have never deceived me, Erasmus and you are not deceiving me now You had better get out your slippers and remain at home this evening."

And he remained.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 68 | QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 20, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

CITY, BOARD OF TRADE AND FIELD PLANS FOR WATER ST. CROSSING

Former Provides That Street Cross Over Tracks and Latter That Street Cross Under Tracks

One of These Plans is Said to be That Which Will be Reported by the Special Commission in a Few Days

At the last meeting of the Board of Trade there was a lengthly discussion on the grade crossing separation question. It was during this discussion that ex-Councilman Ernest W. Branch, who drew the Board of Trade or City plan for abolishing the crossing at Water street, stated that he had made a careful study of this plan for Water street, and if it was still determined to stand by that plan he should decline to serve as a member of the committee on grade crossings. As the Board of Trade showed no inclination to change its mind on the question, Mr. Branch promptly resigned from the committee.

While the special commission has not as yet reported, and no one is authorized to state just what it will report, it is generally understood the jority of people are not familiar with the two projects now before the commission and generally considered as the solution of the problem at South Quincy.

Perhaps the following simple facts will explain the matter more clearly to the taxpayers who are going to pay for the work when completed.

but that Plan No. 2 is the best for the City of Quincy. This is a broad statement but an analysis of the plans will substantiate it.

The separation of the grades is a matter of public necessity and convenience, and the first object should be to meet the public's need which may be stated as follows:—

1—Pedestrians, teaming and electric service from east to west.

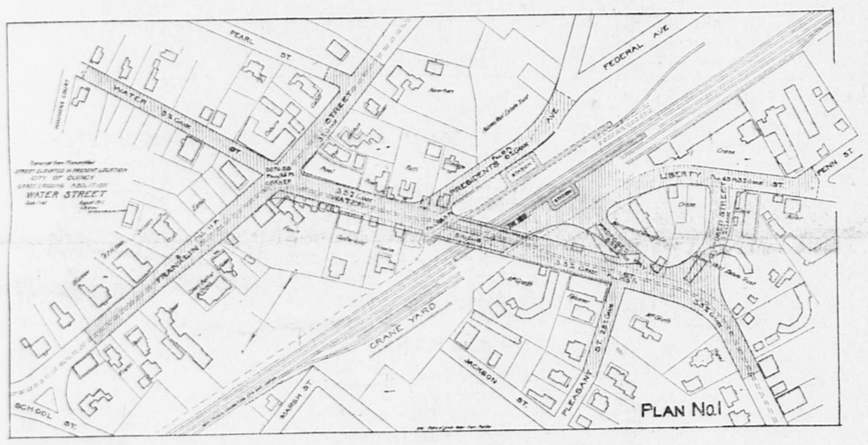
2—Access to and from stations for passengers.

3—Damage to property and business.

4—Finished results.

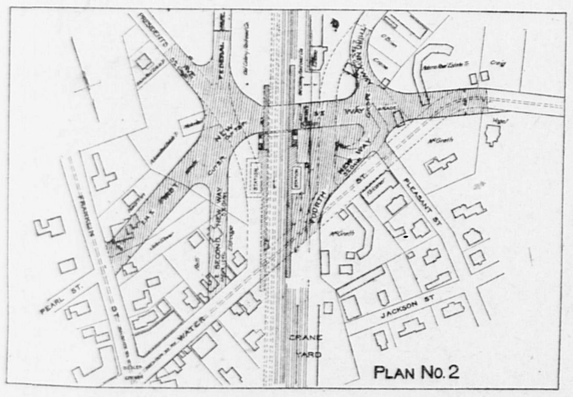
5—First cost and ultimate cost.

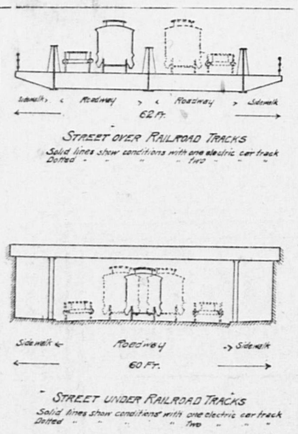
1.—A study of the plans and the two street sections will show which is the best plan for the pedestrians and teams using this crossing. Granite teaming going east from the cutting



PLAN NO. 1.
"CITY PLAN," CHANGED.

Street over railroad.
Railroad grade not changed.
Street 24 feet above land at railroad.
Average fill, 11 feet.
Doble's corner, raised 13 ft.
Estimated cost, $364,000.
Land frontage damaged, 1.5 miles.
Good entrance to Crane yard.
26-foot climb on east side.
20 and 27-foot climb on west side.
3 per cent and 3.5 per cent grades.





plan it will report for Water street, will be the so-called Field plan somewhat modified.

Since the meeting of the Board of Trade another well-known civil engineer has given some attention to the subject, as far as Water street is concerned and his findings will be read with interest. This gentleman, who by the way is not Mr. Branch, has made a careful study both of the Board of Trade or City plan, and the Field plan and his deductions he gives Ledger readers in the following letter, which explains in detail the two plans:

Editor Daily Ledger:

The recent discussion of the Water street grade crossing abolition at the Board of Trade meeting brought out two facts very clearly, first, that engineers do not favor the so-called Board of Trade or City Plan for Water street and also the fact that the ma-

PLAN NO. 2.
"FIELD PLAN," CHANGED.

Street under railroad.
Railroad raised four feet.
Street 8 feet below land at railroad.
Average cut, 3 feet.
Doble's corner, not affected
Estimated cost, $239,000.
Land frontage damaged, 0.5 miles.
Good entrance to Crane yard.
11-foot climb on east side.
14-foot climb on west side.
2 and 3 per cent grades.

Plan No. 1 is a modification of the Board of Trade or City Plan and Plan No. 2 is a modification of the Field plan so-called. The former goes over the railroad; the latter under the railroad.

From an engineering standpoint, from a standpoint of public utility, of public convenience, civic beauty and cost, there is no question among those who have all the facts at hand sheds, by Plan No. 1, must climb 27 feet by a 3 per cent and 3.5 per cent grade and descend either 26 feet or 15 feet according to their destination. By plan No. 2 they descend 9 feet on 2 per cent and 3 per cent grade, and ascend 11 feet on about 2 per cent grade. Not only this difference in grade but Plan No. 2 provides an open street from curb to curb with a chance to avoid electric cars, whereas by Plan No. 1, if a team is a foot and a half from the centre of the way, will strike either the car or the bridge girders. Coal coming from Quincy Point must climb 26 feet and descend 20 or 27 feet according to destination.

2. Access to and from the station by Plan No. 2 is better than by Plan No. 1. The east station will be the principal one as far as the people are concerned; tickets are bought here,

(Continued on Page Four.)

THE DETECTION OF FORGERY

Interesting Talk by William E. Hingston the Expert

BLACK HAND

At the monthly meeting of the Young Peoples Social Society in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church, Tuesday evening William E. Hingston of Wollaston, spoke most entertainingly and at length upon the "Detection of forgery."

Mr. Hingston's long experience both as an expert at the leading court cases of the country and in private matters of importance placed him in a position to give his audience an evening full of personal experiences.

The term handwriting expert is often mininterpreted. Paper ink, their composition and age, holding of the pen, condition of the writer, other data, wording, spelling and punctuation all enter into it. Handwriting is the last and the least important.

An expert should be described as one who has been sufficiently observing, industrious and acute of understanding to acquire practical knowledge of things in general and an exhaustive knowledge of one thing in particular. That man is the ideal expert on that particular subject.

Who will then presume that the opinion of such a man on his specialty is to be offset or disparaged by the opinion of another whose acquaintance with that particular thing is only general or casual.

The handwriting or other expert simply pits his brain against that of the criminal. The criminal never succeeds in getting away. Detection sooner or later is inevitable.

The speaker went on to show how in forgery, that it was in the unconscious habits and minor details that the offender was always caught.

An instance was given of a sign painter sending a "black hand" letter was caught simply on account of the correct spacing and proper alignment.

Mr. Hingston told of balloting frauds and the detection of spurious documents. In one case a forged will was proven because of the paper upon which it was written.

At the time the will was supposed to have been made wood pulp paper had not been perfected. The document was on wood pulp paper. This discovery by the expert proved the case.

Many other accounts of a similar nature were given showing that the way of the transgressor is hard. Crime doesn't pay as there is always a trail left behind.

The speaker was accorded a rising vote of thanks and refreshments followed. During the evening Mr. Hingston displayed many interesting souvenirs among them a Sicilian black hander's knife whose very shape was suggestive.

Others displayed were cards showing the Bertillion measurments, micro-photographs showing specimens of handwriting, the style of time fuse used by safe blowers and many others.

The evening closed with a series of stereopticon views of Wollaston recently displayed at the clubs vaudeville show.

Reports show that despite the fact of an expenditure of about $300 for the two nights the receipts exceeded this by nearly $100.

FRATERNAL VISIT.

There was a large attendance of brothers and visitors at Wollaston on Tuesday evening, at the special communication of Wollaston Masonic lodge. The visitors included many from Orphans Hope lodge of East Weymouth, the officers of that lodge performing the degree work in full on one of the candidates. It was a notable gathering of the fraternity and the only regret is that Wollaston lodge is not fortunate enough to have larger apartments.

Toast made from PRATT'S BREAD is better for your children than cake.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street — Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

CLUBS HOLD A JOINT DEBATE

Resolve Was, "Women Have More Curiosity Than Men"

WOMEN WIN

Curiosity attracted a large number to the vestry of the Park and Downs church, Tuesday evening, the occasion being a joint debate between the Men's club and the Womens' Guild upon the uestion, "Resolved: Women have more curiosity than men."

The crowd that sat down to the supper served by the ladies at 6.30 more than overflowed the accomodations provided and necessitated a second table. The supper hour was made pleasant with selections by Estes orchestra.

Composing the supper committee were Mrs. James D. Wilson, Mrs. A. R. Muir, Mrs. H. B. Letson, Mrs. L. I. Mosman, Mrs. Charles Richardson, Miss Marion Brown, and Mrs. George Baxter.

With Mrs. T. H. Irving in charge the fololwing served as waitresses: Mrs. F. W. Knowlton, Mrs. C. A. Chase, Mrs. Chester A. Boynton, Mrs. Frederick Robinson, Mrs. George H. Stebbins, Miss Natalie Scott, Miss Freda Klingenhagen, Miss Ruth Page, Mrs. A. W. Rider.

The meeting was called to order by President MacMulkin of the Men's club who introduced Rev. William B. Ayers, and a group of men who were announced to sing an original song.

'Much to the surprise of the president the song referred to himself, prasing his efficiency in office and mentioning the hens, of which he keeps a few. It closed with the rousing chorus 'Any little egg that's a nice little egg, is the right little egg for him."

The president was overwhelmed, and the audience delighted and after applause that was long and loud the song was repeated.

The debate opened with Rev. William B. Ayers as presiding officer, and Mrs. William B. Holmes, Charles A. Chase and Miss Ella R. Neusaus as judges.

William J. Colby, the first speaker for the affirmative had a long list of plausible arguments. He gave praise to woman's quickness of mind, her agility and intellect, that lead her to search out and find that which otherwise might not have been discovere .

He spoke of eminent Germans Dr. Van Buren who, upon investigation of the brain cells of the two sexes, discovered those devoted to curiosity, one larger and more active in the brain of woman.

Phrenologists tell us that woman's bump of curiosity is larger than that of man. The speaker instanced women's novel reading where almost invariably she turns to the last chapter before she has half finished the book.

Mrs. Charles F. Bryant for the negative, was thankful that the much mooted question was to be settled, once and for all. She was about to prove the fallacy of tradition and phrenologists and show that men's bump of genius was simply abnormal curiosity.

From marbles to politics it is the same curiosity. It was curiosity that prompted this debate and curiosity that brought this goodly company of men together.

Louis S. Cleaves mentioned Eve and Lot's wife as biblical examples of woman's extreme curiosity. Telephone "rubbering" was another argument.

Mrs. Celia McKay brought literary evidence to bear and gave many quotations in which woman's curiosity was not once mentioned but man's.

A millinery opening never blocked the streets, but the crowd around a baseball, foot ball or prize fight bulletin would stop the Twentieth Century Limited.

From the small boy who makes a hole in his drum to find the music, to the man who eats his dogs in the search for the pole, all men have that bump of curiosity.

Lieutenant James D. Wilson, spoke for the affirmative, refuting many of the opponents, leading arguments, while Miss Ella M. Brown closed the debate most wittily and effectively for the negative.

A short time was given both sides for rebuttal, during which many humorous and timely remarks were made. The judges then adjournedand a general discussion from the floor ensued.

The judges returned a decision unanimously in favor of the women and the meeting broke up into an informal gathering.

If this patent decision is good law, why couldn't a publisher require every purchaser of his paper to have some visiting cards printed?

CARPETS
Oriental RUGS
Domestic
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1843
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-653 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

Hawaiian Pineapple

Sovereign Brand

This brand of Pineapple is well known for its exceedingly high quality. The fruit that is put into the sanitary cans is perfect fruit, and put up in a very heavy syrup making a quality of canned fruit that is absolutely unapproachable. Being sliced it makes a delicious dessert and is delightful for afternoon teas.

Sovereign Brand, a can 25c

R. E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

March 20-21

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

When a man feels like making a fool of himself it's a sign he is in love.

Baseball fans are beginning to make noises indicating that they are about to wake up.

There is considerable chance of a coal strike, but most people do not worry about their December coal supply until November 30.

Representative Pujo of Louisiana says he will retire from Congress, but 482 others will also have to quit before we can feel that the country is safe.

When Sarah Bernhardt says that under no circumstances will she be a candidate for further theatrical honors in this country, what she means is that she will not appear consecutively.

The Vassar girls are being trained to fight fire, but it would be more serviceable in every day life if they were taught something about how to run the fire in the kitchen-stove.

It was lucky that Captain Amundsen found the Pole just when he did, for this gave him a chance to knock on wood and thus ensure his safe return.

The "houn dawg" song joke was good when it started, but at the present time we advise brother paragraphers to prefer such comparitively fresh subjects as the plumber and the iceman.

There is a prevailing impression that if you want something to talk about in society, you will get much more material by attending the automobile show than by reading Shakespeare or Dickens.

The House is having quite a fight over private pension bills. Of course any one who is turned down by the regular pension boards should be compensated for his mental suffering and injury to his feelings.

FIGHT SWEAT SHOP.

During the past week leading society women of Washington, including Miss Helen Taft, have been taking turns at an exhibit of the Consumers League, explaining the methods and purposes of this fight against the sweat shop. It is a cause that should be represented and urged in every city and town.

The heart breaking life in the home work shops of our great cities was well illustrated in the conversation of a New York Italian woman with a charity visitor as reported in "The Survey."

"In my country peoples cood outa door," she said, "they make the wash outa door, they eat outa door, they maka macaronia outa door. My people laugha laugha alla time. America, it is up, up (making a gesture of going up stairs), worka, worka, alla time. Good money, no good air."

How enormously conditions in the home industries have changed in a single generation. There was a time when half of the country homes used to eke out a living by taking in work from shoe, hat, and clothing factories. On waxy floors, in large and sunny rooms, the conditions were quite as good as in the average factory to-day.

But what a contrast from the smelling place where our alluring dollar waist or fifty cent shirt may have been made!

In Brooklyn, N. Y., there are about 4000 places licensed to do home manufactures. During a period of about two months in 1910, there were over 200 contagious diseases reported from these homes.

Is a dollar waist economical, even in high cost of living times, if it involves an expenditure of $200 for a doctor, nurse, and quarantine bills, to say nothing of the undertaker's melancholy fee?

A frequent spectacle in the city sweat shop consists of little children four years old and upward, snipping away with their scissors, at work their pinched and feeble hands can do.

O Lord, how long!

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS.

No doubt most people interested in useful reading matter will thank us us for information, obtained through official sources, as to how public documents can be procured with least trouble and at trifling expense. The idea that prevails most generally, that this class of literature may be secured through the courtesy of Members of Congress, is correct only in so slight a degree that it had best be corrected. There are nearly five hundred Senators and Representatives—hence an edition of several thousand copies, if distributed pro rata, gives to each only a few copies. Some of these the Senator or Representative needs for reference, the few left over are soon exhausted, and those constituents who then write for them are necessarily disappointed, through no fault of the public man whom they have addressed.

Now, as a general proposition, the reader who is interested in a Government publication will serve himself best by addressing the official known as the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., who is authorized to have reprinted any Government publication for which there is a demand, and sell the same, at cost, to all applicants. He will mail price lists, divided by subjects, free upon application, and remittance can then, as required by law authorizing such sales, accompany order.

A CRUSADE THAT FAILED.

The critical illness of Dr. Mary Walker, the famous advocate of woman's rights, who was given legal permission to wear men's clothes, is a reminder of a crusade that failed.

The other extreme from Dr. Mary's view may be found in the ruling of a Kentucky judge a few years ago, who required that a woman in his court room wearing a man's hat should remove it. "What constitutes a woman's hat? "Wrote a woman journalist on this incident. "Nothing but ownership. If a woman pays for a hat it is hers. Nobody has authority to say what hat a woman shall wear, if it does not infringe on the rights of others."

The woman's rights movement has altogether changed its attitude on clothes. The early crusaders of the Dr. Walker type were indifferent to the coquetries of style and to the artistic motive. The fact that Alpine dairymaids and Belgian female miners wore trousers, and found that they lightened their toil, was reason enough to warrant the bloomer movement.

To the common mind, trousers for women are subversive of fitness. From the transcendental bloomerites of 1850, down to the frisky Parisians in the harem skirts of 1910, the crowd has always looked at them as analogous to a six-legged calf or the living skeleton.

The beauty of any clothing, considered from the view point of artistic drapery, consists in long flowing and curving lines that answer and echo to the curves of the human body. The division of trousers into two legs breaks up these lines into short awkward wrinkles running crosswise. For such reasons women will never wear them.

The bicycle craze of the Nineties led to some daring ventures that were soon laughed off the streets. To the mind of Mere Man, the participation of women in athletics, which is so necessary to their physical well being, would be facilitated if they would wear their gym bloomers in the more active out door sports. But feminine sentiment seems to feel that to be beautiful is better than to be strong and healthful.

The modern Suffragette movement is conservative on the clothes question. Even when the Londoners go out for the festive pursuit of window smashing, they must be properly arrayed in the latest spring styles.

PARCELS POST RATES.

There appears to be no longer any question as to the establishment of a parcels post system. Agreement is general as to its desirablity. There is a question, however, as to advisability of adopting the flat-rate principle under which first-class mail matter is carried. It costs two cents to send a sealed letter across a street; it costs but two cents to send a sealed letter across a continent or, in some instances, across a continent and across an ocean. The loss on the long haul is supposed to be, and practically is, made up by the profit on the short haul. It costs at present at the rate of 16 cents a pound to send a parcel to any point covered by the domestic mail service. The proposal first considered was to reduce the pound rate to 12 cents and increase the weight limit from four to eleven pounds, conditions already existing in the American foreign service. This would bring the cost for the carriage of an eleven-pound parcel up to $1.32. In Great Britain one can send an eleven-pound parcel through the mails for 22 cents; Germany does better still, and will carry a package of that weight for 12 cents.

But the territory served in Great Britain and Germany is of much smaller area than that of the United States, and a flat rate that might be profitable or self-sustaining, in either of the European countries named might mean a loss and a serious deficit here. Nevertheless, there is no reason why, within certain zones, the United States postal service for parcel delivery should not be as cheap as that of Great Britain or Germany. By establishing zones, graded rates could be fixed that would soon become familiar, and that would at once be more satisfactory than a flat rate because more equitable. The charge, manifestly, should not, in common fairness, be as great for carriage between Boston and Cambridge as between Boston and Seattle. The zone system could establish a tariff that would meet the needs of parcel traffic between all quarters of the country, between the sections and between the states. Measured by the distance hauled, as well as by the weight carried, rates could be arranged that would be satisfactory to all reasonable people.

The committee on postoffice and post roads of the House of Representatives has decided to report in favor of a commission to inquire into this matter, and as it is evident that something of the kind outlined here will have to be done to make the domestic parcels post system available to all classes and for all purposes, it seems likely that the zone rather than the flat rate will finally be recommended and adopted. Assuming that even the maximum rate shall be far below the present express toll, and that the minimum rate shall be as low as the interests of the department will permit, there can be no other than good results from the adjustment proposed. —Christian Science Monitor.

A GAMEY PARSON.

When Rev. G. A. Wells, pastor of the Methodist church at Colville, Wash., stood on his head upon a high stool in the court house there, he called a bluff by W. Lon Johnson, clerk of Stevens county, and forced the last named to sit through a sermon the morning of March 10. The man of the cloth was bruised by several falls before he succeeded in performing the stunt, but he thinks the achievement is as balm for his injuries. He has made good. This novel method of gaining a listener at church service was brought about when the pastor invited Johnson to attend the Methodist church. Johnson said banteringly that if the Rev. Mr. Wells would stand on his head on a stool in the clerk's office he (Johnson) would be on hand Sunday morning. The clerk's office was thronged at the time, but the pastor was game and he carried out his part of the program, after which those who witnessed the feat insisted that Johnson must do likewise, which he did the following day.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT EXPECTED.

Through the activity of members of the London Symphony orchestra a movement is on foot to secure the attendance of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught at the first American concert of that organization under the leadership of Herr Arthur Nikisch at Carnegie hall, New York, April 8. The Duke is an old friend of the British orchestra and during his residence in London before his appointment as Governor-General of Canada he was a frequent occupant of the royal box at Queens hall, the home of the London Symphony. The Duke acted as patron of the organization on its trip to Paris in 1906 and also the continental tour in 1908 and in many ways had made known his appreciation of this great orchestral body. For the coming tour under the management of Howard Pew of New York, The Duke and Duchess will act as special patrons for the cities of the Dominion of Canada. Elaborate receptions are being aranged in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, the three Canadian cities in the itinerary of Herr Nikisch and the London Symphony orchestra.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW &

ROYAL BAKING-POWDER
Absolutely Pure
MAKES HOME BAKING EASY
Light Biscuit
Delicious Cake
Dainty Pastries
Fine Puddings
Flaky Crusts
The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

BRAINTREE TOWN MEETING

The adjourned town meeting was called to order Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock by moderator Woodsum. Article 33 was taken from the table and the sum of $33,500, plus the dog tax and school fund, was appropriated for the salaries of teachers and the superintendent of schools. Under this article the sum of $1205 was appropriated for insurance on school houses.

Under article 34 the sum of $4,000 was appropriateed for the furnishing and equipping of the Hollis school building.

Under articles 37, 38, 39 and 40 the following sums were apropirated:
For a base ball field on the playground adjacent to the Hollis school $300, of this money to be expended under the supervision of the selectmen. For assisting Post 87, G. A. R. in defraying the expenses of Memorial day $200. For miscellaneous expenses $2000. For abatement of taxes $1500.

Articles 41 to 47 relate to the electric light department and were disposed of thus: It was voted that the town appropriate the income from consumers of electric light for operating expenses, renewals, repairs, connecting new consumers and for new construction. That the unexpected income of the year 1911 be appropriated for the use of the department for new construction and connecting new consumers. The town rescinded the vote passed at the last annual meeting whereby it was voted to appropriate the sum of $56,976.96 shown in the accounts of the department under the name, "Overdraft for Construction." The town appropriated the sum of $5,252.59 as shown in the account called "Overdraft for Construction" and the sum of $7,416.44 as shown in the account called "Overdraft of Cash," so that these accounts could be closed and credited to the ac-

(Continued on Page Five.)

MAY FENCE IN LEPER

Court Refuses to Enjoin County Authorities In Case of Early

Tacoma, March 20.—After a hearing in which the Bible figured as an authority on leprosy, Superior Judge Clifford declined to issue a restraining order preventing the county authorities from fencing in John R. Early, the supposed leper, on the property he occupied at Summit View, a suburb.

Expert witnesses declared there was practically no danger of anyone contracting the disease from Early. In an attempt to controvert this, attorneys for the Summit View residents quoted passages from the Bible. Dr. F. M. Brown testified that he did not believe the Bible competent authority on medical subjects.

Early was recently offered a position by the government caring for another leper, but because of his enfeebled state was unable to take it.

HILL'S BODY LAID AWAY

Church Bells Toll and Business Is Suspended at Augusta

Augusta, Me., March 20.—Simple funeral rites, a hushed pause in the business and social activity of the city and the measured toll of the church bells marked the burial of John F. Hill, chairman of the Republican national committee, four years governor of Maine, and for many years one of its most distinguished private citizens.

The simple ceremonies were participated in by the friends and neighbors of the deceased, though the representatives of the great business and political organizations of the country were present to pay tributes of respect.

After the prayers were said at the house the family and close friends followed the body to the grave in Forest Grove cemetery.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.
Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
Kryptok Bifocals
Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. The convenience of Kryptok Bifocals is immense — both Far and Near Glasses always ready. For good style — Kryptoks are far and away ahead of any other bifocals ever made.
5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

Service
Free to Depositors
Legal advice on business topics of concern to you given by our authorized attorney absolutely without cost.
Free credit information from the best sources at your command.
Call anytime in business hours.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Here's a R-E-A-L Bargain
One of many in KINCAIDE'S Spring Opening Sale

A dozen different Patterns. All 9x12
Serviceable Tapestry Floor Rugs $8.75
But we must limit each customer to one.
'Twas just by good luck we got this lot of 68—so high in quality, so low in price. All the mill had. We—nor you—cannot duplicate this value.
Make Sure of Yours TODAY. Dont Wait. Do It Now
Other exceptionally good values.
Handsome Velvet Floor Rugs 9x12 $12.75
Rich, Beautiful Axminster Floor Rugs 9x12 16.75
Very Heavy Wilton Rugs 9x12 19.75
Send a postal for Descriptive Sale Circular Free
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., Quincy
Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges.

The Payson-Special
is not an expensive suit
Yet it doesn't take a trained eye to see that it's chock full of $15 value, altho' our price is $12.89
Look it over and you'll find more
STYLE, FIT, WEAR
than you expected.
Payson-Mitchell Co.
City Square
Quincy

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear
CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c
ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c
May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

Advertise In The Ledger

WOMEN'S CLUBS

WHAT THEY ARE DOING AND SEASONS' PLANS

A CLUB WOMEN'S PRAYER.

"O Lord! I come to thee in prayer once more,
But pardon if I do not kneel before
Thy gracious prescense, for my knees are sore
With so much walking. In my chair instead
I'll sit at ease and humbly bow my head.
I've labored in thy vineyard, thou dost know,
I've stolen ten tickets to the minstrel show;
I've called in fifteen strangers in our town,
Their contributions to our church put down
I've baked a pot of beans for Wednesday's spree,
An old time supper it is going to be.
I've dressed three dolls, too, for our annual fair,
And made a cake which we must raffle there.
Now, with thy boundless wisdom so sublime,
Thou knowest that these duties all take time;
I have no time to fight my spirit's foes,
I have no time to mend my husband's clothes;
My children roam the streets from morn to night;
H have no time to teach them to do right;
But thou, O Lord! considering all my cares,
Wilt count them righteous, also heed my prayers.
Bless the bean supper and the minstrel show,
And put in hearts of all to go.
Induce the visitors to patronize
The men who in our program advertise,
Because I chased these merchants till they hid
Whene'er they saw me coming—yes, they did!
Increase the contributions to our fair,
And bless the people who ossembled there.
Bless thou the grab-bag and the gipsy tent,
The flower table and the cakes that's sent.
Moy our Whist Club be to our service blest,
The dancing party gayer than the rest.
And when thou hast bestowed these blessings, then
We pray that thou wilt bless our souls. Amen."

—Member Woman's Club, Marshall, Ind.

* * *

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard president of the Quincy Women's club has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to be a guest and speaker at the reciprocity meeting of The Phiffergians, in Braintree on Tuesday afternoon.

* * *

Mrs. Clara Guild of Boston is to speak on the work of the Tuckerman school at the meeting of Quincy Alliance on Monday afternoon in First church parlor. The April meetings will be "neighborhood" April 8 and the annual April 22.

* * *

It is hoped a large delegation will be able to go from St. Chrysostom's branch to the annual diocesan missionary meeting of the Massachusetts organization of the Girls' Friendly society which will take place at Trinity parish hall, Boston, on Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Miss Frances W. Sibley, president of the Michigan organization who did work for one year under the direction of Bishop Brent, will tell of the work of the Episcopal church in the Philippine islands. In consequence there will be no meeting of the parish branch.

* * *

The Quincy Young Women's club has arranged a Japanese party for their meeting, Saturday night. The club season will end April 27 with a gentlemen's night.

* * *

The meeting of today of Wollaston Alliance brings the season's program to an end for the last meeting, which will be held Wednesday, April 3 will be the annual, for business and election of officers.

* * *

Club women who heard Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney so delightfully sketch the plays of John Galsworthy, last month at Mrs. Spillane's home, among them "Justice," which so stirred the English people that reforms were started, will be interested to know that the author's new play, "The Pigeon" is another striking instance of Galsworthy's versatility. The Pigeon is a character of great charm, an artist in whose studio the action takes place. The other characters are various types of reformers, sketched with delightful irony and several picturesque vagabonds. Another play "The Eldest Son" will be published later in the season. Mr. Galsworthy and his wife are now in this country for a brief visit.

* * *

Junior Friday club goes to West Newton on Monday to meet with Miss Grace M. Isaac, who will entertain the club at luncheon previous to the meeting. The afternoon's program will be in charge of Miss Edith Randall, in the absence of Mrs. Arthur W. Hall, who arranged the program.

Mrs. George H. Wilson of Revere road is to be the hostess for the March meeting of the Hospital Aid Association on Thursday afternoon the 28th.

* * *

Mrs. Henry M. Faxon is the committee and Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney of Wollaston hostess this week for the meeting of the Friday club; subject: "The Hegemony of Sparta and of Thebes."

* * *

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

Club members are looking forward with most pleasant anticipation to the next meeting of the club on March 26, for it is reciprocity or president's day—a day when the club is "at home" to other club presidents, reciprocating for courtesies extended to our president by other clubs.

Our president, Mrs. Sheppard, has arranged a most attractive program for the entertainment of guests and club members. The musical program will be of the best and the presentation of Mrs. Burnett's "A Fair Barbarian" promises to give much pleasure. Miss. Mollie Brown, so well known for her charming characterizations in amateur dramatics, will be the "Fair Barbarian." While not given as a play the presentation will be unique and entertaining.

Among the special guests will be Mrs. Emmons Crocker of Fitchburg, first vice president of the State Federation.

The children's party has been postponed to Saturday afternoon, April 13 and children of members and of those on the waiting list may attend.

The class in modern literature under the auspices of the Literature committee, Mrs. John O. Short, chairman, came to a clos this afternoon at the clubhouse. Club members had been invited to participate and afternoon tea was served after the lecture, the affair being a most pleasant wind-up of an enjoyable series of afternoons.

On April 5 the Current Events lectures also come to an end and the closing lecture will also be a social affair with tea and social hour to which club members will lbe admitted by showing their membership tickets.

The annual dues are now due, reminders having been sent out by the treasurer. An early response will lighten the work of the treasurer and insure membership for another year. The waiting list is long and many are hoping for an opportunity to become a full member this spring.

The education committee is arranging for the distribution of seeds for the summer gardens of the children in various parts of the city.

EVACUATION DAY OBSERVED.

Under the auspices of the social committee, Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter D. A. R. and friends were delightfully entertained at luncheon and bridge by Mrs. William M. Chase at her charming home "Shore-Den" on the Boulevard , Monday afternoon. Luncheon was served at 12.30 and the refreshments and decorations were appropriate for the holiday, green being the prevailing color.

Seven tables were arranged for the whist. Spring was in the air. The hostess was charming and the whole affair will be remembered as one of the foremost society events of the season.

BETHANY MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

A missionary meeting was held in Bethany chapel, Tuesday evening under the auspices of the missionary society connected with the church.

Mrs. Miller, president, introduced the speaker,, Mrs. Ida V. Woodbury of Boston, a forceful and eloquent speaker whose subject was "Schools for the Mountain Whites." Mrs. Woodbury said in part: "I am here tonight to stimulate your interest in this good work. Every woman who joins the church should be a missionary worker. We sing missionary hymns, but we should do more and sing less. Among the Sioux Indians, every one who joins the church joins the ;missionary society also. We ought to do as well as the Sioux Indians. Can't we do as well as the Sioux Indians?

"In telling you of the Schools for Mountain Whites, I find many people ignorant of this sturdy, hardy race of the mountains. There are two distinct classes among the mountain people, the poor white trash as they are called and the Scotch-Irish element with steady habits, and who are the intrepid and fearless inhabitants of the Mountain district. They are brought up in ignorance for they have no facilities for learning. Far away from civilization the only access to them is by way of torturous mountain paths, but brave and ready in times of danger.

"In our late war these men of the mountain fought, not on the side of South but on the Northern side. But we, through the efforts of the missionary societies, are trying to educate them religiously and secularly. We are making some progress but we are handicapped for money. Some one was recently telling me that the feuds had all died out among the mountain people, but in one of our schools a teacher told me of two boys who had had the feud instilled in their minds and as one passed, the other stabbed him in the leg, the teacher a delicate girl had to sew up the wound.

"These boys became educated, now one is a sheriff, the other an ordained minister.

"Some of the fathers and mothers who have children going to school are very anxious for them to learn and one instance is told of a girl who went to school and would not speak, finally she said she had rather listen. During vacation her teacher paid her a visit and she found she had listened to good advantage for Martha was sitting in a straight-back chair as erect as any schoolmistress, teaching her father and mother. Upon being asked 'why she did not teach her sisters and brothers,' she said, 'They have plenty of time.'

"One man I met who wore a shirt and trousers with one suspender, his highest ambition seemed to be to play marbles, commenced to study. After a while he built a room on the end of his cabin for the teacher to board with his family. He studied with the teacher, she took him through the High school course. Then he began to study law, he walked fifteen miles to get books on law, after a while he was admitted to the bar and was appointed District Attorney, and was re-appointed by President Roosevelt.

"Take Abraham Lincoln for example. We think of him as coming from a log cabin when in reality he had the noble blood and knighthood of old England united with the sublime faith of New England and the strength of the mountains. The greatest martyr since Jesus Christ.

"I am ashamed for our country that it does not do more for the people of the mountains. I am ashamed of the schools. We need more and better equipped buildings. The people are so isolated, sometimes they are sixty miles from a school.

"One family, was very anxious for their little girl to attend school. She could go some of the way on the train but she had never seen the cars and was very much frightened.

"She told her teacher, Jack pulled her one side and Bill the other and Maw boosted behind. She went to school, one day she was missed, and her brothers were sent to search for her they found her and brought her back. She confessed to the teacher she was so homesick she had started to walk home a distance of sixty miles, and she said in a whisper 'I did so long for a chaw of bacey.' But this girl now is one of our most promising teachers.

"One boy who came to our chool was ragged and dirty, the teacher took a great interest in him she taught him to read and he was so bright and intelligent he was sent to another school The teacher gave him clothes, collars and cuffs, neckties, handkerchiefs. A member of the legislature who wanted a trusty boy in his family took him to his home. He was given a nice room with a pitcher and bowl etc, he says "I want a tin basin to wash in, I can't wash in that pretty flowered dish, but when he was assured that was all right, he could hardly believe it, but used it. This boy is one of the most trusted officials in Washington, D. C., today. He has sole charge of a vault containing $500,000,000.

I have been in Washington, D. C., an have seen the large and beautiful flags waving in all their splendor over the magnificent buildings, but within thirty-six hours' ride of that city are children who have never seen a flag. One teacher from the North took a lot of flags and presented them to her pupils, and taught them to sing 'Three cheers for the red, white and blue.' They did not know what a cheer and a tiger were; to them a chair was a cheer. The teacher gave them their flags to take home and upon visiting two little boys, she found the flags spread out on two chairs, all they had, and they said, 'Teacher, you said three cheers for the red, white and blue, but we have only two cheers, will they do.

Another pathetic incident was of two boys who asked their teacher to give a window sash to them. They had many miles to travel and only an old mule, they took turns, while one rode the other carried the precious glass.

"Later on when the teacher visited them they showed their window in their cabin, 'Teacher,' they said, 'it won't slide up and down but it lets in a mighty sight of light.' Let us let in a mighty sight of light, that the light of God's kingdom may shine into the hearts of these people of the mountains."

All had an opportunity to greet Mrs. Woodbury, and thank her for her very interesting address.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

At the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday afternoon, a meeting was held under the auspices of the Philanthropic committee. Mrs. Chandler W. Smith chairman presided and made a few opening remarks. Mrs. Smith said in part: "You have all read the motto given by Mr. Brackett, 'To increase neighborliness and social service in Quincy, this house is given in 1905 in memory of Sarah Cordelia Brackett, and Jeffrey Richardson Brackett. This is our reason for the promotion of the good work we hope to do in Quincy. We have worked with persistency to accomplish this result, that of co-operation. We must all be ready to assist our new secretary along these lines, and do all in our power to aid her in achieving the best and noblest conditions, and reaching the highest attainment."

Mrs. Wilson Marsh, secretary of the Associated Charities, then gave an outline of the work of charitable organizations. "In most of the churches there are charitable societies, and outside we have the King's Daughters, Fresh Air Camp, Y. M. C. A., Elks, Hospital Aid, Massachusetts Hospital Social Service, where they have men and women to look into home conditions, and many others. Benevolent individuals, King's Daughters, work in co-operation with the doctors in giving assistance required and in this capacity so many societies work in co-operation that we are made very glad and happy.

"One of our philanthropic committee, who is very resourceful, has presented a typewriter to the club for the use of Miss Purchase and her assistant."

The secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks to Rev. Rufus B. Tobey, the donor, for his very useful gift after which, Mrs. Smith introduced the new secretary, Miss Jennie F. Purchase of East Boston, who said in part: "I thank you all for giving me this opportunity to get acquainted with you before I begin my work in Quincy. I leave my three years' work in Dorchester with feelings of regret and sorrow, but hopefulness in the extension of the work in your city. The work of co-operation is an important idea. The charity motive is not new, charity is old as the hills, but co-operation is a new expression of an old thought. I think it is splendid training for me to be with so many who understand and take so hearty an interest in this co-operative charitable work, and you who know the people will be of invaluable assistance to me, I shall be greatly dependent upon you.

'It has been said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive' but I think the receiver is benefited. The receiver is given a good thought, with every gift, great or small: it makes the gift of greater value to have the though of love behind it. I had a case reecntly of a man who was down and out, he had a nice family, but he was addicted to drinking: he came to my office for help saying he would stop if he could have help. I looked up a former employer, a job was given to him. But he continued in his old habits, went from bad to worse, sold all of his furniture and by the advice of a doctor he was sent to Foxboro. His children are boarded out, except the youngest who has gone with the mother, who has gone to service. Possibly the family may be reunited if the man can get on his feet again. We are constantly running up against such cases.

'We raise money for this co-operative social service, in Dorchester in connection with the Dorchester Relief society. We help without waiting to investigate: send in coal and wood or food, and afterwards we find out if they have relatives if so we prefer to have them help. We have a family we assist, I have written to relatives but they refuse. We have helped them a year and we must help them another year, but before I leave Dorchester I am in hopes the relatives who have the means will realize their duty.

"We average six to eight new cases a month and the old ones are going on all the time. We hold a conference every week in our office: miniters, doctors students from the school of social service and others who are interested to attend. We consider ways and means and decide what shall be done, and I carry out to the best of my ability, keep in touch and take an interest in each case.

'Human life, human fortune, human happiness, human distresses are at stake, and we try to bestow a kindly interest and a human interest, study the cases faithfully, report them carefully, and do our best."

A social, informal hour was enjoyed in which all had an opportunity to greet Miss Purchase.

Mr. Howlett, head master of the High school Rev. John E. Lillbach, A. F. Bromley of the Y. M. C. A., Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, Rev. Mr. Thompson, Rupert F. Claflin, Miss Helen Louise Gavin, and Mrs. William Russell of the Quincy Catholic club, were present, also members of the Katharyn Crane club.

(Continued on Page Six.)

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

20—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Washington School.
20—Exhibition—Handcraft Gift Shop.
20—Pilgrim Union—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Speaking Contest — Presbyterian Bible School.
20—Queen Esther Circle—Wol. M. E. Church.
20—Lenten Service—Wol. Unitarian Church.
20—Elliot Club.
21—C. H. Johnson Lecture—Wol. School.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U, Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
19—Opening Entertainment—Q. Y Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Empire State's Big "Gusher"

Dunkirk, N. Y., March 20.—A gas well, struck near Silver Creek, is flowing at the rate of 3,000,000 feet a day. It is the biggest "gusher" ever struck in the western New York gas fields.

Orphanage Gets $6,250,000 Bequest

London, March 20.—A bequest of $6,250,000 was left in the will of the late Baron Wandsworth for the foundation of an orphanage.

Borden's

A Quick Lunch that can be prepared in thirty seconds and taken in thirty more; that digests and never distresses; that nourishes, satisfies and gives a healthy brace and costs only a fraction as much as expensive meats. That is Borden's Malted Milk.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

Men's New Cheney Silk Ties
50c

First of the new spring styles just opened up. The famous Cheney Silks in new colors and color combinations. Handsome patterns, plain and striped effects.

ALSO

You'll find hundreds of patterns and styles from other well-known makers. Individual styles not found in other stores, at prices ranging from 25c to $1.00 each.

E & W SHIRTS

Are here in a big assortment of styles. Handsome percale and madras in pretty color effects that will please any man.

$1.50

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 18—3t O-1w

Dimness of Vision---

ZOROID LENSES FOUNDED 1892

This may come from either of two causes—an improper examination or error in the prescription, or failing eyesight thro' which your glasses may have outlived their usefulness — a stronger lens being required.

We do not preach calamity — but impaired vision is misery. At a charge of from $1.00 to $3.00 for our authoritative examination your eye problem is reduced to a certainty, which may be corrected by ZOROID LENSES.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 16-20

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

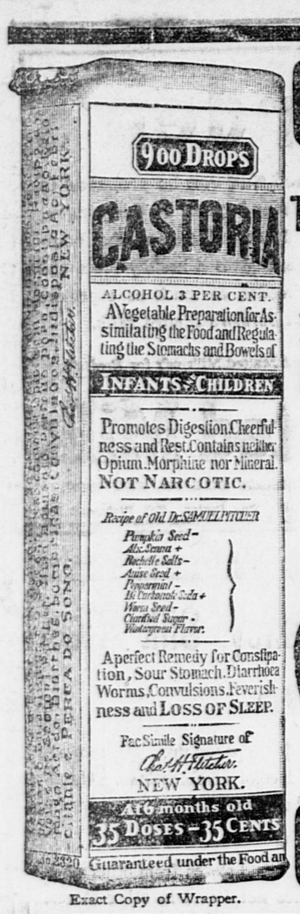
Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

CONSTANT ADVERTISING PAYS



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

WE CAN'T "BUST" THE TRUST, BUT WE HAVE "BUSTED" THE PRICE OF AUTOMOBILE SUPPLIES

Owing to the large amount of business done the past season, together with the small expenses, and being able to buy at the very lowest manufacturers' prices we are able to make another reduction in the price of Automobile supplies.

By trading with us, you will not only Save Money, but you will find you are trading with people that treat you right.

We have selected a few of the best makes of automobile tires which we carry in stock, other makes supplied with a few hours' notice.

The Goodrich tire with the white tough tread that never wears out. The Ajax, with the 5000 mile guarantee which the company lives up to. The Fisk tire, that gives such good service and so little trouble.

We carry in stock, Vacuum, Mobiloil, Polarine, Packard, Havoline, Eagleine and many other makes of oils. Keystone, Polarine and Mobilubricant greases. Whiz brass polish.

Fifteen years in the Vulcanizing busines means that you can get the best work, best service and the lowest prices here.

F. W. BENT

1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.

Telephone Connection 14-tf

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Beginning Mar. 18

Eggs, Fancy, large, brown, strictly fresh,	doz.	25c
Peanut Butter,	per lb.	12c
Quaker Oats, Family size, with china,	pkg	21c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless large can 7c	small	4c
Raisins, Seeded, fancy,	pkg	9c
Corn, Fancy Maine, Wilton brand,	can	9c
Salmon, Good Alaska,	tall can	11c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Soap, Ives Family,	bar	3c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria,	can	9c
Peaches. California festival, fancy,	can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked,	can	8c
Starch, Fancy Laundry,	3 lbs	11c
Ketchup, Blue Label,	large bottle	17c
Maple Sugar Syrup, "Golden Tree"	large bot.	22c
Crackers, Baby Lunch,	per lb.	8c
Oranges, Fancy California Navel,	doz.	25c

Mar. 11—M. W. F.

Use a Gas Range

- AND -

Gas Heater

And Save Coal Bills

PRICE OF GAS REDUCED

Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.

11 Granite Street

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 18	11.10	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	11.45
Wednesday,	12.00	12.15
Thursday,	12.30	1.00
Friday,	1.15	1.45
Saturday,	2.00	2.30
Sunday,	2.45	3.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	62 degrees
Mar. 20, 1911,	51 degrees
Mar. 20, 1910,	35 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Miss Bernice L. Clark of Willard street is very ill at her home.

Mrs. William Gragg of Furnace Brook parkway is very ill with pneumonia.

A portion of the new building of the Wollaston Foundry was blown down during the high wind Friday night.

Louis LaRose, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., is ill with tonsilitis, at his home on Upland road.

Mrs. Leonard C. Hewson of Newcomb place, who underwent an operation at the Quincy hospital on Saturday is resting comfortably.

Mayor Stone is one of the seven Mayors announced to address the Intercolonial club at Roxbury, Thursday evening on the Greater Boston bill.

Charles H. Johnson is to repeat his lecture "Historic Quincy" tomorrow night at the new Wollaston school for the benefit of the school gymnasium.

Miss Spear has sent out cards for an exhibition of painted china and illuminated Easter cards at the Handeraft Gift Shop on Granite street, for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Some idea of the amount of new business transacted by the City Council Monday night may be had when it is known that 28 new orders were introduced, involving in total a large sum of money.

Rev. William Ayres of the Park and Downs church still continues to draw large crowds by his series of sermons on "The Calling of Dan Mathews." The sermons are well worth the consideration of thoughtful people.

A pipe which runs from the water main to the boiler belonging to Dennis Crowley at the new Montclair school froze and burst Saturday, flooding Holbrook road so that it was almost impossible for people to walk past.

TENNIS ANNUAL.

The Quincy Tennis club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—

President—J. Brooks Keyes.
Vice-President—Warren G. Ogden.
Secretary—Carl R. Sheppard.
Treasurer—James H. Slade.
Executive Committee,—George E. Pfaffman, Paul R. Blackmur and Henry W. Poor.

WATCHING COAL DISPUTE

Taft to Have a Conference With Mitchell on the Subject

Washington, March 20.—To gain information concerning the situation in the anthracite coal fields, President Taft has called John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers, to Washington for a conference.

While Mitchell does not at present hold any official position in the miners' organization, he is the confidant of the leaders and is in as close touch with the situation as any man in the country.

President Taft is said to have great respect for the opinions of the former labor leader of the mine workers and believes he can give him better advice on the situation than any other man.

PRATT'S BREAD never varies. Baked scientifically under thorough sanitation.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

A HOLIDAY IN HONOR OF TAFT

Enthusiastic Greeting to President In New Hampshire

GREAT CROWDS IN STREETS

Boston, March 20.—President Taft was given a tremendous ovation yesterday on his visit to the three largest cities in New Hampshire. A holiday was declared in Nashua, Manchester and Concord.

The great mills of the cities were closed down and the streets were thronged with people who came from miles around the country to see the President of the United States. The militia volunteered to come out in ful strength to greet the president.

The most remarkable feature of the day was the greeting given to the president by thousands of school children. On the main street of the city of Manchester 12,000 children waved flags and cheered Mr. Taft.

When the president left this city on the federal express last night, after making a speech before the banquet of the New England Street Railway employes, he expressed himself as delighted with the reception given to him in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He issued this statement:

"I am deeply grateful to the people of Massachusetts and New Hampshire for the warmth of their reception and gratified by the interest displayed in the discussion of questions of constitutional government, and with the interest shown by the people to maintain our constitutional form of government"

The most significant incident of the day from a political standpoint was the declaration made in Concord by Nahum J. Bachelder that he would support the president for a renomination. Bachelder is president of the grange in New Hampshire and led the fight made by the farmers against the reciprocity program.

Governor Bass, who is one of the nine governors who declared for Mr. Roosevelt, met the president in Concord and held a reception to him in the state house. Great interest was manifested in the meeting of the two men.

There was no reference made by either to the campaign, but with Bass by his side standing on the front steps of the state house the president tore to pieces the policy of the recall of judicial decisions sponsored by his opponent.

While he did not use the name of Roosevelt, he referred to him in a manner which left no doubt whom he intended to hit, and the crowd applauded the references and applauded vigorously the points scored by the president.

In this speech the president said: "All I am going to ask for the administration is that you give it a square deal."

In all of his speeches the president hammered away at Roosevelt. Several times he deviated to describe the reforms accomplished during his administration in office, and as he made point after point he asked his audiences whether or not they considered him to be a progressive, judged on his record.

The polittical situation in New Hampshire so far as the choice of delegates is concerned is similar to that in Masaschusetts. The old line Republicans are practically all of them on the line for the renomination of President Taft.

Many of the progessive Republicans in New Hampshire who supported Bass in his fight for governor have left him in the present contest and are standing with Taft. Among the number are men like President Tucker of Dartmouth college, Professor Dixon of Dartmouth, John M. Gile and Rosecrans W. Pilsbury.

Although the Taft supporters express great confidence in capturing the eight deelgates to the national convention it cannot be denied but that in the northern part of the state, among the farmers, there is considerable Roosevelt sentiment.

NO VOTES FOR WOMEN

Suffrage Bills Are Defeated In Senates of Two States

Albany, March 20.—The senate decided, by a vote of 24 to 17, to strike out the enacting clause of the Stilwell woman suffrage bill. This kills the measure.

Trenton, N. J., March 20.—A resolution providing for women's suffrage in New Jersey was defeated in the senate by a vote of 17 to 3.

MAN'S SIGHT IS RESTORED

Dust Accomplishes Cure Where Medical Skill Had Failed

Schubert, Pa., March 20.—Thirty years ago James A. Miller, a stonemason by trade, suddenly, and how he does not know to this day, lost the sight of one eye. Medical aid failed to restore the sight during this long period.

A few days ago he got some dust in it, owing to the high winds, while he was walking on a street near his home. While rubbing the dust out of his eye he began to see with it.

DR. MARY WALKER

Noted Woman Suffragist, Who Dresses Like a Man

DODGES FEMALE NURSES

Dr. Walker, Who Is Seriously Ill, Is Removed From Hospital

New York, March 20.—Dr. Mary Walker, whose advanced views have caused her to wear male attire for more than half a century, insisted on being removed from the Presbyterian hospital because she could not stand being hampered by a "lot of female nurses."

Dr. Walker is ill from bronchitis and her condition is serious. She was a nurse herself during the Civil war, but she could not stand for the coddling and she protested so vigorously that the physicians decided that it would be better to remove her to a hotel.

GRADE CROSSING PLANS

(Continued from Page One.)

and this is the station which will be used as a waiting room, and Plan No.2 provides the in-bound station at the grade of Water street and Presidents avenue with large yard at grade of streets, whereas Plan No. 1 shows it 22 feet below Water street and 6 feet below Presidents avenue. The out-bound station or west station, on Plan No. 2, is about level with Water street and Liberty street, whereas Plan No. 1 shows the station 22 feet below Water Street and about level with Liberty street.

3.—Damage to private property is a damage to the City as well. Plan No. 1 means a fill of 23 feet at the railroad, 13 feet at Dobles corner, about 16 feet at Pleasant street and 11 feet in the hollow of Franklin street. The land on the easterly side of the railroad is below the streets at the present time and this means an additional average fill of about 11 feet above the land. The maximum cut by Plan No. 2 at private land averages 7 feet for a distance of 50 feet, the balance of the cuts average less than 3 feet. Dead ending Water Street has been obviated by the new Presidents avenue.

4.—Plan No. 1 takes present conditions and makes them worse by putting all of the land below the new streets, makes a so-called "Chinese wall" of Water Street and provides poor station grounds and approaches. Plan No. 2 improves the whole approach to the stations, puts the lands above the streets instead of below them, provides good street junctions, and good station grounds and approaches.

5.—Cost:—The first cost to the City by Plan No. 1 will be ten to fifteen thousand dollars more than Plan No. 2 and the ultimate cost will be still more. Fifteen thousand dollars more for the City to pay for a better scheme would be well worth considering, but for a poorer proposition it is a waste of money.

When built, the crossing will be there forever and for that reason, if no other, it should be settled on a business basis and not on personal whims and fancies.

All sections of Quincy are interested financially as well as some of our big taxpayers and it would be well to study these few facts and see if Quincy cannot come out on the right side this time. Taxpayer.

COUNT HATTERI AROUSED

Says Bill Amending Our Immigration Laws Is Insult to Japan

Tokio, March 20.—Count Hatteri, a member of the opposition in the Japanese house of representatives, made a remarkable oration in the chamber in connection with an interpellation concerning the diplomacy of the Japanese government toward the United States.

The members of all sides of the house sat virtually spellbound for an hour while listening to the vehement tones of the opposition orator. Hatteri condemned Senator Dillingham's bill amending the immigration laws of the United States as an insufferable insult to Japan.

Anty Drudge on Washing in a Flat.

Mrs. Apartment—"It's the hardest thing to get hot water here; you're not supposed to do any washing in the rooms. And when I do get hot water, it takes so long to wash that the rooms get awful smelly."

Anty Drudge—"Why don't you use Fels-Naptha? Then you won't have to use hot water. You will get through with your wash in a jiffy and there'll be no steam to make your rooms offensive."

To women who live in apartments the washing of clothes is a problem. The solution is Fels-Naptha soap.

No need of hot water; no boiler, no washboard. For light washing you don't even need a washtub, because the bathtub or basin will do quite well.

All you require is Fels-Naptha, cool or lukewarm water and a place to dry the clothes.

Say you have a shirtwaist or two, napkins, lingerie and other small things, that you don't have time or don't want to send out to be washed. You can do much better at home in this way:

Wet the clothes, soap well with Fels-Naptha, roll and leave to soak in cool or lukewarm water for a short time. Then rub lightly, rinse and hang up to dry.

Takes but one-fourth the time and one-tenth the work of the old way. Also saves the clothes.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

GETS BACK HIS DOLLAR

Long Island Man Cut Off With That Amount In Wife's Will

Mineola, L. I., March 20.—A peculiar and amusing will was that of J. Martha Haynes, who died in Locust Valley, L. I., leaving an estate valued at $10,000, almost all of which is in personal property.

Mrs. Haynes was married twice and expressly asked in her will that her body be buried beside her first husband, Charles A. Bartow, in Evergreen cemetery.

Regarding the present husband, George W. Haynes, she stated: "I leave $1 in return for the dollar he gave me toward my support in five years." No other mention is made of her husband in any way.

GOES DOWIE ONE BETTER

Voliva to Announce Himself as "Message of the Covenant"

Chicago, March 20.—Paving the way for announcement of himself as Elijah III., Wilbur G. Voliva, owner of Zion City, is holding daily and nightly conferences with his "elect."

"No man knoweth what my title will be," said Voliva. "Nor does anyone know when I will deliver the message. But it will be on a Sunday."

Followers of Voliva said he would go John A. Dowie, who called himself Elijah II., one better by announcing himself as the "Message of the Covenant," who is to herald the second coming of Christ.

Tested the Whole World Over and through three generations Beecham's Pills are universally looked upon as the best preventive and corrective of disorders of the organs of digestion and elimination ever known. They give speedy relief from the headaches, sour stomach, indigestion due to biliousness or constipation.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are no experiment. They are too well known for that; and their mild and gentle, but sure action on the bowels, liver, kidneys and stomach, too well approved.

If you are out of sorts take at once this famous remedy and you will endorse the good opinion of thousands—you will know why Beecham's Pills so deservedly

Have Unequaled Reputation

Sold everywhere, 10c., 25c. The directions with every box point out the road to health.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE

NEW SPRING SUITS

$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

H-O

is the only oatmeal that's scientifically cooked at the mill to preserve flavor and food-value.

H-O

is sufficiently cooked, by our special steam-cooking process, so that twenty-minutes boiling at breakfast-time is plenty. This retains all the goodness and strength of the grain. Delicious: digestible. Try it today.

THE H-O COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y.

H-O Is For Sale By

JOHNSON BROTHERS,
BERRY BROTHERS,
HANCOCK MARKET,
OTIS MARKET,
BROWN & CROWELL,
C. H. BACKUS, Wollaston,
OLIVER C FOSDICK, Houghs Neck,
THOMAS GURNEY, Atlantic,
JOSEPH P. PROUT, South Quincy.

Storage

FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Merrill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER IX.

The Family on the Raft.

That would unquestionably have been the end of Bob Yancy when he was shot out into the muddy waters of the Elk river, had not Mr. Richard Keppel Cavendish, variously known as Long-Legged Dick, and Chills-and-Fever Cavendish, of Lincoln county, in the state of Tennessee, some months previously and after unprecedented mental effort on his part, decided that Lincoln county was no place for him.

Mr. Cavendish's paternal grandparent had drifted down the Holston and Tennessee; and Mr. Cavendish's father, in his son's youth, had poled up the Elk. Mr. Cavendish now determined to float down the Elk to its juncture with the Tennessee, down the Tennessee to the Ohio, and if need be, down the Ohio to the Mississippi, until he found some spot exactly suited to his taste.

With this end in view he had toiled through the late winter and early spring, building himself a raft on which to transport his few belongings and his numerous family.

Thus it happened that as Murrell and Slosson were dragging Yancy down the lane, Cavendish was just rounding a bend in the Elk, a quarter of a mile distant. Leaning loosely against the long handle of his sweep, he was watching the lane of bright water that ran between the black shadows cast by the trees on either bank.

He heard a dull splash, and caught sight of some object in the eddy that swept alongside. Mr. Cavendish promptly detached himself from the handle of the sweep and ran to the edge of the raft.

It was a face, livid and blood-streaked. Dropping on his knees he reached out a pair of long arms and made a dexterous grab, and his fingers closed on the collar of Yancy's shirt. He drew Yancy close alongside, and pulled him clear of the water. Mr. Cavendish began a hurried examination of the still figure. "There's a little life here—not much. Polly!" he called.

This brought Mrs. Cavendish from one of the two cabins that occupied the center of the raft. When she caught sight of Yancy she uttered a shriek.

Her cry had aroused the other denizens of the raft. Six little Cavendishes, each draped in a single garment, tumbled forth from their shelter.

"I reckon we'd better lift him on to one of the beds—get his wet clothes off and wrap him up warm," said Polly.

"Oh, put him in our bed!" cried all the little Cavendishes.

And Yancy was borne into the smaller of the two shanties, where presently his bandaged head rested on the long pillow. Then his wet clothes were hung up to dry along with the family wash, which fluttered on a rope stretched between the two shanties.

* * * * * * * * *

As the long afternoon wore itself away, the judge lived through the many stages of doubt and uncertainty, for suppose anything had happened to Mahaffy!

Standing before the window, the judge watched the last vestige of light fade from the sky and the stars appear. Would Mahaffy come? The suspense was intolerable. Suddenly out of the silence sounded a long drawn whistle. Three times it was repeated. The horse-thief leaped to his feet.

Neighbor, That Means Me!" He Cried.

"Neighbor, that means me!" he cried.

The moon was rising now, and by its light the judge saw a number of horsemen appear on the edge of the woods. They entered the clearing picking their way among the stumps without haste or confusion. When quite close, five of the band dismounted; the rest continued on about the jail or cantered off toward the road.

"Look out inside, there!" cried a voice, and a log was dashed against the door; once—twice—it rose and fell on the clapboards, and under those mighty thuds grew up a wide gap through which the moonlight streamed splendidly. The horse-thief stepped between the dangling cleats and vanished.

The judge tossed away the stool. He understood now. With a confident, not to say jaunty step, the judge emerged from the jail.

"Your servant, gentlemen!" he said, lifting his hat.

"Git!" said one of the men briefly, and the judge moved nimbly away toward the woods.

Now to find Solomon and the boy, and then to put the miles between himself and Pleasantville with all diligence. As he thought this, almost at his elbow Mahaffy and Hannibal rose from behind a fallen log. The Yankee motioned for silence and pointed west.

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON

Tel. Quincy 1453-1.

Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6m68

CHURCHILL'S SPEECH BRINGS SHARP REPLY

Danger of Naval War to Great Britain Is Indicated

Cologne, March 20.—In replying to the speech made by Winston S. Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in the British house of commons, the Cologne Gazette adopts an unusually sharp tone. It says in substance that Great Britain must decide from the standpoint of her own interests what increase of her fleet is necessary, but that Germany must do the same thing. It continues:

"Germany will hardly ever have a navy equal to that of Great Britain, but if Germany's navy is to be destroyed the victory must cost the enemy so heavily that England will hardly have any resources left to defend its great international interests."

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W Mar. 11-1m

BRAINTREE TOWN MEETING.

(Continued from Page Two.)

count entitled "Appropriations for Construction."

It was voted to pay a net price of $9 per lamp for series lamps for street lighting for the ensuing year. This makes an appropriation of $5832 as there are in use 648 street lights. This sum is to be applied to the payment of the following:

For 3 per cent Depreciation Fund	$4,490.75
For interest on bonds	600.00
Interest on Stetson Note to Dec. 31, 1911	77.50
For Sinking Fund	430.00
	$5,598.25

The matter of an appropriation for extending street lights on Commercial street to the Quincy line and on Hobart street to Hayward street was referred to the department.

The water department received the following appropriations: For extension of mains $1000. For installation of hydrants to be put in at the discretion of the water board and fire engineers acting in conjunction, the sum of $500. For the purchase and installation of a pressure recording apparatus, $125.

Article 4, which deals with reports of officers and committees, was then taken up. Under this article the report of the water commissioners advocating a twelve inch main from the corner of Union and Washington to Commercial streets was read by Captain James T. Stevens and accepted by the citizens.

Under article 50 the sum of $100 was appropriated for use on the Plain street cemetery.

Articles 51 and 52 were disposed of as follows:

For payment of Notes:

Noah Torry School, due June 1, 1912. $5,000.00.

Abraham Lincoln School, due June 1, 1912, 3,000.00.

Abraham Lincoln School, due Sept. 1, 1912, 3,000.00.

Play-ground Loan, due July 1, 1912, $500,00 (less premium on Bonds, $119.50) $380.50.

Hollis School, due July 1, 1912, $3,500.00 (less premium on Bonds $1,553.50) $1,946.50.

For Mayflower Park Water Loan, $1,000.

For Payment of Interest:

Hunt Trust, 1 year to Aug. 1, 1912 on $10,000.00; $400.00.

Thayer Library, 1 year to Aug. 1, 1912 on $10,000.00; $400.00.

Thayer Library, 1 year to Sept. 23, 1912 on $2,500.00 (Stetson note) $100.00.

Noah Torrey School, 6 mo. to June 1, 1912 on $15,000.00; $271.88.

Noah Torrey school, 6 mo. to Dec. 1 1912 on $10,000.00; $181.25.

Abraham Lincoln School, 6 mo. to June 1, 1912 on $19,000.00; $332.50.

Abraham Lincoln School, 6 mo. to Dec. 1, 1912 on $16,000.00; $280.00.

Abraham Lincoln School, 1 yr. to Sept. 1, 1912 on $4,000.00; $160.00.

Hollis School,, 6 mo. to Jan. 1, 1912 on $65,000.00; $1,300.00.

Play-ground, 6 mo. to Jan. 1, 1912 on $5,000.00; $100.00.

(The last two items paid in Dec., 1911, with no apropriation.)

Play-ground, 6 mo. to July 1, 1912 on $5,000.00; $100.00.

For interest on notes in anticipation of taxes, $1800,(less accrued interest when bonds were sold, $17.78) $82.22.

Play-ground, 6 mo. to Dec. 31, 1912 on $4,500.00; $90.00.

Hollis School, 6 mo. to July 1, 1912 on $65,000.00; $1,300.00 (less interest accrued at sale of bonds, $231.11) $1,068.89.

Hollis School, 6 mo. to Dec. 31, 1912 on $61,500.00; $1230.00.

That the Water Board undertake to pay from their revenue $10,560.00 interest on their debt and also interest on the new loan of $15,00.00.

For water loan and sinking funds, the sum of $5,120.

On articles 54 to 58 inclusive the following action was taken: It was voted to accept chapter 423 of the Acts of 1909, relative to the sale of ice cream, confectionery, soda waters and fruit on the Lord's day.

The sum of $350 was appropriated for providing ten cloth mounted maps of the Town of Braintree for the use of the various town departments.

Act 306 of the Acts of 1911, to authorize the towns of Weymouth and Braintree to regulate the taking of smelts in the waters of the Weymouth, Fore and Back rivers, was accepted.

It was voted that the selectmen be instructed to oppose the so-called Greater Boston bills in the Legislature, which include the annexation of Braintree to the City of Boston. All action on ascertaining the cost of entering the south metropolitan sewerage district for present needs was indefinitely postponed.

This concluded all the articles. It was then voted that the town raise the sum of $259,886.31 and that of this amount, the sum of $145,998.67 be raised by taxation.

It was also voted that a committee of seven gentlemen from Precinct three be appointed by the moderator to look up the matter of a playground in precinct three and report at the next annual March meeting.

The meeting was then adjourned at 9.55 o'clock, the business in hand being concluded.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE

LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine, the world wide Cold and Grip remedy removes cause. Call for full name. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. 25c.

Before ordering SPRING SUITS call and see

Mrs. A. Louise Tyler's

samples of MOHAIR in all the new shades. Over 700 new samples to choose from. Ten per cent discount on goods. Work at popular prices. Benn's Mohairs from factory to wearer.

Room 4 Johnson Bldg. 14-6t

WALL PAPER

F. T. APPLETON

31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy

Mar. 15-3m

GENERAL UTILITY -- HOSPITAL --

FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES

HOLMES & HALL

96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS

Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.

384 Granite Street, Quincy.

Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS

STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy

WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings

C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.

Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars

Demonstration by Appointment

Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W

Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.

Robert F. Leighton

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass. 8-1m

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 388-3 Jan. 17-tf

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point

Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN

21 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Tel. Quincy 1453-W

Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—The furnishings of a 9 room house all rooms rented and in good location for keeping boarders and roomers. A few minutes walk from ship yard. Sell cheap if sold at once. Address X Ledger Office. 20-3t

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Columbia graphaphone with 60 records and two horns. Nearly new. Will sell cheap or trade for hens. W. R. Drake. The Hen Man. Hayward street, East Braintree. 18-3t O-23-1w

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air. This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

Hoop-iron "Mainsprings for 25cts.," we don't keep; we leave that kind of work for the tinker. Only first class work. Williams, 1473 Hancock street. 14-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appl at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

FOR SALE

THE COZY HOME

No. 56 Upland Road

Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see

JAMES F. BURKE

The Real Estate Man

Room 4. Savings Bank Building Quincy, Mass.

16-tf

WANTED

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED—Hancock Jewelry Co., two Jewelers, Two Opticians. 1463 Hancock street. 19-9t

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee,, 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

ASSISTANT BOOKKEEPER — Accurate at figures, familiar with typewriter, neat in penmanship. Apply to Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 18-tf

WANTED—Shipper's helper, a man familiar with stove work and furniture trimming. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. 14-6t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets QUINCY

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH

on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or

Pinel's Variety Store

146 Water St., Quincy

IT IS A MARVEL

9—1m

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 163 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—House of seven rooms with all modern improvements. Inquire at 68 Goddard street, Quincy. 18-6t

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 16-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)

Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance

OFFICE—RESIDENCE

157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.

WOLLASTON

Houses and Building Lots for sale.

Houses and Apartments to let.

Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

Read Ledger Advs.

GETTING AFTER DELINQUENTS

Tax Collector Has New Method to Make People Pay Up

IS WORKING WELL

If the back taxes due the city are notcollected in the immediate future it will be no fault of Tax Collector Child. It is a well known fact that the city is carrying a large amount of unpaid taxes, an that many of those who are still owing the city are continually drawing money from the city for bills due them for supplies, etc. They are Johnny on the spot when there is any money due them, but slow in paying up their own obligations.

Theer is a law which allows the Tax Collector to hold up any funds due a citizen, firm or corporation, from the city who is indebted to the city for taxes and this law is being taken a vantage of by Collector Child. Not a few during the past few days have been brought up with a round turn when they attempted to collect money due them from the city, to find that they must first consult with the Tax Collector before their bill would be paid.

It is harsh treatment, but the city needs teh money and there is no goo reason why obligations due the city for taxes should not be liquidated equally as soon as obligations due to individuals by the city.

As a rule the parties interested o not take kindly to the enforcement of this rule, but on the other hand there are many who will comment the Tax Collector for the stand he has taken.

SPRING BEGINS AT 6 TONIGHT

Spring officially begins at 6 o'clock tonight and with it comes a desided change in the weather if the predic tions are to be relied upon. Commencing tonight a return of decidedly cold weather is promised for a few days as a remider that March has not relenuished its hold. The mild weather thus far this week has been very wlcome and everybody has doubtless wished that it might continue. Nt so says the weather man for umbrellas and heavy coats will be in order for the next few days.

IS DOING GOOD WORK IN MALDEN

The Malden News in its issue of Monday gives a glowing account of ths concert of Irish music and song held under the auspices of the Sacred Heart parish of that city Sunday evening. The concert was under the direction of Rev. Neil Paul Brennan, a former curate of St. John's parish in this city. At the concert Rev. Fr. Brennan contributed a vocal solo. The awards in the various contests were announced, which include the trip to Washington for the one turning in the largest amount of money. While in Quincy Fr. Brennan made himself extremely popular, and his many friends will be glad to learn of the success he is meeting with in Malden.

DEATHS

PERRY.—In Quincy, March 20, Miss Elizabeth H. Perry, aged 53 years. Funeral services from late home 56 Spear street, Saturday, March 23, at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t-20-22.

SWEETLAND—In Quincy, March 19, Edwina R., daughter of Grandville A., and the late Lizzie A. Sweetland in her 19th year. Funeral private.

WATTS—In Wollaston, March 19, Mrs. M. Josephine, widow of Mr. Ruggles T. Watts of 84 Freeman street, aged 68 years.

DRISCOL,—In Wollaston,, March 19 Mrs. Grace M., wife of Mr. Arthur E. Driscol of 71 Hamilton street, aged 35 years.

RANAGAR—In Wollaston, March 20, Mr. Edwin F. Ranagar of 57 Royal street, aged 45 years.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1185 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

BOY SHOT IN BACK OF HEAD

Car less Use of Rifle Nearly Results in Fatality

22 CALIBRE

The careless handling of a 22 calibre rifle in the hands of Arthur Rennie aged 16 years, came near resulting seriously for Stephen Benzie aged 9 years of Hillside street. The rifle belonged to an older brother of the Rennie boy and he was showing his companions how it worked when it was discharged, the bullet striking the Benzie boy on the back of the head. He was taken to a physician who was unable to find the bullet at that time or to determine whether it had entered the head on not. The boy will be taken to Boston today and put under the X ray to determine whether the bullet is still in his head or not. The Rennie boy is nearly prostrated over the shooting of his companion and it will probably be a lesson to him to let rifiles alone in the future.

HAND BAG STOLEN AT CRANE LIBRARY

Miss Anna Johnson had her hand bag containing $1.05 in money stolen at the Thomas Crane library Tuesday afternoon. Miss Johnson visited the library and left her bag on one of the tables. Going to look for it a few minutes later she found it had disappeared. Officer Phillips was notified and suspicion was directed to two boys. The officer interviewed the boys and found they were the guilty parties. They informed the officer that they had thrown the bag on the roof of Penniman's stable where it was later found. The boys will probably be sent away.

BRIEFS

Many from Quincy are attending the Norfolk County G. A. R. association convention at Avon today.

The members of the Station Outing club will hold their annual dance on the evening of April 11 in Aupha hall.

Congratulations are extended. It is now Grandma McDonald of Maple street her daughter Mrs. Ernest Kelley giving birth to a ten and a half pound boy on Monday.

Manet encampment is planning for a grand time Friday evening when the Royal Purple degree will be exemplified upon a number of candidates. The encampment will be assisted in the work by Canton Shawmut, P. M. who will make a short parade in City Square before the meeting.

Charles H. Johnson gave his illustrated lecture on Historic Quincy before the pupils of the John Hancock and Lincoln schools Tuesday evening at the Coddington school hall. There were 560 pupils present at the lecture which was greatly enjoyed. Tonight Mr. Johnson repeats his lecture at Wollaston.

The drawing up of a set of by-laws consumed the greater part of the meeting held in the rooms of the Board of Trade Tuesday evening by the members of the Fourth of July Celebration executive committee. Other routine business was also transacted and many plans were discussed for the fitting ovservance of Independence day the questions of the athletic consideration.

TEMPORARY LOAN.

Bids were opened by City Treasurer Tilden, Tuesday for a temporary loan of $100,000. By a singular coincidence three banking firms put in exactly the same bid. The loan was awarded today to Blake Bros. Co. at 3.61 per cent.

Bryan Given Birthday Dinner

Lincoln, Neb., March 20.—W. J. Bryan was 52 years old yesterday and the annual birthday dinner which was given last night in his honor brought to Lincoln many of the prominent party leaders of the country.

German Strike Leaders Give Up

Berlin, March 20.—The leaders of the miners' unions decided during their session at Bochum to terminate the coal strike in Westphalia, as they consider it useless.

Mount Holyoke college is bragging because none of its graduates were ever divorced, but if so we fear that few of them got into Society.

"BLACKEST IN ALL HISTORY"

Record of Labor Unions Denounced by Manufacturers

DELIBERATE DYNAMITE PLOT

President Kirby Goes After "Gompers and His Hosts" In Most Outspoken Terms—Says Militant Type of Labor Unionism Is "Fighting For Its Very Life"—How Labor May Acquire Just Privileges It Seeks

Boston, March 20.—Some very warm things with respect to the labor organizations of the United States and "the drift to Socialism" were said by the speakers at the dinner of the Boston members of the National Association of Manufacturers here.

The speakers were the general manager of the national association, J. P. Bird of New York; the national president, John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, O., and James A. Emery of Washington.

Among the statements were: "The record of the American Federation of Labor and its allied unions is the blackest in all history; "the dynamitings were the result of a deliberate plot, planned by an executive officer and approved by the executive board of a national union constituting an important wing of the A. F. L.;" "the written and unwritten constitution of that organization is wrong and wicked."

President Kirby began with some explanation of the purposes of the organization of which he is president, and then plunged into scathing denunciation of the A. F. of L.

"Now, what do you suppose would be our industrial conditions today if something, or somebody, hadn't interposed a potent objection to the progress that Gomperism was making twelve years ago? It is unreasonable to say that had it not been for organized resisance to the strides which Gompers and his hosts were then making we would all now be bound hand and foot in the throes of militant organized labor?

"As it is, we have to endure enough of its persecution and coercion, but instead of its having absolute control of our commerce and industries, as Gompers predicted would be the case by this time, we find his militant type of labor unionism fighting for every inch of its wicked life.

"A labor union is justified in claiming and exercising every legitimate right and privilege arising from organization, when it recognizes and assumes corresponding obligations. But when labor unionism seeks to monopolize the labor market by the denial of opportunity for laborers ever to become anything but laborers; by placing barriers in the way of our youth; by the adoption of methods which are demoralizing to its own membership; by putting the laggard on a parity with the thrifty; by partnership with grafters and demagogues; by determination to shield rather than to ferret and punish its criminal members, and by utter disregard for and defiance of law and human liberty, it becomes an intolerable menace to civilized society, which all decent people should unite in an effort to cut out of existence.

"A strike of a peaceful character is an unheard-of thing; something yet to be recorded in the history of labor unionism such as Gompers chooses to call "the American labor movement." Nor will it be heard of until there is a law, and strict enforcement thereof, which provides for the punishment of the men responsible for calling the strike, and for any and all acts of violence or damage committed as a result of the strike.

"When that time comes there will be fewer strikes and less assault, murder and destruction of property, and we shall have less to say about the abuses of trade unionism. But, as it is, the strike, with its attendant cruelties, is the greatest menace of all, not only as affecting commerce and industry, but the peace and happiness of all the people as well.

"Let combined labor deal with combined capital, when both are willing, but let it be along lines of strict justice and free from every semblance of fear. When this lesson is learned and becomes the rule of conduct with labor unions, labor will speedily acquire all the just privileges it seeks, and be immune from the wrongs of which it may be reasonable to complain."

O'Connell Installed as Bishop

Richmond, March 20.— Rt. Rev. Dennis O'Connell, appointed by the pope to succeed the late Rev. Augustine Van de Vyver, was installed as bishop of the diocese of Richmond here by Cardinal Gibbons and the Catholic clergy of Virginia.

Buys Revolver and Shoots Self

Houlton, Me., March 20.—Henry Lindsey of Littleton, aged 50, entered a local hardware store and bought a revolver. Opening a box of cartridges he filled the chamber, placed the weapon against his head and fired. He died almost instantly.

HONEST WOMAN FINDS MONEY

Bag Containing Large Sum Returned to the Owner

LEFT AT DEPOT

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. May Willis Hatch in her hurry to catch a train for Boston left her bag, containing besides railroad tickets, a check for $100, something over $35 in gold and some bills, in the ladies' room at the Quincy depot. Fortunately the bag was picked up by an honest woman who returned it to the owner later in the day.

Mrs. Hatch, who goes to Vermont today planned to go to Boston Tuesday afternoon. Hearing the train approaching she hurried out of the depot forgetting her bag. It was not until on the train when she went to look for her ticket that she missed it. Leaving the train at Wollaston she telephoned back to the Quincy station but by that time the bag had gone. Hastening to Quincy she stopped payment on the check. Later in the afternoon the bag was returned to her by a West Quincy lady who had found it.

It is not often one loses so large a sum of money that it falls into the hands of an honest person.

LENTEN SERVICE AT ATLANTIC

Rev. Fr. Charles J. McCormick C. SS. R., of the misisonary band of the Redemptorist Fathers stationed at the Mission Church, Roxbury, preached a most elouent sermon on "Marriage" at the Lenton devotions held last evening in th Church of the Sacrd Heart, Atlantic. Previous to the sermon the rosary was said by the pastor Rev. Fr. John P. Cuffe, who also celebrated benediction of the Blessed Sacrement at the close of the srmon.

In the course of his remarks Fr. McCormick dwelt at length on the sacrement of matrimony and laid down the obligations enjoined upon those who are united in wedlock. He spoke of the influence, the proper adherence to those obligations can have uopn the family, state and nation and decried in loud terms the divorce evil, which destroys all those principles established by God for those who enter the marriage state. Fr. McCormick was listened to with close attention by a number of parishioners that taxed the edific to its utmost. He is one of the best pulpit orators in the country and a foremost member of the Redemptorist Congregation.

Services, consisting of the rosary, sermon and beenediction of the Blessed Sacrement will be held in St. John's and St. aMry's Catholic churchs this evening. At the latter the sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Henry T Grady,w hile at both churches the regular choirs will furnish music.

SAFE IN WILDERNESS

Little Likelihood of Capturing Allen Gang In Their Present Location

Roanoke, Va., March 20.—Members of the notorious Allen gang, wanted for the shooting up of the Carroll county courthouse, have escaped from the trap set for them at Squirrel's Spur in the Blue Ridge mountains and have made their way into an almost trackless wilderness on the Virginia-North Carolina border.

According to mountain folks who know the region into which the Allens have fled, the gang may be able to disappear for some time, as the section in which they have taken refuge is without roads, or even bridle paths, abounds in game and is so thickly grown with brush that it is next to impossible for a large body of men to penetrate it.

FROM HUB TO GOTHAM

Long Trip by Trolley Is Being Made by Railway Men

Boston, March 20.—For the first time in the history of interurban street railways in New England, an electric car is making the entire trip between Boston and New York without change.

A special parlor car, carrying members of the American Interurban Railroad association who attended the New England Street Railroad club dinner here last evening, left Park square at 8 o'clock this morning.

The trip will be made by way of Worcester, Springfield, Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport, reaching New York at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

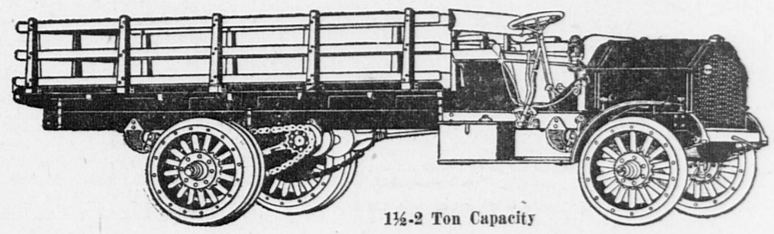
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1500 lb, 1 TON 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenue

WOMEN'S CLUBS

(Continued from Page Three.)

Mrs. Smith called upon Mr. Howlett, who responded very pleasantly; "I think we are to be congratulated in having Miss Purchase come to Quincy. We think it a nice city to come to, but Miss Purchase is also to be congratulated in having so faithful and loyal a body of women to work with."

Mrs. Smith very wittily remarked "thank you, I am glad I asked you to speak."

Refreshments were served consisting of cakes, fancy crackers and tea. Miss Addie J. Park and Mrs. W. G. Shaw, were the pourers.

Miss Purchase has been three and a half years in Dorchester, which is the largest and busiest of the sixteen Boston districts. The work has increased so that recently it has been found necessary to establish a conference in Mattapan—one extreme—the other being at Uphams Corner. Miss Purchase was one of the organizers and president for two years of the Dorchester Social Workers club, now numbering 28 paid social workers in the district; membership including nurses, church workers, relief society agents, state visitors and social service workers, as well as settlement workers, which has been a great service to the community.

Miss Purchase is a member of the Home club of East Boston, where she resides with her mother, also a member of the Monday evening club of Boston and Graduate club of the School for Social Workers of Boston, and the Dorchester Social Workers club and has a varied and wide experience in social work.

She commences her work in Quincy April first.

THE SUCCESSFUL GIRL

There are many small and unseen reefs upon which the girl seeking social success may come to grief, and one of the most dangerous is that of broken social engagements.

In the present day old-fashioned courtesy and consideration seem to be asleep, or else to have left society entirely. The modern hostess only too frequently receives a telephone message from some guest at the last moment saying, without the least compunction, "So sorry, but it is impossible."

As a rule this sort of thing is inexcusable. Of course, conditions may arise under which nothing else can be done, but the girl who usually sends a message of this kind, is of the selfish type and rarely succeeds in attaining popularity. She is thinking more of her own caprice than of her hostess.

It is not an easy matter to fill in at dinner or luncheon or bridge. No matter how well poised a hostess may be, a disappoinment of this kind is upsetting, and the selfish or thoughtless girl who is the occasion of her embarrassment is apt to have a black mark against her name in that particular hostess's mind.

The trouble is that the girl of to-day is too careless in her acceptance of invitations. On the spur of the moment she accepts, and then frequently decides that the whole thing is a bore, or something else comes up that she prefers doing, and she finally ends by declining the invitation at the last moment, thus arousing an antagonism that cannot help but handicap her in her social career.

It is a simple matter to decline in the first place. A declination of this sort a hostess has no right to resent, but once her list is closed it is another matter.

A young girl recently remarked that she accepted every invitation which came to her, then picked those she preferred, throwing over the others. This sounds well, but sooner or later it will result in unpopularity. Neither courtesy nor consideration justifies such a course.

Naturally, one has preferences. There are certain things one would rather do. A girl should make up her mind what these things are and accept them before everything else, but she should not play fast and loose with invitations she does not want.

Let her decline them definitely the moment they are presented to her, and she will find she makes fewer enemies while at the same time she pleases herself.

One hears the impulsive girl say, "Oh that is all very well but what can one do in this day when people call you on the telephone and fire invitations at you point-blank and your mind is as destitute of excuses as an empty bird cage?

The best advice for this situation is to learn to think quickly and decline definitely if it is a thing one does not care to do. One can always have an engagement to sit at home and cultivate one's mind.

Things have changed in politics. It takes something more than the pounding of the big bass drum to persuade the strap hangers to climb up into the band wagon.

COMMITTEE ON TRAIN SERVICE

The committee of the Board of Trade on train service met Tuesday evening, at which time proposed changes in the local train services were considered. Some weeks ago the committee extended a general invitation to all who desired any changes in the present service to consult the committee. Few however have availed themselves of the opportunity. Several were present at the meeting from Wollaston and Atlantic and made their wants known. The committee is arranging for a hearing with the railroad officials at an early date when desired changes will be taken up. Some of the new trains deisred is an inward train leaving Quincy about 1.03 P. M., and an outward train from Boston, for all stations in Quincy leaving Boston at 11.45 P. M.

By C. H. JOHNSON, - - - Auctioneer
Office, Room 3 Adams Building
Tel. Quincy 1145

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland to George M. Field, dated May, 28, 1909 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book 1111, Libro 506 which mortgage was duly assigned to Abbie E. Studley by assignment dated Jan. 28, 1910 and recorded as aforesaid Book 1132, Page 606 for breach of conditions contained in said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Friday, April 12, 1912, at two o'clock in the afternoon. All and singular the Real Estate described in said mortgage deed to wit—a certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on Oxenbridge Road in that part of said Quincy which is called Wollaston in "Taylor Terrace" being lot 241, as shown on a plan of said Taylor Terrace, drawn by Frederick E. Tupper, surveyor and recorded with Norfolk Deeds; Lot 241 described as follows:—The said lot 241 fronting 45 feet on a proposed street called Oxenbridge Road running back from said Oxenbridge Road 96.76 feet on the southerly line and 97.51 feet on the Northerly line, and containing 4371 square feet of land. Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments and to all incumbrances of record.

Terms $100 in cash at time and place of sale and balance within ten (10) days on delivery of deed.

Abbie E. Studley,
Assignee and present holder of mortgagee.

20-3t 20, 27, 3

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 69 | QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 21, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

FORM FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

Wollaston Park Residents Form New Association

THE OFFICERS

As the result of a growing sentiment along the lines of civic advancement an improvement association has sprung to life in Wollaston Park.

For sometime the residents in this vicinity have harbored the idea and last fall the movement was set on foot. It was finally deemed wise to delay the project until spring.

At a meeting last week at the bungalow of John L. Hamilton, 38 residents joined in forming the Wollaston Park Improvement Association. Since that time the membership has increased to 63.

The following officers and directors have been elected: President—Edward O. Woodward;—vice president—John L. Hamilton; secretary—Russell T. Anthony; treasurer—Fred H. Chase; directors—Wilfred J. Gaffney; Leon F. Besse, James D. Wilson, Harry M. Watts, D. W. Wade, Benjamin Sargent and William E. Hingston.

The officers and directors were elected both for their peculiar fitness and the geographical position they represent in the contemplated district.

The district containing eligible members is bounded by Hancock street, Wollaston avenue, Fenno street Wendell avenue, Gould street, and the lots on the southerly side of Beach street.

The reason for thus restricting the membership at present is due to the lack of a suitable hall in which to meet. As the movement goes forward with the success which at present seems certain these limits will no doubt be extended.

A constitution is being drafted along the lines of the Harvard Improvement Association of Dorchester, a highly successful organization of this nature.

A meeting will be held next Wednesday evening at the Hamilton bungalow when the constitution will be adopted and the organization further perfected.

The field of the association is broad and its opportunity large. From its start and cordial reception it has found popular favor and its standing in the community is asured.

The section is a rapidly growing one and from that of vacant fields and scattered houses is developing into a live community of atractive residences.

That improvements are necessary and desired is evident and with the Wollaston Park Association at the helm they will probably be forthcoming.

The New York World asks impertinently who is paying the bills for the campaigns of Messrs. Roosevelt, Taft. Clark, Harmon. and Wilson, but most patriots are more anxious to learn how and where the money is being disbursed.

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

AUCTION SALE

— OF —

Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock

About 100 Lots

Sale at Quincy Adams

At Freight House of

New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.

April 9th, 1912, at 10 A.M.

Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made at time of sale, and removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. I. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

FORMS PARENTS' ASSOCIATION

Association Formed by Washington Parents and Teachers

OFFICERS ELECTED

There was a large attendance at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Washington school, for the purpose of forming a parents' and teachers' association. A musical program was given by the pupils of the eighth grade, followed by a gymnastic exhibition by a number of pupils of the same grade, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Anderson a teacher at the school.

Dr. Edward H. Bushnell called the meeting to order and after the report of the committee on bylaws had been accepted, election of officers was in order, the following being chosen as officers of the Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Washington school for the ensuing year:

President—Joseph Fitton, U. S. N.
Vice president—Henry Marr.
Secretary—Mrs. Thompson B. Crane.
Treasurer—Miss Sarah A. Malone.

The following were elected members of the executive committee, to act in conjunction with the officers: Thomas B. Pollard, principal of the school, Mrs. Edward H. Bushnell, Eliza P. Barrows and John F. Roache.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Owing to having so much business to transact at this meeting it was thought best not to have an address by a speaker, but it is planned to have one at the next meeting.

School committeeman Arthur W. Newcomb was among those present.

It is expected many more will be enrolled as members of the association at the next meeting.

A MID-WEEK LENTEN SERVICE

Rev. Palfrey Perkins of the First Parish church, Brighton, was the speaker at the mid-week Lenten service, held at the Wollaston Unitarian church, Wednesday evening. He took his text from Matthew 15:18, "This people honor me with their lips, but their heart is far from me."

He dwelt on the simplicity and grace of the character of Jesus and its compelling influence upon human life today; upon the glory of a personality, the memory of which remains vivid and helpful after centuries have past. 'The day of miracles is not past. We may still find sad hearts to brighten, homes to cheer, eyes to open to a vision of brighter and better things," continued the speaker, "and so follow in a way that Christ and all sainted souls have led."

—The general impression regarding the loan that is wanted for the development of Boston Harbor is that the State is expected to furnish the money. That is not true. The men in charge of the development desire to form a corporation, issue bonds and make the enterprise pay for itself. They do not ask the State to back the project up, but the Commonwealth will not be required to furnish a dollar unless the scheme proves a failure, which no one anticipates.—Waltham Free Press.

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies

Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT

1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.

Tel. 619 R. March 21-tf

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES

Facts as to Working of New Preferential Act

CAUCUS APRIL 30

Important instructions have been given out by Secretary of State Langtry relative to the workings of the new Presidential preference primary act, which is the act under which the caucuses of April 30. to elect presidential delegates, will be held. These are of vital interest to all voters, many of whom are in doubt as to just where they stand as to their voting rights. The circular sent out by Sec. Langtry says:

"At the presidential primary election to be held April 30, voters enrolled at the last State primaries as Democratic. Republican or Democratic Progressive, will be permitted to receive only the ballot of the party with which they were so enrolled, unless such enrolment has been changed 90 days preceding April 30.

"Voters not so enrolled may receive at such Presidential primary the ballot of any political party with which they desire to be enrolled."

Instruction to city and town clerks are as follows:

"Chapter 254, Acts of 1912, provides that the election of delegates and of alternate delegates to National conventions of political parties shall be by direct plurality vote in primaries.

"Section 3 of said chapter provides that in the primaries the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause to be placed upon the ballots of each political party the names of candidates for the nomination by such political party for the office of President of the United States and of Vice President of the United States, and each voter may express his preference for such candidates in the same manner as in voting for candidats for State offices, to be voted for by all the voters of the Commonwealth.

"Such primaries shall be held throughout the Commonwealth on the last Tuesday in April (April 30,) and shall be called and conducted in general accordance with the provision of law relating to elections.

"The polls at every primary shall be open during such hours, not less than nine in cities or two in towns, as may be designated by the Board of Election Commissioners in Boston, the Aldermen in other cities and the Selectmen in towns.

"Blank nomination papers with instructions have been prepared in two forms, one for delegates and one for President and Vice President of the United States. They will be supplied by the Secretary of the Commonwealth upon request only.

"Official ballots for the primaries will be supplied as at the State primaries. They will be of a different color for each political party (Democratic, salmon; Republican, light blue; Democratic Progressive, lilac, and Socialist, yellow,) and but one of each set will be sent.

"Copies of receipts will be sent you by mail that you may notify this office immediately upon receipt of the ballots, so that it may be known here of their having reached you safely and in time.

"Tally, total vote sheets and block envelopes, sufficient in number for each political party, will be sent for use at the primaries, also a copy of the specimen ballot for each party for use in preparing tally sheets, total vote sheets and returns.

"Blanks for returns of votes cast at primaries for each office and party will be forwarded in due time.

"City and town clerks are required to make forthwith to the Secretary of the Commonwealth a return of the number of votes received by each candidate for each office.

"Please give special attention to these returns, as the tabulation is to be made at this office for the entire Commonwealth. Consequently, errors, omissions, or tardiness in making the returns will cause much confusion."

☞For the children's supper PRATT'S BREAD and milk. Better than cake.

(ADVERTISE.)

MEETING OF PILGRIM UNION

Epworth League Meets at Wollaston M. E. Church

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Pilgrim Union of Epworth Leagues took place in the Wollaston Methodist church, Wednesday, delegates from West Quincy, Mattapan, Dorchester, Atlantic, Neponset, and other points attending.

The afternoon session opened at four o'clock with a devotional service led by Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor of the local church.

An address upon the Aim of the Epworth League" was delivered by Rev. W. W. Bowers, D. D. of Dorchester. In regard to its object Dr. Bowers spoke of the ideals the young people should have. These should be large enough. Often the ideals are too small and are reached too soon by some.

A workers' conefrence was conducted with Miss Rena M. Chamberlain, first vice president of the local chapter and the founder of the Pilgrim Union in charge.

Remarks were made by Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Bowers of the Baker Memorial Church, Charles N. Woodbury, Mr. Dorr of Atlantic, Rev. T. C. Martin of West Quincy. and others.

The afternoon meeting closed with a quiet hour under the direction of Miss Corrinne Harding, superintendent of the Deaconess' Training School. The bible readings of Miss Harding added much to the beauty of the meeting. Pastor Wiggin pronounced the benediction.

An informal reception provided an hour of sociability preceding the supper served at 6.30.

At this time the line was formed and with Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook at the piano, those present proceeded to the supper room.

The blessing was invoked by Rev. T. C. Martin of West Quincy and all partook of a fine repast. During the supper hour, music by an orchestra was enjoyed.

The supper over, Walter Sutermeister, president of the Wollaston chapter called upon Samuel E. Stott, president of the Pilgrim Union for a few remarks.

President Stott spoke his surprise and gratification at seeing the large number assembled and paid a tribute to the active condition of the Wollaston chapter.

The supper committee was composed of Mrs. Harry A. Collett, Mrs. E. L. Cook; Mrs. W. N. Ferguson, Mrs. E. A. Dewsnap, Mrs. E. A. Williams.

Serving as waitresses were: Miss Ethel Clifford, Miss Beulah Collett, Miss Mildred Dunham, Miss Alfreda Dewsnap, Miss Marion Clifford, Miss Jeanie Keith, Miss Ethel Brown and Miss Evelyn Hirtle.

The evening meeting opened with a vocal solo by Miss Helen Nichols of Dorchester, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. F. G. Bennett of Wollaston.

President Samuel E. Stott presided and called upon Charles N. Woodbury, first vice-president of the Pilgrim Union for a report of the spiritual department.

This was most inspiring and put forth high ideals for development. In it the Wollaston chapter showed up well along all lines.

Robert E. Childs, second vice-president reported for the mission field and urged further activity along this line.

The report of the nominating committee was brought in by Carl V. Payson and the following were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Samuel E. Stott of Dorchester.
First Vice—Carl V. Payson of Dorchester.
Second Vice—Robert E. Childs of Mattapan.
Third Vice—Joseph M. Francis of West Quincy.
Fourth Vice—Grace E. Mehaffey of Dorchester.
Secretary—Harold Perry of Dorchester.
Treasurer—Walter Sutermeister of Wollaston.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Leopold A. Nies, of the Stanton Avenue Methodist church, his subject being, "The Triumphant Christ."

His words were a source of inspiration to all and his optimistic forecast of the future gave new hope to those present. This is not a losing battle but we must stand by our Master until the world is at his feet.

Mr. Nies spoke of the divinity of labor and the sympathy that Christ has for the humble toiler.

The recent coronation in England was referred to and compared to that greater crowning of the Sovereign of all, to whom the kings bow down.

The growth of the realm of Christianity was traced from earliest times and in conclusion a picture was drawn of the heavenly throne of white surrounded by the prophets of old and the redeemed of all ages, while high above them all sat He whose face was marred on Calvary.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Nies.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

MEMBERSHIP REACHES 750

By the initiation of fifteen candidates, Wednesday evening in Faxon hall, the membership of the local lodge of the Order of Moose reached the 750 mark. It is expected 800 names will be enrolled in membership before plans are perfected for the erection of a club house.

Routine business was transacted at the meeting and the question of a junior order, for young men between the ages of 16 and 20 was discussed at length.

Special Sale

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Fresh Maine Sugar Corn	7 1-2c
Fresh Crisp Ginger Snaps	6c
6 bars Kirkman's Soap	25c
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
Sweet Navel Oranges	12 1-2c

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

March 21-1t

THE FIRES OF WEDNESDAY

The auto chemical and Wollaston ladder truck were summoned on a still alarm about 7 o'clock Wednesday night to extinguish a fire in a Ford runabout automobile of Cobb, Bates & Co., of Boston, which had taken fire on Hancock street near the Fenno estate. The auto had just come from the repair shop but had not been working right all day. Suddenly the gasoline tank exploded and in an instant the car was all ablaze.

The auto chemical played a chemical stream on the blazing car but it was practically destroyed. The blazing gasoline also started a good sized grass fire on the marsh and the firemen had to put that out.

The alarm from Box 143 at 10.40 Wednesday night called the department to a lively blaze in The Capt. Boyd house on Centre street, occupied by Luigi DiBona. The fire either started from a lamp exploding or from the stove it could not be told which as it was near the stove in the kitchen that the firemen found the fire. It was confined to that one room and did a damage of about $50.

☞It was a funny mistake to suppose that Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald who is to speak on Equal Suffrage in Brasee Hall next Monday evening is the wife of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston. Although it is a fact that John F. Fitzgerald, the mayor, is a believer in suffrage for women.

NEW POSITION FOR QUINCY BOY

Charles L. Strattard, a Quincy young man has accepted a position as supervistor of manual training and sloyd in the Chelsea public schools and will have under his instruction six hundred boys comprising 26 classes.

Mr. Strattard was formerly an employee at the Fore River shipyard, but lately has been located at Hartford, Cleveland and Pittsburg. He speaks very highly of the apprentice system at the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., stating that the training he received while an apprentice has been of great benefit to him.

Mr. Strattard goes to Chelsea from the Plummer training school at Salem, where he has been instructor of manual training and sloyd. His many friends in this city congratulate him on securing the position as they realize he has been ambitious and has worked hard.

—The decision of the supreme court that the Somerville ordinance prohibiting the covering of roofs with wooden shingles applies only to new buildings, and that the reshingling of old roofs cannot be prevented is probably good law but is discouraging to those who believe in doing everything possible to reduce fire risks. It is to be hoped that, in spite of the decision, owners of roofs that need to be repaired will comply with the provisions of the ordinance in their own interest as well as in the interest of others.—Somerville Journal.

Madam---For Easter Shoes in Great Variety

In no store will you find such a variety of dainty and charming shoes as you can find here.

You ought to visit this store now! Your highest expectations will be realized when you see the mighty display of handsome oxfords and shoes we have prepared for you. Even if you have no intention of buying and are sure you can resist the temptation to take away a pair of these unusually attractive shoes there's a lesson in shoe values here that's worth seeing.

The American Lady Shoes at $3 and $3.50

are the handsomest, best finished and most stylish shoes made. In Quiney they are sold exclusively at this store. All leathers with the short vamp, medium high, round toe and new heels.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 21-3t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Spring!—Yes, according to the almanac.

If Capt. Amundsen is to have a chair in the University of Christiana, it would be an appropriate thing to build it out of the pole he has brought home.

The thermometer got down to 58 below on Amundsen's Polar trip. That is nearly as cold as it is around New York's Flatiron building on a windy day.

The 2100 cherry trees sent by Japan are to be planted near Grant's tomb. It would accord better with the eternal fitness of things if they were planted near Washington's tomb.

As so few girls are exercising the Leap Year privilege, the bachelors will keep on garnering the sweets of love unencumbered by any board bills.

If the beef packers should be jailed, a universal move on the part of the consumers of the country to send them flowers should be frowned upon as unnecessary.

The anti-tip crusade reminds us of the time they planned to have all the inhabitants of the world holler at the same moment, and everyone kept still to hear the rest shout.

China's finances are in bad shape. The people who thought they could get an appropriation for rivers and harbors are likely to be deprived of the sacred privileges of freedom.

So long as the Allen outlaws find such wholesome occupation as shooting up the detectives, they will never endanger their health by coming down to town and going to work in the factory.

As the majority of the government offices are still in the possession of the men who held them several years ago, it is clearly the duty of the president and Congress to resign in favor of more efficient successors.

Attention was called some time ago by an article in the Ledger, to the danger which would be always imminent if the curves of the boulevard road where it connects with Hancock street near the Atlantic station, were laid out as planned in the specifications. Happily this difficulty has been remedied.

At the suggestion of Mayor Stone, City Eng. Sargent personally took the matter up with the Metropolitan Park Commissioners, and as a result, those curves will be changed. When the work is completed which will be very soon, the curves will be wide and graceful. This will add to the beauty of the boulevard as well as practically eliminate the possibility of danger to pedestrians using the thoroughfares. The commission as an added means of safety will recommend that all cars on Hancock street, come to a full stop before crossing the point of connection.

OUTLAWRY IN THE MOUNTAINS

The shooting of a judge, prosecutor, and sheriff, at Hillsville, Va., is only an extreme instance of the kind of thing going on daily in a vast district of the Appalachian mountains extending into about ten states.

A glance at the map tells the story. Carroll county, scene of the tragedy, a district eighty miles across, is but scarcely touched on its outer skirts by one or two branch railroads.

In spite of all that occasional missionaries and schools may do, you can't bring about safety of life and property unless the iron horse is there too, to bring the customs of the peaceful lowlands into the mountain fastnesses. And there can be no economic prosperity, no farms worth the name, where the products of the soil have to be dragged fifty miles to a railroad station.

Of course good work is being done all the time in these remote communities by missionary and educational agencies. Archdeacon F. W. Neve of the Blue Ridge tells in magazine articles of his beneficent labors in the Virginia mountains. When he first went there, he says, the first item of local news handed out to him was that a neighbor had announced that he was going to hang his wife that night, and had laid a plough line on a table in preparation for this function. Since then schools and hospitals have done something to ameliorate this rough life.

Still it is hard to allay the suspicions of an adult mountaineer. Many of them believed that Dr. Neve's school were for the purpose of gaining an influence over the children so as to carry them away and ship them to England for service in the British army. When a desirable site was wanted for a school, the owners thought the missionaries had found gold there, and that the school project a mere cover for a mine.

There is a resolute self reliance about these mountaineers that indicate strains of blood worth saving. Wherever they drift down into the valleys that intersect these giant hills, they prosper. Could they but be induced to desert regions in which economic efficiency and educational opportunity is at present impossible, their force of character would make its mark in the world of action.

CONTROLLING THE ANARCHISTS.

A great Anarchistic crime is always followed by a world wide appeal for stricter control of these crazy loons, who are liable to bag a king or president at a moment's notice. The attempt to assassinate King Humbert of Italy is another of these grim reminders.

American history shows that being a president is an extra-hazardous occupation. There have been times when it seemed almost to rank among the so-called "deadly trades." As we hire our president in good faith to do a hard job of work, we owe it to him as a people to make his life at least fairly safe.

Of late years it has become customary for the president to surround himself with athletic and well armed guards, and he should be earnestly encouraged to accept ample protection.

It takes a whole lot of tact to control the Anarchistic element, without giving them the satisfaction of becoming needless martyrs. For instance, after the assassination of President McKinley, there was a big outcry against the Home City Anarchist colony in the state of Washington. The United States marshal went out armed with papers of arrest. There was an expectation that some blood might be shed. But when he got out there, the Anarchists got up a dinner and a dance for him, and they had a very sociable time. When he gathered in three lamb-like and very tame philosophers, and had them before the court, the judge soon stopped the arguments of the lawyers, and ordered a verdict of Not Guilty. They had committed no crime.

Except in so far as it endangers the life of leading public men, the Anarchist danger is not growing worse in our country. The American people have too keen a sense of humor to be much affected by this philosophy of Bedlam. When it comes to casting Law, Authority, Property, Marriage, and Religion out in the gutter, the American workingman wonders how he would ever get another woman to wash his dishes for him, for nothing, and what would become of his savings bank deposit. Nor does he think favorably of swapping the privilege of the ballot under Law for the six shooter under Anarchy.

COUNTY BOARD OF TRADE.

The organization of the Norfolk County Associated Boards of Trade has been completed by the appointment of the various committees by the president, George Harding Smith of Norwood. The chairmen are:—

Municipal Affairs—Hon. John O. Hall, Quincy.

State Legislation—Hon. B. M. Rockwood, Franklin.

Transportation—F. J. Gleason, Walpole.

Manufactures—D. W. Toomey, Stoughton.

Ways and Means—George F. Joyce, Dedham.

Highways—Orlando MacKenzie, Foxboro.

Telegraph and Telephone—T. B. Mullen, Canton.

Membership—R. W. Baker, Medfield.

Auditing—F. L. Greeley, Needham.

The executive committee, selected by each organization, one from each town, is:—

George H. Smith, Norwood; Hon. John O. Hall, Quincy; Hon. B. M. Rockwood, Franklin; Erastus Worthington, Dedham; F. J. Gleason, Walpole; D. W. Toomey, Stoughton; Orlando MacKenzie, Foxboro; R. W. Baker, Medfield; G. W. Grover, Canton; F. L. Greeley, Needham.

QUINCY BILLS REPORTED TODAY

Outlook for Two Dredging Bills Not Over Bright

FUNDS LACKING

The Ledger's State House correspondent says "The Town River Dredging bill and the bill providing for dredging the yacht clubs channel at Norfolk Downs, two bills which are of great importance to the people of Quincy have reached their second stages in the attempt to make them become law. In executive session late Wednesday, the committee on Harbors and Public Lands voted to report favorably upon both the bills, and so they will enter the House with the recommendation of the committee behind them. But the battle is not over. Since both bills carry provisions for appropriations, they will be sent from the House to the Committee on Ways and Means. This committee will decide whether the treasury of the Commonwealth is to be called upon to defray the expenses for the work as outlined in the bills. Rep. Leslie, as the local member of the committee has been given charge of both bills. In considering the bills, the committee has sought the opinions of two of the best authorities in the State, namely Hugh Bancroft, chairman of the Directors of the Port of Boston, and George E. Smith, chairman of the Harbor and Land Commissioners. Mr. Bancroft gave the committee some very interesting facts about the work of the board of which he is chairman, and which bear directly on the success of the above stated bills. He said that the committee must bear in mind that the nine million dollars, which the State put at the disposal of the Port Directors last year is not available for the purposes outlined in the 'Quincy' bills. That big sum of money, is not, as popularly supposed an appropriation. It is money which the Port Directors may invest in projects which will pay for themselves in time and bring a revenue to the State. It does not come out of the tax-payers of the State, as would an appropriation and therefore cannot be used in bettering conditions in any one locality unless the State will eventually derive an income from it. This matter is provided for in the original bills, but there is some doubt as to whether the Ways and Means committee would 'stand for' the amounts.

Mr. Smith said that the "Quincy" bills were only typical of several others now before the legislature and it was his advice that the committee act adversely on them all.

Just what fate these bills will meet is all a matter of conjecture and it will be seen that the way of their ultimate success is not all smooth sailing.

CHIEF ENGINEER BILL ADMITTED

At a recent meeting of the City Council the Mayor was authorized to petition the legislature for the enactment of a bill that should place the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department under civil service rules as is the Chief of Police. Mayor Stone has sent the petition to the legislature and the committee on rules has decided to admit the bill, presented on the petition of Mayor Eugene R. Stone of Quincy, which asks that the chief of police of Quincy be put under the civil service regulations. This bill was received long after the closing date for admitting new petitions but inasmuch as it is a matter which is consistent with the policy of the State, and which all cities are encouraged to follow, the rules committee decided to admit it. The bill will probably be assigned to the Committee on Public Service for consideration and public hearings will be held to hear any arguments for or against it. To date, it is the only bill that the Public Service has for consideration and it will probably be heard some time next week.

Germans Held as Spies

London, March 21.—Four alleged German spies were arrested on the Isle of Wight. They were discovered within the precincts of St. Helen fort, opposite the Portsmouth naval harbor.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

BOMBS PLACED UNDER TRACKS

Attempt to Blow Up Knox Special Train In Nicaragua

GREAT PLOT IS FRUSTRATED

One Report That Failure Was Due to Heavy Military Patrol, While Another Is That Electrical Apparatus Failed to Work—Forty Followers of Zelaya In Danger of Paying the Death Penalty

New Orleans, March 21.—Information that a plot to blow up the train upon which Secretary Knox and his party traveled from Corinto to Managua upon the occasion of the peace visit of the American statesman to Nicaragua has been discovered by the Nicaraguan government was given in telegrams received here from Bluefields.

The Nicaraguan department of justice has conducted an investigation with the result that a number of "Liberals" have been arrested and may be condemned to death.

Thirteen bombs planted beneath the railroad tracks over which the Knox special train traveled and fixed with electric wires for ignition have been unearthed, and will be used as evidence against the conspirators. The bombs were heavily charged with dynamite, and any one of them would have been sufficient to wreck the train and kill the passengers.

Forty followers of General Zelaya, who term themselves Liberals, are held incommunicado in the prison at Managua and will soon be brought to trial, charged with complicity in the conspiracy against Knox's life.

The failure of the conspirators to explode the bombs is said to have been due to the heavy military patrol which accompanied the American secretary of state upon the trip from the coast to the Nicaraguan capital.

However, another theory suggested was that the electrical apparatus failed to work. The conspirators are desperate men and those who were delegated to fire the infernal machine were ready to sacrifice their lives.

On the day that Knox and his party arrived at Managua a bomb was exploded under the bridge between Leon and La Ceiba and a part of the structure was destroyed. Telegraph wires were cut near the point where the explosion took place.

On the trip both from the coast to the Nicaraguan capital and on the return a pilot train carrying 100 soldiers and machine guns preceded the Knox special.

HIGH STEAM PRESSURE

Appears to Have Caused Explosion In Which Thirty-Two Lives Were Lost

San Antonio, Tex., March 21.—An official report as to the cause of the explosion of locomotive No. 704 in the Southern Pacific yards will not be made until the arrival of John Ensign, chief locomotive inspector for the United States government, now on his way from Washington.

Meanwhile the committee of railroad officials, army officers and citizens will continue its investigation. This committee, it is said, has eliminated all possible causes except that of too great steam pressure and the committee is endeavoring to find the cause for this high pressure and fix the blame.

Even now it is impossible to ascertain definitely how many were killed in the explosion. Thirty-two bodies have been accounted for, but those who have assembled the fragments of bodies say possibly more met death.

GUARDING AGAINST TYPHOID

Thirteen Hundred Men Inoculated at Charlestown Navy Yard

Boston, March 21.—Every enlisted man at the Charlestown navy yard, from the latest recruit to the commissioned officer, about 1300 in number, has been inoculated with the typhoid serum as a preventive of typhoid fever.

This was done in compliance with orders from the navy depatment that every member of the navy below the age of 45 years be injected with serum.

The work has been tedious, but the medical officers at the yard kept steadily at it until it was completed.

WAS OFFERED BIG BRIBE

Charge of Maryland Solon Against a State Official

Annapolis, Md., March 21.—John F. O'Malley, state auditor of Maryland, was charged in the house of delegates by Delegate Smallwood with having offered him a bribe of $2500 to vote against the local option bill.

Just prior to the charges being made, the house had by a vote of 31 to 47 substituted the favorable minority report for the unfavorable majority report of the temperance committee.

A committee was appointed to investigate Smallwood's charge and a recess was taken. Smallwood made a detailed statement.

UNCLE SAM BRINGS SUIT

Big Concern Charged With Violation of Contract Labor Laws

Boston, March 21.—The Dwight Manufacturing company of Boston has been charged by the government with bringing Greeks illegally into this country to work in the company's cotton mills at Chicopee and at Alabama City, Ala.

United States District Attorney French has attached the company's property for $250,000 and is seeking to recover $97,000 in penalties. The charge is violation of the alien contract labor laws.

The government charges the company with paying the transportation from Turkey to New York of ninety-seven Greek men, women and children for the purpose of inducing them to work in the company's mills.

It is said that heads of families were induced to sign notes on their arrival to cover the expenses of the trip. Payment was made, it is said, by deducting a small amount from the weekly wage of the worker.

HANISH IS INDICTED

High Priest of Sun Cult Falls Into the Net of a Detective

Chicago, March 21.—"Rev." Dr. Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, high priest of the Sun cult, with a $100,000 temple at Lake Park avenue and fifty other temples scattered over the civilized world, has been indicted by the federal grand jury on two charges.

One indictment accuses the "little master" of violating the interstate commerce act by shipping the "Green Book" of "Inner Studies" to "Miss Julia B. Gardner" at Brookfield, Mo. The indictment is based on the section which prohibits the interstate shipment of improper matter. "Miss Gardner" was a detective.

Should Hanish be convicted he could be sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary and given a large fine besides.

ROBBER MAKES OFF WITH BAG OF GOLD

Romany Band Is Minus Between $5000 and $6000

Providence, March 21.—The Stanley family, the famous Romany band of horse traders, was robbed of between $5000 and $6000 in gold which was in the cellar of the Stanley home at 1254 North Main street in a canvas bag.

The police of this city and Pawtucket have drawn a net about the woods near the boundary line between the two cities and are using every effort to capture the man suspected of the theft, of whom they have a good description.

The thief, unless he has buried part of his booty or gone into hiding with it, should be apprehended soon, it is thought, for he would be heavily burdened in carrying the money about.

The person for whom the police of many towns and cities are searching is known at the Stanley home as "Oscar." He went to the Stanley home last Sunday and asked for employment, which was given him.

MOORE TAKES COURT JOB

Was Once Worth Millions and a Power In New York Politics

New York, March 21.—Hugh H. Moore, who was worth more than $5,000,000 in the early eighties, was yesterday appointed clerk of the Eighth district municipal court at a salary of $3000 a year.

He was formerly a power in politics. He served in the state senate in 1874 and 1875 was the head of the New York county Democracy and led the fight on behalf of Samuel J. Tilden against Tammany in the [illegible]ign of 1878. When Croker was [illegible]trol he [illegible]

Time Tested
In use 101 Years

The best treatment for the scores of aches, pains, swellings, scalds, bruises and lamenesses that afflict every household.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE
LINIMENT

A little taken inwardly on sugar or in sweetened water is a magical cure for Colds, Colic, Croup, Sore Throat, Bowel Complaint and Cramps.

25c and 50c Bottles
I. S. JOHNSON & CO.
Boston
Mass.

Parsons' Pills give quick relief without distressing

QUINCY REGISTRY
FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

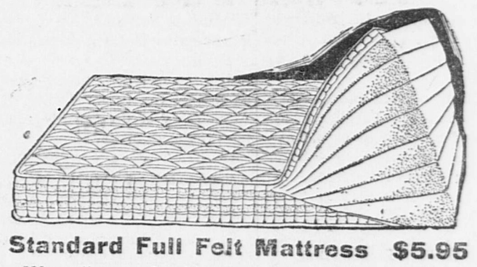
Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those appiying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

STRONG POINTS
ABOUT THIS BANK

This is a bank financed by Quincy business men. FOR Quincy business men. It is a depository for State funds. It has convenient, commodious offices and an up-to-date modern vault. Its hours are suited to Quincy's needs—its officers and attendants are anxious to serve you cheerfully and courteously. Let us explain to you personally the privileges of our depositors.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Kincaide's Spring Opening Sale Presents This



Standard Full Felt Mattress $5.95

We tell you frankly—honestly—they're worth just double that price. The manufacturer had this lot of 50 left on his hands. We got them at our own price, and as long as they last will sell one to a customer. You can't get here too quick.

Hundreds of other Mattresses from $1.98 to $35.

Send a postal for our 4-page Descriptive Sale Circular FREE. It's just overflowing with Spring Spirit, Spring Goods, and Money-saving opportunities. Write right NOW.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

A Custom-Made Suit
$17.50 regular $20 value $17.50

What's the use of putting it off any longer?

It won't be long before you'll have to shake off your winter togs.

So get busy NOW while you have the chance of saving a few dollars.

Don't be afraid that you are too particular.

You'll find that we ourselves are mighty fussy when it comes to taking measurements. The little details that some tailors overlook are the very ones we don't forget.

That's why our made-to-measure garments are bound to FIT you.

STYLE FIT WEAR QUALITY

are what you get in all clothes bearing our Guarantee Bond.

Payson-Mitchell Co.
Dept. of Tailoring
Quincy

DANCE OF JOLLY SIXTEEN CLUB

Fifty couples enjoyed the social dance given Tuesday evening in Electa hall by members of the jolly Sixteen club, composed of that number of people, all of whom are well known in our city. Music was by Wilson's orchestra and dancing was in order until midnight. Refreshments were served during an intermission. Members of the club could be readily distinguished by the handsome pinks they wore. The affair was a great success. The committee in charge comprised H. G. Johnson, Mrs. Walter E. Howes, Mrs. Arthur C. Merritt, and Mrs. John Smith.

The officers of the organization are President—H. G. Johnson; vice-president—Mrs Arthur C. Merritt; secretary—George Gregg and treasurer—Mrs. John Smith.

LECTURE AT WOLLASTON.

On Thursday evening the Methodist club will hold its regular meeting at the Wollaston Methodist church. Announcements are being sent out by S. M. Belcher, secretary of the club, that William C. Bamburgh, publicity manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., will lecture on the subject "The Telephone: Its History and Operation." This lecture will be illustrated by about 120 stereopticon views covering many of the features of the construction and the plant of the Telephone Company, and descriptive of general operation of Company both commercially and in the rendering of service to the public. The lecture is especially prepared for this occasion and will treat of the local service in the Quincy Exchange.

It is announced that the usual high class refreshments will be served to all members of good standing and guests.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

The last meeting of the Quincy School Masters' Club for the current school year will be held in Boston at the Quincy House, one week from tonight, the occasion being the semi-annual dinner of the club. Dr. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea, a member of the school committee of that city and widely known in Quincy will be the guest of the club and the speaker of the evening. Following the dinner the annual election of officers will be held.

The lecture "Historic Quincy" given by Mr. Charles H. Johnson in a number of the grammar schools recently has been attended by large audiences on every occasion, in some cases there not being room to accommodate all who wished to attend. This lecture seems to find an ever new audience among the new residents of the city and is a very valuable educational agent.

The number of people who attended the parents' meeting at the Lincoln and the John Hancock schools was a very gratifying indication of the interest of the people in the schools. There are no associations in these districts, but from time to time the parents will be invited to meet and inspect the work of the school and become acquainted with the teachers.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

A great amount of interest has been awakened in the city within the last few weeks in regard to the subject of industrial training. The plans of the School committee have been explained to a number of audiences of parents by the superintendent of schools and there have been many personal inquiries as to the time when the plans will be put into operation. To these inquiries it can only be said that the time of beginning this work depends entirely upon the disposition of the City Council toward providing the necessary funds. It is hoped, if appropriation be made that classes will be started in September. A letter has been received within a few days from the State Board of Education expressing its approval of the report and plans of the committee and agreeing to co-operate with the city in the maintenance of the school.

QUINCY SCHOOL.

Mr. Charles H. Sampson, the master of the Quincy school has been confined to his house with grip for the greater part of the week. This represents the first time away from his school duties since he began to teach. His assistant Miss Tolman is in change of the building during his absence.

The school yard in the rear of this building is in need of attention from the city authorities. What little gravel was put on the yard originally has all been washed or worn away so that now in wet weather there is nothing put a sticky combination of clay, mud and coal dust for the children to play on.

CRANCH SCHOOL.

The pupils of the school are very proud of the fact that the per cent. of daily attendance has been higher than that of any other school in the city for the past three months.

In a spelling match between the two fifth grades Miss Alice Igo's class won. Alice Miller was the winner among the pupils.

JOHN HANCOCK—LINCOLN.

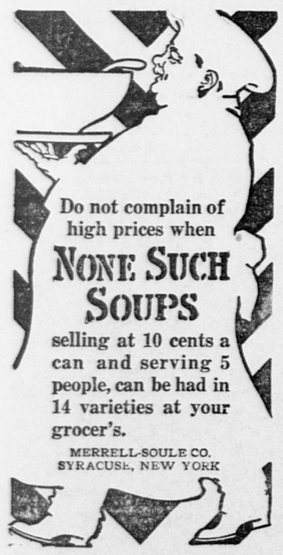
The lecture postponed from last Thursday was held Tuesday night. Five hundred and sixty children and parents listened to a very interesting talk on "Historic Quincy, Past and Present" and feel greatly indebted to Mr. Johnson for his able manner in handling his talk.

The Parents' and Teachers' meeting at the John Hancock school was very successful. Over fifty interested parents listened to a very interesting and instructive talk by Supt. A. L. Barbour on "What Our Children Are Being Sent to School For." At the close the parents and teachers indulged in a very pleasant social hour. The sentiment of the parents was "We had a very enjoyable time and hope for another in thenear future." Vocal music was furnished by girls of grade eight.

Miss Donovan's fourth grade at the Lincoln School had the enviable experience of having all children present for last week.

Over one hundred parents responded to the invitation to attend the Parents' and Teachers' meeting at the Lincoln school. Mr. Barbour took "The Report Card—What it Stands For" for his subject and explained carefully and fully just what its purpose is. He emphasized the fact that conduct, effort and attendance, three things not taken as seriously perhaps as the studies, were of the highest importance as they were what made a man successful or unsuccessful in his battle in the business world. After Mr. Barbour's talk a social period was indulged in, enjoyed very much by all.

Music was furnished by the eighth grade.



SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

A very successful entertainment was held in the vestry of the First Presbyterian Church, Water street, Wednesday evening and a large audience enjoyed the treat which was furnished by the members of the Bible school. Three speaking contests consumed the greater part of the evening, while the performances of the different musical contributors were greatly appreciated by those in attendance.

The opening number consisted of a mandolin, violin and piano trio by Louis Marini, Nelson Lamont, and Miss Margaret Morrison, and the applause that greeted this number was deafening. This was followed by a piano solo given by Hilton Marr, a youth of twelve years who acquitted himself in a manner worthy of professional talent. Miss Annie Heggie rendered a solo that evoked loud applause and a number by the quartet, composed of Miss Minnie Miller, Miss Helen Cummings, Wendell Clark and Everett Clark, was a source of special pleasure to all.

The first speaking contest next took place and the following competed: Minnie Flockhart, Dorothy Raleigh, Margaret Slavin and Kenneth McLean. Another number was contributed by the quartet and the following then took part in the second speaking contest: Misses Marion Walker, Edna Hennet, Laura Cumming, Eleanor Parsons, Lillian Tinney, Katherine Lamont, Bessie Cantlay and Agnes Raleigh. The following contestants were in the third speaking contest, Alexander Smart, Robert MacMillan and Robert Flockhart.

The competitors gave recitations and were judged by Mrs. James Marr. Mrs. John Cappaccioli and Mrs. Chas. Hutt.

After much deliberation, the prize in the first contest was awarded to Miss Margaret Slavin, in the second to Miss Lillian Tinney and in the third to Alexander Smart. The prizes consisted respectively of a parasol, a pocket book and a game.

A cornet solo by Wendell Clark, a reading by George Wilson, a duet by Miss Annie Cummings and Miss Florence Thompson, a solo by Miss Helen Cummings and a number by the quartet brought to a close an entertainment that was pronounced the best and most successful ever held by the members of the Sunday school.

—"We should do all in our power to make children happy," said Dr Charles P. Putnam at the Harvard medical school lecture, Sunday afternoon, "for unhappiness is paralyzing to the young mind. Happiness is not the only requisite for goodness, for we are not yet ready to reverse the old maxim. The happy child, however, is the one who is quick mentally, who is ready to study, to play and engage in anything new, while the unhappy child is morose, stupid and dull."—Medford Mercury.

FAVORS DAY OF REST

Berger Proposes a Plan In Interest of Government Employes

Washington, March 21.—Representative Berger of Wisconsin, Socialist, has taken up with the treasury department the matter of giving mechanical employes of the United States postoffice and subtreasury buildings, especially those at Boston, one day of rest in seven.

It appears from figures furnished by the treasury department that the elevator men alone work six days a week. The custodians of the various buildings are authorized so to arrange the hours of duty as to permit the absence of at least one employe on each Sunday and legal holiday provided the work can be properly performed without additional expense.

The men, however, are not satisfied, and want one day a week free regularly. Berger intends to push this matter and use his efforts to establish the six-day week throughout the government service.

ALLEN DENIES CONSPIRACY

Says Shooting Up of Court Came Unexpectedly to Him

Roanoke, Va., March 21.—"I did not start the firing. I did not know when Judge Massie pronounced sentence that there would be any shooting. It came unexpectedly to me. That there was a conspiracy is a damned lie."

This was Floyd Allen's first statement since the courtroom tragedy at Hillsville in which his relatives and friends killed judge, prosecutor and sheriff. He continued:

"Of course, when everybody else started shooting I got my pistol and joined in the fray. Why shouldn't I? It was in self-defense.

"My son Victor never fired a single shot. We both expect to be electrocuted. Our murder is as certain as the sun will rise tomorrow. But it will be plain murder if they put Vic in the chair. Me? Why, sure, I fired."

MAN WHO SHOT HUB BROKER IS INSANE

Criminal Court Judge Sends Lewinski to an Asylum

Boston, March 21.—Herman Lewinski, who shot Spencer R. Hill of Richardson, Hill & Co., in the firm's brokerage offices about two weeks ago, was committed as an insane person by Judge Brown of the superior criminal court. He will be taken to the insane hospital at Bridgewater.

Lewinski is 68 years old and unmarried. He had at one time been a customer of Richardson, Hill & Co. He believed that he had not been fairly treated by the brokers and is supposed to have brooded over his losses under this misapprehension until his mind became unbalanced.

Hill was not dangerously wounded, but only yesterday afternoon was he able to leave the City hospital for his home.

GAS FROM BROKEN MAIN

Explodes In a House, Causing the Death of Nine Persons

Scranton, Pa., March 21.—In a gas explosion caused, it is thought, by mine settlings, nine persons were killed and two injured in Dunmore. Two families, comprising two women and seven children, were either blown to pieces in the explosion or burned in the fire that followed and destroyed three houses.

The Dunmore police say that gas from a broken main, caused probably by the mine settlings, found its way into the cellar of the Cavella home, where it gathered in a dense volume and exploded when it came in contact with an oil lamp that was burning in the house.

AFTER SERVING TWO YEARS

Former Teller of Boston Bank Pardoned From State Prison

Boston, March 21.—Governor Foss has pardoned John H. Cullen of Boston, who was sentenced about two years ago for larceny. The pardon had the unanimous assent of the executive council.

Cullen was sent to state prison for from four to eight years for larceny of $1200 from the Union Institution for Savings, of which he had been receiving teller. During the proceedings the defalcations were shown to have been more than $8000.

STICK TO PLAISTED

Maine Democrats Hope He Will Be National Ticket

Boston, March 21.—Judge Hudspeth of New Jersey, Democratic national committeeman and personal friend of Governor Wilson, has been making a tour of Maine in the interest of Wilson's candidacy for the presidential nomination.

He reports that things look very well for Wilson there, but leading Democrats are not permitting the contest to take definite shape in the hope that Governor Plaisted may be able to secure strength for the second place on the ticket.

EXTERMINATING THE MOSQUITO

Hearing on Bill for Exterminating the Summer Pest

$1,000 WANTED

The Ways and Means committee of the House of Representives held a public hearing Wednesday in consideration of the bill of William N. Kenyon, of Quincy, which asks the State to expend the sum of $1000 in experimenting on means of exterminating the mosquito. This bill has already received the approbation of the Committee on Public Health and three members of that committee and also Rep. Leslie appeared to urge the Ways and Means committee to act favorably on Mr. Kenyon's bill. Senator Chace of Dighton; Dr. Benjamin P. Gifford, of Chatham; Dr. Norman P. Wood, of Northfield and Rep. Leslie of Quincy, all members of the legislature, spoke for the bill. The medical men told of the great danger that lurks in the germs of disease which the mosquitoes gather and disseminate, and said that statistics show, that the numbers of the pests in this part of the country are constantly on the increase. They all thought that it is high time the State took some steps toward devising means whereby the deadly germ carriers may be eliminated, or at least lessened in number.

Mr. Kenyon, who is a resident of Squantum is an ardent enthusiast over the spirit of his bill, and is sure that with the stipulated amount of money, the State, through the Board of Health, can experiment and successfully find some scheme that will meet the requirements of the health of the public.

SOUTH CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Men's club of the Congregational church, South Braintree, was held in the chapel Wednesday evening, supper being served at 6.45 o'clock. There was a menu provided both plenteous and satisfying and the way the viands disappeared was a verification of the old saying "the proof of the pudding" etc.

The speaker of the evening was W. G. Montgomery of Boston, state actuary of savings bank insurance, and his talk, which was very interesting and instructive, was on that form of insurance. Mr. Montgomery defined several forms of insurance and traced its beginning back to the friendly societies of England, the European guilds and gave examples of it in the Roman empire and in biblical history.

He told of the enormous holdings of the big insurance companies, the expense of such policies for the wage earner, especially in industrial insurance and thought the happy medium was the savings banks insurance policy. This he termed a constructive criticism against extravagance because it aided the working man, especially by giving him the same benefits for less money. In other words, this form of insurance is carried on by savings banks and while it gives practically the same results is operated at less expense to all concerned and is growing in popularity.

Mr. Montgomery spoke in a most interesting manner and at the close of his remarks answered several questions very clearly and at length. At the conclusion of the address, a short business meeting was held at which some suggestions were heard as to "ladies' night." A rising vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, the committee, the waiters and the ladies who assisted.

The committee in charge: Nelson E. Hayden, Louis Hathaway, T. E. Burke, C. R. Cummings, George W. Stevens and F. F. Tupper.

The ladies who assisted so acceptably were: Mrs. N. E. Hayden, Mrs. W. A. Torrey and Mrs. F. F. Tupper. The meeting was declared closed at 9.25 o'clock.

Prayers Were Answered

Cleveland, March 21.—Vincent Schlesinger, 78, died here ten minutes after the death of his wife, Elizabeth, 60. The couple had prayed that they might die together.

No Special Session In Illinois

Chicago, March 21.—Governor Dineen says he will not call a special session of the legislature to enact a preferential primary law.

☞We bake PRATT'S BREAD for you, your cousins, uncles and aunts.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

Silverware and Jewelry Given FREE

To Housewives Who Save Babbitt's TRADE-MARKS

The most liberal premium offering ever made—Save the trade-marks on the wrappers and labels of

B. T. BABBITT'S

Best Soap—1776 Soap Powder—Borax Soap
Naptha Soap—White Floating Soap—Pure Lye or Potash
Babbitt's Cleanser

Send us the number of trade-marks necessary for the article you select, and you can have, without spending one cent, any article you choose from a long list of Babbitt's Premiums: standard high quality jewelry, silverware, aluminum ware, leather goods, art embroidery, etc.

Everyone knows that the name Babbitt's on soaps guarantees quality like the word "sterling" on silverware. Each Babbitt product is the best of its kind—the most effective—the most economical. Every housewife should use Babbitt's modern household cleaners:—the premiums will save you money.

Coughlin & Donovan — Quincy, Mass.
Crothers & Seiders — Wollaston, Mass.
Johnson Bros. — Quincy, Mass.
R. E. Foy & Co. — Quincy Adams, Mass.

List of mailable premiums on request. Address all mail orders to

B. T. BABBITT, Inc., Box 1776, New York City

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

21—C. H. Johnson Lecture—Wol. School.
21—Self Denial Social—Hall Place M. E. Church.
21—Wollaston Methodist Club.
21—Ball— Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge—Alpha Hall.
21—Pickwick Club.
22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampment—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
18—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Entertainment—Q. Y Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.

Hawaiian Pineapple
Sovereign Brand

This brand of Pineapple is well known for its exceedingly high quality. The fruit that is put into the sanitary cans is perfect fruit, and put up in a very heavy syrup making a quality of canned fruit that is absolutely unapproachable. Being sliced it makes a delicious dessert and is delightful for afternoon teas.

Sovereign Brand, a can 25c

R. E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

March 20-2t

Use a Gas Range
- AND -
Gas Heater
And Save Coal Bills
PRICE OF GAS REDUCED
Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.
11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA-SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
E. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 18	11.10	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	11.45
Wednesday,	12.00	12.15
Thursday,	12.30	1.00
Friday,	1.15	1.45
Saturday,	2.00	2.30
Sunday,	2.45	3.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	23 degrees
Mar. 21, 1911,	45 degrees
Mar. 21, 1910,	40 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Councilman Abele leaves today for a brief business trip to New York.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith, nee Elinor Pinel, will regret to learn of the death of their son, born March first.

The special committee on Financial Investigation of the City Council met Wednesday evening and listened to a talk by Mr. Fenton of the state bureau of statistics.

Granville A. Sweetland of Orchard place has the sympathy of many in his bereavement, his daughter Edwina passing away on Tuesday. The passing out of a bright young life is a cross hard to bear.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the legislature are coming to Quincy tomorrow, Friday, afternoon to go over the route of the proposed boulevard from Wollaston beach to Hancock street. The committee will be accompanied by the special committee of the City Council.

Miss Elizabeth H. Perry of Spear street passed away suddenly Wednesday morning after an illness of several weeks. Her mother, and her devoted friend, Miss Lillie A. Hicks with whom she made her home have the sympathy of friends and neighbors. Funeral services will be held at the house on Saturday afternoon.

CHORAL REHEARSAL.

The regular Tuesday evening rehearsal of the Choral ociety was omitted this week on account of the business engagements of Conductor McConathy at his home in Louisville, Kentucky. However a large number of the class availed themselves of Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt's invitation to meet at her home instead and a very pleasant evening was spent in studying the Faust music.

The Fram Leaves Hobart

Hobart, Tasmania, March 21.—The Fram, in which Captain Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, recently made the voyage to the south, when he succeeded in discovering the South Pole, has sailed for Buenos Ayres.

☞What do American women think of the methods of their English sisters who are working for political equality? Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald of Boston will explain the reasons next Monday evening in Brasee hall, Wollaston. Everybody welcome to attend.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

The Whole World Is to Participate In the Great San Francisco Panama-Pacific Exposition In 1915

By HAMILTON M. WRIGHT.

THE whole world is interested in the opening of the Panama canal and in the great international fete at which the United States will celebrate the completion of the canal, the Panama-Pacific International exposition, to be held in San Francisco in 1915.

The proclamation of the president, issued by authority of congress, has been delivered through the instrumentality of the department of state to every quarter of the globe. Inquiries as to the exposition are pouring in upon the exposition management from all parts of the world. The nations of the world in recognition of America's great achievement at Panama are preparing for participation in the exposition upon a more comprehensive scale than at any of the greatest of former world's expositions.

The foreign nations will be represented by the finest assemblage of displays that the world has seen. The strange tribes and peoples of Pacific ocean countries will participate in a wonderful week's festival in which the nations of the orient will take part. The most marvelous parades ever witnessed will be seen on the streets of San Francisco.

The commonwealths of the United States, each of which as a member of the Union has taken its part in the building of the canal, will be represented by the most magnificent state displays ever assembled. California has dedicated more than $20,000,000 to the nation's fair, and the city of San Francisco, the west and the nation are cooperating to render the exposition one that will express in every way the pride and patriotism of the American people.

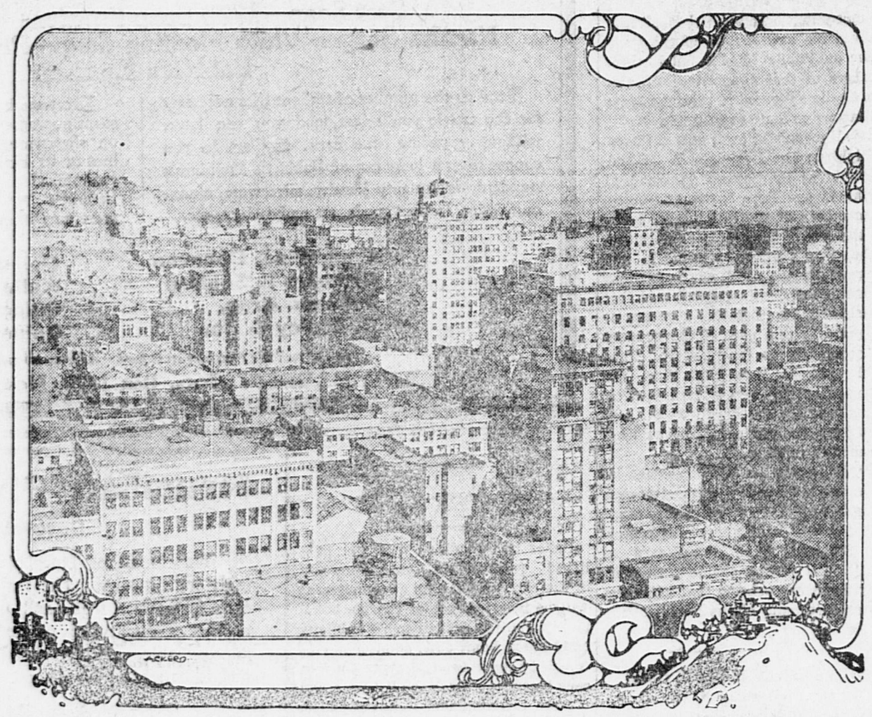
The Panama-Pacific International exposition will be the greatest exposition in the history of the world. A notable commission of architects of national reputation is engaged upon the plans, and within a few weeks first construction work will begin, when grading of the site and the building of a sea wall which will serve in part as the basis of a magnificent esplanade along San Francisco harbor, commences.

Among the noted architects who are designing the wonder city which will rise from the shores of San Francisco bay are Messrs. McKim, Mead & White of New York, designers of Madison Square Garden, the Boston Public library, the Agricultural building at the World's Columbia exposition; Thomas Hastings, president of Carrere & Hastings, architects in chief for the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo; Henry Bacon, designer of the Lincoln memorial; Willis Polk, associated with D. H. Burnham of the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago. These architects and their associates pronounce the site of the exposition as unsurpassed for a great maritime celebration. The exposition structures will be the largest and costliest ever erected for a world's exposition and will be visible in detail to passengers on ships entering the Golden Gate.

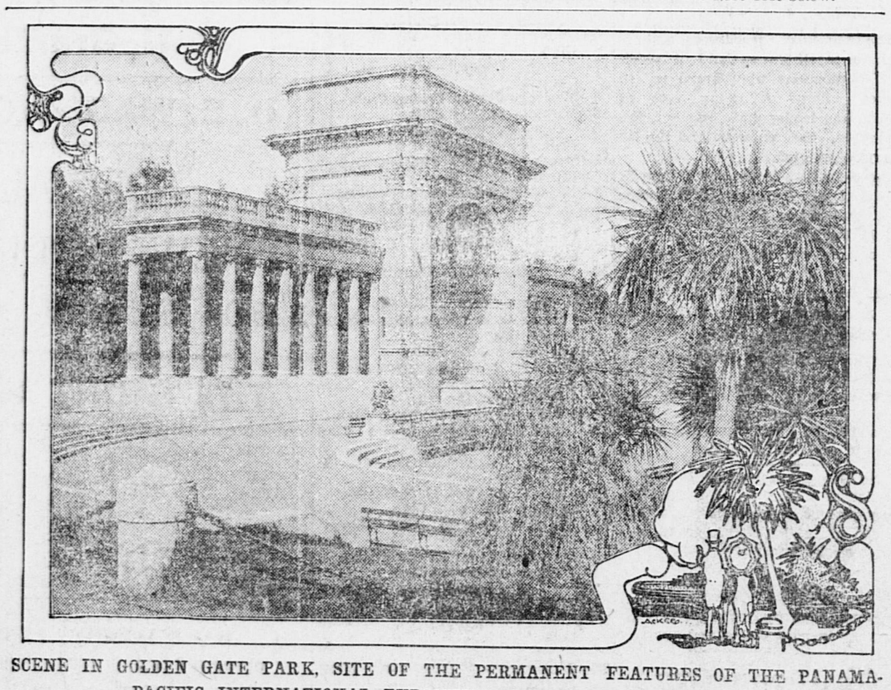
The site of the exposition takes every advantage of the combination of harbor and hills that gives San Francisco its chief charm. The main features of the exposition will be located at Harbor View, on San Francisco bay midway between the ferry building and the Golden Gate, and the permanent buildings to remain after the exposition is over will be erected in the west end of Golden Gate park, which fronts on the Pacific ocean. These sites and intermediate locations will be connected by a marine boulevard that sweeps from Harbor View through the Presidio to the Golden Gate and then turns south to Golden Gate park. A trackless trolley will take visitors over this magnificent scenic boulevard from Harbor View through the military reservation at the Presidio, where the government is planning a wonderful military display, to Golden Gate park, and one admission will include entrance to both features. The site expresses the maritime character of the great celebration. In harmony with the exposition San Francisco itself will be an exposition city in 1915. The parks and water front of the city will be improved at an expenditure of millions of dollars, and the ferry building, the main entrance to San Francisco, will be adorned with a grand court of honor. Market street and Van Ness avenue, the two main thoroughfares of San Francisco, each running from the bay and meeting in a V in the heart of the city, will be decorated with huge Grecian columns adorned with the flags of all the nations of the world and surmounted at convenient intervals by classic arcades. At the junction of these two streets will be erected a civic center. The buildings in this architectural group will cost close to $9,000,000. The nucleus of the civic center will be a new city hall to take the place of the one destroyed in 1906. The exposition authorities have voted the sum of $1,000,000 for a great auditorium to accommodate visitors to conventions during the exposition. A great opera house will be erected by private capital at the civic center, and the famous singers of the world will be heard in San Francisco in exposition days. Great saengerfests in which the choral societies of foreign countries participate will be held upon the exposition grounds.

The Panama-Pacific International exposition will open with a pageant in San Francisco harbor of the battleships of the navies of the world. The foreign vessels will first assemble at Hampton Roads, where, joined by ships of the American navy, the entire fleet will be reviewed by the president of the United States and foreign dignitaries. This fleet, the largest ever assembled, will then proceed through the Panama canal to the harbor at San Francisco, where it will participate in the most spectacular naval demonstration ever witnessed. San Francisco in 1915 will see the flags of more nations than have ever been brought together in one place at any one time. From unofficial assurances now received it is anticipated that 100 foreign battleships in addition to those of the United States navy will be gathered in San Francisco harbor.

A huge commemorative edifice, in purport like Bartholdi's statue of Liberty, will welcome vessels from afar. The structure, to be known as the St. Francis Memorial tower, will be 850 feet in height, with a base 220 feet square. The shaft will be eighty-five feet square, with corners rounded, and of steel construction and terra cotta veneering. The approximate cost of the tower will be $1,000,000. From its summit the sightseer will look almost straight down upon the waters of the Golden Gate, 1,300 feet below.



THE NEW SAN FRANCISCO, LOOKING OVER THE CITY TO THE HARBOR, SCENE OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION IN 1915.



SCENE IN GOLDEN GATE PARK, SITE OF THE PERMANENT FEATURES OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

BORDEN MILLS MAKE ADVANCE

Increase of Ten Percent In Seven Fall River Plants

OPERATIVES ASKED FIFTEEN

Expressed Dissatisfaction With Recent Raise of Five Percent—Other Manufacturers Expected to Follow Lead of Borden—Strikes For Higher Wages In Progress In Many Textile Centres of New England

Boston, March 21.—Another increase in the wages of textile employes, increasing the amount to 10 percent, is looked for in many quarters as a result of the action taken yesterday at the seven cotton mills of the Fall River Iron Works company, controlled by M. C. D. Borden of New York.

Notices were posted in these mills, by direction of Mr. Borden, announcing that on March 25 a wage advance of 10 percent will become operative. Five thousand employes are affected.

The Borden mill, in connection with other textile mills throughout New England, recently granted a 5 percent increase in wages, but this was not satisfactory to the operatives and after discussing the matter at length the Fall River Textile Council made a demand for 15 percent.

The Cotton Manufacturing association of that city, of which Borden is not a member, refused to make any further overtures, declaring more than a 5 percent increase impossible under present conditions. Superintendent Evans of the Borden mills, however, conferred with the owner and late yesterday made the offer of an additional 5 percent.

In many cities the operatives are far from satisfied with the 5 percent generally offered and, with the action of the Iron Works mills to encourage them, it is believed probable that there will be a general demand for an additional 5 percent or more.

On at least one previous occasion, a similar condition of affairs existed in Fall River and the other manufacturers of the city were quick to follow the lead of Borden when he doubled the general wage advance.

An uneasiness still pervades the textile centres of New England, in spite of the 5 percent advance which has been offered on every hand. Strikes are already on at Barre, West Warren, Newton, North Adams, Oxford and Gilbertville. Tomorrow the loomfixers of the Lancaster mills at Clinton will not report for work, and before the end of the week trouble is looked for at Ware and some other points.

Conditions are by no means settled at New Bedford, and much depends upon the attitude of the manufacturers and their willingness to follow the lead which may be set by the Fall River operators.

At Lawrence the Industrial Workers of the World claim to have 10,000 still out on strike against half a dozen mills which have not made satisfactory terms. That those who have returned are not all firmly established at their work was shown yesterday when 750 weavers employed in the Wood mill twice walked out because of fancied grievances.

The organized mill workers of Rhode Island, particularly about Pawtucket, also have expressed dissatisfaction at the offer of 5 percent advance. Similar conditions exist at many other points in New England.

Raises of 5 percent or better were announced yesterday in the Lancaster mills, Clinton, 1200 hands; Williamstown Manufacturing company, Williamstown; North Pownal Manufacturing company, North Pownal, Vt., 400 hands; Hoosac Worsted company, North Adams; Davis & Furber Machine company, North Andover, 800 hands.

HAS SEVEN HUSBANDS

Charge Against Woman Who Has Not Yet Been Suited

Philadelphia, March 21.—Mrs. Jennie Schwoyer, 29 years old, and good looking, the wife of an ice man, is in jail in Allentown on a charge that she has married seven men and has not been divorced from any of them. She declares she intends eventually to find a real husband if she has to marry six more.

Her first husband, Frank Miller, left her a widow at 21. Previous to her becoming the wife of her present spouse, she married John Gehris of this city, but left him after a year. Her other husbands she declares to be men of no account and not worth mentioning.

Had Read Six Thousand Novels

Pawtucket, R. I., March 21.—Mrs. Minerva Sanders, librarian emeritus of the public library, died here, aged 76. She was censor of books entering the library and had read 6000 novels, holding the record for the state.

$100,000 Fire In New Hampshire

Milton, N. H., March 21.—Fire destoyed the big mill of the Milton Leather Board company and caused a loss that will reach $100,000.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

EXCELLENT SEED CAKES.

SEED cakes may be as rich as you please. If you know how to make Madeira cake, proceed as for that, add caraway seed and serve.

A Rich Cake.

This recipe will provide a rather rich cake:

Spiced Seed Cake.—Use one pound of butter, six eggs, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, three-quarters of a pound of sifted sugar, pounded mace and grated nutmeg to taste, one pound of flour, three-quarters of an ounce of caraway seeds and half a cup of cream.

Beat the butter to a cream, dredge in the flour, add the sugar, mace, nutmeg and caraway seeds and mix these ingredients well together. Whip the eggs, stir to them the cream and beat the cake again for ten minutes.

Put it into a tin lined with buttered paper and take from one and a half to two hours.

Light and Sweet.

Raised Seed Cake.—Take a pound of flour, half a pound of butter, three quarters of a pound of powdered sugar, a half cup of good yeast, four tablespoonfuls of cream, nutmeg, a pinch of soda dissolved in hot water, two tablespoonfuls of caraway seed, one-fourth of a pound of citron shredded fine. Mix the flour, cream, half the butter (melted) and the yeast together, work up very well and set to rise for six hours.

When very light work in the rest of the butter rubbed to a cream with the sugar, the soda water, and when these ingredients are incorporated the seed and the citron.

Let it rise three-quarters of an hour longer until it almost fills the pans and bake steadily half an hour if you have put it in small pans, an hour if it is in large loaves.

Nursery Seed Cake.—This cake is so plain that it is wise to serve it to the children instead of one of the richer varieties. Put half a pound of flour into a bowl, then take three ounces of butter and rub it into the flour; add to this two ounces of sugar, a teaspoonful of baking powder, a teaspoonful of caraway seeds and mix all with a wooden spoon.

Break an egg into a cup and beat it up with a gill of milk, pour this into the dry ingredients and work all to a stiff paste; put in a greased tin and let it bake for an hour.

When the cake seems baked run a knife into the center of it, and if it comes out perfectly bright the cake is done. Set on its side on a sieve to cool.

EASTER CAKES.

ANGEL food or angel cake is appropriate for Easter. It is a cake that every one likes.

When the angel cake rises above the top of the pan the oven must be made hotter. When done it will fall back to the level of the pan when it may be taken from the stove. You may turn the pan upside down and let the cake cool. Then loosen with a knife and take out of the pan.

Reliable Recipes.

Angel Cake.—Sift a cupful of flour, mix with a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and sift several times. Take the whites of ten eggs and beat until stiff.

Add to the eggs ten ounces of granulated sugar and a teaspoonful of extract of vanilla.

Beat again. Now stir the flour in with the eggs to make a batter. This must be done quickly and deftly.

Take a cake pan having a funnel, cover the funnel and bottom of the pan with paper, pour in the mixture and bake about forty minutes.

Take out of the oven, loosen the cake and remove from the pan.

Rich Angel Cake.—Take one cupful of flour to one cupful and one tablespoonful of sugar, add one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a pinch of salt. Put all in a sieve and sift six times.

Beat the whites of twelve eggs very stiff. Slip the eggs off the platter into the mixing bowl, lightly stir in the sifted ingredients, adding one teaspoonful vanilla. Pour into an ungreased pan with a funnel. Do not let it stand after it is thoroughly mixed.

Bake Carefully.

Bake fifty or sixty minutes in a slow oven. Do not open the oven door until the cake has been in twenty minutes.

Do not jar the floor while cake is baking. When baked turn upside down until cold or until cake falls out.

This recipe calls for fewer eggs and is therefore a less expensive cake:

Plain Angel Cake.—Beat the whites of four eggs very stiff and add half a cupful of sugar, one and a half cupfuls of pastry flour, sifted several times to make it lighter; a little salt, a teaspoonful of vanilla, half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar.

Don't grease the tin, but when the cake is done stand tin on two dishes upside down until it falls out. Put a towel or soft cloth under it to drop on and turn it right side up at once.

Anna Thompson.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Quincy Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies to-day that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands. Here is proof:

Mrs. F. J. Reid, 81 West street, Waltman, Mass., says: "After suffering for many years with kidney complaint and spending a great amount of money for medicine without being helped, I was indeed gratified when Doan's Kidney Pills cured me so quickly. The pains in my back never ceased and I could not sleep well, getting up in the morning as tired as when I went to bed. I had begun to look bad and was growing despondent when I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills. Procuring a supply I began to use them and the contents of three boxes cured me.

The above statement was given on Oct. 6, 1908 and when Mrs. Reid was inteviewed on July 27, 1911, she said: "I have no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and I willingly confirm my former statement. I use this remedy occasionally when in need of a kidney remedy and always find relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name —Doan's—and take no other.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. McIvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER X.

Belle Plain.

"Now, Tom," said Betty, with a little air of excitement as she rose from the breakfast table that first morning at Belle Plain, "I want you to show me everything!"

"I reckon you'll notice some changes," remarked Tom.

He went from the room and down the hall a step or two in advance of her. On the wide porch Betty paused breathing deep. The house stood on an eminence; directly before it at the bottom of the slight descent was a small bayou, beyond this the forest stretched away in one unbroken mass to the Mississippi.

"What is it you want to see, anyhow, Betty?" Tom demanded.

"Everything—the place, Tom—Belle Plain! Oh, isn't it beautiful! I had no idea how lovely it was!" cried Betty, as with her eyes still fixed on the distant panorama of wood and water she went down the steps, him at her heels—he bet she'd get sick of it all soon enough, that was one comfort!

"Why, Tom! Why does the lawn look like this?"

"Like what?" inquired Tom.

"Why, this—all weeds and briers, and the paths overgrown?"

Mr. Ware rubbed his chin reflectively with the back of his hand.

"That sort of thing looked all right, Bet," he said, "but it kept five or six of the best hands out of the fields right at the busiest time of the year."

"Haven't I slaves enough?" she asked.

The dull color crept into Ware's cheeks. He hated her for that "I!" So she was going to come that on him, was she?

"Don't you want to see the crops, Bet?"

The girl shook her head and moved swiftly down the path that led from terrace to terrace to the margin of the bayou. At the first terrace she paused.

"It's positively squalid!" cried Betty, with a little stamp of her foot.

Ware glanced about with dull eyes.

"I'll tell you, Betty, I'm busy this morning; you poke about and see what you want done and we'll do it," he said, and made a hasty retreat to his office.

Betty returned to the porch and seating herself on the top step, with her elbows on her knees and her chin sunk in the palms of her hands, gazed about her miserably enough. She was still there when half an hour later Charley Norton galloped up the drive from the highroad. Catching sight of her on the porch, he sprang from the saddle, and, throwing his reins to a black boy, hurried to her side.

"Inspecting your domain, Betty?" he asked, as he took his place near her on the step.

"Why didn't you tell me, Charley—or at least prepare me for this?" she asked, almost tearfully.

"How was I to know, Betty? I haven't been here since you went away, dear—what was there to bring me? Old Tom would make a cow pasture out of the Garden of Eden, wouldn't he—a beautiful, practical, sordid soul he is!"

Norton spent the day at Belle Plain; and though he was there on his good behavior as the result of an agreement they had reached on board The Naiad, he proposed twice.

Tom was mistaken in his supposition that Betty would soon tire of Belle Plain. She demanded men, and teams, and began on the lawns. This interested and fascinated her. She was out at sun-up to direct her laborers. She had the advantage of Charley Norton's presence and advice for the greater part of each day in the week, and Sundays he came to look over what had been accomplished, and, as Tom firmly believed, to put that little fool up to fresh nonsense. He could have booted him!

As the grounds took shape before her delighted eyes, Betty found leisure to institute a thorough reformation indoors. A number of house servants were rescued from the quarters and she began to instruct them in their new duties.

Betty's sphere of influence extended itself. She soon began to have her doubts concerning the treatment accorded the slaves, and was not long in discovering that Hicks, the overseer, ran things with a heavy hand. Matters reached a crisis one day when, happening to ride through the quarters, she found him disciplining a refractory black. She turned sick at the sight. Here was a slave actually being whipped by another slave while Hicks stood looking on with his hands in his pockets, and with a brutal, satisfied air.

"Stop!" commanded Betty, her eyes blazing. She strove to keep her voice steady. "You shall not remain at Belle Plain another hour."

Hicks said nothing. He knew it would take more than her saying so to get him off the place. Betty turned her horse and galloped back to the house. She felt that she was in no condition to see Tom just at that moment, and dismounting at the door, ran upstairs to her room.

Meantime the overseer sought out Ware in his office. His manner of stating his grievance was singular. He began by swearing at his employer. He had been insulted before all the quarter—his rage fairly choked him; he could not speak.

Tom seized the opportunity to swear back.

"Sent you off the place, did she; well, you'll have to eat crow. I'll do all I can. I don't know what girls were ever made for anyhow, damned if I do!" he added.

Hicks consented to eat crow only after Mr. Ware had cursed and cajoled him into a better and more forgiving frame of mind.

Later, after Hicks had made his apology, the two men smoked a friendly pipe and discussed the situation. Tom pointed out that opposition was useless, a losing game; you could get your way by less direct means. She wouldn't stay long at Belle Plain, but while she did remain they must avoid any more crises of the sort through which they had just passed, and presently she'd be sick of the place.

She Instantly Recognized the Broad Shoulders.

In the midst of her activities Betty occasionally found time to think of Bruce Carrington. She was sure she did not wish to see him again! But when three weeks had passed she began to feel incensed that he had not appeared. She thought of him with hot cheeks and a quickening of the heart. It was anger.

Then one day when she had decided forever to banish all memory of him from her mind, he presented himself at Belle Plain.

She was in her room just putting the finishing touches to an especially satisfying toilet when her maid tapped on the door and told her there was a gentleman in the parlor who wished to see her.

"Is it Mr. Norton?" asked Betty.

"No, Miss—he didn't give no name, Miss."

When Betty entered the parlor a moment later she saw her caller standing with his back turned toward her as he gazed from one of the windows, but she instantly recognized those broad shoulders, and the fine poise of the shapely head that surmounted them.

(To be Continued.)

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

TO STOP WORK FIRST OF APRIL

Bituminous Miners Will Lay Down Tools on That Date

A TWO WEEKS' SUSPENSION

Decision as Result of Conference Between Operators and Workers at Cleveland—Neither Side Desires Long Period of Idleness—Owners Say That About 300,000 Men Will Remain at Work

Cleveland, March 21.—All the miners in the bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will shut down on April 1, and 200,000 miners will quit work for at least two weeks, according to the operators and miners' union officials, who conferred here.

It will not be a strike, they say, but merely a suspension of operations pending negotiations for a two-years' wage scale to follow the present one, which expires March 31.

The conference of eight operatives and eight union officials from each of the four states was convened by John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

White announced the miners' delegates had come to meet the operators on friendly terms, but they intended to adhere to their demands. The miners' demands as presented were:

Ten cents a ton increase for lump coal and the mining of all coal on a tonnage basis.

Seven instead of eight hours a day.

Five hours on Saturday instead of eight.

Pay every week instead of every two weeks.

The operators, headed by W. K. Fields of Pittsburgh, E. A. Cole of Columbus, O., P. H. Penna of Terre Haute, Ind., and H. M. Taylor of Chicago, representing state organizations, informed White that the demand equalling a 20 percent increase and was excessive.

It was pointed out by both sides that a strike or even a prolonged suspension of business was not desired.

Miners in several others states, it was said, would necessarily have to suspend business from lack of a basis upon which to fix their agreements, which also expire April 1.

The operators assert that a suspension of the mines which employ union men would still leave at work about 300,000 miners not enrolled by the union.

There is a possibility that the bituminous conference may result in action that will cause some change in the anthracite situation. Notwithstanding the anthracite operators and workers' failure to agree in the recent New York conference, no formal strike of the anthracite miners has been called, and, according to White, none will be called until after the meeting of the policy committee in Cleveland on March 25.

"The policy committee is composed of delegates from each of the twenty-five districts in the United States and Canada," said White. "Whatever the result of the bituminous conference, it will deal with the anthracite situation for the best interest of the whole organization."

BALFOUR TO THE FRONT

Appears In Commons in Opposition to Minimum Wage Bill

London, March 21.—The fate of the minimum wage bill seems to be trembling in the balance. A. J. Balfour will move the rejection of the bill in the house of commons today. The dramatic reappearance of Balfour in the role of leader of the Opposition is a great surprise.

The decision was taken at a meeting of prominent Unionists, including Austen Chamberlain, Walter H. Long and F. E. Smith, at which Andrew L. Bonar, who assumed the leadership on the retirement of Balfour last November, requested that the former leader undertake the duty of moving the bill's rejection.

VICTIMS OF OXALIC ACID

Another Death In Infants' Hospital Brings Number Up to Ten

New York, March 21.—Another baby died of oxalic acid poisoning at the Brooklyn Nursery and Infants' hospital, the tenth death due to the same cause.

The baby had displayed signs of oxalic poisoning at the time that Winifred Ankers, the woman of all work at the nursery, was arrested and charged by the police with having poisoned the babies.

The Ankers woman has since been indicted for murder, and is in jail pending her trial.

No Club License In No-License Towns

Boston, March 21.—The legislatvie committee on liquor law reported against a bill for the issuance of club licenses for the distribution of intoxicating liquor to members of clubs in no-license towns or cities. This bill affects Brookline and other places where there are country clubs.

LEADER OF THE MINERS

John P. White and Type of Men Who Will Strike

QUEEN MARY LAUNCHED

She Is England's Twenty-Fifth Dreadnought and Cost $10,305,320

London, March 21.—The Queen Mary, Great Britain's twenty-fifth dreadnought, was launched at Jarrow in the presence of thousands of spectators.

The new battle cruiser is of the same type as the cruiser Lion, which was launched in August, 1910, but she has a greater displacement and horsepower, which is given as 27,000 tons and 75,000 indicated horsepower respectively.

The Queen Mary is the largest warship yet built in Great Britain and her total cost amounted to $10,305,320.

Montani Gets Stiff Sentence

New York, March 21.—Gene Montani, the chauffeur who drove the taxicab in which two bank messengers were blackjacked and robbed of $20,000 in cash, and who was found guilty of highway robbery, was sentenced to from ten to eighteen years and two months in state prison.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 50 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Annie Gilooly, late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

JAMES F. BURKE, Executor.
(Address)
1372 Hancock street, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy.
March 8, 1912. 3t 8-14-21

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE, LOCKS and KEYS, DOOR BELLS, SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
98 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
284 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or loss one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-6t

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE—The furnishings of a 9 room house all rooms rented and in good location for keeping boarders and roomers. A few minutes walk from ship yard. Sell cheap if sold at once. Address X Ledger Office. 20-3t

FOR SALE—An American Radiator Co., steam boiler ideal type 175 sq-feet radiating surface. This boiler practically a new one last summer was installed to heat our kennels, has given such good satisfaction, that we are replacing it with one of the same type, but large enough to heat the house which is now heated by hot air. This boiler is now in operation and can be seen any time under working condition before it is let out for the summer. Price $35.00. Mayhurst Kennels, Curtis street, North Weymouth. 15-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

OPTICIANS, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee,, 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

WANTED—Large furnished room or two connecting rooms with board by lady and daughter (6) in modern private home. Wollaston preferred. Address D. Ledger Office. 9-tf

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Have You Tried The
X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

Read Ledger Advs.

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 16-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—Brand-new house of 6 rooms and bath on lower floor. Gas and electrics, oak floors, 4 m. to electrics, 10m. to station. Rent reasonable. Ready March 1st. Apply to Quincy Market, 1358 Hancock street. 19-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

MILTON HIGH TURNS TABLES

Defeats the Quincy High Team by a Score of 16 to 15

GOOD GAME

Members of the Milton high school basket-ball team reverted the tables on the Quincy high at Cunningham gymnasium, Milton, yesterday afternoon, winning 16 to 15. The game was marked by sensational playing on both sides and was conceded to have been the best ever witnessed in Milton between two high school teams.

A goal from free try by D. O'Hearn at a most critical stage of the game was responsible for the defeat sustained by the local players. The home team expressed regret at being without the services of Captain Daniel O'Connell, but it is doubtful if his services would have enabled Milton High to roll up a larger score.

The local players failed to perform in their usual brilliant style when it came to a question of shooting baskets and even Harry Trask, who has proved himself the most consistent shooter this season for Quincy High secured only one basket from the floor.

Yet he played the best game for Quincy High and displayed great efficiency in getting goals from free tries, no fewer than nine being made as a result of his keen eye for the net. He made eleven of the fifteen points credited to his team.

Finlay and Chapman also managed to get one goal apiece from the floor. Johnson was the star of the game in blocking. He was pitted against Carson, one of the foremost members of the Milton contingency and for the first time this season prevented him from registering a basket.

The playing on both sides was about even throughout the game and Milton High managed to keep in the lead at all stages.

Tomorrow afternoon, the local players face Franklin High in the final game of the season and as Coach Staff is highly optimistic as to the outcome, a large crowd will surely be on hand to help Quincy High bring its basket ball season to a close in a most fitting manner. The summary:

MILTON H S		QUINCY H S
Walsh rf		lb Holmes
Carlson lf		rb Johnson
Leary c		c Trask
Stanley rb		lf Chapman
		lf McDonald
O'Heron lb		rf Finlay

Score. Milton H. S. 16. Quincy H. S. 15. Goals from floor, Leary 4, O'Heron 2, Trask, Finlay, Chapman. Goals from fouls. Carson, Leary 2, O'Heron, Trask 9. Referee, Anderson. Scorer, Poole. Timer, Cummings. Time 20m halves. Attendance 250.

LENTEN DEVOTIONS.

Lenten devotions, consisting of the rosary, sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrement were held in St. John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches, Wednesday evening and both edifices were fully taxed. The music in both churches was furnished by the regular choirs.

At St. John's church the speaker was Rev. Fr. John P. Cuffe, of Atlantic, while Rev Henry T. Grady, the pastor preached the sermon in St. Mary's church.

Special services were also held at Christ church, the speaker being Rev. Marcus Carroll, of St. Andrew's church, Hudson.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

In an endeavor to turn out of the way of an approaching vehicle, the automobile belonging to the Johnson Lumber Company, driven by chauffeur John Melville, struck tree, in the vicinity of Washington and Elm streets shortly before noon Wednesday. hTe automobile was so badly damaged it was taken to the Central garage for repairs. Mr. Melville averted a serious acident by bringing the automobile to a quick stop.

DEATHS

BAILEY.—In Quincy, March 21. Harriet W., widow of Hanson Bailey, in her 95th year. Funeral services at her late home, 20 Fort street, Sunday, March 24 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend. 2t 21-23.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

INTERNOS CLUB BARN PARTY

Although one of the young ladies in charge was reluctant to give any information a Ledger reporter chanced upon a member of the committee whose opinion was just the opposite and as a result it was learned that the Internos club conducted a very successful barn party in Colonial hall, Wednesday evening. All were attired in farm costumes of a varied sort and barn yard decorations were much in evidence. It was a most enjoyable time.

The dance order, which was in the form of an ear of corn, consisted of 20 barn dances. Music was furnished by Wilson's orchestra. Refreshments were served during a short intermission. The affair concluded at midnight.

The following committee was in charge: Misses Algernie Keane, Gladys Pinel, Mary Gardner, Anna Pearson, Agnes F. Souter, Ethel Booth, Christina Booth, Bertha Pearson, Ruth Dole, Florence Jones, Elsie Lawrence and Florence Pratt.

HIT BY STONE NOT A BULLET

Fred Rennie, whom it was reported had accidentally shot the 9 year old Renzie boy in the back of the head with a 22 calibre rifle denies the story. It is claimed that, while the boys had a rifle with them the damage to the Benzie boy's head was caused by a stone thrown by one of the younger boys. The stone made a hole in the boy's head and he at first thought he had been hit with a rifle bullet and so informed his mother.

He was taken to Boston, Wednesday and the X-ray put on the wound but nothing was found. The attending physician says no serious results will follow the injury.

GET-TOGETHER CLUB.

At the Get-Together club of Memorial church Wednesday evening there was the usual large attendance. The committee of arrangements were George Deans, Henry Hallett and William Buckley.

The entertainment started off with baritone solos by William F. Cummings, who sang, "Three For Jack" and "The Monk." J. W. Houstan sang two tenor solos: "In the Garden of My Heart" and "I Love You Dear."

William Northrop as sketch artist showed the seven ages on the black board. Those of all ages played "Going to Jerusalem" and "The Mouse." After which pie and coffee were served by the committee.

SOCCER FOOTBALL.

The Fore River soccer team journeyed to Cambridge Wednesday and took the Harvard team into camp by a score of 6 to 4. During the first half of the game the play was fast and even, the period closing with a score of 2 to 2. The Harvards seemed to weaken however in the last period and went to pieces.

Harrison of the Fore River was the star of the game scoring five of the six goals. Lack of team play was a noticeable weakness with the Harvard team.

BRIEFS

Jacob Dizen is spending the week with the daughter, Mrs. M. F. Baker, of Walker street.

E. E. Willey, who has been at home since January has started on his spring business trip.

Clifton Young of Prospect street is to give a dance in Brazee hall on the 8th of April.

Fred Hager and family of Sagamore street are to move to Philadelphia on Friday. They will be greatly missed by Atlantic friends.

The prizes at the Granite City club whist tournament Wednesday evening were captured by S. T. MacQuarrie and James H. Lalley.

Mrs. Mary Thomas of Granite street reports that she has had 150 snow drops in bloom for several days and that Wednesday her blue and yellow crocuses bloomed.

The Mission Circle of the Universalist church holds a food and candy sale Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Fannie E. Austin, 10 Washington street.

Cards are out for the wedding reception on April third of Miss Hazel Luella Ruggles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eben J. Ruggles of Neponset, and Stanley Warren Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Ferguson of Atlantic, formerly of Wollaston.

THE BARACCAS AND GLEANERS

A concert was held Wednesday evening at the Swedish Baptist church under the auspices of the young people of the church, namely, The Baraccas and the Gleaners. Much credit is due the committee who worked diligently to make the affair a success.

The concert began at seven-thirty o'clock with singing by the choir, followed by scripture reading and a talk by Rev. Mr. Backlund of Boston. A recitation by the promising young elocutionist, Miss Anna Bjorkman of Norfolk Downs, was given, and at its conclusion so warmly applauded, she responded with another. Then folowed a vocal solo by Joseph Upling, which was so heartily applauded he responded to an encore, giving a whistling solo, accompanied by the piano, in which he represented a cuckoo. This was so good he was forced to again respond and gave an imitation of a cornet. Much praise was given Mr. Upling for his great skill. Songs rendered by a single and double quartet were much enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the first part of the program, refreshments were served in the basement. The room was artistically decorated with nile green crepe paper, and the three long tables were very unique. Souvenirs were at each plate, and during the lunch, speeches were made, and two more selections given by Miss Bjorkman.

The affair was a great success, and those who worked so faithfully, are to be congratulated.

MRS. HARRIET W. BAILEY.

Mrs. Harriet W. Bailey, widow of Hanson Bailey, and one of the oldest, if not the oldest, ladies in Quincy passeed away this morning at her home 20 Fort street after an illness of some duration due largely to infirmaties incident to old age.

Mrs. Bailey was born Feb. 26, 1818 and has always made her home in Quincy and has seen the small town grow to a thriving city. She was prominently identified with Bethany church and was a constant attendant when her health permitted.

Her husband was one of the firm of Hanson & Bailey, carpenters and builders and during their active carear constructed many of the substantial houses in this town. They also at one time operated a lumber mill which was located along side of Town brook at the junction of School, Pleasant and Fort streets.

Mrs. Bailey leaves two daughters, Mrs. James W. Pierce and Annie W. Bailey. The funeral will be held from her late home Sunday at 2.30 P. M.

MERRIHEW—COBLEIGH.

News comes to Wollaston of the marriage at Nashua, N. H., on March 18th of Miss Alice Lydia Cobleigh to Edward Carlton Merrihew of Lebanon, N. H. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Eugene Cobleigh and for a number of years has resided with her sister Mrs. Richard Jacobs of Wollaston. Mr. and Mrs. Merrihew will be at home to their friends in Lebanon after April first.

COUNCIL SPECIAL.

Mayor Stone has called a special meeting of the City Council for next Monday evening. There are two matters stated in the call. To receive and act on the appointment of members of the advisory board and to receive and act on the report of the Finance Committee on the annual budget.

AFTER THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Unless the management of Quincy High decides to play Brockton High the schedule of the local basketball team will come to a close tomorrow afternoon in the gymnasium of Quincy High school where the atraction will be offered with the strong Franklin High aggregation. The local boys have already been defeated by the Franklin team this season, but owing to the fact that the game, when played at Franklin, was governed by collegiate rules, the Granite City players feel confident that under their regular rules of playing they can turn the tables.

The game will undoubtedly be one of the best of the year and the manager of the team is prepared to accommodate the largest crowd of the season. On this game, the question of chmpionship interscholastic basket ball team of the state, will greatly depend, as the local team has taken the measure this season of the fastest teams to be found in schoolboy circles. Milton High is now out with a defy to meet all comers for the title, but as Quincy High has a better record than the Milton players, it does not seem as if the claims of this latest aspirant to honors carry much weight.

Man on the Wire

Kathleen stirred uneasily in the big chair by the fire. A fitful wind had blown up to disturb a calm twilight.

The girl glanced up at the clock and stifled a sigh. Her parents would not return for another two hours and Kathleen had begun to feel the loneliness of being in a house in the country with only a little yellow dog for companionship.

Even Mike had grown restless as he snoozed by the fire and Kathleen watched his little body tremble with inward growls as the creeking of a door or the gentle tapping of branches on the window disturbed his slumber.

"Mike, if you were not such a nice little yellow dog I would wish you were a Great Dane or some ferocious beast so that I wouldn't feel so spooky.

Kathleen turned again to her magazine but the steadily rising wind began to play havoc with her nerves and when the telephone clashed a loud ring she sprang from her chair in sheer fright.

Kathleen went to the telephone but no answer rewarded her. The number had not been rung, Central informed her.

She returned to her chair but before she had seated herself another sharp ring startled her. Again no one had called the number. Kathleen spoke with asperity to Central.

"The telephone certainly rang!"

"Probably it is the wind," came back from Central and Kathleen hung up the receiver.

She went to her chair determined not to be disturbed again.

The imperious ring did not come but a gentle, regular tinkling of the bell continued.

Mike still growled inwardly but Kathleen became absorbed in her story.

Gradually, however, she became conscious that while the wind had abated there still continued that maddening tinkle of the telephone bell.

Switching on the lights as she went Kathleen made her way to the back of the house and there her nerves again played her false.

A low sound, much as of some one calling, came from the outside world. Mike set up a deafening bark.

A distinct "Hello" now came through the window. Kathleen gathered all her courage and peered out. The light from the room streamed full force on a man's face.

"Who is there?" she called out.

In a semi-conscious way Kathleen's eyes had traveled beyond the man and she saw, there in the great oak branches, that which had once been an airship.

"I am here—just now," came in a weak but deep voice, "I am hanging by my—belt—when that gives out—"

"Oh!" Kathleen had vanished from the window and now with Mike close at her heels she came swiftly from the kitchen door.

"I will get you the step ladder!" She called to the man.

Kathleen struggled there in the moonlight with the great ladder and even in his almost tragic position Granger had the power to admire the sure, swift movement of the little figure.

It was with a superhuman effort that he managed to get his feet planted on the ladder the girl held beneath him.

When he reached the ground he toppled over. "my breath—it's almost gone—" He lay still for a moment and the girl bent over him.

"I'll be all right—in a minute—when my diaphragm gets to working." He sat up. "You saved my life," he said and looked wonderingly into her face.

"I was out—like an idiot—for a short moonlight sail in the air," the man explained. "It was calm when I started but that wind—" He cast a rueful glance at the huge wreck in the tree. "I must have hung by that leather belt for fifteen minutes. I could, by swinging, touch some wires."

A silvery laugh rang out. "You certainly did touch some wires."

The man echoed her laugh and it did not seem strange to Kathleen that she was sitting in the back garden with a perfectly strange man.

"It has been an experience," Granger remarked, "but one that I do not care to try again."

"I am forgetting," Kathleen said with quick thought, "that you may be badly in need of—"

"No, no—that is too much to ask—after you have saved my life," Granger exclaimed and arose to his feet.

Kathleen was silent a moment, then she looked up at the man. "I believe—I am a little afraid to go back in the house—alone," she said shyly, "and the fire in the sitting room needs another log. They are very heavy logs and there are some fresh doughnuts in the house and—"

"Please don't say any more—" laughed Granger.

She continued. "I am going to make some coffee and wait up for mamma and papa so that I can hear all about the play." She drew close to Granger. "I hate to do all these things alone."

"I am Tom Granger," he said and kept his voice steady, "and completely at your service."

Kathleen smiled and stooped quickly to pick up the little yellow dog.

"Mike," she said breathlessly, "tell Mr. Granger that your name is Mike and that you belong to Kathleen McVicker."

Excess Horsepower and Capacity

While most trucks are powered only to handle listed capacity, KisselKar Trucks are provided with reserve of power to handle excess loads and to master all road conditions—hills, snow, mud and sand and the difficulties of alleys and freight yards, etc. KisselKar Trucks have the reserve of strength to meet the occasions when unusual demands necessitate unusual loading. This excess horsepower and excess capacity increase the hauling economy of KisselKar Trucks over average trucks.

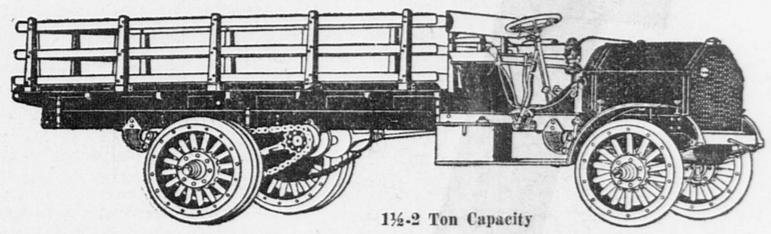
KISSELKAR TRUCKS

1500 lb, 1 TON 2 TON, 3, 4, 5 TON TRUCKS, DELIVERY WAGONS, OMNIBUSES, AMBULANCES, ETC.

In competitive test the KisselKar Truck has demonstrated itself to be from 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. more economical of gasoline than average trucks.

The KisselKar lock on the differential eliminates the cause of stalling frequent in other trucks due to the traction wheel slipping on ice, snow, in mud or hole.

The simplicity of the motor, and the positively driven, easily regulated oiling system result in the good service this truck will give at the hands of the average driver.



1½-2 Ton Capacity

Plenty power for an extra pull or speed

The fourth geared-up speed enables fast running and time-saving when empty without racing the engine—the direct drive on third speed delivers the full engine power without waste when running loaded.

Bring us your delivery problems. We will show you the KisselKar Truck that will economically solve your haulage and delivery problems. KisselKar Truck Catalog on request.

S. SCAMMELL & SONS, Agents, 116 Quincy Avenue

CLUB IS NOW FREE FROM DEBT

There was a kind of jollification meeting of the Town River Yacht club Wednesday evening at the clubhouse. At this meeting the winner of the boat sold by tickets was announced. The Commodore also imparted the good news to members that all bills against the club had been paid; that the mortgage on the clubhouse had been liguidated and that there was a good cash balance in the treasury.

Although this club has been incorporated but a short time it has made rapid strides and is now on a firm footing. Is something to be proud of that they have been enabled to purchase and furnish a clubhouse and be entirely free from debt. Much of the credit for this condition is due to the efficient work of Mayor Stone who was the club's first Commodore.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A party was tendered Misses Mildred and Maud Jones at their home 58 River street in honor of their eleventh birthday. Games were enjoyed the first part of the evening. A duet was rendered by Misses Irene and Margaret Pitts. Ice cream and cake were served. The Misses Jones received a lot of pretty presents. Among those present were Irene Pitts, Margaret Pitts, Lillian Dorly, Edith Lee, Florence Huber, Bessie McBrain, Bessie raham, Matie Graham, Jessie Graham, Marjorie Myer, Angus Matherson, Jessie Marr and Mable Marr, Doris Jones, Albert Jones and Nellie Jones.

SEVERE SENTENCE.

One of the severest sentences imposed by the district court in a long time was meted out by Judge Avery this morning when he imposed a fine of $100 and three months in the house of correction to Ernest M. Shea who was charged with conducting a common liquor nuisance.

The evidence against Shea, who conducts a lunch room on Wollaston hill was obtained by Acting Inspector Goodhue and the case was presecuted by him before the court. J. J. McAnarney represented the government and Frank A. Tirrell the defendant. In imposing the court said that it was one of the worst cases of a nuisance that had ever come before him.

RICH WOMAN COULD NOT STAND DISGRACE

Hangs Herself After Being Arrested For Smuggling

New York, March 21.—Mrs. Edwin Carson, wealthy widow of a prominent San Francisco physician, who confessed to smuggling into this port gems worth $20,000, committed suicide by hanging herself from the window of her room in the eighth floor of the Hotel Broztell.

Before her suicide she wrote a letter to her brother, Paul R. Mabury, a banker of Los Angeles, saying:

"I could not stand the disgrace of my arrest. I had to work out my own salvation and I know of no other course. Please forget about it."

Passersby in Fifth avenue saw the woman's body dangling from the end of the rope and notified the hotel management.

Mrs. Carson reached here Monday on the steamship George Washington. After her arrest she was released on $2000 bail until Friday.

SUES FOR $100,000

Bob Fitzsimmons Charges Student With Breaking Up His Home

Chicago, March 21.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion, has filed suit for $100,000 in the circuit court against John M. Taylor, charging alienation of affections.

"We claim that Taylor, who is a comedian, has broken up the home of Fitzsimmons and has alienated the affections of Fitzsimmons' wife," said Attorney Young.

Several days ago Fitzsimmons and Taylor engaged in an encounter with the result that Taylor sued Fitzsimmons for $50,000, charging assault and defamation of character. Taylor is a student at the University of Chicago.

Murderer Pays Death Penalty

Dannemora, N. Y., March 21.—Salvatore Caruso, leader of a gang of highwaymen who held up and murdered Denton Fowler and George Ragsdala near Hudson on Sept. 3, 1910, was electrocuted at Clinton prison.

The people who have to drive much over the country roads nowadays are anxiously asking what progress has been made in draining the Florida Everglades.

WIN FOR LYCEUM.

The Lyceum Athletic Association basketball team defeated the Station Athletic club from West Quincy, Tuesday evening in the Lyceum hall, Houghs Neck by a score of 22 to eight. The game throughout was fast and well contested and was witnessed by a large crowd.

The feature was the shooting of Southwick who caged five baskets. The line up:

LYCEUM A. A		STATION A. C.
Jennings rf		rf Reardon
Southwick lf		lf Little
Coughlan c		c Duggan
Baird rb		rb Scanlon
Tobin, lb		lb Hunter

Referee, H. Trask
Timer, J. Dever.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To George Miller and George P. Martin of Quincy in said County of Norfolk and Francis Martin of Chicago in the State of Illinois.

Whereas, Alice W. McGrail of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, has presented to said Court a petition representing that she holds as tenant-in-common four undivided seventh parts or shares of certain real estate lying in Quincy in said County of Norfolk, and described in said petition; and, as said real estate cannot be advantageously divided, praying that partition may be made among the tenants-in-common according to law; and that the commissioner who may be appointed to make said partition be ordered to make sale and conveyance of said real estate at private sale in accordance with an offer named and to distribute the net proceeds thereof. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1192, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested who can be found within the Commonwealth, fourteen days at least before said Court; and, if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t 21-28-4

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 70 QUINCY, MASS, FRIDAY EVENING MARCH 22 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

CONTEST FOR DELEGATES

Tenth District Republicans to Have a Hot Contest

NAMES MENTIONED

According to all reports there is a hot contest on for the election of delegates to the national convention, in the Tenth district of which Quincy is a part. According to what is known as the machine, the Taft delegates are H. Clifford Gallagher of Milton and Guy A. Ham of Boston, with the Roosevelt delegates are William D. Willcutt and either James D. Henderson, Raymond P. Delano, George H. Wyman, Frank L. Brier or Willard Casey all of Boston.

There is a persistent rumor however that other names will appear on the official ballot as Taft delegates, one of whom will be ex-Mayor Chas. M. Bryant of Quincy. The appearance of the name of Guy Ham on the ticket has brought out the old Ham, and anti-Ham element in Dorchester and with a third man in the field it is not among the impossibilities that Mr. Bryant may win out.

So far as Quincy is concerned, however, there does not seem to be much interest either, for Taft or Roosevelt. Quincy is the little end of the stick in the tenth district and would have but little to say on any of the important matters. When she moves into the fourteenth district there may be some chance for a Quincy man to win out occasionally.

OPERATION OF THE TELEPHONE

Interesting Lecture on its History and Operation

BEFORE MEN'S CLUB

Members of neighboring clubs were guests of the Wollaston Methodist Men's club, Thursday evenng when W. C. Banberg of the New England Telegraph and Telephone company delivered a stereopticon lecture upon "The telephone—Its history and operation."

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were heard and the monthly issue of the Wollaston Herald was read by S. N. Belcher. George Taylor had some humorous charges to make against different members.

The speaker of the evening opened his talk with a short biography of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. His studies into the properties and possibilities of acoustics were related, each successive research leading him nearer to the inception of the instrument which bears his name.

Bell first exhibited his invention at the centenial in 1876 and on October 9th of that year the first reciprocal conversation was carried on between the workshop of Charles Williams in Boston and his home in Somerville. The first long distance talk was made 45 days later between Boston and Salem.

(Continued on Page Three.)

MAYOR STONE LEADS MARCH

Seventh Annual Ball of Quincy Loyal Orange Lodge

ALPHA HALL

The stormy weather Thursday evening did not prevent a large attendance at the seventh annual concert and ball of Quincy Loyal Orange lodge. The affair was held in Alpha hall and was participated in by upwards of seventy-five couples. From 8 to 9 o'clock Wilson's orchestra gave a promenade concert, their numbers including the following:

March—"Miss Liberty" Leroy
Overture—"Poet and Peasant" Suppe
Concert Waltz—"Sweet Reflections" Martin
Xylophone Solo Selected
Gerald Sullivan
Finale—"Call of America" Mehden

In the mean time the participants were arriving at the hall and their wants were carefully looked after by an efficient reception committee. Among the early arrivals was Mayor Stone, the honored guest of the evening. Pressing business at City Hall however did not permit of His Honor remaining long after the opening march.

The march was very prettily executed. It was led by the Floor Director, Andrew Stewart and daughter, Miss Mary Stewart who were followed by His Honor, Mayor Stone and Miss Elizabeth Budd. Then came Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dahl and upwards of forty couples.

The march over, general dancing was in order until 1 o'clock. During a brief intermission, at 11 o'clock refreshments were served in Union hall.

The officers of the ball were as follows:

Floor Director—Andrew Stewart.

Assistant Floor Director—Murdock Gillis.

Aids—Dr. John H. Anderson, Agathen Weedman, Charles Dahl, Wilbur Wynot, A. T. Sinnerburg, James Freeborn, George Jones.

Reception Committee—Willard B. Jones, Charles Ericson, Richard Rundle, Gustaf Lundburg.

Committee of Arrangements—Gustaf Lundburg, Chairman, Herbert A. Sproul, Secretary, Andrew Stewart, A. T. Sinnerburg, George Lyons, Joseph Harron, Richard Rundle, Chas. Dahl, Dr. John H. Anderson, Agathen Weedman, John Whiteway, Murdock Gillis, W. B. Jones, George Jones, John Harvey, James Freeborn, Chas. Ericson, Wilbur Wynot.

MRS. GURNEY'S LAST LECTURE

Tells of the Life and Writings of Margaret Deland

SOCIAL TEA FOLLOWS

It was a most delightful afternoon on Wednesday at the clubhouse when members of the Quincy Women's club were guests of the Literature committee at the last lesson in modern Literature by Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney. When Mrs. John O. Short, chairman, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Gurney the room was filled with an audience which after the lecture gave enthusiastic evidence of its appreciation. Margaret Deland was Mrs. Gurney's subject and she said in part:

"Margaret Wade Campbell, the novelist, was born at Allegheny, Penna., in 1857. She was most carefully educated in ethics, morally and religiously, and with a strong sense of duty. Her mother was an Episcopalian but her father, a Presbyterian, ruled the home.

"She was married in 1880 to Lorin F. Deland of Boston where she has since resided. Her marriage has been a happy one and most of her books are dedicated to her husband. She says he has been her wisest and truest critic which must have been a great help to her, coming from one who loves and knows her best.

"At an early age she wished to do something for the public. She says herself she had not then made up her mind whether she would be a circus rider or a missionary. We who live in New England are proud of Margaret Deland's writings; the relations are so personal, her achievements seem like those of a dear friend. Many know her personally. She lectured here at the clubhouse in 1907 on 'The Value of the Novel.' We all know about her daffodil sale each year for charity and we have a personal pride in her having made of herself a successful writer as were Margaret Fuller Emerson, Longfellow, Whittier, Holmes and Lowell.

"Ethics was greatly discussed in her own household, her father did not wish her to publish 'John Ward, Preacher,' offered to give her an equivalent to all her royalties, but with her uncle, Dr. Campbell's approval the book was published in 1888." Mrs. Gurney gave a brief sketch of the book.

"Mrs. Deland also published a volume of poems 'The Old Garden' which are pleasant and agreeable, a greater novel than 'John Ward' has 'Philip and his Wife.' No one has touched as Margaret Deland the divorce problem." Mrs. Gurney sketched the book.

"All her scenes are laid in Old Chester, Penna., and she has done for that place what Mrs. Gaskell and Jane Austen have done in the same class. Some of her short stories are 'Old Chester folks,' 'Dr. Lavender's people,' 'The story of a Child,' etc. She has a charming diction, keen sense of humor, says clever things, and is emphatically a preacher.

"The Law and the Gospel" was much talked about, and Mrs. Gurney read from the book.

'As a piece of literature,' Mrs. Gurney said "Helen Ritchie" was her greatest and in her usual charming manner sketched the book. The characters in "The Iron Woman" are great and strong her children attractive, her ideal of duty, the moral problem, etc, all make one feel that she had in her mind a purpose. Mrs. Gurney's reading from the book was as usual a delight and the characters as well as the artistic merits were discussed.

A social tea followed the lecture. The centerpiece of the tea table was a gorgeous potted cineraria in a cut glass dish. Mrs. John W. Sanborn Mrs. Maurice P. Spillane poured tea and coffee which with delicious homemade cake and crackers were served by Mrs. John O. Short, Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mrs. B. F. Bowles, Mrs. Frank S. Davis, Miss Edith Randall, Mrs. W. M. Southworth, Mrs. John Christiansen, Mrs. Frank A. Emery, Mrs. Edward E. Jameson, and Mrs. Williams Ward Whitcher.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

ENTERTAINING TRAVEL TALK

Journey Through Foreign Lands is Vividly Described

FOR BUILDING FUND

A most entertaining travel talk entitled "Memorable days in other lands" was given by Mrs. William E. Hingston in the vestry of the Park and Downs Congregational church Thursday evening.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Missionary society for the benefit of the church building fund and in spite of the stormy night was attended by a large number.

The lecture was divided in two portions and during the intermission and at other times during the evening piano selections by Miss Emily Bjorkman were enjoyed as were vocal solos by Mrs. Gammons accompanied by Mrs. Russell.

Mrs. Hingston opened her talk with a description of the voyage across the Atlantic and the quaint journey through Ireland with the jaunting cars, Blarney stone and picturesque ruins

Rural England was described as a beautiful park, with its miles of green hedge-rows and charming lakes Scotland was described at length and the amusing experiences encountered there.

London with its many buildings of interest was brought vividly to view The English parliament in session, Windsor Castle, Stratford, all passed in succession.

Paris was looked upon as brilliant and magnificent beside the buildings of dingy London. Here the strange customs of the people, the imposing buildings and the famous art galleries impressed one.

Brussels, Cologne, Mayence, Strasburg, were passed through and Lucerne was reached, with its ideal lake and the view of the snow capped Jungfrau in the distance.

Geneva with its Swiss chalets and the trip through Mt. Cenis tunnel to sunny Italy were novel.

The cathedral at Milan, the gondoliering at Venice and the Campanile at Florence were all enjoyed.

Rome, the Vatican and the Catacombs was taken in and from there by the way of Naples and Pompeii the route was laid to Greece.

Here the quarantine laws were encountered and five days had to be spent in Corfu harbor. Embarking from there and sailing through the Ionion Sea, Athens was reached by way of Patras.

The Greek dress was described as unique and the fruits as delicious. The excitement was related as the Acropolis with the Parthenon gracing its crown came into view.

Leaving Athens for the five thousand mile journey home as straight a course as possible was laid for Antwerp the port of sailing.

Up the eastern coast of Italy to Bologna back through Lucerne and Brussels to Antwerp the steamer Westernland" was boarded and America reached after an ocean voyage.

The entire lecture was filled with intimate descriptions of the people and personal experiences and anecdotes which added much to the pleasure of the listeners.

MISS ELIZABETH H. PERRY.

Miss Elizabeth H. Perry, who had been a teacher for some years at the State Normal School in Bridgewater, died Wednesday at her home on Spear street. She was the daughter of Helen Clapp Perry and the late Aaron H. Perry. Her father was formerly superintendent of the Connecticut & Passumpsic Rivers Railroad and lived at St. Johnsbury, Vt., and afterward he became superintendent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and lived in Richmond, Va., He died in 1893 in Springfield.

Miss Perry was educated at Miss Carrington's private school in Richmond and at the Westfield, Mass., State Normal school and the Boston Normal Art School. For nineteen years she was director of manual arts at the Bridgewater Normal school. She is survived by her mother and a brother, William Clapp Perry of New Haven, Conn.

Funeral services will be held from her late home on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

WRESTLING WITH THE BUDGET

The Finance Committee of the City Council were in session until after midnight Thursday night, trying to bring the annual appropriation order within the limit which the city can raise for current expenses. The Finance Com. this year is up against the hardest proposition that any similar committee has had for years. The amounts as submitted by the Mayor and Treasurer were largely in excess of the amount which the city could raise for current expenses, under the $12. limit, and even with taking all of the estimated receipts the Committee still found that it was over $16,000 in excess of the amount that could be raised.

Just where to cut off this $16,000 was the problem. It was readily recognized that the demands of the departments were not excessive and that they could readily use all the money asked for. When the Committee met Thursday night it was the intention to get the budget in shape before adjournment, if such a thing was possible. At 12.15 the desired end had not been reached and it was deemed wise to adjourn until this evening. The committee is so far along with it, however, it is thought it can be cleaned up early this evening.

☞Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald, who is to speak Monday evening in Wollaston, is the daughter of the late Rear-Admiral Walker, and wife of a prominent Boston lawyer.

☞By using PRATT'S BREAD you require less butter and can save money.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

R. F. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Fancy Smoked Shoulders - - 12c lb

They have a flavor that will suit your taste—sweet, tender and "nutty"—they are sure to please the most particular lover of good meat. Try them for your Sunday Dinner.

Fancy Fowl and Chickens

The fowl that you ordinarily buy from some stores comes from the great western market. You've found fault with much of it because it has not always cooked tender, has not always given you a satisfactory flavor nor in other ways met with your expectations. Our Fancy Fowl and Chickens have been selected from nearby farms especially to guarantee you better than ordinary at a moderate price. You'll be pleased if you try them.

What is There Better Than a Good Piece of Lamb or Veal?

For our Saturday Sale of Sunday Dinners we've selected an especially fancy line of Lamb and tender Veal. The legs are well filled and sure to cook sweet and tender with the delicious flavor you like, and the price is low.

Fresh Florida Vegetables

They'll put you in mind of Spring. Only 48 hours on the road, they have the fresh from the garden taste that you'll enjoy.

Butter Beans, String Beans, Spinach, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, Rhubarb, New Cabbage, Radishes, Spanish Onions

Grape Fruit, Small, but Juicy and Tart 5c
California Oranges, Fancy. Sweet and Juicy, doz. 20c
Queen Olives, the very best, bottle 10c

ARROW ROOT, GINGER WAFERS, ALBERTS } Crackers, 3 pkgs. 25c

Meadow Gold Butter

Comes in air-tight, odor-proof packages, direct from the creamery to you. There's flavor and genuine goodness in it. Sold here.

R. E. FOY & CO.

DISCUSS PARTY DESIGNATIONS

Rev. John J. Coan, pastor of St. John's church, and chaplain of Quincy Council Knights of Columbus, delivered the first of a series of lectures to a large number of members, in the club rooms, Savings Bank building, Thursday evening. His subject was "The Primacy and Infallibility of the See of Peter."

Following the address, a debate on the question—"Resolved that the elimination of party designations would be for the best interests of Quincy," took place, a number of members taking part in the discussion. The merits of the question seemed to favor the retention of party designation.

Three members were admitted and the meeting was one of the most successful ever held.

WEDDING GIFTS for JUNE BRIDES

Place your special orders now for Painted China, Leather Bags, Purses and Novelties. Exhibition and sale of prize pieces and new designs by Miss E. L. Isbell (of Boston Arts and Crafts Society and Mineral Art League). Easter and Birthday Cards from 5c upwards.

Imported Irish Linen hand embroideries and crochet laces. Art needlework by Quincy ladies.

THE HANDCRAFT GIFT SHOP
118 Granite St., Quincy
March 22-1t

(ADVERTISE.)

QUINCY MARKET

Specials for FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Leg and Loin of Lamb	12 1-2c
" " " " Veal	12 1-2c
Short Leg Veal	15c
Fore Quarter Veal	8c
Fancy Maine Corn	7 1-2c
Fresh Crisp Ginger Snaps	6c
7 Bars Lenox Soap	25c
7 " Kirkman's Soap	25c

Big Reductions in all other Departments for the next ten days. Don't miss it.

22-1t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

And now Doctor Wiley is quitting his post with the work of reforming mince pie only half done.

After all the monotony of a dull winter, those outlaws who are being pursued through the Virginia mountains must be having all kinds of fun.

Supplying goods to Mexican and Central American revolutionists is one of the principal exports in the sporting goods trades nowadays.

Of course the disappearance of those Sugar trust letters is due to the flighty stenographer whose mind is on the matinees instead of her work.

Lady Warwick of England has been calling on President Taft. Mrs. Taft will have to look out if the girls get to running after her husband.

Dr. Wiley resigned to give a series of lectures, and before he quits, we trust he goes over to the agriculture building and reads one to Uncle Jimmy Wilson.

The Senate had a discussion on economy the other day, in spite of the fact that it is bad manners to mention this disagreeable subject in Congress.

The present outlook is that the people who live along the railroad yards and have one or two good active boys will get the most coal next winter.

The presidential primary is being adopted in many states, and in view of the way the voters act, one would think the presidential kindergarten would be even better.

The man who can figure out how every one's pay can be raised and everythong sell for less, should not be permitted to loaf around on the curbstone, as his time is altogether too valuable.

If those Virginia outlaws would drop their guns and come down into the lowlands and go to work, they would be confronted with the horrible alternative of having to eat square meals and wearing comfortable clothes.

A RATIONAL CALENDAR.

The calendar and the hours of the day seem to most of us almost like part of the natural and immutable order of things, and however much trouble the present indefensible system caused, men have felt that it was rash—almost impious—to suggest a change in it. "Give us back our eleven days!" cried the mob when the Gregorian calendar was introduced into Great Britain. From the days of Julius Caesar to our own, he has been a bold reformer indeed who would suggest changes in the disorderly procession of the months.

Now enters Moses B. Cotsworth of Victoria, B. C., with a proposal for a rational calendar. He would divide the year into thirteen months, each of twenty-eight days, which would leave one extra day in the year, and this he beautifully plans as a free day for every one—free from interest charges on money, the necessity to work, the wage scale, etc. Then each month would commence on Sunday and the first, eighth, fifteenth and twenty-second days of each month would be Sundays.

President Hadley of Yale is quoted as saying that the month of four weeks "will come as a commerical necessity." The adjustment to the change would be very small compared to that necessitated when standard time was introduced on transcontinental railways.

Mr. Cotsworth has literature to distribute, poking fun at the present system. If he wins, say The Journal of the American Medical Association, school children need no longer learn: "Thirty days hath September."

THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR.

The six-family flat is getting to be a bugbear to a good many owners of private homes in this city. The citizen who has built him an attractive dwelling place in an originally desirable neighborhood, taken pride in keeping it up and making his grounds good to look upon, is in rare good luck if his home is so situated that he need have no concern about who may be his next door neighbor this year or in the years to come. Putting up a modern house on almost any of Brockton's residential streets of late years has been a gamble in futures. The craze to fill the town with income earning structures shows no signs of abating. Until it does the dwelling owner can never feel secure. Any day he is apt to learn that the house or lot next door or just across the way has been sold to a speculator who proposes to cover the land with a big but never beautiful tenement house—a hive for a conglomeration of families that will include the good, bad and indifferent, and at the very least will not add to the value of the overshawdowed private home or the comfort and peace of mind of its occupants.

The flat house has its place in the social economies of the community. Owners of land have an undeniable right to make it yield a profit. At the same time the way these mushroom structures are springing up almost in a night, here, there and everywhere, cannot but cause concern in the mind of the man who has built him a home but is not financially able to buy up the land around him and so control its use.—Brockton Enterprise.

A HINT.

You needn't be rich to be good.
You needn't be great to be kind.
Big things you would do if you could,
But shirk not the small ones you find.
Waste never a chance to be sweet
By dreaming of what you would do
If fortune should fall at your feet.
Be kind with what's given to you.

For it's not in the substance you give
Or the size of the gift you bestow.
The poorest and humblest may live
The kindliest lives here below.
Sweet charity's born of the heart
And not of the purse full of gold.
The point is: Do you do your part
With what has been given you to hold?

Don't say that if riches you had
You'd make many happy today.
Right now you can make people glad
If only you'll see it that way.
Be kind to the ones that you meet.
Be gentle, considerate and true.
Do the most in the home or the street
With what has been given to you.
—Detroit Free Press.

ALLEGED DIAMOND THIEF

Man Under Arrest Said to Have Stolen Gems Valued at $120,000

St. Louis, March 22.—Postal inspectors arrested a man known as Daniel Callahan, charged with the robbery of a postal sub-station in East St. Louis. The authorities decided that Callahan had figured in other postoffice robberies, and that he is also wanted for three diamond thefts aggregating $120,000.

The police say Callahan is being held as the leader of the gang which stole $100,000 worth of diamonds from Mrs. Maldwin Drummond's stateroom on the steamship Amerika in February, 1911, and which bound and gagged two men and stole $10,000 worth of jewels from Edward Alberti's store in Chicago in April, 1911, and killed a man in getting away.

$1,000,000 TO AID MANUEL

Deposed King Making Effort to Regain Throne In Portugal

Lisbon, March 22.—In an official statement, the Portuguese republican government gave notice that it had positive information that a proposed royalist invasion of Portugal to return Manuel to his throne is being financed by rich Portuguese in Brazil and that they have already contributed more than $1,000,000 to help his cause.

According to this statement, ex-King Manuel recently sent the following dispatch to the Brazilian leader of the monarchists: "Everything goes well. Send remittance. Urgent."

The Brazilians replied: "Million dollars on way."

—It's all in getting used to things. In the middle west a Sunday base ball game is accepted as a matter of course but if somebody hereabouts attempted to hold a Sunday base ball game anywhere near the center of the village, horrified citizens would straightway seek the police and ask for an injunction. Yet those same people will pass unnoticed Sunday violations of the liquor law or dismiss them as something to be expected. The evidences of illegal selling: drunken men coming from the places where liquor is sold, groups of men going to and from the hotels at hours when it is not at all expected that they are in search of meals do not arouse them into action at all. But an innocent ball game in process—then see them get busy.—Spencer Leader.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

Professor William H. Wheeler gave a lecture on "The House Fly" before the members of the Woman's club on Monday afternoon.

The spring meeting of the Education society will take place in the High school assembly hall, April 24. Joseph A. Lee and Robert A. Woods will speak on "Playgrounds and Recreations."

Members of the Milton Education society chorus held a rehearsal at the Parish house Thursday evening.

The annual fair of St. Catherine's Guild will take place on the afternoon and evening of April 10.

The many friends of Chester Currier of Blue Hill parkway will be pleased to hear that he is recovering from his recent illness.

John F. Perkins, who has been in Europe the past winter, has returned to Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peabody of Brush Hill have gone to Panama on an extended trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace F. Whitney have opened their home on Belcher circle, after spending the winter in Dorchester.

Rev. C. F. Potter, pastor of the Mattapan Baptist church has moved from Brush Hill road to his new home on Houston avenue.

George Bearce, of the sophomore class, has been appointed manager of the football team of Milton Academy.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The annual gymnastic exhibition of the Boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening beginning at 7.30. This was to have taken place last week, but owing to the severe storm it was deemed best to put it over into this week.

The program will include setting-up drill, squad work on the horse, buck and parallel bars, special stunts and basketball games. The second game between the Quincy juniors and the Cunningham Gymnasium juniors will be played and the Winward girls team will have a special contest with another team of Juniors. The tickets which were issued for last week will be good tonight.

There remain but two Saturday morning meetings this season and the boys should take advantage of them. This week there will be a stereopticon story entitled "Ted, the Hookjack."

This story was written by George S. Raine of Brockton, who has a big reputation as a writer of stories for boys, and it is considered the best he has published. Every boy who has not heard this story should be on hand Saturday morning at 9 o'clock sharp. In the story Ted and his chum decide to stay away from school and have some fun and before the day is out, they get all that is coming to them.

The story is illustrated by 70 views taken by the author from real life.

Saturday, March 30, the boys will have a rare opportunity. H. W. Gibson, State secretary for Boys, will be the speaker and he has chosen as his subject "Some Boys I Have Met." Mr. Gibson is one of the biggest men in the country in boys' work as is evidenced by the fact that he has been chosen on the Men and Religion Forward Movement team which is touring the country and next week will work in New York and Brooklyn.

The annual championship contests will take place in the Y. M. C. A. gym, Saturday evening beginning at 7.30 The events will be 8 potato race, running high jump; 150 yard dash; 1000 yard run; 3000 yard dash; 12 pound shot put and 3 broad jumps. Among the principal contestants for the cup are Wilson, Trask, McArdle, Wood, Estey, Cranshaw, Shirley, Kemp and Chell. The Senior members of the physical department have put up a handsome trophy to be competed for; the one winning it for three years not necessarily consecutive years, to be the owner. Individual cups and medals have been put up by the physical department for the first ten men in the allaround tests. By having the competition for the allaround championship of the Association, the contestants are given a thorough tryout and the winner will be without question the best man in the department.

—February made a big contribution to the national ash heap. Last month's fire losses in this country and Canada totalled $28,601,650. Last year for the same month they were $16,415,000, according to the compilation of the New York Journal of Commerce, January showed an increase of nearly $14,000,000. When will the necessary reforms be instituted to reduce this great fire loss to reasonable porportions?—Taunton Herald.

BALFOUR AGAIN TO THE FRONT

Points Out National Peril Arising From Coal Strike

OPPOSES THE ASQUITH BILL

Declares There Has Never Been Graver Case of Government Deceiving Itself and Deceiving House of Commons—"Trying to Save Ministers' Faces" by the Measure—Army of 3,000,000 Idle Men Added to Daily

London, March 22.—The gravity of Great Britain's national peril arising from the labor war which Arthur J. Balfour, the Unionist statesman, characterizes as passing in magnitude anything that this country has heretofore experienced, was reflected in the tense atmosphere of the house of commons yesterday afternoon when the minimum wages bill came up for second reading. Premier Asquith formally moved the second reading of the bill and then immediately yielded the floor to Balfour, who moved its rejection.

"The country," said the former Unionist premier, "has never before been faced with a crisis such as this. We are witnessing the new, strange and protentious spectacle of a single organization acting within its legal powers threatening to paralyze the whole trade of the country.

"There is no indication that the leaders of the movement desires to temper the use of their legal powers with any consideration of mercy. Was there ever an American trust at any period of its existence which had used or misused the powers given to it by the law to the detriment of private interests and general trade to the extent we are now witnessing?"

Cries of "yes" from the Labor benches greeted Balfour's question as to the American trusts.

Mr. Balfour recognized the earnestness of Asquith's efforts, but continued: "There never has been a graver case of a government deceiving itself and deceiving the house of commons." The former premier said the government defended its bill on the ground of the existence of abnormal places in some of the mines, but this was merely to save the face of ministers who had hastened under threats to yield to the conditions laid down by the miners.

He complained that the government had sanctioned the tearing up of existing agreements without a word of protest and declared that there was no justification for the government attempting to force "this colossal revolution" through the house of commons in less than a week.

Mr. Balfour concluded by saying that, even assuming that the government were defeated, there could not be a dissolution, as it was impossible to add the confusion of a general election to the horror of the strike. He intimated that although the Unionists intended to test the opinion of the house regarding the methods of the government they would after that do their best to see that the policy of the government had its chance. From this it appears clear that the Unionists will not obstruct the committee stage of the bill and that the house of lords will pass it.

Mr. Balfour's motion for the rejection of the bill was defeated, and the bill passed its second reading last night by a majority of 123—a larger majority than the ministerialists themselves had hoped for. The vote stood 348 to 225. The Laborites and Nationalists voted with the government.

The total of the men out of employment is increasing daily and it is now estimated that besides the million miners on strike nearly 2,000,000 other persons have been rendered idle. While a ballot of the men would doubtless show their willingness to accept the bill as it is and return to work, the labor union leaders apparently are determined to adhere to their decision as to the inclusion of the figure of the fixed minimum wage.

BRINGS SUIT FOR $100,000

Girl Says She Was Ousted From College For Wearing $250 Hat

Chicago, March 22.—A jury of mere men listened with great interest while Miss Esther Mercy declared that she was dropped from the student body of the University of Chicago because she had worn a $250 hat, a gift from her sweetheart.

Her testimony was as the plaintiff in a suit against Dean Marion Talbot of the university for $100,000 damages for alleged defamation of character.

No Plot Against Knox

New Orleans, March 22.—Juan Cavala, consul of Nicaragua, denies reports of the discovery of a plot to dynamite Secretary Knox's train when the secretary visited Managua.

"Mickey Finn" Creator Dead

New York, March 22.—Ernest Jarrold, author of the "Mickey Finn" sketches, died at Amityville, L. I. He was born in a suburb of London more than sixty years ago.

A Woman Can't Help

wanting a Plain Cabinet Glenwood, it is so smooth and easy to clean. No filigree or fussy ornamentation. Just the natural black iron finish. The "Mission Style" applied to a range. Every essential refined and improved upon.

Gas Range at the end of Coal Range

"Makes Cooking Easy."

It matters not whether your kitchen is large or small — there's a Plain Glenwood made to fit it. Prices to suit all purses.

Cabinet Glenwood Range

H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

Always.

Also in the matter of a kiss, two heads are better than one.—Smart Set Magazine.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

22—Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Hudson.
22—Food Sale—Miss Austin's.
22—Ladies' Night—Y. M. C. A.
22—Friday Club.
23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
17—Whist—Maple lodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—W. S. W. V.—Electa and Protection Halls
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

THIS IS A SECURE BANK

Because it is under Federal supervision, and subject to the National Banking Laws of the United States.

Because it is managed conservatively by business men whom you know and in whom you have confidence.

Because its equipment includes one of the strongest modern vaults in Massachusetts.

Think of this bank when you decide to open an account.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

BECAUSE We bought this lot of 25 Tables--all the factory had--at way below regular price, and BECAUSE even with our immense buying power we cannot duplicate this value at anywhere near this price. We offer one to each customer until we sell 25.

Exactly as Pictured

Round Oak, Claw Foot, Dining Tables $9.98

Made of well seasoned wood, splendidly finished—6 foot Extension---Attractive design.

That's only one of the money-saving opportunities Presented You in our big 4-page Spring Opening Sale Circular we want to send you FREE. Just drop us your name on a postal. DO IT NOW. Sale started Wednesday with a rush.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

E. E. GRAY & CO.
QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block
WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street
Telephone Quincy 436-M

Cuts for the Week Beginning March 18

CHEESE	Fancy York State per lb.	21c	PRUNES	Extra Large Santa Clara per lb.	10c
EVAPORATED MILK Peerless Brand	large can / small can	7c / 4c	SELF RISING FLOUR	GRAY'S 5 lb. bag	21c
CORN MEAL	Fancy Granulated 5 lb. Carton	12c	PEANUT BUTTER	per lb.	12c
SALMON	Red Alaska tall can	17c	PEARS	Fancy Jersey Silver Lake Brand large can	11c
KIPPERED HERRING Fanc Imported	large can	12c	PICKLES	Sour Mixed / Sour Gherkins, Chow Chow	small bot. 8c / large bot. 17c
SOAP---Good Will	6 bars	21c	RICE	Fancy Carolina per lb.	8c
PEACHES	Fancy Sliced flat can	14c	CRACKERS	Grandmother's Cookies per lb. / 2 lbs.	9c / 17c

Mar. 22--M. W. F.

THIRTY-FIVE MEN ARE STILL MISSING

Fifty-Six Bodies Recovered Thus Far From Sans Bois Mine

McCurtin, Okla., March 22.—Thirty-five men entombed in the Sans Bois mine, where an explosion occurred, have not been accounted for.

Twenty-six men have been rescued and fifty-six bodies have been brought to the surface. Rescue parties are still at work, harboring the faint hope that possibly more may be found alive.

When the rescued miners were brought out the scene about the mouth of the shaft was most pathetic. Relatives of entombed men, who had remained on the ground since the fatal blast, pressed eagerly forward to catch a word that might let them know their loved one's were alive.

Financial assistance needed by families of the victims has come from all parts of the United States.

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies

Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vuleanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street,
Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. March 21-ff

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar.
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

B. F. KEITH'S

Eva Tanguay ,"The Madcap Genius of Mirth and Song," comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre on Monday for a limited engagement of one week only. Since her last appearance in Boston Miss Tanguay has played in praticially every city in the East, and on each occasion has hung up a new record in box-office receipts. In many instances she surpassed previous records es. tablished by herself. Miss Tanguay is unquestionably the greatest box-office attraction in the vaudeville world to-day. She brings many new and novel features to Boston, and her costumes will surpass in beauty and costliness anything ever seen here. One of her big numbers is the "Money" song, in which Miss Tanguay wears a coat of mail, composed entirely of bright new Lincoln pennies. This costume weighs over forty pounds, and during the chorus Miss Tanguay throws away handfuls of money as souvenirs for the audience to carry home with them. Another is her famous coral and satin dress, valued at $3,500, and her coat of pearls, each pearl being of pure mother of pearl and as large as a cherry. At each performance Miss Tanguay will wear nearly thirty thousand dollars worth of clothes. It is safe to predict that this engagement will prove one of the sensations of the season at this popular resort. Miss Tanguay will be surrounded by a splendid bill.

BOSTON THEATRE.

In the opinion of Dustin Farnum, handsome and heroic portrayer of the Northern officer in "The Littlest Rebel" at the Boston Theatre, this stirring war drama from the pen of Edward Peple is destined to figure prominently in the negotiations for universal peace which are engrossing the attention of nations at this time. He says: "The story of 'The Littlest Rebel' so strongly brings out the big human phase of conditions which exist during the time of war, the heartaches of those who remain at home waiting for crusts of news from the ones in battle and the anguish of the men who give up their lives for their country with no hope of ever seeing their wives and children again, this play will eventually be held up as a potent argument in favor of the abolition of war. I understand that several writers who are dipping their pens in the cause of universal peace are calling the attention of their reading public to 'The Littlest Rebel.'"

"And yet," spoke up William Farnum, brother star of "The Littlest Rebel" "I have never known a play that had a rattling good battle scene in it which has not been successful. There is something primitive in each of us that responds with an uncanny delight to the call to arms. I agree with Dustin that war should be abolished, but if it is, what will our dramatists do for material with which to stir the patriotism of the people. I am afraid that as long as Americans have good red blood in their veins there will always remain the desire to settle this country's disputes in school-boy fashion—by calling the other fellow out into the alley and pounding him into a jelly. This spirit is manifest at every performance of our play as evidenced by the tumult of applause which followed the battle scene."

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.

Commencing Monday night Miss Gertrude Elliott, will begin a two weeks' engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, in Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's latest comedy "Preserving Mr. Panmure." The mere announcement of a new comedy by the greatest of living English playwrights, is in itself an invitation to the real theatrical treat. Moreover if anything can further enhance the widespread interest certain to be aroused by such an announcement it is the fact that an actress of the charm of Gertrude Elliott will interpret its leading personality. The play is a comedy of middle-class English life, built upon the rather broad lines of Pinero's earlier work, and moves with the rapidity of a farce. The story resolves itself into a country house puzzle—who kissed the governess?—is the author's chief concern and that of his characters throughout the four acts of rapid action. The play offers Miss Elliott one of the most congenial roles in which she has as yet been seen in this country.

For the real lovers of Dramatic Art, the Plymouth Theatre management announces that on Monday afternoon at 1.30 sharp, Miss A. E. F. Horniman and her Manchester Repertory Company from the Galety Theatre, Manchester, England, will, under the auspices of the American Drama Society, present "The Tragedy of Nan," a play in three acts by John Maisefield. This will be the first and only appearance of this remarkable organization, one of the oldest and best known in England and frequently referred to as "the best acting company in Great Britain."

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

"The Indiscretion of Truth," which will be the attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre for two weeks beginning Monday, will offer an old favorite in an entirely different kind of role than he has ever played before. Robert Edeson, who has thrilled and charmed us as a hero in many different plays, will be seen in the role of Bruce Darrell, a college athelete whose natural nobility of character is perverted. It is said that Mr. Edeson, tiring of always being a hero on the stage, welcomed the chance to interpret this role when he learned that Darrell has his big moments which are pregnant with an irresistible appeal to the emotions. Opposite Mr. Edeson as Bruce Darrel, in a role which savors of the courtliness of a knigat of old, sweetened by a kindly forbearance is Frank Kemble Cooper as Sir George Stirling. This eminent English actor was brought over from the other side expressly to play this part.

"The Indiscretion of Truth tells the story of a sweet, confiding young woman who becomes infatuated with a good-for-nothing college athlete. They make a clandestine tryst at an obscure hotel in Scotland to be married. He does not keep the appointment but sends a friend instead, who for the sake of appearances asks for her as his wife. This constitutes a marriage under Scotch law. Around this episode a highly interesting plot is evolved.

The climax of Act III is gripping in its intensity. Mr. Edeson displays remarkable powers as an emotional actor. A more lovable man than Sir George is seldom met either on the stage or off. The play would not end logically without his marrying the young woman whom the athlete spurned then afterward coveted. The other characters are all in the keeping of sterling players, a particularly impressive one being the supposed dumb woman, in whose life story the audience becomes interested at the very outset, but does not learn all about it until near the close of the play.

PARK THEATRE.

Henry B. Harris' "The Country Boy" company is presenting at the Park Theatre in Boston, one of the most remarkably popular plays seen in many seasons. All over the country it has travelled and has met with the same crowded houses, the same enthusiastic applause, wherever the comedy has been presented. It has been said that a play which is a success everywhere else is not necessarily so in Boston since Boston is not a city but a "state of mind." But "The Country Boy" is particularly appealing to the New England mind." Though it is full of bright lines and laughs innumerable as well as comical situations, the underlying theme is a life painting of a mother and her son, with all the heart-throbs which accompany the kiss with which many a New England mother has sent her boy forth to try his wings in the great metropolis. It is perhaps just this personal quality which has endeared the play to the hearts of the Bostonians, representing as it does scenes similar to ones which lie buried in the memories of so many of the spectators. The story of the play, briefly, is that of a youth who attributes his lack of success at home to the limitations of a small town and its few opportunities. So he leaves his widowed mother and his charming home, and, urged on by his love for a rich man's daughter, seeks the great city in order to wrest from Fate the fame and fortune which he feels sure he is capable of acquiring, but is a failure. He is too proud to go back home a failure after all his boasting. So he fastens a tube to the gas jet over his bed and makes ready for his final exit. But he doesn't even succeed in killing himself, for a friendly newspaper man drops in just at the psychological moment and turns the tide of affairs from despondency and suicide to optimistic plans for the future. After an all night talk, a plan is formulated whereby the two go back to the country and start a newspaper there which is a success in the end. The little sweetheart is won back again and all is happy in the final scene.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

It will be rememebred that this same play with this droll comedian in the role of a German brewer, who masquerades as a duke, provided no end of clever nonsence when it was first seen in Boston last year.

"He came from Milwaukee" concerns the arrival from the Wisconsin city of one Herman von Schnellenvein, a brewer, who in his travels through Europe meets the Duke of Zurach. The Duke, for political reasons, desires to remain incognito and includes the man from Milwaukee to assume his role. The ensuing complications, particularly a drumhead courtmartial gives Bernard notable opportunity for his special brand of fun-making.

A gypsy intriguer loyal to the ducal party of Zurach, conjoles the supposed Duke into leaving Ostend and proceeding to his duchy, where he will be crowned in spite of the rebellion planned by the Republicans. An American thrust upon him by her title-hunting mother, falls in love with the real heir to the throne and marries him to save herself from the supposed scion of royalty.

The Milwaukee brewer, lost in Zurach, works the card game in which he was fleeced and wins the uniform of a soldier. Donning it, he is arrested as a spy and sentenced to death. The gypsy then proclaims him the Duke and he is only saved from being proclaimed ruler by the coming of the real Zurachian.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

For the first time on any stage, John Craig will produce next Monday at the Castle Square Theatre, a new play entitled "Blindfolded." It has received the enthusiastic approval of competent judges who have read the manuscript, and it promises to make a sensation. Its scenes are laid in a large American city of the present day; its characters are everyday interesting people, and the incidents are both dramatic and romantic. A young lady who acts as secretary for a wealthy man whom she has known in childhood is accused of theft through the envy of a match-making mamma who wishes to secure Robert Dunham's hand for her own daughter, and for almost an entire act the dilemma in which all the characters are placed is a most ingenious and amusing one. It all ends in the most plausible fashion, Robert Dunham succumbs to Millicent Wentworth's fascinations, and at the same moment she realizes she loves him.

These are but a few incidents in a lively comedy which is filled with exceptional and original humor. The cast will include John Craig as Robert Dunham, and Mary Young as Millicent Wentworth, with George Hassell, an amusing butler, and Donald Meek, Walter Walker, Leslie Palmer, Mabel Colcord, Mabel Montgomery and Maude Richmond in the other important roles.

"Blindfolded" will be given for only one week, and it will be followed during the week of April 1st with Mark Twain's "The Prince and the Pauper," with Henrietta McDanniel in the dual title roles.

NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT

"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

takes Mince Pie out of the luxury class as far as the price is concerned, but no farther. Half a 10-cent package makes a whole 9-inch pie.

MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

WEATHER CAUSES POSTPONEMENT

Having the ground covered with snow on the second day of spring is too much for the legislative committee on Metropolitan Affairs and their visit to Quincy scheduled for this afternoon to go over the route of the proposed extension of the boulevard from Wollaston beach to Hancock street has been called off.

Just when the committee will come is not known but it will probably not be until the snow disappears and seasonable weather arrives.

GETS TWO YEARS FOR CONSPIRACY

Fred D. Ellsworth who was arrested at Houghs Neck a few days ago by Lieut. McKay for Boston officers by whom he was wanted for the alleged operation of one of the get rich quick schemes, entered a plea of guilty in the Suffolk superior court to a complaint charging him with conspiracy to defraud by selling worthless stocks. There were over thirty indictments against Ellsworth and he was sentenced to two years in the house of correction on one indictment. The others were placed on file. Ellsworth sold stock in the Peerless Chocolate Co., Jennie Carr who was arrested with him plead not guilty and her case will be heard later.

CHINESE MAGICIAN.

Writing to a Boston paper, Rufus B. Tobey of Wollaston, secretary of the Red Cross committee says:

Interest in the China famine relief fund grows daily. Perhaps the most impressive feature of the movement is its origin. The chairman of the Red Cross and co-operating committee is Gov. Foss, and its treasurer Mr. Gardiner M. Lane of Lee, Higginson & Co.

The Chinamen resident in Boston and vicinity are doing their share. The Chinese Sunday schools have taken hold in dead earnest, and Chinatown is doing its share. The Chinese students, both graduates and undergraduates, at Harvard and Tech and elesewhere are ready to co-operate.

Mr. Sung Chaun Li, a recent Harvard graduate, now for a season with the General Electric Company of Lynn an amateur magician, has offered his services for half a dozen entertainments. On any Monday or Tuesday for the next month applications for his services may be made to me at room 444, John Hancock building, Boston.

As he gives twice who gives quickly, it is earnestly desired that contributions be sent to Mr. Lane, the treasurer, as soon as possible.

Rufus B. Tobey, Cor. Sec.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, who is to speak in Wollaston next Monday evening, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, and so has received the best educational equipment our country has to offer: but she is democratic to the core, and believes is is a woman's duty and privilege to do actual work, among the world's workers, and that the ballot is needed to protect her interests, and to make her realize that she has a stake in the country.

(ADVERTISE.)

TO IDENTIFY BY THUMB PRINTS

System is Being Put Into Operation by Banks

WHAT IT IS

That the thumb print is to soon take the place of signatures to checks, as well as a means of identification, is assured. The system has been in use for several years in the identification of criminals and it is now proposed to put it into use as a substitute for crosses and signatures to checks, especially by those whose signature is most easily copied. It has recently ben adopted by one of the largest Boston savings banks and others will doubtless soon follow suit.

The thumb print, made popular first in "Puddin'head Wilson," has been subjected to extensive investigation by the trustees of the bank, and they have decided to adopt it for business transactions, setting a precedent for banks in Boston.

The investigation by the trustees found that there was only one chance in 64,000,000,000 of two finger prints being exactly alike, and that the finger print of one person is unchanged from birth to death.

To facilitate the codification and cataloguing of finger prints, P. A. Fink of New York, formerly of Singapore, India, has been secured by the bank.

Many banks have been considering the adoption of the system and only the necessity of installing a new system of cataloguing has checked its adoption.

In cases where the signature is illegible the print will be used as well. as an absolute safeguard.

The plan has been used by banks in some foreign countries, usually to obviate the need of interpreters. It is claimed by those who have used the system, which by the way, is considered as less fallible than the Bertillon system in the identification of criminals by the police of every large city in the country, that forgeries will be absolutely impossible where the print is used on the checks.

TED, THE HOOKJACK.

Dere Skinnie:—

Don't ever play hookie the way me and Chick did or you'll wisht you didn't. Gee! but I can feel it yet. We never thot we'd get cot or we would'nt a dun it. Meet me at the Y. M. C. A. Sat. morn at 9 and I'll tell you the pertikilars, Yours,

Ted.

MCNEIL—WILLSON.

A very pretty wedding took place at the East Braintree Methodist church, Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being Miss Alice Gage Willson of East Braintree, and James Carlton McNeil of Quincy Point, the Rev. Mr. Rodeman officiating. The ushers were Louis and William French of Quincy Point.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Lohengren's march played by Mrs. Luella Tuttle of Quincy Point. Miss Ethel Fisher a cousin of the bride was flower girl and the train bearers were the Misses Louise and Hazel Macadam of Quincy. The bride wore a gown of white messaline, the surplice corsage and skirt garnitured with roses of the material. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and these flowers were worn also in the veil. She was attended by her sister Miss Mabel Willson as bridesmaid, gowned in pink, with corsage bouquet of white roses. The best man was Chester W. Crumrine of Somerville. Mendelssohn's march was played as the party left the church.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Willson, 60 Front street. Guests were present from Dorchester, Brockton, Somerville, Boston, Braintree, Mattapan and Quincy. The young couple were the recipients of a number of useful gifts of china, silver, linen, cut glass, pictures, furniture and other house furnishings.

Miss Willson was a popular clerk in the store of the Gilchrist Co., Boston, Mr. McNeil is employed by the Clark, Hutchings Co., successors to C. M. Winch and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McNeil,

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil will be a home after April first at 767 Washington street, Quincy Point.

$4,186,235 For Fortifications

Washington, March 20.—The bill making appropriations for fortifications was passed by the senate. It carries $4,186,235, $1,250,000 less than the appropriation of last year.

Lamson & Hubbard

Hats

Best in America

For Sale by Leading Dealers

OPERATION OF TELEPHONE

(Continued from Page One.)

In May 1877 E. T. Holmes who was operating a burglar alarm system in Boston, proposed that a few telephones be linked to his wires.

Without permission Holmes went to six banks and nailed up a telephone in each. Five bankers made no protest but the sixth indignantly ordered "that play-toy" out saying it was "absolutely undignified" and not a proper way to do business.

Those five telephones could be connected by a switch in Holmes office and thus was born the first tiny and crude telephone exchange. Here it ran for several weeks as a telephone system by day and a burglar alarm by night.

Shortly afterwards the Telephone Dispatch company opened the first active telephone exchange connecting business houses at 342 Washington street, Boston. Here was engaged the first female operator who is still in the employ of the present company.

The difficulties encountered in building new lines through rugged portions of the country was described and views of telephone construction among the Rockies were shown.

The methods employed in the construction of the lines above ground, under ground and under water, were related and interesting pictures shown of all phases.

The losses the company has to contend with in storms and fires was told. At the Bangor fire, where the exchange was destroyed, toll service was resumed in 45 minutes and a complete new switchboard installed in 12 days. The important part a telephone now plays in battle was also related.

The modern switchboard and the method used in making a call between Quincy and Dorchester were shown.

The day's work in Quincy was shown. Through the night to five o'clock in the morning, the work is very light. From this time there is an increase until between 8 and 9, there is an average of 1280 calls an hour. This gradually falls to 720 calls between 11 and 12 o'clock. During the afternoon it varies with 560 calls, between 5 and 6 and increasing to 1120 between 7 and 8 o'clcok in the evening.

Views of all the varied departments of the telephone were displayed and the vast amount of delicate instruments and equipment could be imagined.

The New England Telegraph and Telephone company furnishes employment for 11,000 of which 7,000 are operators. Most of the latter are now high school graduates.

The care that the company takes of its employees was shown by the rest rooms, lunch rooms, roof gardens and proper working conditions it provides.

Private branch exchanges their operation and advantages were explained as were the order boards and methods of selling by telephone now employed by large business enterprises.

Much of interest was told of the mdegency service and the part played by telephone operators in saving life and property was emphasized.

The speaker presented a mass of statistics showing the immense growth of the telephone and its almost universal use today. The telephone he said, is the twin brother of the printing press. Time and distance are removed by the wizard's touch.

The Quincy exchange was established on September 9th, 1882. At that time there was a population of 10,570 in Quincy and the exchange had 68 subscribers and 2 employees.

Now there are 2100 subscribers and the calls average over 12,000 a day.

In Quincy there are over 11,000 miles of underground cable, 27,000 miles of aerial cables. Of pole lines there are 178,000 feet underground, 174,000 feet of aerial wire and 2900 feet of submarine.

The local exchange was shown on the screen together with its operating and retiring rooms.

The telephone, said Mr. Banberg in conclusion, is any man's road to everywhere.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended and refreshments and a social hour closed the evening.

Freak Animal Is Dead

Holbrook, Mass., March 22.—The freak half cow, half deer, owned by Elmore Kingsley of this town, died at the age of fifteen days, unable to withstand the limelight of publicity. The freak had been viewed by over 2000 people.

MID-DAY DINNER.

The Massachusetts Republican club is to hold a mid-day dinner at the Boston City club, March 30. Addresses will be made by Samuel J. Elder, president of the club, Robert O. Harris and Arthur D. Hill. The committee in charge of the dinner are Hon. E. C. Hultman, of Quincy, William D. Chapple, and William W. Davis.

THE CORSET SHOP

Miss Sarah E. Dunphy, 8 Maple St., Quincy

is showing all the Spring models in the popular priced Corsets of these standard makes

NEMO WARNER'S
La GRECQUE BON TON
R & G C-B A LA SPIRITE
ROYAL WORCESTER

All Corsets $1.00 and upwards carefully fitted. Also Ferris Waists for Children, Misses and Women. Hose Supporters, Brassieres and other accessories.

12-24

Madam---For Easter Shoes in Great Variety

In no store will you find such a variety of dainty and charming shoes as you can find here.

You ought to visit this store now! Your highest expectations will be realized when you see the mighty display of handsome oxfords and shoes we have prepared for you. Even if you have no intention of buying and are sure you can resist the temptation to take away a pair of these unusually attractive shoes there's a lesson in shoe values here that's worth seeing.

The American Lady Shoes at $3 and $3.50

are the handsomest, best finished and most stylish shoes made. In Quincy they are sold exclusively at this store. All leathers with the short vamp, medium high, round toe and new heels.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 21-3t

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS — "Her Majesty's" Special $1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS — "The Little One" Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cen s can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET

CITY SQUARE.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & CO.

REVISED FIRE ALARM

7 Corner Farnum and Edison Streets.
12 Palmer Street, opposite Bakers.
13 Corner Shelton Road and Sea Sts.
14 Church turn-out, Manet Avenue.
15 Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor
16 Sea Street, near Rock Island Road
17 Sea street, near Dunham's.
18 Sea and Palmer streets.
19 Rock Island.
21 Corner Whitwell and Granite Sts.
23 Hancock Street, near Hall's stable.
24 Whitwell Street, near Hospital.
25 Corner Newcomb and Canal Sts.
26 Hancock, opposite City Hall.
27 Corner Elm and Washington Sts
28 Corner Greenleaf and Hancock Sts
29 Corner Butler Road and Putnam
31 Phipps Street, near Payne Street.
32 Independence Avenue and Franklin
34 Corner High and Franklin Streets.
35 Corner Hancock and School Streets
36 Junction Pleasant and Quincy Sts
37 Corner Franklin and Water Sts.
38 Corner Liberty and Plain Sts.
39 Corner Penn and Liberty Streets.
41 Corner School and Granite Streets.
42 Corner Copeland and Granite Sts.
43 Corner Common and Copeland Sts.
45 Corner Crescent and Willard Sts.
46 Copeland and Furnace avenue.
47 Corner Bates Avenue and Grove
48 Corner Robertson and Willard Sts.
49 Corner Doble and Willard Streets.
51 Tubular Rivet Factory.
52 Elmwood Avenue and Farrington.
53 Winthrop and Warren Avenues.
54 Hancock Street., near Elm Avenue.
56 Beale, opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57 Corner Beach and Willow Streets.
58 Corner Beale and Adams Streets.
59 Beale Street and Central Avenue.
61 Squantum and Hancock Streets.
62 Corner Atlantic and Hancock Sts.
63 Hancock Street, near Atlantic depot.
64 Billings Street and Newbury Ave.
64 (D) Combination No. 2 House.
65 Faxon Road and Squantum Street.
66 Prospect and Billings.
67 Corner Atlantic and Squantum Sts
68 Squantum.
69 Montclair.
71 Corner Mill and Washington Sts.
72 Washington Street, corner South.
73 Corner Winter and Howard Sts.
74 Corner River and Washington Sts
75 Corner Main and Sumner Streets.
76 Washington corner Wharf.
76 (D) Power House, Q. & B. St. R'y.,
78 Fore River Ship Building Works.
112 Sea street near Willows.
113 Post Island.
114 Engine House, Hougks Neck.
116 Centre road and Darrow Street.
117 Great Hill, Hough's Neck.
119 Rockland and Rhoda, R. I.
121 President's Hill.
122 Chestnut Street and Revere Road.
123 Hancock Street, near Car Barn.
124 Corner Goffe and Adams Streets.
126 Russell Park.
136 Brook Road and Water Street.
138 Corner Brooks Avenue and Centre
143 Station Street.
147 Granite Railway Yard.
151 Billings Road and Beach Street.
152 Corner Billings and Rawson Roads.
153 Farrington near Wol. Foundry.
154 Wollaston Ave. near Sailors' Home.
155 Warren Avenue, near Newton St.
161 Newport avenue opp. Foundry.
171 Whicher's factory, Union Street.
172 Corner Glencoe place and New Rd.
173 Newcomb Square, Quincy Avenue.
174 North, bet. South and Washington
175 Quincy Avenue, near Mrs. Baxter's.
221 Glendale road and Bedford Street.
223 Washington and Foster.
225 Field and Brackett street.
226 Dimmock and Upland road.
227 Hancock and Chestnut streets.
228 Edgemere Road and Putnam St.
242 (P) City Hospital.
272 Corner Washington and Pray Sts.
273 (P) Baker Basin.
321 Intervale Street and Brook Avenue.
324 Adams St., near Whitwell St.,
331 Franklin and School.
332 Federal and Independence aves.
412 Corner Willard and West Streets.
413 Buckley and Arthur
431 Rogers Street, off Hall place.
432 Willard and Furnace avenue.
435 Reardon and Barry Streets.
441 Smith Street, rear C. H. Hardwick's
442 Quarry Street, near Hitchcock's.
443 Corner Hayden and West Streets.
445 Corner Quarry and Common Streets.
446 Opposite Willard School, Copeland.
512 Grand View and South Central Ave.
513 Foot Beach Street.
515 Quincy Mansion School.
524 Berlin and Woodbine.
552 Brook and Granger.
553 Belmont and Warren avenue.
612 Hancock Street and Billings Road.
613 Hayward opp. Gear Works.
614 Glover avenue and Newbury avenue
615 Oak and Walnut.
617 Squantum and Huckins avenue.
712 Broadway and Commonwealth ave.
718 (P) Johnson's Lumber Yard.
721 South and Chubbuck.
722 Washington and Union.
723 South and Clairmont Avenue.
725 South and Wantrop park.

D—Duplicate. P—Private.

For brush and grass fire, send word by telephone or otherwise, to the nearest Fire station.

SIGNALS—Fire Department.

Ten (10) blows followed by Box number—Second alarm.
Twelve (12) blows, followed by Box number—General Alarm
Four (4) blows—Special call for Hose No. 1.
Two (2) blows—Recall.
Three (3) blows—Chief Engineer's call.
One (1) blow, 7 A. M. and 5 P. M.—Fire Alarm test.
2-2 three times—No school.
4-4-4—Military call.
Seven (7) blows—Electric Light Co. to shut off current.
3-3-3—Police call.
Lost Child call. 5-5-5—then one round of the Box nearest to where the lost child lives.
Six (6) blows—Superintendent Water Works call.
Two (2) blows, 8.55 P. M.—Curfew Law.

132—Out of City Call, Braintree.
135— " " " Weymouth
158— " " " Milton.
162— " " " Boston.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, Oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 18	11.10	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	11.45
Wednesday,	12.00	12.15
Thursday,	12.30	1.00
Friday,	1.15	1.45
Saturday,	2.00	2.30
Sunday,	2.45	3.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	38 degrees
Mar. 22, 1911,	53 degrees
Mar. 22, 1910,	55 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Earle Richardson of Botolph street is confined to his home with tonsilitis.

Miss Ruth Kemp has returned from the hospital and is recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. S. I. Wood of Upland road has gone over to New York to get the latest in spring styles in millinery.

Miss Marion Downey of Bridgewater Normal school is at her home on Squantum street for a short vacation.

Mrs. L. J. Hayford of East Squantum street was called to Lowell Wednesday on account of the death of a relative.

The number of assistants at the Thomas Crane Public library has been greatly diminished this week as several have been out on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson of Brunswick street, Squantum, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a little boy, born February third. He has been named Richard Franklyn.

Miss Charlotte Sweeney assistant buyer for Filene of Boston, in their suit department makes frequent trips to New York. Her success has been remarkable, she having been advanced from sales girl in a short time.

Word has been received from Nova Scotia that Miss Grace DeWolf, formerly of Walker street, has had her arm burned in an accident. Miss Winnifred Cole has been collecting postals for a shower for her and when she heard of the accident sent the fifty cards which she had collected to Miss DeWolf.

[We have a curfew law in the City of Quincy and it would be well also to have one that would keep children between the ages of eight and fifteen years off the streets after dark. It is a common occurrence in the South Quincy district for residents to be aroused during the evening by a shattered window pane and no one knows anything about it.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Bread is the staff of life. PRATT'S BREAD nourishes body and brain.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

TROUNCING IN NORTH DAKOTA

Roosevelt's Defeat Has Greatly Encouraged La Follette

WILL EXTEND BATTLE LINES

Doubly Determined to Get Square With Governor of California, Upon Whose Support He Had Counted—Wisconsin Senator Will Start Tour of Country on April 1, Starting In New England

Washington, March 22.—Senator La Follette and his supporters are determined to make Roosevelt third man at the Republican national convention. The senator returned to Washington yesterday in excellent health and at once went into conference with his managers here over plans to extend his campaign into every state and district where Mr. Roosevelt is trying to get delegates.

Elated by his victory in North Dakota, Senator La Follette is going to carry his fight into other western states. He will wind up with a vigorous campaign against Governor Johnson, the Roosevelt leader in California.

It is learned that La Follette has already promised Johnson that he is going west to fight him, and fight him hard. Had he been beaten in North Dakota he might have recalled this promise, but he is now doubly determined to fulfill it.

The senator had a lively racket with Johnson immediately after the seven governors had requested Roosevelt to become a candidate. La Follette had counted steadily on the support of Johnson, who had praised him on and off the stump throughout California. But when Johnson returned from New York, bearing peace offerings in one hand and a Roosevelt promise of the vice presidency in the other, La Follette went after him.

"Why do you come here now?" inquired the Wisconsin candidate. "You're fresh from a deal with Roosevelt. He's offered you second place on his ticket in exchange for your support in California. Get by with it if you can, but I tell you here and now that I'm coming out there to fight for my own cause, and I don't know anybody I'd rather have against me than you."

In pursuance of this threat La Follette will begin a tour of the country on April 1, starting in New England and concluding in California, where the primaries are scheduled for May 12.

Senator Dixon, who is the Roosevelt boss, told the Taft people plainly that whatever the result might mean for Roosevelt it certainly did not mean that the people want Mr. Taft. Here is part of the statement:

"Four years ago in North Dakota Taft received 57,680 Republican votes. In the primary election less than 2000 Republicans in North Dakota expressed a preference for his second nomination.

"The strongest Republican state in the union rejected Taft's candidacy by a vote of 40 to 1. Certainly Republicans who really want to nominate a candidate for president who has some possible show of election in November will give heed to the warning from North Dakota Republican voters."

MANY CHILDREN ATTACKED

Some Are Seriously Lacerated by Teeth of a Mad Dog

Pittsburgh, March 22.—Plunging into a group of children as they were entering a schoolyard in Wilkinsburg, a dog, later found to be suffering with rabies, bit several of the children before he was frightened off. The dog rushed toward the Homewood section of this city, while officials of the borough diligently used the telephone in an effort to have him intercepted.

On the way he bit a 13-year-old boy and finally was killed by John Schott, after his 8-year-old sister had been attacked in the dooryard. The victims are between 7 and 13 years of age and several of them are seriously lacerated. All have been taken to a hospital for Pasteur treatment.

WILEY OFFENDS DRUG MEN

Refers to Them as "Dopers" at Pure Food Board Hearing

Washington March 22.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, appearing as a private citizen before the pure food board in advocacy of a regulation guarding very strictly the use and sale of opium, morphine, cocaine and other habit forming drugs, aroused the anger of drug representatives by referring to them as "dopers."

A heated argument ensued and for a moment it looked as if blows might be passed.

Grace Studley In a Reform School

Providence, March 22.—Grace E. Studley, the 13-year-old girl who ran away from home and then kidnapped an infant, was sent, late yesterday afternoon, to the Oak Lawn school for girls by Judge Baker in the superior court, to remain at that reform institution until she is 21 years old.

ROSALSKY BOMB CASE

Judge Rosalsky; Owen Egan, the Injured Inspector; Bomb Cover

Above, Inspector Eagan; below, Judge Rosalsky.

Photos © 1912, by American Press Association.

MAILED FROM FLORIDA

Tramp Claims to Have Sent Infernal Machine to Rosalsky

Jacksonville, Fla., March 22.—Fred Price, alias Fred Newsom, arrested as a vagrant, confessed to having sent the infernal machine to Judge Rosalsky of New York.

Newsom claims he mailed the bomb to New York from Fernandina, a small town near Jacksonville, and says that if the detectives make an investigation they will find the records show the package containing the infernal machine was mailed to Rosalsky, as he says. The man claims to have been an old friend of Folke E. Brandt.

After Brandt's arrest Newsom came to Jacksonville and has been around this city for some time, according to his statement.

VETOED WOOL BILL AGAIN IN THE HOUSE

Is the Same, Word For Word, as Passed at Last Session

Washington, March 22.—Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, sprung a surprise on the house by introducing a bill revising the wool schedule along the identical lines of the attempted revision of the last session.

The Underwood wool bill, which was agreed upon by the Democrats of the ways and means committee, provides a 20 percent ad valorem duty on raw wool and an average reduction of 42 percent on the various grades of manufactured wool.

The bill introduced by Underwood is the same bill word for word which passed the house at the last session, was amended in the senate and later met a veto at the hands of the president.

BANKERS ARE CAUTIOUS

Not Disposed to Loan to China Without Proof of Good Faith

Pekin, March 22.—Representatives of the "six nations" group of bankers, comprising financiers from the United tSates, Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia and Japan, decided to obtain from President Yuan Shi Kai a definite statement as to China's financial policy, with a guaranty of good faith, before proceeding to make further loans.

Yuan has been obliged to postpone the payment of the former emperor's pension. Pressure was brought to bear on the president, but Yuan pleaded his inability to pay the sum owing to lack of funds.

POTASH IN MOHAVE DESERT

Millions of Tons Discovered In a Partially Dried Up Lake

Washington, March 22.—A valuable discovery of soluble potash salts has been made in the Mohave desert, southern California, by field representatives of the bureau of soils and the geological survey.

The potash was found in a partially dried up lake. The government experts who found it declare there are indications of millions of tons of potash.

Oil Trust Cuts Big Melon

New York, March 22.—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana declared a stock dividend of 2900 percent, payable to stock of record of April 1.

ARE REJECTED BY OPERATORS

Demands of Bituminous Miners Summarily Disposed Of

PROSPECT OF GREAT STRIKE

Sub-Committee to Consider Possibility of Compromise—Means That Hundreds of Thousands of Miners Will Be Idle Should Negotiations Fail—Ray of Hope In Anthracite Situation—Operators and Miners May Reconsider Differences

Cleveland, March 22.—All the demands of the 200,000 miners in the bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois for an increase in pay of 10 percent and shorter working hours were voted down by the operators late yesterday.

As a final effort to prevent a prolonged shutdown of the mines after April 1, and possibly a strike, the whole dispute was then referred to a sub-committee. This sub-committee, composed of eight miners and eight operators, will convene today to consider the possibility of a compromise to be recommended to the general conference.

Both operators and miners said after the union demands had been refused that the coal situation throughout the country was grave. Intimations were made by John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers, that the negotiations here might last until next Monday, when the union's policy committee will convene.

Besides the 200,000 miners in the four states directly concerned, 150,000 bituminous coal miners in other states are dependent upon the present deliberations for a basis for their wage scale, and in addition the policy committee will consider the demands respecting wages of about 170,000 anthracite miners. It was pointed out by White that the wages of more than 500,000 union miners after April 1 were in dispute and that the coal output of the country, other than that mined by non-union men, was involved.

But news from New York that the anthracite operators and miners might reconsider their differences had the effect of arousing confidence among union officials that the situation in the anthracite field might be obviated.

The voting down by the operators of the bituminous coal miners' demands was summary. White had said that if the first demand, requiring all the men to be paid on a flat tonnage basis without reduction for slack or small lumps, was refused, then the negotiations were futile. He wanted the miners to be given an increase of 10 percent.

The thirty-two operators then demanded a vote on all the thirteen demands without discussing the rest of them. The result was negative, All the miners' delegates withdrew from the conference with the understanding that the operators would meet alone to consider another plan. A recall of the miners resulted in the formation of a sub-committee.

"The action of that sub-committee will be by no means final," said White. "It merely may recommend. It may come back with recommendations which neither side will find agreeable. If we reach no agreement by April 1, a strike will automatically follow, for we can't work without an agreement. If we do reach an agreement, it will be a question as to just how long a suspension of business will last, for there is bound to be a suspension."

The operators said they did not look upon the reference of the dispute to a sub-committee as holding out any prospect of immediate settlement.

CHANGE THEIR ATTITUDE

Anthracite Mine Owners Agree to Again Go Over the Situation

New York, March 22.—The anthracite operators who recently met here and refused the miners' demands for increased pay have reconsidered their decision to make the answer final and will convene again in the near future to go over the situation.

Whether this means that a compromise offer will be drafted can not be learned. Some independent operators have already signified their intention of granting a partial increase, however, and the assumption is that some similar action may develop from the future meeting.

Another Show For Cadets

Washington, March 22.—President Taft promised four senators last night—Martin, Bacon, Fletcher and Du Pont—that he would look into the cases of five cadets recently dismissed from West Point for drunkenness.

Convict-Murderer Lynched

Cochran, Ga., March 22.—A negro convict, Homer Bush, was lynched after he had killed Guard Joseph Coody, and attempted to shoot down two other guards, in a convict camp near here.

Borden's

A Quick Lunch that can be prepared in thirty seconds and taken in thirty more; that digests and never distresses; that nourishes, satisfies and gives a healthy brace and costs only a fraction as much as expensive meats. That is Borden's Malted Milk.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

The Cigar Maker's Blue Label

is only found on boxes containing cigars made under clean healthy conditions by first-class workmen.

This Label Means Living Wages

Look for this Label in Blue on Every Box of Cigars

If you are a dealer or buy cigars by the box for your own use, see that the label or imprint on the bottom of the box reads 3rd District of Mass., and then you will be one of the great number of earnest citizens of Massachusetts who are conscientiously booming home industry.

Mar. 8—4t F

Use a Gas Range - AND - Gas Heater

And Save Coal Bills

PRICE OF GAS REDUCED

Price of Coal Advanced

We have the money-saving and labor-saving devices. Come in and SEE.

Citizens' Gas Light Co.
11 Granite Street

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

If you live at Quincy Neck
You can get the Daily Ledger
after 3.30 P. M.
at the store of
J. S. Pierce

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. McVill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount. Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

(Continued from last issue)

"Oh, Mr. Carrington—" and Betty stopped short, while her face grew rather pale and then crimsoned. Then she advanced boldly and held out a frigid hand. "I didn't know—so you are alive—you disappeared so suddenly that night—"

"Yes, I'm alive," he said, and then with a smile, "but I fear before you get through with me we'll both wish I were not, Betty."

"Do you still hate me, Betty—Miss Malroy—is there anything I can say or do that will make you forgive me?" He looked at her penitently.

But Betty hardened her heart against him and prepared to keep him in place.

"Will you sit down?" she indicated a chair. He seated himself and Betty put a safe distance between them. "Are you staying in the neighborhood, Mr. Carrington?" she asked, rather unkindly.

"No, I'm not staying in the neighborhood. When I left you, I made up my mind I'd wait at New Madrid until I could come on down here and say I was sorry."

"And it's taken you all this time?" Carrington regarded her seriously.

"I reckon I must have come for more time, Betty—Miss Malroy." in spite of herself, Betty glowed under the caressing humor of his tone.

"Really—you must have chosen poorly then when you selected New Madrid. It couldn't have been a good place for your purpose."

"I think if I could have made up my mind to stay there long enough, it would have answered," said Carrington. "But when a down-river boat tied up there yesterday it was more than I could stand. You see there's danger in a town like New Madrid of getting too sorry. I thought we'd better discuss this point—"

"Mayn't I show you Belle Plain?" asked Betty quickly.

But Carrington shook his head.

"I don't care anything about that," he said. "I didn't come here to see Belle Plain."

"Then you expect to remain in the neighborhood?"

"I've given up the river, and I'm going to get hold of some land."

"Land?" said Betty, with a rising inflection.

"Yes, land."

"I thought you were a river-man?"

"I'm a river-man no longer. I am going to be a planter now. But I'll tell you why, and all about it some other day." Then he held out his hand. "Good-by," he added.

"Are you going?—good-by, Mr. Carrington," and Betty's fingers tingled with his masterful clasp long after he had gone.

CHAPTER XI.

The Shooting-Match at Boggs'.

The judge's faith in the reasonableness of mankind having received a staggering blow, there began a somewhat furtive existence for himself for Solomon Mahaffy, and for the boy They kept to little frequented byways and usually it was the early hours of the morning, or the cool of late afternoons, when they took the road.

A certain hot afternoon brought them into the shaded main street of a straggling village. Near the door of the principal building, a frame tavern a man was seated, with his feet on the horse-rack. There was no other sign of human occupancy.

"How do you do, sir?" said the judge, halting before this solitary individual whom he conjectured to be the landlord. "What's the name of this bustling metropolis?" continued the judge, cocking his head on one side.

As he spoke, Bruce Carrington appeared in the tavern door; pausing there, he glanced curiously at the shabby wayfarers.

"This is Raleigh, in Shelby county, Tennessee," said the landlord.

"Are you the voice from the tomb?" inquired the judge, in a tone of playful sarcasm.

Carrington, amused, sauntered toward him.

"That's one for you, Mr. Pegloe!" he said.

"I am charmed to meet a gentleman whose spirit of appreciation shows his familiarity with a literary allusion," said the judge, bowing.

"We ain't so dead as we look," said Pegloe. "Just you keep on to Boggs' race-track, straight down the road, and you'll find that out—everybody's there to the hoss-racing and shooting-match. I reckon you've missed the hoss-racing, but you'll be in time for the shooting. Why ain't you there, Mr. Carrington?"

"I'm going now, Mr. Pegloe," answered Carrington, as he followed the judge, who, with Mahaffy and the boy, had moved off.

"Better stop at Boggs'!" Pegloe called after them.

But the judge had already formed his decision. Horse-racing and shooting-matches were suggestive of that progressive spirit, the absence of which he had so much lamented at the jail raising at Pleasantville. Memphis was their objective point but Boggs' became a side issue of importance. They had gained the edge of the village when Carrington overtook them. He stepped to Hannibal's side.

"Here, let me carry that long rifle, son!" he said. Hannibal looked up into his face, and yielded the piece without a word. Carrington balanced it on his big palm. "I reckon it can shoot—these old guns are hard to beat!" he observed.

"She's the closest shooting rifle I ever sighted," said Hannibal promptly.

Carrington laughed.

There was a rusty name-plate on the stock of the old sporting rifle; this caught Carrington's eye.

"What's the name here? Oh, Turberville."

The judge, a step or two in advance, wheeled in his tracks with a startling suddenness.

"What?" he faltered, and his face was ashen.

"Nothing, I was reading the name here; it is yours, sir, I suppose?" said Carrington.

"No, sir—no; my name is Price—Slocum Price! Turberville—Turber-

Hannibal Gave Him a Frightened Glance and Edged Toward Mr. Mahaffy's Side.

ville—" he muttered thickly, staring stupidly at Carrington.

"It's not a common name; you seem to have heard it before?" said the latter.

A spasm of pain passed over the judge's face.

"I—I've heard it. The name is on the rifle, you say?"

"Here on the stock, yes."

The judge took the gun and examined it in silence.

"Where did you get this rifle, Hannibal?" he at length asked brokenly.

"I fetched it away from the Barony, sir; Mr. Crenshaw said I might have it."

The judge gave a great start, and a hoarse, inarticulate murmur stole from between his twitching lips.

"What do you know of the Barony, Hannibal?"

"I lived at the Barony once, until Uncle Bob took me to Scratch Hill to be with him," said Hannibal.

"You—you lived at the Barony?" repeated the judge, and a dull wonder struck through his tone. "How long ago—when?" he continued.

"I don't know how long it were, but until Uncle Bob carried me away after the old general died."

The judge slipped a hand under the child's chin and tilted his face back so that he might look into it. For a long moment he studied closely those small features, then with a shake of the head he handed the rifle to Carrington, and without a word strode forward. Carrington had been regarding Hannibal with a quickened interest."

"Hello!" he said, as the judge moved off. "You're the boy I saw at Scratch Hill!"

Hannibal gave him a frightened glance, and edged to Mr. Mahaffy's side, but did not answer.

The judge plodded forward, his shoulders drooped, and his head bowed. For once silence had fixed its seal upon his lips, no inspiring speech fell from them. He had been suddenly swept back into a past he had striven these twenty years and more to forget, and his memories shaped themselves fantastically. Surely if ever a man had quitted the world that knew him, he was that man! He had died and yet he lived—lived horribly, without soul or heart, the empty shell of a man.

A turn in the road brought them within sight of Boggs' race-track, a wide, level meadow. The judge paused irresolutely, and turned his bleared face on his friend.

"We'll stop here, Solomon," he said rather wearily, for the spirit of boast and jest was quite gone out of him. He glanced toward Carrington. "Are you a resident of these parts, sir?" he asked.

"I've been in Raleigh three days altogether," answered Carrington, and they continued on across the meadow in silence.

Here were men from the small clearings in homespun and butternut or fringed hunting-shirts, with their women folk trailing after them. Here, too, in lesser numbers, were the lords of the soil, the men who counted their acres by the thousand and their slaves by the score. There was the flutter of skirts among the moving groups, the nodding of gay parasols that shaded fresh young faces, while occasionally a comfortable family carriage with some planter's wife or daughter rolled silently over the turf.

The judge's dull eye kindled, the haggard lines that streaked his face erased themselves. This was life, opulent and full. These swift-rolling carriages with their handsome women, these well-dressed men on foot, and splendidly mounted, all did their part toward lifting him out of his gloom.

A cry from Hannibal drew his attention. Turning, he was in time to see the boy bound away. An instant later, to his astonishment, he saw a young girl who was seated with two men in an open carriage, spring to the ground, and dropping to her knees put her arms about the tattered little figure.

"Why, Hannibal!" cried Betty Malroy.

"Miss Betty! Miss Betty!" and Hannibal buried his head on her shoulder.

"What is it, Hannibal; what is it, dear?"

"Nothing, only I'm so glad to find you!"

"I am glad to see you, too!" said Betty, as she wiped his tears away. "When did you get here, dear?"

"We got here just today, Miss Betty," said Hannibal.

Mr. Ware, careless as to dress, scowled down on the child. He had favored Boggs' with his presence, not because he felt the least interest in horse-racing, but because he had no faith in girls, and especially had he profound mistrust of Betty. She was so much easily portable wealth, a pink-faced chit ready to fall into the arms of the first man who proposed to her. But Charley Norton had not seemed disturbed by the planter's forbidding air.

"What ragamuffin's this, Betty?" growled Ware disgustedly.

But Betty did not seem to hear.

"Did you come alone, Hannibal?" she asked.

"No, ma'am; the judge and Mr. Mahaffy, they fetched me."

The judge had drawn nearer as Betty and Hannibal spoke together, but Mahaffy hung back. There were gulfs not to be crossed by him. It was different with the judge; the native magnificence of his mind fitted him for any occasion.

"Allow me the honor to present myself, ma'am—Price is my name—Judge Slocum Price. May I be permitted to assume that this is the Miss Betty of whom my young protege so often speaks?"

Tom Ware gave him a glance of undisguised astonishment, while Norton regarded him with an expression of stunned and resolute gravity.

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Telephone 1196 M.

Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

VERMONT STATESMAN DEAD

Congressman Foster Succumbs to an Attack of Pneumonia

Washington, March 22.—Representative David J. Foster of Vermont died here last night after an illness of three weeks. He was first stricken with grippe, which yesterday developed into pneumonia and terminated fatally in a few hours. He was 54 years old.

Mr. Foster, who had represented the First Vermont district continuously since the beginning of the Fifty-Seventh congress, was chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs during the last year of the Sixty-First congress.

He was also chairman of the delegation from the United States to the general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome last year. In September, 1911, he headed the delegation which represented this country at the celebration of Mexican independence.

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

AUCTION SALE
— OF —
Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock
About 100 Lots
Sale at Quincy Adams
At Freight House of
New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.
April 9th, 1912, at 10 A.M.

Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made at time of sale, and removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. L. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of James Alonzo Hayden, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:
Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Charles D. Bailey, of Quincy without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the third day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.
Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of March A. D. 1912.
JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 22-25 Apr. 1

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.
To George Miller and George P. Martin of Quincy in said County of Norfolk and Francis Martin of Chicago in the State of Illinois.
Whereas, Alice W. McGrail of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, has presented to said Court a petition representing that she holds as tenant-in-common four undivided seventh parts or shares of certain real estate lying in Quincy in said County of Norfolk, and described in said petition; and, as said real estate cannot be advantageously divided, praying that partition may be made among the tenants-in-common according to law; and that the commissioner who may be appointed to make said partition be ordered to make sale and conveyance of said real estate at private sale in accordance with an offer named and to distribute the net proceeds thereof. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested who can be found within the Commonwealth, fourteen days at least before said Court; and, if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.
Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.
JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t 22-29-5

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

GENERAL UTILITY
-- HOSPITAL --
FOR THE REPAIR OF FURNITURE,
LOCKS and KEYS,
DOOR BELLS,
SHADES
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 388-3 Jan. 17-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Mar. 21, on car or leaving car arriving at East Milton about 9.25 P. M. pocket book containing keys and money. Reward if returned to 357 Highland street, Milton. 22-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-3t.

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE—The furnishings of a 9 room house all rooms rented and in good location for keeping boarders and roomers. A few minutes walk from ship yard. Sell cheap if sold at once. Address X Ledger Office. 20-3t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appb at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—A woman cook. Short hours. Must furnish references. Address "Cook" Ledger Office. 22-3t

OPTICIANS Come, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee,, 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Have You Tried The
X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

TO LET

TO LET—Furnished 3, 4 and 5 rooms and bath, h. w. floors, electric lights, gas, furnace, every convenience. Also large furnished room and bath. Address Miss Spear, 118 Granite street. 22-1t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—Corner Merrymount road and Putnam street, 2 new apartments, five and six rooms. All conveniences. Apply T. Swithin, Greenleaf Block. 16-6t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

FOR RENT
Russell Park.
House 7 rooms, large hall, bath etc., hard wood floors, fireplace, range, set tubs, electric lights, shades, screens etc. New and modern and ready for occupancy April 1st. Apply to Miss Prescott, 1424 Hancock street, Quincy. 22-tf L P O

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

QUINCY BOSTON MALDEN PROVIDENCE MANCHESTER PAWTUCKET

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO.

Our Anniversary Sale of Spring and Easter Clothes

Starts today. To show our sincere appreciation for the generous patronage bestowed upon us in the past, we propose to celebrate our TWENTY-THIRD COMMERCIAL BIRTHDAY by offering to the people an INCOMPARABLE FEAST of PHENOMENAL BARGAINS. Our splendidly assorted stocks of wearing apparel for men, women, and children, together with our most astonishing values, unite to make this Anniversary event the most memorable in the history of our business career. Our money-saving prices defy all competition, and of themselves teach a convincing lesson in true economy.

WE ARE GOING TO KEEP OPEN HOUSE AND EVERYBODY'S INVITED TO OUR BARGAIN FEAST.

"A CHARGE ACCOUNT"—WE OPEN ACCOUNTS WITH ALL TRUSTWORTHY PEOPLE

in or within 25 miles of Quincy. It enables them to have without delay such clothing as they now desire, the same to be paid for in convenient partial payments while earning the money.

Men's Suits — New fabrics, cut in the latest styles. Handsome new grays and browns, two and three button models, splendidly tailored — $9.98 to $16.50

Ladies' Suits — The latest and best styles in splendid quality of serge, worsteds, whipcords, and novelty suitings. Silk or satin lined. Man-tailored — $19.98 to $45

Ladies' Dresses — Beautiful gowns in messalines, taffetas, marquisettes, and chiffon. All the best styles in the new and popular shades and colors — $10.98 to $37.50

Ladies' Suits — In good quality of serge, whipcord and fancy suitings. Styles the latest, qualities right and money-saving prices ranging from — $10.98 to $18.50

Ladies' Coats — Swagger spring coats in the new novelty grays, stripes and fancy mixtures, combining style and quality, at economical prices — $8.50 to $25

Men's Suits — In fine quality of serges, worsted and novelty suitings. Fine tailoring, as well as style and character. A choice selection of fabrics and colorings — $18.50 to $30

Boys' Suits — Made of stylish, durable fabrics that have the wearing qualities so necessary to rough usage. Our low prices will surprise you. — $1.98 to 8.50

We Are Complete Outfitters For Man, Woman And Child

Joyce Bros. & Co.

HAVE YOUR PURCHASES CHARGED

13-15 Granite Street — Qnincy, Mass.

Millinery — Here Dame Fashion portrays the season's latest fads and fancies in ready to-wear fall and winter headwear for ladies, misses and girls. Our prices save you at least 25 per cent. — $1.98 to $25

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO

GET IN LINE FOR EASTER

Opening Display of Spring Clothes and Men's Toggery

Hundreds of Money-Saving Values in the Latest 1912 Fashions

Payson Specials — Top-notchers in STYLE, FIT and WEAR — $12.89 — Such patterns and such fine tailoring have never so far as we know been offered at such Low Prices

Payson Leaders — Blue Serges—plain and fancy mixtures. Usually sold at $18 or more — $14.89 — Our Blue Serge Suits are guaranteed not to fade $20 Models — These represent all that stands for PERFECTION in clothes craft. — $17.89 — $20. value and they look it too.

A GOOD BUY . . .

25 dozen Special Shirts—coat-style cuffs attached DOLLAR VALUE. While they last 79c

Lamson & Hubbard Hat — $3.00

Hancock Special Derby — $2.00 Worth More

New Cloth Hats Stitched — $2.00

Select your Suit now and have it put aside for you while the picking is good

Payson-Mitchell Company

HOME OF HART, SHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES

City Square - - - Quincy, Mass.

March 22 1 o

ODD FELLOWS PARADE TONIGHT

Manet encampment I. O. O. F. is looking for an enthusiastic meeting tonight when it will receive a visitation from Canton Shawmut, P. M. The canton will arrive from Boston at 7.30 and will be met at the Quincy depot by the members of Manet encampmnet headed by the Manet encampment band. There will be a short parade throught City Square to Odd Fellows hall. The work of the evening will be the Royal Purple degree and those scheduled to receive it will probably witness some fine work. A banquet will be served after the meeting.

A FRATERNAL VISITATION

Quincy Commandery Knights Templars has accepted an invitation to make a fraternal visit to Cambridge Commandery at Cambridge next Tuesday evening. If enough Sir Knights signify their intention of participating in the visitaton the Eminent Commander will arrange for a special car. Quincy Commandery has also accepted an invitation of Rev. Carl G. Horst to attend divine service at the Wollaston Unitarian church, Easter Sunday April 7, at 4.30 P. M.

DEATHS

PERRY.—In Quincy, March 20, Miss Elizabeth H. Perry, aged 53 years. Funeral services from late home 56 Spear street, Saturday, March 23, at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t-20-22.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

CONTEST FOR SENIOR CUP

The contest for the senior cup which is to be held on Saturday night in the local Gym will be the last athletic event on the Y. M. C. A. schedule This cup, which is valued at $25.00, was donated by this year's members of the senior gymnasium class and will be contested for annually until it is won three times by the same member.

The athlete who carries off the honors in the all round contests, such as the following events call for will have proven himself a versatile champion indeed.

The potato race, three broad jumps, 150 yard dash, running high jump, 300 yard dash, 12 pound shot put and 1000 yards run certainly call for all the speed, agility, skill, strength, endurane and nerve that a contestant possesses and the athlete who wins first place in such a test may well be proud of his victory.

The events will be scored on the following basis:

Eight potato races, 100 points for 34 seconds, 3 points for each 1-5 second.

Three broad jumps, 100 points for 32 feet, 1 point for each inch.

150 yards dash, 100 points for 19 seconds, 3 points for each 1-5 sec.

Run high jump, 100 points for 5 min. 10 1-2 sec., 2 points for each 1-2 inch.

300 yard dash, 100 points for 39 sec. 2 points for each 1-5 sec.

12 pound shot put, 100 points for 43 ft., 3 points for each 1-2 ft.

1000 yard run, 100 points for 2 min. 40 sec., 1 point for each 2-5 sec.

The men have been training for these events for the past six weeks and at the present time it is impossible to say who will finish in first place.

The following men will enter the contest Wilson, Estey, Trask, Shirley, McArdle, N. Wood, P. Wood, Altstein, Porter, Cranshaw, Kingsbury, McDonald, Djerf, Lundin, Chell and Kemp.

The first event, the potato race, will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

BRIEFS

William F. Eaton of Goffe street has gone to Syracuse, New York, on a business trip.

The Houghs Neck Catholic Lyceum held a regular meeting in the club rooms Thursday evening.

Miss Jeanette T. Verner of Malden is spending a few days with relatives on Washington street.

A civil service examination for inspectors of the district police is to be held in Boston, April 26.

Mrs. Tierney of 52 Gay street, now an occupant of Mrs. T. O'Connell's house, has bought the Wade estate to occupy about April 1st.

The warm sun this morning has turned the snow which fell on the first day of spring to slush, and the sale of rubbers is again brisk.

The many friends of Miss Corinne Goulet, the well-known manicurist, will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from her recent illness.

The "College Chap" will be presented by the members of St. John's Dramatic club in Parachial School hall on the evening of April 22.

The parish of First Church is to give a reception to Rev. and Mrs. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, this evening in chapel of the church.

Rev. Robert N. McDonald, pastor of St. Mary's church, Calvary, Kentucky, is visiting his cousin Mrs. John J. Noonan, on Manet avenue.

The members of the Quincy A. A. wil hold their first social function in Music hall on the evening of May 2, which will take the form of a May party.

Lovers of handcraft are enthusiastic over the display of china and leather by Miss E. L. Isbell at Miss Spear's Gift Shop, 118 Granite St. In the modeled and painted leather are beautiful automobile, shopping and vanity bags with their cords and tassels, moire linnings, purses and card cases. Miss Isbell is a member of the Boston Arts and Crafts Society and Mineral Art League. The exhibit will continue through next week.

ANNUAL GYM EXHIBITION

Several very interesting and enjoyable events have been added to the program for the boys' exhibition which was postponed from last Friday night until tonight.

The event which is causing the most discussion among the boys, of course, is the basketball game between the girls' team from the Woodward school and the leaders' team. The girls' team will line up as follows: Mary Larkin and Jeanette Cosgrove, forwards; Dorothy Corthell, center, Amy Hoyt and Edith Kingston, guards.

The leaders will line up a strong team against their fair opponents, in the following positions: Joe McGrath, H. McMellan, forwards; R. Davis, center; C. Johnson and D. Morrison, guards.

The other basketball game will be between the Cunningham juniors and Quincy juniors. Each team has won a game and this one will decide the winner of the series.

There are 160 reserved seats and standing room for 50. First event at 7.45.

STRONGBOXES FOUND EMPTY

Hunters For Shaw Money Fail to Find Any Trace of It

Boston, March 22.—A strongbox of the Old Colony Trust company's vaults belonging to Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, who was arrested in connection with Arthur W. Shaw, the alleged embezzler of Freeport, Me., was opened yesterday and found to be empty. The receiver appointed by Judge Pierce asked Assistant Cashier Mitchell to open the box in the presence of a committee of court officials.

On Tuesday another box belonging to Mrs. Stuart in the vaults of the State Street Trust company was opened, and this also was found empty.

All plans for the annual concert and ball of Quincy Council Knights of Columbus are nearly completed and iti s expected that the affair to be held in Music hall on the evening of April 8, will be about the best ever.

GOOD RACING IS ASSURED

Y. R. A. of M. Racing Dates Fixed at Annual Meeting

THE QUINCY DATES

The annual meeting of the Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts was held Thursday evening at the rooms of the Boston Yacht club and dates for the seasons open races were fixed.

The by-laws were amended so as to provide for the attendance of an associate judge at races.

The officers elected were President, Charles F. Adams, 2d; Vice president, B. S. Permar; Secretary, A. T. Bliss; Treasurer, I. H. Willey; Executive Committee, Charles F. Adams 2d, R. C. Goudey, Herbert W. Robbins, C. K. Small, A. T. Bliss.

The reports of the secretary showed the association to be composed of 26 yacht clubs and that the treasury showed a balance of $933.66.

The dates as fixed show that there is to be some good racing in Quincy waters during the coming season. In addition to the regular club races of the Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum clubs there will be open races by all three clubs, the races for the Quincy Yacht club challenge cup, the series of races for the Cape Cat cup of the New England association and the races under the auspices of the Quincy club on labor day for the Bermuda cup.

In addition to these there are to be a series of mid-summer races in Hull bay under the auspices of the Boston Yacht club. The racing dates as made up Thursday evening are as follows:

May 30—South Boston Y. C.
June 8—Mosquito Fleet Y. C.
June 17—Boston Y. C., Hull.
June 22—Savin Hill Y. C.
June 22—Corinthian Y. C., ocean race to Cape Cod.
June 29—Eastern Y. C. Marblehead, morning.
July 4—Boston Y. C., Marblehead, morning.
July 4—Corinthian Y. C. Marblehead, morning.
July 4—City of Boston regatta.
July 5—Hingham Y. C., Hingham.
July 6—Squantum Y. C.
July 13—Columbia Y. C.
July 20—Winthrop Y. C.
July 26—Manchester Y. C.
July 27—Gloucester Y. C.
July 31—Quincy Y. C.
Aug. 1—Boston Y. C., mid-summer series, Hull.
Aug. 2—Boston Y. C., mid-summer series, Hull.
Aug. 3—Boston Y. C., mid-summer series, Hull.
Aug. 4—Lynn Y. C. squadron run, Bass Point to Marblehead.
Aug. 5—Eastern Y. C., Marblehead.
Aug. 6—Boston Y. C. Marblehead, morning.
Aug. 7—Corinthian Y. C., Marblehead.
Aug. 8—Corinthian Y. C., Marblehead.
Aug. 9—Corinthian Y. C., Marblehead.
Aug. 10—Corinthian Y. C. Marblehead.
Aug. 17—Cottage Park Y. C.
Aug. 24—Lynn Y. C.
Aug. 31—Wollaston Y. C.
Labor Day—Quincy Y. C. Bermuda cup.
Sept. 8—Association rendezvous at Hull.

THAYER GIRLS THE CHAMPIONS

The girls' basket ball team of Thayer Academy has just closed a remarkable season, playing in championship form and winning the title of the best team at the academy for years. They won the entire schedule of six games defeating the fast team from Winchester High, the Oliver Ames High school team of North Easton and the Swampscott High team, the proud champions of the North Shore. Much credit is due Miss Fessenden, the athletic instructor for her excellent coaching.

The star player of the team is Miss Edith Kimball whose accurate throwing of baskets was a great factor in winning the games. The members of the team are: Edith Kimball, Caroline Kimball, Rowena Foss, Dorothy Summers and Florence Perry. The games played and the scores are as follows:

Thayer 15, Quincy Gym Girls 2.
Thayer 24, Stetson High, 19.
Thayer 42, Melrose High, 14.
Thayer 27, Oliver Ames High, 19.
Thayer 26, Winchester High, 25.
Thayer 34, Swampscott High, 33.

BLANCK AND HARRIS FREE

Will Not Be Punished For 147 Deaths In Shirtwaist Factory Fire

New York, March 22.—Max Blanck and Isaac Harris, proprietors of the Triangle Shirtwaist company, are not to be punished in any way for the death of 147 persons, most of them girls, who died at the fire in the Harris & Blanck factory on March 25, 1911.

Justice Seabury in the criminal branch of the supreme court dismissed the two men, who were brought to bar to answer an indictment charging them specifically with the death of Jacob Klein. They were tried months ago on an indictment charging them with the death of Margaret Schwartz, and were acquitted.

The justice yesterday ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty in the new case.

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

The regular basket ball schedule of the season for the players who constitute the Quincy High team comes to a terminus this afternoon in the gymnasium of the local school, where the Granite City lads endeavor to the best of their ability, to turn the tables on the strong Franklin High school combination, for the defeat sustained recently at Franklin, when Quincy High was beaten by six points. The game at Franklin was played under somewhat unfavorable conditions by the local players for they were forced to contest under collegiate rules, something which they had never before experienced and which they only became aware of at Franklin.

Such being the case, the defeat must not be deplored as much as it would were both teams accustomed to the same rules. Today, Franklin High will undergo a change for the amateur rules, to which the local players and in fact the majority of High school players conform, will prevail, and while one of the warmest games of the season is expected, the Quincy rooters are exceedingly optimistic as to the outcome, so much so that they figure on their school representatives coming out of the struggle by a substantial lead. A victory today will end the basket ball season of Quincy High in brilliant style and incidentally place the boys in a clearer light as they strive to covet the honors of the state.

Already much talk over the national pastime is going the rounds in local circles and the minor leagues and semi-professional teams in various sections will have ample representations from among the local players who have proven their worth on the diamond in the past. I hear that "Skiley" Kelley, the former Adams A. A. star, who later showed great form with the Quincy team and the Quincy Independents is to be given a tryout with Lowell, the same team which "Patsy" Duggan, the Atlantic athlete, will endeavor to represent in the New England league.

Knight, Rogers, Barry, Galvin, and Gillis, all of whom are too well known as ball tossers to need any further mention, it is understood, are to recant to the Nova Scotia confines and there enthuse the fans in those regions. "West" Ganzel, "Link" Elcock and "Left" Ford are all considering very flattering offers and there is no doubt but Quincy will more than have its share among those players who are to loom forth this season in the lime light.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 71 QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY EVENING MARCH 23, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

THE COLLEGE ASSOCIATION

What the Y. M. C. A. Does for the College Student

TESTIMONIALS

There is one very important department of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association that has not been dealt with in this department. This is the college work.

Doubtless many people who will read this article will think of Association work in connection with the young men in the city. Many people will say that the kind of work this article deals with is like the Association in connection with the young man with a so-called good home. Very few of us realize how many young men with a college education go wrong. Many of the men in charge of the rescue missions in the great cities know that very many of the men who come to them as the last resort are men who have either graduated from or who have attended for one or more years.

The need of the young man who enters college is the same as that of the young man who has left home to go anywhere which places him outside the home influence. The person who has not had the experience can form no idea of what it really is to be away from home and away from home influences.

The writer has in mind a young man who had hard work to get through high school. He had been such a favorite in school, he thought it smart to play monkey. His marks suffered in consequence. In the end he was able to get in. At home he was a happy-go-lucky sort of a boy. He leaves home for the first time without his mother, who is a widow. On top of this, when he reaches college he is not the idol of the boys as he had been at home. No one knows him and he might cry his eyes out for all of them. This is as any of us knows who will stop to think the real experience of thousands of these boys. It is just at this point the College association comes in.

As an illustration we will take Dwight Hall which is the College Association at Yale. The writer knows about this and can speak from experience rather than from theory. By August first a neat little booklet is sent to each member of the incoming class. This contains much valuable information which stands the newcomer in good stead when he really arrives a freshman fresh and green. He has had ample time to study this book which gives forms of etiquette that he would not dream of otherwice. When he actually arrives at the railroad station he is met by a member of the College Association who has come back just to meet him as well as other members of his class to make them feel at home. There are all kinds of young men in college just as there is elsewhere. The fellow with bad habits is just as active to get recruits for his crowd as are the others. They are usually of the most genial sort and if the young freshman falls into their hands he is surely to fall in with them. In the college Association a great deal is made of the study of the Bible. He is if possible induced to join one of the classes. This brings him into touch with some of the best young men in college who are teachers. In this way he is often saved from falling into some of the experiences we have been reading that the glee club of a Pennsylvania college recently had.

Dwight Hall has a fine building of its own and equipped just as any city Association is, only to meet the needs of the class of men it deals with. One very helpful feature is the eating club where at a very moderate rate the member can get his lunch which often saves him not only money but time as well for it is in the center of the college buildings.

The building is of course adapted to the social needs of the young men as well as to their other needs.

Within the last four or five years a new feature has been introduced into the college association which is calling to it very marked attention. This is particularly true of the Scientific schools. Byers Hall, the College association of the Sheffield Scientific school deals with young men who when they have completed their course have to deal with men in the rough in mining camps and in various other fields where they will have to deal with foregn born men as well as other industrial workers. This has led to the so-called Industrial service movement. This is defined as "Any kind of helpful service for working men and boys that affords personal contact, such as teaching English, history, civics, etc., to foreigners; classes in drawing, electricity, manual

(Continued on Page Three.)

THE CORSET SHOP

Miss Sarah E. Dunphy, 8 Maple St., Quincy

is showing all the Spring models in the popular priced Corsets of these standard makes

NEMO WARNER'S
La GRECQUE BON TON
R & G C-B A LA SPIRITE
ROYAL WORCESTER

All Corsets $1.00 and upwards carefully fitted. Also Ferris Waists for Children, Misses and Women. Hose Supporters, Brassieres and other accessories.

22-2t

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

John H. Pray & Sons Co.
Established 1852
646-656 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

RECEPTION TO REV. A. L. HUDSON

Parishioners of First Church Greet Rev. and Mrs. Hudson

THE COMMITTEES

Many were present at the reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson by the parish in the chapel of First church on Friday evening.

In the receiving line were Rev. and Mrs. Hudson, Henry M. Faxon, chairman of the parish committee and Mrs. Faxon. Mrs. Hudson was becomingly gowned in messaline of deep violet and carried a bouquet of violets. Mrs. Faxon was in light blue, with surplice effect and also carried violets.

The ushers, members of the Junior Laymen, were William C. Edwards, Frederick M. Atwood, Richard Z. Crane, L. Kenneth Edwards, Albert D. Parker, Chester A. Bennett, Samuel P. Sears, Frederic Schenkelberger, Allen P. Miller, Bruce W. Saville, Herbert L. Johnson, Maurice Blackmur, C. Abbott Johnson and Winslow Sears.

Jonquils and other hot house plants graced the platform while at the refreshment tables pinks were the decoration with candelabra in harmony.

Frappe and coffee were served with Mrs. Frederick H. Smith and Mrs. James H. Stetson as pourers and Mrs. Henry R. Holden, Miss Mary Holden and Miss Mary Nightingale presiding over the frappe.

The refreshments were served by a bevy of young ladies from the Junior Alliance composed of Miss Elsie E. Turner, Miss Irma Tilton, Miss Catharine Saville, Miss Minnie Packard, Miss Dorothy Packard, Miss Georgiana Waldron, Miss Beatrice Morrison, Miss Ethel Hersey, Miss Dorothy Edwards, Miss Mary Faxon, Miss Marguerite Davis, Miss Blanche Morrison, Miss Roberta Smith, Miss Edith Lovejoy, and Miss Hazel Dewhurst.

An orchestra which played at intervals during the evening was composed of William E. Weston, Max O. Pinkham and Edward B. Packard.

In charge of the affair was the hospitality committee of whom Mrs. William B. Nichols is chairman. She was assisted by Miss Mary Nightingale, Miss Mary Holden, Miss Lucy Spear, Mrs. Edward B. Marsh, Mrs. John Christiansen and Mrs. Henry R. Holden.

SALAD SUPPER AND SOCIAL

The Ladies' Catholic club of Houghs Neck held a very successful salad supper last evening, from six until eight o'clock, under direction of a committee of members. There was a large attendance and at the conclusion, whist was in order, fifteen tables being in play.

Souvenirs were won by Mrs. A. F. Baker, Mrs. Walter H. Buchan, Mrs. Thomas Fay, Mrs. Charles Fosdick, George Cochrane, Bertram A. Brown, Peter Healey and Dr. William Totton.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Arthur H. Dunham, Mrs. Roswell Y. Woodbury, Mrs. Michael G. Coughlan, Mrs. Jason L. Harvey, Miss Annie Noonan, Miss Bessie Hagan, Miss Fannie Hagan, Mrs. Walter H. Buchan, Mrs. John Kelliher, Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. Patrick F. O'Brien and Miss Helen Gagan.

THE MORNING FIRE.

The alarm from Box 155 at 8.50 this morning was for a slight fire on the roof of the C. F. Bates' soap factory building, Newton avenue. The fire probably started from sparks from a passing locomotive and did but little damage.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

ENCAMPMENT HOLDS PARADE

Escorts Canton Shawmut, P. M. Through City Square

RED LETTER NIGHT

Friday night's meeting of Manet encampment was a red letter night in the history of the encampment. Not only were there many visiting patriarchs from encampments in neighboring cities but a bit of color was added to the meeting by the presence of Canton Shawmut, Patriarchs Militant, which was present with fifty officers and chevaliers, in full uniform. The uniform of the Patriarchs Militant is a brilliant one and they made a handsome appearance as they paraded through City square, previous to the meeting.

The canton arrived from Boston at 7.30 and was met at the depot by members of Manet encampment, who were accompanied by the Manet band. After fraternal greetings had been exchanged a line was formed on Depot street and escorted by Manet encampment under the marshalship of Edward L. Goodridge, a short march was taken via Saville, Washington, Maple and Hancock streets to Odd Fellows hall.

The canton was in charge of Maj. Gen. Zenas W. Lewis who was accompanied by the following staff:—

Col. D. S. Knowles
Lt. Col. R. S. Boynton
Lt. Co. J. F. Freeman
Lt. Co. G. D. Griffith
Lt. Co. H. S. Minor
Major N. A. Lewis
Major Samuel Grossman
Major F. W. Blaisdell
Brig. Gen. J. T. Purcell
Lt. Col. Arthur W. Stetson of the staff of A. R. Stocker, Commanding General of the Patriarchs Militant army.
Lt. Co. J. F. Kemper
Col. William Dingle
Major George H. Mullis
Capt. H. J. Blanchard
District Deputy Grand Patriarch Frank M. Taylor and suite of Malden were also present to witness the work.

The work of the evening was the third, or Royal Purple degree which was exemplified on three candidates by the officers of Manet encampment. The work was exceptionally well rendered and the officers received many compliments.

After the business of the evening, an adjournment was made to the banquet hall where refreshments were served after which there was a social hour during which remarks were made by the deputy and by several of the officers of the Patriarchs Militant and visiting patriarchs.

NOT KNOWN IN QUINCY.

A young man who gave his name as Fred C. Gray of Quincy was arrested in New York Friday for entering the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith. Mrs. Smith threw Gray down stairs and then sat on him until the police arrived. On being searched several letters were found intimating that he was about to marry a widow with $50.-000 and intended to come to Quincy in a speedy automobile. A silver cigarette case, once the property of Mayor Burke of Birmingham, was also found in his possession. Gray claimed he entered the house of Mrs. Smith to visit a man named Wheland. No one in police circles seems to know who Gray is but they are of the impression that he comes from East Milton and that he was in Quincy at one time although the given names are not the same.

☞Peter MacQueen is coming to the Wollaston Congregational church Wednesday evening and will take his audience with him to Africa, that continent of mystery, darkness, and wonderful beauty, with its strange peoples, weird customs, and unexplored rivers and forests. No better guide for a trip to Africa can be found than Peter MacQueen. He has been there and has thrilling tales to tell of his experiences. Do not fail to hear him!

☞Hungry children relish PRATT'S BREAD and good butter. It makes them grow.

REDUCTION IN PRICE
—OF—
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,
By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer
Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185
Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912.
Feb. 24—to May 1

QUINCY WOMEN ARE CAPSIZED

Word reached Quincy this morning of a slight mishap to Miss Martha Heaton, Miss Alice A. Putnam and Mrs. Edwin E. Davis, guests on beard the Gray Duck, T. L. Sturtevant's yacht, which has been cruising all winter off the Florida coast and arrived at Palm Beach, Friday morning from Miami.

Late in the afternoon while being rowed to the Gray Duck, which was at anchor 50 yards from the launch basin, two of them arose as the boat approached the yacht, and their change of position caused an upset plunging them into Lake Worth.

Mr. Sturtevant was standing at the ladder of his yacht, and tossed ropes to the women and they were quickly taken aboard without serious results.

The party is on its way north and is expected soon in Quincy.

☞Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald of Boston, whose maiden name was Susan Walker, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr college. It would be a very pleasant compliment to her, if the college women of Quincy should attend the meeting in Brasee hall, Wollaston on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Fitzgerald is to give an address on Equal Suffrage. Mrs. Fitzgerald has worked long and devotedly for young people in New York, as a truant officer and settlement worker, and has studied the public schools in Boston with great care.

RUSCONI—CROSTA.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the City Clerk's office at City hall, this morning, when Miss Santina Crosta became the bride of Mr. Emilio Rusconi. The ceremony was performed by City Clerk Emery L. Crane in the presence of a large gathering of City officials who lined the corridor and witnessed the ceremony. It was the City Clerk's first offence as the chief actor at a wedding ceremony but he did well, and tied the knot fast and secure.

The bride was very prettily gowned in blue silk and carried a handsome bouquet of white carnations. She also wore white carnations and jonquils in her hair. The groom wore a large white carnation in the lapel of his coat. The bridesmaid was an intimate friend of the bride and was gowned in white, while a boy in knee trousers officiated as best man.

The few words that made the man and wife were soon said and among the first to extend congratulations was City Treasurer Tilden who officiated as sponsor, and who shook the bride heartily by the hand and wished her all kinds of good luck. It is said however that he did not exact the usual privilege of kissing the bride after the ceremony.

The formalities over and with the certificate safely stowed away in his pocket. Mr. and Mrs. Rusconi took their departure in a waiting automobile, amid a shower of good wishes.

☞Mrs. D. P. Taylor of City square is having her opening of Easter millinery and is showing advanced styles. See announcement in advertising columns.

TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING MONDAY

Mayor Stone sent out a supplementary call for the special Council meeting for Monday evening this morning. The call as it now reads is to consider the annual budget; Confirmation of the members of the Advisory board; to consider the question of authorizing the Mayor to petition the County Commissioners and Railroad Commissioners, if necessary, to lay out and accept, as a public highway, Saville street across the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and to draw six jurors.

Miss Spear's School of Music and Tutoring
118 Granite St, Quincy
Kindergarten and Handcraft Classes taught by specialists now ready. Miss Spear's voice puplis have benefit of Vocal Art Classes for sight singing, voice blending and dramatic expression. Monthly Recital for younge piano and voice pupils. March 23-1t

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

THE LADY'S SHOP
Number Four Maple Street,
JOHNSON BUILDING, - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial
Opening Display
... of ....
1912 MILLINERY
and
EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25
and continuing
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob. 23-1w L-23tf

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The retirement of a loyal public servant like Dr. Wiley seems to worry the people a good deal more than it does the administration.

The government may have to take over the coal mines, but the politicians will never accept jobs in them as a substitute for a post office.

As the Maine is safe in its long home in the Gulf of Mexico, our intelligent relic hunters will have to be satisfied with blood stained chips from railroad accidents.

In view of the sufferings encountered by the coal operators in meeting the cost of living, we hardly see how they can give the miners any more pay.

If a corporation is going to advance the wages of its employees, it seems to relieve the feelings of the stock holders to spend a million dollars or so in advance fighting a strike.

These reports of "great applause" which punctuate the speeches in the Congressional Record remind us of the bass drum player who also operates the cymbals with his foot.

President Taft favors co-operation to meet high cost of living. But as co-operation means that some one else will get just as good things as we get, we doubt if the American people will do it.

The Countess of Warwick says the absence of formality at the White house is delightful, but we shall not feel really comfortable when Mr. Taft entertains us unless we can sit around in our shirt-sleeves.

The government may be spending several hundred millions of dollars needlessly, but as the free seeds from our congressmen have come in, we believe that things are running fairly well after all.

China according to dispatches received Friday has granted equal suffrage to the women of that country and would seem to be far ahead of England and America in advanced and liberal ideas. They are more sensible than we in this country also, in having restrictions on the voting privilege in the clause "property owner."

Women voters in China will be subjected to the same restrictions as men and must be able to read and write and also be property owners and at least 20 years old.

If we in America and also in our own city had some such restrictions as to property holders voting being eligible to a seat in our council, there would not be quite so free on expenditure of the taxpayer's money.

SOCIAL CHRISTIANITY.

It is expected a large number will be present at the meeting of the Men's class of the Washington Street Congregational church tomorrow evening at 6.15. A discussion on "Studies in Social Christianity," will be in order, many members taking part in argument.

The principal speaker of the evening will be A. Fitch Bromley, secretary of the Quincy Y. M. C. A., who will talk on "The Work of the Y. M. C. A.

THE CLOSING GERMAN.

The closing german for the younger set takes place this evening in Colonial hall. The matrons and patronesses are to give the party. A cotillon will be in order after the spread.

Miss Hayward is to be in charge, while the matrons will be Mrs. Nathan Ames, Mrs. Edwward Bennett, Mrs. John H. Johnson, Mrs. Albert Maynard Parker, and Mrs. George G. Saville.

☞PRATT'S BREAD is the Staff of Life for the family.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE MEETING.

Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald of Boston will speak on Equal Suffrage on Monday evening, March 25, at 8 o' clock, in Brasee hall, Wollaston.

Equal Suffrage is one of the important questions of the day; especially, since thousands of women in California will cast their first ballot this year for President of the United States, and in five other states also women will be entitled to exercise the same right.

Why should Massachusetts women be denied the ballot?

Everybody is cordially invited to attend this meeting to hear the subject presented.

SEVSTERS CLUB.

One of the most pleasant evenings in the history of the Sevsters club was enjoyed Tuesday, when the club members entertained their mothers and friends at the home of Mrs. Vogler of Botolph street. During the first of the evening the following program was given:

Piano solo,	Miss Claire Rand
Irish Songs, in costume	Miss Marion Vogler
Readings,	Miss Eleanor Nelson
Whistling solo,	Miss Mildred Hill
A Skit, "1925" and	Miss Ethel Vogler Miss Gertrude Hill
Song,	Miss Marion Vogler
Piano Duet,	Miss Mildred Hill and Miss Gertrude Hill.

All the guests voted the affair a most enjoyable one and also a great success. The Skit "1925" written by one of the club members, was a very clever little sketch and contained many local hits. A dainty buffet lunch was served.

THE CLAPP MEMORIAL.

On Thursday the Physical Directors' Association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island held their monthly meeting with the Clapp Memorial Association in East Weymouth. The meeting was well attended with an enthusiastic group of men eager to compare notes and exchange ideas and suggestions concerning their plans for summer work.

The usual routine business was disposed of in short order, followed by suggestions and discussion and relating of personal experience of work with boys and men in summer camps, on play grounds, hiking trips and the like.

Dr. Joseph Chase, of East Weymouth, gave the men an admirable talk on "Blood Pressure in Relation to Physical Exercise." The men crowded about him eager to watch the variations of his testing instruments as the pressure went up and down under normal conditions, then under gentle and more violent exercise.

Everybody went into the gymnasium where Dr. Burnett gave an exhibition and drill in fancy dancing for men, which they entered into with glee and greatly enjoyed. Then all hands warmed up with a game of indoor base ball and after a shower, all were served in the hall with an excellent dinner for which a vote of thanks was extended to the entertaining association.

After a social period all hands made a dash and broke the record in a run to the East Weymouth railroad station, going home satisfied and asking if they could come again.

The course of talks which are being given to the intermediate boys of the association on the "Boy and His Job" Mr. Turner, of the Mechanic Arts High school of Boston gave the second of his talks on the machinist trade. It was listened to with marked interest and attention by the boys.

If any of the boys are inclined to this pursuit in life they certainly have been given a clear conception of the conditions of entering, and what type of young man is likely to succeed as a machinist, and what he may fairly expect to get out of it for himself and that he ought to put into it for the community.

Mr. Turner has made it splendidly clear to the boys that the only right ideal of life is one of service.—not simply "How much Can I Get Out Of This?" but "How Much Can I Give" as well. To do right work that one loves, to do it the right way, with pride in the task, as old Stradivari had in his violins, then the reward comes and cannot help coming.

GREAT REAL ESTATE ISSUE.

On Saturday, April 6, the Boston Evening Transcript will print a generous amount of reading matter which will be of interest to real estate owners, investors and those who lease or have summer homes at the seashore, mountains or country.

Anyone having a house, farm, cottage or desirably located land for sale, or exchange, or a summer place to rent for the season will do well to secure advertising space in this issue for it will have a wide circulation among interested people all over the United States.

BIBLE CLASS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Albee Bible class of the Wollaston Baptist church took place Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Albee of Prospect avenue. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Adah F. Kendall; vice-president, —Mrs. J. Arthur Sparrow; secretary—Mrs. Wellington Record; treasurer—Mrs. C. G. Sheppard; chairman Social Committee—Mrs. Mary Mills, and chairman membership committee—Mrs. Sears.

A business meeting took up the first part of the evening, during which annual reports of officers and committees were read and other business transacted.

A social hour followed during which remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Walther, Amos D. Albee, teacher of the class, Elford L. Durgan, superintendent of the Sunday school, Louis S. Cleaves, assistant superintendent and Mrs. Joseph Walther. Refreshments were served.

The class is a great success, attracting a large number of women Sunday after Sunday. It is a companion class of the Walther Men's class. At the meeting on Thursday evening over two score were present.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS OF TRADE.

President George Harding Smith of the Norfolk County Associated Boards of Trade has announced the appointment of the following committees of that body.

Municipal Affairs, Hon. John O. Hall, Quincy, chairman; Frederick J. Gleason, Walpole; George F. Joyce, Dedham; C. W. Jones, Stoughton; Orlando MacKenzie, Foxboro.

Legislation—Hon. B. M. Rockwood, Franklin, chairman; F. A. Morill, Norwood; F. L. Greeley, Needham; G. W. Grover, Canton; C. C. Hearn, Quincy.

Transportation—Frederick J. Gleason, Walpole, chairman; Henry I. Everett, Norwood; P. A. Woodward, Franklin; L. W. Wheeler, Medfield; A. W. Stetson, Quincy.

Ways and Means—George F. Joyce, Dedham, chairman; Rev. William Grainger, Canton; C. W. Jones, Stoughton; A. E. Hylan, Medfield; Nelson Croskill, Foxboro.

Membership—R. W. Baker, Medfield, chairman; C. W. Woodberry, Needham; C. C. Hearn, Quincy; D. W. Toomey, Stoughton; P. H. Woodward, Franklin.

Auditing—F. L. Greeley, Needham, chairman; C. L. Wheeler, Foxboro; P. M. Poctor, Walpole; A. W. Stetson, Quincy; George D. Gibb, Dedham.

Highways— Orlando MacKenzie, Foxboro, chairman; T. B. Mullen, Canton; Erastus Worthington, Dedham; C. H. Woodbine, Stoughton; C. W. Woodberry, Needham.

Manufactures—D. W. Toomey, Stoughton, chairman; G. S. S. Singleton, Franklin; F. E. Thorpe, Needham; R. W. Baker, Medfield; J. F. Leach, Walpole.

Telegraph and Telephone—T. M. Mullen, Canton, chairman; L. W. Wheeler, Medfield; J. F. Leach, Walpole; Nelson Croskill, Foxboro; George D. Gibb, Dedham.

The Executive Committee has been constituted as follows: President, George Harding Smith of Norwood; vice-president, John O. Hall of Quincy; secretary, Gregory W. Grover of Canton; treasurer, Erastus Worthington of Dedham; Orlando MacKenzie of Foxboro, Frederick J. Gleason of Walpole, R. W. Baker of Medfield, F. L. Greeley of Needham, Hon. B. M. Rockwood of Franklin, D. W. Toomey of Stoughton.

WATER BONDS.

Bids were opened by City Treasurer Tilden Friday for the $50,000 water loan authorized at a recent meeting of the City Council. Six bids were received as follows:—

Blake Bros.	103.11
Adams & Co.	102.915
C. H. Rollons & Son	102.796
Curtis & Sanger	102.52
Easterbrook & Co.	102.409
Blodget & Co.	102.16

The bid was awarded to Blake Bros.

A Household Standby for Over 101 Years
Millions of people have tried and proven the virtues of
JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT
Relieves pains, reduces swellings, cures cuts, burns, bruises, rheumatism. The best remedy, taken inwardly, for tickling in throat, coughs, hoarseness, diarrhoea and like troubles.
Sold at all Dealers in 25c and 50c Bottles.
I. C. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.
PARSONS' PILLS are a great aid to bilious people

WITHIN PERIOD OF EIGHT YEARS

Bill Providing Self-Government For the Philippines

PASSAGE IS ALMOST CERTAIN

Only Opposition In the House Will Be Over Details of Democratic Measure —Filipinos Themselves and Anti-Imperialist Society Favor It—McCall Bill of Similar Purport Has Long Been Side-Tracked

Washington, March 23.—That Philippine independence is shortly to be a fact, so far as the house is concerned, was the substance of a statement made by Representative W. A. Jones, chairman of the committee on insular affairs and author of the Democratic bill providing self-government within eight years for the islands. Jones' committee will meet today to consider the bill, and probably after one or two additional meetings, the bill will be favorably reported and passed.

From the Democratic members of the house little opposition is expected, except over the details of the measure, which is also the constitution of the new republic. It is known, however, that Representative Redfield of New York, a Democrat, will be against the bill. Redfield, in a recent magazine article, put himself on record as against Philippine independence till every islander should become fully educated—a period, say the defenders of the bill, too far distant to be worthy of consideration.

It is known that the Jones measure meets with the approval of Resident Commissioner Quezon, as well as of the Filipinos themselves, with whose leaders the committee has been in communication. The Anti-Imperialist society is also working for the bill, and Moorfield Storey, president of the organization, has been in Washington during the session in behalf of Philippine independence.

The Democratic leaders believe that the Philippines should be made free, both on principle and as a measure of economy for the United States government.

The introduction of the Jones bill recalls the fact that both Democrats and Republicans have pending before the insular affairs committee resolutions advocating independence for the Philippines. One of these was written by Representative McCall of Massachusetts some time ago and in part it reads as follows:

"That in accordance with the principles upon which its government is founded and which were again asserted by it at the outbreak of the war with Spain, the United States declares that the Filipino people of right ought to be free and independent, and announces its purpose to recognize their independence as soon as a stable government, republican in form, can be established by them, and thereupon to transfer to such government all its rights in the Philippine islands upon terms which shall be reasonable and just and to leave the sovereignty and control of their country to the Filipino people."

The McCall resolution urges the President of the United States to open negotiations "with such foreign powers as in his opinion should be parties to the compact for the neutralization of the Philippines by internal agreement."

WON'T VOTE FOR HARMON

Bryan Won't Go to Convention If Governor Wins In Primary

Kearney, Neb., March 23.—In his speech at a Democratic banquet here William J. Bryan said if the preferential presidential vote at the coming primary in Nebraska is for Governor Harmon and he (Bryan) is elected one of the delegates-at-large, he will file his resignation at once.

He said he would not go to the national convention at Baltimore to vote for Harmon, who he charged was backed by the Morgan and Hill interests. Bryan praised La Follette and criticized Taft and Roosevelt.

WIRELESS EXPERIMENTS

They Prove Successful In Dispatching Trains on Pennsylvania Road

Pittsburgh, March 23.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company is testing wireless telegraphy in the dispatching of trains on the main line between Philadelphia and Harrisburg.

Between Altoona and Harrisburg a continuous wireless system is being maintained. A partial test of the system has proved successful.

The Kaiser Goes Visiting

Berlin, March 23.—Emperor William, Prince and Princess Auguste William and Princess Victoria Louise, have left for Corfu. They are to visit Emperor Francis Joseph at Vienna, King Victor Emmanuel at Venice and Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Brioni islands.

Eliot to Visit Chinese Cities

Hongkong, March 23.—Professor Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard university, who is now here, is proceeding to Canton, Pekin and Hankow.

SUNDAY SERVICES

FIFTH SUNDAY IN LENT

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Matter." Golden Text; "The idols of the heathen are silver and gold, the work of men's hands. Be not a raid of them: for they cannot do evil, neither also is it in them to do good." Psalms 135:15. Jeremiah 10:5. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open from 3 to 5 P. M., week days holidays excepted. All are welcome.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY (Unitarian) City Square—Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor. Residence, Hotel Bellevue, Boston. Preaching 10.30 A. M. by the pastor. Sunday school 11.50. Charles H. Johnson, Supt. Pastor's Bible Class at 11.50.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH — Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev Asher Anderson, D. D 12 M. Bible School. 6.15, Y. P. S. C. E. 7.00, Evening Church Service. Preaching by Dr. Anderson.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, (undenominational) Colonial hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building, Quincy Center. Divine services, at 3 P. M Lecture by J. T. Boulcott. Subject; "A Stone of Stumbling and Rock of Offence." Isa. 8:14. All are cordially invited. Seats free. No collection:

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington Street. Rev. Fannie E. Austin, pastor. Morning worship 10.30 a. m. Subject: "Motives to Goodness." 11.45 Sunday School. 7 p. m. Special service with sermon by Rev. Warren S. Perkins, D. D. of Wakefield, formerly pastor of this church. Everyone welcome.

WASHINGTON STREET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Quincy Point. — Rev. Charles P. Marshall, pastor. 9.00 A. M. Sailors' Snug Harbor Service. 10.45 A. M. Morning Worship Subject: "Not Servants but Friends." 12.00, Sunday School. 6.15 P. M. Men's Class for Discussion of Social Christianity. 7.30, Evening Service. Subject: "The Journey of Life."

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon at 10.30. Sunday School and Galahad Brotherhood at 12.05. 7.30, Evening Prayer and Address.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street— Preaching 10.30. Sunday school 11.45. Christian Endeavor at 6 P. M. Preaching Service at 7.00 P. M. Rev. Frank W. Padelford, Gen. Secretary of Mass. Baptist Missionary Society will preach both morning and evening.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH— Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Telephone 1224 M. Morning worship at 10.30. Bible School and Men's class at 11.45. Junior C. E. Society will organize Sunday afternoon at 4.00. Prayer circle 5.45. C. E. Service 6.00. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Thursday services. Young People's meeting at 7. Congregational Prayer and praise service 7.30.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH—Fort Square., Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence, 182 Glendale Road. Morning service at 10.30. Sabbath School at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M Evening service at 7. Seats free. All welcome. Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7.30.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30. Sunday School at 12 M. Junior League at 3 P. M. Epworth League at 6.15. Leader, Mr. Chas. N. Woodbury of Neponset. Evening service at 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting Friday at 7.30. A cordial welcome for all.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 523 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8. A. M. Morning prayer and sermon at 10.30. Sunday school at 12 M. Evening Prayer and Address at 7.30.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Corner Lincoln and Winthrop avenues. Morning worship at 10.45. Sunday School at 12.15. 4 P. M. Vesper Service. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.00.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH — Rev Carl G. Horst, minister. Residence 67 Winthrop avenue. Telephone: Quincy 783-1. 10.45, Morning service. Preaching by minister. Kindergarten at 10.45. Sunday School at 12.15. The Rollin's Class for Young Men meets in the Church auditorium at 12. All seats free. A cordial welcome to all.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Miss Marion Nevers, Deaconess. Morning Worship at 10.45. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "Practical Religion" Sunday School at 12. Junior League at 3.30 led by the Deaconess. Epworth League at 6. Evening Service at 7.00. Subject: "A Strong City Captured." Welcome.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by Pastor. Subject: "The Value of Persistent Effort." The Chorus Choir under the leadership of Musical Director, Amos D. Albee, will sing. Sunday School at 12.05. Junior Endeavor at 3.30 Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Evening service at 7. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Drawing back." Everyone invited to these Services.

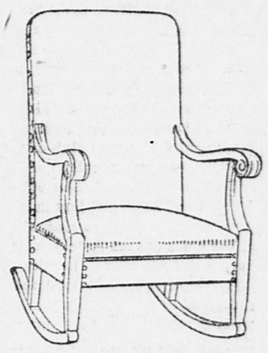
ATLANTIC M. E CHURCH—Rev. H. E. Dorr, pastor. 10.45 Morning service, preaching by minister, subject: "The message of song." 12, Sunday school. 7, Evening service, subject: "Silent Influences."

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. 10.45 morning worship. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: "Service." Sunday school at 12. P. S. C. E at 6.00. Evening service at 7 P. M. Everybody welcome.

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square
If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

☞Mrs. Fitzgerald is of good old New England stock, but she is as much interested in the children of the latest emigrant as in any American child. She is a very able, logical speaker on equal suffarge, and Quincy people will have an opportunity to hear her, in Brasee hall, Wollaston, next Monday evening.

PROTECTION FOR ARTICLES OF VALUE
The cost to you of one of our doubly locked boxes, in the steel vault of the bank, is so small that you really cannot afford to keep your valuable papers, fine jewelry or priceless keepsakes at home. Good, roomy boxes at an annual rental of $5.00.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK



There's a Lifetime of Satisfactory Service in these ROCKERS
They are Solid Substantial Roomy Restful
Built to bring $20 and actually worth every penny of that amount.
Exactly as Pictured. Full Spring Seat and back. Genuine Leather Upholstering.
Spring Opening Sale Price $13.75
Only one to a customer as long as this lot lasts.
And that's only one of the many money saving opportunities our BIG Spring Opening Sale presents to You. Send us your name on a postal for full descriptive circular FREE. DO IT NOW.
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

IMPORTANT NOTICE
That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.
Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.
Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.
Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'
Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.
Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.
JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

IN QUINCY EVERYBODY READS THE HOME DAILY
THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

The Social Realm

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ganzel of 332 Billings road, announce the engagement of their daughter Gladys Evelyn, to Mr. Edwin A. Poland, of Norfolk Downs

* * *

Miss Phyllis Bostwick has given up her position as leading lady in the Seven Days company for the season, and her parents expect her to return to Squantum this week, for the summer.

* * *

Mrs. Morgan J. Walker of Brooks street was a charming hostess on Wednesday evening, for The Limited Three club, to which the gentlemen were invited. It proved to be a jolly party. Plenty of music and games made a pleasurable evening after which dainty refreshments were served.

* * *

Mrs. Everett C. Bumpus gave the second in her series of Lenten lectures in New York on Italian art Thursday at The Plaza, under the patronage of Mrs. Seth Low, Mrs. William H. Bliss, Mrs. William Gilman Thompson and many others. The third and last in the series will be given next Thursday.

* * *

Mrs. J. Burton Brown and son of East Elm avenue left Wednesday for an extended stay in Pittsfield.

* * *

Mrs. May Willis Hatch left Thursday for Vermont for an extended visit with relatives.

* * *

Mrs. Frank Warren Taber and son, of East Orange, New Jersey, are visiting relatives at 690 Adams street, this city.

* * *

Mrs. Edward Carlock of Merrymount avenue, Wollaston entertained at dinner Thursday in honor of her husband's birthday. The affair took the form of a St. Patrick's party. All the dishes served, from delicious salads to luscious ices, being green and white. The birthday cake was frosted a light green and surrounded by green flags. The favors were bonbon boxes in the form of hats with shamrocks. The whole effect was very pretty. The whist favors were also appropriate to the occasion.

* * *

Miss Carrie L. Bliss and Mrs. Dexter Remick have returned from Florida where they went early in the winter.

* * *

Herbert Geawar of Madison street left this week for Cuba. If he likes, his wife and son will join him and make their home there.

* * *

Mrs. Roy Franklin Steward who has been spending a month with Dorchester and Quincy relatives left Friday for her home in Washington, D. C., accompanied by her sister Mrs. Arthur W. Hall of Upland road, who will spend a month with her.

* * *

Miss Edith Randall of Spear street is going abroad again this summer. She will not take a party as has been her custom the past few years but goes with a Brookline friend and expects to have a most delightful trip. They will sail about the middle of May and be away all summer and into the fall, visiting Italy, Switzerland, Holland, France and England.

* * *

L. Lincoln Gardner of Edwards street has accepted a position in the office of the German Kali Works at Savannah, Ga., oneof the largest companies in the south. He sails Tuesday the 26th on the S. S. City of Augusta. His many friends wish him every success in his new position.

* * *

Miss Amy Morris Homans is to give a talk to mothers, under the auspices of the Child Nurture committee of the Parent-Teachers' Association of Wollaston on Monday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. Herbert Albee, 377 Highland avenue. Miss Homans is director of the hygienic and physical education department of Wellesley college.

* * *

Misses Mildred and Gertrude Hill of Walker street, entertained several of their friends, at an innovation whist party, on Saturday evening. Souvenirs were won by Miss Sampson of Weymouth and Mr. Williams of Belmont. The favors and table decorations, which were very effective, were green, in honor of St. Patrick. Refreshments consisting of salads and ices were served. Guests were present from Atlantic, Jamaica Plain, Belmont, Dorchester, Weymouth and Chicago.

Mrs. Arthur L. Mitchell and daughter Miss Lucy Mitchell of Atlantic, who for many years were residents of South Quincy are to move to Boston. As Miss Mitchell is teaching in Newton this will be much more convenient for her. They will be greatly missed as Mrs. Mitchell has been very active in social circles and both have many friends in and around Quincy.

* * *

The annual May Festival for children under the auspices of the Education committee of the Quincy Women's club, is to be held at Music hall on Saturday afternoon, April 27 from 2 until 5 o'clock. This entertainment is given for the benefit of summer work, more especially vacation schools and vegetable and flower gardens. Mrs. John W. Sanborn is chairman of the committee.

* * *

James B. MacGrath, who has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Mary D. Mahoney of West Quincy for the past ten days has returned to his home in Philadelphia.

* * *

Mrs. W. J. Wellington of Belmont street, Wollaston, has gone to Indianapolis, Indiana, to visit her daughter, who is ill.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hall, nee Dorothy Frye, who were married early in the month, have returned from Poland Springs, Maine and are at their home in Ashland where they will receive their friends after June first.

* * *

Loyal Phillips Shawe of Providence who will sing the part of Valentine at the Choral Society concert April 9 has a splendid baritone voice and is highly recommended by Stephen Townsend of Boston with whom he has studied. Although Valentine is one of the minor charactors in the opera of Faust the music assigned to him is of great beauty and his principal aria "E'en the bravest heart" is one of the greatest favorites in the whole score.

* * *

Mrs. John F. Tobin and Miss Lettie Tobin of Rawson road, are visiiting relatives in New York state and Ontario, Canada.

* * *

Mrs. Frank W. White of Winthrop avenue is to open her house on Thursday morning for Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney's lecture on "Old English sports and games."

* * *

Mrs. Emery L. Crane of Whitney road is to open her house on Saturday afternoon for the annual sale by the Katharyn Crane Memorial club. This sale is for the benefit of various good works in which this club of girls is interested.

* * *

Reciprocity day of the Quincy Women's club is the afternoon given over to the president of the club to arrange and is the day when the club entertains other club presidents and officers in reciprocation of courtesies extended the club. Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president, has arranged a most delightful program of music and a presentation of Mrs. Burnett's story "The Fair Barbarian." It will be given in costume but not staged as a play, as room at the clubhouse is limited. The rehearsals promise an enjoyable presentation. Miss Mollie Brown will be the fair barbarian and the dramatis personae is made up of well-known club women.

* * *

Mrs. A. A. Bradshaw has returned from a week's visit to relatives in Fairhaven. Mr. Bradshaw went down for over Sunday.

* * *

Quincy friends of Rev. Charles B. Ames, formerly assistant pastor of First church, will be pleased to hear that his mother has joined him and they are very pleasantly located in Maine. Mr. Ames enjoys his work in his parish and having a home presided over by his mother, brings him in still closer touch with his people.

(Continued on Page Six.)

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

A merry party of friends and relatives gathered last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Call, of Braintree to assist them in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Whist was played and there was music both vocal and instrumental, the violin selections of Mr. Eugene Gillette being especially pleasing. Bountiful refreshments of ice cream, cake, fruit and punch were served. Mr. and Mrs. Call received many valuable and handsome presents, among them being a substantial monetary donation from the "Thimble Club" of the Rebeckahs of which Mrs. Call is a member.

William M. Call is the son of Mrs. Adelaide L. Call of Holbrook avenue. His father, the late Merrill T. Call, was the first engineer to run a passenger train into the South station after its completion. Mrs. Call, formerly Miss Bertha Ewell of Mattapan was united in marriage to Mr. Call, March 22, 1887 by Mr. Driver, pastor of the Methodist church of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Call have lived in Braintree for the past 24 years, and for the last 23 years have occupied their present home on Williams avenue. Four children were born to them, all of whom are living, the oldest being 23 years of age. They are Frank J., Wilbur M., Albert E., and Ray C.

Mr. Call is a skilled mechanic and is employed by the Fore River Ship Building Co., at Quincy. A fact noteworthy of mention is that there are five generations of Mr. Call's people living today.

The evening passed most pleasantly and all departed at a late hour, wishing the "happy couple" many more years of wedded life.

COCHATO CLUB DANCE.

Tuesday night, the last dance of the entertainment course was given at the Cochato club. There was not so many there as usual, but those who were present certainly enjoyed themselves to the utmost. With a smooth floor and most excellent music, which is always rendered by Mace Gay, how could a dance be anything but successful? This was run under the direction of the entertainment committee and it is to them the success is due. Delicious punch was served throughout the evening which to say the least was very appetizing. Those who attended were;

Miss Louise Abercrombie.
Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Anderson.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Averill.
Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Baker.
Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Bates.
Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bird.
Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Crocker.
Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cozzens.
Miss Olive Crocker.
Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Curtis.
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dinsmore.
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dow.
Miss Flora Dearing.
Mr. Arthur C. Davenport.
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gage.
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Grover.
Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hamblett.
Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Haskell.
Mr. A. Hastings.
Miss Addie Maq McKean.
Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Howe.
Mr. and Mrs. A, N. Hunt.
Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Johnson.
Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Martin.
Mr. and Mrs. F. Edgar Norris.
Lowell A. Norris.
Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Patch.
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Patten.
Dr. Porter Pratt.
Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Readmon.
Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rhodes.
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Rhoades.
Miss Mildred Spear.
Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Small.
Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Spear.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stedman.
Mr. Moreton T. Swalow.
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Waters.
Mrs. G. W. Wheeler.
G. W. Wheeler.
Miss Grace W. Wheeler.
Mr. and Mrs. G. S Young.

LEAVES MONEY FOR POOR

Relatives and Friends Also Remembered In Melville's Will

Philadelphia, March 23.—The will of the late Rear Admiral George W. Melville, probated here, sets aside a fund estimated at $150,000 for placing deserving poor and aged persons in institutions where they can receive proper care.

☞Cards have been sent out by "The Lady's Shop" on Maple street for its initial spring millinery display, which will include the most unusual showing of ladies' neckwear and novelties ever offered in Quincy. The opening is to be on Monday and continue all the week. They have an attractive announcement in today's Ledger. This little shop which was opened so successfully at Christmas time has been made over into an attractive and most up-to-date millinery parlor and the display of hats will prove irresistible to our feminine population.

MAINE HEROES ARE BURIED

The bodies of the heroes recovered from the illfated battleship Maine were laid at rest in the Arlington National cemetery at Washington, today. President Taft, Fr. Chadwick, who was the chaplain of the Maine at the time she was blown up delivered addresses and at the conclusion of the ceremony a salute of 21 minute guns was fired. The services were conducted by Fr. Chadwick.

Senior Rivero, the Cuban representative at Washington, and Sec. Meyer were also present. The relics received from the Maine are to be distributed among the survivors of the Maine.

E. FRANK RANAGAN.

The funeral of Frank Ranagan for 21 years an employee in the office of the Boston Globe was held Friday, from his late residence 67 Royal street, Norfolk Downs. There was a large attendance of friends including representatives from the Globe composing room, the Globe Relief association, the Franklin Typographical society, and the Printers' Mutual Relief association.

The services were conducted by Rev. Frederick H Steenstra rector of St. Chrysostom's church, and the burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers.

Mr. Ranagan who was 45 years of age, has been a resident of this city for 14 years, coming here from Somerville. Before going with the Globe he was employed at Providence and on the Boston Herald. He leaves a widow and four children.

AN EVENING WITH BEETHOVEN.

Another informal reading of piano classics is to be given by Mr. Barraja on Thursday evening in his studio in The Greenleaf building, with Ludwig van Beethoven as the composer to be interpreted. Mr. Barraja will be ably assisted by Mr. Roscoe Ricker in Beethoven's first Sonata for violin and piano.

The following program will be rendered.

"Egmont"—Overture (piano 4 hands)
Rina Bizzozero, Enrico Barraja
Sonata—(violin and piano) Op. 12, o. 1. a—Allegro con brio,
b—Tema con variazioni,
c—Rondo.
Roscoe Ricker, Enrico Barraja
The Minstrel's Ghost-Song (bass)
"Fidelio"—Act 1-Aria: "They who boast."
J. Barraja-Frauenfelder
"Mignon"—(song for tenor)
"Fidelio"—Act. 2-Aria (tenor)
"Ah,che oscurita"
Leone Stroppiana
Sonata quasi Fantasia (piano) Op. 27 No. 2. a—Adagio sostenuto
b—Allegretto
c—Presto agitato
Enrico Barraja

BRIEFS

The motor boat Mahdeen III has been sold by its owner A. D. Bull of Quincy to a New York yachtsman.

William Adrian of the Quincy avenue Granite Company has moved from Greenleaf street to Revere road.

The present indications are that things will be pretty quiet about the granite yards this spring as the report on every side is "nothing doing."

Walter Weaver one of the clerks in the employ of Brow & Crowell is confined to his home on Franklin street with a severe cold.

At the Wollaston Congregational church, Sunday at 4:00 o'clock, the last vesper service of the season will be given. The following artists contributing to the program; Mrs. Adelaide T. Sutherland, violin, Mrs. S. P. Moorhouse, piano; Miss Marion L. Moorhouse, 'cello; Roscoe R. Ricker, iolin; S. P. Moorhouse, violin; and C. M. Tirrell, organ.

There will be a meeting of the Quincy School Associaton on Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock for the purpose of completing the formation of the Parents' and Teachers' Association. Mrs. Walter S. Pinkham of Wollaston will speak on: "The value of the Parents' and Teachers' Associaiton."

☞The committee of arrangements for the equal suffrage meeting to be held Monday evening in Brasee hall, Wollaston, at 8 o'clock, earnestly requests everybody who is in doubt as to the advisability of granting the suffrage to women to attend this meeting, and hear the arguments of Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald who is fully equipped to present the subject in an able, logical and convincing manner. Everybody is heartily welcome.

WAR DECLARED ON THE DRUNKS

The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad has declared war on the drunks who infest late trains from Boston and make a nuisance of themselves to more sober passengers. Late trains especially on Saturday will be patrolled by railroad officers who will place under arrest all drunks. Friday night one drunk was gathered in. The man belonged below Quincy somewhere, and made a nuisance of himself on the 8.05 train from Boston. When the train arrived in Quincy he was placed under arrest by Railroad officer White, and locked up. This morning in court he was ordered to contribute $15.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE.

The stereopticon lecture by Charles H. Johnson on "Historic Quincy" was repeated with great success, Thursday evening at the Wollaston school before an audience of several hundred.

During the evening a program of musical numbers was presented by pupils of the school. This consisted of piano solos by Miss Joyce Buchanan and Miss Catherine Kimball, violin solos by Roy Ewertz and a piano duet by Miss Polson and Miss Eunice Leach.

The following acted as ushers for the occasion: Miss Barbara Johnson. Miss Joyce Buchanan, Miss Pauline Randall and Alden Barnes, Robert Burns, Maynard Hatch, David Bailey and Robert Favreau.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

23—Whist—I. O. O. F. M. U. Fore River Lodge.
23—German—Colonial Hall.
23—Japanese Party—Young Women's Club.
25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
17—Whist—Maple Iodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—Aux. W. S. W. V.—Electa and Protection Halls.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women's Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

High Class Millinery
AT REASONABLE PRICES
Advance Showing for Early Spring
MRS. D. P. TAYLOR
Hancock Building, City Square
March 23 2t

The Basis of Satisfaction
ZOROID LENSES FOUNDED 1893

For a pair of lenses to be satisfactory they must be ground from a correct formula.

For the formula to be correct it must be based on a thorough examination of your eyes.

Have your eyes very carefully examined before getting a pair of glasses. Our charge for a thorough examination by our experienced optometrists is from one to three dollars.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET BOSTON

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 23-27

THE COLLEGE ASSOCIATION

(Continued from Page One.)

training, music and other subjects; men's and boy's clubs; shop talks during the noon hour; instruction in hygiene, first aid to the injured, swimming and athletics,—helpful personal touch with individual working men and boys etc."

Is there a need for such service? Certainly! Our cities and towns are filled with industrial workers who are just hungry for this kind of contact with men who can help them.

The Young Men's Christian Association is not a storage battery. It must connect up with the community and become the central station for distributing this power. The college association becomes the medium through which the young men who have been led to see the need of helping these men and boys get connected up with these needs.

The college men are being shown that they should serve the community upon which they are largely living. They are being shown that they are gaining intellectual wealth and giving very little service in return. They are coming to see that they owe the college community something and they can pay their debt in no better way than to this giving of themselves.

Now here is a brief review of these college men in action. In Yale University during these past four years over 180 students in Sheffield Scientific school have been giving this kind of service. It was the good fortune of the writer to be present at a dinner given by these men to other students and secretaries not long since when men who had actually been doing the work told of their experience in the doing of it. Other men who had had the experience but who are now getting the practical experience in mining camps in construction camps of various sorts, as well as in other industrial plants sent letters which were read telling of the way this kind of work which they had done in college helped them not only to get on better with their men because they understood them better, but it had given them a new viewpoint as men.

Mention could also be made of Harvard, Columbia, New York University, City College, University of Pennsylvania, Williams, Amherst, Mass. Agricultural, Springfield Training school, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Mass. Institute of Technology etc. etc. Enough has been said.

Just a few testimonials from some men who know.

A Student: "My association with these workingmen has given me a breadth of view and a big tolerance I could have gained in no other way. It is real joy."

A Professor: "I am deeply interested. If I can help the movement at any time it will be a real privilege."

A Workingman: "I have not found words to thank the best friend I ever had on earth for all he has done for me. I am a different man."

Says a man in a Canadian Mill: "As foreman, I see that my men get a square deal on the job, a better job if it's coming to them, and I have taken pains to render personal service to many. We must get rid of the seven-day, twelve-hour labor schedule before we have real men with real homes."

Your boy is much safer if he is in college or intends going to college because of the College Young Men's Christian Association. He will be the better fitted to get the real benefit of the organization if he begins to appreciate what the Association really is before he goes to college.

SENDS FOR ASSISTANCE

Dr. Mary Walker's Attendant Is Almost Ready to Collapse

New York, March 23.—Dr. Mary Walker's steadfast refusal to have any physician attend her during her serious illness here brought forth a statement yesterday from Mrs. Nellie B. Van Slingerland, who has been almost constantly at the bedside. The statement says Dr. Walker spent a "very bad night," and continues:

"As I am nearly collapsed myself with the six sleepless nights and anxious days, I have written two of Dr. Walker's women relatives that some one must come to share the responsibility. Thus far she has proved the power of mind over medicine, as well as matter, I should say."

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Automobile Tires
At the Lowest Prices
Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires
Carried in stock.
Other makes supplied at short notice.
Automobile Supplies
Good Oils at 28c per gal.
Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.
F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. Mar. 21-tf

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & CO.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Madam---For Easter Shoes in Great Variety

In no store will you find such a variety of dainty and charming shoes as you can find here.

You ought to visit this store now! Your highest expectations will be realized when you see the mighty display of handsome oxfords and shoes we have prepared for you. Even if you have no intention of buying and are sure you can resist the temptation to take away a pair of these unusually attractive shoes there's a lesson in shoe values here that's worth seeing.

The American Lady Shoes at $3 and $3.50

are the handsomest, best finished and most stylish shoes made. In Quiney they are sold exclusively at this store. All leathers with the short vamp, medium high, round toe and new heels.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 21-3t

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. We make all kinds of bifocal lenses, but none that will give the same comfort, freedom from bother, young, stylish look that Kryptoks do. Kryptok Bifocals are incomparable.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS	ROMPERS
"Her Majesty's" Special	"The Little One"
$1.00 value 79c	Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 18	11.10	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	11.45
Wednesday,	12.00	12.15
Thursday,	12.30	1.00
Friday,	1.15	1.45
Saturday,	2.00	2.30
Sunday,	2.45	3.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	40 degrees
Mar. 23, 1911,	43 degrees
Mar. 23, 1910,	50 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The Ladies of Memorial church met Thursday at the church for an all day sewing meeting to make aprons for the Easter sale. A lunch was served.

The Walther men's class will meet Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. A great body of men under the leadership of Rev. Joseph Walther, will discuss the current Sunday School lesson, "Feasting and Fasting," and all men not in other similar classes are invited.

William E. Hingston of Davis street, the handwriting expert, left Friday night for New York where he has been called on an important case.

The mother's department of Memorial church will have their second meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughter's will meet with Mrs. Leroy Holbrook, 309 Highland avenue, Monday evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church is to give an entertainment on Wednesday evening. A sketch entitled "A Business meeting" will be presented by members of the society, also a musical program has been arranged.

Charles Sampson, master of the Quincy school, has been confined to his home this week with the grip. This is the first time Mr. Sampson has been away from the school, during his many years of teaching.

The Hospital Aid Association meeting is to be held on Thursday afternoon of next week at the home of Mrs. George H. Wilson, 47 Revere road.

Rt. Rev. Theodore P. Thurston, D. D., Bishop of Oklahoma will preach and administer the rite of confirmation at St. Chrysostom's church, Thursday evening.

Many churches throughout the country have reported a loss in membership in their Sunday schools the past year, but Memorial Sunday school has gained steadily since its re-organization last fall. Last Sunday the attendance was 220. Not one class has been without a teacher since the graded lessons have been in use.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Clark of Standish avenue moved this week to Randolph, where they have purchased a farm.

A Junior C. E. is to be organized at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday afternoon at four o'clock under the leadership of Miss Margaret Shirley.

The Ladies' Aid of the Wollaston Methodist church held a handkerchief bazaar in the vestry, Tuesday afternoon and evening.

There is to be another organ recital and musicale in the Memorial church on Monday evening. Dr. Julius Ward of Harvard college will be the organist and the Westland quartet will sing. Atlantic people are especially interested in this quartet as Miss Alice Gertrude Coe of Billings street is one of the singers.

Special services continue to be held at the Universalist church on Sunday evenings. Tomorrow night the people will have the privilege of listening to a former pastor, Rev. Warren S. Perkins, D. D., now of Wakefield.

Wednesday afternoon, members of the Katharyn Crane Memorial club with their mothers and a few close friends met in the social rooms of First church to commemorate Katharyn's twelfth birthday by presenting a copy of the picture entitled "The Good Shepherd" to the Sunday School in her memory. Mr. Johnson received the gift in behalf of the Sunday school.

A week of special services is to be held in the Presbyterian church, the first week in April.

☞Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald of Boston is not only an advocate of suffrage for women, but she is a happy wife and mother of three sturdy children. She will give an adddress in Wollaston next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, Brasee hall. A large attendance is expected.

OPERATIVES ARE SATISFIED

Accept Ten Percent Advance In Fall River Cotton Mills

ABOUT 30,000 ARE AFFECTED

Asked For Fifteen Percent Raise When Originally Offered Five Percent—Yarn, Thread and Quilt Mills Expected to Follow Suit—General Rejoicing That Great Industrial Struggle Has Been Averted

Fall River, Mass., March 23.—An advance of 10 percent in wages next Monday was offered to the operatives' unions by the Fall River Cotton Manufacturing association yesterday afternoon, and as the increase was accepted, there will be no general strike next Monday.

Thousands of operatives, including weavers, spinners, slasher tenders, carders and loomfixers, are represented in the five unions which unanimously accepted the raise. They had previously rejected an offer of 5 percent.

In the eight mills of the city no announcement of a raise has been made, but it is generally believed that they will follow the lead set by the larger corporations. These mills, which employ in the aggregate 7200 operatives, are the New England Yarn company, four mills; the American Thread company, two mills, and the Stevens Manufacturing company and the Barnaby Manufacturing company, one mill each.

The advance of 10 percent is the same as that granted by M. C. D. Borden, owner of the seven mills of the Fall River Iron Works company, on Wednesday. About 30,000 operatives in more than 100 print cloth mills, controlled by thirty-five manufacturers, will participate in the higher wage schedule in this city, and if the yarn, thread and quilt mills follow the action of the print cloth mill owners, about 35,000 persons in Fall River will benefit.

The Textile Council and the various unions met last night and following their acceptance of the 10 percent increase the manufacturers posted notices in all the mills today.

News of the manufacturers' offer did not become generally known among the operatives until they had returned to work after the noon hour, but the intelligence circulated rapidly among business men and there was general rejoicing that a great industrial struggle had been averted.

A conference between both sides was held during the middle of the day by the executive committee of the manufacturers' association, headed by President Hills, and the executive committee of the Textile Council, of which James Tansey is president.

The manufacturers' committee repeated their inability to comply with the request of the Textile Council for an advance in wages of 15 percent, but after some deliberation made an offer to advance wages 10 percent.

Another development of interest was the announcement that Borden had advanced the price of the products of the American Printing company's works here, which he owns, to 5¼ cents a yard. The advance will become effective next Tuesday, and is expected to influence the prices of print cloths at the mills here. The advance was in a measure foreshadowed by Borden's raise of 10 percent in wages.

FOOD NOT UNDER BAN

President and Cabinet Decide It May Be Shipped Into Mexico

Washington, March 23.—The United States will not interfere with legitimate exportations of food, clothing, dry goods and hardware to Mexico. President Taft and his cabinet decided that such necessities did not come within the meaning of the president's proclamation forbidding the exportation of "munitions of war" during the Mexican revolution.

The question of permitting dynamite and other explosives to go from this country to Mexico for use by smelting and mining companies, was referred to Attorney General Wickersham.

TWENTY-FIVE SURVIVORS

All That Are Known to Be Living of 116 Men In San Bois Mine

McCurtain, Okla., March 23.—Twenty-nine corpses were removed yesterday from the mine of the Sans Bois Coal company, and efforts were renewed to locate seven other miners known to have been in the workings when a gas explosion entombed 116 men Wednesday forenoon.

When the fate of these seven is ascertained the entire 116 will have been accounted for. Twenty-five were taken out alive and the bodies of eighty-four have been recovered.

Death of Traveler James

London, March 23.—The death of William James, a personal friend of the late King Edward, is announced by his family. James was 58 years old and a noted traveler.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hubbites Send up Paeons in Praise of Spring—Annual Display of Dodge MacKnightmares is One of the Signs—Short Weight in Beans Is Held a Peculiarly Heinous Offense in New England Capital—Nineteen Days a Year Saved to Many Suburbanites by Opening of Long Awaited Cambridge Subway.

The annual bursting forth into "Glory be" jollifications over every eagerly awaited sign of spring is in full force of explosion in the Hub. Daily chronicles in the newspapers, herald the glad tidings—three robins on Pope's Hill, Dorchester, organ grinders touring the suburbs, peekaboo waists (as if they hadn't been defying the blizzards all winter), buds bursting on the plants and shrubs at the Arnold Arboretum and elsewhere, cats on the backyard fence, rugs being beaten in suburban house lots, butterflies and bluejays and moving vans bobbing up serenely hither and yon, and the first stroke of the Harvard crew in the open waters of the Charles. What more does one need to produce the smile that won't come off and the wandering eye of the office shut-in whose desk is so placed that it comes within range of a window, even though the window looks upon nothing more springlike than the glorious blue of the sky and a neighboring housetop where animated groups of pigeons bill and coo in the warm sunshine? If further proof is needed, one has only to note that the morning mail brings announcements of the exhibition of paintings by Dodge MacKnight at the St. Botolph Club. The annual hanging of the vividly colored "Dodge MacKnightmares," the brightest group of paintings of the school of Boston impressionists, is the final and irrevocable signal that "spring has came."

The fining of a woman $50 for giving short weight in a pint of beans, which occurred in a suburban court recently, impresses one with the difference in the administration of justice as applied to the case of the small grocery proprietor and the much discussed conduct of the pure food bureau of the Department of Agriculture. The woman on whom this unparalleled fine was imposed maintains a small corner store, and her daughter tended the store during the mother's illness for a short time. The daughter was charged with selling a pint of beans about three ounces short in measure, the result being the heavy fine imposed on the woman. Meantime interests engaged in manufacturing adulterated food and in misbranding foods escape punishment by Federal Department of Agriculture, and an able and hard working man is forced to throw up his hands and his job in despair over the way in which his efforts at protecting the people are thwarted by the inactive and paralyzed law. Perhaps, however, only in Boston would a short sale of beans be regarded as so serious an offence.

Boston's Horticultural Hall and Mechanics Hall vie with each other in attracting the crowds of the nearby communities. The transplanting of sunny Italy to Boston by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, which has arranged real Italian gardens, with miniature lakes, riverlets, cascades and beautiful statuary, and with colonnades and hanging gardens, and and old castles painted in the distance, fascinates the visitor to the big floriculture exhibition. As for the motor truck section of the great automobile show, the hall crowded with business men of up-to-date and progressive mentality prove that the days of the horse are numbered so far as trucking utility is concerned.

Although March 23 was the day authorized for the opening of the Cambridge subway, many persons were given the opportunity of inspecting its mysteries before that date, and all agree that 12 million dollars involved have been well expended. An interested statistician has figured that 19 days per year will be saved to Cantabrigians and their neighbors who use the new subway daily to go to and from their work. The reduction in running time from Harvard Square to Park street by 15 minutes means a saving of three hours a week. The historical comparisons suggested by the Cambridge subway are of a sort to appeal to most Americans who have come to look upon eastern Massachusetts as a Mecca for historical and literary pilgrimages. Harvard, though hardly three miles from Boston as the crow flies, was far out in the country during colonial times. When General Washington as commander-in-chief of the forces beleaguering the New England capital made his headquarters in the Craigie House, destined later to be the poet Longfellow's residence, the college grounds in Cambridge were reached from the seaport only by two circuitous routes, over which in times of peace lumbering stage coaches plied at intervals. One journey used a ferry cross the Charles in the North End starting from about the point at which Paul Revere embarked on his midnight ride. Thence the way wound in under Breed's Hill and Bunker Hill over Charlestown Neck and thereafter, with a turn to the left through what is now the city of Somerville, to Harvard Square. The other route to Cambridge led from Boston southward over the neck of the peninsula into Roxbury and then westward across Muddy River and its adjacent settlement which is now the wealthy suburb of Brookline to a point near the college where the Charles River was narrow enough to be crossed by a bridge. Not until several years after the Revolution, specifically in 1793, was a direct line of travel to Boston across the Cambridgeport marshes, which route the new subway now follows, made by the building of a bridge over the Back Bay where it is about a third of a mile wide. The West Boston pile bridge, hailed by its contemporaries as a "magnificent structure" was built at a cost of about $76,700. It was regarded as one of the engineering feats of the century. Where it stood the subway trains now cross the estuary on a three million dollar bridge of steel and masonry, whose four central towers and impressive pylons at either end compare favorably in appearance with any of the modern bridges on the Seine or Thames.

Ethel Angier.

Boston, March 22, 1912.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Anty Drudge Saves Valuable Lace.

Mrs. Housewife—"Here I've boiled and rubbed this lace and the coffee stains are in it yet. I'm simply afraid to do a thing more to it. It looks weak already. I guess it's a goner."

Anty Drudge—"Not if you will take my advice. But you've certainly given it a cooking. Take that boiler off the range, fill it with cool water, rub the lace with Fels-Naptha and soak it a short time. Then rub it lightly and rinse it. The stains will all be gone and the lace'll look as good as new."

"Boil until tender" is what all the cook books say.

Boiling makes most anything tender, even hard wood.

And that's precisely what boiling does to your clothes.

Makes the fibre tender. Then you wonder why your clothes tear so easily and wear into holes so soon.

How else will you get your clothes clean?

Fels-Naptha dissolves and loosens the dirt in cool or lukewarm water, without hard rubbing.

No hot water, no boiling, in summer or winter.

It's such an easy way of washing; makes the clothes cleaner, whiter and purer and they wear twice as long.

Be sure to get the genuine Fels-Naptha and follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

Serious Fighting In Paraguay

Buenos Ayres, March 23.—A battle in which hundreds have already been killed is going on between federalists and revolutionists in Paraguay, according to telegrams from Asuncion. The fight will decide the fate of the government.

Fast Trolley Car Meets Disaster

Peru, Ind., March 23.—Eleven persons were injured when a trolley car, traveling at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour, struck a pile of cinders and plunged into the Wabash and Erie canal near here.

Reputation

proves value. Tested throughout three generations—known the world over as the most reliable preventive and corrective of stomach, liver, bowel troubles—an unequaled reputation has been secured by

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

LINCOLN HIGHTS

East Braintree

25 min. by rail
Unsurpassed site for beautiful homes; restricted.

SEE
This Loveliest Spot

FRED O. ELLIS 276 Washington St.

DIMOCK & PATTEN

Carpenters and Builders

Plans furnished and estimates given.
All work personally and promptly attended to.
133 PROSPECT AVENUE
WOLLASTON
☞ Telephone 1047 W Quincy.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Bridget M. Connelly, Wilton A. Dunham and James R. Murphy of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Thomas A. Sweeney and Charles H. Sweeney of Maynard, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

Two certain parcels of land situate in Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth, being lots numbered 65 and 66 as shown on a plan made by H. T. Whitman and E. W. Branch, dated March 14, 1896 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book of Plans 19.

Lot numbered 65 is bounded northerly by lot 87 on said plan, now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 66 on said plan now the property of Thomas A. and Charles H. Sweeney 97.13 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet, westerly by lot 64 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Bridget M. Connelly 95.24 feet, and containing in all 4809 square feet.

Lot numbered 66 is bounded northerly by lot numbered 86 on said plan now or formerly belonging to James R. Murphy 50.04 feet; easterly by lot numbered 67 on said plan now or formerly belonging to Wilton A. Dunham 99.02 feet; southerly by Sea Street 50 feet and westerly by lot 65 on said plan now belonging to said petitioners 97.13 feet, and containing in all 4904 square feet.

Petitioners claim as appurtenant to the above described land rights in Sea Street, a public way on which said land is situated.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court, to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the first day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
(Seal.)

3t Mar. 9-16-23

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John Masson et al to William S. Williams, dated June 10, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 738, Page 324, which mortgage was duly assigned to Robert J. Teasdale by assignment dated August 6, 1907, and recorded as aforesaid, Book 1068, Page 340 for breach of condition contained in said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Friday, March 29th, 1912, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the real estate and personal property described in said mortgage deed, to wit,—a certain parcel of land with the buildings, goods and chattels thereon situate in Quincy, Massachusetts, comprising the whole of lot numbered eighteen and a strip from the northerly side of the adjoining lot seventeen, ten (10) feet in width, said lots being three, bearing three numbers, upon a plan of lots at Penn's Hill, recorded with Norfolk Plans in Book 9, Plan 387 and bounded as follows:—Westerly on Brook Road for seventy (70) feet; northerly on lot numbered nineteen, for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; Easterly on lot thirteen and part of lot thirteen and part of lot fourteen for seventy (70) feet; and Southerly on lot seventeen for one hundred and twenty (120) feet; and containing eight thousand four hundred square feet of land. For a more particular description of said goods and chattels see two prior mortgages to said William S. Williams duly recorded. Also all machines, machinery, implements and improvements placed on or in said premises since said mortgages were written. Also another parcel of land containing 7200 square feet and being lot numbered Nineteen on said plan and bounded and described as per deed to John Masson & Co., from Trustees of the Adams R. E. Trust dated Oct. 18, 1894, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds libro 734, fol. 448. This last named parcel being subject to prior mortgage for $350.86.

Said property wil be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments and to all incumbrances of record.

Terms: $200 in cash at the time and place of sale and balance within ten (10) days at the office of my attorney.

Dated March 4th, 1912.

ROBERT J. TEASDALE,
Assignee and Present Holder of said Mortgage.
GEORGE W. ABELE, Atty., 87 Milk street, Boston.

3t 6-16-23

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Charles Pearsen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

CLARA M. PEARSEN, Admx.
(Address)
Care of George E. Adams, Atty., 18 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.
March 12, 1912.

3t March 16-23-30

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill — By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

(Continued from last issue)

Betty looked at the judge rather inquiringly.

"I am glad he has found friends," she said slowly. She wanted to believe that Judge Slocum Price was somehow better than he looked, which should have been easy, since it was incredible that he could have been worse.

"He has indeed found friends," said the judge with mellow unction, and swelling visibly.

Now Betty caught sight of Carrington and bowed. Occupied with Hannibal and the judge, she had been unaware of his presence. Carrington stepped forward.

"Have you met Mr. Norton, and my brother, Mr. Carrington?" she asked.

The two young men shook hands, and Ware improved the opportunity to inspect the new-comer. But as his glance wandered over him, it took in more than Carrington, for it included the fine figure and swarthy face of Captain Murrell, who, with his eyes fixed on Betty, was thrusting his eager way through the crowd.

Murrell had presented himself at Belle Plain the day before. For upward of a year, Ware had enjoyed great peace of mind as a direct result of his absence from west Tennessee, and when he thought of him at all he had invariably put a period to his meditations with, "I hope to hell he catches it wherever he is!"

More than this, Betty had spoken of the captain in no uncertain tones. He was not to repeat that visit.

As Murrell approached, the hot color surged into Betty's face. As for Hannibal, he had gone white to the lips, and his small hand clutched hers desperately.

Murrell, with all his hardihood, realized that a too great confidence had placed him in an awkward position, for Betty turned her back on him and began an animated conversation with Carrington and Charley Norton.

Hicks, the Belle Plain overseer, pushed his way to Murrell's side.

"Here, John Murrell, ain't you going to show us a trick or two?" he inquired.

Murrell turned quickly with a sense of relief.

"If you can spare me your rifle," he said, but his face wore a bleak look.

"Don't you think you've seen about enough, Bet?" demanded Tom. "You don't care for the shooting, do you?"

"That's the very thing I do care for; I think I'd rather see that than the horse-racing," said Betty perversely.

Betty now seated herself in the carriage, with Hannibal beside her, quietly determined to miss nothing. The judge, feeling that he had come into his own, leaned elegantly against the wheel, and explained the merits of each shot as it was made.

"I hope you gentlemen are not going to let me walk off with the prize?" said Murrell, approaching the group about the carriage. "Mr. Norton, I am told you are clever with the rifle."

"I am not shooting today," responded Norton haughtily.

Murrell stalked back to the line.

"At forty paces I'd risk it myself, ma'am," said the judge. "But at a hundred, offhand like this, I should most certainly fail—"

"It would be hard to beat that—" they heard Murrell say.

"At least it would be quite possible to equal it," said Carrington, advancing with Hannibal's rifle in his hands.

It was tossed to his shoulder, and poured out its contents in a bright stream of flame. There was a moment of silence.

"Center shot, ma'am!" cried the judge.

"I'll add twenty dollars to the purse!" Norton addressed himself to Carrington. "And I shall hope, sir, to see it go into your pocket."

"Our sentiments exactly, ma'am, are they not?" said the judge.

"Perhaps you'd like to bet a little of your money?" remarked Murrell.

"I'm ready to do that too, sir," responded Norton quietly.

"Five hundred dollars, then, that this gentleman in whose success you take so great an interest, can neither equal nor better my next shot!" Murrell had produced a roll of bills as he spoke.

Norton colored with embarrassment. Carrington took in the situation.

"Wait a minute," he said, and passed his purse to Norton. "Cover his money, sir," he added briefly.

"Thank you, my horses have run away with most of my cash," explained Norton.

"Your shot!" said Carrington shortly, to the outlaw.

Murrell taking careful aim, fired, clipping the center.

As soon as the result was known, Carrington raised his rifle; his bullet, truer than his opponent's, drove out the center. Murrell turned on him with an oath.

"You shoot well, but a board stuck against a tree is no test for a man's nerve," he said insolently.

Carrington was charging his piece.

"I only know of one other kind of target," he observed coolly.

"Yes—a living target!" cried Murrell.

CHAPTER XII.

The Portal of Hope.

"This—" the speaker was Judge Price; "this is the place for me. They are a warm-hearted people, sir; a prosperous people, and a patriotic people with an unstinted love of country. I'd like to hang out my shingle here and practice law."

The judge and Mr. Mahaffy were camped in the woods between Boggs' and Raleigh. Betty had carried Hannibal off to spend the night at Belle Plain.

"I crave opportunity, Solomon—the indorsement of my own class. I feel that I shall have it here," resumed the judge pensively. "Will you stroll into town with me, Solomon?" he asked. Mahaffy shook his head. "Then let your prayers follow me, for I'm off!" said the judge.

Ten minutes' walk brought him to the door of the city tavern, where he found Mr. Pegloe directing the activities of a small colored boy who was mopping out his bar. To him the judge made known his needs.

"Goin' to locate, are you?" said Mr. Pegloe.

"My friends urge it, sir, and I have taken the matter under consideration," answered the judge.

"Well, the only empty house in town is right over yonder; it belongs to young Charley Norton out at Thicket Point Plantation."

The house Mr. Pegloe pointed out was a small frame building; it stood directly on the street, with a narrow porch across the front, and a shed addition at the back. The judge scuttled over to it. The judge's pulse quickened. What a location, and what a fortunate chance that Mr. Norton was the owner of this most desirable tenement! He must see him at once. As he turned away to recross the street and learn from Mr. Pegloe by what road Thicket Point might be reached, Norton himself galloped into the village. Catching sight of the judge, he reined in his horse and swung himself from the saddle.

"I was hoping, sir, I might find you," he said.

"A wish I should have echoed had I been aware of it!" responded the judge. "I was about to do myself the honor to wait upon you at your plantation."

"Then I have saved you a long walk," said Norton. He surveyed the judge rather dubiously, but listened with kindness as he explained the business that would have taken him to Thicket Point.

"The house is quite at your service, sir," he said, at length.

"The rent—" began the judge.

But Mr. Norton, with a delicacy equal to his own, entreated him not to mention the rent. The house had come to him as boot in a trade. It had been occupied by a doctor and a lawyer; these gentlemen had each decamped between two days, heavily in debt at the stores and taverns, especially the taverns. And thus handsomely did Charley Norton acquit himself of the mission he had undertaken at Betty Malroy's request.

(To be Continued.)

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

(ADVERTISE.)

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate — Insurance
Auctioneer — Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

MRS. HETTY GREEN

Woman Financier Goes Back to Hoboken Flat

© 1911, by American Press Association.

MISSED OLD NEIGHBORS

Hetty Green Prefers Hoboken Flat to Life In New York

New York, March 23.—After giving New York what she considered a fair trial, Mrs. Hetty Green has found the metropolis too "dull," and has moved back to a flat in Hoboken, N. J.

The richest woman in the world, whose self-accumulated fortune is generally estimated at $75,000,000, made her home for years in Hoboken in a flat costing her but $19 a month.

She made friendship with a large number of neighbors whom she missed greatly after coming to New York to live in a big town house near Central park. She has now left the city house to her son, Edward Green, and moved to a $40 flat in Hoboken, which she has fitted up simply but expensively.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

AUCTION SALE
—OF—
Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock
About 100 Lots
Sale at Quincy Adams
At Freight House of
New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.
April 9th, 1912, at 10 A. M.

Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made attime of sale, and goods removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. L. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-lp

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
884 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
884 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1231 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street. Quincy.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Friday between 2 and 3 in vicinity of Carlson store and Upland road large cameo pin. Reward if notiby Mrs. L. F. Clark, 146 Hemenway street, Boston. 23-3t

LOST—Mar. 21, on car or leaving car arriving at East Milton about 9.25 P. M. pocket book containing keys and money. Reward if returned to 357 Highland street, Milton. 22-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-3t.

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appl at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED — State Sales Manager, capable of handling salesmen for high-class automobile accessories. Large income. Will bear thorough investigation. Small Capital necessary. Simplicity Supply Company, Middle Building, Cleveland, Ohio. 23-1t

WANTED—American widow refined and capable. Good manager, desires a position as housekeeper. (widower preferred) best references given. Address Mrs. Parps, 207 Washington street, Quincy. 23-1t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

WANTED.—Experienced man to work about place. Apply to C. H. Hardwick, corner Washington street and Revere road. Tel. 85 W or 391-2 Quincy. 23-1t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

TRUSTWORTHY MEN or women wanted as local representatives of responsible manufacturer. High-class merchandise and clean selling methods. $12.00 per week guaranteed on easy conditions, with possibility of $30.00 and advance. Experience not necessary. MANUFACTURER, Box 278, Philadelphia. 17-6t S-W eow

WANTED—A woman cook. Short hours. Must furnish references. Address "Cook" Ledger Office. 22-3t

OPTICIANS Come, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee, 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

TO LET

TO LET—Desk room in Quincy Center, low rent. Address L. F. R. Care Ledger, Quincy. 23-3t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-4t

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.
Apply to Henry M. Faxon,
17 Granite street, Quincy.
13-Tues & Sat tf

FOR RENT
Russell Park.
House 7 rooms, large hall, bath etc., hard wood floors, fireplace, range, set tubs, electric lights, shades, screens etc. New and modern and ready for occupancy April 1st. Apply to Miss Prescott, 1424 Hancock street, Quincy. 22-tf L P O

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

R. F. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Fancy Smoked Shoulders - - 12c lb

They have a flavor that will suit your taste—sweet, tender and "nutty"—they are sure to please the most particular lover of good meat. Try them for your Sunday Dinner.

Fancy Fowl and Chickens

The fowl that you ordinarily buy from some stores comes from the great western market. You've found fault with much of it because it has not always cooked tender, has not always given you a satisfactory flavor nor in other ways met with your expectations. Our Fancy Fowl and Chickens have been selected from nearby farms especially to guarantee you better than ordinary at a moderate price. You'll be pleased if you try them.

What is There Better Than a Good Piece of Lamb or Veal?

For our Saturday Sale of Sunday Dinners we've selected an especially fancy line of Lamb and tender Veal. The legs are well filled and sure to cook sweet and tender with the delicious flavor you like, and the price is low.

Fresh Florida Vegetables

They'll put you in mind of Spring. Only 48 hours on the road, they have the fresh from the garden taste that you'll enjoy.

Butter Beans, String Beans, Spinach, Cucumbers, Tomatoes, Rhubarb, New Cabbage, Radishes, Spanish Onions

Grape Fruit, Small, but Juicy and Tart 5c
California Oranges, Fancy, Sweet and Juicy, doz. 20c
Queen Olives, the very best, bottle 10c

ARROW ROOT, GINGER WAFERS, ALBERTS } Crackers, 3 pkgs. 25c

Meadow Gold Butter

Comes in air-tight, odor-proof packages, direct from the creamery to you. There's flavor and genuine goodness in it. Sold here.

R. E. FOY & CO.

WOODWARD CHAMPIONSHIP

Perpetual Silver Cup Won by Senior Basket Ball Team

FRIDAY'S GAME

In a game of basket ball pronounced the best of the series, the senior team of Woodward Institute defeated the Sophomores in the school gymnasium yesterday afternoon by a score of 9 to7. The game was the final one of the series for the championship of the school, and with its victory the senior class team came in possession of the silver cup which is annually awarded the victorious players.

The contest was close from start to finish and the remarkable blocking displayed on both sides prevented any large scores being rolled up. Both teams played an even game and the result was in doubt until the last minute of play, when a goal by Miss Amy Fallon gave the lead to "grave and dignified" seniors.

The playing of Miss Esther Dasha was conspicuous throughout and she proved a tower of strength to her team, getting three baskets from the floor, and one on free try. Thus it can be seen that she scored seven of the nine points made by her team, thereby being responsible for the triumph of the senior class.

Miss Blanche Hayden, who has been the star of the sophomores this season, did not show up to her usual advantage, although she displayed great efficiency in getting goals on free tries, being credited with three in this department. Miss Helen Crane played well for the losers, as did Miss Agnes Reardon, while Miss Mary Finn and Miss Mary Beal did good work.

1912 TEAM		1914 TEAM
Esther Dasha	rf	lb Alice Beal
Amy Fallon	lf	rb Catherine Adams
Mary Beal	c	c Mary Callahan
Helen Croucher	sc	sc Agnes Reardon
Mary Finn	rb	lf Blanche Hayden
Irene Williams	lb	rf Helen Crane

Score 1912, 9; class 1914, 7. Goals from floor, Esther Dasha,3; Amy Fallon, Helen Crane, 2. Goals from fouls, Esther Dasha, Blanche Hayden, 3. Referee, Miss Maccarty. Umpire, Grace Hunter and Lillian McDonald. Scorer, Mr. Rice. Timer, Katherine Merrill. Time 15min halves. Attendance 150.

CLOSES SEASON WITH VICTORY

Quincy High Winds up Season by Defeating Franklin

19 TO 5

Inspired with renewed zeal and confidence to terminate their basketball season in a glorious manner and determined to turn the tables on a team which had given them their first setback of the season, the members of the Quincy High combination clashed with the strong Franklin High team in the gymnasium of the local school and succeeded in acquiring a 19 to 5 victory. The game was witnessed by a large number of spectators and was a fitting close to a most successful season.

Evidently the disparity between collegiate and amateur rules was greatly in evidence, for the Franklin players, who took the measure of the local boys early in the season, playing under the former, were at a complete loss to show up to any advantage yesterday under the rules generally conformed to by High school contingencies. In fact the Franklin team seemed like a quintet of novices when it came to a question of shooting baskets, and only their occasional exhibit of fine blocking prevented them from going down to defeat by a much larger score.

All of the visitors' points were made on free tries and in this department W. Fitzjerald was the sole player for the losers who seemed at all conspicuous. The Fitzjerald brothers have been the mainstay for the Franklin team this season in all the games played at home, and while the home rooters have considered their work almost a revelation, those who saw the game yesterday witnessed absolutely nothing on the part of the losing team that could be classed even with the ordinary playing of a team conceded to be one of the foremost in the State.

The local boys displayed superior work in every department of play, although Finlay and Chapman did not play as well as they have in other games this season. The work of Holmes and Johnson was of the same high class order as has characterized their playing throughout the season and at all times they demonstrated themselves as being worthy of enrolment among the best school-boy players in the state.

The one star of the game, however, was Harry Trask, the centre of the local team, who not to exaggerate in the least is without a peer as a basketball player, in the interscholastic world. The formidable local centre secured 15 of the 19 points made by his team. He got five baskets from the floor and an equal number from free tries. His work, both in blocking, passing and shooting was at all times of a commendable kind and was easily the feature of the game. Two of his shots were made in a most spectacular manner.

Trask started out for the local players by getting a basket on a free try. This was followed by a basket from the floor and another from foul by the same player. Another goal by Trask placed Quincy in the lead by a substantial score, but W. Fitzjerald closed the half with a goal from free try, making the score stand 8 to 1 with Quincy in possession of the long end.

The second half was played in the same manner and McDonald and Baird, both of whom acquitted themselves well, were substituted in the last few minutes of play.

Trask opened the second half with one from the floor followed by another from free try. Fitzjerald again got a basket on a freedom gift. Finlay showed his first real form in the game and secured a basket in sensational order.

Trask again came to the fore with a basket, and "Pin" Johnson followed a minute later with a goal that was the occasion for prolonged applause.

Fitzjerald took advantage of another liberty trial and proved himself equal to the task, and duplicated the performance shortly afterward. Trask registered his last basket of the game in brilliant style and the contest came to a close with a goal from free try by Fitzjerald.

It is probable that a series of games will be arranged for the championship of the state and if such be the case, the local boys, under the guidance of Coach Staff will make a strenuous struggle for the honors of supremacy. Brockton High also wants a game, but the manager of the Quincy High team is not in a position to state definitely what will be done, until next week. The summary:

QUINCY H. S.		FRANKLIN H. S.
Finlay	rf	lb W. Fitzjerald
Chapman	lf	rf Murray
McDonald
Trask	c	c Shattuck
Holmes	rb	lf J. Fitzjerald
Johnson	lb	rf Pond
Baird

Score Quincy H. S. 19, Franklin H. S. 5. Goals from floor Trask 5, Finlay, Johnson. Goals from fouls Trask 5, W. Fitzjerald 5. Referee Woodlock, Scorer, Staff. Umpire La Rose. Timer Mansur. Time 20 min. periods. Attendance 300.

MOVING DAYS IN QUINCY

If it is your move, why not take a new flat while there is yet time?

DON'T WASTE TIME LOOKING AROUND

Come to my Office, and let me put you on the track of something worth considering in 5 and 7 room apartments.

Rents: $26 to $30

RICKER — REAL ESTATE — MORTGAGES — INSURANCE

1416 Hancock St., Quincy
Opposite The Greenleaf

HOUSE PRETTILY DECORATED

A birthday party of a most unique nature was tendered to Miss Alice Beattie, at her home on Williard street, last evening and was most enjoyable. The house had been very prettily decorated for the occasion which added to the artistic arrangement of the floral display.

Songs, jokes and games of a wide variety held sway throughout the evening and Miss Beattie favored her guests with piano solos.

Among those present were: Marion Pineo, Olive Berry, Mammie Burke, Margaret Michael, Geogia Michael, Florence Sparks, Jennie Jones, Alice Beattie, Arthur Leary, Herbert Clark, Walter Ogle, Edward Desmond, Elverton Clapp, William Michael and William Beattie.

Promoted to Swedish Minister

Stockholm, March 23.—W. A. F. Ekengren, at present counsellor of legation and charge d'affaires at the Swedish legation in Washington, has been promoted to the rank of Swedish minister at Washington, in succession to Albert Ehrensvard.

Smallpox In Willimantic

Willimantic, Conn., March 23.—There are now eleven cases of smallpox in this city and the board of aldermen made sweeping plans to prevent a further spread of the contagation.

BRIEFS

The cellar for the eighth house was begun this morning on the tract of land on Spear street, formerly owned by Mrs. E. Granville Pratt.

Sergt. David J. Barry of the police department is seriously ill at his home and slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Allison W. Marsh, 1913 of Quincy has been re-elected captain of the Amherst heavy gymnastic team. Marsh has been a member of the "gym" team since his freshman year and is an expert at tumbling and club swinging.

The local union of the United Association of Journeymen, Plumbers, Gasfitters and Steamfitters has voted to request the Master and Employing Plumbers for an increase in wages of eighty cents per diem. If this increase be allowed, members of the local union will become entitled to $4.80 a day.

EAST BRAINTREE

Hilding Hanson, of May street has moved to Penn street, Quincy.

Miss Bessie Quimby, of Jonas Perkins school will spend the spring vacation with her parents in Malden.

Miss Edith A. Lavalette, of the Abraham Lincoln, school will spend her vacation in West Bridgewater.

Principal F. B. Taylor, of the Jonas Perkins school is spending the vacation with his family in Hanover, N. H.

Buy Your House-Cleaning Necessities
At Kincaide's Annex

Everything you'll need is here — in large varieties and at inviting prices.

Free prompt delivery. Satisfaction guaranteed. We want your trade.

Step Ladders, all lengths, 25 and 35c foot
Rattan Carpet Beaters, 25 and 35c
Curtain Stretchers, 75c, 98c, $1.25, $1.69

Sanitary Dust Absorbing Mops
Brushes, Dusters

KINCAIDE'S ANNEX

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

The popularity of Miss Marian Lee Barker of 324 Farrington street was well attested last Wednesday evening the occasion being her twenty-first birthday. Miss Barker was completely surprised and somewhat overcome by the elaborate plans of her friends. The decorations were especially unique. The evening was a decidedly merry one and Miss Barker added much to the enjoyment of her guests by giving a short talk on "Woman Suffrage." Her zeal and interest in the subject was a revelation to her friends.

* * *

The Riverside club held a meeting Wednesday at the Town River Yacht clubhouse. There were many ladies present and many who were not there have expressed a wish to be considered as future members. After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The following officers were elected: president—Mrs. J. R. Mellen; vice president—Mrs. Edward R. Blanchard; secretary—Mrs. Thompson B. Cane; terasurer—Ms. R. M. Harmon; pianist—Mrs. W. C. Luther; executive committee Mrs. A. L. Emery for 1 year, Mrs. W. E. Lee for 2 years, Mrs. Eugene R. Stone for 3 years.

* * *

Miss Florretta Vining of Hull is to personally conduct a party to Washington, D. C. next month to the D A. R. convention.

* * *

Mrs. H. Gerrish Smith of Presidents hill has as a guest her mother, Mrs. Dent of New York.

DEATHS

BAILEY.—In Quincy, March 21. Harriet W., widow of Hanson Bailey, in her 95th year. Funeral services at her late home, 20 Fort street, Sunday, March 24 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend. 2t 21-23.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

BRAINTREE

Mrs. L. B. Spaulding of Mt. Vernon avenue is still confined to her home as the result of a recent fall.

Miss Hayward's advanced class in dancing will close with a ball this afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. Clarence Southworth of River street has been entertaining her brother Forrest Baker of Newport, N. H.

Miss Marjorie Porter of River street, who has been under the doctor's care the past two weeks, was out again, yesterday.

Miss Clara Holbrook of Middle street entertained the teachers of the Penniman school at her home, Wednesday evening.

Considerable interest is being taken in the "Silver Tea" and Easter sale in Parish hall of All Souls' church on Wednesday, April 3. See advertisement.

Letters remain in the post office for Mrs. Blaney, Mrs. Joseph Butler, George Maybury, Mrs. Mae Stevens, Mrs. Pearl A. Wentworth and Miss Ella L. Wills.

Miss Mildred Brown of Arnold street has a severe attack of rheumatic fever and has been confined to her room the past two weeks. Dr. C. H. Gould is the attending physician.

The monthly supper, and social of All Souls' church given by the Woman's Alliance was held in Parish hall, last night. Boiled ham, mashed potato, vegetable salad, beans, coffee, cake, whipped cream cakes and russet apples were abundantly served to the large gathering. A short entertainment was given and then many of the people went to the recital in Cochato hall.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Thayer, of Safford street, entertained the members of the Evening whist club. Souvenirs were secured by Mrs. George W. Stevens, Mrs. Oakes A. Bridgham, Leroy L. Day and Harold Hanscomb.

On Wednesday evening the Pond Street Athletic Association held their usual weekly meeting at the club rooms on Pond street. Those making the highest scores were Mrs. Frank Southwick, Miss Briggs, Edward Pratt and Hartley Lohnes. Music and dancing were enjoyable features of the evening. At the forum meeting the supper was a decided success.

Mrs. Carl Dahl, of Vine street, entertained the ladies of the Clover bridge whist club at her home, Thursday afternoon.

Men Bathers Must Wear Skirts

Cleveland, March 23.—Skirts with little flounces must adorn all men bathers who use the City Lake beaches next summer, according to an order just issued from the park department. The one-piece suit has been barred.

Too Late For Classification.

..TO LET—American woman would like to let a furnished chamber with use of kitchen for light housekeeping to a young married couple or two ladies. Permanent tenants desired. Located on car-line, within walking distance of Fore River Works. Ready about April first. D. Q. Ledger Office. 23-1t

FOR SALE—Two tenement house, will sell reasonable to one that can pay few hundred down. Call Sunday. 213 West Squantum street. Montclair section, Norfolk Downs. 23-1t

WANTED—Protestant girl willing to go out of town for table work and light house work. Call Sunday. Reference required. 213 West Squantum street, Montclair section, Norfolk Downs. 23-1t

Winter Lingers in the Lap of Spring

The weather is still uncertain.

Nevertheless: You need not fear to let the furnace fire go out if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

No change in the weather is too quick for it. Its heat is instant, and since the heat is thrown outward and downward, the floor is warmed first and then the rest of the room.

Any room in the house can be made comfortable in a few minutes with a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

because it is portable, may be attached to any fixture and comfort is assured, because the REZNOR creates neither smoke nor odor.

You can stop your regular heating expense whenever you wish, and take care of any emergency with your REZNOR, and if you buy one now you'll have it on hand for the first chill days of Autumn. You can see

REZNOR GAS HEATERS

of every size and style at our show rooms.

Prices from $2.50 up

Citizens' Gas Light Company

PLAYERS NOT WOODWARD GIRLS

Woodward school authorities are very much exercised over an article in Friday's issue to the effect that one of the interesting events for that evening would be a game of basket ball between a girls' team from the Woodward school and a boys' team from the Y. M. C. A. known as the Leaders.

It appears however that the name Woodward was used more as a joke than anything else and that the game was to be between a team of boys dressed as girls, as a kind of burlesque. The names published as the line-up of the team were also ficticious.

The authorities of the Woodward very much regret that the impression should have gone forth that a team from the school were to play a boys' team at it would not be tolerated for a minute. The headmaster states that while some of the students have played in the Gym girls' team that it has been without sanction of the school, but with the parents' consent.

CARD.

Mrs. Nettie R. Badger and Mr. Granville A. Sweetland most gratefully acknowledge the aid and sympathy of all friends at the time of their great sorrow. 23-1t

March 23, 1912.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of William S. Williams late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

THEOPHILUS KING,
JOHN HUGHES,
RICHARD D. CHASE,
Executors.

(Address)
Quincy, March 23d 1912.
3t 23-30-6

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles M. Jenness late of Meddybemps, in State of Maine, deceased:

Whereas, Helen B. Jenness administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court her petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the real estate of said deceased for the purpose of distribution. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested, who can be found within the Commonwealth, fourteen days at least before said Court, and if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t 23-30-6

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Patrick Fitzgerald late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

DANIEL F. FITZGERALD,
Administrator.
274 Common street,
Quincy, Mass.
March 27, 1912. 3t 23, 30, 6

Mortgagee's Sale

By virtue of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage deed from Helene McMakin to Ida M. Patterson, dated the first day of August, A. D. 1903 and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Norfolk in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Book 953, Page 515 and thereafter duly assigned to William G. A. Pattee, for breach of the conditions thereof and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction, upon the premises, on Monday the eighth day of April A. D. 1912 at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely: a certain parcel of land situated in that portion of Quincy in said County called Sumner Park and bounded and described as follows, to wit: beginning at a point on the Southerly line of Washington street at the Northwesterly corner of the granted premises, and thence running along said Washington Street in an almost Easterly direction, one hundred and fifteen and 09-100 feet; thence running by a curved line in a Southeasterly direction, eighteen and 8-100 feet to a point on Massachusetts Avenue as shown on plan; thence running in a Southwesterly direction along Massachusetts Avenue ninety-nine and 29-100 feet thence running in a Northwesterly direction along land now or late of John R. Graham, fifty-seven and 30-100 feet; thence turning at a slight angle and running in a more Westerly direction along said land now or formerly of said Graham, fifty feet; thence running in a nearly Northerly direction along the line of other land of said mortgagor, ninety-five and 30-100 feet to the Southerly line of Washington Street, being the point of beginning. Subject to all lawful liens taxes, tax sales and other municipal assessments.

Two hundred dollars to be paid at time and place of sale and the balance of purchase price to the mortgagee or her attorney within ten days.

LAURA S. PATTEE, Executrix of the Will of William G. A. Pattee. Present assignee and holder of said mortgage.

J. S. ARNOLD, Attorney for the Mortgagee. 3t 23-30-6.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

(ADVERTISE.)

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 72 QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 25, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

MAYOR TO NAME MEMBERS OF ADVISORY BOARD TONIGHT

Board Will Probably Adopt What is Known as the Somer's Unit System of Valuations

What This System is and How it Will be Applied to Quincy

Mayor Stone will forward to the City Council tonight the names of the five citizens whom he has selected for the advisory board to consider the question of equalizing the real and personal estate values of the city. Three of these gentlemen met in the office of the Mayor at City Hall Saturday evening for an informal discussion of the plan which shall be adopted.

While it has not as yet been definitely decided just how the plan shall be carried out it is more than probable that what is known as the Somers Unit system will be adopted. This was discussed at length at Saturday night's meeting.

The Somers Unit system is a simple one and by it practically all of the work devolves upon the clerk of the commission, or board. Under this system the city is laid off into squares or sections on the plans. In the centre of the district the unit of valuation for that square or section is decided upon. This of course will be the highest valuation of the square and from that the valuation is graduated toward the outer line of the square which will have the lowest valuation.

For illustration, suppose that in Ward One City Square should be set apart as a square or section on the plan. The highest valuation for this square would be fixed at a certain sum and all of the other property within the square would be valued accordingly.

That is to say no piece of property within that square would receive a higher valuation than the unit fixed for that square yet some of the property would doubtless receive a lower valuation.

In Ward One of course the highest valuation would doubtless be placed in City Square. In Ward Two the Quincy Point ward, there would doubtless be two if not three high centres, namely along the water front near the Fore River bridge and again at the junction of Washington and Chubbuck street. These are the two business centres of the ward. In Ward Three there would doubtless be two or more centres, namely at the junction of Franklin and Water streets and somewhere in the granite district. So it would be all over the city.

If this plan is carried out all over the city it is easy to see that there would be an equalization of valuations. Some of the property would without doubt receive a higher valuation, than that given it by the assessors today, while other property that is now valued high by the assessors would receive a reduction. It would also have a tendancy if not actually obliterate the claim made today that many pieces of property are assessed all out of proportion to their actual value, while other pieces are not assessed what they should be.

It is easy to see that if this plan is adopted by the advisory board that the great part of the work will be devolved upon the clerk. He will be given the plans upon which the board have marked the unit for each parcel and from that he will figure out the valuation for each piece of property in the square or section.

As there were but three of the five members of the new board present at the meeting Saturday evening no definite action was of course taken and will not be until after the names of the board are sent to the City Council for confirmation tonight and a meeting of the full board is held.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Cummings of Winthrop avenue had intended to observe the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding quietly at home on Saturday evening. A number of their friends and old residents of Wollaston remembered the occasion however and pleasantly surprised them.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lacey, Miss Gertrude Lacey, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pinkham, Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Jones, Rev. and Mrs. Carl G. Horst, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rowe, Miss Starrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Page, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W White

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings have been residents of Wollaston for a long term of years. They were married 25 years ago by Rev. Frederic E. Dewhurst, then pastor of the Wollaston Baptist church.

TODAY'S COURT.

Henry Sullivan was fined $5 for violation of the Lord's Day at Houghs Neck.

Maurice J. Sheehan of Weymouth was fined $15 and Charles J. Stewart, Jr. of Quincy $3 for drunkenness.

You can rely on the Shoes I handle, because I seek permanent patronage.

Style Tendencies in Spring Shoes

Today, the vogue of the short, scant skirt, comes the era of the well-dressed feet --- feet and ankles were never so conspicuous as the present styles in dress make them, and every woman who cares about her personal appearance should wear footwear of good quality.

This store shows only the latest approved models, and you are safe in relying on us to shoe you in correct fashion.

The American Lady Shoes

have made the reputation of the manufacturers second to none in America --- or in the world, for that matter. All the bench made touches, on splendid lines, I have no hesitancy in recommending to the smartest women in Greater Quincy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 25-3t

A DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE PARTY

A most delightful surprise party was given Miss Jessie French at her home on Hollis avenue Saturday evening. The guests planned to arrive at her home before she arrived with a girl friend with whom she had been to dinner and as she opened the door she was greeted with a hearty "surprise."

The evening was spent in playing games and singing popular songs.

A signet ring was presented to Miss French, the presentation speech being made by Kenneth Blake vice president of the Christian Endeavor society of which all the guests were members, and Miss French is president. Mr. Blake waxed eloquent in his words of appreciation, saying that Atlantic had the best president of the local union.

His speech was followed by Mr. Davison, who said that the society now meant something to the church, and that it was doing most effective work in keeping the young people interested in the church.

James W. Houston also spoke of his appreciation of the Christian Endeavor society—that he had come from the west, a stranger—but was made to feel at home in the church.

Paper plates tied with bows of ribbon and red pencils were distributed as souvenirs for the signature of all those present.

Refreshments were served after which all gathered around the piano and sang songs ending by singing "Home Sweet Home" and "Good Night Ladies."

Those present were Misses Jessie French, Nellie Buckley, Pearl Keary, Mabel Cheney, Doris Cummings, Ouida Keary, Hazel Davison, Lusia Cheney, Marion Newcomb, Gladys Willey, Winnifred Cole, Vesta Newcomb, Margaret Read, Marjorie Young, Mabel Johnson, Gretchen Young, William Northrop, Kenneth Blake, James Houston, Guy Aldridge, Arthur Hall, Harold Hill, Henry Welch, Winthrop Safford, Gordon Sherwin and Leslie Arthur.

The chaperons for the evening were Edwin French, Mrs. Isabell Smith and Rev. T. W. Davison.

MISS ELLEN F. O'KEEFE.

The funeral of Miss Ellen F. O'Keefe took place this morning from her late residence 36 Union street. Prayers were offered at St. John's church at ten o'clock by the pastor, Rev. John J. Coan. Burial was at St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Women are excluded from the Columbia school of Journalism. If they are not permitted to become journalists, they will have to get along with their present excellent success as newspaper women.

Quincy Choral Society

Music Festival

Tuesday, April 9, 1912

at Music Hall

Orchestral Concert at 3 o'clock

BOSTON FESTIVAL ORCHESTRA

Mr. John W. Crowley, Principal

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS

Miss Emma A. Perkins, Director

Evening Concert at 8 o'clock

GOUNOD'S FAUST

Mr. Osbourne McConathy, Conductor

SOLOISTS

Miss Estelle Patterson	Margarita
Miss Viola Van Orden	Siebel
Mr. G. E. Rafely	Faust
Mr. Willard Flint	Mephistopheles
Mr. Loyal Phillips Shawe	Valentine
Chorus 100 Voices
Boston Festival Orchestra

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.

15 rows reserved at 35 cents. Admission 25 cents.

FAUST CONCERT.

All seats reserved at $1.00, 75 cents and 50 cents.. Tickets on sale at C. C. Hearn's.

25-27-30-1-3-6

CELEBRATES HIS NATAL DAY

Ex-Mayor Shea Owns Up That He Was 54 Sunday

GETS A CAKE

Ex-Mayor William T. Shea reached another milestone in his eventful life Sunday, his 54th. It was not generally known that his anniversary was so near at hand or his many friends would probably have seen to it that there was some fitting celebration. It was known to a few, however, and they improved the opportunity of calling him up by telephone and extending congratulations. Others sent letters of congratulation.

EX-MAYOR SHEA.

He passed the day in a quiet manner at his home on Common street, entertaining his sisters and brothers and his nieces. One of his nieces presented him with a handsomely bound volume of his four inaugural addresses while others saw to it that he had a fine birthday cake.

The ex-Mayor does not look to be 54 and he says that he feels like a three year old, for his southern trip made a new man of him.

PLAY BY YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB

Amid oriental decorations and attired in Japanese costume, members of the Quincy Young Women's club held a most successful Japanese party, Saturday evening at the clubhouse of the Quincy Women's club on Goffe street. The rooms were made to represent a typical Japanese tea garden.

"Two Bachelor Girls" was the title of a sketch that proved a source of exceptional pleasure to all present. It was presented by Miss Mabel E. Lovejoy and Miss Dorothy Bean.

This was followed by a Japanese dance, contributed by Misses Roberta Smith, Eleanor Pratt, Mabel Pratt, Dorothy Bean, Edith M. Lovejoy, Mary L. Brown, May Herne and Margaret Lawrence.

After the entertainment tea was served in Japanese style. The affair concluded with dancing.

BRIDGE TRUSTEES.

The trustees of the Fore River bridge and County Commissioners met in the office of Mayor Stone at City Hall, Saturday afternoon. The bridge has not as yet been turned over to the trustees as some little more remains to be done to complete it. The question of apportioning the cost came up and was discussed but no definite basis arrived at.

☞The equal suffrage meeting in Brasee hall, Wollaston, this evening promises to be very largely attended. Both men and women express their intention to hear Mrs. Fitzgerald of Boston speak on this important subject. Surely, if Chinese women have been given the elective franchise, it seems strange that Massachusetts should lag behind.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

—OF—

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

HALL PRETTILY DECORATED

A party given by the matrons and patrons of the evening Germans took place Saturday evening at Colonial hall from 8 to 11 o'clock, conducted by Miss Hayward of Braintree. The hall was decorated in pink and green. Garlands of pink rambler roses were hung in festoons along the walls and decorated the chandelier and the lights.

The lights were all shaded in green and the subdued lighting added to the charm of the scene. At the back of the hall were two screens on which were arranged the favors for the young ladies. These were sunflower fans and very effective. On the table was a great bunch of jonquils which were the favors for the young men.

The matrons were Mrs. Nathan Ames, Mrs. L. R. Bolton, Mrs. Walter E. Burke, Mrs. Frederick Keep, Mrs. John H. Johnson and Mrs. Albert M. Parker. The ushers were Chester Bennett, Morton Beattie, Arthur Keep, Albert D. Parker and Raymond Stanley.

On the program were several Germans led by Delcevare King who introduced figures which were very much enjoyed. At 9.30 a dainty spread of ice cream and sherbet, cake and candy was served, from a table in the centre of the hall. The ladies in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. Herbert W. Beattie, Mrs. George McFarlane, Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Edward Bennett.

After intermission came the favor German led by Mr. King. In distributing the favors the matrons were assisted by Miss Maude Macfarlane.

Mr. King's virginia reel came late in the evening and the young people danced it with zest and grace. It was a very pretty sight, with nine on each end coming toward each other.

Miss Hayward carried a beautiful bunch of violets, a gift of the class, nearly all off whom have enjoyed her instruction and friendship for some years. Eleven o'clock came all too soon and all pronounced it the most enjoyable German of the season.

AUCTION SALE

—of—

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

APRIL 3, 1912 at 9 o'clock A. M.

KINCAIDE'S STORAGE WAREHOUSE

off Granite St., Quincy, Mass.

Will be sold at public auction to satisfy lien for storage—a certain lot of general household furniture now stored in the name of formerly of Wollaston and now or late of Warren, Mass., consisting principally of 2 Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, 2 Bureaus and Glasses, 1 Chiffoniere, 1 Sofa, 1 Book Case, Morris Chair, Parlor Table, 1 Gas Heater, 1 Refrigerator, 1 Room Rug, 1 lot Parlor Furniture, Bedding, Small Rugs, Kitchen Utensils, Clock, Odd Chairs, Rockers, Crib, Drop Side Couch, and many other articles of household goods. Sale positive rain or shine.

W. H. HARWOOD

2t-18-25

SWEDISH CONCERT AT ELECTA HALL

The men of the Swedish Lutheran church gave a concert Saturday evening, which was appreciated by an audience that taxed Electa hall to its utmost. The affair was most successful and the contributors to the program were all men of the church.

The opening number, a march entitled "Best Shot" was rendered by an orchestra of five pieces. The chorus then rendered "Spring," which was the occasion for loud applause.

August Veden delivered an address on "Church Literature" which was very favorably received.

A vocal selection was given by W. Von Collu and a quintet, composed of Nels Carlson, J. F. Johnson, Fritz Swanson, C. E. Holdquist and F. O. Holdquist, was forced to respond to repeated encores.

"Pansy Blossoms" was next rendered by the orchestra and a vocal solo by Fritz Swanson andd a violin solo by Clare Boos, merited repeated applause.

Prof. A. S. Larson, of the Allen School of Newton, who is supplying the pulpit at the church gave a stirring address on "The Other Half" and came in for his full share of applause. He responded by giving a number of readings.

A duet by M. Carlson and F. Swanson, followed by a selected song, by the chorus, another by the quintet and an overture by the orchestra, brought the affair to a close.

At the conclusion of the concert, a supper was served in Protection hall and the gathering dispersed shortly before midnight.

☞PRATT'S BREAD makes the best sandwiches. Get it of leading grocers.

By CHARLES H. JOHNSON, - Auctioneer
Office, Room 3, Adams Building, Quincy.

Household Furniture and Piano

AT PUBLIC AUCTION

From Residence of JOHN W. NASH, 102 Revere Road, near Washington St.,

—ON—

Friday, March 29, 1912

At 2 P. M.

Piano---McPhail Square Piano in good order. Antique Mahogany Table, Chairs, Crockery, Desk, Bed, Flower Pots, and a variety of goods.

Sale Positive. Terms Cash.

March 25-2t-25-27

High Class Millinery

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Advance Showing for Early Spring

MRS. D. P. TAYLOR

Hancock Building, City Square

March 23-2t

3 CANS for a QUARTER

A delicious Tomato Soup, Veribest
A fancy Lima Bean, Little Quaker
A choice Succotash, Little Quaker

Try these for dinner tomorrow and notice the pleased smile go 'round the table. They will make a hit, and besides, you'll save money by buying 3 cans at a time.

R·E·FOY & CO

COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

March 25-2t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21st East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The trusts are standing in line to see which shall have the privilege of being dissolved next.

This criticism of the courts is bound to keep on until some summary means is discovered of convicting the jury.

If you want to escape the consequences of crime, it is much more effective to hire a good lawyer than to send a bomb to the judge.

It would promote the pocket book of the coal operators to arbitrate and settle now, but they do not mind spending a few millions for the sake of acquiring unpopularity.

Mayor Gaynor says he goes to sleep and lets the cats howl, but if he wants to promote equality of opportunity for the human race, he should shy a few boots and hair brushes at them.

The salary of the president of the Swiss republic has been raised to $4000, but you can scarrely get elected to the lower branch of the legislature for that in this country.

The politicians are in a bad dilemma. They have to keep their heel on the neck of the Money Trust, but how can the M. T. cough up under such an embarrassing situation?

The government says the Sugar Trust violated the 10th Commandment, but in the lack of a jail penalty the Ten Commandments do not seem to command popular respect.

It is pointed out that the textile mills could have saved all this trouble by giving the advance of wages in the first place, but then they would have had to go around and beg the editors to put their names in the papers.

"EFFICIENCY."

This watchword and fad of the day is being discussed at a convention in New York of the American society for the Promotion of Efficiency. Among the ideas emphasized at this meeting has been that the element of human nature has got to be carefully weighed as well as physical motions and time elements.

No magazine of national reputation felt that it could hold its subscribers through the year 1911 unless it produced one or more articles on this subject. We believe we have read some 784 times about the brick-layers who could lay three times as many bricks with less effort by reducing the number of motions from eighteen to five.

And yet study of efficiency is nothing new. Any one who ever worked in a factory, knows how earnestly the more serious operatives will argue these questions as to how processes can be most effectively performed.

In every factory there grows up a tradition of the best processes. Every apprentice feels that these processes are bungling, and if only he could do the thing his own way, effort would be saved. An apprentice begins to be useful when he learns that the shop traditions are based on human experience, and have worked out roughly the most effective way of performing certain motions.

But just as people are now using very different locomotives and ships from those once recommended by tradition, so technical methods and processes are bound to change. The danger with some efficiency experts is that they try to sweep out of the way in a month or a year habits that have been handed down from father to son. The best experts place three to five years as the time needed to overhaul the processes of a mill, and probably that is too small.

As the speakers have been saying at the Efficiency Congress, you have got to consider the effect of all these motions on the human nerves and muscle. If a so-called efficiency device means that a man must work faster, it is borrowing from his capital of health to add to his wages or the employer's profits, and thus in either event is depreciating capital. Any correct efficiency device makes its gains not by making a higher demand on human energy, but simply by removing traditional obstacles to the employment of that energy.

THREAT OF COAL STRIKE.

The success of the employees in the Lawrence strike has no doubt given the coal miners new hope. The coal operators will be very wise if they reflect carefully on the things that have happened in the Massachusetts textile city. Let them stop to think that the result was not merely the granting of the demands of the workers, but the dissemination of a wide spread hostility toward the employing corporations.

This is examination day for trusts and corporations, great and small. The American people is the court of final resort, and a few friends at court are going to be necessary when the final award is made up.

The American people know by this time what a coal strike really means. They had no conception of its significance up to Dec. 1, 1902. With a characteristically happy go lucky manner they went about their business up to the very beginning of cold weather that year, with little idea that the results would be serious.

In almost any Northern city, coal could be bought that fall up to about October, at an advance of a dollar or two a ton. And yet people took things with such calm good nature, that they were caught in the cruel trap which this unique industrial quarrel had set for them.

No one has ever guessed how many sick, frail, aged persons lost their lives through the sufferings of the winter of 1902. The wealthy sought sunshine in the South or lived in hotels. But the wheels of civilization came pretty near stopping among the poor.

The ability to produce fire in cold climate is a test that differentiates the civilized man from primitive man. According to this test the Northern United States, in the inability of its government to act, went back beyond the Tower of Babel in dark antiquity.

If an innkeeper on a cold night on a lonely road, should decline to admit guests out of the storm because he could not agree with his help as to the price of their labor, his doors would be battered down, and his pantry raided.

The day the miners go out, that day the resources of law, justice, and government should be set to work, to prevent another renewal of the futile sufferings of 1902.

THOSE UNCLAIMED DEPOSITS.

The Lowell Courier-Citizen lines itself up with the Boston Globe and the Salem News in criticism of procedures which enforce resort to litigation by the state in recovering those deposits in savings banks which have been unclaimed for thirty years or more. "The law provides," to quote our contemporary, "that such funds must be turned over to the state treasurer, subject to recall in certain circumstances; and why that can not be done almost automatically and without the intervention of a court is a mystery. The banks know when the 30 years are up on any account, and they might as well settle forthwith."

What makes the automatic transfer appear all the more reasonable is the recall provision. By the same token, moreover, if events should render necessary a resort to the recall, then reciprocal action by the commonwealth without any fuss and feathers, would equally be indicated.—Salem News.

BRIGHTER INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK

Information comes from State employment bureaus that there are fewer people out of work now than at any time since the depression of 1907. Is it not a fact that the business of the country, particularly in New England and Massachusetts, is better just at present than it has been for a long time? How about your own business, for instance? Isn't it pretty good? Perhaps not as good as you found it prior to 1907, but that would be almost too much to expect.

It has been difficult for some people to get over that feeling which was aroused in 1907 that "business is poor." But nevertheless it is a fact that conditions are not so bad as may be the impression. The people of the country are perhaps too conservative to grasp the fact that there has been a general improvement all along the line.

Business ought to grow steadily better in New England, with increases in wages of from five to 15 per cent. being granted mill workers in many different cities. Let's look on the bright side.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞Creamed toast tonight of PRATT'S BREAD will bring him home early tomorrow.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

(Special.)

The stock market has shown another week of strength and thus far no signs of wavering. Each day it becomes more evident that sentiment has changed; that the business barometer is rising and that confidence is correspondingly gaining. This change is widespread, is not confined to the security markets and is merely a reflection of facts before they are commonly recognized. Spring is at hand. Outdoor work is being resumed, and with this change in the season there usually comes a more hopeful spirit which materially assists any well-founded recuperative tendencies. Crop prospects are highly encouraging. A long and severe winter has left the soil in much better condiiton than usual, and though it is too early to form definite expectations, especially as spring is late, it is a valuable advantage to start with good soil conditions. Nothing will do more to allay discontent arising from the high cost of living, or more quickly put the country again on the high road to prosperity than a good harvest in 1912.

Then, we have had a prolonged period of several liquidation and economy. Liquidation has meant payment of debts, restraint of speculation and a visible strengthening of the banking situation. Today our banks are exceptionally sound and well prepared to respond to any increased demand. Speculative land operations in the West, at one time a source of grave danger, have been wisely restrained; and the entire country is upon a sounder and stronger financial basis than at any time since the panic of 1907. Another powerful aid to business recovery is positive scarcity of many lines of staple merchandise owing to the conservative policy pursued by both manufacturers and distributers for the past two or three years.

Consumptive demands are improving hence bare shelves must be filled. This is especially true of the dry goods trades; an active demand having developed for cotton goods at advancing prices, some mills being entirely sold out. Labor troubles in the textile trades are being adjusted by advances in wages, which in many cases were very low in comparison with wages in other industries. The coal trade difficulties, though still a menace at this writing, seem in a fair way of adjustment. The British strike is nearing the end, and this should help matters here. In the anthracite trade there are no serious grievances on either side, and if the spirit of reason can be made to prevail no great disturbance should occur, albeit we may expect, a temporary suspension of mining.

The political atmosphere at home is somewhat clearer. Radicalism is on the wane; and though the political barometer is notorious for unexpected fluctuations there is reason to believe that the stock market has discounted the worst that is likely to happen in the political weather bureau. The technical position of the stock market is strong. The floating supply of stocks is concentrated in a few hands and has not yet been widely distributed. The recent rise was considerably stimulated by short covering, but seems to have been mainly due to a concerted movement of large interests, who were naturally prompt to take advantage of the improved conditions noted above. Thus far the rise has been perfectly legitimate and warranted by facts. There is no reason to believe that it has yet run its course. Reactions must be expected upon unfavorable developments, or in case of unexpected realizations; but the general trend of the market should be upward for some time to come.—Henry Clews, Banker, New York.

MARQUIS OF HERTFORD DEAD

Former Husband of Alice Thaw Is Successor to Title

London, March 25.—The Marquis of Hertford is dead in his 69th year. His heir is the Earl of Yarmouth, who was born Oct. 20, 1871.

The Earl of Yarmouth is well known in the United States. On April 27, 1903, he married Miss Alice Thaw at Pittsburgh, the Marquis and the Marchioness of Hertford, both of whom are now dead, being present at the ceremony. That union was annulled by the divorce court at London in February, 1908, the decree being granted on the petition of the countess.

Wreck Not to Be Raised

Norfolk, Va., March 25.—The Italian bark Rosalia d'Ali, which was sunk off Sewell's Point three weeks ago by the steamer Princess Anne, will not be raised by her owners, who will dispose of the vessel as she lies. The D'Ali is loaded with 1890 tons of coal.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on Box. 25c

TAKES ISSUE WITH PRESIDENT

Says Taft's Theory Means Rule by Bosses

ROOSEVELT RECEIVES OVATION

Large Audience In Portland Hears Him Swing the "Big Stick" at Wall Street and Big Business Interests—Temporary Platform Collapses, but the Colonel and Reception Committee Are Uninjured

Portland, Me., March 25.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt took direct issue with President Taft and brandished the "big stick" at Wall street and the big business interests in a speech here before the largest political meeting in the city's history.

He declared the decision in the cases of the Standard Oil and the tobacco trust had benefited rather than hindered the trusts.

"Wall street opposes me," said he, "because I advocate a policy of efficient control. Wall street much prefers a policy of makebelieve destruction which leaves offenders better off than before and unsettles business."

He assailed President Taft for a declaration in New Hampshire last Tuesday that "This is a government of the whole people, for the people, by a representative part of the people."

Said Colonel Roosevelt: "It's on this we take issue with the president. In actual practise the president's theory of government of the people, not by the people but by a representative part of the people, means simply government of the people by the bosses, by the men who represent the combination of politics and big interests; a combination of policies and financial privilege."

He spoke on a score of other questions. He avowed there was a necessity to bring about such conditions as would give the farmers of the nation a better chance. Again he advocated the recall of judicial decisions, saying the constitution was the people's to construe.

More than 3000 people filled every available inch of space in the auditorium when Colonel Roosevelt entered, and fully 1000 gathered outside, unable to secure admission. His appearance was the signal for cheers.

The noise of the rousing reception was still echoing through the hall when there was a slight accident which for the moment caused some apprehension. An impromptu stage in the front of the hall on which thirty members of the reception committee and their guests were sitting collapsed as Colonel Roosevelt started to walk across it.

With much sound of splintering wood the central part of the hastily constructed platform gave way. Guests and committeemen, on their feet to receive the colonel, were thrown into the hollow, grabbing at each other's shoulders and coat tails.

Colonel Roosevelt balanced himself on the platform's edge, and few of the men fell. The colonel treated the matter as a joke, saying at the beginning of his speech:

"But it was not the platform I am standing on that broke; ours won't break down." Then, in a more serious vein:

"And the servants of the people will have to stand on that platform or American democracy will have to confess itself defeated."

Enoch C. Foster, a former associate justice of the supreme court of this state, presiding officer at the meeting, introduced Colonel Roosevelt as "the next President of the United States."

Immediately on the completion of his address Colonel Roosevelt left the auditorium and proceeded to the home of Colonel Frederick Hale, where he remained in conference with political leaders from all parts of Maine until it was time for him to leave for the station in order to catch the train for New York.

CARRIES 660 POUNDS

Special Curtiss Machine For Use of War Department

Augusta, March 25.—What army officers declare is a new record for aeroplanes was made by Aviator Walsh here at the army camp with the Curtiss machine, built to meet special specifications by the war department.

In an unfavorable wind Walsh carried fuel ample for four hours flying, weighing 180 pounds and 480 pounds of added weight, an aggregate load of 660 pounds, and climbed to an altitude of 810 feet in seven minutes.

The final test, an attempt to reach the required altitude of 2000 feet with this weight and amount of fuel in 10 minutes will be made later at College Park, Md.

Settle French Strike

Denain, France March 25.—The striking coal miners here resumed work this morning, an arrangement between them and the mine owners having been affected.

APRIL MAGAZINES.

SUBURBAN LIFE.—The spring planting number, the April issue—is a mine replete with golden information for bettering the garden, the home and the social conditions of the suburbanite, in whatever part of the country he lives. A photograph of Japanese Iris in colors ranging from white to violet, blue and purple and with a maze of veinings and markings, makes one of the most effective magazine covers ever designed.

"Memories of Old Fashioned Gardens" is the leading article. It describes two gardens of the past generation in a manner to delight the flower lover's heart. "Rockwork in the Garden" is a tale of actual experience in embellishing driveways, banks and paths on a successful southern estate. Among the score of other good articles are: "An Argument for the Partridge Wyandotte"; "Nature Studies in the Public Schools", "The Operation of a Model Suburban Library"; "The Construction of the Stucco House;" "A woman's Vegetable Garden"; "Effective Community Clubs in California."

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.—Kathleen Norris, who became famous as the author of "Mother," begins a new serial novel in the April Woman's Home Companion. It is a love story laid in California. Other fiction is contributed by Mary Stewart Cutting, Carolyn Wells, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and Mary Hastings Bradley.

Among articles of note are the following: "Making the Most of Moving Pictures," an account of the moving-picture business as an educational factor "Getting Rid of the House Fly;" "Good Health a Business Asset," in which the author gives much practical advice, particularly to women who work in business for a living.

The regular household, fashion and home decoration departments are filled with new, interesting facts and suggestions. A notable contribution to the fashion department is entitled "A Day in New York With Miss Gould," in which Grace Margaret Gould, takes the reader to see the new fashions at a smart modiste's, then to Fifth Avenue, where at afternoon tea the newest and latest gowns are to be seen, and in the evening to a theatre, where more of the latest ideas in this line are exhibited.

ENGINEERING MAGAZINE.—The leading place for April is devoted to the first of a series of articles by John B. C. Kershaw dealing with some of the primary causes of the labor troubles which are agitating England at present. Mr. Kershaw is a Fellow of the Statistical Society and is well fitted to write understandingly on this question. In the present article he presents for consideration some basic causes of the labor unrest: The increased cost of living the spread of casual labor and "holliganism", the lack of confidence felt by British capital in the political situation, and the lack of discipline among the labor organizations. Later articles will attempt to show in what manner these primary causes have brought about the present conditions.

Among the illustrated articles may be mentioned the first of two papers by the aviator, Capt. Horace B. Wild, which point out that the future development along aerial lines depends mainly upon the engineer, in the design of engines, etc., The number also carries the full Review of the Engineering Press, and The Engineering Index.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.— For April, Lippincott offers a dainty list of contents adapted to the exacting appetite of the spring. The complete novel is a cheerful, diverting, and delightful story, called "The Stolen Woman," by Eleanor M. Ingram, whose previous novels, "Stanton Wins," "From the Car Behind," and "The Substitute," were widely read and universally praised. Her theme this time is the calm way in which the hero demonstrates that he is the master not only of his own fate but of several other people's as well. The nere fact that the girl he falls in love with is about to be married to another man deters him not a whit: he simply resorts to the primitive way of securing a bride by carrying her off willy-nilly. As it happens, the girl has a will of her own, and there are some interesting complications before the clever denouement is reached. There's a seasonable outdoor flavor all through, motor-car and motor- boat, not to mention a steam-yacht, all having a part in the narrative. The hero is brave and manly, as heroes should be, and the heroine is sweet and womanly, as heroines should be, while the other characters leave just as little to be desired. It's a good lively story "The Stolen Woman."

Besides the complete novel, there is a sheaf of short stories.

TECHNICAL WORLD.—Two strong features for April Technical World are "When Welsh and Irish Rule" by Robert Barr, and "Two Hundred Cities in Revolt," by Henry M. Hyde. The first covers the English political situation the second commission government in America. Other articles are: "Brotherhood of Bread," J. C. Welliver, "Fortunes Wasted in a paying Industry;" G. E. Mitchell. "A Folding Bungalow;" R. H. Moulton; "New Fruits to Lower Cost of Living" C. L. Edholm. "Woman Civil Engineer," Richard Morrison. "Canadium—More Precious than Gold;" Dr. L. K. Hirshberg "Natural Easter Eggs"—F. G. Moorhead and Popular Science and Mechanics supplement.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

GOOD THING FOR QUINCY

Our average daily outstanding business loans are OVER three quarters of a million dollars, mainly being used by Quincy business men! A bank that is helping Quincy's business, deserves your support and merits your confidence. Open a deposit here.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

PIANO POINTS PLAINLY PUT
We Sell Pianos. Mighty Good Ones.

We'll surely save you $100 on the price and warrant the Piano for 10 years. A small amount down will do. Balance in pleasing monthly payments.

Several slightly used Pianos in our Spring Opening Sale at bargain prices. Pianos to rent. Piano Stools, Scarfs, Music Cabinets at reduced prices.

AERO Piano Players

Please Particular People. They're handsome in appearance, durable in construction, simple in operation, high in quality, low in price. We'll take your Piano in exchange and divide the balance in easy payments.

We sell Player Music Rolls at low prices.

See and hear the AERO in our window this week.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., QUINCY
Good Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

Have Your Measure Taken At Home for a Custom-Made Suit

It's easy—just drop us a card or call us up and our representative will call any time of the day or evening.

Call in your Mother, Wife or Pa and let them help you to select what will become you from our big line of the newest and prettiest weaves, colorings and patterns.

You'll find everything that's new—all that's worth while, from blue serges to Scotch mixtures. They are all strictly 1912, and were selected to meet the demands of the most critical dressers.

Our made-to-measure clothes are more than up-to-date They are fashioned from all wool fabrics that have been perfectly shrunk. The linings are the best we can find in New York or Chicago—tested for strength and color.

A 1912 Custom-Made Suit $17.50

We try to deserve your patronage by giving you a little more than most tailors. We try mighty hard to do this, and we keep on looking after your wants so as to merit your future orders.

Our honor is woven into every suit that leaves the premises.

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY
DEPT. OF TAILORING
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

Didn't Hurt Him.

Towne—My wife's doing her own cooking now.

Browne—Well, you don't seem to mind it.

Towne—No; I say she's doing her own cooking. I get mine done at a restaurant.—Catholic Standard and Times.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON STREET CHURCH.

Notwithstanding the extremely inclement weather there was a good attendance at the morning service at the Washington street Congregational church. The topic was "Not servant but friend." The topic for the evening service was "Journey of life." Both services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. P. Marshall.

The meeting of the men's class in the evening was also well attended considering the weather, thirty men being present. The general topic of the Men's class is "Social Christianity" and the speaker at the Sunday evening meeting was A. F. Bromley of the Y. M. C. A. who spoke of Social Christianity from the Y. M. C. A. standpoint.

The annual parish meeting and supper will be held Wednesday evening. This is the most important meeting of the year and will probably be largely attended.

The usual mid-week meeting will be held Friday evening.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

The morning topic was "New settings for old truths." The attendance at Sabbath school was fair. The young people's meeting was very well attended. Evening topic: A contrast; "The World without, and the World with Christianity." Attendance small. Mr. Graham Patterson sang "Peace, Sweet Peace" very effectively.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST.

A good audience was present Sunday morning at the Wollaston Baptist church in spite of the storm. The pastor Rev. Joseph Walther preached to the children on "Obedience to Christ" and to adults on "The Value of Persistent Effort."

The Sunday school was presided over by Elford L. Durgan, superintendent and all the classes were well attended. Lesson considered, "Feasting and Fasting."

The Junior Endeavor society met at 3.30 in the chapel. Miss Ethel M. Campbell had the meeting in charge.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was held at 6 o'clock Subject: "The Saloon and its Allies." Hab. 2:1-17, leader, Kenneth Albee.

The evening service was held in the auditorium. The pastor preached on the subject, "Drawing back."

This evening at 7.45 the weekly offering, and the missionary offering committees will meet at the parsonage, and in the afternoon at 4 the pastor's class in the Fundamental Principles of the Christian Faith will meet at the parsonage. This evening at 7.45 a cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Selden H. Nickerson, Ardell street, Montclair.

Wednesday afternoon at 3.45 Junior Endeavor social will be held in the chapel. All the members will please bring in their missionary money. Parents cordially invited.

The pastor's second class will meet at the home of Mrs. H. J. Grass, 52 Ardell street, Montclair, Thursday afternoon at 4 instead of Wednesday afternoon as heretofore.

Friday evening at 7.45 the regular meeting for praise, prayer and testimony will be held in the chapel: subject: "His Holiness." This subject will continue our meditations on the Life and Character of Jesus.

Baptisms will take place Easter Sunday at the regular evening service. If there are any others who desire to be baptized but have not yet seen the pastor, they should do so at once.

The topic for the prayer meeting April 5 will be "His Sufferings and Death." This will be our monthly Covenant Meeting. A number of people will be presented to the church as candidates for baptism and it marks the close of a Sacred Day in the life of our Lord. A large number of our people ought to be present.

Memorial flowers are requested for Easter Sunday. All who desire or purpose to send flowers are requested to notify Mrs. E. B. Neale or Mrs. James Mitchell.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN.

At the morning service of worship, Mrs. J. W. West presided at the organ and Miss Abbie Penly sang most acceptably two selections. The communion table and the pulpit were most artistically banked with choice flowers that Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cummings had received in honor of their silver wedding the day before. As part of the opening service the minister read Mrs. May Riley Smith's beautiful poem, entitled "Sometime." The sermon was upon "Eternal Life," based on the text, "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly," John 10:10. Rev. Mr. Horst said: "Christ always lays the emphasis on Life, not death. Unfortunately we have associated the phrase 'life eternal' with a form of future existence until we have almost forgotten that that is not its only meaning. In the gospels occasionally only does it refer to future existence, generally it describes a quality of being. Mere continuity of existence could hardly be called a blessing. It might be only endless monotomy. If the future life has any joy for us, it must be because it welcomes us to a life of moral fulfilment, development, progress and enlargement.

Largeness of soul, fine qualities of being, likeness to God, whosoever hath these 'hath eternal life' here and now. The eternal life can be lived in a poor man's cottage, as well as in a rich man's palace. While there is no sight more beautiful than to see a human personality growing into Godlikeness there is also no sight so sad as to see die in a man that which raises him above the animal and gives him a connection with the spiritual world. To be carnally-minded is death, to be spiritually minded is life. This spiritual death is described as the loss of the soul in the New Testament. This loss of the soul, says Jesus, is not to be compared even with the gain of the whole world. To save man from this death of the soul and to awaken in him the higher life was Christ's mission. Let us, therefore come to Jesus and learn of him to lay hold on the life eternal.

"The Wollaston Unitarian church was organized, January 31, 1888. It is supported by voluntary subscriptions. Its pews are not sold, rented or taxed, but are all free, so that any one may occupy any seat at any time. No Unitarian church has any dogmatic creed, but all Unitarian churches accept the religion of Jesus, holding, in accordance with his teaching, that practical religion is summed up in love to God and love to man.

At Unitarian Minister's meeting in Boston today, Dr. Stanton Coit of London gave an address on "The Sociological Function of the Church" and D. Chauncey Brewer, Esq. of Boston on "Immigration from a New Angle."

A large number from the Y. P. R. U. attended a neighborhood meeting at Christ church, Dorchester, last evening. After the address of the evening followed a social hour and refreshments.

At the Lenten service, Wednesday evening at 7.45 o'clock the Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson of Quincy will preach the sermon. The musical part of the service includes a solo by Mrs. Oscar L. Baker and a duet by Mrs. O. L. Baker and Mr. Herbert Baker. William Ellis Weston, the well-known music teacher, presides at the organ, This is the next to the last in the series of mid-week Lenten services. The Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of West Newton, one of the ablest preachers in New England, will preach at the last service April 3. The public is cordially invited.

Thursday afternoon from, 2 to 6 o'clock will be held in the vestry, open to the public and free to all, an exhibition of arts and crafts, including landscape paintings, portraits, photographs, pen and ink sketches, tooled leather, jewelry, brass work, etc. Tea will be served from 3.30 to 5 o'clock. In connection with this exhibition the Ladies' Aid Alliance will hold a food sale.

The question of Equal Suffrage demands the attention of all citizens of this commonwealth. In six states of the Union the women are entitled to vote at the next presidential election. Don't fail to hear Mrs. Fitzgerald on Equal Suffrage tomorrow evening in Brasee hall at 8 o'clock.

The Lenten Study class meets at the minister's home, Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

All who have printed matter relating to our church are requested to communicate with the minister.

The members and friends of the Y. P. R. U. will attend a service of song and inspiration at Channing church, Dorchester, Sunday evening, March 31 at 7.30 o'clock. The Rev. John Haynes Holmes, minister of the Church of the Messiah in New York will be the speaker. It will be necessary to go in good season to get a good seat.

On Easter, at both the morning and afternoon services, an Easter offering for the good of the church will be taken.

Quincy Commandry No. 47 U. D. Knights Templars will attend divine service in our church Easter Sunday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock.

The Social Service Committee meets at the home of Mr. Arthur Rohn, cor. Beale and Winthrop avenue, next Sunday at 12.10.

MEMORIAL.

At the Memorial church of Atlantic, yesterday morning, Rev. T. W. Davison spoke on "Service." Mr. Davison said that the emphasis put on service today was a bug-a-boo to the ultra conservative who wanted some special impractical doctrine preached in every sermon. Art has put a halo around the head of Christ, but the Gospels depict Him as a serious, loving, thoughtful servant—who could take the humble position in order to cure disciples of their selfish, jealous dispositions, and fit them for the work of evangelism.

Service is taking to heart, the need of other lives irrespective of their condition—color or creed. The self-centered, self-sufficient— unsympathic man or woman cannot be a true servant of humanity. Service is not the giving of a gift ,but the giving of our lives.

To serve acceptably there must be an abundant life. The church that is satisfied just because the congregation keeps up its average, and just meets its expenses is not able to serve efficiently. A body that just keeps alive may be a physical failure without health, vigor, elasticity, enjoyment. We serve because of the helpful attitude of mind. The life of a true servant of God is unselfish, loving and carries good will to all. The day is past when men can be scared into the service of God, but while there is a spark of red blood in a man's soul and a noble thought in the mind we cannot get rid of the idea or service. A person can surrender heaven—can smile at thought of hades, but he can never be at ease when he knows his wickedness is robbing some mother of her boy—when his wickedness is degrading some sister or wronging some friend. A person can be indifferent to a creed, but no man can be indifferent to the crying needs of men.

f men are carrying the burden of sin, shame and sorrow by defective birth and training it is the privilege of the church to lift them into a life of attainment and bring them into the realities of life. Service may lead to the cross, but it will also give the joys that are abiding.

MISS ELIZABETH H. PERRY.

Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth H. Perry were held Saturday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Clapp Perry, 56 Spear street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor of First church.

Miss Perry was the daughter of the late Aaron H. Perry, a former superintendent of the Connecticut and Passumpsic Rivers railroad and also of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. He died at Springfield in 1893 at the age of 60.

Miss Perry was in her 54th year. She was educated at Mrs. Cherrington's private school, Richmond, Va., at Westfield normal school and Boston Normal school. For nineteen years she was director of manual arts at Bridgewater normal school.

The remains were taken to Forest Hills for cremation. She is survived by her mother and a brother, W. C. Perry, who resides at New Haven, Connecticut.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Borden's

A Food Stimulant. The man or woman who "burns the candle at both ends" and who lives on vital forces—needs Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes, soothes and strengthens. Prescribed by physicians for convalescents, invalids and people in health who wish to keep healthy.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

OPEN LETTER TO CITY COUNCIL

Mr. President and members of the City Council,

Gentlemen:

Will Mayor Stone kindly explain to the Council why by his order at this late day he is trying to force the Council to accept Saville street in solving the grade crossing problem in Quincy? I believe the City Council should be very cautious and not jump blindly from the frying-pan into the fire by accepting Saville street before thoroughly investigating the consequences. Following are the reasons:

First,—The Council should know all the facts and agreements that have transpired between our city officials and the officials and counsel of the N. Y., N. H. & Hartford R. R. Co., before the Special Commission which include the report of Prof. C. B. Breed, expert engineer, employed by the city of Quincy, and also the finding of the Special Commission soon to be reported to the Superior Court.

Second,—Remember, gentlemen, Saville street is a public highway and has been for many, many years, ever since Samuel Saville laid out and deeded Saville street to the town of Quincy as a public thoroughfare forever. This was long before the railroad created this dangerous condition to the public welfare at this location.

Third,—Saville street being a public highway cannot be closed up for there are ways of eliminating this dangerous crossing and maintain Saville street in its present location.

Fourth,—Saville street is in a unique position as a public highway. For many years it has never been accepted officially thus assuming the responsibility, control, and liability, hence, the burden is up to the party creating this public menace.

Fifth,—Accept Saville street at this critical time and you immediately assume responsibility, control, and liability now and forever which I predict will involve no end of trouble, litigation and expense.

Yours for publicity,
G. B. BATES,
Member of grade crossing committee.

HEAD OF GERMAN FEDERATION

James Duncan, of this city, first vice-president of the American Federation of Labor will entertain Carl Legien, of Germany, this week. Herr Legien is head of the German Labor Federation, and also secretary of the International Secretariat, the world council of labor organizations. Herr Legion is now at Washington as the guest of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and is expected here tomorrow.

Mr. Duncan became acquainted with the German labor leader at Germany last year, where the local agitator was a delegate to the Secretariat, which was held at Budapest. He will conduct his guest through Boston and Quincy and other places of historical interest.

MRS. HARRIET W. BAILEY.

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet W. Bailey was held Sunday afternoon from her late home on Fort street. The services were of a simple nature and were conducted by Rev. Edward Norton, pastor emeritus of the Bethany church. There were many beautiful flowers sent by loving friends. The burial was at Mount Wollaston cemetery.

LINES ARE TIGHTENING

Expected Three Members of Allen Gang Will Be Taken Today

Mount Airy, N. C., March 25.—Three more members of the Allen clan, Claude Swanson Allen, brother of Floyd; Friel Allen, son of Jasper, and Wesley Edwards, the more desperate of the two Edwards boys—have been located by the detectives in the mountains ten miles north of Mount Airy and their capture today is practically certain. It is predicted they will not be taken without bloodshed.

The outlaws were located in the mountains and word was sent here for re-enforcements. Immediately the sheriff of Surry county with a number of his deputies and a dozen detectives and civilian volunteers started up into the hills. They will work their way to the south of the place where the fugitives are in hiding.

On the north the outlaws are confronted by a hundred men, detectives, deputy sheriffs and volunteers working from the Hillsville end. When the Mt. Airy squad arrives on the south the officers will surround the hiding place and cut off all escape.

Sidna Allen, the leader of the clan, is believed to be hiding in Sugar Loaf mountain, five miles away from where the Edwards boy and the other two Allens are said to have been located.

A Smooth Range

It takes great skill and the very best material to make a plain smooth range—but Oh! how clean and wholesome it looks in the kitchen, so appropriate and business like.

Glenwood Combination Coal, Wood and Gas Range.

It matters not whether your kitchen is large or small — there's a Plain Glenwood made to fit it. Prices to suit all purses.

Cabinet Glenwood Range

H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for Mrs. Mary Connaway, Jeremiah Daly, Estella Kingsbury, Mrs. Thomas A. McNeill, Mr. Seramnel, Mrs. Georgia Swain, Dr. A. P. Thompson, and J. H. Williams.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

25—Quincy Alliance.
26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
26—President's Day.—Quincy Women's Club.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen —Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
17—Whist—Maple Lodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

LLOYD'S EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptoks are steadily crowding out the commoner sorts of cemented bifocals, because:— Kryptoks are easier to wear; no recementing; and much more stylish in appearance.

5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS	ROMPERS
"Her Majesty's" Special $1.00 value 79c	"The Little One" Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

OJINAGA HAS FALLEN

Rebels Now Hold Entire State of Chihuahua

El Paso, March 25.—Ojinaga, the last part in the state of Chihuahua to be held by the federals, has fallen without a fight, and General Jose de la Cruz Sanchez, the federal commander, has gone over to the side of Orozco's army, and is now recruiting soldiers to join Orozco at Chihuahua against the federals outside of Torreon.

General Sanchez was supposed to be loyal to the government, as he was one of Madero's chief aides during the Maderista revolution. Orozco sent an envoy urging him to toss his hat in the ring with the Liberals. The aged general agreed, and will have command of one of the rebel detachments to be sent against Torreon.

General Antonio Rojas of the revolutionary forces was placed under arrest today by General Orozco, the commander-in-chief at Chihuahua, and 200 of Rojas' men were disarmed and their rifles given to men whose loyalty is not questioned. The remaining 590 men of the Rojas detachment were sent south to re-enforce Generals Campa and Salazar, who are in momentary expectation of attack at Escalon.

CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH

Lived Seventeen Days in Straw Stack With Feet Frozen

Tisdale, Man., March 25.—To live for seventeen days in a hole in a straw stack on the open prairie was the experience of John Wannamaker, who now is in a Prince Albert hospital. Wannamaker, whose feet were frozen during that time, had to eat only the oats which he managed to gather from the straw and to quench his thirst only the snow.

Wannamaker left Prince Albert to tramp to Crooked River. Near Tisdale he crept into a straw stack to spend the night. The next morning his feet were frozen so badly he could not proceed and seventeen days elapsed before help came.

Oh So Helpful.

Now, "If at first you don't succeed,"
Before again you try,
Your friends appear from far and near
And grin and tell you why.
—Catholic Standard and Times.

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies
Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. M...ch 21-tf

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW &

REVISED FIRE ALARM

7 Corner Farnum and Edison streets.
12 Palmer Street, opposite Bakers.
13 Corner Shelton Road and Sea Sts.
14 Church turn-out, Manet Avenue.
15 Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
16 Sea Street, near Rock Island Road
17 Sea street, near Dunham's.
18 Sea and Palmer streets.
19 Rock Island.
21 Corner Whitwell and Granite Sts.
23 Hancock Street, near Hall's stable.
24 Whitwell Street, near Hospital.
25 Corner Newcomb and Canal Sts.
26 Hancock, opposite City Hall.
27 Corner Elm and Washington Sts
28 Corner Greenleaf and Hancock Sts.
29 Corner Butler Road and Putnam
31 Phipps Street, near Payne Street.
32 Independence Avenue and Franklin
34 Corner High and Franklin Streets.
35 Corner Hancock and School Streets.
36 Junction Pleasant and Quincy Sts
37 Corner Franklin and Water Sts.
38 Corner Liberty and Plain Sts.
39 Corner Penn and Liberty Streets.
41 Corner School and Granite Streets.
42 Corner Copeland and Granite Sts.
43 Corner Common and Copeland Sts.
45 Corner Crescent and Willard Sts.
46 Copeland and Furnace avenue.
47 Corner Bates Avenue and Grove
48 Corner Robertson and Willard Sts.
49 Corner Doble and Willard Streets.
51 Tubular Rivet Factory.
52 Elmwood Avenue and Farrington.
53 Winthrop and Warren Avenues.
54 Hancock Street,, near Elm Avenue.
56 Beale, opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57 Corner Beach and Willow Streets.
58 Corner Beale and Adams Streets.
59 Beale Street and Central Avenue.
61 Squantum and Hancock Streets.
62 Corner Atlantic and Hancock Sts.
63 Hancock Street, near Atlantic depot.
64 Billings Street and Newbury Ave.
64 (D) Combination No. 2 House.
65 Faxon Road and Squantum Street.
66 Prospect and Billings.
67 Corner Atlantic and Squantum Sts
68 Squantum.
69 Montclair.
71 Corner Mill and Washington Sts.
72 Washington Street, corner South.
73 Corner Winter and Howard Sts.
74 Corner River and Washington Sts
75 Corner Main and Sumner Streets.
76 Washington corner Wharf.
76 (D) Power House, Q. & B. St. R'y.,
78 Fore River Ship Building Works.
112 Sea street near Willows.
113 Post Island.
114 Engine House, Houghs Neck.
116 Centre road and Darrow Street.
117 Great Hill, Hough's Neck.
119 Rockland and Rhoda, R. I.
121 President's Hill.
122 Chestnut Street and Revere Road.
123 Hancock Street, near Car Barn.
124 Corner Goffe and Adams Streets.
126 Russell Park.
136 Brook Road and Water Street.
138 Corner Brooks Avenue and Centre
143 Station Street.
147 Granite Railway Yard.
151 Billings Road and Beach Street.
152 Corner Billings and Rawson Roads.
153 Farrington near Wol. Foundry.
154 Wollaston Ave. near Sailors' Home.
155 Warren Avenue, near Newton St.
161 Newport avenue opp. Foundry.
171 Whicher's factory, Union Street.
172 Corner Glencoe place and New Rd.
173 Newcomb Square, Quincy Avenue.
174 North, bet. South and Washington
175 Quincy Avenue, near Mrs. Baxter's.
221 Glendale road and Bedford Street.
223 Washington and Foster.
225 Field and Brackett street.
226 Dimmock and Upland road.
227 Hancock and Chestnut streets.
228 Edgemere Road and Putnam St.
242 (P) City Hospital.
272 Corner Washington and Pray Sts.
273 (P) Baker Basin.
321 Intervale Street and Brook Avenue
324 Adams St., near Whitwell St.,
331 Franklin and School.
332 Federal and Independence aves.
412 Corner Willard and West Streets.
413 Buckley and Arthur
431 Rogers Street, off Hall place.
432 Willard and Furnace avenue.
435 Reardon and Barry Streets.
441 Smith Street, rear C. H. Hardwick's
442 Quarry Street, near Hitchcock's.
443 Corner Hayden and West Streets.
445 Corner Quarry and Common Streets.
446 Opposite Willard School, Copeland.
512 Grand View and South Central Ave.
513 Foot Beach Street.
515 Quincy Mansion School.
524 Berlin and Woodbine.
552 Brook and Granger.
553 Belmont and Warren avenue.
612 Hancock Street and Billings Road.
613 Hayward opp. Gear Works.
614 Glover avenue and Newbury avenue
615 Oak and Walnut.
617 Squantum and Huckins avenue.
712 Broadway and Commonwealth ave.
718 (P) Johnson's Lumber Yard.
721 South and Chubbuck.
722 Washington and Union.
723 South and Clairmont Avenue.
725 South and Wintnrop park.

D—Duplicate. P—Private.

For brush and grass fire, send word by telephone or otherwise, to the nearest Fire station.

SIGNALS—Fire Department.

Ten (10) blows followed by Box number—Second alarm.
Twelve (12) blows, followed by Box number—General Alarm
Four (4) blows—Special call for Hose No. 1.
Two (2) blows—Recall.
Three (3) blows—Chief Engineer's call.
One (1) blow, 7 A. M. and 5 P. M.—Fire Alarm test.
2-2 three times—No school.
4-4-4—Military call.
Seven (7) blows—Electric Light Co. to shut off current.
3-3-3—Police call.
Lost Child call. 5-5-5—then one round of the Box nearest to where the lost child lives.
Six (6) blows—Superintendent Water Works call.
Two (2) blows, 8.55 P. M.—Curfew Law.

132—Out of City Call, Braintree.
135— " " " Weymouth
158— " " " Milton.
16— " " " Boston.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	39 degrees
Mar. 25, 1911,	75 degrees
Mar. 25, 1910,	40 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Miss Edna Carter of Marsh street is entertaining her cousin, Miss Hazel May Bissett, for a few days.

The S. Agnes Parker Sewing circle meets in G. A. R. hall, Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock sharp. There will also be a meeting in the evening at 7.30 o'clock.

At meeting of John Hancock lodge I. O. O. F. next Wednesday evening, the third degree will be conferred upon candidates of John Hancock, Neponset and Mt. Wollaston lodges.

QUINCY YACHT CLUB NOTES.

Frank L. Cross is having a 40 foot raised deck cruiser built at Nock's at East Greenwich, Conn. from designs of Sawsey, Raymond and Page. She will have a twenty horse power, four cylinder Halee engine.

A sonder-class boat is being built at Lawley's for Guy Lowell of the Eastern yacht club. She will probably be one of the challengers for the Quincy Yacht club challenge cup. She is from the designs of Bowles & Mower.

Chester Collins is having an auxiliary catboat, 13 feet over all, built at Linnell's Savin Mill yards. Her cabin will have 5 feet 9 inches head room.

It is expected that the Quincy yacht club racing and social features will be announced sometime this week. All that the committee have been waiting for is the fixing of the dates for the Y. R. M. A. dates. These were announced last week.

HELD IN $10,000

Shaw Is Arraigned In Court Charged With Larceny of $19,000

Boston, March 25.—Arthur W. Shaw, the Maine shoe manufacturer, was arraigned in the Suffolk superior court this morning on a charge of larceny of $19,000 from the A. W. Shaw corporation, of which he was president.

Shaw was not as cheerful yesterday and it was evident that he was keenly disappointed that his counsel, James H. Vahey, was unable to obtain bail for him. He had no visitors, not even his counsel coming to see him.

Attorney Vahey conducted a strenuous search for boadsmen yesterday and it is probable that the $10,000 bail will be furnished some time today.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

WELSH ADMIRAL.

Many Welsh people in Quincy will be interested to learn, that according to an English paper, the late Admiral Robley Evans had Welsh blood in his veins. The articles says:

"Most people know that the late Admiral Robley Evans (Fighting Bob) of the United States Navy, had Welsh blood in him, but few are aware how close his connection with the old country was. As a matter of fact, Mr. John Lloyd, M. A. Barmouth, writing in the "General" says that the famous Admiral was almost, if not actually a Merionethshire man. His grandfather, David Evans, was born at Dolorcan Fawr, Llaudecwyn, between Talsarnau and Maentwrog, and married, about 1819, Margaret, the daughter of William Roberts, Fucheswen Fawr, a farm between Talsarnau and Harlech. David Evans came to live at his wife's home, and seems to have become sole tenant about 1824. There were eleven children of the marriage, the eldest being David, who became a sailor. At one time he was captain of the "Oregon," a well-known vessel sailing from Liverpool. He was twice married, his first wife being the daughter of the then landlord of the Ship Inn, Portmadoc. There was no issue of the marriage. The second wife was the daughter of a Captain Lloyd Barmouth, and the child of that marriage was Robley Evans, the hero of the Spanish American War. There is no record of Robley's birth on the parish registers of Llandecwyn or Llanfihangel, and it is probable that he was born at some seaport in the United States. All the Fueheswen Fawr family subsequently emigrated to America, and David Evans, the admiral's father died in the States in 1895. It will be seen that there is no doubt at all about "Fighting Bob's Welsh descent, and many of the older inhabitants of Talsarnau and the surrounding district remember the family well.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Charles F. Adams 2d et al exs to Henry M. Faxon, Passonagesset Knoll Bay path.

Charles F. Adams 2d et al exs to Fred B. Rice,, Passonagesset Knoll Bay path.

Charles F. Adams 2d et al exs to Harry L. Reed, Passonagesset Knoll Bay path.

William I. Arnold to James F. Delong, St. Germain street, Bay View avenue.

Wilton A. Dunham to Annie L. Riley Riley, Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Duoham to Annie L. Riley Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Dunham to Alice G. Marville, Houghs Neck.

Hannah R. Foss to Leta J. Spear, Davis street.

Merrill K. Green to Josephine N. Fallon.

John S. Hallaran to Mary G. Kelley, Billings street.

Edward E. Jameson to Ada J. Barber, Elm avenue, Phillips street.

Helen B. Jenness adm. to Henry D. Binney, Hancock street, $8125.

Harry D. King to Fred W. Wood et al trs, Waterston avenue.

Cora M. Merrill to Alice E. Pendleton, Seagull road.

Patrick O'Loughlin tr to Henry D. Binney, Hancock street, $8125.

Alice E. Pendleton to Lora C. Merrill, Glover avenue.

John E. Poland to J. Butler Studley receiver, Davis street.

Quincy Quarries Co., to E. I. DuPont De Nemours Powder Co.

Sylvia H. Ramsdell tr to Patrick J. Lyons, Walnut street.

Frederick A. Ray et al to Elizabeth E. Ray, Babcock street, Manet avenue.

Avis E. Rhines to Lillian J. Muirhead, Winthrop place.

Ella F. B. Richards to Jennie B. Daman, Billings street.

James H. Riley to William A. Dunham, Houghs Neck.

Edward H. Sennott to Central Savings Bank, Bloomfield street, Davis street.

Edna B. Shaw to Susie W. Wayne, Hamilton street.

Warren F. Underwood to Adelbert E. Gay, Houghs Neck.

Fred W. Wood et al trs to John P. Granahan, Willow street.

COUPLE FOUND IN MAINE

Taunton Children Had Been Missing For a Week

Farmington, Me., March 25.—After a four days' search by the Taunton police Charity Batty, a miss of 15, and Eldon Hathaway, aged 17, have been located here.

According to Miss Batty's story, she and her boy companion left Taunton the first of last week. They spent the three succeeding nights at Manchester, Portland and Skowhegan. A search instituted by the Taunton police was unavailing until Saturday.

Carl Curtis recognized her and notified the authorities. According to their story, the young people took the trip here just for pleasure. Mr. Curtis invited them to spend the evening at his home and to him they gave an account of their journey.

THOUSANDS IN HUNT FOR BOY

After Nine Days Body Is Found In Salisbury Brook

LONG SEARCH IS NOW ENDED

Child Was Playing On Bank of Stream, Fell In and Was Carried Under Ice—Parents in Poor Circumstances and Fund Will Be Opened For Them by Brockton Newspapers

Brockton, Mass., March 25.—A search in which 30,000 citizens, full of compassion for a bereaved mother, aided by a hundred Brockton policemen and scores of city employes, united to find the body of 4-year-old John Ford, lost for nine days, came to an end yesterday.

Policeman Nills Lindboln, passing along Salisbury brook a few minutes after 4 o'clock, stumbled upon a fragment of a boy's sweater. The officer broke the ice, plunged into the icy water and brought the body of the little fellow to the surface.

Not since the famous disappearance and what was subsequently found to have been the murder of the little Ball children, has Brockton been so stirred by a child's disappearance. The boy has been missing since the afternoon of March 14.

The next day Mayor Howard announced that he would, if necessary, detail every employe of the city to make a thorough and systematic search of the brook's banks and the Taunton River into which it empties in an effort to find the boy. To enlist the aid of the citizens he announced the opening of a $100 reward fund, contributions to be placed in the custody of City Treasurer Pope, to be paid over to whoever should find the body.

One hundred and sixty dollars was raised.

It is said on the streets that inasmuch as the body was found by a city employe the board of aldermen tonight would decide whether he should receive the reward. Policeman Lindboln, however, has forestalled any such procedure by stating that he thought this $160 should be given to the father and mother of the child.

The Ford boy was playing near the Crescent street bridge and not far from his home on the afternoon of March 14. It is supposed he was throwing stones into the brook and fell in. A woman neighbor says she saw him sink, his body bob up again and then was enveloped in a whirlpool of the stream to be seen no more.

Three miles from the Crescent street bridge and near Matfield Pond the police at once placed a screen, so that no object could pass down the brook. Three days ago the distracted father, standing on the bank where his boy apparently had fallen in, was handed a telegram from relatives in Brooklyn telling him his own father was dead. He had at once to leave his heartbroken wife and their other little son, 2-year-old Francis, and go to New York. He returned yesterday.

The parents of the dead boy have lived in Brockton fifteen years. The father, Jeremiah Ford, is in poor circumstances through illness and misfortune, and it is thought that to help him tide over his hardships a fund will be opened by the Brockton papers to help him.

The mother, although distracted by the death of her boy, was overjoyed when Patrolman Lindboln, in his dripping uniform, brought the tiny body in a blanket to her home.

FIFTEEN PERCENT RAISE

Lawrence Firemen Win Strike In Three Days

Lawrence, March 25.—The strike of the stationary firemen in the Washington, Wood, Ayer and Prospect mills of the American Woolen company was brought to an end through the agency of Representative George H. Ellis of the legislative committee on conciliation, which acted as a mediary in the textile strike.

Representative Ellis came here and held a conference with John J. Cunningham, third vice president of the Brotherhood of Stationary Engineers, and officers of local 18, at which an agreement was drawn up conceding the increase of 15 percent demanded by the strikers. The legislator said he had the authority of President Wood of the American Woolen company to make those terms and the agreement was signed by him in behalf of the woolen company and by Organizer Cunningham and Secretary M. J. Haggerty for the local. About sixty men are affected. The strike lasted three days.

New Bishop of Arindela

Ogdensburg, N. Y., March 25.—Bishop Gabriels of the diocese of Ogdensburg announces the appointment by the pope of Mgr. Joseph H. Conroy of Ogdensburg as coadjutor bishop, with the title of bishop of Arindela. The dioces of Ogdensburg covers northern New York.

DAVID J. FOSTER

Funeral of Vermont Representative, Who Died in Washington

D. J. FOSTER'S BODY ARRIVES IN VERMONT

Funeral of Representative Is Held In Burlington

Washington, March 25. — The special train bearing the remains of Representative David J. Foster of Vermont left Washington at 3 yesterday afternoon and arrived in Burlington about noon today. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock.

Prayers were said at Mr. Foster's residence here at 1 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Smith of St. Margaret's Episcopal church officiating. Mrs. Foster and her daughters, Mildred, Mabel and Mathilde, accompanied the remains to Burlington.

Speaker Clark appointed as a committee from the house to attend the funeral Representatives Plumley (Mr. Foster's colleague), McCall and Roberts of Massachusetts, Higgins of Connecticut, Lloyd of Missouri, Fairchild of New York, Cline of Indiana, Taylor of Colorado, Harrison of Mississippi and Linthicum of Maryland.

As a special mark of respect the state department appointed William D. McNeir, chief clerk, to attend the funeral. This action, almost unprecedented, was taken because of the high esteem in which Mr. Foster was held by the department for his work as former chairman and member of the committee on foreign affairs.

KNOX LEAVES VENEZUELA

Was Given Cordial Reception by President Gomez and Officials

Caracas, March 25.—A rapid finish marked the last day of the visit of the American secretary of state, Mr. Knox, and his party at the Venezuelan capital. He left this morning for Puerto Cabello.

The secretary yesterday drove to the residence of the foreign minister, General Manuel Matos, where he was entertained. He had luncheon with the American minister, Elliott Northcott, at the legation. There were special races at the hippodrome, and later a reception and ball given by President Gomez at the Miraflores palace.

Foreign Minister Matos said in welcoming Secretary Knox that his visit meant closer ties of friendship and the development of commerce.

"The political sympathies of the United States and Venezuela," said Knox in response, "are in singularly close accord. If we have Washington you have Bolivar." He concluded with a eulogy of the Venezuelan patriot.

FALL OF FORTY-FIVE FEET

Fatal Results of Fight In a Boston Tenement House

Boston, March 25.—Two men fought in the dark, narrow entryway on the fourth floor of the six-story tenement house at 35 West Second street, South Boston, shortly after midnight yesterday morning and one of them was killed and the other seriously injured when they fell over the balustrade, locked in each other's arms, and plunged to the first floor, a distance of forty-five feet.

John Winisky, 24, a Lithuanian iron worker, who resided with William Slitkavich on the fourth floor, is the dead man, and Anthony Gregas, 60, of 43 West Third street, is at the City hospital with physicians battling for his life.

Railway to Spend Large Sum

Topeka, March 25.—Announcement was made here that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway has appropriated $22,700,000 for improvements this year.

Negro Shoots Detective

Fort Smith, Ark., March 25.—Detective Andy Carr was shot and killed by a negro in a local hotel. A mob is forming around the jail seeking the negro.

WESTERN UNION

Day Letters
Night Letters

No mail's delay

The quick route for business

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Winter Lingers in the Lap of Spring

The weather is still uncertain.

Nevertheless: You need not fear to let the furnace fire go out if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

No change in the weather is too quick for it. Its heat is instant, and since the heat is thrown outward and downward, the floor is warmed first and then the rest of the room.

Any room in the house can be made comfortable in a few minutes with a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

because it is portable, may be attached to any fixture and comfort is assured, because the REZNOR creates neither smoke nor odor.

You can stop your regular heating expense whenever you wish, and take care of any emergency with your REZNOR, and if you buy one now you'll have it on hand for the first chill days of Autumn. You can see of every size and style at our show rooms.

REZNOR GAS HEATERS

Prices from $2.50 up

Citizens' Gas Light Company

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

THE KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SPRING LAMB WITH MINT SAUCE.

NOW is the time that we enjoy the spring lamb, best roasted and served with mint sauce.

String beans, peas or asparagus may be served with roast lamb.

Roast Lamb.—Go over the meat with a clean damp cloth before you put it into the baking pan. Season with pepper. Take a cupful of water and add a teaspoonful of salt to it. Use this to baste with.

Lamb should be roasted a quarter of an hour for every pound of the meat. The oven must be very hot. Serve with mint sauce or asparagus tips.

Stuffed Lamb.

A loin of lamb may be stuffed if the ends of the ribs are taken out so that it can be rolled.

Stuffed leg of lamb is also nice. The butcher will take out the bones for you.

Wipe out the meat with a damp clean cloth. Sprinkle with salt. Add the dressing.

If it is a loin then roll and sew up. Lay on a rack in a dripping pan. Place some of the suet from the lamb on the meat. Sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper and bake in a hot oven. Some suet should also have been placed in the pan. When the flour browns a little begin to baste the lamb.

To make the dressing use breadcrumbs or, better still, cracker crumbs. Take about a cupful. Season with thyme or any herb preferred. Add salt and pepper and two ounces of melted butter and if it is still too dry a little hot water.

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb.—Have the butcher take the bone from the shoulder of lamb. Wipe it off and make a stuffing of four ounces of shredded suet, four ounces of breadcrumbs, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, a pinch of thyme and marjoram, salt and pepper to taste. Bind together with egg. Put the stuffing between the folds of meat and fasten up with skewers. Roast slowly and baste well. Serve with peas or mint sauce.

Mint Sauce.

Mint sauce should be made an hour or so before it is to be used, as then the vinegar absorbs the full aroma of the mint. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of fine sugar in one tablespoonful of boiling water. Add three heaping tablespoonfuls of finely chopped mint. Set away for half an hour. Drop in one tablespoonful of olive oil and half a cupful of good vinegar.

Anna Thompson.

Six Hundred Dead In Paraguay

Buenos Ayres, Argentine, March 25.—The victory of the revolutionary forces over the Paraguayan government troops at Asuncion is complete. More than 600 men are reported to have been killed during the battle. President Pena has taken refuge at the Uruguayan legation in Asuncion.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's ride discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

(Continued from last issue)

That same morning Tom Ware and Captain Murrell were seated in the small detached building at Belle Plain, known as the office, where the former spent most of his time when not in the saddle.

"So your sister doesn't like me, Tom—that's on your mind this morning, is it?" Murrell was saying.

"Make it worth my while and I'll take her off your hands," and Murrell laughed.

Tom favored him with a sullen stare.

There was a brief silence, during which Murrell studied his friend's face. When he spoke, it was to give the conversation a new direction.

"Did she bring the boy here last night? I saw you drive off with him in the carriage."

"Yes, she makes a regular pet of the little ragamuffin."

"Is the boy going to stay at Belle Plain?" inquired Murrell.

"That notion hasn't struck her yet, for I heard her say at breakfast that she'd take him to Raleigh this afternoon."

"That's the boy I traveled all the way to North Carolina to get for Fentress."

"Eh—you don't say?" cried Ware.

"Tom, what do you know about the Quintard lands; what do you know about Quintard himself?" continued Murrell.

"He was a rich planter; lived in North Carolina. My father met him when he was in congress and got him to invest in land here. They had some colonization scheme on foot—this was upward of twenty years ago—but nothing came of it. Quintard lost interest."

"And the land?"

"Oh, he held on to that."

"Quintard has been dead two years, Tom, and back yonder in North Carolina they told me he left nothing but the home plantation. The boy lived there up to the time of Quintard's death, but what relation he was to the old man no one knew. Offhand, Tom, I'd say that by getting hold of the boy Fentress expects to get hold of the Quintard land."

"That's likely," said Ware; then struck by a sudden idea, he added, "Are you going to take all the risks and let him pocket the cash? If it's the land he's after, the stake's big enough to divide."

"He can have the whole thing and welcome. I'm playing for a bigger stake." His friend stared at him in astonishment. "I'm licking a speculation into shape that will cause me to be remembered while there's a white man alive in the Mississippi Valley! Have you heard what the niggers did at Hayti?"

"You let the niggers alone; don't you tamper with them," said Ware. He possessed a profound belief in Murrell's capacity. He knew how the latter had shaped the uneasy population that foregathered on the edge of civilization to his own ends, and that what he had christened the Clan had become an elaborate organization disciplined and flexible to his ruthless will.

"Look here, what do you think I have been working for—to steal a few niggers? That furnishes us with money, but you can push the trade too hard and too far. The planters are uneasy. The Clan's got to deal a counter blow or go out of business. Between here and the gulf—" he made a wide sweeping gesture with his arm. "I am spotting the country with my men; there are two thousand active workers on the rolls of the Clan, and as many more like you, Tom—and Fentress—on whose friendship I can rely."

"Sure as God, John Murrell, you are overreaching yourself! Your white men are all right, they've got to stick by you; if they don't they know it's only a question of time until they get a knife driven into their ribs—but niggers—there isn't any real fight in a nigger, if there was they wouldn't be here."

"Yet you couldn't have made the whites in Hayti believe that," said Murrell, with a sinister smile.

Ware, feeling the entire uselessness of argument, uttered a string of imprecations, and then fell silent.

"Well, how about the girl, Tom?" asked Murrell at length. "Listen to me, Tom. I'll take her away, and Belle Plain is yours—land, stock and niggers!" said Murrell.

Ware shifted and twisted in his seat.

"Do you want the land and the niggers? I reckon you'll have to take them whether you want them or not, for I'm going to have the girl."

CHAPTER XIII.

Bob Yancy Finds Himself.

Mr. Yancy awoke from a long dreamless sleep; heavy-lidded, his eyes slid open. For a moment he struggled with the odds and ends of memory, then he recalled the fight at the tavern, the sudden murderous attack, the fierce blows Slosson had dealt him, the knife thrust which had ended the struggle. Therefore, the bandages that now swathed his head and shoulders; therefore, the need that he should be up and doing—for where was Hannibal?

Suddenly a shadow fell obliquely across the foot of his narrow bed, and Cavendish, bending his long body somewhat, thrust his head in at the opening. He found himself looking into a pair of eyes that for the first time in many a long day held the light of consciousness.

"How are you, stranger?" he demanded, in a soft drawl.

"Where am I?" The words were a whisper on Yancy's bearded lips.

"Well, sir, you are in the Tennessee river fo' certain. Polly! you jest step here."

But Polly had heard Cavendish speak, and the murmur of Yancy's voice in reply. Now her head appeared beside her husband's.

"La, you are some better, ain't you, sir?" she cried, smiling down on him. "It's been right smart of a spell, too; yes, sir, you've laid like you was dead, and not fo' a matter of hours either—but days."

"How long?"

"Well, nigh on to three weeks."

They saw Yancy's eyes widen with a look of dumb horror.

"And you don't know nothing about my nevvy?—you ain't seen or heard of him, ma'am?" faltered Yancy.

Polly shook her head regretfully.

"Ten or thereabouts, ma'am. He were a heap of comfort to me—" and the whisper on Yancy's lips was wonderfully tender and wistful. He closed his eyes and presently, lulled by the soft ripple that bore them company, fell into a restful sleep.

The raft drifted on into the day's heat; and when at last Yancy awoke, it was to find Henry and Keppel seated beside him, each solacing him with a small moist hand. Mrs. Cavendish appeared, bringing Yancy's breakfast. In her wake came Connie with the baby, and the three little brothers who were to be accorded the cherished privilege of seeing t' poor gentleman eat. Cavendish presented himself at the opening that did duty as a door.

"This looks like bein' alive, stranger," he commented genially.

"You-all ain't told me yo' name yet?" said Yancy.

"It's Cavendish. Richard Keppel Cavendish."

"My name's Yancy—Bob Yancy."

Mr. Cavendish exchanged glances with Mrs. Cavendish. By a nod of her dimpled chin the lady seemed to urge some more extended confidence on his part. Chills and Fever seated himself at the foot of Yancy's bed.

"Stranger, what I'm a-goin' to tell you, you'll take as bein' said man to man," he began, with the impressive air of one who had a secret of great moment to impart. "Ever hear tell of lords?"

"No." Yancy was quick to notice the look of disappointment on the faces of his new friends.

"Are you ever heard of royalty?" and Cavendish fixed the invalid's wandering glance.

"You mean kings?"

"I shore do."

Yancy made a mighty mental effort. "There's them Bible kings—" he ventured at length.

Mr. Cavendish shook his head.

"Them's sacred kings. Are you familiar with any of the profane kings, Mr. Yancy?"

"Well, taking them as they come, them Bible kings seemed to average pretty profane." Yancy was disposed to defend this point.

"You laust a heard of the kings of England. Sho', wa'n't any of yo' folks in the war agin' him?"

"I'd plumb forgot, why my daddy fit all through the war!" exclaimed Yancy. The Cavendishes were immensely relieved.

"Now you-all keep still," said Cavendish. "I want Mr. Yancy should get the straight of this here! The various orders of royalty are kings, dukes, earls and lords. Earls is the third from the top of the heap, but lords ain't no slouch."

"Dick had ought to know, fo' he's an earl himself," cried Polly exultantly.

"Sho,' Richard Keppel Cavendish, Earl of Lambeth! Sho', that was what he was! Sho'!" and some transient feeling of awe stamped itself upon their small faces as they viewed the long and limber figure of their parent.

"These here titles go to the eldest son. He begins by bein' a viscount," continued Chills and Fever. "It was my great grandfather come over here from England. His name was Richard Keppel Cavendish, same as mine is. He lived back yonder on the Carolina coast and went to raisin' tobacco. I've heard my grandfather tell how he'd heard folks say his father was always hintin' in his licker that he was a heap better than he seemed, and if people only knowed the truth about him they'd respect him mo', and mebby treat him better. Well, sir, he married and riz a family; there was my grandfather and a passel of girls—and that crop of children was the only decent crop he ever riz.

"My grandfather said he never knowed a man with the same aversion agin labor as his father had. Folks put it down to laziness, but they misjudged him, as come out later, yet he never let on.

"Then one day he got his hands on a paper that had come acrost in a ship from England. All at once, he lit on something in the paper, and he started up and let out a yell like he'd been shot. 'By gum, I'm the Earl of Lambeth!' he says, and took out to the nearest tavern and got b'lin' full. Afterward he showed 'em the paper and they seen with their own eyes where Richard Keppel Cavendish, Earl of Lambeth, had died in London. My great grandfather told 'em that was his uncle; that when he left home there was several cousins—but they'd up and died, so the title come to him. He never done a lick of work after that.

"I'm an orphan man of title now and it's been my dream to take Polly and the children and go back to England and see the king about my title. Don't you reckon he's got the notice the Cavendishes has petered out?"

Mr. Yancy considered this likely.

The furious shrieking of a steampacket's whistle broke in upon them.

"It's another of them hawgs, wantin' all the river!" said Mr. Cavendish, and fled to the steering oar.

(To be Continued.)

WHY WOMEN SUFFER

Many Quincy Women are Learning the Cure.

Women often suffer, not knowing the cause.

Backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness.

Irregular urinary passages, weakness, languor—

Each a seeming torture of itself.

Together tell of weakened kidneys.

Strike at the root—get to the cause.

Quickly give the help the kidneys need.

No remedy endorsed like Doan's Kidney Pills.

Recommended by thousands—

Endorsed at home.

Here's convincing proof from a Quincy citizen.

Mrs. J. Tinney, 362 Granite street, Quincy, Mass., says "I had kidney trouble, the worse sympton being pain through my back and sides. Often I was dizzy and nervous and I was also bothered by difficulty with the kidney secretions. Being advised to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and they soon made me strong and well. I advise anyone who has kidney complaint to use Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM

SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER

HOLMES & HALL

96 Washington St., Quincy

TELEPHONE 974 W

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance

Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets QUINCY

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN

67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W

Mar. 11-1m

SITUATION IS VERY SERIOUS

Over Ten Million People Approaching Starvation

FOOD RIOTS HAVE BEGUN

Muncipalities Supporting Soup Kitchens, As Funds of Miners Are Exhausted — Government Minimum Wage Bill Will Not Settle Strike and Country Waits With Grave Anxiety Result of Joint Conference

London, March 25.—Two and one-half million workers, men, women and children, are out of work. Depending on them were enough others to bring the great total of those slowly approaching starvation because of the paralysis of business due to the coal strike up to 10,000,000.

So serious is the situation that heads of municipalities have reported to the government that if the strike is not speedily settled they cannot be responsible for keeping order. Food riots have already taken place in several places, notably in Scotland and Wales.

At the home office it is admitted that 50,000 soup kitchens are in operation in North Wales, all conducted by municipalities. The strike funds of nearly every labor organization in the country have been exhausted in paying benefits.

The worst sufferers, of course, are the miners, whose great war chest, which they boasted before the strike order was issued was almost inexhaustible, is empty. Only in Derbyshire and Durham have the miners any money left, and even there the amount is small.

The majority of the Lancashire and Yorkshire cotton mills closed down because of lack of fuel to operate machinery. Their workers have been added to the thousands already suffering.

From Leeds comes the report that the gas works have to be guarded by a double cordon of police because it is constantly besieged by sufferers who asked for coke and and who, when refused, helped themselves.

Every foundry at Lincoln has closed down, and the suffering among the 12,000 workers and their families is great. At Barnsley, the municipality is feeding 2000 school children and dozens of soup kitchens have been established.

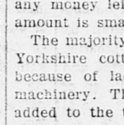
A few of the working class have money left to purchase milk, and in hundreds of thousands of houses, weak gruel made from meal furnished by the town authorities, is the only nourishment possible for the babies and the young children.

Because of the suffering through the scarcity of fuel the gas corporation of Birmingham distributed four cents' worth of coke to each of 6000 destitute families.

The government minimum wage bill as it stands will not settle the strike. That is now admitted on all sides.

Therefore, with the gravest anxiety the country awaits the results of the joint conference of the coal owners and miners on Monday. The miners' leaders have consented to waive their district schedule, which heretofore they have maintained as the only basis of a settlement they would accept, but they will insist upon their demand for the 5 shillings and 2 shillings minimum.

CHICHESTER S PILLS



THE DIAMOND BRAND. Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

INSURANCE

Fire, Liability and Automobile Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates Liberal treatment in case of loss.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance

OFFICE—RESIDENCE

157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.

WOLLASTON

Houses and Building Lots for sale. Houses and Apartments to let.

Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom

they can be had at the greenhouse

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Joseph P. Myatt, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Annie Myatt of Quincy, without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of March A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t 25-1-8

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of James Alonzo Hayden, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Charles D. Bailey, of Quincy without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the third day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of March A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t Mar. 22-25 Apr. 1

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from

The Household Mfg. Co. or

Pinel's Variety Store

146 Water St., Quincy

IT IS A MARVEL

9—1m

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.

VETERINARIAN

21 South Central Ave., Wollaston

Tel. Quincy 1453-W

Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.

Jan. 8-3m

Telephone 1196 M.

Robert F. Leighton

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.

8-1m

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking

Table Board by the Day or Week

384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS

Employment Office

Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.

384 Granite Street, Quincy.

Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

L. K. BADGER & CO.

MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS

STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING

20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.

Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy

WM. E. BADGER, Consulting Engineer. Tel. Quincy 138-R

Jan.6-3m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE

Close Cars for Parties and Weddings

C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.

Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars

Demonstration by Appointment

Phones

Stable 207. Residence 972 W

Dec. 23-tf

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Friday between 2 and 3 in vicinity of Carlson store and Upland road large cameo pin. Reward if notiby Mrs. L. F. Clark, 146 Hemenway street, Boston. 23-3t

LOST—Mar. 21, on car or leaving car arriving at East Milton about 9.25 P. M. pocket book containing keys and money. Reward if returned to 357 Highland street, Milton. 22-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-6t.

FOR SALE—Quartered Oak 5-foot roll top Derby desk. Nice condition. One third cost price. F. P. Waterhouse, Wollaston. 25-6t

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W. 8-tf

FOR SALE THE COZY HOME

No. 56 Upland Road

Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see

JAMES F. BURKE

The Real Estate Man

Room 4. Savings Bank Building Quincy, Mass.

16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—At once, a good cook capable of taking full charge, also experienced waitress. Apply at 1358 Hancock street, Quincy.

WANTED—American widow refined and capable. Good manager, desires a position as housekeeper. (widower preferred) best references given. Address Mrs. Parks, 207 Washington street, Quincy. 23-2t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

WANTED—A woman cook. Short hours. Must furnish references. Address "Cook" Ledger Office. 22-3t

OPTICIANS Come, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1207 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

WANTED — Refined middle-aged American woman desires position as attendant to elderly lady, city or country or would go away for the summer. Miss E. F. Lee., 31 Commercial street, Weymouth. 19-6t

A. E. WALKER

Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street

WOLLASTON

Tel. Quincy 1453-1.

Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

WALL PAPER

F. T. APPLETON

31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy

Mar. 15-3m

TO LET

TO LET—Desk room in Quincy Center, low rent. Address L. F. R. Care Ledger, Quincy. 23-3t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. Also flat of 4 rooms rent $15. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-6t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

FOR RENT

RUSSELL PARK

House 7 rooms, large hall, bath etc., hard wood floors, fireplace, range, set tubs, electric lights, shades, screens etc. New and modern and ready for occupancy April 1st. Apply to Miss Prescott, 1424 Hancock street, Quincy. 22-tf L P O

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK

(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)

Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets

CITY SQUARE, QUINCY

(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

Storage FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates

Pianos and Furniture Moving

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1158 M Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY — 1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
WOLLASTON — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street
Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Commencing March 25, 1912

Quaker Oats, Family size, with china	pkg	21c
Salmon, Violet Brand	flat can	17c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria	can	9c
Soap, Lenox	bar	3c
Raspberries, Fancy, Webster Brand	can	15c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Raisins, Seeded	pkg.	9c
Soups, Campbell's, All Varieties	3 cans	25c
Cocoa, Gray's	1-2 lb. can	12c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Colonial Brand,	2 cans	15c
Macaroni or Spaghetti,	pkg.	7c
Squash, Fancy, Green Mountain Brand	can	10c
Bacon, Squire's Best Sugar Cured	per lb.	17c
Crackers, Sugar Crimp	2 lbs.	17c

Mar. 25--M. W. F.

BRIEFS

Rev. C. P. Marshall was called to the western part of the state this morning by the serious illness of his mother.

Rev. Henry A. Cooledge, former pastor of Memorial church, visited some of his Atlantic friends last week.

Representative Leslie is to address the Ward Four Improvement association at its meeting, Thursday evening.

Miss Laura Bean of Tilton seminary, N. H., is at home with her parents, of Billings street, for a short vacation.

Miss Anna Gill, one of the popular and efficient book-keepers at Kincaide's big furniture store, is enjoying a week's vacation in New York City.

Word has been received of the death Saturday at New Bedford of the 3 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Northcott, Alice Sampson, formerly of Quincy.

A presentation of "The Fair Barbarian" is to be given by club members tomorrow afternoon, at reciproctiy afternoon, of the Quincy Women's club. It promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the season's program.

CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERTS

Musical Quincy is much interested in the concerts to be given by the Quincy Choral society, for the Society makes a new departure in giving an afternoon as well as an evening concert on April 9th at Music hall.

In the afternoon at three o'clock the concert will be by the Boston Festival orchestra, John W. Crowley, conductor, and The High School chorus under the direction of Miss Emma Perkins.

In the evening there will be a grand presentation of Gounod's Faust by the Quincy Choral society. Osborne McConathy, directr; special soloists and the Boston Festival orchestra.

It promises to be an afternoon and evening of unusual pleasure.

CATHOLIC CHURCHES.

In observance of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, one of the greatest feast days on the church calendar, masses were said in all of the Catholic churcehs of the city this morning. Ath the church of St. John the Baptist, masses were celebrated at 7 and 9 o'clock, the former by Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Scannell, and the latter, a high mass, by the pastor Rev. John J. Coan.

At the Sacred Heart Church, Atlantic, masses were said at 7.30 and 9 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. John P. Cuffe, celebrated the first mass, while Rev. James F. McNiff was the celebrant of the second. At St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, Rev. William J. Duffy was the officiating clergyman at the 7 o'clock mass. Rev. Fr. John J. Casey said mass at the Church of St. Frances-By-the-Sea at 8 o'clock.

—It is so easy to open a credit account, the average merchant being inclined to assume that most people are honest, that it is correspondingly easy for many persons of a different sort to obtain goods for which they do not intend to pay. These swindlers deserve to be "caught up," and the business interests are clearly entitled to the protection of the bill now before the Legislature, which defines as larceny the obtaining of property on credit with intent to defraud. A recent ruling of the Supreme Court upheld this view; but it can do no possible harm to crystalize the wise conclusion in a statute.—Milford Gazette.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1185 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

SPORTING "DOPE"

By B. A.

Don't Knock, Just Boost.—B. A.

Unless the manager of the team, Miss Heien Mitchell, is successful in securing another game with the Cunningham Gym Girls, a combination which defeated the local team some time ago in the last few seconds of play, after a most gruelling struggle had taken place, the Quincy Gym Girls will bring their basket ball season to a close tomorrow evening in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, where they play their fourth game of the year with the Needham Independent Girls. Of the three games that have been played thus far between these teams, the Granite City "lassies" have won twice.

All the games with the Needham teams have been close and interesting and the visitors will use every endeavor on this occasion to turn the tables in an effort to necessitate a "rubber" game being played. The star Beale sisters will both be in the lineup tomorrow and with thepractise that has been indulged in during the past week there is no doubt that those who attend will be treated to one of the best games ever furnished by female basket ball players.

The Quincy Gym Girls have proved a great drawing card at every game in which they have played this season and as the admission for this attraction has been placed at fifteen cents, the popular West Quincy rendezvous should be fully taxed. The contest will be well worth the price of admission and any one who is present will be amply repaid for his journey to the West section of the city.

The many admirers of the second team of the Quincy A. A., the championship combination of its respective division of the Greater Boston basket ball league, will be sorry to hear that the post season series, which had been originally planned for them with the second team of the Cunningham Gym, will not take place. I was informed by Dr. Burnett of the Milton team, Saturday, that Stuart, one of his star players had fallen from a tree, sustaining a broken collar bone and fractured rib, thereby preventing him from participating in any more games this season. Another star player on the same team was called away suddenly by the death of a relative and consequently the Milton players cannot contest this season with the local boys.

The Cunningham Gym second was one of the fastest teams in the league, before its management decided to segregate. It was the team that pushed the local association's five for honors most closely and it is to be regretted that unfavorable circumstances should come at a time when the anxiety of the local rooters was intensified to its greatest degree.

"Eddie" Reagan, the local pride, will box "Joe" Farrow, the clever Italian artist, in the semi-final bout, at the Central A. C. tournament, in connection with the Connelly-White contest.

BASEBALL MAGAZINE.

The April issue of the Baseball Magazine is devoted to the Giants. It is dedicated to John T. Brush and contains an article from this leader among magnates. There are also striking features by John McGraw and Richard "Rube" Marquard. Several minor articles on various baseball topics and other athletic sports round out the issue and make it all told a most attractive number.

(ADVERTISE.)

THE SENIOR CUP CHAMPIONSHIP

McArdle Wins the Championship Cup in Y.M.C.A. Events

THE SUMMARY

The first annual Senior cup championship took place at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening before an audience of 200 people.

This is the first time in the history of the local Y. M. C. A. that such a stunt has taken place and showed the good training and endurence of the athletes.

McArdle was the person who stood most prominent throughout the evening and his skill and grace in all the events brought much applause and exclamations from the audience.

Trask gave McArdle a hard push for the place which he won and it was only until the last two events that McArdle was sure of first place. Estey and Bates had a close finish for third and fourth places, Estey winning out in the last event.

P. Wood and Cranshaw had a tussle to prove which was the better of the two, but much to their dislike and to the spectators they resulted in a tie. They were given fifth and sixth place in a tie. Djerf did not have much to spare when he finished in the thousand yards for he was in the lead for seventh by only 4 points but by good head work he beat Favorite in actual time and thus winning seventh place.

Favorite, Kinsbury and Shirley each finished in the above order and really the closest fights of the evening was between these three and lacking but a single point of each other.

Many surprises were sprung in the course of the evening, the most largely noticed were those of Bates and Kingsbury, both competitors in the high jump. They showed much time had been spent in training. Bates in the shot was by far the leader with a put of over 39 feet.

The only new record made was that of McArdle in the 300 yards which he did in the fast time of 41 seconds. which is the fastest ever made in the local gymnasium.

McArdle was easily the star of the meet and carried off first honors. He was closely pressed, however, by Harry Trask, the star centre of the Quincy High basketball team, while Roland Estey, who captured third honors, also acquitted himself in fine style. Bates had an easy time in the shot put and completely outclassed his competitors.

Cranshaw, formerly captain of the local High school track team, proved his worth by showing great form in the 1000 yard run. P. Wood was high man in the jumping and managed to clear the bar at 5 feet, 3 inches, incidentally defeating Estey for the first time this season. Djerf came to the fore among the youngsters and demonstrated that he bids fair to bear much watching in the future.

A feature of the events was the potato race, which was bitterly contested by Kingsbury and Favorite, both of whom showed up to great advantage. Shirley also seemed in rare form in this event and managed to get a place Following is a summary of the events and the points attained by the different competitors:

McArdle—Potato race—73 points, 3 Brd. Jump—68 points, 150 yards—91 points, High jump—76 points, 300 yards—80 points, Shot put—36 points. 1000 yards—55 points. Total 479.

Trask—Potato race—82 points, 3 Brd Jumps—32 points, 150 yards—91 points, High jump—56 points, 300 yards—60 points, Shot put—51 points, 1000 yards—67 points. Total 439.

Estey—Potato race—58 points, 3 Brd. Jumps—24 points, 150 yards—88 points, High jumps—64 points, 300 yards—52 points, Shot put—33 points, 1000 yards—23 points. Total 342.

Bates—Potato race—46 points, 3 Brd. jumps—39 points, 150 yards—70 points, High jump—48 points, 300 yds. 42 points, Shot put—77 points, 1000 yards—18 points. Total 340 points.

P. Wood—Potato race—31 points, 3 Brd. jump—25 points, 150 yards—85 points, High jumps—68 points, 300 yards—58 points, Shot put—43 points, 1000 yards—10 points. Total 320.

Cranshaw—Potato race—31 points, 150 yards—88 points, High jump—44 points, 300 yards—60 points, Shot put—15 points, 1000 yards—82 points. Total 320.

Djerf—Potato race—43 points, 3 Brd. jump—34 points, 150 yards—82 points, High jump—28 points, 300 yards—50 points, Shot put—42 points, 1000 yards—23 points. Total 299.

Favorite—Potato race—58 points, 3 Brd. jump—33 points, 150 yards—61 points, High jump—52 points, 300 yards—48 points, Shot put—38 points, 1000 yards—2 points. Total 292.

Kingsbury—3 Brd. jump—6 points, 150 yards—85 points, High jump—44 points, 300 yards—60 points, Shot put—29 points, 1000 yards—67 points. Total 291 points.

Shirley—Potato race—73 points, 3 Brd. jumps—37 points, 150 yards—73 points, High jump—32 points, 300 yards—32 points, Shot put—41 points, 1000 yards—2 points. Total 290 points.

The above men received prizes. There were ten prizes, which consisted of cups and medals. The following men were point winners, Chell—281 points, Brooks—278 points, Wilson—245 points, Dineen—237 points, Flieger—221, K. Wood—235 points, Alstein—169 points, Porter—64 points.

Ten prizes were offered this year against 3 last year in each event. This new idea was originated by Mr. LaRose and has proved sucessful.

All competitors did well and the local association should be heard from in athletics in future competition.

PEOPLE'S FORUM, BRAINTREE.

There was quite a good attendance at the meeting of the Braintree People's Forum, Sunday afternoon, despite the very adverse weather conditions. The speaker was the Hon. Samuel J. Elder, the distinguished lawyer of Boston, who addressed the audience on "The judicial settlement of disputes between nations." In his introduction of the speaker, Rev. D. Roy Freeman said he hoped Mr. Elder would weigh the heads rather than count them and Mr. Elder expressed himself as highly complimented that comparatively so large a number should have braved the storm to hear him.

Mr. Elder told of the growing belief among thinking people that all disputes between nations should be settled by arbitration rather than by force of arms. He told of the treaties between this and other countries and gave a very interesting description of the peace congress which convenes at The Hague. He said that Russia proposed some ten years ago such a conference which should discuss the disarmament of nations, the humanizing of war and lastly the founding of a court of arbitration, made up of the representatives of those nations which might endorse the scheme. Twenty-five nations responded and the result is the permanent peace congress of the Hague which has settled satisfactorily so many international differences.

Mr. Elder considers arbitration valuable because the necessary proceedings delay war for a time and he said that nations like men do not fight after the first outburst of temper has subsided. He said that in many cases a conflict was precipitated because the people understood little of the questions at issue and the arguments before the tribunal brought out all these causes of trouble and enabled a dispassionate judgment to be made.

Mr. Elder was senior counsel for the United States in the settlement of the fisheries question between this country and Great Britain and talked very entertainingly of the proceedings relative to the settlement of that dispute. The arguments lasted for ten weeks, taking up thousands of pages of printed matter and the strain of it all was so exhausting as to cause several of the counsel to retire to health resorts for rest and recuperation.

The whole matter in brief was in regard to the rights of American fishing vessels in Canadian waters and was settled in a very satisfactory manner to all concerned. Mr. Elder spoke at length and was repeatedly urged to "keep on" by many of his listeners. His address was scholarly, interesting and free from many confusing legal terms and now and again there was a flash of humor to add zest to the more serious side.

At the close Mr. Elder was accorded loud and long applause for his graphic presentation of the subject.

Next Sunday, George W. Coleman, of Boston, the founder of the famous Ford hall meetings will speak on "The present social crisis and one step on the way out."

Mr. Freeman expressed the hope that all present last Sunday would come to the final meeting next Sunday and bring with them three friends.

SHOULD WEAR SKIRTS

Breeches Are Called Immodest When Worn by Women

Hillsboro, Cal., March 25.—Miss Eleonora Sears' attire when she takes her morning ride through the streets of Burlingame is considered immodest by the mothers of Burlingame. They want her to do away with her riding breeches and hide herselt in skirts.

Official notice was received by Miss Sears through the mail from the Mothers' club, of the club's action in passing resolutions in which the Boston girl is requested to restrict herself to feminine attire.

Miss Sears also has received a letter bearing a challenge from Miss Doris Williams of Bisbee, Ariz., to ride for the woman's riding championship of America. Another letters extends her an invitation from one "F. G. B.," who styles himself an amateur aviator of San Mateo, to accompany him on his initial flight.

THE LADY'S SHOP
Number Four Maple Street,
JOHNSON BUILDING, - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial
Opening Display
... of ....
1912 MILLINERY
and
EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25
and continuing
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob. 23-1w L-23tf

FORE RIVER LOSES GAME

Playing under most adverse conditions, on a ground whose entire surface was covered with a combination of snow, mud and water, the formidable Fore River soccer football team went down to defeat at the hands of the J. and P. Coats contingent at Pawtucket, R. I., last Saturday, 5 to 3. The game despite the conditions of the grounds, was replete with many exciting and sensational plays, contributed by members of both teams.

The home team managed to score after play had been started four minutes and it was fifteen minutes afterwards that the local team was enabled to gain its first goal of the game on a penalty kick. The Coats' team got two more goals in this same half. At the opening of the second half another was registered by the same team.

The Fore River team obtained its last two goals at the close of the second half on a penalty kick and a pretty shot by Rennie. The home team succeeded in securing a safe lead just before the close of the contest.

Hemingway and Harvey played best for the winners while Rennie and Moran excelled for the losers. The summary:

J. & P. Coats	Fore River
Swift g	g Sharples
Craig rb	lb Melville
McGuire lb	rb Henry
Hallam rb	lh Maclean
Robertson ch	ch Campbell
Stone lh	rb Elliott
Harvey rof	lof Richard
Frette rif	lif McCullough
Hemingway cf	cf Rennie
Wm. Pemberton lif	rif Moran
Rockley lof	rof Dunlap

Score, J. & P. Coats 5, Fore River 3. Goals scored, by Hemingway 3, Harvey 2, Moran 2, Rennie. Linesmen, Hamilton for Boats and McLaughlin for Fore River. Referee, Carlin of Pawtucket.

ANOTHER BOMB FOR JUDGE ROSALSKY

Discovered by Mail Clerk and Given to Police

New York, March 5.—Nothwithstanding it has become known that the police are in possession of a second bomb mailed to Judge Rosalsky of the court of general sessions, the trial judge in the Brandt case, detectives would not disclose what clues they are working to solve the two mysterious attempts upon the life of the jurist.

The new bomb, which, fortunately, was detected in the mails and kept intact, coupled with threatening letters sent to Delancey Nicoll, the attorney for Mortimer L. Schiff in the case of Folke E. Brandt, Schiff's former valet, are believed to have encouraged the police to renewed efforts in running down the sender. The latest bomb is said to be identical with that which exploded a week ago in Rosalsky's library while being examined by an officer.

A clerk in postal sub-station H, near Rosalsky's home, discovered a suspicious-looking package in the mail last Wednesday. The address was typewritten on a slip of paper pasted to the package, as in the case of the first bomb.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	fhgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	fhgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	fhgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	feddba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4 09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10 15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5 21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE
In effect November 1, 1911
(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M..) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6. 5, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 73 QUINCY MASS., TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 26, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

EX-MAYOR CHARLES M. BRYANT CHAIRMAN OF ADVISORY BOARD

Other Members are J. S. Swingle, J. L. Whiton, C. A. Hadlock and H. F. McIntire

Make-up of New Board Generally Considered as a Good One

Taken as a whole Mayor Stone is to be congratulated upon the gentlemen he has secured for his advisory board, the first board of its kind ever formed in Quincy. The object of the board as has been stated is to consider the real and personal estate values of the city, with a view of equalizing valuations. It is a well known fact that while some property is taxed more than it is worth, there is other property that should be taxed more and if the creation of this board will have a tendency to equalize valuations it will have accomplished the purpose for which it was created.

MAYOR EUGENE R. STONE.

All five of the gentlemen selected are almost too well known to need any introduction. They are all public spirited citizens and their willingness to undertake the object of equaling values without compensation shows that they are public spirited citizens.

CHARLES M. BRYANT.

The chairman of the new board is perhaps the best known of the five. He has been before the citizens of Quincy for many years. He is absolutely fearless in carrying out what he believes to be right in the performance of his duties, which is evident to anyone who has been associated with him in the various public offices which he has held

Chairman CHARLES M. BRYANT.

He has served the city as its Mayor for three years and during these years he gave the best there was in him for the interest of the city. In addition to this he has served for many years as Councilman from Ward Five and as Councilman at Large.

He is a ready debater but before he enters a debate he is one that makes himself sure of the position, so that when he takes the floor in a debate he comes pretty near knowing what he is talking about.

JONATHAN S. SWINGLE

Is one of City Square's well known successful business men. He has been a resident of Quincy for many years and has always been connected with the granite industry. He was for a number of years associated with Alexander Falconer under the firm name of Swingle & Falconer. Later the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Swingle purchased what was known as the Elcock quarry. This he developed and by the extensive use of printers ink made his name familiar with the granite trade throughout the country, as "The Extra Dark Man."

It is said that at a recent convention of granite men in the west many men of the trade whom he had never met before readily recognized him by the picture they had seen published in every trade journal surrounded by a disk of extra dark Quincy granite. In this way no man has done more to advertise Quincy and its famous granite than has Mr. Swingle.

He is a thorough business man, and gives his personal attention to the details of his business, to which, in a large measure is due the success which he has met with. He is therefore a very busy man and that he should be willing to give his valuable time for the interest of the city also shows his public spiritedness. He has never held public office although he has frequently been mentioned in connection with the nomination by the Republicans as Mayor.

JOSEPH L. WHITON

The third member on the new board is also almost too well known to need any introduction. He has been a resident of Quincy all of his life and knows Quincy like a book. He has served the city for several years as a member of the City Council, first from the Quincy Point Ward, where he passed his early days, and later from Ward One where he now resides. He like ex-Mayor Bryant is another man who is not afraid to say what he thinks, and it is his fearlessness that has won him many friends.

Ex-Councilman JOSEPH L. WHITON.

He is a successful salesman and also largely interested in real estate matters in the city.

HERMAN F. McINTIRE

While well known to residents of Ward One, Mr. McIntire is perhaps not so well known to the citizens in general as the other four gentlemen. He is a successful real estate man and owns considerable real estate in Quincy and Braintree, which he has developed and put upon the market. He has also built many dwelling houses in Quincy and Braintree, and has done much in the line of building. He like other members of the board is a man who has no favors to ask and not afraid of whom he hits when he throws a stone, as the saying goes.

Mr. McIntire has been in the South for the past few months, but is now on his way home, and is due to arrive in Quincy this week.

Aside from his business connections he is a man that has travelled exten-

(Continued on Page Six.)

ANNUAL APPROPRIATION ORDER REPORTED AT SPECIAL MEETING

Grand Total Recommended, Outside of the Fixed Charges Amounts to $489,206

Was Necessary for Committee to Take All Receipts This Year

Monday night's meeting of the City Council was a short one but for all that, much important business was transacted. All members were present and after reading the call the first matter taken up was the report of the Finance Committee on the annual appropriation order. To get this budget in shape has been a difficult task for the committee and for the first time, as far as known, the committee found it necessary to take all of the estimated receipts in order to find funds enough. Usually the receipts are taken by the Assessors to reduce the tax rate but not so this year. The grand total as asked for in the estimates including the school budget was $479,143 and the grand total as reported by the Finance Committee was $489.206. This would appear on the surface to be $10,000 more than asked for by the estimates. It is not so. Usually in some departments the budget calls for a specified sum and the receipts. In the order, as reported this year, it will be noticed that the receipts have been cut out. The estimated amount of receipts however are added to the amount for each department. This is done to show just what each department has.

For instance in the Board of Health department they are usually given so much and the receipts from garbage. It will be noticed in the budget which follows that the word receipts has been stricken out of the report but the amount of receipts has been added so that the total for garbage is considerably more than asked for. This same thing occurs in several departments and accounts for the seeming increase of $10,000 in the grand total

The budget as reported will be found on page two. The first column of figures gives the amount asked for in the estimates, and the second column the amount as reported by the committee.

ADVISORY BOARD.

The second matter in the call was to confirm the Mayor's appointment of members of the advisory board.

In a communication he announced the appointment of the following: Charles M. Bryant, Chairman, Jonathan S. Swingle, Joseph L. Whiton, Charles A. Hadlock, Herman F. McIntire.

Councilman Bailey moved the names be acted upon separately.

Councilman Bailey then moved that the vote on confirmation be taken by ballot.

Councilman Cunningham objected. It was usual to take such votes by roll call and he did not think there was anyone ashamed to be recorded. He asked for a roll call. oCuncilman Sodergren and President Hobbs also desired a roll call. As this was the necessary number under the rules to have, a roll call upon any question, the vote of confirmation was taken by roll call.

The roll was called on each name separately and each was unanimously confirmed.

GRADE CROSSING.

The next matter was on authorizing the Mayor to petition the County Commissioners and Railroad Commissioners, if necessary, to accept and lay out as a public highway, Saville street across the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Councilman Studley offered an order to that effect. Referred to Committee on Streets. Later the reference was withdrawn and the order placed in the calendar.

Some objection was made to this as it was thought the matter should go to a committee.

Councilman Cunningham moved reconsideration of the vote withdrawing the reference. Voted. The order was then referred to the Committee on Streets.

JURORS.

A venire was received for the drawing of six traverse jurors. The Mayor, City Clerk and Councilman Devaney drew the following according to law, the new jury list being used for the first time. William Cummings, Arthur W. Loud William E. Badger, Thomas Butler, John Igo, James Moody

Adjourned at 8.52.

LENTEN DEVOTION.

Rev. Charles J. McCormick C. SS. R., the well known missionary father of the Mission church Roxbury, preaches the sermon at the Lenten devotion to be held this evening in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic. Fr. McCormick has been preaching a series of sermons in the Atlantic church every Tuesday evening during Lent and on each occasion the edifice has been fully taxed.

The services will begin with a recitation of the rosary and will terminate with the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

☞Bread and milk. But use PRATT'S BREAD if you want the best.

A WORD TO THE WISE

I have 3 customers for single houses in the central part of Quincy.

If you desire to sell your place, it may pay you to come in and see me.

RICKER

1416 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

Quincy Auto and Truck Show

AT THE

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

WOLLASTON STATION

Monday, April 1st, 10 A.M. to 10 P.M.

Not a joke, but a real live show. We invite you to call and see our Show Cars.

Metz Roadster Rambler Tourer

Commerce Delivery Truck

Lauth Juergens Truck

If you are thinking of buying or exchanging, we have just what you need, and we can show you what they will do.

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

26-6t

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

INFORMAL TALK TO THE MOTHERS

Miss Homan's Talk Before Child Nurture Committee

THE OBJECT OF LIFE

Mrs. Herbert H. Albee of Highland avenue chairman of the Child Nurture committee opened her house Monday afternoon , when Miss Amy Morris Homans gave a most delightfully informal talk to mothers. Miss Homans is director of the hygiene and physical Education department of Wellesley college, and her talk was helpful and instructive. She said she had come for help and co-operation—selfishness in it. Was not a mother, but she had brought up two children, a boy and girl, who came to her at 8 and 9 years of age

The object of life is the pursuit of happiness, all our happiness largely depends on habits formed in childhood Up to two years a child is a husky little animal, habits exceedingly good regarding eating, sleeping, drinking etc. After two years are we as careful? The fundamental thing is obedience. No child can ever be happy who has not been taught to obey. We find difficulty in making children obey, because we do not know how to obey ourselves, we rebel at rules and restrictions. Self-control means greater power and greater influence and should begin early. A child quickly find out the one he can tease. It is worth while to take time to reason with a child, and right here Miss Homans asked for greater simplicity in dress and gave many reasons.

Self-conscienceness is one of the greatest drawbacks. Encourage the children to play, a quality necessary in life is to play fair, the boy who plays fair makes an honest man. Watchfulness in many ways was emphasized.

Insist on the habit of resting systematically and the habit of going to bed early, thus the storing of energy for future use. Do not get excited by pitching your voice high, keep still ten seconds, then talk in a much lower tone than usual.

Posture, carriage, is fundamental to health, stand straight. How to sit was illustrated as well as a good working position. The carrying of books as well as the matter of shoes was discussed. During her talk, Miss Homans gave several incidents in her own life with children; amusing at times, but back of it all a lesson.

The tea table was bright with jonquils. Mrs. William W. Gallagher and Mrs. Chester E. Tenney poured, and the dainty sandwiches, cake and candy were served by Mrs. Moses L. Brown, Mrs. Edward Capen, Mrs. Percy L. Davidson and Mrs. George F. Perry.

"Red Letter Day"

WEDNESDAY MARCH 27th

Ten (10) Stamps FREE to every adult who calls on that day and presents her book

THE object of "Red Letter Day" is to bring you personally in contact with the magnificent line of merchandise which we give as premiums for S. H. Green Trading Stamps. We give you 10 Stamps FREE to come and see for yourself.

Because you have once or twice visited our store—don't consider that you are fully posted. Changes are continually being made. Premiums are becoming better and better. S. H. Stamps are more valuable than ever before.

SAVE HAMILTON COUPONS, YOUR SOAP WRAPPERS, TOBACCO COUPONS, TAGS, LABELS, ETC.
BRING THEM TO US
WE'LL GIVE YOU STAMPS FOR THEM

THE SPERRY AND HUTCHINSON COMPANY

LOCAL BRANCH: QUINCY DEPARTMENT STORE

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
218 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The square deal knows no brother and is disowned by its daddy.

Now that both poles have been discovered let us settle down to make the most of what lies between.

"They don't kick any great Danes around," observes the Atlanta Journal. Don't, huh? What have the actors been doing to poor old Hamlet?

In advocating the abolition of the political convention Senator Cummins evidently figures that he couldn't get the hotel men's votes, anyhow.

A widow of 60 in New York is suing a boy of 19 for breach of promise, which indicates that Spring will tire of Winter lingering on his lap.

Mr. Vardman of Mississippi is one of the statesmen who aspire to be in the middle of the game and on the coaching line at the same time.

If we are looking for T. R.'s hat up in North Dakota, we should not search so much in the ring as in Bob LaFollette's game bag.

A San Fransisco woman comimtted suicide because she had been caught smuggling. Too bad, just as she had qualified to enter Smart Society.

Dean Hodges of Harvard says base ball is on trial for its life. That's pretty rough, after all base ball does to keep the colleges going.

The attorney for the Sugar Trust says he will contest every point, and we foresee that the points will be like the grains of the sugar barrel for the multitude.

It is again announced that Germany is about to disregard the Monroe doctrine. We sometimes wonder what would happen if this announcement were overlooked at the scheduled time.

A Waldorf waiter has resigned to become a Wall street broker. Think what a rush of brokers there will be for his old job when the news leaks out.

CAN CONVEY TO WIFE.

A new law goes into effect April 20 whereby a man can convey real estate to his wife without a third party and two transfers being necessary. The new law is due to W. T. A. Fitzgerald, registrar of deeds in Suffolk County, whose experience in his office convinced him that such a law was needed.

Under the old law if a man wished to convey real estate to his wife, or a wife to her husband, the legal fiction of the two being one person prevented direct transfer, and it was necessary first to deed it to a third person and then to the wife or husband.

The new law states: Husband and wife may make conveyances of real estate to each other except by way of mortgage as if unmarried; but no such conveyance shall have any effect either in passing title or otherwise until the deed describing the property to be transferred is duly acknowledged and recorded in the registry of deeds for the district where the land lies."

The passage of this bill has been fought in the past because it would make it too easy for a man on the verge of failure or of dishonest intent, to put his property in his wife's name and there is still ground for that contention.

THE BIG COTTON CROP.

The Census Bureau's ginning report shows a record breaking cotton crop for 1911 running well over 16,000,000 bales.

The figures from Texas are particularly interesting, in view of the predictions once made that the boll weevil was going to wipe out the business. The Lone Star state met the first attack of this Mexican pest, which spread over practically the entire commonwealth. Yet Texas produced about 150,000 more bales than in the big crop year of 1906.

Which suggests that other things besides this dread pest have led to the depopulation of the boll weevil districts. When the world read that owing to the weevil, one county in Mississippi had dropped from a production of 23,836 bales in 1906, to 900 in 1910, it seemed as if King Cotton was up against a foe, the force of which he could not measure.

It reminds us of the time when there was a general election in Scotland, quite hotly contested, and some time after a well-known mill shut down, probably from non-political causes. Some fervent Protectionist posted a notice on the mill door, "Free trade did it." Another man came along later and wrote under it, "Whiskey and soda did it." While this incident has no literal relation to the de-population of the boll weevil districts, yet it suggests that human nature is the final cause of both economic success and economic defeat, and Texas's revival from the boll weevil panic says Amen.

The economic advance of the cotton planter during the past fifteen years has been one of the commercial wonders of the world. At the earlier period, Attwood Pierson described the condition of the cotton planters of Lauderdale Co., Tennessee, by saying that ninety-five per cent of them were insolvent. James Radney of Roanoke, Ala., said that only about a fourth of those in his neighborhood were solvent. But growing crops and higher prices and better methods are now accompanied by large bank reserves.

The labor problem with which the cotton planter has had to deal is not understood outside of the cotton belt. A certain negro near Rockingham, N. C., had been renting a cotton farm on half shares, and the previous year he saved $1100 over living expenses. He quit to go to work in a livery stable, where he earned less than $325.

"Why did you quit?" asked a representative of the World's Work.

"Oh, I just tuk a notion ter" was the reply. The far reaching temperament thus suggested is a problem that has had to be met by the spending of more money for machinery and fertilizer, and relatively less for labor.

A GOOD OBJECT LESSON.

If our people desire to have a clear idea of how it will look to elevate Moody street over the railroad track let them go down to Union Square and get off and make an examination. They will find there a blank, entirely unattractive wall some 18 or 20 feet high over the tracks and diminishing in height until the grade runs out 700 or 800 feet each side, with a bad grade for man or beast or veichle. They will find the buildings, dwellings and a large church some 12 or 15 feet below these walls and all the way there is of getting into the front doors is down a long flight of steps. They will find that to get from the street to the train they must descend 37 steps—a most interesting condtion in a heavy snowstorm, or with steps covered with ice and sleet. It gives an exceedingly graphic idea of what to avoid.—Waltham Free Press.

NEWSPAPER FAIR TO ALL.

John N. Cole, speaking before the Brockton Chamber of Commerce, elicited prolonged applause when he declared that the time was coming when newspapers of the country would be forced to give all sides of a controversy, despite what the paper's editorial attitude was. Mr. Cole is enough of a newspaper man to know very well that this would be far from satisfying many persons' idea of what a newspaper should do with respect to a controversy. A great many of them when they say that a newspaper should give all sides really mean that the paper should give their own side all the attention and all the support, without very much regard to the other side, and with no regard to the convictions of the management.

We are hearing at the present time that the newspapers are not giving Mr. Roosevelt a fair show in this very tone. But this office sees a great many newspapers every day, and most of them are with greater or less violence opposed to the colonel's political ambitions. Yet we do not recall that any one of them is omitting to print his deliverances and the deliverances of his friends at great length—sometimes indeed at a length scarcely less appalling than the reports of prize fights. He is getting the better part of his publicity from newspapers which are frankly saying that they do not want him to be President,

So it is, as a matter of fact, with about every issue, personal, social, industrial, commercial, political. Contemplate the space which the newspapers are giving to discussions of Socialism, with very much of which their editors have little sympathy and for some of which they have no respect. Note that they print columns and columns of everybody's theories about the high cost of living and the alleged remedies therefor—a deal of which the editors are confident is sheer nonsense. So goes, everywhere.

As a matter of fact no well conducted newspaper ever thinks of suppressing the other side. But this is not to say that a self-respecting and well conducted newspaper will advocate both sides, as not a few persons appear to think it ought.—New Bedford Standard.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

A competitive examination of applicants for inspector of factories and public buildings will be held April 26. Applicants will be examined in training and experience, letter-writing, arithmetic, handwriting, questions on construction and architectural work and ventilation, safety devices for machinery and elevators, modes of egress in case of fire, devices and appliances for extinguishing fires, simple question in electricity, etc. Applicants who pass in the foregoing subjects will also be required to undergo a physical examination.

Applicants must be not less than 25 or over 50 years of age, and not less than five feet seven inches in height in bare feet, and must weigh not less than 135 pounds without clothing. The limitation of age does not apply to veterans, as defined by Section 20, Chapter 19, of Revised Laws. Only citizens of the United States, who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year, have a right to apply.

Men who desire to take this examination may secure application blanks by applying in person, or by letter, at the office of the Civil Service Commission, 152 State House, Boston. Applications may be filed at any time, but in order to entitle a man to appear at this examination, the application blank must be filled out and placed on file in the office of this Commission on or before April 16.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

26—Handkerchief Bazaar—Wol. M. E. Church.
27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
17—Whist—Maple lodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

APPROPRIATION ORDER FOR 1912

The annual appropriation order as reported by the Finance Committee at the Special meeting is as follows. The first column of figures are those sent to the Council by the Mayor and City Treasurer and the second column the amounts recommended by the Finance Committee. The two columns being given for comparison.

	Budget	Reported
By the Board of Assessors.
Miscellaneous	$1,200	$1,000
One Clerk	780	780
One Clerk	676	676
One Clerk	520	520
Extra Clerical	635	635
By the Board of Health.
Miscellaneous, abating nuisances and contagious diseases	$9,000	$1,000
One Clerk	624	624
Inspection	780	780
Garbage	4,500	6,300
Collection of ashes	3,500	3,500
Cleaning brooks and drains	500	300
Foreman	940
Scavenger Maintenance,	1,500	6,500
By the Managers of Public Burial Places.
Cemeteries and receipts for foundations and grading and income	$4,750	$4,750
By the City Council.
Miscellaneous	475	475
By the Mayor.
Miscellaneous	$3,000	$3,000
Fourth of July Celebration Committee	1,250
Addvisory Board	1,100	1,000
By the Auditor.
Salaries of City Officers	$30,000	$30,659
Clerical and miscellaneous	350	350
By the City Clerk.
Clerical services	$676	$676
Extra Clerical	100
Advertising, printing, stationery, elections and miscellaneous	2,300	2,300
State and Military Aid and Soldiers' Relief	8,300	8,300
Vital Statistics	400	400
By the Tax Collector
Miscellaneous	$1,450	$1,450
One Clerk	780	780
One Clerk	624	624
One Clerk	281	281
By the City Treasurer.
Miscellaneous	$600	$600
Clerical	780	780
By the City Engineer.
Expenses of Office	$2,500	$2,500
By the Park Commissioners.
Maintenance 2 playgrounds (playground act)	$500
Miscellaneous Bath-house Ward 2 playground	750
One Laborer at $12 per week	600
Extra Labor for Moth Work	200
Repairs, backstops, fences, tools and incidentals	450
Total	$2,500	$2,200
By the Board of Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library.
Salaries and Miscellaneous, replacing and purchase of books, periodicals, binding and printing, fuel and lighting, catalogue, insurance (and dog tax)	$11,467	$11,000
By the Commissioner of Public Works.
Bridges, culverts and drains	$3,000	$3,000
Clerical	780	780
Removal of Snow	5,000	4,000
Miscellaneous	350	250
Repairing Public Buildings and care of City Hall	10,000	10,000
Highway Expenses, repair of streets, maintenance of horses, purchase of tools, etc	33,000	46,000
Street Lighting	36,000	34,000
Watering or oiling of streets (schedule to be furnished by the Council)	9,500	9,500
Gypsy Moth	4,000	5,300
By the City Solicitor
Law Library, incidental expenses	$75	$75
By the Inspector of Milk.
Miscellaneous	$50	$50
By the Chief of Police.
Permanent Men	$30,598	$30,598
Special Police, Miscellaneous and Enforcement of Liquor Law	7,000	7,000
By the Sealer of Weights and Measures.
Miscellaneous	$150	$300
By the Overseer of the Poor.
Miscellaneous	$13,000	$13,000
Clerical	572	520
By the Inspector of Buildings.
Miscellaneous	$200	$150
By the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department.
Pay of Men	$32,346	$30,710
Fire Alarm	1,300	1,000
Fuel and Lighting	1,350	1,350
Horses and Harness	1,000	1,000
Horse Shoeing and Keeping	4,700	4,600
Miscellaneous	2,200	2,200
Repairs and Fixtures	1,350	1,350
Hose	800	800
Keeping Chief's Horse		16.67
By the Commissioner of Water Front.
Miscellaneous	$300
Approved by the Mayor.
G. A. R., Post 88	$400	$400
John A. Boyd Camp 2, Spanish War Veterans	100	100
City Hospital, with receipts from those not having settled in Quincy	5,000	4,000
Grand Total	$303,218	$314,780
By the City Treasurer—Bonds coming due.
City Debt	$159,643	$159,643
Street Improvement Debt.	3,300	3,300
Park Debt	2,000	2,000
By the City Treasurer—Interest coming due.
City Debt	$26,885	$26,885
Street Improvement Debt	1,515	1,515
Park Debt	960	960
Temporary Notes	15,000	15,000
By the Water Department.
To be paid the Water Receipts of 1912. and taxes to be levied.
Water Debt falling due	$53,500	$53,500
Interest falling due	26,649	26,649
Maintenance and office expenses	15,892	14,652
One Clerk	780	780
One Clerk	572	572
By the Sewer Department.
To be paid from Sewer Assessments and Taxes to be levied.
Sewer Debt falling due	$27,000	$27,000
Interest falling due	22,765	22,765
Maintenance and office expenses	2,500	2,000
Clerical	780	780
School Committee.
Administration	$5,360	$5,360
Instructions	130,815	130,815
Text books	4,750	4,750
Stationery, supplies for instruction	4,750	4,750
Operation	22,300	21,300
Maintenance of plant	250	250
Miscellaneous	1,600	1,600
Evening Schools	2,000	2,000
Industrial Evening Schools	1,000	1,000
Industrial Day School	1,200	1,200
Special Manual Arts classes	1,400	1,400
	$175,425	$174,425

What the Depositor Gets At This Bank

We do much more for you than merely to safeguard your cash. We supply you with the means of paying your bills most conveniently, promptly and uniformly. We keep open at accommodating hours. We give you access to commercial ratings anywhere in the United States. We are ready to advise with you on financial matters. Call any day during banking hours.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

High Quality KINCAIDE'S Low Prices

Human Furniture needs Run On and On and this Great Store keeps pace.

Presenting everything you want in Home Furnishings—WHEN you want it—in wide enough range of prices to suit every purse.

Just come in. We'll gladly show you around.

And did you know our immense New Spring Stock of the Finest Furniture this country produces is making our Spring Opening Sale the most successful in our 20 years of honest dealing? It is.

And talk about savings—Say: they're here—hundreds of them. Just as REAL, genuine, attractive as "Uncle Sam's" new money you see in our window.

They---and we---invite YOU. Come.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., QUINCY

Good Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

IS NO LONGER A WOMAN'S ISSUE

Equal Suffrage Makes for Better Conditions and Progress

LECTURE AT WOLLASTON

An audience of several hundred was present at Brasee hall, Wollaston, on Monday evening and listened to an able exposition of Equal Suffrage by Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald of Boston, also known as Susan Walker Fitzgerald.

The hall was well filled with a representative audience about equally composed of men and women among whom were many prominent Quincy people.

The meeting was held under the auspices of an independent committee of Wollaston women interested in equal suffrage composed of Miss Harriet E. Turner Mrs. Ama K. Lee, Mrs. Frank W. White, Mrs. Randloph Bainbridge, Mrs. Everett, Miss Eunice Everett, Mrs. Walter M. Hatch, Mrs. Robert E. Park, Mrs. John Buchanan and Mrs. Charles S. Comins. Acting as ushers were Miss Winifred White Miss M. S. Smith and Miss Helen Comins.

In introducing Mrs. Fitzgerald, Miss Harriet E. Turner, who presided, spoke at length of the many stages through which the advocates of equal suffrage had come until now they are out of the catacombs and in the Court of Constantine.

Mrs. Fitzgerald characterized equal suffrage as one of the greatest movements of the day. Because it is one of the great movements it demands the consideration of all men and women in these times. It also demands our real action if we would not fall behind in the march of progress.

Only last week the women of Canton, China, were given the right of franchise. We should not run the risk of sitting down and thinking how progressive we are and forget that the procession is passing by.

The most important feature of equal suffrage is the way in which it has come to be recognized, not as a women's movement but as as movement of men and women for better citizenship. It is nothing but the logical result of American ideals that we are urging upon the citizens of this state.

If we believe in aristocracy, very well. But if we believe in democracy then this nation although it is the greatest democracy in the world, is incomplete. We start out by disfranchising one half of the population.

The government now rests on the consent of a part of the governed. We cannot say that silence means consent in this case as the women have no means of assenting or dissenting.

Most people in America believe in the principles of democracy, and men as a people to live up to them. The next logical stage is equal suffrage. Six state are now really free states.

In the last 40 years the progress of equal suffrage has been slow and gradual but it has gained impetus as it went along and the progress is becoming more and more rapid.

In 15 years but one state had voted for equal suffrage while a year ago Washington, and last fall California, joined the ranks.

In the past never more than one state came out for equal suffrage at a time. Next fall when we see four, probably five and possibly six states in line at the polls we will realize that things are moving rapidly.

In the past the movement has been in the far West and we here have felt perhaps that it was a part of their wild and better woolines.

The campaign next fall will strike [illegible] Wisconsin, Ohio and probably our neighbor New Hampshire will be in line. Imagine staid New England invaded by the suffrage movement!

The idea is no longer remote. It is becoming a political question. It is not going to come as a question of abstract justice.

Equal suffrage now controls 37 votes in the electoral college. If the states mentioned win it will mean very great national power.

There is not a presidential candidate on the horizen but what is trimming his sails toward suffrage.

Since they realize that other states are coming over fast the politicians do not dare to come out as "anti's." Never again will a candidate dare to be opposed to women's suffrage.

The question is no longer a women's issue. Fifty or sixty years ago it was strictly a women's rights movement to the ridicule these women bore and to the devotion with which they served the cause are due the advantages women enjoy today.

It is not as a demand for rights but for the most effective tools with which to do the work that woman must do that we demand the vote today.

Women are with men the citizens of the community. Good government matters as much to the women as to the men. All makes for better conditions, progress and good citizenship of the community in general.

Even the most bitter opponent of equal suffrage realizes the vast amount of public work women must do. The only difference of opinion is in the method that should be used.

The women ask to use the same method that the men have found most satifactory. A few men have the opportunity to do public service in a big way and also a few women but these are few. Ordinary men and women with no special equipment depend on the vote.

We hear that the proper business of the woman is to care for home and family. Voting does not interfere with men's business. Men find time to vote. Why should not women?

It is an important fact in modern days that the very woman whose care is the home cannot do her work successfully without the vote.

In the olden time in simple New England, each household was an independent community. This was true in a literal and material sense. Mrs. Fitzgerald drew a realistic picture of the old New England homestead where the food, clothing and even the heat and light were grown or gathered from within the confines of each farm.

This is not so any more. Think of the old fashioned food supply—how pure, clean and wholesome it was. Who knows from whence it now comes? We now can't even tell how old it is. Cold storage has removed the last check on the food supply.

This may mean sickness and perhaps death. How shall we prevent it? Not by our own individual action.

It depends on the joint action of society as a whole carried out through the machinery of government. Have not the women a right to have something to say in this matter? Her only relief is in having the right to help choose the men who make the laws.

What is true of the food supply is true of the water supply, and thus it runs through all the practical phases of life. The only way is for women to act as a part of the community in choosing the representatives who lay down the rules of the game

What used to be done privately is now done publicly. At every turn the law now steps in to regulate our lives. At every turn the voice of the voter steps in and regulates the details of our family life.

Another group of women that need the vote are the working women. The textile industries and the preparation of food are performed by women.

These used to be performed in the home. Now that they have been taken out of the home women still have to do them and have followed them to the factory.

In the olden days, they could regulate their working conditions. Now they are at the mercy of their employers. This cannot be regulated by individuals. Women must join in choosing those who will protect their interests properly.

Another group who need the vote [illegible] the leisure women who need a chance to turn to big things instead of little ones.

The government is now lop-sided. No group can represent another quite as well as that group can represent itself.

Taxation without representation is tyranny. The consumer in the last analysis pays the taxes. Woman is the consumer almost entirely and should be specially regarded as such. She should be given a power to say, how the finances should be administered.

Mrs. Fitzgerald then disposed of some of the stock arguments against equal suffrage by showing the good results attained in states and countries where it had been tried out.

Equal suffrage has the grudge of the machine politician as he can't swing the women's vote. He can never tell which way the cat is going to jump.

Some argue that this will be so only temporarily. This is not true. Women are coming into the field as man's vote is becoming more and more independen. They are reinforcing the independent vote.

The remainder of the evening was given over to questions by the audience and answers by Mrs. Fitzgerald.

The situation in England was taken up in detail, the speaker's sympathies being with the militant workers. She believed that they were pursuing the only course left open to them.

Women's suffrage has not met with public recognition in Wollaston for a number of years and Monday night's meeting was the first in the vicinity in the new aggressive campaign that is underway.

Dress in Comfort These Chilly Mornings

You can have an open well ventilated room for sleeping, and dress in it in perfect comfort if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

Let the furnace fire go out as soon as you like now---no use keeping it going just because the weather may be chilly now and then.

The REZNOR will take care of you in any emergency and will save you money because, with it, you consume fuel only while you need heat.

It creates no odor---It creates no smoke.

We have them in every size and style from

$2.50 up

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT COMPANY

11 Granite Street

1810-1911

The Liniment that has been used 101 years.

It stands the test of time. Other liniments have come and gone.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

endures because its merits have endeared it to the hearts of millions of users. Use inwardly for Coughs, Colds, Croup. Outwardly for Bruises, Strains, Sprains, Aches.

25c and 50c Bottles

I. S. Johnson & Co. Boston, Mass.

Parsons' Pills relieve constipation and cure headache.

STATE TREASURER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Elmer A. Stevens, State Treasurer, is to deliver an address before the Board of Trade at its next regular meeting April 3. On account of the many who will want to hear the address, which will be exceedingly interesting the meeting will be held in Colonial hall.

President Hearn, who has heard the address says that it is an unusually interesting one and hopes that there will be a large attendance of citizens to greet the speaker.

SUIT SUSTAINED.

The suit of Walter F. Frederick against Carr F. Letteney, of 24 Webster street, this city, was sustained Monday in the superior court by Judge Hardy. Frederick, who was the receiver of the C. F. Letteney Co., of Wareham street, Boston, of which Mr. Letteney was the head, sought to have set aside as void a mortgage for $3900 as part of the personal property of the corporation last July, when the company was declared insolvent.

Letteney had advanced money to the corporation, but the mortgage was declared illegal, there not being as many directors present at the meeting as required, who had authority to give the mortgage.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Bates of Winthrop avenue has just received an appointment as director of the hygiene and physical education department of the Women's College at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island. Miss Bates who is studying at Wellesley college this year will enter upon her duties in the fall.

MR. HOWLETT TO GO TO MEDFORD

Has Been Elected as Head Master of Medford High School

INCREASED SALARY

It is more than probable that James D. Howlett, head master of the Quincy High school will sever his connection with the Quincy schools at the close of the present term in June as he was elected Monday night to become the head master of the Medford High school at the opening of the fall term in September.

The selection of Mr. Howlett to the Medford school was entirely unsought for on his part. He was invited to come to Medford Monday evening to meet the school committee and after an hour's talk with the board was unanimously elected.

The High school at Medford is now having a quarter million dollar addition built to it and when completed will be one of the finest High schools in New England, and is an exceptionally fine opening. Added to that is the salary which is considerably larger than that paid in Quincy, the minimum paid by Medford being larger than the maximum paid in Quincy.

When seen this noon Mr. Howlett said that he had not as yet given the Medford committee his answer. The opening is such a fine one however that he cannot be blamed for accepting.

Mr. Howlett has been the head master of the Quincy High school since 1910. He is extremely popular with the pupils and has brought the school up to a high state of efficiency.

HEARING ON IN SLANDER CASE

A case that has been awaited with much interest came up in the district court this morning in a special civil session before Judge Pratt when the suit of Officers George F. Phillips against Mrs. Margaret F. Merriam of Houghs Neck for defamation of character went on trial. The suit is to recover $300.

Frank A. Tirrell represented the plaintiff and Webster A. Chandler the deendent. It was late this morning before the case was called at 1 o'clock when a recess was taken for an hour and a half but little progress had been made.

Officers Phillips claimed that Mrs. Merriam charged him with stealing coal and drunkenness and that she called him a "good for nothing bum," and further said that she could prove that he was "Rolling drunk on the floor of a cottage with uniform on." The attorney for the defendant claimed he could prove the truth of the statement if the plaintiff proved that the statements had been made.

Sergt. Hanson was the first witness called. He testified as to conversations over the telephone with Mrs. Merriam. He showed the notes taken of these conversations.

Chief Engineer Litchfield testified to serving the writ of Mrs. Merriam and Officer Canavan told of statements made to him concerning Officer Phillips.

George G. Coughlin driver of coal team, who delivered the coal said he made a mistake and delivered it at the home of Officer Phillips instead of at the Forrest house.

John Mahon, a special officer said he looked after Phillips cottage in the winter. He also stated he saw six bags of caoal on the piazza and thinking that Mr. Phillips was coming down, he opened the cottage and put the coal inside.

Jmes N. Richards, a butcher stated he was with Mahoa a t the time the coal was put in.

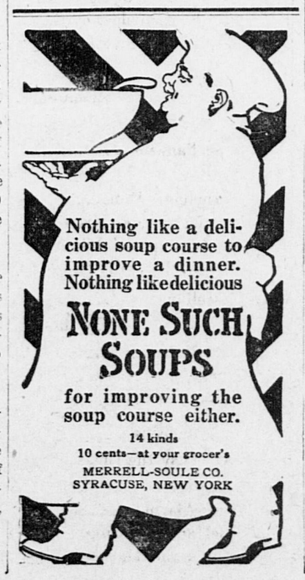
Councilman J. R. S. Ross testified he had known Officer Phillips over fifteen years and said his reputation was good.

Officer Phillips said that he has been a regular officer for three years. and had known Mrs. Merriam for about four years. He was not at Houghs Neck in January, the month it is alleged the coal was taken. He also told of a conference he had with Mrs. Merriam after the affair over the telephone. That the day on which the coal was delivered he was doing police duty at Quincy. He said Mrs. Merriam accused him of being at Houghs Neck and had proof to support her claim. He had tried to settle the case and made arrangements for Mrs. Merriam to come to the police station. She failed to appear ona second agreement and he brought suit.

He also testified that the affairhad greatly pestured him and he felt that the loss of his job was at stake, unless something definite was done in the mat ter.

On cross examination Officer Phillips testified that he was never drunk and never tok a drop of liquor when he was in uniform.

At this point an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock.



DEFENDANTS DEFAULTED.

Elmer W. Wells of West Virginia, who was arrested a short time ago by Charles H. Johnson for the Smith Granite Company, on a debt, who was bailed out by Forbes W. Craig, failed to put in an appearance at the local court this morning and in consequence thereof was defaulted.

GET AWAY WITH FORTUNE

French Bandits Are Holding Community In Terror

Paris, March 26.—Three daring automobile bandits who have been holding the community about this city in a grip of terror for weeks, made a raid on the bank of the Societe Generale in Chantilly yesterday, killed two watchmen, dynamited the vaults and escaped in a high-power automobile with loot estimated at several hundred thousand francs.

The holdup was one of the most sensational in the criminal annals of France and lacked none of the details that made the United States of America so notorious a decade ago.

Earlier in the day three robbers, believed to be the same men, held up an automobile just outside this city, killing the chauffeur when he showed signs of resistance.

The road agents sped away in their racing car after they had rifled the pockets of the chauffeur and others in the car.

So daring and well laid were the bandits' plans and with such coolness and nerve were they carried out that the men created but little alarm by their wholesale use of firearms and spilling of blood.

It is believed that the robbers fled to this city and are now in hiding. Every gendarme and policeman and many secret agents of the government are employed in a dragnet search that is being made of every section.

German Cruiser Sinks Steamer

Berlin, March 26.—The German battleship Elassass collided with and sank the Swedish coasting steamer Pollux in the Skagerrak between Norway and Jutland on March 23. The crew of the Pollux was rescued.

THE LADY'S SHOP

Number Four Maple Street,

JOHNSON BUILDING. - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial

Opening Display

... of ....

1912 MILLINERY

and

EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25

and continuing

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob 2-tw L-23tf

You can rely on the Shoes I handle, because I seek permanent patronage.

Style Tendencies in Spring Shoes

Today, the vogue of the short, scant skirt, comes the era of the well-dressed feet --- feet and ankles were never so conspicuous as the present styles in dress make them, and every woman who cares about her personal appearance should wear footwear of good quality.

This store shows only the latest approved models, and you are safe in relying on us to shoe you in correct fashion.

The American Lady Shoes

have made the reputation of the manufacturers second to none in America --- or in the world, for that matter. All the bench made touches, on splendid lines, I have no hesitancy in recommending to the smartest women in Greater Quincy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 25 3t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE

NEW SPRING SUITS

$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BELIEVES IN HUSBAND

Mrs. Scott Confident That He Succeeded In Quest

London, March 26.—Captain Robert F. Scott's accomplished wife is the most confident person in all Britain that the Antarctic explorer has attained the South Pole and will return with invaluable scientific data. Serene in her confidence, Mrs. Scott is exalted no more by hopeful reports about her husband that she is depressed by gloomy rumors. When the false report came from Washington, New Zealand, that Amundsen, Scott's Norwegian rival, had reported that Scott had beaten him in the quest, Mrs. Scott said calmly:

"We must await much more authentic information."

Mrs. Scott is a sculptor of talent and her devotions to her art makes the minutes of her husband's absence move the faster.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine

Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days

E. W. Grove on box. 25c

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

No Coal For Cruiser

Weymouth, Eng., March 26.—The United States cruiser Prairie, which is now at Portland shipping 100 Whitehead torpedoes, is finding difficulty in securing coal for the voyage to America. An attempt was made to purchase 120 tons of steam coal, but was unsuccessful.

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies

Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT

1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.

Tel. 619 R. March 21-tf

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively

Write or come to us at

710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA-SNOW &

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
E. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 25	3.45	4.15
Tuesday,	4.45	5.15
Wednesday,	5.45	6.30
Thursday,	7.00	7.45
Friday,	8.00	8.45
Saturday,	9.00	9.30
Sunday,	10.00	10.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	41 degrees
Mar. 26, 1911,	55 degrees
Mar. 26, 1910,	64 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

MINERS TO INSIST ON THEIR DEMANDS

Proposition For Compromise Must Come From Operators

Cleveland, March 26.—Consideration by union officials of a possible compromise in the wage demands by the miners in the bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois resulted in a decision that when the conference with the operators is resumed today the miners will adhere to their original demands, asking for a 10 percent increase and shorter working hours.

John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, after an all-day conference with the union executive board, decided that if any compromise in the miners' demands is to be proposed as a means of averting a strike on April 1, it must come from the operators. Already the operators are on record as being willing to grant nothing more than an extension of the present wage agreement, and it is said this will be their position when they confer today.

District presidents of the union had discussed with Mr. White a proposal that the miners drop all their demands except that for increased wages and that they ask for 5 percent increase instead of 10.

IN PRISON CELL

Governor of Arizona Was There From Own Choice

Phenix, Ariz., March 26.—Governor Hunt of Arizona occupied cell No. 24 in the state penitentiary at Florence Saturday night, with Frank Howard, who is serving the last three months of a three-year sentence for burglary.

Sunday morning the governor fell into line with the convicts and marched to the dining room, where he partook of the regular prison breakfast, consisting of bread, beans, mush and black coffee.

On his return to Phenix Governor Hunt said he believed all governors should be required to pass one night in prison.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

CONFERENCE IS STILL POSTPONED

Coal Owners and Miners Make No Concessions

ARE NEAR TO STARVATION

Twenty-Fifth Day of Strike Finds Thousands Dependant on Charity—Railroads So Short of Coal That Nothing but Main Line Trains Will Be Run After This Week—Premier's Efforts of No Avail

London, March 26.—The twenty-fifth day of the national coal strike ended with nearly 3,000,000 workers idle, many thousands dependent upon charity to keep them from starvation, every manufacturing industry in the land undergoing a throttling process and a settlement apparently as remote as ever.

The sanguine expectations at the beginning of the day that the joint conference of coal owners and miners, dramatically summoned by the premier, would reach an agreement which would end the struggle were replaced by the gloomiest forebodings when it was learned that no joint conference had been held. For two and a half hours the prime minister and his colleagues labored with the committee representing the coal owenrs, and for four hours and a half with the miners' executive, but they failed so completely to secure concessions from either which would afford a basis for agreement between them that it was found inadvisable to bring the disputants together again.

With everybody concerned in the negotiations pledged to silence, what changes today will bring cannot be predicted. The one fact that stands out prominently is that the government intervention thus far has proved entirely futile. What expectations are now entertained that the ruinous struggle will be speedily terminated are based on the hope that the miners will in increasing numbers break away from the leaders and resume work. Their funds are rapidly dwindling, and the men are likely to take this step if assured of recognition of the principle of the minimum wage is conceded. A majority of them have nothing to gain by a prolongation of the strike.

It is practically certain that if a settlement is not reached by the end of this week all the passenger trains on every branch line in the United Kingdom will be suspended.

The general managers of the railroads held a meeting in London yesterday, and after taking stock of the fuel on hand reached the conclusion that this step would be necessary.

Everywhere the working classes, particularly those depedent upon the mines, are undergoing unspeakable sufferings. No such serious situation has faced the government, and the people themselves, in many years. It is recognized that some measures must be speedily taken to put an end to conditions, which, if not remedied within a very few days, must result in disaster to the whole nation.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Eighteen-Year-Old Salem Boy Arraigned on Serious Crime

Marblehead, Mass., March 26.—Ernest Brouillette, the 18-year-old Salem boy wanted in that city for attempted murder and highway robbery, who was captured in the cottage of John Haley at Lyman Cove, was charged with being one of the two robbers who pillaged the exclusive Appleton Farms section of Ipswich.

A clock and opera glasses found on him were identified as a part of the loot taken from the palatial summer home, at Ipswich, of Francis Appleton of New York.

His alleged partner and the team which they are supposed to have used in the various robberies have disappeared.

He was arraigned in the Marblehead court this morning and then taken to Salem for trial on the charge of attempted murder.

He is the son of Mrs. Clare R. Brouillette of 8 Peabody street, Salem.

WILL NOT BE ADMITTED

Women Cannot See Hanging In the State of Connecticut

New Haven, March 26.—Miss Catherine Davis will not witness the hanging of Andrea Tangelli at the Weathersfield state prison on Thursday, for Warden Carner, when asked if it was possible for the sheriff of the county to grant the request of the woman, said: "The sheriff can't and I won't."

Tangelli killed Miss Davis' sister-in-law, Mrs. John Davis, in this city last September.

Removed to Arlington

New York, March 26.—The body of Major General Philip Kearny, who was killed in the battle of Chantilly, Va., will lie in state at city hall on April 11 and will then be taken to Washington, where it will be interred in Arlington cemetery.

NEW YORK SPRING STYLES.

Suit Lines and Materials—The Changeable Craze—New Hats and Wraps.

Winds may blow and a temperature like January may prevail, but occasional days give unmistakable promise that crocuses are nearly due, and that fresh raiment will shortly be needed to fit the warm Spring weather.

THE AVENUE WINDOWS.

The shop windows on Fifth Avenue make a varied and most enticing showing of hats, blouses, suits and all the important details of a woman's outfit, and these are supplemented by more exclusive displays open to the initiated few who know just where to look for them.

THE CHANGEABLE CRAZE.

As prophecied in former letters, the vogue for changeable colorings—especially in taffetas—has become a craze. Everything is made up in these fascinating combinations.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

Hats either all taffeta, or with taffeta outside and straw faced rims, or hats of straw woven in many tints, trimmed with upstanding taffeta loops that start out from the top of the crown.

SMALL SHAPES.

Small shapes are in the fore front, most of them with high crowns and rimless or nearly so; and considerable use is made of roses and other flowers, but these are apt to repeat the changeable colors of the straw or silk.

CHRYSANTHEMUM STRAWS.

A new weave of rough straw that is fascinating in irridescent colorings makes some of the most attractive and expensive hats. Little trimming is needed, the straw itself being so decorative. Quills of lace, or taffeta silks, and pompon shaped trimmings of fringed or pinked out silk, replace the "paint brush" garnitures that the girls have been wearing the past season. The hat itself, its material style and color are, as they have been for several seasons, the main thing. The trimming is secondary in importance but not always in price, especially when Goura and Paradise feathers are used.

NEW SUITS.

Whip cords are first favorites for Spring tailormades. This material as almost everyone knows is a hard twisted serge weave that comes in plain colors and two-toned effects. Grays, blues, and blacks are leading favorites, but with the few, browns and tans are well endorsed and signs point to brown as a leader in fashionable favor next Fall, so women who wear their tailormades more than one season are perhaps wise in considering this. However all signs fail sometimes so it's best to buy the color one likes, or that is most becoming and chance the style.

COATS .

Suit coats are shorter than Winter ones, and skirts while hardly any wider or longer are more trimmed, not only in tailormades, but in fancier frocks. Extra long coats of serge or silk are indispensable for wear over the dresses of all materials that continue to be first favorites for wear indoors and out.

ETAMINES AND ROUGH SILKS

For more elaborate suits and dresses, etamines and rough heavy silks are among the more advanced and exclusive styles. Etamine is a heavy wool voile that is made over silk or satin and trimmed with the lining material either in stitched tailor bands, or elaborateely garnished with some of the many made trimmings now fashionable.

MADE TRIMMINGS.

Puffings of silk with or without corded edges are used on everything. Hats, wraps, gowns indiscriminately. These are made up in various widths, and applied in straight bands draped, or even braided effects in the narrower widths. Scant ruffles with scalloped edges bound with matching or contrasting material, or often with narrow velvet ribbon or fringe to bring out their lines and other old time revivals in the season's trimmings.

ROSALIND MAY

NET IS TIGHTENING ABOUT ALLEN GANG

Food Supply Is Now Cut Off, They Must Surrender

Hillsville, Va., March 26.—"They can keep us guessing for several days, but no longer; they can't get food enough to live on."

This was the statement last night of the leaders of the posses which are hunting the Allen outlaws for the courthouse murders of March 14.

After another day of hide and seek up and down the south side of the Blue Ridge, in which the posses often were near the Allens and even found the initials from Sidna's saddle pad, part of his horse's bridle and the remains of a meal hastily eaten by the outlaws on the retreat, the detectives said their final assault upon the gang might be delayed several days.

CONSULTS POPE'S DOCTOR

Former New York Banker Not Gaining Health Fast

Rome, March 26.—Charles W. More of New York, who was recently released from the Atlanta penitentiary, is in Rome. He is travelling incognito and is accompanied by his wife. Mr. Morse went to see a Charles A. Moore, who has not been definitely identified.

Mr. Moore says Morse is secretive as to his future plans. He is depressed in spirit, pale in appearance and limps badly when he walks. He consulted Professor Marchiafava, one of the pope's physicians, whose treatment he proposes to follow.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

WORKERS ARE DRIVEN OUT

I. W. W. Orders Lowell Cotton Mill Operatives to Leave

DEMAND OF 15 PERCENT

Dissatisfaction Over the New Wage Schedule, Which Gives Seven Percent Increase, Is Cause of Trouble—Sixteen Hundred Shoe Workers In Lynn Have Struck In Sympathy With McKay Stitchers

Boston, March 26.—With 2000 cotton mill operators on strike in Lowell and 1600 shoe workers out in Lynn, New England is again watching developments in fresh labor troubles.

In Lowell the Appleton cotton mills shut down and sections of the machinery in the Merrimack corporation mills were stopped by the strike yesterday. Dissatisfaction at the new wage schedule caused the trouble.

So many operatives either left the two mills of their own accord or were forced out by the strikers that the Appleton mills were shut down shortly after 10 o'clock. Many of those who left the Appleton mills said afterward that two or three of the fiery leaders of the strike were armed with sticks and knives and made threats on those who did not want to leave their work.

Whenever an operator declined to leave a machine the strike leaders rushed to the belts and threw off the power. Much of the machinery in the plant was stopped in this way, and eventually the management decided to shut down the entire establishment. Many of the idle operators said that they left the mills, not through any pronounced dissatisfaction, but because they were afraid of getting their heads broken.

In Lynn over 1600 shoe workers affiliated with the United Shoe Workers of America struck in sympathy, the manufacturers allege, with the McKay stitchers, whose demands have failed of settlement.

It was a robust attempt on the part of the I. W. W. organization to inaugurate a strike along the lines of that just finished in Lawrence, when the 2000 operatives went out on strike in Lowell. All of the 1300 employes of the Appleton mills are out and 700 operatives of the Merrimack mills have quit work.

The strike committee of the I. W. W. was organized and a general strike was called in the seven cotton mills on a demand of 15 percent increase of wages. A sub-committee was sent to Lawrence to invite W. D. Haywood and W. E. Trautman, leaders of the Lawrence strike, to go to Lowell. It has not been learned yet whether these two men will act in Lowell, although there is every reason to believe they will grasp the opportunity to go.

At noon, when a demonstration was expected, it was not so serious as anticipated, although several hundred strikers gathered outside the Appleton mills. The gates were closed and no attempt was made by the strikers to open them.

One arrest was made at noon of a striker who was ejected from the Hamilton mills, while trying to influence workers to go out. When he refused to leave the mill a second hand, while attempting to force him, had a brief scuffle, and a police inspector made the arrest.

The nationalities which held meetings and organized under the direction of the I. W. W. are Greeks, who are in the majority, French-Canadians, Franco-Belgians, Portuguese, Poles, Lithuanians, Syrians and English speaking people.

There was a slight attempt to picket the mills, but it was not very successful, and it was not very serious on the part of the strikers.

DEMANDS ARE REFUSED

Fifty Railroads Say Engineers' Wages Are Already Liberal

New York, March 26.—Fifty railroads have rejected the demands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for an increase in wages of 8.63 percent per annum. In the replies of the railroads made public here, it is stated that it is impossible to grant the increase.

"In view of the fact that the present rates of wages are as a rule full and liberal," says the answer, "and the railroads are financially unable to bear the increased expense involved, it is evidently impossible to grant the requests which you have submitted."

Will Squeeze Down Lid

New Haven, March 26.—If the plans of the Orange Civic association materialize, the lid will be squeezed down tight on Savin Rock—Connecticut's Coney Island—on Sundays this summer. The society intends to see that the laws are enforced to the letter and even moving pictures will be put under the ban.

Sugar Takes Another Drop

New York, March 26.—All grades of refined sugar were reduced 10 cents 100 pounds yesterday.

The Liniment that is 101 Years Old

Quick relief for hurts, aches and pains. Every household should keep on hand the old, reliable
JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT
For over 100 years it has had no equal. Use inwardly for Colds, Bowel Disorders, Cholera Morbus, etc.
25c and 50c Bottles
L. S. JOHNSON & CO.
Boston, Mass.

Parsons' Pills Tone the System and Regulate the Bowels

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOUPS WITHOUT MEAT.

GOOD nourishing soup may be made without the use of either meat or stock. Soups are just what we need for the last few days of Lent, when a special effort is made by persons who do not find it convenient to dispense with meat ordinarily.

The soups are not only nourishing, but they are so quickly prepared that they make excellent emergency dishes for other than lenten meals.

If the soup is not rich enough the quantity of cream or milk may be increased and an egg or two well beaten may be added.

Made With a Cereal.

Cream of Rice Soup.—Take two tablespoonfuls of rice, wash well, put on to boil in two cups of boiling water. Let it boil for half an hour. Put two cupfuls of sweet milk in the top of a double boiler. When the milk boils add the rice and the water in which it has been boiling. Take a teaspoonful of flour and rub into it a teaspoonful of sweet fresh butter. Drop this into the rice and milk. Stir and add a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a quarter of a teaspoonful of curry powder and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Let this boil for about five minutes. Serve with croutons.

Vegetable Soups.

Cream of Potato Soup.—Take a cupful and a half of mashed potatoes, place them in the top of a double boiler on the stove. Add two cupfuls of boiling milk and a teaspoonful of grated onion. Bring to a boil and add two cupfuls of boiling water, a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper, a tablespoonful of butter and a tablespoonful of flour after the four latter ingredients have been rubbed together. Stir until it looks creamy, then add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a little paprika.

Cream of Celery.—This enables one to use up the outer coarse stalks of celery, which are not so nice as the inner ones. Scrub the stalks well, and cut into half inch lengths. Put into a saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil until tender. Drain and save the water. Mash the celery through a colander, return to the water and boil ten minutes. Then strain into a double boiler and to each cup of the celery water add a cupful of boiling milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper and to each pint add one teaspoonful of butter and one teaspoonful flour, rubbed together. Boil five minutes.

Anna Thompson

FLORIDA IS SPEEDY

Makes Trial Run at Rate of 22:54 Knots an Hour

Rockland, Me., March 26.—The fastest dreadnought in the American navy, and probably in the world, is the title claimed for the government-built battleship Florida, which made 22.54 knots on her standardization trial over the Rockland course yesterday.

The British dreadnought Vanguard, with a record of 22.50, has been considered previously the fleetest battleship of the world, and the Florida's sister ship, the Utah, built at a private yard, made a record of 21.637 on her fastest run.

The trials were held in a rough sea and a brisk wind, with the big fighter using only coal, as her oil tanks have not yet been installed. Rear Admiral Ward, who was on board, declined to give out any official figures except to confirm the high speed record, but from an authoritative source, some of the other figures were learned.

GET AWAY WITH $4500

New York Club Waiter Overpowered by Four Masked Men

New York, March 26. — Four masked men, heavily armed, forced their way into the Saratoga club on West Twenty-seventh street yesterday, pointed revolvers at Alfred Luftgarten, a waiter acting as a watchman, bound, gagged and blindfolded him, broke open a safe and escaped with $4200 in jewelry and $300 in cash.

The loot obtained belonged to the proprietors of the club, David Bernstein and Alfred and Louis Sovenir.

Suicide on Campania

New York, March 26.—Charles Sterling, an English actor, who was coming to America to fill an engagement, killed himself on the Cunard liner Campania, which arrived in port yesterday. Sterling shot himself on Saturday morning and was buried at sea the same evening.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER XIV.

The Judge Sees a Ghost.

Charley Norton's good offices did not end when he had furnished Judge Price with a house, for Betty required of him that he should supply that gentleman with legal business as well.

Thus it happened that Judge Price, before he had been three days in Raleigh, received a civil note from Mr. Norton asking him to search the title to a certain timber tract held by one Joseph Quaid. The judge, powerfully excited, told Mahaffy he was being understood and appreciated.

The immediate result of Norton's communication had been to send the judge up the street to the court house. He would show his client that he could be punctual and painstaking.

Entering the court house, he found himself in a narrow hall. He entered the county clerk's office. He was already known to this official, whose name was Saul, and he now greeted him.

"A little matter of business brings me here, sir," began the judge, with a swelling chest and mellow accents. "I am in some haste to look up a title for my client, Mr. Norton."

Mr. Saul scrambled up out of the depths of his chair and exerted himself in the judge's behalf.

"This is what you want, sir. Better take the ledger to the window, the light in here ain't much." He drew forward a chair as he spoke, and the judge, seating himself, began to polish his spectacles with great deliberation.

His Face Went White and the Book Slipped From His Fingers.

"You've set on the bench, sir?" suggested Mr. Saul.

"In one of the eastern counties, but my inclination has never been toward the judiciary." He was turning the leaves of the ledger as he spoke. Suddenly the movement of his hand was arrested.

"Found it?" asked Mr. Saul. But the judge gave him no answer; he was staring down at the open pages of the book. "Found the entry?" repeated Mr. Saul.

"Eh—what's that? No—" he appeared to hesitate. "Who is this man Quintard?"

"He's the owner of a hundred-thousand-acre tract in this and abutting counties," said Mr. Saul.

"Who has charge of the land?"

"Colonel Fentress; he was old General Ware's law partner. I've heard it was the general who got this man Quintard to make the investment, but that was before my time."

The judge lapsed into silence.

A step sounded in the narrow hall. An instant later the door was pushed open, and grateful for any interruption that would serve to take Mr. Saul's attention from himself, the judge abruptly turned his back on the clerk and began to examine the record before him. Insensibly, however, the cold, level tones of the voice that was addressing itself to Mr. Saul quickened the beat of his pulse, the throb of his heart, and struck back through the years to a day from which he reckoned time. He turned slowly, as if in dread.

What he saw was a man verging on sixty, lean and dark, with thin, shaven cheeks of a bluish cast above the jaw, and a strongly aquiline profile. Long, black locks swept the collar of his coat, while his tall, spare figure was habited in sleek broadcloth and spotless linen. For a moment the judge seemed to struggle with doubt, then his face went white and the book slipped from his fingers to the window ledge.

The stranger, his business concluded, swung about on his heel and quitted the office. Mr. Saul, bending above his desk, was making an entry in one of his ledgers. The judge shuffled to his side.

"Who was that man?" he asked thickly, resting a shaking hand on the clerk's arm.

"That?—Oh, that was Colonel Fentress I was just telling you about."

"Has he always lived here?"

"No; he came into the county about ten years ago, and bought a place called The Oaks."

"Has he—a family?" The judge appeared to be having difficulty with his speech.

"Not that anybody knows of. Some say he's a widower, others again say he's an old bachelor; but he don't say nothing. The colonel's got his friends, to be sure, but he don't mix much with the real quality. One of his particular intimates is a gentleman by the name of Murrell."

The judge nodded.

"I've met him," he said briefly.

Acting on a sudden impulse, the judge muttered something about returning later, and hastily quitted the office.

In the hall the judge's steps dragged and his head was bowed. He was busy with his memories. Then passion shook him.

"Damn him—may God—for ever damn him!" he cried under his breath, in a fierce whisper.

They finished supper, the dishes were cleared away and the candles lighted, when the judge produced a mysterious leather-covered case. This he opened, and Mahaffy and Hannibal saw that it held a handsome pair of dueling pistols.

"Where did you get 'em, judge?—Oh, ain't they beautiful!" cried Hannibal, circling about the table in his excitement.

"My dear lad, they were purchased only a few hours ago," said the judge quietly, as he began to load them.

* * * * * * * * *

Norton had ridden down to Belle Plain ostensibly to view certain of those improvements that went so far toward embittering Tom Ware's existence.

"Do you think Belle Plain is ever going to look as it did, Charley?—as we remember it when we were children?" asked Betty.

"Why of course, it is, dear, you are doing wonders!"

Ware stalked toward them. Having dined with Betty as recently as the day before, he contented himself with a nod in her direction. His greeting to Norton was a more ambitious undertaking.

"I understand you've a new overseer?"

"Then you understand wrong—Carrington's my guest," said Norton. "He's talking of putting in a crop for himself next season, so he's willing to help me make mine."

"Going to turn farmer, is he?" asked Ware.

"So he says." Norton was extremely disappointed when the planter manifested a disposition to play the host and returned to the house with them, where his presence was such a hardship that Norton shortly took his leave.

Issuing from the lane he turned his face in the direction of home. He was within two miles of Thicket Point when, passing a turn in the road, he found himself confronted by three men. One of them seized his horse by the bit. Norton had not even a riding-whip.

"Now, what do you wish to say to me?" he asked.

"We want your word that you'll keep away from Belle Plain."

"Well, you won't get it!" responded Norton.

In the same instant one of the men raised his fist and struck the young planter in the back of the neck.

"You cur!" cried Norton, as he wheeled on him.

"Damn him—let him have it!"

* * * * * * * * *

It was mid-afternoon of the day following before Betty heard of the attack on Norton. She ordered her horse saddled and was soon out on the river road with a groom in her wake. Betty never drew rein until she reached Thicket Point. As she galloped into the yard Bruce Carrington came from the house.

"How is Mr. Norton?" she asked, extending her hand.

"The doctor says he'll be up and about inside of a week. If you'll wait I'll tell him you are here."

Carrington passed on into the house. He entered the room where Norton lay.

"Miss Malroy is here," he said.

"Betty?—bless her dear heart!" cried Charley weakly. "Just toss my clothes into the closet and draw up a chair. . . . There—thank you, Bruce—let her come along in now." And as Carrington quitted the room, Norton drew himself up on the pillows and faced the door. "This is worth several beatings, Betty!" he exclaimed as she appeared.

He bent to kiss the hand she gave him, but groaned with the exertion. Then he looked up into her face and saw her eyes swimming with tears.

"What—tears?" and he was much moved.

"It's a perfect outrage!" Betty paused irresolutely. "Charley—"

"Yes, dear?"

"Can't you be happy without me?"

"No."

"But you don't try to be!"

"No use in my making any such foolish effort, I'd be doomed to failure."

"Good-by, Charley—I really must go—"

He looked up yearningly into her face, and yielding to a sudden impulse, she stooped and kissed him on the forehead, then she fled from the room.

(To be Continued.)

GOVERNMENT HAS PROVEN ITS CASE

Is Claim of Special Counsel In Final Argument

Chicago, March 26.—Special Counsel Butler took up the final argument of the government in the trial of the ten Chicago packers, who since Dec. 6, 1911, have been before a jury in the United States district court to answer a charge of having maintained a combination in restraint of trade in violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law. The hearing was resumed after three days' delay, due to the illness of a juror.

In substance, the argument of Mr. Butler was a contention that Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Morris & Co. today have just as effective monopoly of the meat business of the country as if their proposed billion-dollar merger had been launched in 1902. Turning to the question of whether if an offense had been committed, the defendants committed it, which he declared was one of the controlling facts for the jury to determine. Mr. Butler said:

"In this case, if there is found a combination, the responsibility of the defendants is plain. Counsel made no substantial argument to the contrary.

"There is nothing requiring the government to prove that the defendants made excessive profits, or any profits, if they combined to restrain trade by eliminating competition themselves, or by fixing prices, they are guilty whether they made money or lost it."

Mr. Butler declared that the argument of Attorney Payne for the defendants was an attempt to justify rather than to deny the existence of the combination charged.

"The plain English for that," he said, "is this: In prosecutions under the Sherman act, juries must place themselves above the courts and determine what the law is and if economically unsound repeal it in the particular case."

Germans to Return Visit

Berlin, March 26.—The division of the German fleet which is to visit the United States in June to return the visit of the second division of the United States Atlantic fleet to Kiel in June last is to be composed of the armored cruiser Moltke, the protected cruiser Bremen and one of the modern protected turbine cruisers.

Two Years For Bigamist

Providence, March 26.—John Mitchell, alias Mitchell F. Souller, who deserted his wife in Fall River and married a Providence girl, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for bigamy by Judge Baker in the superior court.

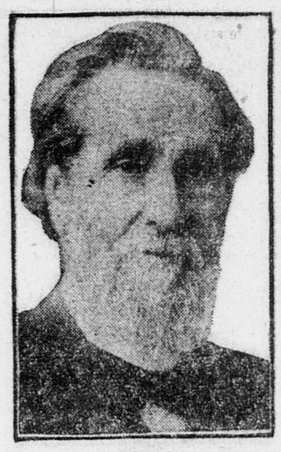
204,000 Passengers on First Day

Boston, March 26.—Officials of the Elevated estimate that about 204,000 people used the new Cambridge subway on Saturday, the first day it was opened to the public.

—The union carpenters of so-called Greater Boston are to be commended on their decision not to ask for a wage increase. Not but they are entitled to as big wages as many parties now getting more pay, but what is the use of fixing wages at a large price per day and not having anything to do? Prices in the building trades are very near prohibitive now.—Waltham Free Press.

ISSAC STEPHENSON

Wisconsin Senator on Trial For Corruption



CHARGED WITH CORRUPTION

Wisconsin Senator on Trial In United States Senate

Washington, March 26.—Isaac Stephenson, the octogenarian millionaire lumberman and banker of Wisconsin, was formally placed on trial on charges involving the validity of his seat in the United States senate. The entire session was taken up by Senator Reed of Missouri with a speech in opposition to Senator Stephenson's retention of his seat.

As through the debate Senator Stephenson, the first to enter the senate chamber, sat quietly back in the rear tier of seats, occasionally applying a handkerchief to his moistened eyes as the charges of political corruption came across from the Democratic side. Close to him sat Senator Lorimer of Illinois, giving close attention. Mr. Lorimer's election is singularly under fire. There was a large attendance of other senators and the galleries were crowded.

TRAVELS LONG DISTANCE

Buenos Ayres Real Estate Man Comes to Massachusetts to Wed

Haverhill, Mass., March 26.—Traveling over 6000 miles to marry the girl of his choice, Senor Jose E. Lagos came to Haverhill last week and on Saturday evening was quietly wed to Miss Helen M. Brown of Madison, Me., but who for the past six years has been a grand opera singer. Senor Lagos comes from Buenos Ayres, where he has extensive real estate interests and it was there that he met Miss Brown, the engagement following the acquaintance which led to the marriage.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Lagos left for New York and plan to sail for Buenos Ayres, where they will make their home within a fortnight.

IS STILL RISING

Ohio River Over Fifty-Foot Stage and Causing Much Damage

Cincinnati, March 26.—The Ohio river has passed the flood stage here and continues rising. Yesterday the stage was 50.2 feet. The local weather forecaster predicts that the crest of the high water will reach here today, bringing the river up to fifty-four or fifty-five feet.

Considerable damage has already been caused by the high water. The railroad tracks leading to the Union Central depot are reached by a stage of fifty-two feet, and fifty-four feet of water will force the railroads to use other stations.

Jap Lawmakers Go Home

Tokio, March 26.—The imperial diet was dissolved on the expiration of the members of the house of representatives. The general elections are to be held during the month of May.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Finnish Fine Taste LunchRoom
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

H. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS. INSURANCE REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES PROPERTY CARE OF CONVEYANCING TRUSTS

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or Pinei's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Friday between 2 and 3 in vicinity of Carlson store and Upland road large cameo pin. Reward if notiby Mrs. L. F. Clark, 146 Hemenway street, Boston. 23-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-6t.

FOR SALE—Quartered Oak 5-foot roll top Derby desk. Nice condition. One third cost price. F. P. Waterhouse, Wollaston. 25-6t

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—At once, a good cook, capable of taking full charge, also experienced waitress. Apply at 1358 Hancock street, Quincy. 25-3t

WANTED—American widow refined and capable. Good manager, desires a position as housekeeper. (widower preferred) best references given. Address Mrs. Parks, 207 Washington street, Quincy. 23-2t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

OPTICIANS Come, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

TO LET

TO LET—5 room tenement, very pleasant. All improvements $15.00. R. J. Barry, Grocer, Atlantic. 26-6t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. New house. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-12t

TO LET—Desk room in Quincy Center, low rent. Address L. F. R. Care Ledger, Quincy. 23-3t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

TO LET—3 suites of 6 rooms each, all modern improvements, new house, situated near high school, one of the best residential sections, rent reasonable. If you want your choice, call and see James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room No. 4, Savings Bank Bldg., Quincy, Mass. 19-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon, 17 Granite street, Quincy. 13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.
Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

3 CANS for a QUARTER

A delicious Tomato Soup, Veribes
A fancy Lima Bean, Little Quaker
A choice Succotash, Little Quaker

Try these for dinner tomorrow and notice the pleased smile go 'round the table. They will make a hit, and besides, you'll save money by buying 3 cans at a time.

REFOY & CO
Cor WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY, ADAMS

March 25-2t

DEMANDS $100 LEFT IN WOODS

Italian's Life Threatened if Demand is Refused

THREE ARRESTED

Domenico Leo, Antonio Micarone and Nicola Fartla were arrested Monday at Braintree by Inspector Goodhue for attempting to extort money from Pasqualle Colaiicca of 82 Union street. Last Thursday Pasqualle received a black hand letter written in Italian which translated read as follows:—

"Dear Friend,

I write you ths letter to tell you I want $100. You have got to give it to me on date of 23 March at hour of midnight in the woods where you pass every morning on way to work. If you don't bring it your life will be finished to an end. You must be killed, you must be killed."

The letter was unsigned. Pasqualle immediately turned the letter over to the police, and Inspector Goodhue was detailed on the job. It appears that all of the parties are employed at the old cotton mill in Braintree and in going to work from Quincy have to pass through a strip of woods. It was in this woods that the money was ordered left.

Friday night Inspector Goodhue and Officer Farrell remained in hiding all night near the spot where the money was to be left but nothing came of it.

Monday night Inspector Goodhue with an interpreter visited the old cotton mill, where after considerable questioning it was decided to place the three men under arrest. They were arraigned in court this morning before Judge Avery and their cases continued until Wednesday morning. Fartlea was held in $100 bonds and the other two men in $500 each. The defendants were represented by counsel.

BRIEFS

Warren W. Adams chairman of the Board of Assessors had an attack of heart trouble, Sunday while shovelling snow and is confined to his home.

Miss Katharine Callahan of South street has resigned her position as stenographer in the office of Henry L. Kincaide & Co., and starts today for a visit of some months with relatives in Richmond, Va.

Miss Eliza Bowles, formerly of this city, was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Allyne P. Babin, of Wessagussett, previous to her departure of Albany, New York, where she is to take a course in domestic science.

The Y. M. C. A. band held its weekly rehearsal at Y. M. C. A. hall, Monday evening from 7:30 o'clock till 10 o'clock. A large crowd of people stood on the sidewalk and enjoyedd several selections.

The Camera club held its first meeting, Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. A committee was appointed to draw up by-laws and other regulations. No definite plans were settled upon.

Albert H. Acorn, Jr., of Sea street, Houhs Neck was numbered among the list of those graduated from the Training Ship Ranger. He has been granted a leave of absence until May 1, when he will go to Provincetown, under Captain Atwater and thence on a foreign trip.

☞"Give me PRATT'S BREAD,"—and don't take a substitute from your grocer.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.

MOTORMEN AND POLICE VICTORS

The Y. M. C. A. students' cricket team showed its superiority over a team composed of policemen and motormen, at the local gym Monday afternoon, winning 64 to 23. The students' team was the stronger in all departments of play and has lately begun to get the inside points of the game, driving the ball into the corners and into the balcony with great accuracy.

Only two innings were played, the students scoring 31 points in the first and the remaining 33 points in the last inning. The policemen and motormen scored 9 points in the first and 14 in the second.

Physical director LaRose was a great help to the policemen and motormen and at times, in company with officer Ford made things look dangerous for the students.

The line ups were as follows:

Police and Motormen	Students
Ford	Estey
Farrell	Mthewson
Hathrone	Brown
Malone	Alstrom
Longley	Crane
LaRose	Andrews
Arbuckle	Lundin
	White
	Southwick

The students have a clean record this year having beaten the Seniors, Clapp Memorial, Cambridge and Cunningham Gym.

Capt Mathewson proved to be the conspicuous star of the game and had the policemen and motormen at his mercy at all stages; Andrews White and Estey made several runs with hits to the corners and the balcony. For the big men, LaRose and Ford excelled.

BRIEFS

Henry P. Kittredge who has been in the south during the winter months has arrived home.

Charles Leavitt and family are quarantined at their home on Coddington street two of the children being ill with diphtheria.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Poole of Prospect avenue arrived Monday on the belated "Ivernia" from a three months' tour of Southern Europe and Great Britain.

Maple Lodge K. & L. of H. is to visit Waverley Lodge Thursday evening the home lodge of their past deputy Nellie M. Hallett at 245 Pearl street, Winter Hill, Somerville. A good time and entertainment has been planned so it is hoped a large number will attend. The party leaves Quincy on the 7.03 P. M. train.

ADVISORY BOARD

(Continued from Page One.)

sively and has visited many parts of the world. By nature a wit he will add zest to the meetings of the new board.

CHARLES A. HADLOCK

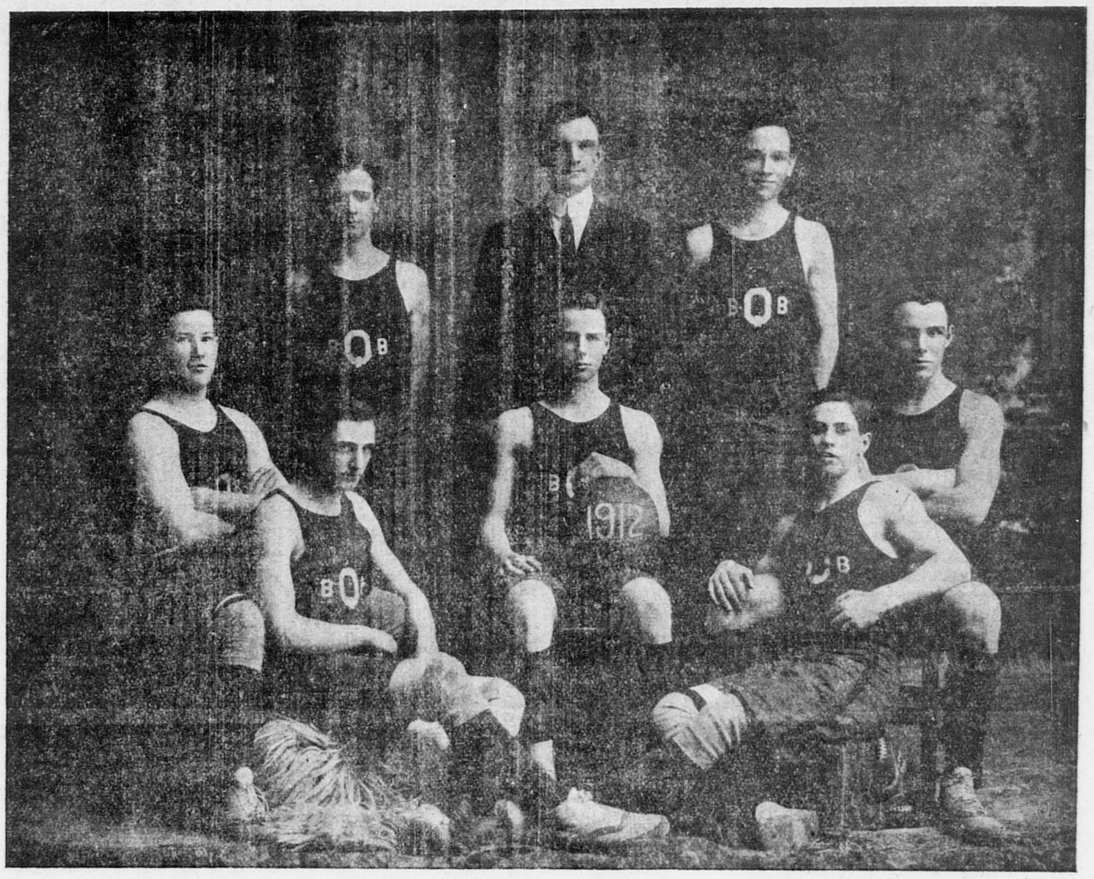
Is a well known resident of Atlantic. His business is that of a builder and he has been associated in this business with his father and brother for many years, their field of operations however, being largely in Boston. As there are some of the members on the board who can be called experts in the real estate line it is well to have a man who can be called an expert in the building line. Such a man is Mr. Hadlock. Born in Neponset he passed his early days there, but came to Quincy many years ago settling in Atlantic where he has since resided.

He has served his ward in the City Council for several years and is looked upon as a successful business man and as such should make a valuable addition to the new board.

Too Late For Classification.

TO LET—An attractive 5 room heated apartment. All modern conveniences. Apply to Nathan A. Ellis, 86 Revere road. 26-3t

BASKETBALL TEAM OF THE QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL.



Top row, left to right, Baird, (sub), Coach Staff and McDonald, (sub): Middle row, Johnson, Capt. Chapman, Finlay; Bottom row, Trask and Holmes.

With the question of the interscholastic basket-ball championship of Eastern Massachusetts still hanging in the balance unsettled, it might not be amiss at this time to retrospect upon the work that has been accomplished by the members of the Quincy High contingency, in order to determine what chances the local boys have, in asserting their claims to the title of supremacy, in conjunction with those other High school teams that are generally conceded to be foremost contenders for the honors at stake. Quincy High has indeed acquired an enviable reputation in basketball and has, without doubt, made the best record ever attained by an aggregation that represented the local school in this department of athletics.

Naturally, upholders and admirers of other teams that have gone before may be inclined to feel that the abilities of the members who compose the team we now have under consideration, did not measure up to those of other players that the school has sent forth into the athletic world and in support of this contention they may be able to advance weighty arguments. But we will deal solely with the record of the team this year and in this way it will readily be observed that the work of the Quincy High basketball team for the season of 1912 will go down in the annals of the school as the best yet and one too that will make succeeding teams exert themselves to their utmost to excel.

To begin with, the team has had an able and efficient coach in the person of Arthur Staff. His experience in the game itself, together with a general knowledge of all the fine points, as well as his keen eye to discern deficiencies, has made him an almost invaluable adviser and much of the credit for the success of the team is due directly to his untiring zeal, energy and enthusiasm. Besides, Roland Estey, who managed the team early in the season, but who was forced through circumstances uncontrollable to relinquish the reins of management, provided the players with an exceptionally fine schedule and to omit requiting him his due credit, would indeed be the height of effrontry. And it fell to teacher Harold L. Fenner to assume the duties which the capable Estey was forced to abandon. He did assume them and in addition he performed them to such complete satisfaction that up to the very last moment the players were awakened to a realization that they had been afforded opportunities to test their powers with the best teams to be found in school boy circles, under a system that was most methodic.

Quincy High has played 23 games. Of these 16 have been victories, 6 have been defeats and one has resulted in a tie. The local players have made some very formidable teams taste the spoils of defeat, and although they have been defeated by Franklin High, Reading High, Salem Normal, Newton High, Wellesley High and Milton High, , a little observation will reveal that all of these teams, with the one exception of Newton High are numbered among the list of victories that the Granite City players have acquired this season. And even Newton High, which played the local lads two games of the most gruelling sort, one of which went two extra periods of five minutes each, led at the finish by a single point.

All told, the local performers have rolled up 727 points to their opponents' 373. Of this number, 644 points were made on baskets from the floor and the remainder on goals from free tries of which there were 83. Their opponents have scored 155 baskets from the floor, or 310 points, and 63 from fouls.

Harry Trask, who, for the most part, has occupied the pivot position has been the most consistent player on the team and has time and time again proven himself to be the conspicuous star of the entire combination. He has registered 123 baskets from the floor and 59 from free tries, while his opponents that have been pitted against him have succeeded in getting but 42. Both in passing and blocking his work has been of a high order all season. When the accuracy with which he shoots is considered and the alert eye he keeps at all times on the ball in play, it may be stated, without the slightest exaggeration, that he is a player who is without a peer among schoolboy stars in his respective department of playing

He has been the steadiest player all the year and has been outclassed by his opponents in only four games. In only one game, the game with Winthrop High, has he failed to place the ball through the net. He is fast and possess great endurance. His characteristic qualities have made him a performer of the first class order and should he decide to return to the local school next year, he certainly would make a leader of the unexcelled calibre. His playing has been such that memory will treasure up his name as one of the best athletes ever turned out at Quincy High school.

The team has had a most able leader in Captain Chapman, who, although he cannot vaunt himself in the prestige of other players on the team, when it comes to a question of securing baskets, has exhibited great floor work in all contests and can readily be classed among the best schoolboy players to be found. Coach Staff has at times seen fit to place him in the backfield and he has always proved himself equal to the task by accrediting himself in splendid order. Such being the case, he cannot but be considered a most efficient player. He has 35 baskets from the floor to his credit and 13 from free tries, but when we realize that his passing has been a potent asset in enabling Trask and Finlay to roll up points, we should not be sparing in our commendation for what he has done to add laurels to the athletic enterprises at Quincy High and incidentaliy reflect great credit upon the student body of the school.

And now we come to Finlay, a character whom it is difficult to depict with accuracy, owing to the fact that his playing has shown marked disparity, especially when the games preceding and following the Worcester High struggle are considered. At the start of the season he loomed forth as the star of the team and even at the close of the same, his record is such that he may feel justly proud of it. In the Worcester game, he obtained 33 baskets from the floor, a number which, according to authentic reports has been exceeded by two players this season and even at that there has been a difference of not more than two baskets.

Since that memorable occasion when Quincy High administered a most ignominious defeat to Worcester High, the score being 115 to 0 (which by the way was the worst defeat sustained by a high school team during the entire season), Finlay has been the object of attack of all opposing players and in this way has been prevented from playing in the form that typified his work early in the season. Yet he ranks next to Trask in the greatest number of baskets, having 112 from the floor and 23 from fouls.

In all games he has played well and his work, despite the careful vision which his appearance in the lineup has evoked on the part of his opponents, has been of the top notch variety and he can readily be classed among the interscholastic stars of the state. Some claim that he has been a "grand stand player," to use an expression that is greatly used in the vernacular, in a number of games, ever since his performance in the Worcester High game, but the only tactics the writer has seen him resort to that would give indication of this, has been his unnecessary climbing up the walls and grasping the baskets. In so doing he has placed himself liable to danger and oftentimes his climbing has availed him naught, but has rather proved a drawback to him in his efforts to follow the ball in play.

"Charlie" Holmes has been the mainstay of the team in blocking and passing and deserves his full share of the credit merited by the team. He has played in every game this season and in all games the total number of baskets registered by his opponents has been but 18. This is an exceptionally fine performance, when we take into account that in all games he has been pitted against the best forwards on the opposing teams and in many cases has prevented the opposing players, some of whom rank among the best schoolboy forwards, from getting even the semblance of a basket. In the shooting department he has shown adaptability at opportune moments and at all stages he has been in the limelight. His all round work was a potent factor in placing the Granite City boys to the fore.

"Pin" Johnson also has demonstrated his worth as a player to complete satisfaction and in covering his opponent his masterly strength has been noticeable at all times. Even the great Long of Salem Normal schoo' was at a disadvantage to shoot in his usual style, when Coach Staff placed Johnson against him and in view of the fact that great dependency was had upon the Quincy back, early in the season especially, when the team was rounding into shape, his work was all the more remarkable. His endurance has been a great aid throughout the season and he has been a tower of strength even at most crucial moments. In shooting baskets, he has at times contributed spectacular work. In short his worth has been greatly appreciated.

In McDonald and Baird the team has had two most efficient substitutes, players who could be called upon at any time to take the places of the regular players. McDonald showed rare form in the games in which he participated, and in all of them he was put in the lineup at short notice. He certainly will be a valuable acquisition to the team that will represent the high school next season. Baird too must be commended for his work and gives every promise of becoming one of leading interscholastic stars one year hence. The other two players, Jenkins and Hall have played but a few moments in two games but their work was such as to augur exceptionally well for what may be expected from them next year.

All the members of the Quincy High team must be complimented for the spirit of fairness which they exemplified at all times and for their general sportsmanship and equanimity. Besides playing the game of basket-ball, they realized that they were gentlemen, giving offense to no one. In this they must be commended in the highest terms, for in acting in such a manner they have brought renown and glory to the students of Quincy High, in addition to an athletic career that will stand a thorough survey for many a day to come.

The following tables give a summary of the work of the members of Quincy High team, together with the number of baskets opposing players have registered against each:— Goals from free tries are only considered among the list of points attained by local players.

Position	Bkts.	Op.Bkts.	Pts
Chapman (Capt.) lf and lb	35.	23.	85
Finlay rf	112	23	227
Trask c and lf	123	42	305
Holmes rb	9	18	26
Johnson lb and c	9	39	18
McDonald (sub) Forward	31	5	62
Baird (sub) Back	2	4	4
Hall (sub) Back	1	0	2
Jenkins (sub) Forward.	0	1	0
Totals	322	155	727

The following is a list of the games won:

At Quincy—Quincy High 48, Rockland High 11.

At Quincy—Quincy High 20, Milton High 16.

At Quincy—Quincy High 26, Winthrop High 23.

At North Easton—Quincy High 22, Oliver Ames High 19.

At Rockland—Quincy High 23, Rockland High 14.

At Quincy—Quincy High 115, Worcester High 0.

At Quincy—Quincy High 14, Reading High 9.

At Quincy—Quincy High 36, Haverhill High 20.

At Weymouth—Quincy High 22, Weymouth High 14.

At Quincy—Quincy High 79, Wellesley High 9.

At Quincy—Quincy High 39, Oliver Ames High 20.

At Quincy—Quincy High 54, Weymouth High 19.

At Winthrop—Quincy High 15, Winthrop High 14.

At Quincy—Quincy High 28, Salem Normal school 18.

At Quincy—Quincy High 39, Provincetown High 9.

At Quincy—Quincy High 20, Franklin High 5.

, GAME TIED.

At Quincy—Quincy High 16, Newton High 16.

The following games were lost:

At Franklin—Franklin High 26, Quincy High 18.

At Reading—Reading High 16, Quincy High 14.

At Salem—Salem Normal school 28, Quincy High 18.

At Newton—Newton High 28, Quincy High 27.

At Wellesley—Wellesley High 23, Quincy High 19.

At Milton—Milton High 16. Quincy High 15.

Leo P. Noonan,
Sporting editor.

NEW TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS.

The following subscribers have been added to the service of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in the Quincy Exchange from March 18, to March 25:

Faxon, Elizabeth F. Miss, Quincy 1596-W

Shepherd, George N, Quincy 1585-M

Green, Harold, Quincy 1489-M.

Cook, M. E., Quincy 1132-M

Jepson, John, Quincy 1418-W

Downey, P. F., Quincy 1417-W

(ADVERTISE.)

BIG BARGAINS

For the next 10 days a chance for you to save money. Don't miss this opportunity?

Loose Rolled Oats	3 1-2c lb
Fresh Crisp Ginger Snaps	6c lb
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
6 bars Kirkman's Soap	25c
3 pkgs Kirkman's Powder	10c
Canned Peas, Early Garden	14c
Fancy Maine Corn	7 1-2c
3 cans Evaporated Milk	25c
3 cans Condensed Milk	25c
3 bottles pure Ketchup	25c
Snyder's Ketchup, large size	18c
English Walnuts	17c
Mixed Nuts	15c
Fancy Cranberries	10c
Fancy Green String Beans	10c
Sweet Navel Oranges 2 doz. for	25c
3 pkgs Macaroni	25c
Fancy Vermont Butterine	20c

Double Stamps Every Forenoon

Quincy Market

26-2t

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 74 QUINCY MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING MARCH 27, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

HANDKERCHIEF BAZAAR OPENS

The Unique Call That Brought Them from All Quarters

THOSE IN CHARGE

The much heralded Handkerchief Bazaar of the Ladies Aid Society opened in vestry of the Wollaston Methodist church, Tuesday afternoon. Handkerchiefs there were coming from towns on the Atlantic coast to those on the Pacific, from Canada to Panama, hankerchiefs from prominent people, handkerchiefs of every kind and description from the dainty, almost spider-web square used by milady to the larger and more substantial ones used by ordinary man.

The handkerchiefs were received in response to the following lines sent broadcast over the nation:

"Once in a town not very far
Was held a "Hankerchief Bazaar"
And 'kerchiefs were there small and great
Collected from each town and state;
A scheme so popular, I've been told
That every specimen was sold.
Esteeming it an enterprise
Most excellent; we deem it wise
To have one in our township, too,
And as I send these lines to you
Kindly send a handkerchief,
Linen good for cold or grief,
Red bandanna, silk or lace,
Every one will find its place.
That all may know the place and name
From whence the contribution came
Just put your name and your address
Upon a card. For this kindness
We'll thank you many, many times,
And feel repaid for all our rhymes."

Among the interesting handkerchiefs on display was one sent from Curacao, West Indies by Elias H. Cheney, United States Consul at that place. The specimen was most dainty and was native made.

Another from Cristobal, in the Canal Zone, contained a large amount of colored embroidery. A dainty souvenir was sent by Mrs. Samuel and Williard Kay, former parishioners who are now located at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The Bazaar was remembered with a handkerchief from Governor and Mrs. Eugene Noble Foss and a check was received from Mayor Stone.

Handkerchiefs came from the Nation's capital, Vancouver, California, Texas and other interesting points. The vestry was prettily decorated with clusters of wisteria combined with streamers of green and lavender crepe paper.

Candy, ice cream, utilities and other goods were on sale in charge of the following committee:

Handkerchiefs and Jabots—Mrs. Eric H. Ewertz and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick.

Utility Table—Mrs. C. M. Given and Miss A. M. Merrill.

Ice Cream—Mrs. H. B. L. Dimmick and Mrs. Newell Lane.

Candy—Mrs. Wesley Wiggin.

In the evening an attractive program of music and readings was enjoyed, among the numbers of Miss Laura A. Walker of Brookline being "The two Dan Ransomes" and "Caleb's Courtship." The piano solos of Miss Gertrude Stewart of Chelsea were much appreciated.

Credit is due the committee for the Bazaar headed by Mrs. Eric H. Ewertz and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick and to Mrs. Wesley Wiggins who was in charge of the handkerchief campaign.

THE SATURDAY BOYS' MEETING

The last Saturday morning meeting of the year will be held next Saturday Mar 30 at 9 o'clock. The speaker will be H. W. Gibson of Boston, Boys' Work secretary of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

H. W. GIBSON
State Secretary Boys Work

Mr. Gibson is without question one of the three biggest men in Y. M. C. A. work among boys in this country. The fact that he has been chosen on the Men and Religion team which is now in Brooklyn and New York City goes to show the estimate that is placed on his ability.

Although approaching middle life, Mr. Gibson is a boy at heart, and well he might be, for during the past twenty-five years, his heart has been in this work with boys and he has won the hearts of thousands of boys throughout the country.

His subject on Saturday will be "Some Boys I have Met." This is said to be the most interesting of the numerous talks he gives to boys all over the United States.

The boys of Quincy should turn out in large numbers to meet Mr. Gibson and to hear the stories of these other boys he has met.

—Goethe thought that every person should be trained in what he called the three reverences. "The first and simplest," he said "is that of reverence for that which is above us. Then there is reverence for what is around or about us—reverence for our equals." And the third is reverence for what is beneath us. And he thought that humanity, having once gained some apprehensions of these three reverences, could never be said to truly live without them.—Universalist Leader.

TO FIGHT EVIL INFLUENCES

Ministers to Take a Hand in Enforcement of Laws

COMMITTEES

The meeting of the Quincy Ministers' Association in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday morning was the most aggressive ever held by the ministers of this city. They drew up resolutions in regard to the pony express business which the president, Rev. A. M. Thompson and the secretary, Rev. T. W. Davison of the association will present to the city council at its next meeting

It was evident that the Quincy ministers do not believe in the theory of simply sticking to the pulpit work and n ot knowing what is going on in the world. They undoubtedly will not try to interfere in any way in politics, but the sentiment was strong that as church people were solicited for several institutions and heartily supported them that the church should know that those institutions were doing the work for which they were instituted. Also that there were other institutions that affected the morals of the community and it was the minister's business to know, and speak so as to be heard when there was anything objectionable or suggestive of evil.

Secretary Bromley of Y. M. C. A., Rev. T. W. Davison, Rev. J. A. Matheson, and Rev. C. E. Rydstrom were elected to aid as a committee on theaters and moving picture shows; Rev. Wesley Wiggin, Rev. C. R. Marshall, Rev. T. Walther and Rev. J. E. Lillback to look up the police courts and pool rooms, to work for the enforcement of law and the protection of young men in the pool rooms; Rev. A. M. Thompson, Rev. Carl Horst, Rev. Paul Hallin and Rev. G. W. Palmgren to visit the hospitals and call on the other ministers in any way their assistance may be needed; Rev. T. C. Martin, Rev. R. E. Armstrong, Rev. Mr. Wilmot and Rev. Mr. Hudson on charities; Rev. T. C. Martin, Rev. C. R. Marshall, Rev. Carl Horst, Rev. T. W. Davison and Rev. Mr. Hudson on schools. This committee will help in the work of the schools and assist in any way that affects the morals of the school, and yet be careful not to interfere in any way with the religion of any.

Rev. Lawrence Greenwood who started noon meetings at Fore River ship yard addressed the meetings. He spoke on the need of the minister going where the men are, and what the results had been from noon meetings held in the shops.

Mr. Greenwood said he was not an alarmist, but the signs of the times seemed to indicate that we are close to an industrial volcano, and it behooved the Christian church to show that it had a religion that was free from graft. Mr. Greenwood showed that he was a man with keen insight into the needs of workingmen, and suggested his confidence in the final outcome of the industrial and religious problems of the day.

RECEIVES CALL TO WHITMAN

Rev. William W. Dornan of Plymouth has received a call to become the pastor of the First Congregational church at Whitman. The call was extended at a special meeting of the parish and was unanimous. Rev. Mr. Dornan is well known in Quincy where he was at one time pastor of the United Presbyterian church on Pleasant street. He left this church some years ago to accept the pastorate of the church at Plymouth, where he has met with unusual success. While in Quincy he married Miss Addie W. Miller.

—The suffragists walked into Albany with a smile and asked for a vote. There is absolutely no doubt but what they would get it quicker with that as a weapon than as though they carried hammers and bricks. The New York women might not make such bad politicians after all.—Brockton Enterprise.

READING OF "THE MAN FROM HOME"

Popular Play Read at Ladies' Night of Wollaston Club

THREE PARTS AND PROLOGUE

At the annual ladies' night of the Wollaston Congregational club, Tuesday evening, Edward H. Frye of Boston gave hs celebrated reading of "The Man from Home."

The recital of this popular play was a marvel of power, portraiture and interpretation, being delivered in three parts and a prologue.

The scene of the prologue is laid in the office of Daniel Vorhees Pike in Kokomo, Indiana. A number of years ago Pike had at the request of his close friend Simpson, just before the latter's death, promised to assume charge of his fortune and the guardianship of his two children at his demise.

The children grew up in England and are now in Italy. Pike has just received a letter from Ethel Simpson, the daughter, stating that she desires to marry a scion of English nobility and asks his consent. Pike decides to go abroad and investigate.

Part One shows the marble terrace of the Hotel Regina Margherita, at Sorrento, Italy. Marianno, the waiter, is in attendance and at different times are seen at breakfast, the Earl of Hawcastle, Lady Creech, his sister, Hon. Almaric St. Aubyn his son, the Countess D'Champigney, a close frend of the Earl's and Horace and Miss Ethel Granger Simpson. The Simpsons have assumed the hyphenated name to better mingle with the English aristocracy.

The breakfast table dialogue displays the fortunes of the house of Hawcastle in a rather depleted state and shows the need of a moneyed alliance to retrieve them.

Pike arrives in company with two donkeys pulling an automobile. He had met a German, Herr Von Groelerhagen and was proceeding with him in the latter's auto when it broke down. Pike, nothing dismayed proceeds to make the best of it, much to the dismay and chagrin of the Granger-Simpsons.

Pike mets the family of Ethel's intended, but in his native simplicity cannot see the necessity of a large cash settlement.

Part Two, opens in the garden of the hotel the next morning with Pike repairing the auto. An escaped Russian exile is being pursued by the Italian police. In pity Pike conceals him as his chauffeur under the auto and later Herr Von Groclerhagen secrets him in his apartments.

(Continued on Page Two.)

Quincy Choral Society

Music Festival

Tuesday, April 9, 1912
at Music Hall

Orchestral Concert at 3 o'clock

BOSTON FESTIVAL ORCHESTRA
Mr. John W. Crowley, Principal

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS
Miss Emma A. Perkins, Director

Evening Concert at 8 o'clock

GOUNOD'S FAUST

Mr. Osbourne McConathy, Conductor

SOLOISTS

Miss Estelle Patterson	Margarita
Miss Viola Van Orden	Siebel
Mr. G. E. Rasely	Faust
Mr. Willard Flint	Mephistopheles
Mr. Loyal Phillips Shawe	Valentine

Chorus 100 Voices
Boston Festival Orchestra

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.
15 rows reserved at 35 cents. Admission 25 cents.

FAUST CONCERT.
All seats reserved at $1.00, 75 cents and 50 cents.. Tickets on sale at C. C. Hearn's.

25-27-30-1-3-6

REDUCTION IN PRICE
OF
ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,
By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

QUINCY CHORAL SOCIETY.

Rehearsals of the Faust music are proving of great interest and the intention of conductor McConathy to have the chorusses sung almost entirely from memory is adding a finish and spontaneity to the work impossible to attain where the singers are tied to their notes. All signs point to a notable presentation of this great opera. The soloists are singers of fine reputation and recommended by such musicians as Emil Mollenhauer. George W. Stewart and Stephen Townsend, and by the best teachers of Boston. For the afternoon concert the chorus of High School scholars are preparing special music under their director Miss Emma A. Perkins, and the orchestral program will include the briliant Ballet Direstisement from "Henry VIII," by Saint-Saens, one of the most attractive compositions in the repetoire of the Boston Festival Orchestra. It is in four parts, a Gathering of the Clans, b Scotch Idyl, c Gipsy Dance, d Jig and Finale. The score to be used for this number and also for the opera of Faust are special arrangements by Arthur S. Wonson and were first used at a brilliant music festival in Gloucester, a few years ago. They are among the most notable pieces of work left us by this gifted musician, and for this reason will be heard with added interest. It is hoped by those who are planning the Festival that the business men of our city, and all those interested in its growth in all branches of work may be especially mindful of the afternoon concert which will be but little more than an hour in length and that many will plan to give this short respite from duty to the enjoyment of one of the best of all arts—Music.

LENTEN SERVICES.

There was a large attendance at the Lenten devotions held last evening in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Atlantic. The services consisted of the rosary, sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The sermon for the occasion, an eloquent discourse on "The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass," was preached by Rev. Charles J. McCormick C. SS. R., of the missionary band of the Redemptorist Fathers stationed at the Mission Church, Roxbury. Fr. McCormick is a forceful speaker and ranks among the best pulpit orators in the country. Benediction was celebrated by the assistant pastor, Rev. James F. McNiff.

This evening similiar services will be held in St. John's and St. Mary's churches. The speaker at the former will be Rev. Charles A. Cunningham of Dorchester, one of the best known priests of the archdiocese and a writer of much prominence. The speaker at the West Quincy Church will be Rev. Michael J. Cuddihy, also of Dorchester and a preacher of much note. Rev. Patrick J. Scannell, the popular assistant pastor of St. John's church will speak at the Lenten services of St. Francis' church, Braintree.

FRATERNAL VISITATION

Fifty Sir Knights of Quincy Commandery headed by Em. Commander, Henry P. Furnald, Generalissimo Walter E. Piper, Captain General John Morgan, and Em. Sir Albert W. Fay, G. L. made a fraternal visit Tuesday evening to Cambridge Commandery at Cambridge the home Commandery of Rt. Em. Lafayette G. Blair, Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhoda Island, who is also an honorary member of Quincy Commandery.

The trip was made in a special electric car, which left Quincy at 6.34 and which ran through to the Asiyum without change. The visitors arrived at the Temple at 7.45 and at 8 o'clock were received with due honors, by the officers and members of Cambridge Commandery. The guests then witnessed the conferring of the Red Cross degree, the work being very impressively rendered.

At the conclusion of the work of the evening there was a brief address by Grand Commander Blair, in which he complimented Quincy Commandery on its fine appearance and also said that he was proud to be a member of the baby commandery of the jurisdiction. An adjournment was then made to the banquet hall where refreshments were served after which the party were entertained by a grand opera singer and with a stereopticon exhibition.

The car for home was taken at 11 o'clock and at midnight City Square was reached. The evening was one of rare enjoyment and the Sir Knights of Quincy Commandery hope to have an opportunity to reciprocate in the near future.

The preliminaries of discovering the Pole having been accomplished, the explorers may now devote themselves to the serious work—writing for the magazines.

☞Morning, noon and night, plain or toasted, PRATT'S BREAD is delicious.

By CHARLES H. JOHNSON, - Auctioneer
Office, Room 3, Adams Building, Quincy.

Household Furniture and Piano
AT PUBLIC AUCTION

From Residence of JOHN W. NASH, 102 Revere Road, near Washington St.,

ON

Friday, March 29, 1912
At 2 P. M.

Piano---McPhail Square Piano in good order. Antique Mahogany Table, Chairs, Crockery, Desk, Bed, Flower Pots, and a variety of goods. Lot of China.

Sale Positive. Terms Cash.

March 25-2t-25-27

$5500 Marked down from $7000. Offered for 2 weeks only

10 Room House in perfect condition. 9600 feet of land. Gurney Hot Water Heater installed this winter. Quartered Oak Floors throughout, even in the closets. Electric Lights. Gas. Laundry.

RICKER — REAL ESTATE INSURANCE

Words inadequately describe this splendid place.

Sale must be made within 2 weeks or not at all.

Owner will make very liberal terms.

1416 Hancock Street Quincy

March 27-2t

"Talk about a square meal"

What's better for breakfast than a hot, steaming dish of buck-wheat cakes with plenty of syrup. Our

Rock Candy Drip and Maple Syrup 25c

is absolutely pure and not as costly as the pure sap syrup

Hecker's Buckwheat 15c

Is the best Buckwheat on the market. Buckwheat to be good must be fresh—and if you buy it here, it always will be fresh—never any old stock on hand.

R. E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

March 27-2t

BIG BARGAINS

For the next 10 days a chance for you to save money. Don't miss this opportunity?

Loose Rolled Oats	3 1-2c lb
Fresh Crisp Ginger Snaps	6c lb
7 bars Lenox Soap	25c
6 bars Kirkman's Soap	25c
3 pkgs Kirkman's Powder	10c
Canned Peas, Early Garden	14c
Fancy Maine Corn	7 1-2c
3 cans Evaporated Milk	25c
3 cans Condensed Milk	25c
3 bottles pure Ketchup	25c
Snyder's Ketchup, large size	18c
English Walnuts	17c
Mixed Nuts	15c
Fancy Cranberries	10c
Fancy Green String Beans	10c
Sweet Navel Oranges	2 doz. for 25c
3 pkgs Macaroni	25c
Fancy Vermont Butterine	20c

Double Stamps Every Forenoon

Quincy Market

26-2t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21o East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

If you don't want your dog kicked around keep him in your own back yard.

While we favor giving young America some rope on April 1, yet sending bombs to the judges is carrying this thing too far.

Fear is expressed lest the conventions be stampeded, but none of the politicians will go more than a halter length from the crib.

The Carnegie foundation says there is a surplus of lawyers, but the Legislatures are doing their best to make laws enought to keep them busy.

They have been busy at Washington manufacturing political capital, but it's quite another thing to get out on the road and sell it to the voters.

Secretary Knox says he has accomplished the purpose of his trip. If he gets back with his skin, we shall consider the results quite important and surprising.

The platform broke down under the Colonel at Portland, but unfortunately the floor seems quite firm under those long winded speakers in Congress.

Any defeated candidate for delegate to the national conventions should contest the seat if he has proof that the caucus officers split their infinitives.

Some imprudent citizens stay at home these Saturday afternoons to clean up the back yard, but it is more diplomatic to lie low and see if your wife won't do it.

The pictures of the Hillsville bandits show that they wear no neckties, but if they lived in some communities this article of apparel would be quickly provided for them.

The NewYork Sun says the Maine was blown up by Cuban rebels, and it all goes to show that you can't look over the fence to watch your neighbor lick his boys unless you want to take a hand yourself.

DR. WILEY AND THE DRUG MAKERS

Representatives of the drug makers got quite huffy the other day when Dr. Harvey Wiley called them "dopers," in a hearing before the Pure Food Board. Although Dr. Wiley finally withdrew the term, he denied the claim that small quantities of opium, morphine, and cocaine are harmless.

Dr. Wiley may have done these particular men injustice, and their preparations may be unobjectionable. But the fact remains that many sellers of harmful drugs are carrying on a persistent campaign to enlarge the number of drug takers, and the public should be warned.

Free samples of medicine are to be regarded with suspicion, unless they come from dealers known to be reliable; for this method is sometimes use as a means of creating the drug habit.

The American people are bargain hunters, and have a keen love for getting something for nothing. If a free package of drugs is thrown on the piazza, they hate to see it go to waste, just as they hate to see a loaf of bread spoil before it is eaten.

And if, having consumed such a free sample, they feel relief from physical ills and at peace with the whole world, they do not realize that the terrible power of a harmful drug may have entered their life, threatening to reign king over their souls.

As illustrating the grip of dangerous drugs, of how the victim lives in an unreal world, below feelings of shame, unaffected by the standards that govern other people, a physician of the Roosevelt hospital in New York tells this story.

A woman once got a telegram from her husband who was an opium fiend. The telegram was from a distant city, and purported to be from an undertaker. It stated that her husband had died, and that his body was in his possession, and demanded money to pay the expenses of the embalming, and for sending the body home. The money was sent, and the supposedly dead man spent it for more opium.

The small dose is the advance agent with which the harmful drug maker begins his campaign for a human soul. Whether or not reputable makers should be permitted to use such doses we do not claim to know, but it is certain that their use needs to be under the strictest regulation and publicity.

FIGHT AGAINST THE GYPSY MOTH

In his report, just issued, State Forester, J. William Rane pays particular attention to the fight being carried on in Quincy and nearby towns tending toward the elimination of the gypsy and brown-tailed moths and the preservation of shade trees. Mr. Rane says: "The gypsy moth infestation throughout the residential section of Quincy is general and quite severe. In nearly all the woodland the infestation is serious. Work has been carried on here for the past few years, but has not been prosecuted as it should have been. The necessary funds have not been forthcoming." Mr. Rane also reprimands mildly the authorities having this work in charge in Quincy. He says:

"The city officials have not taken the proper interest in the work, and never has a large amount of money been made available in any one year to carry on the work to the extent that it should have been, so today there are several sections which are in very bad condition and larger sums of money should be made available for the moth work." He adds however, that supervision in Quincy for the past season, as far as funds allowed was of much better quality than ever before. Mr. Rane reports the infestation of the moths in Milton to be taken care of very well in the residential and business sections but that the woodland is seriously affected and much work required thereon.

The conditions in Braintree regarding this important work, Mr. Rane declares to be the best for many years, and compliments the local authorities of that town on their very efficient work. He also speaks in highest praise of the Weymouth officials and says that the work in that town is carried on to perfection, and with great interest to the towns-people.

Quincy is listed among the cities of the second class, and by law is required to spend $5000 during this year (1912) in fighting the inroads of the moths. All money expended by the city in excess of $5000 will be reimbursed to the city by the State. Under the same law Milton must spend $5000, Braintree $2607.95 and Weymouth $3461.62.

WHAT CHURCH WOMEN DID.

One hundred and fifty people in Chicago were recently served a dinner for 15 cents each, and the church women who planned it made a profit of five and one-third cents on each plate. It was a good dinner, too, with soup, roast lamb, browned potatoes and vegetables, biscuits, baked apples and coffee.

The incident serves to illustrate the fact that there might be less reason for the housewife to complain about the high cost of living if more attention were paid to the buying and preparing of food. It's sometimes the cost of high living that makes the bills go upward, rather than the high cost of living. Show and display, and most of all waste, represent too large a share in the bills of the average household.

Of course there were no fixed charges connected with this Chicago meal, like rent, service, etc., but nevertheless it points the moral that the housekeeper may do wonders through shrewd and careful buying and serving of the daily food.—Brockton Enterprise.

MRS. CRAWFORD HARVEY.

Word has been received of the death at El Paso, Tex. of Mrs. Crawford Harvey, formerly of Atlantic. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey made many warm friends while residing in Atlantic and their departure for El Paso, five years ago was a source of much regret. Mrs. Harvey was a woman of an exceptionable lovable nature and her death is mourned by all. She leaves a husband and four young children.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

LADIES' NIGHT

(Continued from Page One.)

The Earl of Hawcastle observes the scene from a window and threatens to subject Pike to disclosure and imprisonment unless he agrees on the dowry. Pike with his Yankee directness refuses.

At 9 o'clock that evening, Part Three opens in the drawing room of Herr Von Groelerhagen. The House of Hawcastle with its retinue comes for its answer.

Pike has in the meantime learned from the outlaw Ivanovitch that the Earl under an assumed name robbed the Russian government blaming it on to Ivanovitch, at the same time stealing his wife who, it turns out to be, is the Countess D'Champigney.

Pike with true American sagacity arranges the denouncement bringing forth the outlaw Ivanovitch with his charges in answer to the Earl of Hawcastle's demands.

The Earl persists and starts to call for the police. Herr Von Groelerhagen steps forth at this point and, to the surprise of everyone discloses himself as the Russian Grand Duke Vasili, saying that he has secured a pardon for Ivanovitch.

The frayed nobility are outwitted and collapse and Ethel and also Horace who looked forward to an alliance with Countess D'Champigney realize the error of their ways and thank Pike for their deliverance.

It develops that Ethel holds more than a little interest for Pike and the scene closes as she softly steps to the piano and touches the notes of the old familiar "Sweet Genevieve," Pike's favorite, a request she had snobbishly refused at his arrival.

Mr. Frye's vivid impersonations of the varied characters could readily be appreciated by all, but only to those who had seen the play could his versatility and true delineation of the characters be fully realized

In addition to "The Man from Home" Mr. Frye contributed an amateur yachtsman's response to the toast "The old Salt," in which notes had to be referred to many times and a pantomimic sketch of a political convention.

A most pleasant feature of the evening was the appearance of Millard Bowdoin, bass soloist for the Henry H. Rogers Memorial church of Fairhaven.

His numbers were finely sung and included "Old Plaid Shawl," Bartlett's "Dream," Nebinger's "Night" and the "Nottingham Hunt," by Bullard. He was accompanied by Charles U. Tirrell of Wollaston.

President Locke acted as master of ceremonies and at the business meeting Herbert W. Marshall and Charles P. Hutchins were appointed as an auditing committee and C. A. Randall, L. B. Besse and Charles L. Seavey as a nominating committee.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the following ladies: Mrs. R. B. Locke, Mrs. F. L. Eastman, Mrs. D. H. Goodspeed, Mrs. Harrison Loud, Mrs. Edwin E. Smith, Mrs. A. W. Fish and Mrs. I. F. Mandell.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

Many inquiries have been made to learn if a civil service examination was to be held in Quincy in April for the position of water meter reader and inspector of meters. Word has been received from the Civil Service Commissioners at the State House that no examination for these positions will be held in Quincy at the present time.

TRADE SCHOOL.

The Trade School of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association, Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass. hold their closing exercises this evening. Those who are interested in vocational work and trade schools will have an opportunity to witness the work of the boys, as the School will be open and the work on exhibition from 7.00 to 9.00 P. M. Mr. William A. Bradford, who has been connected with this School as head of the Plumbing Department for the past twelve years, and Mr. Frank W. Hibbett, who is also an instructor in the same department, would be pleased to meet any of their friends, or anyone interested in this work, at the School at this time.

Report of Orozco's Defeat

Mexico City, March 27.—According to late advices from official sources, the government has inflicted a crushing deteat to Orozco at Jiminez. This news came on the heels of a dispatch telling of the suicide of the federal commander-general, Gonzales Salas, who fired a bullet into his brain while leading a portion of his army in retreat toward Torreon.

Pope Suspends Audiences

Rome, March 27.—Pope Pius has suspended the general audiences for a few days owing to a slight cold. The Vatican doctors hope to be able to allow the pontiff to continue his private audiences soon.

ROYAL
Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes delicious home-baked foods of maximum quality at minimum cost. Makes home baking a pleasure

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

No Alum — No Lime Phosphates

PATROL LEADERS OF BOY SCOUTS

At the meeting of the Wollaston branch of the Boy Scouts held in the vestry of the Wollaston Congregational church, Monday evening the troop was divided into four patrols with the following patrol leaders and corporals:

Sidney Bedwell, leader; Theodore Higgins, corporal.

Allen Stearns, leader; Maynard Hatch, corporal.

Gilbert Hamlin, leader; Henry Barnes, corporal.

Thomas Barstow, leader; Percy Ela, corporal.

The meeting Monday night was in charge of George W. Brown one of the scout masters. Various stunts were learned and a new yell adopted.

Grand preparations are being made for Easter Monday evening when there will be a visitation of Field Secretary Loomis and the Wollaston Council.

A supper will be served on this occasion and the tenderfoots who have passed the second examinations will be awarded diplomas.

The Wollaston chapter since its organization has been an active one and is a credit to the Boy Scout movement.

Dress in Comfort These Chilly Mornings

You can have an open well ventilated room for sleeping, and dress in it in perfect comfort if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

Let the furnace fire go out as soon as you like now---no use keeping it going just because the weather may be chilly now and then.

The REZNOR will take care of you in any emergency and will save you money because, with it, you consume fuel only while you need heat.

It creates no odor---It creates no smoke.

We have them in every size and style from

$2.50 up

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT COMPANY
11 Granite Street

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

27—Ladies' Aid Play—First Presbyterian Church.
27—Meeting—Fragment Society.
27—Mothers Meet.—Wol. M. E. Vestry
27—Lecture—Peter MacQueen—Wol. Congregational Church.
28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—DancingParty—Colonial Hall.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
16—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Quincy School.
17—Whist—Maple lodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

$5.00 Per Year for Absolute Security

Safety Deposit Boxes no bigger or better protected cost $10 or more in Boston. It would be hard to find a person here in Quincy who hasn't something that it is well worth 10 cents a week to protect from fire, theft, or loss through carelessness. How about YOU?

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

"GOOD TASTE" IN HOME FURNISHINGS

Two things determine the artistic value of Furniture in the home: Its utility and its beauty.

Good taste lies first, in the "fitness" of each selection for a given purpose; second, in the beauty of the individual pieces; third, in their harmonious relation as a part of the decorative scheme of the room.

We desire not merely to establish your confidence in Kincaide quality, but to assist you in selecting that which is best suited to the peculiar requirements of your home.

New Spring Goods are in—won't You come in and see them?

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., QUINCY
Good Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind."

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy, Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & Co.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

WHAT THEY ARE DOING AND SEASONS' PLANS

A speaker before the woman's club at Worcester recently told the women "Not to Stoop:" in other words to avoid bending the back as much as possible while about the household tasks. This is a suggestion in the line of "scientific efficiency," as applied to household tasks. We assume that when the efficiency system is well in vogue, woman will then hie herself to the gymnasium to go through a series of exercises and practice in stooping and bending her back. The "efficiency" proposition, like some other things, physical culture, and so on, will work properly if it is "scientific." But all may not be scientific that is so called. But if this anti-stooping propaganda is to come, what about the "conservation" of the corset industry?

* * *

Whitman voters' says the Rockland Standard, are to be congratulated upon having chosen a woman to look after the deserving poor of the town. She should be able to lend service that a man might not be in a position to do.

* * *

Wollaston Ladies' Aid Alliance holds its annual meeting next Wednesday afternoon in the vestry of the Unitarian church.

* * *

The Katharyn Crane Memorial club is to have its annual sale on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emery L. Crane, Whitney road. This little club of girls does much good work in helping various worthy objects and holds a sale each year to raise funds. The next regular meeting of the club will be on April 3d with Miss Carrie Crane.

* * *

Wollaston Auxiliary Woman's Board of Missions meets next Tuesday afternoon. The subject of papers are: "Christ, Only Light of the World" by Mrs. J. F. Marshall, and "Spain and Mexico" by Mrs. E. R. Johnson.

The Day Nursery Association meets Tuesday afternoon, April 2, at the Women's clubhouse, at the usual hour.

* * *

Junior Friday club had an unusually pleasant meeting this week, Monday, the hostess for the afternoon, Miss Grace M. Isaac of West Newton, entertaining at luncheon at her home previous to the meeting. In the absence of Mrs. Arthur W. Hall, the program was in charge of Miss Edith Randall; subject: Henry Fielding.

* * *

Mrs. Sherman's class in parliamentary law meets at half-past ten on Tuesday morning at the clubhouse, Presidents hill. The class is interesting a great many women and is likely to prove most helpful in future club work.

* * *

Adams Chapter, D. R. holds its April meeting on Monday afternoon, April first at half past two at its headquarters at the birthplace of President John Adams. Council meets at two.

* * *

Friday club has a special meeting this week, all the members going in to the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston for a meeting to supplement the winter's study of Ancient Greece.

* * *

The Hospital Aid Association meets tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. George H. Wilson of 47 Revere road.

* * *

Mrs. E. Granville Pratt, Mrs. George T. Magee and Mrs. Osborne Rogers are to be hostesses for the April meeting of Adams Chapter, D. R. on Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams. William Appleton of Boston will speak on "Old Houses of Boston" and Mrs. L. H. Sturtevant will sing.

Anty Drudge's Advice to Mr. Newlywed.

Mr. Newlywed—"Yes, we've got a fine little dove cote. But it's one of those swell apartment houses and they don't allow any washing done. Won't stand for the smell and muss."

Anty Drudge—"Poor boy, you must be nearly bankrupt with big laundry bills. But, get your wife some Fels-Naptha soap and she can fool the janitor. Won't need boiling water. Just use it cool or lukewarm. Rub the clothes lightly and they'll be like snow."

"If I only had some place to boil them I'd wash lots of my light clothes myself—the laundry wears them out so fast," said a young woman who lives in two rooms.

Then she heard about Fels-Naptha.

Now she is washing those things herself, without hot water, and doing it far better than if she boiled them.

She has found out that Fels-Naptha cleanses things more thoroughly in cool or lukewarm water, in little time, than if they were boiled till Doomsday.

If you live in a room, apartments or occupy a whole house, take a chapter out of this young woman's experience.

Boiling is unnecessary when you use Fels-Naptha, either in winter or summer.

All that's needed is cool or lukewarm water, and even a bowl or basin will do for a few things.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

QUINCY ALLIANCE.

The Quincy Alliance held its regular meeting, Monday afternoon in First church parlor, Mrs. George G. Saville, president in the chair. After the devotional exercises, the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, corresponding secretary, read letters of invitation from the Braintree, Medford, Second church of Boston and other Alliances, to be present at their all-day meetings.

Mrs. William B. Nichols read cards of thanks for cheerful letters and pamphlets, sent to shut-ins. Mrs. Caroline A. Spear reported on the fair held in Trinity church in aid of the Calhoun colored school in the South, $2,000 being netted.

Mrs. John Christianson read some very interesting accounts of what Unitarian churches stand for in the community, and the work they are accomplishing.

Mrs. Nichols gave a very enthusiastic description of the work of the Winchester Alliance, which she recently visited. She spoke of the very cordial reception she received and the large number of Alliance members. Mrs. Nichols suggested that two coffee urns be purchased: she thought that some way could be devised of earning them through the summer. Mrs. John W. Sanborn and Mrs. Nichols were made a committee to attend to the matter, choosing two from the Alliance and two from the Fragment society to assist them.

Mrs. Edward B. Marsh thought a program committee would be advisable and it was decided to have the four past presidents and the present president, ex-officio, serve in that capacity.

Rev. A. L. Hudson, pastor, was present and spoke a few words of appreciation of the work of the Alliance. "It is bound to achieve excellent results," he said.

Mrs. Saville introduced the speaker Mrs. Clara Guild, Dean of the Tuckerman school, Boston.

Mrs. Guild said in part: "I wish to tell you this afternoon in an informal way what the school is doing. The Tuckerman school is in Channing hall, Boston, and its aim is to train the young for social service work or pastors' assistants.

"Monday, being minister's day, school week begins on Tuesday; Sunday morning one of the advanced pupils conducts the service of worship.

"The course is two years, but if a student desires to progress in broader work and acquire greater strength and knowledge in the service of advancement for the benefit of humanity the term can be increased to three or four years.

"Miss Harriet Johnson gives lectures on the life of Jesus Christ, with a resume of His teachings. These lectures are full of interest and vivid incidents pertaining to the various ministries of Christ and His work between humanity and God. Miss Johnson makes them very instructive and the students are very appreciative.

"Then we have voice culture, two hours a day is given to this course. We do not aim to teach elocution, but we desire to train the voice so that the pupil may be able to express a thought in a well modulated and flexible tone, which is very essential and a valuable attribute.

"Dr. Batchelder gives talks on old churches which are extremely interesting. From the days of the Pilgrim, to a later period, the devotion of our ancestors, their strength and courage, in season and out of season, is worthy of emulation. How much we have to be thankful and grateful for, in the inspiration and dignity of service handed down to us. Although the trend of the modern age is for liberal thought, the consciousness of a deeper spiritual life still exists in our minds and hearts.

"Then we have discussions on the theatre. On this subject as others the modern thought is broadening out. To many the theatre is a great educator, we may learn much from the play that will teach us wisdom, and we may acquire knowledge from life portrayed upon the stage which perhaps may be of the greatest benefit. There are laws forbidding children to go upon the stage, but some argue the money they earn helps to support some relative and certainly they are better off there than on the streets. They are better clothed, and better fed and while on the stage they are under restraint.

"Some come in to talk to us of Sunday recreation. The laws are more lenient than formerly but while one who rides in an automobile Sunday may draw the line at skating or playing ball; others see no harm in enjoying those games. Play grounds for children, open on Sunday, with a proper supervisor, with music and concerts are much better for children than to be on the streets.

"Then we discuss Paul, the courageous, invincible, indomitable character with his many sided nature. Who after persecuting the Christians, meets Jesus, and converses with him, becomes converted and preaches boldly. He does missionary work among the Gentiles, preaches powerfully to the Jews and repeats his sermon to the Gentiles with powerful success. His eloquence has seldom been equaled, when being seized by the mob he is rescued by a Roman officer. His work was marvellous. These talks are very helpful and inspiring to the class.

"In turn we talk up parish problems; they confront every pastor and assistant, and must be met with a spirit of love, helpful, kind and patient. Sunday school lessons are studied on Saturday, we take the Bible and study faithfully, selecting passages which may be helpful to each one. The students are all Sunday school teachers. We collect stories from papers, magazines suitable for little children, we allow eight minutes to each member of the class to read the story and if not suitable it is destroyed.

"You may well ask, what is the need of this? Religion has not changed but the expression of religion has changed. These students are taught to be social service workers, pastors' assistants and superintendents of Sunday schools; to look after the sick, the poor and needy. The message and example are back of us. The Tuckerman school is turning out zealous indefatigable workers, loyal interested and willing to the extent of their time. They are of inestimable value in any community. In other words a certain amount of work has got to be attended to in a certain time, it must be the special business of somebody to do it, and it cannot be expected that the minister can do it all, and it is all for one object. To spread and strengthen our liberal thought through increasing the knowledge of what the thought is, in teachers of children, and in young people themselves and of continually increasing the expression of the thought through the service which each church may render to themselves, to the denomination and to the community where it happens to be. New York and the West have taken up the work of pastor's assistant very happily. A student goes out from the Tuckerman school with the sole purpose of being helpful, a friendly visitor, not to manage their affairs, but in a quiet unostentatious manner to assist in the plans of the people, and remember that religion is the specific central thought, and should be lived not one day in the week but seven."

A rising vote of thanks wasextended to Mrs. Guild for her very interesting address, and during the social, informal hour, every one had an opportunity to greet her.

Mrs. John W. Sanborn and Mrs. Wilson Marsh were the hostesses and Mrs. Walter E. Piper and Miss Flora Collamore the pourers. Cocoa, cake, fancy crackers, delicious candy and other dainty confections were served.

You can still make two big, satisfying pies from one 10-cent package of

NONE SUCH MINCEMEAT

"LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE"

MERRELL-SOULE CO.
SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

Pots of tulips and bunches of jonquils gave a festive and springlike air to the clubhouse Tuesday afternoon for the annual reciprocity meeting of the Quincy Women's club. There was a large attendance every available space being utilized to accommodate guests and club members. Jonquils were presented to each guest of the club.

The usual short business session was held at half past two Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president presiding. Reports were given by the secretary and chairmen of committees.

Mrs. Alfred W. Jelinek for the Arts and Crafts announced an exhibit of basketry on Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. S. Tenney, also that the class in dressmaking was about ending. There are to be four more lessons and a second class can be formed if desired. Every one was invited to attend the exhibit at the close of the meeting in the Arts and Crafts room.

Mrs. Oscar A. Blaisdell for the Civic committee announced the program for the next meeting on April 9 which would be a formal debate on "Quincy —Dead or Alive." Speakers, on the platform, for the affirmative Mrs. Adelaide A. Claflin of Cambridge, a former resident and Mrs. Horace M. Willard; on the floor, Mrs. Walter S. Pinkham, Mrs. Charles Sampson and Miss Edith Randall. Opposed on the platform Mrs. Zenas S. Arnold, Mrs. Wilson Marsh; on the floor Mrs. Albert M. Parker, Mrs. Frederick H. Bishop and Miss M. L. Gavin. The judges will be Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney and Mrs. W. E. Alden. At the close of the debate $25 will be voted by the club toward the best civic improvement suggested by the debate, which promises to add interest to the program.

Miss Harriet E. Turner announced an exhibit at the Wollaston Unitarian vestry on Thursday afternoon of the original handwork of Wollaston people.

Mrs. Edward B. Marsh for the Program Committee announced the children's day program for April 13 at 2.30 P. M. at the clubhouse. Children of members and waiting list under sixteen years would be entertained and guests could be brought by paying 25 cents. There would be a doll reception for the younger children and all were asked to bring their dolls.

The treasurer Mrs. Herbert W. Pinkham announced that the member ship tickets for 1912-1913 were ready and she was receiving club dues.

Mrs. Sheppard read various announcements, among them a sale by the Katharyn Crane Memorial club on Saturday afternoon; the presentation of the play "Ingomar, the Barbarian" by the Whitman Woman's club on April 10 and meetings by the Public Health department by the State Federation at Woburn on March 29 and Brockton April 4.

This concluded the business of the afternoon and Mrs. Sheppard extended most graciously the greetings of the club to the visiting guests. She said the word "reciprocity means much in club life today and reciprocity afternoon was looked forward to as one of the happiest of the year. Many members recall so plesantly other reciprocity days of the club and past presidents, especially Mrs. George W. Morton who arranged so pleasant a program for the visiting club women; of her faithful work, kindness and courage at all times. The club regrets also not to have Dr. Jeffrey R. Brackett and Miss Elizabeth Johnson present today as they contributed so much to the club's growth and prosperity in the past."

In opening the program Mrs. Sheppard said "We are fortunate in having the Mazah trio to open our program this afternoon. This trio is growing in popularity and is widely known and appreciated by music loving people." The trio is made up of Roscoe R. Ricker, violin; Miss Marion L. Moorhouse, cello and Miss Grace M. Farrington, piano.

The trio was very happy in its selections giving much pleasure in its musical and artistic interpretation, the three instruments being in perfect accord, meriting the cordial encores. It was regretted that the length of program would not permit of more selections by the trio, only one response being given.

In introducing Mrs. Emmons Crocker, first vice president of the State Federation, Mrs. Sheppard said "We know that by nature some have a larger endowment of enthusiasm than others. The president of the State Federation in a recent address urged women to cultivate enthusiasm. Those who have been permitted to attend the splendid meetings and conferences of the State Federation the past few years know that the speaker who is to address you has this gracious gift of enthusiasm."

Mrs. Crocker who is also chairman of the Conservation committee of the General Federation did not speak up-

(Continued on Page Six.)

THE LADY'S SHOP

Number Four Maple Street,

JOHNSON BUILDING. - - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial

Opening Display

... of ....

1912 MILLINERY

and

EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25

and continuing

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob. 23-1w L-23tf

LLOYD'S

EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Kryptok Bifocals will keep their young, new, stylish appearance permanently, and will never fall into the shabby untidiness that all cemented bifocals do in a short time.

5 STORES, USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

WOMEN AS TRUANT OFFICERS.

The committee on Education has reported favorably a bill (House No. 1146) making it possible for a School Committee to appoint either a man or a woman as truant officer. If enacted, this legislation will strengthen the departments of compulsory education throughout the State, as in other states and cities where women have shared with men these responsibilites.

This is a "children's" not a "women's" measure. Its purpose is to bring teacher and pupil, home and school, into closer and more friendly relations, not for the benefit of the women truant officers, but for the welfare of the children of the community. It aims to supplement, strengthen and soften the work of men as truant officers, not to supplant it.

The demand for legislation of this character is an interesting index to the changing ideal of the function and importance of the compulsory education department of our public school system. Non-attendance is no longer being conceived of as a mere act of delinquency on the part of an individual to be superficially and summarily dealt with, but a complex problem in which may be involved poverty and ignorance, indifference, misunderstanding and neglect on the part of the home. The children of school age are almost uniformly under the care and control of the mother; the home is the crux of the situation. The qualifications necssary for the successful truant officer have become, by the very nature of this new conception, not merely natural tact, insight and sympathy in getting at underlying facts, but constructive imagination, training and knowledge of social resources. "Friendship not force" has become the motto of the modern truant officer. Thus women are being recognized as necssary factors in the solution of the problems of non-attendance, not only because of natural ability but because this form of social service has succeeded in attracting for a life work women of higher education.

The value of women's services in this capacity is not a theory or experiment but an actual condition. The school authorities of New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Indianapolis and Chicago appoint women as truant officers; Chicago has done so for twenty years. Indianapolis for more than ten.

"I have come to believe that the best attendance work, aside from emergency cases and those requiring pressure. is done by women who have had proper practical and theoretical training . . . Women are best fitted for work with the mothers," states the Director of the Indianapolis Truancy Department.

" In tact, fidelity to duty, deportment and courage, together with a naturally sympathetic interest in the welfare of children, women truant officers cannot be excelled . . . .They have never failed to meet any emergency that has confronted them in their official duty," testifies the Superintendent of the Compulsory Education Department of Chicago—a statement endorsed by its Superintendent of Schools.

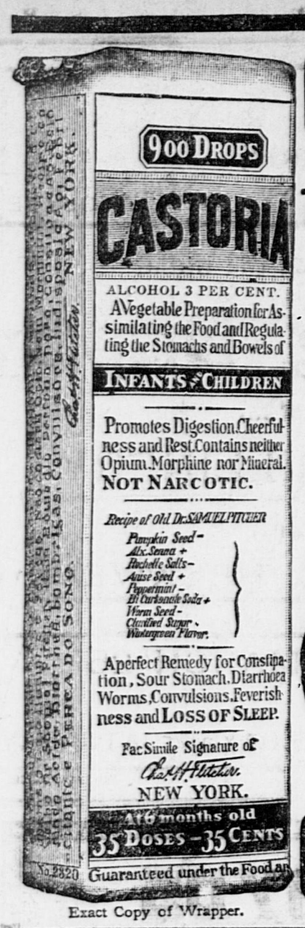
The result of the work of women truant officers has been characterized by fewer cases of arrests, fines and imprisonments, by a slowly decreasing amount of truancy in proportion to population, by improved conditions of the homes concerned, and a friendlier relation between home and the school. Here in Massachusetts in Boston, Lowell and Worcester, where women have served as school visitors, the testimony is the same as to the success of their work in the home. In a word, women are needed in our compulsory education system, not to supplant but to supplement the work of men, and it is hoped that the present Legislature will see fit to strengthen the influence of the schools by passing the bill which will open the position of truant officer to women.

GLASS ON SHELF.

It is a good idea to have glass cut to fit a shelf on which plants stand. The glass is easily cleaned, and saves the wood underneath, says an exchange. A piece of plate glass, cut to fit a window ledge or top of radiator, will often furnish a convenient shelf. A pretty tea-room has its tables covered first with an attractive pattern in cretonne, and this in turn covered with plate glass exactly fitting the tables.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

READ LEDGER ADVS.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Commencing March 25, 1912

Quaker Oats, Family size, with china	pkg	21c
Salmon, Violet Brand	flat can	17c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria	can	9c
Soap, Lenox	bar	3c
Raspberries, Fancy, Webster Brand	can	15c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Raisins, Seeded	pkg.	9c
Soups, Campbell's, All Varieties	3 cans	25c
Cocoa, Gray's	1-2 lb. can	12c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Colonial Brand,	2 cans	15c
Macaroni or Spaghetti,	pkg.	7c
Squash, Fancy, Green Mountain Brand	can	10c
Bacon, Squire's Best Sugar Cured	per lb.	17c
Crackers, Sugar Crimp	2 lbs.	17c

Mar. 25--M. W. F.

The Basis of Satisfaction

ZOROID LENSES

For a pair of lenses to be satisfactory they must be ground from a correct formula.

For the formula to be correct it must be based on a thorough examination of your eyes.

Have your eyes very carefully examined before getting a pair of glasses. Our charge for a thorough examination by our experienced optometrists is from one to three dollars.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET BOSTON

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 23-27

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE

NEW SPRING SUITS

$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Advertise In The Ledger

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 25	3.45	4.15
Tuesday,	4.45	5.15
Wednesday,	5.45	6.30
Thursday,	7.00	7.45
Friday,	8.00	8.45
Saturday,	9.00	9.30
Sunday,	10.00	10.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	56 degrees
Mar. 27, 1911,	59 degrees
Mar. 27, 1910,	48 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Warren W. Adams, Chairman of the board of Assessors has recovered from his attack of illness Sunday and is again on duty.

There was a little more snow Tuesday night at midnight but the bright moon soon dispelled the clouds and the snow ceased.

A large delegation of Houghs Neckers were in attendance at the district court Tuesday, at the hearng in the slander suit of Officer Phllips against Mrs. Merriam.

The powerful vaccum cleaning car of the street railway is now stationed at the Quincy barn cleaning cars. The car is especially equipped for this work which it does in fine shape.

Many favorable comments are heard, and Mayor Stone is being congratulated on the excellent choice which he made in selecting the members of the advisory board.

A regular meeting of Quincy lodge of Elks was held in Electa hall, Tuesday evening. Plans are being made for the installation of the newly elected officers of the lodge at an early date.

Bizet's Carmen is to be given tonight at the Boston Opera house with Mary Garden as Carmen and on Friday night will be given, The Girl of the Golden West. The opera season is nearly over.

An exhibit of original artistic work of Wollaston people is to be held in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church, corner Beale and Farrington streets on Thursday from 2 until 6 P. M. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend. No tickets required.

The annual banquet and entertainment of the Granite City club will be held in Colonial hall, Wednesday evening, April 10. The banquet will be served at 6.30 by P. and J. Besse, and will be followed by an exceptionally fine entertainment by a male quartet.

The social event of the week is the first ladies' night of Quincy Commandery, Knights Templars, Thursday evening. The affair will be held at Alpha hall. The program includes a banquet to be served at 6.30 to be followed by dancing until midnight. Special cars will leave for Wollaston and Atlantic at 11.45.

COLDS CAUSE HEADACHE
LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine, the world wide Cold and Grip remedy removes cause. Call for full name. Look for signature E. W. GROVE. 25c.

PRATT'S BREAD is more expensive, but it is worth more.

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies

Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 610 R. March 21-tf

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

NOT GUILTY IN BOLDUC CASE

Three Defendants Are Freed by Superior Court Jury

END OF SENSATIONAL TRIAL

Excitement Reigns at Announcement of Verdict and One Defendant Faints and Is Carried From the Room—Mrs. Shattuck's Case Is Placed on File After She Pleads Guilty and Turns State's Evidence

Boston, March 27.—The jury in the Bolduc malpractice case before Judge Chase in the superior court returned a sealed verdict finding all three defendants not guilty. With the announcement of the verdict, one of the defendants fainted and had to be carried from the court room, and her sister, a witness in the case, went into violent hysterics and was also carried, screaming, from the court. Excitement reigned in the courthouse for twenty minutes, until the hysterical woman could be quieted.

The defendants in the case were Mrs. Annie M. Reed of 231 Tremont street, charged with performing an legal operation on Miss Marie A. Bolduc, a Manchester, N. H., mill girl, whose dead body was found on Dec. 22 with evidences of what was apparently an attempt to dismember the body at the home of Mrs. Jennie F. Shattuck, 47 Woodlawn street, Jamaica Plain; and Dr. John A. Ferguson and Miss Mary O'Neil of Manchester, charged with being accessories before and after the fact of the operation.

The trial was the second in which the defendants appeared before the court. The first trial, which lasted thirteen days, resulted in a disagreement of the jury. The case had been in hearing four weeks. At the opening of the second trial Mrs. Shattuck, in whose house the body was found, pleaded guilty to the indictment charging her with being accessory after the fact and turned state's evidence.

Immediately upon the rendering of this verdict in court yesterday, Mrs. Reed, who was standing before the bar, trembled, turned pale and collapsed on the floor of the enclosure. She was carried to the women's retiring room.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle then stated to the court that the previous indictments charging Mrs. Reed and Miss O'Neil with being principals and Dr. Ferguson and Mrs. Shattuck as accessories would be nol-prossed. The indictment against Mrs. Shattuck in the present case was placed on file.

While Lavelle was on his feet making this announcement Mrs. Emma F. Streeter of Fitchburg, a sister of Mrs. Reed, screamed and fell to the floor. She screamed, tore her hair and kicked while the court officers carried her to the corridor. Dr. Ferguson attended her, and it was twenty minutes before she could be calmed.

The trial has been marked with sensational incidents ever since it opened. Last Friday Attorney Timothy W. Coakley, senior counsel for the defense, after a series of clashes with the court, was ordered from the trial. Monday, after directing the conduct of the defense from the corridor, he entered the court during the absence of Judge Chase and was arrested and committed to Pierce farm for examination as to his sanity.

BURIED BY MINE EXPLOSION

Seventy-Nine Men Entombed and Rescuers Are Working Hard

Welch, W. Va., March 27.—An explosion in the mine of the Jed Coal and Coke company, at Jed, six miles south of here, imprisoned seventy-nine men, of whom up to noon, ten had been taken out alive and one dead. Rescuing parties are making frantic efforts to reach the other miners and there are high hopes that with a few exceptions the remaining sixty-eight may be recovered alive.

The cause of the explosion is not yet known. Two mine rescue cars have been ordered to Jed by the bureau of mines. The state mine inspector is on the scene.

Biddeford Wants Brockton Pastor

Biddeford, Me., March 27.—The trustees of the First Universalist church of this city have Rev. O. Howard Perkins of Brockton, Mass. Rev. H. E. Moulton, the pastor, has accepted the pastorate of the First Unitarian church, Sanford.

German Aviator Killed

Dusseldorf, Ger., March 27.—The German aviator Kleine, while making a flight here, fell from a height of 300 feet and was killed. The aviator's wife and child witnessed the accident, the cause of which is not known.

Suicides After Burning $1000

Richmond, Mich., March 27.—Albert Fetting, a farmer, committed suicide after he had drawn $1000 from a bank and had burned the money.

FRANK T. COFFYN

Daring Aviator Who Was Injured in Auto Accident

Photo by American Press Association.

SON BORN TO COFFYN

Daring Aviator Is In Hospital as Result of Auto Accident

New York, March 27.—Mrs. Frank Coffyn, who, until two days ago had been ministering to her husband, the aviator injured last week in an auto smash, has presented to her husband a baby boy. The child was born in a private hospital in West Seventy-fourth street. Mrs. Coffyn and the son are doing well.

When Coffyn was taken to the Presbyterian hospital after being thrown on his head in Central Park, probably suffering fracture of the skull, Mrs. Coffyn went to that institution and helped nurse him. She remained near him until convinced that he would recover.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE AGAIN IN COURT

Many Get Sentenced to From Four to Six Months

London, March 27.—Mrs. Pankhurst, Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, joint editors of Votes for Women, and Mrs. Mabel Tuke appeared again at Bow street police court to answer to the charge of conspiracy and inciting to commit malicious damage to property.

A prisoner who is serving a term in Holloway jail after conviction for window smashing testified that bags of stones and hammers had been served out to herself and others from the suffragette headquarters with orders to break windows. The prisoners were again remanded.

Judge Robert Wallace sentenced a succession of suffragettes to terms ranging from four to six months' imprisonment. In some cases, where the women undertook not to repeat the offense, they were bound over to come up for judgment if called upon.

MAJORITY OF 105

Taft Faction Wins Out In Indiana State Convention

Indianapolis, March 27.—The Indiana Republican convention adopted a resolution instructing the state's four delegates-at-large to the national convention to vote for the renomination of President Taft. National Committeeman H. S. New, former Vice President C. W. Fairbanks, J. E. Watson and Joseph Doliver were elected delegates.

The Taft faction had a majority of 105 over the supporters of Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt delegates held a separate convention in the rear of the hall upon the adjournment of the regular convention and elected as delegates-at-large former Senator A. J. Beveridge, Fred Landis, E. M. Lee and C. H. Campbell.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Boston Schooner In Sinking Condition When Life Savers Arrive

Newburyport, Mass., March 27.—The arrival of the Newburyport life-saving crew, in charge of Surfman John M. Sweeney, undoubtedly saved the lives of Captain Barnes and his crew of four men on the sand drogher Edward S. Eveleth of Boston, which was sighted late yesterday off Plum Island in a leaking condition.

Battered by the ice cakes in the Merrimack river, the Eveleth was in a serious condition when the life savers boarded her. Captain Barnes and his men had worked at the pumps for hours, and were in a state of exhaustion.

Mme. Eames Recovering Health

Paris, March 27.—Mme. Emma Eames, who has been ill in the American hospital, is somewhat better and has been removed to her home. Her husband, Emilio de Gogorza, says it will be some time before she is again able to sing.

Borden's

A Food Stimulant. The man or woman who "burns the candle at both ends" and who lives on vital forces—needs Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes, soothes and strengthens. Prescribed by physicians for convalescents, invalids and people in health who wish to keep healthy.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 326.

You can rely on the Shoes I handle, because I seek permanent patronage.

Style Tendencies in Spring Shoes

Today, the vogue of the short, scant skirt, comes the era of the well-dressed feet --- feet and ankles were never so conspicuous as the present styles in dress make them, and every woman who cares about her personal appearance should wear footwear of good quality.

This store shows only the latest approved models, and you are safe in relying on us to shoe you in correct fashion.

The American Lady Shoes

have made the reputation of the manufacturers second to none in America --- or in the world, for that matter. All the bench made touches, on splendid lines, I have no hesitancy in recommending to the smartest women in Greater Quincy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St. "Just around the corner" Quincy

Mar. 25-3t

WINS FIRST ROUND

Senate Votes 29 to 27 That He Was Legally Elected

Washington, March 27.—Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin won the first round of the battle over the validity of his seat in the senate when, by a vote of 29 to 27, a resolution by Senator Jones of Washington, declaring the Wisconsin senator illegally elected, was rejected.

The final struggle will come today, when the Heyburn resolution sustaining the validity of the election and indorsing the investigation committee's majority view will be voted upon.

A bare majority is necessary to declare a senatorial election invalid. Such a resolution would deprive a senator of his seat just as effectively as would a resolution of expulsion which requires a two-thirds vote.

Throughout the debeate both Senator Stephenson and Senator Lorimer, who is similarly under fire, were in the senate chamber. While Senator Root was speaking, Stephenson sat just in back of him, with Lorimer directly in front. When the vote was taken Stephenson retired to the cloak room and occasionally peeked out to watch things.

ONE MORE SUICIDE

Curse of Murderer With Evil Eye Seems Still Potent

Philadelphia, March 27.—The prediction made nearly seventeen years ago by H. H. Holmes, the arch-murderer, that anybody having anything to do with his arrest, conviction or execution would meet an untimely death, either by their own hand or otherwise, is once again recalled. This time the victim is Richard Johnson, 48 years old, of West Philadelphia, who committed suicide by inhaling gas. Johnson was a member of the jury which found Holmes guilty of murder in the first degree.

Since Holmes was put to death on May 7, 1896, many persons who had connection with the famous murder case have either taken their lives or met deaths of violence. Holmes was known as the "murderer with the evil eye." His victims were never counted. He confessed to slaying forty-seven persons.

Johnson, the latest to fall under the so-called "spell," was a painter, having for a time been a policeman. Inability to secure new employment made him despondent, and he ended his life.

H-O

America's Breakfast For Over Thirty Years

Hornby's Oatmeal is the only properly cooked oatmeal—we cook it two hours in the mill—you cook it only 20 minutes. That makes it digestible—a fine food for everyone.

Reduces your breakfast work and worries 83⅓%. Enables you to sleep an extra hour—cuts the fuel bill.

H-O is for sale by
JOHNSON BROTHERS,
BERRY BROTHERS.
HANCOCK MARKET,
OTIS MARKET,
BROWN & CROWELL.
C. H. BACKUS, Wollaston,
OLIVER C. FOSDICK, Houghs Neck,
THOMAS GURNEY, Atlantic,
JOSEPH P. PROUT, South Quincy.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

CHAPTER XIII.—Yancy awakes from long dreamless sleep on board the raft.

CHAPTER XIV.—Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles. Charley Norton, a young planter, who assists the judge, is mysteriously assaulted.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER XV.

At the Church Door.

Tom found Betty at supper.

"You were over to see Norton, weren't you, Bet? How did you find him?"

"The doctor says he will soon be about again."

"Betty, I wish you wouldn't go there again—that's a good girl!" he said tactfully, and as he conceived it, affectionately. Betty glanced up quickly.

"Why, Tom, why shouldn't I go there?"

"It might set people gossiping. I reckon there's been pretty near enough talk about you and Charley Norton." The planter's tone was conciliatory in the extreme, he dared not risk a break by any open show of authority.

"You needn't distress yourself, Tom. I don't know that I shall go there again," said Betty indifferently.

* * * * * * * * *

At Thicket Point Charley Norton, greatly excited, hobbled into the library in search of Carrington. He found him reading by the open window.

"Look here, Bruce!" he cried. "It's settled; she's going to marry me! Can't you wish me joy?"

Carrington held out his hand.

"You are not going to take any risks now, you have too much to live for," he said haltingly.

"No, I'm to keep away from Belle Plain," said Norton happily. "She insists on that. Everything is to be kept a secret until we are actually married; it's her wish—"

"It's to be soon, then?" Carrington asked, still haltingly.

"Very soon."

There was a brief silence. Carrington, with face averted, looked from the window.

"I am going to stay here as long as you need me," he presently said. "Miss Malroy asked me to, and then I am going back to the river, where I belong."

* * * * * * * * *

Betty ate supper with big Steve standing behind her chair and little Steve balancing himself first on one foot and then on the other near the door.

The long French windows, their curtains drawn, stood open. She wandered down to the terrace. There was the sound of a step on the path. Betty turned. It was Carrington who stood before her, his face haggard. Without a word he stepped to her side and took her hands rather roughly.

"What am I to do without you?"—his voice was almost a whisper. "What is this thing you have done?" Betty's heart was beating with dull sickening throbs.

"If you had only come!" she moaned. "Now I am going to be married tomorrow. I am to meet him at the Spring Bank church at ten o'clock."

"How can I give you up?" he said, his voice hoarse with emotion. He put her from him almost roughly, and leaning against the trunk of a tree buried his face in his hands. Betty watched him for a moment in wretched silence.

"It's good-by—" he muttered.

She went to him, and, as he bent above her, slipped her arms about his neck.

"Kiss me—" she breathed.

He kissed her hair, her soft cheek, then their lips met.

* * * * * * * * *

Another hot September sun was beating upon the earth as Betty galloped down the lane and swung her horse's head in the direction of Raleigh. She would keep her promise to Charley and he should never know what his happiness had cost her.

Norton joined her before she had covered a third of the distance that separated the two plantations.

"We are to go to the church. Mr. Bowen will be there; I arranged with him last night; he will drive over with his wife and daughter, who will be our witnesses, dear."

* * * * * * * * *

Afterward Betty could remember standing before the church in the fierce morning light; she heard Mr. Bowen's voice, she heard Charley's voice, she heard another voice—her own, though she scarcely recognized it.

"I'll tie the horses, Betty," said Norton.

He had reached the edge of the oaks when from the silent depths of the denser woods came the sharp report of a rifle. The shock of the bullet sent the young fellow staggering back among the mossy and myrtle-covered graves.

"Charley—Charley!" She Moaned.

For a moment no one grasped what had happened, only there was Norton who seemed to grope strangely among the graves. He had fallen now. Even as the shadows deepened he was aware that Betty was coming swiftly toward him.

"I'm shot—" he said, speaking with difficulty.

"Charley—Charley—" she moaned slipping her arms about him and gathering him to her breast.

He looked up into her face.

"It's all over—" he said, but as much in wonder as in fear. "But I knew you could come to me—dear—" he added in a whisper.

She felt a shudder pass through him. He did not speak again.

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ONE MORE STRIKE COMES TO AN END

Difficulty In Lynn Shoe Factories Is Adjusted

Lynn, Mass., March 27.—The shoe strike ended yesterday. Nearly all the manufacturers granted the increase in pay demanded by the McKay stitchers, amounting to 2 cents more per pair of shoes. At the headquarters of the United Shoe Workers of America it was stated that all but half a dozen of the large manufacturers had granted the demands.

According to Secretary Sawyer, the result of this strike and the concessions made by the employers will be the elimination of the cheap shoes from Lynn. He says that the manufacturers cannot afford to make the shoe at the price they have to pay now for labor, as it is much higher than in other cities, and they will discontinue its manufacture.

ARREST OF A MAINE SHERIFF

Claimed to Be at Head of "Rum" Syndicate

CIVIC LEAGUE OFFICIALS ACT

Emery Has Been In Office Three Years and Has Discharged Several Deputies When They Became Active In Prosecuting Liquor Dealers—Causes Great Stir Throughout the State—More Arrests May Follow

Biddeford, Me., March 27.—A sensation which stirred the state of Maine as it has not been stirred for years occurred yesterday, when High Sheriff Charles O. Emery of York county was arrested on the charge of bribery in connection with the illegal sale of liquor.

The arrest was made at the sheriff's home in Sanford by Coroner L. A. Hurd and Edward H. Emery, a field secretary of the Civic League and a cousin of the sheriff.

It is alleged that the sheriff was a member of a so-called "rum syndicate," which was backed by a prominent Democrat, and that Sheriff Emery paid to County Attorney Asa Richardson the sum of $100, on the basis of $50 a week, in return for which the attorney was to join the "syndicate" and withhold prosecution.

In securing the evidence against Sheriff Emery, the Civic League, which is behind the arrest, is said to have adopted methods similar to those used by Detective William J. Burns. Instead of a dictagraph, however, the pipe of a hot-air furnace was used, the conversation between the sheriff and attorney, it is said, being overheard by three men in the cellar through the medium of the pipe.

Sheriff Emery was taken to Kennebunk and arraigned before Trial Justice Harold H. Bourne. He pleaded not guilty, and was held for a hearing Saturday morning under $10,000 bonds.

When Emery came into office three years ago, his chief deputy was George A. Berry of Biddeford. Berry made a number of liquor seizures and was dropped from the sheriff's staff.

Lindley M. Watkins of Cornish was then made a special deputy in Biddeford and Saco, but about five weeks ago, after making three seizures, he was removed from office without any explanation.

When he asked Sheriff Emery for a reason for being dropped, it is alleged that Emery replied: "I can't say a word. They've got me cornered."

Sheriff Emery was elected three years ago, and is now in his second term of office.

In an interview Richardson forecasted other arrests and declared that testimony of a sensational nature would be produced when the case goes to trial. "At least fifty prominent men will be brought into the case," he said, "and if certain ones will tell what they know, there will be little difficulty in securing jail sentences of varying lengths for a score of persons."

Sheriff Emery declined to make any statement or to discuss his arrest in any way. Edward H. Emery of the Maine Civic League, who had much to do with the arrest, said: "This is only the beginning. Other prosecutions will follow and there will be a number of other sensations."

WILSON IS FAVORITE

Candidate For President Receives Support of Progressive Democrats

Columbus, March 27.—The executive committee of the Ohio Progressive Democratic league voted to support the candidacy for the presidential nomination of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, at the state-wide Democratic primary, May 21.

The resolutions adopted, however, leave a loophole for other candidates in a clause that requests Governor Wilson in naming the six delegates-at-large from Ohio to select such men as will support his candidacy as long as he is a potentiality and who in no event will vote for a reactionary candidate.

CANNOT AGREE

Coal Miners and Operators Are Still In Deadlock

Cleveland, March 27.—Inability to agree again marked the attempts of the bituminous coal miners and operators to fix a two-year wage and working agreement to take effect April 1 in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

When the conference adjourned each side stood where it was a week ago, the miners declaring that unless they secured a 10 percent increase in pay and shorter working hours they would not work after next Sunday midnight, when their present scale expires, and the operators asserting that they would not grant the demands.

"We told the men it was useless to keep on repeating the demands, for we do not intend to grant them," said R. M. Taylor, representing the Illinois operators. "It would be better for us to shut down than to grant them."

"We are simply drifting to a suspension of business," if not a strike," said Thomas L. Lewis, former president of the United Mine Workers of America. "No progress has been made."

The miners and operators in bituminous fields in states other than those mentioned are dependent upon the present conference for a basis upon which to fix their wage scales.

It's Best To Have ready to use at first sign of trouble the best corrective for any disorder of the organs of digestion. The earlier you seek relief the easier it will be to get it—and the more certain it will be that the trouble will not lead to something worse. It is universally admitted that are the safest preventive as well as the most reliable corrective of stomach, bowel, or liver troubles. They bring about regular, natural, healthful action. All through the body—in every organ, every nerve—in actions, vigor and spirits—you will feel the benefit of Beecham's Pills—and quickly, too. You will save yourself suffering if you have this matchless aid to health

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Ready On Hand

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

By C. H. JOHNSON, - - Auctioneer
Office, Room 3 Adams Building
Tel. Quincy 1115

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland to George H. Field, dated May, 28, 1909 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book 1111, Libro 506 which mortgage was duly assigned to Abbie E. Studley by assignment dated Jan. 28, 1910 and recorded as aforesaid Book 1132, Page 696 for breach of conditions contained in said mortgage deed and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Friday, April 12, 1912, at two o'clock in the afternoon. All and singular the Real Estate described in said mortgage deed to wit—a certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on Oxenbridge Road in that part of said Quincy which is called Wollaston in "Taylor Terrace" being lot 241, as shown on a plan of said Taylor Terrace, drawn by Frederick E. Tupper, surveyor and recorded with Norfolk Deeds; Lot 241 described as follows:—The said lot 241 fronting 45 feet on a proposed street called Oxenbridge Road running back from said Oxenbridge Road 96.76 feet on the southerly line and 97.51 feet on the Northerly line, and containing 4371 square feet of land. Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and assessments and to all incumbrances of record.

Terms $100 in cash at time and place of sale and balance within ten (10) days on delivery of deed.

Abbie E. Studley,
Assignee and present holder of mortgage.

20-2t 20, 27, 3

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

Telephone 1196 M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock s reet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1158 M Nov. 3-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

FOR SALE—Fine breed of Rhode Island Reds cockerels. One year old. Apply to Carrol Elcock, 324 Copeland street. 21-6t.

FOR SALE—Quartered Oak 5-foot roll top Derby desk. Nice condition. One third cost price. F. P. Waterhouse, Wollaston. 25-6t

FOR SALE—White Rock eggs for hatching. 13 for 50 cents. Apply to 57 Winter street, near Fore River Shipyard. 21-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4. Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—One or two rooms for light housekeeping. Address K. Ledger Office. 27-3t

WANTED—A boy who can milk and assist generally, or a man who can milk and has time to come morning and night. Dr. Abele, 18 Spear street. 27-3t

WANTED—Bookkeeper with experience. Apply at Hollis Market, Braintree. 27-3t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

TRUSTWORTHY MEN or women wanted as local representatives of responsible manufacturer. High-class merchandise and clean selling methods. $12.00 per week guaranteed on easy conditions, with possibility of $30.00 and advance. Experience not necessary. MANUFACTURER, Box 278, Philadelphia. 17-6t S-W eow

WANTED—At once, a good cook, capable of taking full charge, also experienced waitress. Apply at 1358 Hancock street, Quincy. 25-3t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

OPTICIANS Come, Opticians go, but we go on as ever—your Faithful Optician, Williams. Fitting glasses here 18 years. No "Bargain Counter" glasses. 1473 Hancock street. 21-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 46 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan. 6-3m

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

TO LET

FOR RENT—One half double house six rooms, attic and bath. Veranda and large yard. 3 minutes from station and electrics. Rent $20. Apply 36 Pleasant street, Quincy.

TO LET—An attractive 5 room heated apartment. All modern conveniences. Apply to Nathan A. Ellis, 86 Revere road. 26-3t

TO LET—5 room tenement, very pleasant. All improvements $15.00. R. J. Barry, Grocer, Atlantic. 26-6t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. New house. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-12t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x42 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $1.50 to $7 per week.

Stores—In the rear of the Street Floor and with entrances from both Hancock and Granite Streets.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Quincy Auto and Truck Show

AT THE

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

WOLLASTON STATION

Monday, April 1st, 10 A.M. to 10 P.M.

Not a joke, but a real live show. We invite you to call and see our Show Cars.

Metz Roadster Rambler Tourer

Commerce Delivery Truck

Lauth Juergens Truck

If you are thinking of buying or exchanging, we have just what you need, and we can show you what they will do.

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

26 6t

BRIEFS

A supper was served Tuesday evening at the Houghs Neck Union Chapel.

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet Thursday evening.

But four more days of March, one of the most disagreeable months of the year. The month came in like a lion and the weather probablities indicate that it will go out the same way.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.,) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.57, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street., Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05 8.25 A. M. then same as week days Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25 9.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.35 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays. 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent

BRIEFS

Rev. Frederick Fitts of Roxbury will preach at the services this evening at Christ church.

Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D. will occupy the pulpit of the Wollaston Unitarian church this evening.

A meeting of the I. D. I. Girls' club was held at the home of Miss Clara Solander, Tuesday evening.

Miss Florence Buckley of West Quincy has accepted a position in the office of Kincaide's Furniture store.

Rt. Rev. Theodore P. Thurston, Bishop of Oklahoma will preach at St. Chrysostom's church, Thursday evening and will administer the rite of confirmation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schomburg of Cambridge, formerly of Atlantic, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born, March 13. Mrs. Schomburg was Miss Jeanette Fanning before her marriage, and both she and her husband have many friends in this vicinity.

Too Late For Classification.

LOST—On or near City Square, a pair of spectacles. Return to Goodyear Shoe Reparing. 10 Chestnut street. 27-1t

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	iedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30 ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfeacba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05 Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 05 ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45 Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15 hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27 cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45 a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30 ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45 cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8.17, 10.15 A. M. 12.15, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 9.10 11.20 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

FORMS NEW ASSOCIATION

Parents and Teachers of Quincy School Organize

THE OFFICERS

A meeting was held in Quincy School, Tuesday evening, to complete the organization of a Parents' and Teachers' association. In the absence of Charles Sampson, chairman, caused by sickness, H. G. Beeman was asked to preside. He called the meeting to order and read the report of the committee on organization. Miss Tolman was asked to read the constitution and by-laws presented by the committee and they were adopted by the Association. Mr. Beeman then read the list of officers nominated by the committee and they were unanimously elected as follows: President William F. Cummings; vice president, Mrs. Charles R. Safford and Mr. Lyndon Gurney; secretary and treasurer, Miss Laura Tolman executive committee:—Above officers and Mrs. J. P. Clark, Maurice Kilpatrick and William L. Buckley.

At this point Mr. Cummings, the president, was introduced and took charge of the remainder of the program. He made a few remarks outlining some of the things he considered the duty of the association to carry out.

The entertainment of the evening consisted of a cornet soloist, a vocal soloist and a practical talk by Mrs. Walter S. Pinkham of Wollaston on "The Value of the Parents' and Teachers' Association," which was listened to with great interest and appreciation; for she showed what it is possible to accomplish for the benefit of the school children by the association of Parents and Teachers. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Pinkham for her instructive talk and the appreciation and thanks of the association were manifested to the musicians in the same manner.

Before adjourning a committee consisting of Miss Howe, Rev. Mr. Davison, and Mr. Luke was appointed to investigate and report on the subject of dues of the association.

A committee was appointed to assist in procuring the completion of the assembly hall in the school. At present the association has to meet in the corridor. This committee consists of Charles E. Cherrington, John J. Hearn, Charles Safford, Mrs. W. W. Whitcher, Charles E. Gill, Lyndon Gurney, Mrs. Charles Stecher, Joseph P. Clark, and Charles O'Malley.

Adjourned until April 16.

SHORT SESSION SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The regular meeting of the School Committee was held Tuesday evening. There was but little business to come before the meeting however and an early adjournment was reached.

It was voted to request the City Council to make some repairs to the school buildings.

The expenditures of the department to date were reported as follows:

Administration	$1,295.62
Instruction	38,221.15
Text Books	781.75
Stationery and Supplies	2,403.60
Operation of school plant	6.287.86
Maintenance	99.39
Miscellaneous	300.63
Evening schools	354.30
	$49,744.30

TODAY'S COURT.

The case of Officer Phillips aainst Mrs. Merriam for slaunder occupied the attention of the special session of district court until late Tuesday afternoon. Judge Pratt then took the matter under advisment and will give his decision next Tuesday.

James J. Fogarty was fined $15 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Owen Teenans was fined $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

The case of Patrick Welsh for assault at Weymouth was called and he was defaulted.

Leconadi Forti was arraigned for assault at Randolph and was fined $15.

The cases against the three Italians concerned in the black hand letter cases is on trial. At 1 o'clock the case was not finished and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

GYM GIRLS BEAT NEEDHAM GIRLS

Fine Playing of Miss Smith was the Feature of Game

23 TO 16

In a game replete with many spectacular plays, the Quincy Gym Girls added another victory to their long list, in St. Mary's hall, West Quincy, last evening, where they defeated the Needham Independent Girls 23 to 16. It was the fourth time that the two teams have met this season and it was the third time that the local girls were pronounced victors.

A large crowd witnessed the game, and the schedule of the Quincy team was brought to a close in a most fitting manner. During the first half of the game, the honors were about even, but in the second half the home team displayed greater endurance than its opponents and was enabled to exhibit superior work in every department of play.

The conspicuous star of the game was Miss Mildred Smith, who has been a tower of strength to the local team throughout the season. She got 17 of the 23 points made by her team and contributed many sensational plays. Four of the goals were registered from most difficult angles and she seemed to be the one player who loomed forth in the limelight through out the struggle.

She had seven goals from the floor to her credit and three from free tries. Miss Edith Mullen also played well, while the blocking and passing of Miss Mary Beal was of a commendable order.

For the losers Miss Mabel Blades excelled, while Miss Gladys Calhoun also played well. The summary:

QUINCY GYM.		NEEDHAM GIRLS
Mildred Smith, rf		lb Edith Chambers
		Grace Falvey
Isadora Beale, lf		rb Jean McDowell
Edith Mullen, c		c Eunice Rice
Lena Clark, rb		lf Mabel Blades
Mary Beal, lb		rf Lucy Spear

Score. Quincy Gym Girls 23. Needham Girls 16. Goals from floor Miss Smith (7) Miss Mullen (3) Miss Rice, Miss Blades (3) Miss Calhoun (2). Goals from fouls Miss Smith (3) Miss Blades (4). Referee Johnson. Umpire Miss Roper. Scorer Helen Mitchell. Timer Mullen. Time 15 min. periods. Attendance 150.

MEAT IS HIGHER

Attributed to Activity In the Chicago Stock Market

Chicago, March 27.—After the announcement of the verdict in the packers' trial, provisions advanced all around. The rise was 15 cents for pork and bacon and 7½ to 10 cents for lard. The addition to the cost of packing house products was attributed to active covering by shorts and to sympathy with the bulge in the price of corn.

BROCKTON GIRL PROPOSES

Takes Advantage of Leap Year and Is Now Mrs. Anderson

Brockton, Mass., March 27.—Not satisfied with having created a sensation among her friends by proposing to and winning Nils H. Anderson, 20 years old, over a pan of fudge and a Welsh rarebit, Miss Lillian E. Johnson, the 18-year-old daughter of John Johnson of this city, known as the second leap year bride in the state, announced she had stolen a march on curious ones and married last Friday night instead of waiting until June, as she and her husband had planned.

Taking only her father into her confidence, Miss Johnson "fixed up" Friday night and with her lover on her arm she walked to the residence of Rev. G. W. Lundstrom, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church, and there the knot was tied.

The reverse order of usual customs was quite the thing at this wedding. Nils didn't give Lillian any ring because he didn't ask her to marry him. Lillian says she didn't give him any because he didn't expect it.

At the wedding Mrs. Anderson wore a gown of pink silk with lace trimmings. After the ceremony there was a wedding supper—fudge and Welsh rarebit predominated for sentimental sake. They have taken up their residence in this city.

(ADVERTISE.)

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR QUALITY PLUS

WOMEN'S CLUBS

(Continued from Page Three.)

on that subject, confiding herself in her ten-minute talk to telling of the arrangements for the trip to San Francisco for the Federation Biennial in June. As many club woman are planning to go to the meeting the subject was interesting, especially so as sketched by Mrs. Crocker. The party will all go to California by the same route but there will be a choice of several ways in returning.

Following a finely rendered piano solo by the favorite pianist Mrs. Mary Chandler West there was a presentation of Mrs. Francis Hodgdon Burnett's story "The Fair Barbarian" with the following dramatis personae:

Miss Belinda Bassett,
Mrs. Nathaniel S. Hunting
Miss Octavia Bassett, her niece,
Miss Mollie Brown
Lady Theobald,
Mrs. Chandler W. Smith
Miss Lucia Gaston, her granddaughter,
Mrs. Kate Wadsworth
Captain Francis Barold,
Miss Georgianna Lane
Mr. Burmestone,
Mrs. George L. Badger
Mary Anne,
Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield
Members of Slowbridge select society —Mrs. John O. Short, Mrs. Alfred P. Thompson, Miss Esther U. Sidelinger.

The adaptation of the book for presentation had been arranged by Mrs. Sheppard assisted by Miss Brown "the fair barbarian," and members of the cast. Parts of chapters and clever bits of dialogue were picked out and it made up a most unique and delightful entertainment.

Mrs. Sheppard sketched each scene as it was given. Mrs. William B. Nichols was stage manager and Mrs. Wilson Marsh, prompter. The stage settings were simple but effective and the costumes perfect in every detail. As to the actors they were artists, every one of them, not much being left to the imagination of the audience so well was the story told by word and acting.

Mrs. Hunting as Miss Belinda Bassett was fine in her conception of the quiet unassuming English country woman; aunt of a vivacious American girl who came to visit her quite unexpectedly. It was a series of shocks for her but she was a dear old lady. Mrs. Hunting won frequent applause.

The niece, Miss Octavia Bassett was charmingly portrayed by Miss Mollie Brown. She was sweet, girlish and everything that the part called for In dress, in acting and interpretation of the part Miss Brown was the star of the play, sustaining the part throughout and deserving the frequent applause accorded her.

What shall we say of Mrs. Chandler W. Smith as Lady Theobald? It was capital in every detail. The hit she made with the audience on her unique entrance continued throughout the play. Her severe style of dress, deep voice, and portrayal of the leading lady of Slowbridge was a delight to Mrs. Smith's friends.

Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth as Miss Lucia Gaston, granddaughter of Lady Theobald gave a pleasing interpretation of the young English girl rigidedly brought up by her grandmother and was especially good in the scene where she and the heroine exchanged confidences.

The men of the play Captain Francis Barold by Miss Georgiana C. Lane and Mr. Burmestone by Mrs. George L. Badger, were received with much enthusiasm, their make up being fine and their parts exceedingly well done. Miss Lane gave a most clever interpretation of the supercilious Captain who condescended to propose marriage to the "fair barbarian" and received a surprise when she refused him. Mrs. Badger was good as Mr. Burmestone, being fully equal to the requirements of the part.

Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield as Mary Ann had a small part but was good, as she always is in whatever she undertakes.

Mrs. John O. Short, Mrs. Alfred P. Thompson and Miss Esther U. Sidelinger as members of Slowbridge select society were not called upon for much dramatic skill, but each filled her proper niche most acceptably.

At the close of the presentation there was long and hearty applause which only attested in a small measure the real enjoyment and pleasure of the club women.

An informal reception brought the afternoon to a close, the visiting club women being greeted by the officers of the Quincy Women's club, many having an opportunity to meet the actors and express personally their enjoyment of the performance, Mrs. Sheppard was also the recipient of many congratulations.

Frappe and cake were served by the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Herbert S. Barker chairman, the tables being presided over by Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann, Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick and Mrs. Henry M. Faxon.

Many visited the exhibition in the Arts and Crafts room.

The attractive souvenir programs contained a letter from Dr. Brackett relating to the house now used by the club as its club home which we give below:

41 Marlborough Street,
Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard,
President, Quincy Women's Club,
My dear Mrs. Sheppard:—

The history of the Goffe Street house, the home of the club, is a short and simple one. The house was built nearly sixty years ago, by my father, on the upper portion of my grandfather's place. The architect was Gridley J. F. Bryant, son of the engineer who planned and executed the Granite Railway in 1826. As planned perhaps for a gothic villa, the exterior of the house was more ornate than now, with small corner towers. Goffe Street was then a lane, a private way belonging to the late Hon. C. F. Adams. All the surroundings were countrylike. The only bit of history of the interior of the house is that the central piece of wood in the floor of the bow of the large parlor is a piece of the mahogany counter of the old Granite Bank.

Quincy was then a country town, in whichever one knew somewhat of everybody else. As the Women's Club is furthering today a sense of neighborliness, of understandings and teamplay for the community advance, it is a great good to Quincy—the ancient and honorable—fast growing city.

Very truly yours,
Jeffrey R. Brackett.

Among the clubs represented were the Waban Woman's club, Ladies Library association of Randolph, Winchester Fortnightly, Newton Federation of Women's clubs, Woman's Afternoon club of Abington, Cantabrigia of Cambridge, Mattapannock of South Boston, Chelsea Woman's club, The Philergians of Braintree, Old Colony of South Weymouth, and among the local clubs the Friday club, Emerson, Young Women's club, Tea Cups, Whatsoever circle, Reaper circle, Unity circle, Charitable Ten circle of King's Daughters, all the Katharyn Crane Memorial club and ladies of the faculty of the Quincy Mansion school. Besides the club guests, many of the members also had guests so that it was one of the largest meetings of the season and urely one of the happiet.

DIANTHUS CLUB.

Gentlemen's night of the Dianthus club of Atlantic proved a grand success. This is the verdict of the gentlemen as well as the ladies. The members, each accompanied by her husband, met at the home of William I. Hartley, 29 Appleton street, Saturday evening. After the customary formalities the evening was most enjoyably spent playing whist. The costumes of the ladies were especially pretty and attractive, and added much to the beauty of the occasion.

Mr. Hartley, who played with such skill and good fortune, did not allow the first gentlemen's souvenir to leave his premises, said souvenir being a Railroad case of poker chips and cards.

Mrs. William F. Harden of Hunt street succeeded in carrying the first ladies' souvenir, a silver cheese knife and plate, to her home. The consolations were given Mr. E. S. Sodergren of Hunt street, and Mrs. Paul Butler of Atlantic street. Mr. Sodergren's being a hound dog and Mrs. Butler's a skull and cross bones. It is true the dog was under-size and lifeless, but great fun and merriment were caused by his appearance on the scene. The presentation of the canine was to the strain of a popular song. It has been rumored that the master of the dog anticipates having him licensed, so he really has become attached to him after all, even if it was not "love at first sight." Who knows but what the dog led the way home that evening and in that way won his master's heart!

Rrefreshments, consisting of cake, ice cream, and coffee were served, and after a good all around sing, Mrs. Harden presiding at the piano, the party disbanded.

Of course the ladies enjoyed the evening, for they all know how so well, but that part does not count. But when we add that the men all pronounced the affair a grand success and say they will anticipate with great pleasure its repetition another season, this gives the ladies proof of their ability to entertain and they feel well paid for their efforts exerted.

CARPETS

Oriental Domestic RUGS

Floor Coverings

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1817

John H. Pray & Sons Co.

645-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

WHO WILL SUCCEED WILEY?

There are two groups of people who are anxiously watching and waiting to see who will be Dr. Wiley's successor. In one group are the dishonest manufacturers, the food adulterators, the whiskey blenders, and the fraudulent patent medicine promoters: those "interests" that are preying on the people through fraud and misrepresentation in various ways. In the the other group are the people of the United States, and the honest manufacturers. Which of these groups will be kept in mind in the selection of the man?

The newspapers announce that President Taft immediately telegraphed to the leading universities asking for suggestions as to the right man to succeed Wiley. This looks as though the President were anxious to get the right man. But the right man in this case need not necessarily be the best chemist in the country. What is needed is a man who is fundamentally honest; who has the good of the public and not of the "interests" at heart; one, above all, who has honest convictions and has the courage to carry out such convictions.

But will the President dare to ask such a man to take a position in which he will be surrounded with the restrictions that made Wiley consider it nearly useless? No self-respecting man, no man who is thoroughly qualified in every way for the position, would accept it under present conditions. There must be a further change in the personnel of those who are presumed to enforce the Food and Drugs Act than simply the elimination of Wiley. Until that change is made, The Journal of the American Medical Association thinks that no man who is worthy to succeed Wiley will accept the position.

HOUSEWIFE'S FREE LIST.

The ways and means committee of the House are being urged to report a "housewife's free list bill." This is a bill that will make American housewives "sit up and take notice" of the dry subject of tariff revision. Such influential congressmen as Representatives Fitzgerald and Redfield of New York are strongly in favor of it. They want things that go in the market basket to come in free of duty, such as butter, eggs, potatoes, milk, bacon, ham, fresh beef, veal, mutton. lamb. pork, lard, poultry, vegetables in their natural state, wheat and wheat flour and beans. A bill covering these food products would afford a measure of real relief to the consumers.—Taunton Herald.

RUN OVER BY ENGINE

Brakeman Almost Instantly Killed While on Duty

South Framingham, Mass., March 27.—Hugh Beals, aged 32, of Worcester, employed as a freight brakeman on the night shifting gang in the yards of the New York Central and Hudson River railway here, was almost instantly killed by a shifting locomotive.

Beals was making a running switch when he fell in front of the locomotive, which passed over him. His right leg was severed. He was removed to the hospital, but when he arrived there was dead.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 75 | QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 28, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

REPORTS SHOW GOOD BALANCE

Annual Parish Meeting of Quincy Point Church

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual parish meeting of the Washington Street Congregational church was held in the vestry Wednesday evening. About 100 enjoyed the supper and took part in the election of officers.

Promptly at 6.30 o'clock, Rev. C. P. Marshall asked the blessing and the hundred hungry persons enjoyed the following menus served by the Ladies' Aid society:

Cold Meats		Potato Salad
Beans	Rolls	Pickles
Mince Apple	Custard	Lemon Pie
Fancy Cake		Coffee

Among the honored guests of the evening was the Hon. Eugene R. Stone.

After the supper there was a social half hour until 7.30 o'clock when the business meeting was held with W. E. Lee as moderator.

W. E. Lee was again elected to serve as moderator of the Parish meeting.

Dr. E. R. Bushnell, who has been clerk of the parish for the last ten years, was again elected to fill that office.

The next subject to come before the meeting was the admission of new members and twenty-three were admitted into the parish. The rules governing members are, that they must be 21 years of age, must attend church, (Point church); must contribute at least $1.00 towards support of the church.

The new members admited were:—Angus Campbell, Alexander Jenkins, J. C. McNeil, G. C. Ludy, Mrs. C. B. Mellen, Herbert A. Hayden, Mrs. Herbert A. Hayden, J. W. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Eagelsham, Mrs. W. H. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miller, J. P. Lorentson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carruthers, Grace Lackie, Leonard Hartley, Michael Hogan, Mrs. Nugent, Mrs. McKelnie, Mrs. A. McGregor, Mrs. A. B. Foster.

After the admission of the above members a recess of ten minutes was allowed for them to sign the constitution and by-laws of the parish.

On reassembling the reports of the treasurer and other officers were read. These reports showed that the expenses of the parish had been curtailed during the year and that the saving of a few hundred dollars meant much to the church.

The pastor had already made his report to the church meeting. Quoting from that report:

The pastor has preached three times a Sunday during the year, excepting August. Has attended 19 funerals, 12 baptisms, etc.

He finds the church today in very good condition. Additions during the year have been 25. Present membership is 144. The Sunday school enrollment is 242 with average attendance 150 during last year. The

(Continued on Page Two.)

PICTURESQUE VIEWS SHOWN

Peter MacQueen Gives Lecture on "Darkest Africa"

OVER 200 VIEWS

"Darkest Africa" was brought vividly before a large number of Wollaston people, Wednesday evening, when Peter MacQueen, the eminent lecturer and traveller delivered a stereopticon lecture on that subject in the Wollaston Congregational church.

The lecture was under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church and was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Bessie D. Ducey, Miss Madeline K. Morse, Miss Dorothy Taylor, George W. Brown and Sewall Sayward.

The pictures were all finely colored and composed about 200 views the majority being of a most picturesque nature.

"It has been called," said Mr. MacQueen, " 'Darkest Africa' but this is no longer so. It has been cleaned out by the English, Germans and French and although this is so has lost none of its distinctive picturesqueness and charm."

The harbor and city of Zanzibar was

(Continued on Page Three.)

MAYOR TALKS ON CITY FINANCES

Addresses Park and Downs Improvement Association

OTHER SPEAKERS

At the second meeting of the Wollaston Park Improvement Association held at the Hamilton bungalow on Wednesday evening a constitution was formally adopted and a large number of new members admitted.

Mayor Eugene R. Stone of Quincy was the speaker of the evening and gave a most valuable talk on civic affairs.

He spoke in detail of the financial aspect of the city. While the condition is not as bad as is painted there are a large amount of outstanding temporary loans that should be done away with. He favored a readjustment of the city's valuation rather than an increase in the tax rate.

Taking up the matter of improvement associations Mayor Stone told of what might be accomplished by working together as a unit.

The way to do is to unite under one head and stick to it. He instanced the organization in Ward Four as a successful example of this.

Councilman Charles L. Gilliatt spoke of local needs and answered questions concerning streets, sidewalkss, trees and other factors of the community, President Edward O. Woodward of the association presided.

The scope of the association has been enlarged it being voted to broaden the proposed restricted area to include the whole of that section of Quincy commonly known as Wollaston Park.

Any resident of this district whether property owner or not, is now eligible for membership upon vote of the association. The organization at the present time numbers over 80 members.

The constitution and bylaws were accepted article by article with minor amendments and the whole unanimously adopted.

A petition was brought forward, and received the official sanction of the Association, for the improvement and repair of Elm avenue.

This provides for a uniform grade from Hancock street to Huntington square and the construction of a new road bed. Provisions are also made for cartracks in the middle of the avenue instead of on the side as at present and the laying of granolithic sidewalks on this part of the avenue where there are none at present as a uni

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

QUINCY MURDER CASE ON TRIAL

Saverio Spano of this city will furnish the first capital case in Norfolk county in some years, when he will be tried at the coming session of the Norfolk superior criminal court on the charge of murder in the first degree. Spano is alleged to have killed Guiseppe Rucker here on the third day of last December, by stabbing him with a knife.

Already he has pleaded not guilty to four counts. The court has assigned attorney Henry T. Richardson of Brookline to defend him, while the prosecution will be conducted by District Attorney Albert F. Barker and Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Katzmann.

The date set for the trial is April 15 and an order has been issued by the court for a special venire of 100 talesmen to appear at the Courthouse on that day.

DUTCH SUPPER WOMEN'S CLUB

A Dutch supper attracted a large number of patrons to the vestry of the Park and Downs church on Wednesday evening, the affair being held under the auspices of the Women's Guild.

The supper room was decorated with the national colors of Holland and at the tables the same scheme was carried out.

A menu of frankfurters, sauerkraut, potato salad, cheese, pickles and like delicacies with desert was served by Mrs. Fred MacMulkin, Mrs. Frank C. Knowlton, Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. A. R. Muir, Mrs. Henry Letson, Mrs. C. A. Boynton, Mrs. A. J. Podbury and Mrs. Charles L. Gilliatt.

The supper committee consisted of Mrs. W. K. Brown, Mrs. Alonzo Bissett, Mrs. Fred Bussler, Mrs. L. I. Mosman and Mrs. J. H. Kilpatrick.

A program of music and readings was presented the first number being the singing of "Johnny Schomoker" by a chorus of the boys consisting of Robert Hall, Rodger Gardiner, Merrill Orswell, Ralph Lyons. Ira Gilliatt, George Nichols and David Brown.

"Aunt Sophronia at the opera," a reading by Miss Crankshaw was well received as was "The mourning veil," a reading by Miss Anna Bjorkman. A group of songs by Chadwick was pleasingly sung by Miss Marie Brown.

COMMITTEE ASKS FOR A FAIR TRIAL

The Executive Committee of the Committee of One Hundred, which led the fight for the new Boston charter in 1909, is issuing throughout the state an appeal calling the attention of the citizens of Massachusetts to the serious and dangerous Boston charter situation this year at the State House.

While the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs has reported leave to withdraw on the proposed charter changes which would destroy vital elements of Boston's charter, an attempt is being made to report the proposal for Ward representation in the Senate, and to pass it before public opinion appreciates what is being done.

Just as last year, an insidious attempt to carry on a vote-swapping campaign is being made at the Stat House by some of those who favor charter changes.

Last year, in spite of the adverse report of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, the proposal to restore ward representation passed the House by 153 to 70. Aroused public opinion and the public spirited stand of leading Senators secured the defeat of the measure in the Senate.

The Committee of One Hundred calls on the citizens of Massachusetts to rally to prevent their capital city from again being placed under machine rule.

"Boy Scouts" Shoes

Wear Like Iron

This "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe, made of mineral-tanned genuine Elk leather, will outwear two pairs of ordinary shoes. It is almost impossible to wear it out. Yet it is extremely light, soft as a glove, and fits as closely. No linings. Reinforced sole—cannot pull loose. Absolutely the best and most economical boy's shoe made. Thousands of boys now wear "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes.

Little Boys', Sizes 9 to 13½, $2.00.
Boys' Sizes 1 to 5½, $2.50.
Big Boys' and Men's, Sizes 6 to 10, $3.00.
Colors—Olive, Tan and Black.

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe

Other Styles

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" shoes can be had also in regular, high-cut and blucher shapes. Tan, black and gun-metal calf. Unequalled by any boy's shoe made.

Look for the "Good Luck" Charm

"Swastika" Good Luck Charm attached to every pair. None genuine without charm. Looks like gold. Will not discolor. Splendid for prizes for boys' games.

Made by THE EXCELSIOR SHOE CO., Portsmouth, Ohio

For Sale by (32)

GRANITE SHOE STORE

March 28 tf

HEARING IN THE BLACK HAND CASE

It was late Wednesday afternoon before the hearing in the black hand cases was completed. At that time the court found probable cause to believe Nicola Fertaia guilty of threatening Pasquale Calaricco by sending a black hand letter and held him in $200 bonds for the grand jury. The other two defendants Antonio Micarane and Domenico Leo charged with the same offense were discharged.

DOLLAR MEETING AND SOCIAL

A most enjoyable "Experience Dollar" meeting and social was held in the vestry of the Hall Place M. E. church, Wednesday evening, under the direction of the Ladies' aid society. The program for the entertainment was: Solo, Miss Helen Martin, Reading, Miss Hilda Francis, Duet, Miss Helen Martin and Lawrence Martin, Reading, Miss Hilda Francis, Solo, Miss Helen Martin. Each one who had earned or saved a dollar was then asked to give their experience in earning it, and the tales which were then unfolded of self-denial, sacrifice and hard work were most certainly amusing to say the least, besides giving one a deep insight into the various ways by which money might easily be raised by thrifty people.

An original verse showing the up-to-date method of one young woman for securing the coveted dollar created quite a sensation.

"This dollar was not hard to get
For I am a militant suffragette,
I walked up to my husband so,
And said, 'Daniel, pass over the dough!'
And into his pocket quick went his hand
We women can get what we demand."

After the entertainment was over the ladies served doughnuts, cake and coffee. Games were indulged in until a late hour. The affair was a huge success financially and socially.

WHIST PARTY.

A regular meeting of the Houghs Neck associates was held Tuesday evening after which the members and their ladies enjoyed a whist party. Souvenirs for the best scores were awarded Charles Fosdick, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mrs. Henry W. French, Mrs. Walter Buchanan and Mrs. George Moury.

Give the baby bread and milk. PRATT'S BREAD and good pure milk.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

GET YOUR EASTER SUIT HERE

And This Week if Possible

You can't be too particular about getting clothes that are correct in style. I want my customers to be particular; I am particular about it when I buy the goods—they've got a style about them that's distinctive—and the quality of the materials and tailoring keeps them looking stylish after long wear. They don't go out of shape the way most clothes do..

Now—just before Easter—our display racks are full of the latest Spring Suits for men and boys. The man who can't find here something just to his mind, at a price he will cheerfully pay will not get what he wants in Quincy—that's sure

In colors for this season, grays and browns are to be particularly strong and then comes blues. Tans will also be popular as well as a great number of mixture effects.

Two and three button sack suits; coats with long soft roll fronts; some with the "smart" narrow, English shoulders, others with shoulders of medium width; splendidly modeled to hug and to fit—where fit is the hardest. Vests that show above the coat and vests that show not at all. Snappy, smart and stylish.

Popular prices prevail $10, $12.50 to $16.50

AND BOY'S SUITS—Just as carefully tailored as are the suits for men, extra quality of cloth, from $2.50 to $6.

All the New Styles in Men's Hats

Every man in Quincy can find here just the hat he wants.

When you come here, you expect and get a good hat.

Lamson & Hubbard Hats	$3.00
The Jones' Special Hat	$2.50
The "Best in the City" Hat	$2.00
Soft Hats	$1.00 to $3.00

The Ralston Shoes

For Quincy's Best-Dressed Men.

All leathers, all lasts - - - $4.00

Distinctive New Ties for Men

A man doesn't want to buy new spring ties that look just like last year's ties. I thought of that when I selected these entirely new silk ties.

Different designs in diagonal stripes and figured patterns.

The Real Cheney Ties	50c
Other Handsome Ties	25c

E. & W. Shirts

Made of best quality madras and percales---handsome patterns, negligee or with bosom - - - - - - $1.50

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street, "Just around the Corner" Quincy

WALDORF HOUSE

which is called the

NEW DINING ROOM

6 Temple Street

will go under a new management on Saturday morning. The cook has worked for one of the best hotels in Boston, and the best is none too good for the people of Quincy. Those who have not been satisfied in the past will surely be in the future if they will only give us a trial. Cooking done on the European plan.

28 2t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

No chance for Charlie Fairbanks to create a stir now—the South Pole's located.

There are mighty few hats in the ring when it comes to electing a Sunday school superintendent.

The proper way to win a labor trouble is to use the Consumer as a club to bang the other side with. Of course the Consumer does not mind.

Much is being said against the soap box primary, and much could also be said against the safe deposit box primary.

The New York women's club state that each spring a fly breeds 5,998,256,000 descendants. We have noticed that number in some restaurants.

Mr. Taft told the Manchester people that he had given a square deal without blowing any trumpets, but this is not the age for the bandless bandwagon.

Ballots of great length are being used in many of the states, and if they would print them in Greek and Hebrew, they could make it still more difficult for the voter.

We are glad to see the textile workers get more pay, but are not quite sure what our wives will say when they learn the result at the dry goods store next season.

With all these anarchist bombs being sent around, we advise the householder to retire to the vegetable cellar while the housemaid opens anything done up in brown paper.

Now that Dr. Wiley has retired, it would seem the psychological moment for the manufacturers to carry out the plan of grinding up corn cobs to make a new breakfast food.

It is claimed that tagging cold storage products would create a prejudice against them in the public mind. It often happens now that a prejudice is already found in the public nose.

We trust that the kiddish judges of the Supreme Court will not feel it necessary to haze their new member, Justice Pitney, by throwing him over the fence and putting his head under the pump.

FULL SCHOOL CAPACITY.

There are many people in Quincy who believe in and would gladly add their endorsement to the following editorial from the Christian Science Monitor for there is a growing belief on the part of the public that the expensive school buildings should be used more than a few hours a day, ten months in the year. "Massachusetts Legislature, we believe, should indorse the plan of the committee of education permitting the school committee of Boston to appropriate annually an adequate sum for demonstrating the social and civic uses of school property. Nor should the right be limited to any one city. It is a project so full of good sense and pecuniary shrewdness as well as idealistic purpose that the wonder is that there can be the slightest objection to it from any quarter. A school "plant" in a rural community or in an urban center can be made to conserve community good seven days a week and fifteen hours a day. Why voters and taxpayers rest content to let their investments of millions of dollars earn income only five days a week and six hours a day is a mystery that can be explained only on the basis of an exaggerated tradition as to the real shrewdness of the American man. He is only just awakening to the possibilities of the schoolhouse as a social center, as a place where lectures and concerts may be given, where dances, properly supervised, may be enjoyed by youth, where mothers' clubs can assemble for discussion of problems of domestic economy, and where public issues may be debated by volunteer speakers and by the rank and file of the people.

Woman, with her recent invasion of the realm of civics and citizenship and her disciplined instincts of social economy, has contributed much to bring this new phase of education to the front; and the Women's Municipal League of Boston is to be credited with arraying before the school committee, the Legislature and the voters a mass of evidence as to the success of this plan of making the school a diurnal social center. Moreover, the league has devised a constructive program for use of the school buildings in Boston, whenever funds are ready for the testing of the extension plan. The East Boston high school experiment has justified all the hopes of advocates of the plan, and has shown how far reaching are the social changes wrought when both parents and children come to look upon the school as a place for continuous inspiration, recreation and education."

LABOR IN COAL MINES.

The importation of hordes of cheap alien labor has, for the time being, solved the important problem of a low cost coal supply. Had they not come, we should be paying many millions more for our coal. But it is much like doing business over a storehouse of gun powder, as we realize once in three years when the fateful April 1 comes around.

Much of the apparent saving through this cheap labor is not a real economy Probably half of these grimy faced sons of the East cherish the hope of returning some day to the old country. A thousand or two dollars in hard earned savings will buy a few acres of land at home, and make them village aristocrats.

What does life in the land of the free and the home of the brave mean to them? Exchanging Sunday garments of red and white embroidered cloth, for the grimy and sweaty overalls of a coal miner, and sunny skies for the gassy damp of the mine. When he goes back to the Fatherland, he takes out of the country as much money as his presence here has saved for us through a lower price of coal.

Had the American people been willing to pay a higher price for their coal, a more intelligent class of labor would have been willing to stay in the mines, and mine work would have been safer than it is today.

A college man who recently took up coal mining to learn the business says that the way some of the raw miners handle explosives seems like the act of an insane man. Instead of taking the cap from the head of the tin powder keg, and pouring out the powder through the natural opening, they will drive their picks through the head of the keg, and pour the powder from the jagged hole made by the iron.

It seems almost impossible to convince many of them that in blasting, wet clay or dummy cartridges, or other suitable material, must be very carefully tamped about the explosives at the bottom of the drill holes. Oftentimes they will use coal dust for this purpose, in itself a dangerous explosive, and pay the penalty with burns or death.

Our people refer contemptuously to these people as "Guineas," "Hunyaks," "Hunkers" and "Bohunks." But they are the descendants of races that have fought great wars for freedom and light. In the school of pain they have learned life's lesson of patient labor. We can make good use of their iron muscle and willing hearts.

But there is no profit in the cheap labor of a man who goes back with his hoarded bag of gold as soon as he has learned how to mine coal without endangering life.

GREAT PUBLICITY.

Publicity in newspapers and magazines to the amount of 1,500,000 inches a year on tuberculosis and its prevention is being given by the press of the United States, according to an estimate issued to-day by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

If all the publicity on tuberculosis given by the press of this country in the year ending April 1st were gathered in one paper, the National Association estimates it would make a paper of over 6250 pages. In the last four years, during which time an active publicity campaign has been carried on, the National Association estimates that over 5,000,000 inches or over 90 miles of press notices on Tuberculosis have been published.

"Publicity is the very heart of the educational campaign against tuberculosis," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, the Executive Secretary of the National Association. "Largely because of the intelligent co-operation of the press, has the anti-tuberculosis movement in this country been able to become, as it is, the greatest organized movement if its kind in the world. when tuberculosis shall have become a rare disease, the American press may justly claim a large share in this gigantic achievement."

PASSING OF CARPET TACK.

A gifted poet wrote some immortal verses on "The song of the shirt." At this time of year we long wished that some versifier would tune his lyre and sing the song of the carpet tack.

It would truly be a lugubrious ditty, telling of aching backs, dusty air, and the elusive and sardonic joy of the tack when he yields up his head in order to keep his feet in the floor.

Having felt through personal experience very keenly the sorrows of the taking up and putting down carpet season, it is with heart-felt emotion the we welcome the gradual disapperance of the carpet tack, due to the growing custom of using loose rugs and carpet squares. It seems quite possible that the carpet tack will pass into such oblivion, that any lines the poet might offer would scarcely be understood by another generation.

Certainly cleanliness and convenience are both promoted by the new styles of floor covering. And don't get too fussy about the portions of the floor that are left uncovered by your loose rugs and carpeting. Even if they do become heel marked and worn, remember that no material is fit for the home that can't be used, and that the marks are made by the hurrying, toiling feet of those we love!

STEPHENSON TO STAY

Senate, by Vote of 40 to 34, Declare Election Valid

Washington, March 28.—Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, octogenarian millionaire banker and lumberman, retains his seat. By a vote of 40 to 34, yesterday, the senate declared his election valid and rejected the charge that $107,793 which the senator admitted spending in the Wisconsin primaries was used corruptly.

Twenty-eight Republicans and twelve Democrats voted to hold Senator Stephenson's election was lawful. Eighteen Democrats and sixteen Republicans voted to declare it corruptly obtained.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

28—Beethoven Recital—Enrico Barraja.
28—Ladies' Night—Quincy Commandery Knights Templars—Alpha Hall.
28—Hospital Aid Asso.
28—Junior Friday Club.
29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen—Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum.

April

1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—DancingParty—Colonial Hall.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
16—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Quincy School.
17—Whist—Maple Iodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Coldin One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

THE MILITIA IS ORDERED OUT

Atrempt to Assassinate Mayor of Rock Island, Ills.

OFFICERS FIRE ON RIOTERS

Entire Sixth Regiment of National Guard Patrol Streets and Police Kept Busy Dispersing Infuriated Crowds—More Rioting Is Feared—Schriver Object of Bitter Attacks by All Political Parties unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Mayor H. M. Schriver at the city hall was made yesterday by an unidentified person who fired a rifle bullet through the mayor's office window from the top of a building several squares distant.

The bullet missed Mayor Schriver, who was standing in front of the window, and buried itself in the wall of the office. Militiamen and deputy sheriffs at once started for the person who fired the shot.

Governor Deneen ordered the entire Sixth regiment of the Illinois National Guard to proceed to Rock Island to assist in preserving order.

With two men dead, nine in the hospitals desperately wounded and four others hurt as the result of the battle between the police and citizens, infuriated over local political developments of the last few weeks, civil law in this town is practically suspended.

Members of the national guard are patrolling the streets, all saloons are closed and no one is allowed to loiter.

Infuriated by the speeches of Harry M. Caskerin, candidate for the Republican nomination for state attorney, Edward Gardiner, editor of a labor paper, and several other speakers in Market square, the crowd went to the police station, demanding a speech from Mayor Schriver answering the charges against his administration.

When Schriver failed to appear the men began throwing stones at the station house. The mayor ordered Chief of Police Brinn to clear the streets. Schriver, with Brinn, appeared in the street, and when the police line was being swept back the mayor gave an order to fire.

The crowd, frightened by the firing of the police, dispersed, but collected again an hour later and made an attack upon the Rock Island hardware store, a few blocks from the police station. The leaders smashed the windows of the store and sought to secure firearms, but were foiled.

One gang went to the office of the News, a weekly paper published by John Looney, a lawyer, and bitter enemy of Schriver. They demanded copies of Looney's paper, which recently published a bitter attack upon the mayor, but the entire edition had been confiscated by Schriver. Looney had been arrested and assaulted by Schriver in the police station several days ago. Looney is now in the hospital under arrest. When the crowd failed to secure copies of the paper, it started to wreck the building, and there was another call for the police.

Mayor Schriver has been the object of attack from all parties, including the Republicans, who elected him, because of his alleged arbitrary methods since coming into control of the city and all its departments under the commission form of government. State Attorney L. Y. Magill announced that he would ask the circuit court to summon a special grand jury to investigate the rioting and bloodshed and indict those responsible.

The police and friends of Schriver claim that the rioters were led by hoodlums from Davenport, Moline and Chicago. Nearly all of those in the hospitals are strangers to the police and are unknown in the town. Schriver says he will charge that these men were imported for the purpose of starting a demonstration against the city officials.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

New Hampshire Station Entered and Tickets and Furnishings Ruined

Salmon Falls, N. H., March 28.—The Boston and Maine railroad stations at Rollinsford and Salmon Falls were broken into by persons who demolished the office furniture and destroyed hundreds of dollars worth of tickets, but who stole nothing of consequence.

At both stations the cabinets containing tickets to all parts of the country were chopped to pieces with hatchets and the tickets were torn and scattered about the floor.

Austrian Fleet Reviewed

Vienna, March 28.—The German emperor aboard the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, reviewed the assembled Austrian fleet of thirty ships at Polas.

Village Board Quits In Anger

Newburg, N. Y., March 28.—Angry because the woman voters of the village of Cornwall on Hudson by a concentrated effort defeated a proposition to pay them a stated salary, the president of the village and the trustees have resigned.

A Woman Likes To Boast
about her cooking range and what she can do with it and it is really wonderful what some housekeepers accomplish with a Modern Glenwood Home Grand.

"Makes Cooking Easy."
This Glenwood can be had with the latest and most improved Elevated or End Gas Range Attachments. It has a powerful Water Front or, for country use, a Large Copper Tank on the end opposite fire box.
Glenwood Range
H. L. Kincaide & Co., Quincy

ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

(Continued from Page One.)

church attendance has increased within four months. Especially the Sunday evening service. The Sunday school has made the most marked increase, the average attendance being now about 180.

The Men's class, which is not included in the above figures, since it meets at 6.15 P. M. and not during the Sunday school hour, has averaged about 35, which would bring our Sunday school average over 200.

The Ladies' Aid is flourishing as never before and as ever is a most important adjunct to the church.

The Men's club too is a live organization and has shown its vitality.

The make up of our church is interesting, showing as it does how true it is that we are not a denominational church but essentially a Christian church. Of our membership, 66 united with us on confession. The rest by letter, of these 19 formerly were Presbyterian, 16 formerly Methodist, 16 formerly Congregational, 12 formerlyBaptist, 8 formerly from the Old Union church at the Point. 5 unknown.

I should like to call your attention to the matter of church support. The best way, proven by experience, is the European system, we should raise our money this way. I should not do away with Fairs, socials and suppers. They have great social value as they have a financial value but the running expenses of the church, the maintenance of preaching should be met by the voluntary offering. Let's pay for our religion,—not barter for it. The repairs, up-keep of the plant, new work, getting ready for the inevitable "rainy day" will need all the energy we can put into the "social" side of church finances.

On the whole I am optimistic about our church. We have increased in members, our attendance is good, by comparison. The spirit of our people is splendid. We are going ahead in the right direction.

I should like to see a still greater spirit of fellowship. Fellowship we do have, but we need more. We are more or less of a transient church. It is hard to keep in touch with our fellow worshippers but we ought to know fellow members. Could we but cultivate a spirit of fellowship, we would do more for our church than by any other way. We are a friendly church, let's be a Fellowship church.

The report of the treasurer showed the total receipts from all sources to have been $2,218.51 and the expenses $2,048.32 leaving a balance on hand of $20.19.

The next report was that of the Auditor who stated that he had inspected the books and found everything in fine shape. The report was accepted and filed.

The third report of the evening was that of the Prudential committee, who stated that a slight increase in expense had been incurred due to the fact that the alterations and repairs had been larger than usual, and that a concrete walk and step at the front entrance had been made; a new lighting system had been installed and a better light at less cost had resulted. The expenses for the year were in round numbers close to $1600, the envelope system and the Sailors Snug Harbor having provided $846, leaving $754 to be raised by other means.

The thanks of the Parish were voted to Mr. Perry for his services in changing the light system and to Mr. Shirley for the concreting.

The Music committee was then heard from, and in their report tendered by chairman J. W. Hendry, showed the resignation of Harold Newcomb, former chairman of the committee and of T. B. Pollard as choir director and that it was with great regret that both of these resignations were accepted. Since the resignation of T. B. Pollard, it has been hard to find one to fill the vacancy and for that reason the music has not been up to the standard. They recommended that Mrs. C. P. Marshall be appointed choir director for the ensuing year, and that $25 be used for music.

The report of the Ladies' Aid proved to be the most interesting of the evening. Their report showed a year of real prosperity and twelve months of steady gain had taken place; two fairs, several suppers and entertainments had been given. They have paid $325 towards the running expenses of the church and bought a new piano.

Most of the meetings have been held at the houses of the members and have proved both pleasant and profitable, and the membership has increased to 63; 50 women and 13 men. The latter being honorary members.

The officers of the Ladies' Aid are as follows:

President—Hamlet G. Holman.
Vice president—T. B. Thomas.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. R. McKenney.
Auditor—C. H. Sheburne.
Door Keeper—Marcus E. Wight.

These officers form an executive board for the management of affairs.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Marshall have done everything to help them, and as for Mr. Shirley, the Ladies Aid wish he could have a larger salary.

The report of the Men's club gave a short history of the past year, touching upon its active session for the past 8 months. It has had six regular meetings and held two entertainments, one debate, and one social gathering. One of the most interesting addresses being one on Japan that was much enjoyed by all.

The recent entertainment given on two consecutive nights, proved to be a great success and the executive committee voted the sum of $25, to be paid over to the Treasurer of the society for such use as the Prudential Committee may see fit. The sum of $51.00 had been given during the year by the Men's club to the Society, including the Ladies' Aid piano fund.

The last report was that of the Men's class. This class includes 100 members. It conducts a woman's meeting at the same time so that men not wanting to leave their wives and sweethearts at home, may bring them to the class meetings and conduct them home after the meeting.

The men's class has proved a great success and it is hoped to be carried on to even farther stages than at present.

At the business session of the meeting in connection with the budget, a telephone for the pastor was discussed and $35 was appropriated for that purpose.

In another discussion the pastor's salary was raised from $1000 to $1100, Rev. Mr. Marshall has worked hard and well deserves the increase which he received.

The budget appropriated the following sums:

Telephone	$35.
Pastor	1100.
Janitor	144.
Organist	91.
Coal	130.
Pulpit	40
Water and Sewer	36
Music	25.
Advertising	10.
Lighting	45
Sundries	100.

A proposition of J. W. Hendry's to change the constitution and by-laws of the Parish, with the object in view to lighten the road, financially, which the Prudential committee should not carry, and to create a committee consisting of the regular Prudential Committee, which consists of the Moderator, clerk, treasurer and two other members of the parish with the Senior Deacon, Superintendent of the Sunday school and Head of the Ladies' Aid.

Another statement by Mr. Hendry's was that at the present time their are members of the parish whom the Prudential committee do not know and therefore cannot get at its members in the same way as they did in 1883 when the parish first started.

Owing to the fact that the subject must be announced from the pulpit, the proposed plan was laid over and the meeting adjourned until April 3.

The plan is favored by all and no doubt will be carried out.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS HERE
Perhaps you do not fully realize all this bank could do for you if you were a depositor here As a depositor you would be entitled to many valuable privileges free of charge that would help you in your business. It is important for you to know something about these privileges—call and let us explain them.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Kincaide's Spring Opening Sale
Presents
New Go-Carts and Carriages Under Price
Come expecting to see the largest collection ever lined up on a retail floor—You'll not be disappointed. No matter what you want—what price you wish to pay—we have the very thing.
We've had our choice from the best makes of the country and none but those that pass the most rigid examination find a place here.
We'll take pleasure in showing you dozens of different models in Go-Carts from $1.98 to $7.75
Roadsters from $8.50 to $16.50
Pullman Sleepers from $12.50 to $23.75
Full Size Carriages from $9.75 to $35.00
Liberal Terms or Cash discount
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., QUINCY
Good Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

READ LEDGER ADVS.

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

The news of Mr. Howlett's intended resignation will be the cause of much regret to all who know him or are acquainted with his school. The high school has shown consistent improvement in every way since he came to it and he has had the united support of pupils, teachers and parents. In Medford he will have a greater salary and a finer building and equipment with which to work.

The Quincy School Masters' club has its semi-annual dinner at the Quincy House in Boston this evening. Almost twenty-five men will be present, among them being several former teachers in this city. Dr. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea is to be the after-dinner speaker.

The news that the finance committee of the City Council has reported favorably on the appropriation for industrial day and evening classes as well as special manual training classes for pupils not book-minded, so to speak, will be universally welcome. It is now generally realized that the next step for this city to take in Educational progress is in the way of adjusting the school work to the pupils and of preparing the pupils who wish it, for some specific after school work. This, the plans of the school committee undertake to do.

HIGH SCHOOL.

At a meeting of the class of 1913, held March 25, it was voted to give a reception to the class of 1912. Those appointed on the reception committee are, Margaret Johnson, Dorothy Lowe, Hortense Andrews, Henry Safford, Richard Crane, Edwin Brown.

The title of the play to be given by the senior class is "The Time of his Life." This is a two hour and a half play and it is probable that it will be preceded by a short sketch.

ADAMS SCHOOL.

The next meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' Association will be held in the building on the evening of April the eleventh. Mr. Albert L. Barbour, Superintendent of Schools, will speak on "Some Plans for Next Year. Miss Euphrasia Hunan of the first grade has charge of the meeting.

The prospects of a strong baseball team this year are very bright, Peter Williams has been elected temporary captain and is selecting his team from a large number of candidates.

MASS. FIELDS.

At a meeting of the art committee of the Parent-Teachers' Association held at the home of the president, Mr. Sidney Smith, on Monday evening, it was voted to purchase the following pictures:

Children Catching Minnows,	Curran, Grade 1
Hiawatha, Norris	Grade II
Contrary Winds, Webster,	Grade III
Holland Cattle,	Grade IV
Spring, Mouve,	Grade V
Puritans going to Worship,	Grade VI
Concord Bridge,	Grade VII
Constitution and Guerriere, Johnson,	Grade VIII
Capitol, Washington, D. C.	Corridor

Grade IV held a candy-sale last Friday, adding $6.15 to the art fund.

Grade V. will hold a sale this afternoon.

The Parent-Teachers' Association will omit the regular April meeting and will be the guest of the Wollaston Association at the new Wollaston assembly Hall, Monday evening, April 8.

Addresses,—"Vocational Training," Mr. S. V. Thompson, assistant Supt. of Schools, Boston.

"What Quincy is doing for Vocational Training," Mr. Albert L. Barbour, Supt. Schools, Quincy.

Music. An opportunity will be given to inspect the new school.

JOHN HANCOCK AND LINCOLN.

Grade eight of the John Hancock School had the highest per cent of attendance for that school for March.

Miss Bicknell's second grade of the Lincoln School has the double honor of having perefct attendance last week and leading the school in attendance for March.

Misses Kapples, McNeally and Strange of the John Hancock School and Misses Anderson, Clark, Viden and Wright of the Lincoln school will accompany Mr. Wilson on his personally conducted tour to Norfolk, Washington, Annapolis and Philadelphia, during the spring vacation.

WILLARD SCHOOL.

Miss Lucy H. Atwood, Miss Clara M. Shaw, Miss Annie Z. White, Miss Katherine M. Coughlan, teachers in the Willard school, have joined the party, conducted by Mr. H. F. Wilson, master of the John Hancock-Lincoln district, which will go to Washington, D. C., including Norfolk, Old Point Comfort, Philadelphia, Annapolis and New York.

The baseball team has been organized with Harold Hughes as captain. Eight of the players, accompanied by H. L. Upton master of the school went in to Wright & Ditson's store, Boston Saturday, and purchased a complete outfit for the season.

The printing press is kept very busy nowadays printing tickets, invitations, blanks for the school, etc. It is hoped that the plant will be enlarged next year so that a school paper may be started.

WOLLASTON.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association will be held in the assembly hall, Monday evening, April 8. Mr. S. V. Thompson, assistant superintendent schools, Boston, will speak on "Vocational Training;" and Mr. A. L. Barbour, supt. schools, Quincy, on "What Quincy is doing for Vocational Training.,

The School committee and Mass. Fields Parent-Teachers' association will be the guests of the association. Music.

Grade VIII held a class meeting on Wednesday noon and adopted a permanent class pin. It will be the raised form of the new building in a horizontal oval. Over the building will be the date of erection, 1912, and name Wollaston school; below the year of the graduating class, this year 12, next 13, etc.

The baseball team organized Monday noon and elected Gilbert Hamlin, captain and James Isibester, manager.

The stereopticon lecture "Historic Quincy," by Mr. Charles H. Johnson, neted the large sum of $95.85, which will be used to equip the gymnasium and playground.

Miss Agnes Fisher, Grade VIII, and Miss Dora Start, Grade II, will spend the vacation in Washington and Philadelphia.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS' READING.

If all high school seniors are like a group of fifty-nine in one of the Springfield high schools in their reading taste, youth of seventeen to nineteen are chiefly interested in romantic dramatic poetry and fiction, with very litle concern for esays, autobiography, and quiet narrative. Their young blood is evidently keyed to a high degree of emotionalism, and they want their fancy played upon by that which will excite it, with no pause for the working of quiet thought, or the action of reasoning power. They shy at history even in fiction form, and would cut biography as dry, essays as too tame or too deep,—even Shakespeare is sometimes stupid.

This is the partial finding of a Harvard professor who has interviewed fifty-nine Springfield high school seniors as to their preferences in reading within limitations set by the investigator as to kinds of reading and titles within those kinds, the complete list, divided into six groups, being calculated to include the books chiefly read in high schools in college preparatory courses. Poetry got twenty votes for first place, with that poetry such stirring compostions as Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal," Scott's "Lady of the Lake," Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish," and others. Nineteen votes were cast to put in first place the group of novels that included "Ivanhoe," "Tale of Two Cities," "Silas Marner," "Henry Esmond," "Lorna Doone," "Vicar of Wakefield" and "Cranford"—though the last two did little to win the group second place. Shakespeare, as represented by "Julius Caeser," "Merchant of Venice," "As you Like It," and "Twefith Night, "was put in third place by sixteen votes. That left two to vote in preference of a group composed chiefly of Irving's "Sketch Book," Lamb's "Essays of Elia," Ruskin's "Sesame and Lilies," and Emerson's and Carlyle's essays; one to vote for a group including Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," Chaucer's "Prologue," Pope's "Rape of the Lock," and Palgrave's "Golden Treasury," and one to vote for a group including the "Sir Roger de Coverly Papers," "Pilgrim's Progress," and Franklin's "Autobiography.

Of the poetry, "The Lady of the Lake" was rated best and pronounced "good stirring poetry," with Macauley's "Lays of Ancient Rome" condemned as too much sameness and failing to get a vote for first place, and Poe's poems having been read by but one of the fifty-nine—with rating of them not reported. "Ivanhoe got forty-two votes for first place, in the novel group, "Silas Marner" and "A Tale of Two Cities" dividing about evenly the remaining votes for first place, the former being conceded to have a "good plot though style too quiet," and the latter rated "thrilling but almost too terrible." "The Vicar of Wakefield" got set down as "rather dry," "The House of Seven Gables" as "not very interesting," and "Cranford,"—the dear ladies,—not getting a vote at all for first place, having too little action in it."

"Julius Caesar" was rated good, but with "too much history in it," and "Twelfth Night" was frankly pronounced "stupid except in the funny parts." There was "too much" of Franklin's "Autobiography"—with all of it "dry"—for the only six who had read it; "Pilgrim's Progress" was "uninteresting except in certain parts," and the "DeCoverly Papers" "tame." "The Deserted Village" one pupil would drop from the list entirely—possibly the same one who would put "As You Like It" off—though more than half rated it "rather good." "The Essays of Elia" were "too quiet," Emerson's essays "too deep," and Carlyle's essays had had no reading at all.

Very few of the books had been read by all and some had been read by very few, so that rarely the judgment of the whole company was brought to bear on any single volume and never on any group as a whole. Plainly the choice fell upon that which appealed to the imagination without too greatly taxing the intellect.—New Bedford Standard.

COMMON DUMPING GROUND.

A citizen who maintains a modest house in the Back Bay took his wife and children to Springfield the other morning. The choreman was given a holiday. The cook and "second girl" helped themselves to one, and in the joy and excitement of sudden departure left the outside door unlocked. When, quite unexpectedly, the family returned ahead of them on the following morning the man of the house ran into an enlightening illustration of the lengths to which some promoters of business are prepared to go. Counting the unsealed literature, not extensive in volume, that had come by mail, he found in the letter box, in the vestibule and on the doorsteps seventeen circulars, cards and samples of merchandise. Probably he missed some of the samples he might have received, since a conscientious distributor will seldom leave his two ounces of breakfast food or his miniature cake of soap unless he can place it in somebody's hands. And doubtless the seventeen gentlemen who contributed souvenirs did so with clear consciences, since the citizen in question has broad steps and a capacious vestibule—being therefore the fairest kind of target, as compared to the dwellers in apartment houses, whose storage facilities of this nature are limited to a shallow letter box.

We have spoken of the fact that a percentage of the seventeen-piece collection was found upon the doorsteps; but we cannot undertake to say what proportion of the matter thus deposited had been blown down to the Public Garden or up to the Fenway or into Newbury street, and that uncertainty tends to provoke reflection. It is understood that, though the citizen did not solicit or care for any of the literature, he would have cheerfullly accepted that which was mailed to him, and he would have raised no violent objection to the specimens that were safely confined in his vestibule. He did find fault, however, with the practise of using his doorsteps as a public dump, since the stuff thus flung in his direction was almost certain to be added by vagrant breezes to the litter of thoroughfares that are none too clean at best. It seems to us that this objection was well founded and worth the consideration of persons who think that newspaper space and postage stamps are unduly expensive, and that therefore they must find a cheap way to advertise. Perhaps they are right. Undoubtedly they hit upon a cheap way when they decorate the streets with handbills. But in view of the effect produced upon people who have to remove or endure the rubbish it strikes us that such advertising is worth just about as much as the trifle it may cost.—Boston Transcript.

OUT OF COMMISSION

Birmingham, Salem and North Carolina Placed In Reserve

Washington, March 28. — The cruisers North Carolina, Birmingham and Salem will be placed in the first reserve of the Atlantic fleet April 20, under certain orders by the navy department. The Portsmouth navy yard will harbor the North Carolina, while the Birmingham will berth at the Philadelphia yard and the Salem at Boston.

The training ship Wabash will remain in commission at Boston until the Salem goes into reserve.

New Investigation by House

Washington, March 28.—An investigation of the "smelter trust" by the house committee on mines and mining was proposed by Representative Martin of Colorado in a resolution introduced in the house.

PICTURESQUE VIEWS

(Continued from Page One.)

first touched upon and its narrow streets and dark skinned people shown

In place of the slave block in Zanzibar we now have a cathedral. The open sore of Africa—the slave trade, has now been healed. In 500 years over 8 million slaves were sold.

For this reform the speaker credited in glowing terms the work of David Livingstone whom he characterized the head and at the front of that band of missionaries who walked undisturbed on the heights of duty and service to the human race.

The clove plantations, the dugout sailing canoes of the fisher folk were shown and the audience was introduced to the oldest inhabitant of Africa, a 500 year old tortoise whose birth preceded that of Columbus and who was expected to live two and a half centuries longer.

Roosevelt was mentioned and his picture brought forth applause. Taft, shown a minute later, was also heartily received.

"They say," said Mr. McQueen, "that there are still over two million wild beasts in Africa even after Mr. Roosevelt came home."

Mentioning some correspondence he had had with the Ex-president the speaker stated that he had not been put in the Ananias club as yet.

A long series of pictures followed in which all of the traits and customs of the various tribes were depicted.

An interesting picture was that of the Africa branch of the ivory house of Childs and Company of New York which showed a large group of elephant hunters bearing huge tusks which they had brought long distances from the interior to sell. The ivory in each tusk is worth over 600 dollars.

The expedition to the interior was then taken up and the provisions gathered and the retinue collected was described.

Those present were brought face to face with all the big game of Africa in its native haunts and some thrilling experiences concerning the trip were related by the speaker.

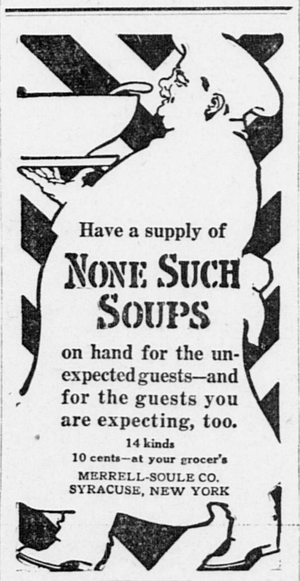
The lecture closed, with the description of the climb up Mount Kilimanjaro, the king of Africa mountains.

Up this mountain Mr. MacQueen and his party ascended to the height of 19,400 feet, the highest point in Africa to be reached by an American. In recognition of the feat he was awarded medals by the German societies.

The lecture was largely atended and considered a success in every way.

Brockton Man a Suicide

Brockton, Mass., March 28.—Walter A. MacKay, aged 23, a shoe cutter, hanged himself in the basement of his home here. In place of a rope he used his belt, one end of which he fastened to a beam in the cellar ceiling. MacKay had been out of work for several weeks and was despondent.



QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & CO.

THE LADY'S SHOP

Number Four Maple Street,
JOHNSON BUILDING. - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial

Opening Display

... of ....

1912 MILLINERY

and

EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25
and continuing
TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob. 23-1w L-23tf

HOUSE MAY ACT

Interested In Coal Crisis In the Anthracite Fields

Washington, March 28. — That the house may take some action looking toward a settlement of the anthacite coal situation was the pith of a statement made by Representative Frank Buchanan of Illinois, a member of the house labor committee, and the author of a resolution calling upon the department of commerce and labor to supply the house with certain facts relative to the anthracite coal industry in Pennsylvania. This resolution is now pending before the committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

Mr. Buchanan said that he expected this committee to take his resolution shortly, and in all probability to report it favorably. It is also understood unofficially that the bureau of labor is quite ready and able to co-operate as desired.

Members of the house and of the senate as well think that by Monday, on which date the supreme court is expected to hand down the long-awaited decision on the anthracite coal roads, the coal situation will be at acute interest in Washington.

Dress in Comfort These Chilly Mornings

You can have an open well ventilated room for sleeping, and dress in it in perfect comfort if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

Let the furnace fire go out as soon as you like now---no use keeping it going just because the weather may be chilly now and then.

The REZNOR will take care of you in any emergency and will save you money because, with it, you consume fuel only while you need heat.

It creates no odor---It creates no smoke.

We have them in every size and style from

$2.50 up

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT COMPANY

11 Granite Street

LOWER TARIFF WILL STEADY PRICES

Kennedy Blames High Rates For Sudden Rises

Washington, March 28. — Julian Kennedy, known as the Edison of the structural steel industry, was the star witness yesterday before the Stanley steel investigating committee.

Chairman Stanley asked the witness if there was not some way to equalize prices of steel except by pooling agreements. Kennedy declared it was his belief a lower tariff would tend to equalize prices, because it would allow foreign products to come in when there is a sudden demand for steel. Under the existing high tariff, Kennedy said, any sudden expansion of the demand results in the raising of prices.

The high tariff on tubes, Kennedy asserted, was responsible for the demoralization of prices on tubes prior to 1899. The Chinese wall of a high tariff, he added, had caused many tube concerns to spring into existence and prices were slashed in consequence. Kennedy said he had been employed about this time by J. P. Morgan to appraise all the tube plants in the country. This, he testified later, resulted in the organization by the Morgan interests of the National Tube company, which had the effect of steadying prices.

TWO BARGES SUNK

Crews Are Rescued by Life Savers as Vessels Go Down

Norfolk, March 28.—Word has reached here that life savers of the Cobb Island station rescued seven men, composing the crews of the barges Gaston and S. D. Carlton, and Mrs. Fick, wife of Captain Fick of the Gaston, just before the two vessels sank in the quicksand Monday.

The two barges, and a third, the City of Washington, were in tow of the tug Edward F. Luckenbach. Captain Little of the latter claims there was a dense fog and light sea on when the vessel struck shore, but Captain Fick of the barge says there was no fog and not much sea.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

$5500 Marked down from $7000. Offered for 2 weeks only

10 Room House in perfect condition. 9600 feet of land. Gurney Hot Water Heater installed this winter. Quartered Oak Floors throughout, even in the closets. Electric Lights. Gas. Laundry.

RICKER REAL ESTATE

Words inadequately describe this splendid place.

Sale must be made within 2 weeks or not at all.

Owner will make very liberal terms.

1416 Hancock Street Quincy

March 27-2t

Quincy Auto and Truck Show
AT THE
WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE
WOLLASTON STATION
Monday, April 1st, 10 A.M. to 10 P.M.

Not a joke, but a real live show. We invite you to call and see our Show Cars.

Metz Roadster Rambler Tourer
Commerce Delivery Truck
Lauth Juergens Truck

If you are thinking of buying or exchanging, we have just what you need, and we can show you what they will do.

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

26-6t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPECIAL SALE
NEW SPRING SUITS
$25.00 Suits this week for $18.00

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Advertise In The Ledger

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 25	3.45	4.15
Tuesday,	4.45	5.15
Wednesday,	5.45	6.30
Thursday,	7.00	7.45
Friday,	8.00	8.45
Saturday,	9.00	9.30
Sunday,	10.00	10.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	60 degrees
Mar. 28, 1911,	51 degrees
Mar. 28, 1910,	57 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The weather this morning was very spring-like and met with general approval.

The newly elected officers of Quincy lodge of Elks will be installed at the next meeting, April 9.

Ladies' night of Quincy Commandery Knights Templars tonight at Alpha hall. The program includes a banquet and dancing.

Thomas Fallon, manager of the Boston Ice Cream Co., has recovered from a severe attack of tonsilitis, returning to work today.

Fred H. Whittemore for the past six years cashier at the office of the Citizens Gas Light Co., has accepted a position with the State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Boston. He is to assume his new position, April 15.

The annual masque party of Manet encampment I. O. O. F. will be held Friday evening at Alpha hall and promises to be as enjoyable as events of a similar nature of other years. Dancing will be enjoyed from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Miss Josephine Bailey of Upland road, the pleasant and obliging night waitress at A. J. Thompson's Cafe was taken suddenly ill early Wednesday morning and was removed to the City Hospital where she was operated on for appendicitis.

WHIST TOURNAMENT.

There was a good attendance at the weekly whist tournament at the Granite City club Wednesday evening. The best scores of the evening were made by George P. Mead and Mark L. Read, Jr. The monthly high scores were made by S. T. MacQuarrie and Mark L. Read, Jr. while the consolation was awarded to Horace F. Spear.

Blow Causes Loss of Mind

Onnard, Cal., March 28.—Complete aphasia, coming more than five hours after he had been struck a terrific blow on the head, developed in the case of Sheriff E. C. McMartin, who was attacked by a man he sought to question while pursuing the unidentified murderer of Constable Wrenn Willard. Although they believe his mind will soon be restored, physicians are puzzled by the case.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

Bake bread if you like, but PRATT'S BREAD is baked for you.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200
Jan. 15-tf L&O

Midway at the Panama-Pacific Exposition Will Be the Most Striking and Original of All

By HAMILTON M. WRIGHT.

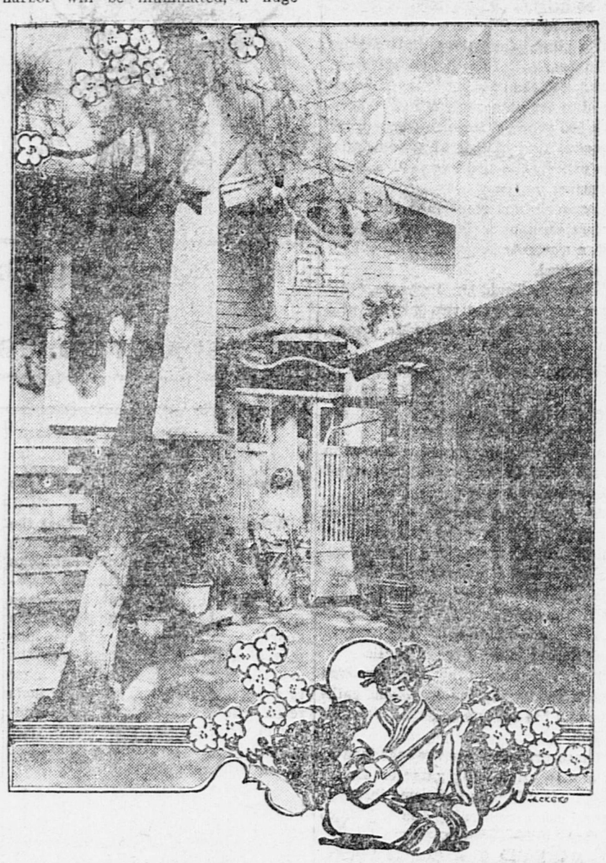
FOLLOWING the battleship parade into San Francisco harbor—the opening event of the Panama-Pacific International exposition in 1915—there will be a program of events of world interest and importance in a succession of two months apart, interspersed with lesser events: Yacht and motorboat races of an international character for great trophies and cash prizes; aviation meets with the famous bird men of the world; Olympic games, in which the athletes of the world will take part; intercollegiate contests; automobile races, in which the holders of the world's records will participate in the automobiles of every nation; military maneuvers, in which the crack cavalry and infantry of this and other nations will participate upon an extended scale. The location of the exposition gives widest scope for the greatest international sports program in history. The auto races will pass into Golden Gate park before the huge concrete Coliseum seating 75,000 people. The military maneuvers and Olympic games will also be held in the Stadium. On San Francisco bay motorboats will vie for the world's records before the Harbor View site of the exposition. Noted yachtsmen will sail from Europe across the Atlantic to New York and then through the Panama canal to San Francisco. Personal invitations will be extended to the foreign rulers to attend the exposition if possible or to be represented by their diplomatic representatives in the royal yachts.

The concession and amusement features at the exposition will be among the most striking and original ever displayed. The "Midway" will be located at the Harbor View site of the exposition, the location of the night life of the exposition, and every possible feature that can be conceived as appropriate to an exposition will be shown. The Chinese residents of San Francisco have under way a project for a great Chinese concession which will be surrounded by a replica of the great wall of China, inclosing within its environs a series of Chinese communities and embracing every possible feature of interest in Chinese life from the manufacture of silks and ivory and woodcarving to sampans and junks floating on miniature waterways and portraying the life of the river dwellers around Canton. The concession will cost $1,000,000, and influential Chinese with American attorneys and engineers will shortly leave for the orient. From Nevada concessionaires will establish a riproaring mining camp, picturing the days of '49 and the bonanza era of the Comstock lode. Bret Harte's heroes, old Wells Fargo stage drivers, gamblers and gambling, bad men, prospectors, shootings and holdups will lend a realistic touch to the camp.

But the chief charm of Harbor View for most people will lie in its setting on San Francisco bay. As the crow flies the site extends along the water front for about a mile, but following the irregular contours of the shore the distance is more than that. Along the entire water's edge at Harbor View will be built an esplanade, or bund, along which visitors may walk, and an existing lagoon will be made the basis of a superb yacht harbor. Classic columns will rise from the water's edge, and near by will be the great exposition structures, the Palace of Liberal Arts, the educational building, the manufactures building and other edifices that house the more serious phases of the exposition, as distinguished from the amusement features. Harbor View lies as an amphitheater, with its sides the wooded slopes of the Presidio and the tenanted hills of San Francisco. It is near the most populous part of the city and is not more than twenty minutes' walk from Nob Hill, where lived the multimillionaires of California's early mining days. Looking down from the hills one can see all over the Harbor View site, while from Harbor View itself one may look out over the bay through the Golden Gate to the Pacific ocean. At night Harbor View will be brilliantly illuminated with incandescents, Finsen lights and waterfall illuminations. A chain of lights will stretch across the Golden Gate, the international fleet of battleships in the harbor will be illuminated, a huge commemorative structure towering 1,300 feet above the Golden Gate will be surmounted by a searchlight, and its outlines will be limned with incandescents. In fact, the contours of the exposition site will be visible for miles away.

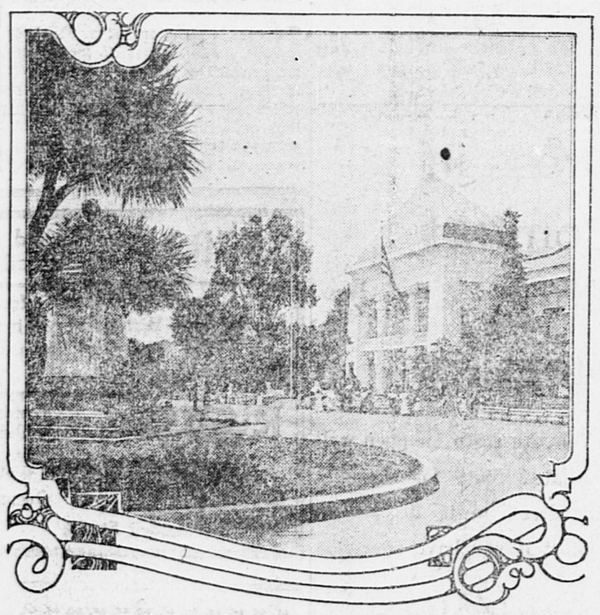
The west will be on exhibition to those who view the Panama-Pacific International exposition in 1915. Under the stimulus of cheap railroad rates and convenient traffic arrangements thousands will have an opportunity that they could have in no other way to know their own country better. Side excursions to the Yosemite, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, the Yellowstone National park, the Redwoods of the north coast of California, the big trees of the Sierras on the approach to the Yosemite, the side trip to Alaska by the inland channel, will be parts of the delightful and educative features of a visit to the exposition.

Routing over any of the eight transcontinental roads that terminate upon the Pacific coast will enable the traveler to come by one route and return by another. Visits to the slopes of Puget sound and the great fast growing cities there, the Great Salt lake, the Santa Clara valley, with its prairies of flowers; the orange orchards stretching from the northern portion of the state to Los Angeles; Redlands, Riverside and San Diego and the journey through the Panama canal, either coming or returning, perhaps most wonderful of all, will be among the unusual opportunities of 1915, to see much of the world at a moderate expenditure and under conditions never before obtained. When the Panama canal is in operation ships will negotiate the journey between Atlantic and Pacific coast ports in less than three weeks' time.



JAPANESE TEA GARDEN IN GOLDEN GATE PARK, SAN FRANCISCO

Japan will make the greatest exhibit ever shown from the Flowery Kingdom at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915.



THE MUSEUM IN GOLDEN GATE PARK, SAN FRANCISCO.

Amid semitropical settings will be located the permanent features of the Panama-Pacific International exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915.

A GLIMPSE OF CHINATOWN, SAN FRANCISCO.

China will display a wonderful exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR INSTRUCTOR

Infuriated Convict Fells Him With Ironing Board

SAVED BY ANOTHER CONVICT

Boston, March 28.—A convict became a life-saver at the Charlestown state prison yesterday, when he grappled with an infuriated inmate who had knocked an instructor of the clothing department to the floor insensible, and, with an ironing board poised high in the air, was about to deliver what he afterward boasted would have been "the finishing touch."

The attack came without warning. Bedlam reigned among the seventy convicts in the room when they heard the sound of blows, the cries of the assailed man, and saw the latter, who is Martin Leftovitch, one of the two instructors in the department, fall insensible to the floor.

Not satisfied with the result of his blows, the assailant raised his weapon high over his head.

Just as he was about to crash it down on the skull of the helpless instructor, a fellow convict made a flying leap, caught him by the arms, and the two rolled upon the floor.

An officer who was on duty in the room took a hand in the melee, and the board wielder was soon quieted.

Leftovitch, upon examination by doctors, was found to be suffering from severe wounds of the scalp and face.

A blow on the side of the face had driven his teeth through the cheek. There was also a gash on his arm received in an attempt to ward off the attack. He was taken to his home in an automobile, and last night his condition was said to be critical.

The man who made the attack is now in confinement under surveillance. He will be examined as to his sanity, as officers at the prison have noted strange actions on his part recently.

For several days Leftovitch experienced difficulty with the man, who received instructions as to his labor in a surly manner. His term of imprisonment would soon have expired, and this is one of the reasons that make his act inexplicable to the prison authorities.

Warden Bridges stated that he could not make public at this time the names of the prisoner who made the attack and of the prisoner who saved the instructor.

A reward in the shape of a shortened sentence, if not a pardon itself, will probably be given the convict who came to the rescue. When questioned on this point, Warden Bridges stated that he was not in position to express himself as to the recognition that might be given the brave convict.

SURROUND THE ALLENS

Expected That They Will Be Taken Before Twenty-Four Hours

Hillsville, Va., March 28.—Posses are moving upon the courthouse assassins from two sides, and a fight is expected within the next twenty-four hours. Fifty horsemen, who last night slowly encircled the strongholds up in the Blue Ridge where the remainder of the Allen gang is believed to be hiding, left their mounts in the thicket and worked single file to points of vantage from which they expect to charge upon the outlaws at daybreak.

Sheriff Haynes of Surrey county, N. C., with a volunteer posse of fifty also, is waiting to move from Mt. Airy. The posses have taken equipment to remain in the mountains until they take the outlaws, or are assured of their escape from this section.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Quincy Readers.

For months Quincy citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by residence of this locality.

Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable?

Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement?

No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time.

The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Quincy reader.

John Callahan, 55 Prospect Street, Brockton, Mass., says: "I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have been greatly benefited by their use. I was annoyed by a lame and aching back and my kidneys did not act regularly. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, and they gave me entire relief. I am glad to confirm the statement given in their praise by a member of my family in 1908."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN WE HAVE WATERCRESS.

WATERCRESS makes a useful spring salad. It may also be stewed, served in soup or combined with meat or vegetables. It is the best garnish for fish.

Placed between slices of whole wheat bread with thin slices of hard boiled egg and properly seasoned it makes wholesome sandwiches for the children's lunch.

Plain Salads.

The simplest salad is with French dressing.

Watercress With Oil.—Pick the cress carefully, removing all the fine rootlets, throw into cold water, in which it should be allowed to soak for a couple of hours. Dry with a cloth and serve with a French dressing made as follows:

To two tablespoonfuls of olive oil allow one of vinegar, a half saltspoonful of salt, a quarter of a saltspoonful of white and of cayenne pepper. Mix these ingredients well with a fork and serve with the watercress.

Combination Salad.

The cress may be combined with other vegetables, as in this case:

Watercress and Potato Salad.—Take one pound of potatoes, two bunches of watercress, a chopped onion, French dressing and a hard boiled egg.

Wash and peel the potatoes, boil them until tender, drain and while warm cut into thin slices. Wash the watercress, pick all the leaves from the stalks and mix with the potatoes and onion. Before serving pour the French dressing over the salad.

Soups and Stews.

Watercress Soup.—Take a pint and a half of white soup stock and heat it. Add to it watercress leaves that have been washed and parboiled and stewed in two ounces of butter for about five minutes and then passed through a sieve. Let the stock with the leaves simmer for a few minutes; then thicken with the yolk of an egg, butter and milk beaten up together. When serving garnish with a few leaves of watercress.

Stewed Watercress.—Clean the watercress by laying it in strong salt and water. Pick and wash it and stew in water for about ten minutes. Drain, chop, season with pepper, salt and butter and return to the stewpan until well heated.

Serve on slices of toast or fried bread with slices of hard boiled egg. A little vinegar may be added to the cress when it is eaten or it may be taken with melted butter alone.

Anna Thompson.

101 Years Old

1810-1911

No other liniment has ever become so popular with all the people.

Countless aches and pains have been relieved, swellings reduced, sprains, scalds, bruises, cuts, rheumatism and lamenesses cured.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

A few drops in sugar or sweetened water, taken inwardly, effect a magic cure of colds, sore throat, cramps, bowel disorders. 25c and 50c Bottles at all dealers.

I. S. JOHNSON & CO. Boston, Mass.

PARSONS' PILLS tone the system, giving vigor and strength.

Babbitt SOAPS NEW YORK

Best Soap
Borax Soap
Naptha Soap
White Floating Soap
1776 Soap Powder
Pure Lye or Potash
Cleanser

Coughlin & Donovan Quincy, Mass.
Crothers & Seiders Wollaston, Mass.
Johnson Bros. Quincy, Mass.
R. E. Foy & Co. Quincy Adams, Mass.

carry the line

Are You Saving the trade-marks?

They are redeemed for beautiful and useful presents

Ask your grocer for catalog

Mail Orders Executed Promptly

B. T. BABBITT, INC.
Box 1776, New York City
Please mention when writing

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

CHAPTER XIII.—Yancy awakes from long dreamless sleep on board the raft.

CHAPTER XIV.—Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles. Charley Norton, a young planter, who assists the judge, is mysteriously assaulted.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER XVI.

The Judge Offers a Reward.

The news of Charley Norton's murder spread quickly over the county. For two or three days bands of armed men scoured the woods and roads, and then this activity quite unproductive of any tangible results ceased, matters were allowed to rest with the constituted authorities, namely Mr. Betts, the sheriff, and his deputies.

No private citizen had shown greater zeal than Judge Slocum Price. One morning he found under his door a folded paper:

"You talk too much. Shut up, or you'll go where Norton went."

A few moments later he burst in on Mr. Saul.

"Glance at that, my friend!" he cried, as he tossed the paper on the clerk's desk. "What do you make of it, sir?"

"Well, I'd keep still."

The judge laughed derisively as he bowed himself out.

He established himself in his office. He had scarcely done so when Mr. Betts knocked at the door. The sheriff came direct from Mr. Saul and arrived out of breath, but the letter was not mentioned by the judge. He spoke of the crops, the chance of rain, and the intricacies of county politics. The sheriff withdrew mystified, wondering why it was he had not felt at liberty to broach the subject which was uppermost in his mind.

His place was taken by Mr. Pegloe and on the heels of the tavern-keeper came Mr. Bowen. Judge Price received them with condescension, but back of the condescension was an air of reserve that did not invite questions. The judge discussed the extension of the national roads with Mr. Pegloe, and the religion of the Persian fire-worshipers with Mr. Bowen; he permited never a pause and they retired as the sheriff had done without sight of the letter.

The judge's office became a perfect Mecca for the idle and the curious, and while he overflowed with high-bred courtesy he had never seemed so unapproachable—never so remote from matters of local and contemporary interest.

"Why don't you show 'em the letter?" demanded Mr. Mahaffy, when they were alone. "Can't you see they are suffering for a sight of it?"

"All in good time, Solomon." He became thoughtful. "Solomon, I am thinking of offering a reward for any information that will lead to the discovery of my anonymous correspondent," he at length observed with a finely casual air, as if the idea had just occurred to him, and had not been seething in his brain all day.

"There you go, Price—" began Mahaffy.

"Solomon, this is no time for me to hang back. I shall offer a reward of five thousand dollars for this information." The judge's tone was resolute. "Yes, sir, I shall make the figure commensurate with the poignant grief I feel." He was my friend and client—"

The next morning it was discovered that some time during the night the judge had tacked his anonymous communication on the court house door; just below it was another sheet of paper covered with bold script:

"To Whom It May Concern:

"Judge Slocum Price assumes that the above was intended for him since he found it under his office door on the morning of the twenty-fifth inst.

"Judge Price begs leave to state it as his unqualified conviction that the writer is a coward and a cur, and offers a reward of five thousand dollars for any information that will lead to his identification."

* * * * * * * * *

Tom Ware was seated alone over his breakfast. He had left his bed as the pale morning light crept across the great fields that were alike his pride and his despair—what was the use of trying to sleep when sleep was an impossibility! He was about to quit the table when big Steve entered the room to say there was a white fellow at the door.

"Fetch him along in here," said Ware.

The white fellow delivered a penciled note from Murrell. When he was gone, the planter ordered his horse.

As Ware rode away from Belle Plain he cursed Murrell under his breath. His own inclination toward evil was never robust; he could have connived over a long period of years to despoil Betty of her property, but murder and abduction was quite another thing.

Three miles from Belle Plain he entered a bridle path that led toward the river. A growth of small timber was standing along the water's edge, but as he drew nearer, those betterments which the resident of that lonely spot had seen fit to make for his own convenience, came under his scrutiny; these consisted of a log cabin and several lesser sheds.

Landing, he advanced toward the cabin. As he did so he saw two women at work heckling flax under an open shed. They were the wife and daughter of George Hicks, his overseer's brother.

"Morning, Mrs. Hicks," he said, addressing himself to the mother, a hulking ruffian of a woman. "Anybody with the captain?"

"Colonel Fentress is."

"Humph!" muttered Ware. He moved to the door of the cabin and entered the room where Murrell and Fentress were seated facing each other across the breakfast table.

"Well, what the devil do you want of me, anyhow?" demanded the planter.

"How's your sister, Tom?" inquired Murrell.

"I reckon she's the way you'd expect her to be." Ware dropped his voice to a whisper.

"John, you'll ruin yourself with your damned crazy infatuation!" It was Fentress who spoke.

"No, I won't, colonel, but I'm not going to discuss that. All I want is for Tom to go to Memphis and stay there for a couple of days. When he comes back Belle Plain and its niggers will be as good as his. I am going to take the girl away from there tonight. How soon can you get away from here, Tom?" he asked abruptly.

"By God, I can't go too soon!" cried the planter, staggering to his feet. He gave Fentress a hopeless beaten look. "You're my witness that first and last I've no part in this!"

The colonel shrugged his shoulders. Murrell reached out a hand and rested it on Ware's arm.

"Keep your wits, Tom, and within a week people will have forgotten all about Norton and your sister. I am going to give them something else to worry over."

Ware went from the cabin.

"Look here, how about the boy—are you ready for him if I can get my hands on him! I'll send him either up or down the river and place him in safe keeping where you can get him at any time you want."

"This must be done without violence, John!" stipulated Fentress.

"Certainly, I understand. Which shall it be—up or down river?"

"Could you take care of him for me below, at Natchez?" inquired Fentress.

"As well there as anywhere."

"Good!" said Fentress, and took his leave.

(To be Continued.)

Murderer's Last Day

Wethersfield, Conn., March 28.—Andrea Tanganelli, aged 25, will be hanged in state prison here at midnight for the murder of Mrs. Mamie Davis in New Haven last September. On the eve of the execution he said: "If I did what the witnesses say I did, then I ought to die, but I remember nothing of it."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

IS ALL GOING TAFT'S WAY

Roosevelt Is Routed In New York and Indiana

CONTEST IS NEARLY OVER

Number of Delegates Needed to Win Nomination Is 540, and President Already Has 240—Roosevelt Followers Are Much Disappointed Over Results in Indiana and New York, and Will Issue No Statement

Washington, March 28.—The prevailing view here is that the contest for the Republican nomination for president is now practically over. President Taft now has 242 delegates either instructed or pledged. Roosevelt has twenty-four, La Follette ten, and Cummins two.

The exact number of delegates elected to seats in the Republican national convention is placed by Acting Chairman Rosewater at 1078, making 540 the necessary majority to nominate. This is nearly 100 more than in the convention of four years ago.

Telegrams from various sections of the country received at Taft headquarters indicate that in many places there is already a scramble for the band wagon. Apparently the country-wide view is that Indiana and New York have settled the contest.

The men at Roosevelt national headquarters are making no effort to conceal the discouragement they feel with the general outlook. Senator Dixon was absent from headquarters yesterday, and it was announced that no statement of any kind would be issued. The lieutenants of the senator said they understood that the action of the Indiana state convention would be contested, but they admitted that they had no official information on that subject.

The result in New York state was a hard blow to the Roosevelt people. The Roosevelt managers had confidently counted on the third-term candidate winning in most of the New York city districts. The official returns showing that Taft has at least seventy-nine of the district delegates in the Empire state, the home state of the third-term candidate, tended to take all the vim out of the Roosevelt campaign. The president will, of course, have the four delegates-at-large from New York, which will give him eighty-three of the state's ninety delegates.

In reply to the allegation of Senator Dixon, that the Roosevelt candidates were discriminated against in the make-up of the New York primary ballot, Director McKinley of the national Taft bureau said:

"My attention has been called to an allegation by Senator Dixon, Mr. Roosevelt's manager, that the Taft candidates for delegates in New York county were placed at the top of the ballot and the Roosevelt candidates for delegates-at-large at the bottom. If Senator Dixon made any such statement as this I am led to infer that he has not personally examined one of those ballots. The facts are these:

"The New York state primary law, as is the case with nearly all the state primary laws, recognizes the party organization as the responsible representative of each political party and gives it a place on the ballot in accordance with the votes cast by that party at the big elections. On the Republican ballot in New York Tuesday, the Taft delegates were at the very bottom of the first column, while the Roosevelt delegates were at the bottom of the second column, exactly opposite the name of the Taft candidates, and were all the more conspicuous on the ballot for the reason that there were no other candidates for any office in the second column.

"Above the names of the Taft delegates in many districts the names of at least fifty candidates for various offices were placed, and there was nothing to distinguish them except a small heading stating the position for which they were running."

TO VOTE ON WAGE BILL

Miners In Great Britain Tired of Enforced Idleness

London, March 28.—The government won its first important victory in the coal strike negotiations when the Federated Miners' union adopted a resolution to put the question of accepting or rejecting the minimum wage bill to a ballot of the rank and file of the miners.

Thousands of striking miners are tired of idleness and weary of the suffering it has entailed, and are anxious to return to work. Consequently, Premier Asquith is confident that the referendum vote will be largely in favor of the bill.

French Lessons for Prince

London, March 28.—It is understood the Prince of Wales will go to Paris Monday and stay with the Marquis de Breteuil, who was an intimate friend of King Edward. The prince is already an excellent French scholar, but King George is specially desirous his son shall perfect his accent.

MRS. PHILIP S. HICHBORN

Her Elopement Cause of Husband's Suicide

CAUSED BY ELOPEMENT

Suicide of Son of Late Rear Admiral In Washington

Washington, March 28.—Philip S. Hichborn, a young lawyer, and son of the late Rear Admiral Hichborn, killed himself last night from despondency and humiliation over the elopement more than a year ago of his wife, Elenore Hoyt Hichborn, with Horace L. Wylie, a prominent Washington attorney. He shot himself in the head with an automatic army revolver, and died almost instantly.

Hichborn went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Paul S. Pearsall, for dinner. The family were out, and shortly after his arrival servants heard a shot in his room. The door was broken in and he was found dead. On a table he had left a sealed note. The coroner took charge of this and its contents may be made known if the families consent.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Automobile Tires
At the Lowest Prices
Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires
Carried in stock.
Other makes supplied at short notice.
Automobile Supplies
Good Oils at 28c per gal.
Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.
F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. March 21-tf

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-5m

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-J.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.
AUCTION SALE
— OF —
Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock
About 100 Lots
Sale at Quincy Adams
At Freight House of New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.
April 9th, 1912, at 10 A. M.
Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made at time of sale, and goods removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. L. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justices of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

Telephone 1196 M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
86 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 349-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf 1p

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1152 M Nov. 3-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON, Florist

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Quartered Oak 5-foot roll top Derby desk. Nice condition. One third cost price. F. P. Waterhouse, Wollaston. 25-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

FOR SALE
THE COZY HOME
No. 56 Upland Road
Consisting of 8 rooms, all improvements, electric light and gas, about 5,000 feet of land, also small building in the rear which can be used for a garage. Call and see
JAMES F. BURKE
The Real Estate Man
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Quincy, Mass.
16-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Ten more ladies to solicit orders from house to house in Quincy and vicinity. No delivery or collections. Straight salary and permanent work for those who bring results. Apply to H. Jarmuth, Hancock House, Quincy. 28-6t

WANTED—One or two rooms for light housekeeping. Address K. Ledger Office. 27-3t

WANTED—A boy who can milk and assist generally, or a man who can milk and has time to come morning and night. Dr. Abele, 18 Spear street. 27-3t

WANTED—Bookkeeper with experience. Apply at Hollis Market, Braintree. 27-3t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1207 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

PENNIMAN'S
TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W Mar. 11-1m

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

H. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

TO LET

FOR RENT—One half double house six rooms, attic and bath. Veranda and large yard. 3 minutes from station and electrics. Rent $20. Apply 36 Pleasant street, Quincy. 27-6t

TO LET—An attractive 5 room heated apartment. All modern conveniences. Apply to Nathan A. Ellis, 86 Revere road. 26-3t

TO LET—5 room tenement, very pleasant. All improvements $15.00. R. J. Barry, Grocer, Atlantic. 26-6t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. New house. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-12t

FOR RENT—An apartment of 5 large, sunny rooms on lower floor. Furnace, range, gas, bath. Location pleasant and quiet. Centre of Quincy. Address P. O. Box 367, Quincy. 19-tf

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses Inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-4*

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up. Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $2.00 to $7 per week.
Desk Room—Street floor, right in the rear of main entrance, good light, low rent.
Store—Street floor Granite street, 3 large windows, excellent opportunity.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 36 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

"Talk about a square meal"

What's better for breakfast than a hot, steaming dish of buck-wheat cakes with plenty of syrup. Our

Rock Candy Drip and Maple Syrup 25c

is absolutely pure and not as costly as the pure sap syrup

Hecker's Buckwheat 15c

Is the best Buckwheat on the market. Buckwheat to be good must be fresh—and if you buy it here, it always will be fresh—never any old stock on hand.

R. E. FOY & CO
COR WATER AND QUINCY STS
QUINCY ADAMS

March 27-2t

BRIEFS

Walter Weaver of Franklin street, has recovered from his recent illness and is able to be at work again.

The building and land at the corner of Chestnut and Maple street has ben sold to William A Bradford. It is understood that the rooms now occupied by the Advertiser will be cut up into offices and that there will also be offices on the first floor.

Bay State Street Railway Company

TIME TABLE

In effect November 1, 1911

(Subject to change without notice.

Leave QUINCY for

Braintree, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M Sundays, 7.55 A. M. and then same as week days.

Brockton, 6.15, 6.50 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M., then 9.50 P M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton 6.20, 7 A. M., and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy and East Milton, 5.30 5.50, 6.10 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.10 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25 A. M., then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M., then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M., then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.35, 7, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M., then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, 5.15, 5.35, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M Return, leave Houghs Neck, 5.45, 6.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M., then 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 7.20 8.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.35 P. M.

Neponset via Hancock Street, Week Days, 5.40, 6.21, 6.51 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Sundays, 6.51 A. A. and every 30 minutes, until and including 10.51 P. M. then 12.15 midnight. Return, leave Neponset. Week Days, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.35 midnight. Sundays 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.00 P. M. then 12.05 midnight.

Neponset via Wollaston, Week Days 6.04, 6.34, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Sundays, 7.04 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.04 P. M. then 11.21 and 11.51 P. M. Return, leave Neponset, Week Days, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight. Sundays, 7.15 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. then 11.30 P. M. and 12.00 midnight.

Leave NEPONSET for

Squantum, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 9.25 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.25 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Return, leave Squantum 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.15, 8 A. M and every 60 minutes to 10 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent

Neponset, via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 8, 8.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A M. then the same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8 A. M. then same as week days.

Quincy Point, 5.15, 6, 6.15, 6.35, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35, 7.50, 8.05, 8.20, 8.35, 8.55, A. M. then 5, 25, 35 and 55 minutes past each hour to 6.35 P. M. then 7.05 P.M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.35, 8.05, 8.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Quincy Point, 5.53, 6.20, 6.42, 7.10, 7.25, 7.40, 7.55, 8.10, 8.54 A. M., then 10, 20, 40 and 50 minutes past each hour to 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.10 midnight. Sundays, 8.10, 8.40, 8.50, 9.10 A M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20 6.55, 7.25 7.55 A. M. then every 30 minutes, until and including 10.55 P. M. Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Weymouth Landing, 5.45, 6.15, 6.40, 7.15, 7.45 A. M. then every 30 minutes until and including 11.15 P. M. Sundays 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

BRIEFS

Mrs. A. Turner has moved to the Palmer Block on Atlantic street.

Mrs. H. B. Wells of Webster street is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Brown of Plymouth.

Mrs. Sarah Butler of Atlantic street is spending a short vacation with relatives in Manchester.

Mrs. Angus Polson of Marshall street returned to her home Tuesday from the Homoeopathic hospital.

All the public schools of the city will close Friday for the Easter vacation, which will continue one week.

Mrs. Charles W. Hodgkinson has returned from a week end visit to Mrs. R. G. Gilmore at New London. Ct.

All persons on probation at the Hall Place M. E. Church are eanestly requested to attend the prayer meeting at the Parsonage, Friday evening, March 29th at 7.30 P. M.

Mrs. Cecil Marble and her son, Carlton, rendered an instrumental duet on the piano in a very able manner, after which the meeting was adjourned until April 24.

The Mothers' club met at Memorial church, Wednesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Lyndon Gurney, presiding. After the transaction of the business the afternoon was spent in the discussion of various questions.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect Oct. 1, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 49	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 20	fedba	9 42 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	1041 1
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 17
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 17	fedcba	1 40 r
r 12 19	abcdefghi	12 45	1 45	a	2 02
r 1 22	a	1 40	2 15	abcdef	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 74 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	c	4 78
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 03	b	7 21	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 22	Exp	7 37	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 31	ecba	6 52 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	fedcba	8 28 r
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfecba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 32 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 45	a	9 02 r
7 15	Exp	7 30	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 7 21	abcdefghi	7 47	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 12	a	9 30
r 10 46	abc	11 05

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 10.59, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.23, 8 17, 10.15 A. M. 12.25, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.28, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10 25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22 6.18, 9.10 11.30 P.M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, .37, 10.15 P. M.

FINE PROGRAM IS PRESENTED

Entertainment Given by the Ladies' Aid Society

THE PROGRAM

A rare treat in the form of an entertainment was offered to the large gathering that assembled in the vestry of the First Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening. The affair was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society and was most successful. All those who contributed to the program came in for their full share of well merited applause and every number was greatly appreciated by the audience.

A piano solo from the "Bohemian Girl" was rendered in a most exquisite manner by Mrs. Flockhart and her work was the occasion for repeated applause. George Robertson followed with a vocal solo and made a decided hit. A trio selection by Miss Alice Ross, violin; Miss Helen Cummings, violin; and Mrs. Ernest Collins, pianist; elicited such great enthusiasm that the participants were forced to respond to repeated encores. The musical portion of the program concluded with a reading by Mr. Robertson, who portrayed in excellent style the funny experiences of a twin.

A sketch, entitled—"A Business Meeting" brought a most enjoyable event to a close. Great credit is due to the entire cast as every one in it acquitted herself with honors. At the conclusion of the entertainment an apron sale was in order and many useful articles were disposed of in a way that added still further enjoyment to an already successful program.

The cast of characters was as follows:—

Mrs. Gilflora Smith	Mrs. John Makay
Miss Celina Gray	Mrs. James Matheson
Mrs. Samuel Hoyt	Mrs. Charles Ross
Mrs. Mercy Brown	Mrs. Muckle
Mrs. Crowler	Mrs. John Tytler
Mrs. Henderson	Mrs. Alfred Bishop
Mrs. Lowell	Mrs. John Cappaccieli
Miss Araminta Sharp	Mrs. Mutch
Miss Keene	Mrs. Frank Slavin
Miss White	Mrs. Samuel Tinney

ORGAN RECITAL AND MUSICAL

The organ recital and musicale given in the Memorial church on Monday evening was greatly enjoyed by all. Dr. Julius E. Ward was the organist, and the Westland quartet, gave several selections. The Westland quartet is composed of Misses Myra Louise Eckhoff, Viola Van Orden Alice Gertrude Coe and Mrs. Dorathy McTaggart Miller. The program was as follows:

Overture, Tempest and Sunshine
Dr. J. E Ward

Wake Up Sweet Melody	Quartet
Organ Selection	Dr. Ward
The Bells of Shandon	Quartet
O That We Two Were Maying
Miss Van Orden and Mrs. Miller
Organ Selection	Dr. Ward
Swallow Song	Miss Eckhoff
Organ Selection	Dr. Ward
The Rosary	Quartet
Organ Selection	Dr. Ward
The Lost Chord	Quartet

The quartet is very well known about Boston and Quincy and was well appreciated by the audience Monday evening.

BASKET SOCIAL.

The Golden Circle of the United Presbyterian church held a basket social and entertainment at Colonial hall Wednesday evening. The entertainment program included songs by Thomas Melrose, recitation by Miss Grace McKinnon, duet by James Beauman and H. Paterson. Recitation Adam M. Ourd and song by James Beauman.

Then came a tableau by the members of the circle entitled "The Bachelor's Dream." Those in the tableau were, Evelyn McKenzie, Jeanie Russell, Margaret Gordon, Nan Mehan, Gertrude Bonham, Georgie Marcus, Effie McKenzie, Grace McKinnon, Mary Russell and Marion Russell.

Following the entertainment came the sale of baskets.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, .. Quincy, Mass.

IS TENDERED A LINEN SHOWER

Miss Julia I. Thomas, of Bay View road, was tendered a linen shower, by a number of girl friends Tuesday evening. On calling at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Chester D. Brown, 208 Franklin street, she was greatly surprised when about twenty of her friends showered her with linen. It was a complete surprise and she was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. After recovering from the surprise in a few well-chosen words she thanked all present. A dainty collation was served and music and games were enjoyed the remainder of the evening.

Those present were Mrs. G. A. Loring and Mrs. G. P. Hall of Dorchester, Mrs. Isaac McNeil of Quincy Point, and Mrs. A. Thomas, Mrs. W. Adrian, Mrs. W. Walker, Mrs. Prout, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Kootz, Mrs. C. Jones, Miss Gertrude Dean, Miss Flossie Pratt, Miss Hilda Anderson, Miss Mae Veal, Miss Edith McVitie and Miss Ethel Ball of Quincy.

RAISE FUNDS FOR MISSION WORK

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Wollaston Baptist Church, under the leadership of Miss Ethel Campbell and Mrs. Kendall Harriman held a social in the chapel Wednesday afternoon which was attended by forty-seven boys and girls and several of the parents.

The president, Miss Muriel Dresser, presided during the presentation of the following program:—

Piano Solo	Gertrude Bullock
Welcome	Miss Campbell
Recitation	Vivien Dresser
Missionary Fields	A guessing game
Song	Mabel and Harris Christopher
Duet

Marion Porter and Martha Waring

This was followed by the collection of the missionary money earned by the members in the past three months, the total being $47.03. The largest sums were earned by Miss Marion Porter, Master Palmer Mitchell and Miss Martha Waring.

A prayer of consecration by the pastor followed the enthusiastic reception of the news of the successful outcome of the energetic endeavors of this band of young people. Light refreshments were served by the Social committee.

DIANTHUS CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Dianthus club of Atlantic was entertained Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brown, 42 Woodville street, Roxbury. Jonquils, being found in every place appropriate for them even on the napkins and tally cards, furnished the decorations for the afternoon and the effect was very pretty.

Souvenirs were won by Mrs. Wm. I. Hartley of Appleton street, Mrs. Walter P. Hill of Clive street and Mrs. L. J. Hayford of East Squantum street.

Up to this time Mrs. Brown had already proved herself to be a delightful hostess but she soon furnished further evidence of this fact. All were invited into the dining room where a tasty repast was served. Upon entering the room each member was presented with an Easter greeting card, as a reminder of the Easter season so near at hand.

The club members are anticipating another good time—a Matinee Theatre Party—in the near future. Adjourned until April ninth.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Lenten services, consisting of the recitation of the rosary, sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. were observed last evening in St. John's and St. Mary's Catholic churches and both edifices were taxed to their fullest capacities on the occasion. The speaker at the former was was Rev. Francis A. Cunningham, of St. Leo's church, Dorchester, who gave an able discourse on "Christ, the Ideal." Rev. Michael J. Cuddihy of St. Margaret's church, Dorchester preached an eloquent sermon on "Salvation" at St. Mary's church. At St. John's church, Rev. John J. Casey, officiated, while Rev. William F. Duffy said benediction at St. Mary's church.

—"Swat the fly!" is the appeal of boards of health with the spring season. There is little use in swatting the fly without swatting the conditions which make the fly possible says the New Bedford Standard.

SUGAR MAGNATE DEAD

Arbuckle Was Head of Largest Coffee Concern In Country

New York, March 28.—John Arbuckle, the noted sugar and coffee magnate and one of the best known philanthropists in the United States, died suddenly at his home here at the age of 74 years. He was in his office on Saturday seemingly in good health, but was taken with a chill and went home. His illness was considered slight, but there was a sudden turn for the worse and the doctors were unable to revive their patient.

Arbuckle was the head of the firm of Arbuckle Bros., established in 1871, which was the largest single concerns dealing in roasted coffee in packages in the United States. He was a director in many of the banks and trust companies of this city and Brooklyn, his residence being in the latter borough.

He took up the sugar business as a rival of the American Sugar Refining company and was perhaps the most potent independent factor in the sugar trade.

MEN FOR HARD FIGHT

Lancaster Mill Owners Remove Cloth From the Looms

Clinton, Mass., March 28.—Preparations have been begun by employees and employers for a long siege in the strike of the weavers of the Lancaster mills. Preparations were made to remove the unfinished cloth from the looms, the grimmest sign in a textile war, and this immediately was met by the 2300 striking employees by the formation of a permanent finance committee to secure funds for the strikers.

A notice has been posted by President Arthur H. Lowe of the mills to the effect that the mill has paid as high salary as any competing mill, and as high as could be afforded. Any increase, it was stated, would be suicidal for the employers.

RUNAWAY GIRLS ARE LOCATED IN LYNN

Brought Back to Waltham and Put Behind Prison Bars

Waltham, Mass., March 28.—Penitent and penniless, Lila Harwood, 17, and Eva Browning, 18, returned to this city from Lynn after an absence of two weeks. Their home coming was not voluntary. They were brought back from Lynn by Inspector McKenna and waited behind the bars at the police station until their parents saw fit to visit them.

The two girls disappeared from their homes two weeks ago, and shortly after they left Mrs. Harwood discovered that $90 had disappeared. The police were asked to locate the pair.

Their money gave out while they were in Lynn and they had nowhere to go. They attracted the attention of the Lynn police and soon told their names and addresses.

REBELS VICTORIOUS

Last of the Mexican Troops Have Fled From Jiminez

Jiminez, Mex., March 28.—The rebel victory is complete. The last of the federal forces, covering their retreat by heavy artillery fire, have fled from Jiminez.

The reported retreat of the federal general, Trucy Aubert, seems to have been a mask, for yesterday he was reported to have reorganized his troops and to be returning to attack Jiminez.

It was reported that he already had opened battle with a detachment of insurrectos at a place known as Rancho San Pedro, about ten miles from this city.

Information that Aubert had ceased his retreat and was returning to the attack resulted in cancellation of an order issued earlier in the day for General Campa, with 600 of his rebels to occupy Parral, two hours' journey by rail from here. Campa was ordered to report at this place at once.

The rebel column still at Escalon, thirty miles south of here, has been ordered to proceed north to attack Aubert in the rear. It is possible, though not probable, that Aubert has not heard of the repulse of the other federal columns and still expects to be supported.

INVENTS NEW TURBINE

Much More Powerful Than Anything Ever Before Built

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 28.—Professor S. J. Zowski, head of the department of hydraulics at the University of Michigan, has designed a turbine which, it is said, exceeds by nearly 50 percent the power of any other turbine ever built.

The new wheel, the last of four recently designed by Professor Zowski, was tested at the United States testing flume in Holyoke, Mass., and recorded an efficiency of 89.2 percent.

Fire Destroys High School

Buffalo, March 28.—Fire destroyed the Masten Park high school building, a $250,000 structure. All of the 1000 pupils escaped.

REV. A. L. HUDSON AT WOLLASTON

Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson of the First Church, Quincy, preached at the mid-week Lenten service last evening at the Wollaston Unitarian Church. "Oh send out thy light and thy truth; let them lead me" served as the text of a very thoughtful and uplifting discussion, the subject of which was the "Leadership of Jesus."

Stating as a fact the universal need of leadership felt by humanity, the preacher easily led the thought of the congregation from the leadership of generals and great intellectual guides to that higher and spiritual leadership which was in Jesus of Nazareth, and to which the liberal religions today pay tribute. Religion is the consciousness of God; and Jesus has most beautifully of any peronality in all the ages enshrined the thought of God and presented it in living form to struggling men whose hearts were needing strength and inspiration.

In the present age of great commercial progress, neither religious nor literary pursuits have made notable headway, yet in this twentieth century the simple and remarkable life of Jesus, with its supremely human call to mankind, has steadily gained in power and influence.

The musical program included a solo by Mrs. Oscar L. Baker and a duet by Mrs. O. L. Baker and her father, Herbert Baker. William Ellis Weston presided at the organ. The last in the series of special Lenten services for the deepening of the moral and religious life will be held Wednesday, April 3. The Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of West Newton, one of the ablest clergymen in New England, will preach the sermon and Miss Marion Moorhouse, the well-known cellist will render two selections.

MAYOR STONE ENTERTAINS

Mayor Gleason and Superintendent of Schools Marston of Marlboro are in town today as the guests of Mayor Stone. The visitors arrived eary in the afternoon and after visiting City Hall were taken in an automobile on a tour of inspection of some of the school buildings of the city. They also made a call at the rooms of the Board of Trade where they were received by President Hearn and Secretary Hall.

The new advisory board met in the office of Mayor Stone at City Hall, Wednesday evening and discussed plans for equalizing the real and personal estate values of the city. They will get down to hard work immediately.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Adelaide J. Osgood late of Avon in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

GEORGE E. ADAMS, Adm.
(Address)
18 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.
March 26, 1912.
3t 28-4-11

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland of Quincy, County of Norfolk, State of Massachusetts to George H. Field of said Quincy dated Sept. 29,1909 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Libro. 1122, Folio 529 for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described, on Monday, April 22, 1912, at fifteen minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:—A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on the southerly side of Hunt Street in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic; bounded and described as follows: Northerly by Hunt Street 51.58 feet, Easterly by Lots 1 and 2 on plan hereinafter named 114.85 feet; Southerly by land of owner unknown 51.62 feet; Westerly by Lot No. 4 on plan hereinafter named 116.73 feet containing 5972 square feet of land. Being lot No. 3 on plan of H. C. Mildram dated August 6, 1892.

Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $3500 and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be. $100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Mortgagee.
3t 28-4-11

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland of Quincy, County of Norfolk State of Massachusetts to George H. Field of said Quincy dated Sept. 29,1909 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Libro. 1122, Folio 529 for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described, on Monday, April 22, 1912, at fifteen minutes past three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:—A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on the southerly side of Hunt Street in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic; bounded and described as follows: Northerly by Hunt Street 51.58 feet, Easterly by Lots 1 and 2 on plan hereinafter named 114.85 feet; Southerly by land of owner unknown 51.62 feet; Westerly by Lot No. 4 on plan hereinafter named 116.73 feet containing 5972 square feet of land. Being lot No. 3 on plan of H. C. Mildram dated August 6, 1892.

Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $3500 and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be. $100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Mortgagee.
3t 28-4-11

ORDER OF MOOSE INITIATES 23

The membership of the local lodge of the Order of Moose was again increased at the meeting held Wednesday evening in Faxon hall, when twenty-three members were admitted.

A class initiation will take place in the same hall next Sunday afternoon and the second degree work will be performed by the Brockton degree team. Refreshments will be served at the close of the exercises.

We are becoming too well trained to think that any snowstorm is the last.

By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts to George H. Field of said Quincy dated Sept. 20, 1909 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds libro 1121 folio 478 for breach of the conditions of said mortgagee and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described on Monday, April. 22, 1912 at three o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows:—A certain parcel of land with the building thereon situated on the Southerly side of Hunt Street in that part of said Quincy called Atlantic, bounded and described as follows:—Northerly by Hunt street 50 feet; Easterly by Lot No. 3 on plan hereinafter named 116.73 feet, Southerly by land of owners unknown 43.26 feet; Westerly by Lot No. 5 on plan hereinafter named 117.02 feet. Containing 5458 square feet of land. Being Lot No. 4 on plan of H. C. Mildram dated August 6, 1892.

Said premises will be sold subject to a prior mortgage of record of $3500 and to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be. $100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale, and the balance within ten days thereafter.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Mortgagee.
3t 28-4-11

Office Room 3, Adams Bldg. Quincy By Charles H. Johnson, Auctioneer. Tel. Quincy 1145 W.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John E. Poland of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, State of Massachusetts to George H. Field of said Quincy dated May 28, 1909 and recorded in Norfolk Registry of Deeds, Libro 1111, Folio 504 for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction upon the premises hereinafter described on Monday, April 22, 1912 at fifteen minutes past four o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises conveyed in and by said mortgage deed and substantially described as follows viz: A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Oxenbridge Road in that part of said Quincy which is called Wollaston in "Taylor Terrace" being Lot 240 as shown in a plan of said Taylor Terrace, drawn by Frederick E. Tupper, surveyor and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Lot 240. being described as follows: The said lot 240 fronting 45 feet on a proposed street called Oxenbridge Road and running back from said proposed Oxenbridge Road 96.02 feet on the southerly line and 96.76 feet on the Northerly line and containing 4338 square feet of land.

Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles if any there be . $100 will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale and the balance within ten days thereafter.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Mortgagee.
3t 28-4-11

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 76 QUINCY MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 29, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

QUINCY COMMANDERY HOLDS ITS INITIAL SOCIAL EVENT

Sir Knights with Their Ladies Enjoy Banquet at Alpha Hall. Followed by Dancing

Many Handsome Gowns Worn by the Ladies. Those Present

Quincy Commandery, U. D. Knights Templars, made its initial bow in the social world Thursday evening, when it held the first, of what will be an annual social feature. That is to say, its first ladies' night. The affair was held at Alpha hall and was a pronounced social success. It was an unusual pretty party and many exquisite gowns were worn by the ladies. Many of the Sir Knights appeared in uniform and the brilliancy of these uniforms added color to the scene.

The program included a banquet, served at 6.30, followed by dancing until 11.30. The arrangements were in charge of the Council, who included Em. Commander, Henry P. Furnald, Generalissimo, Sir Walter E. Piper and Capt.-General, Sir. John Morgan. The committee was most assiduous in the performance of its duties and the arrangements were perfectly carried out. These officers formed the reception committee as well as the committee of arrangements and were at the entrance to extend greetings to the fraters and their ladies as they entered the hall.

There were a number of guests present who ipcluded Rt. Em. Sir. J. Albert Blake, Past Commander of the Grand Comandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, Sir. Edward E. Jameson, Captain-General of DeMolay Commandery, Em. Sir. Alfred B. Parker, Past Commander of Cambridge Commandery, Em. Sir, Arthur W. Burr, Past Commander of South Shore Commandery and Em. Sir. Fred W. Bates, Commander of South Shore Commandery, who were accompanied by their ladies. There were also several Sir. Knights from neighboring Commanderies present.

Maxim's orchestra of Weymouth furnished music during the banquet and also for the dancing. It was but a little after 6.30 when Adjutant , Sir David Hansen, gave the command to form for the march to Union hall where the banquet was served. The line was headed by Em. Sir. Henry P. Furnald, Commander of Quincy Commandery and Mrs. Furnald. Immediately following were the invited guests and officers of Quincy Commandery who occupied seats at the head table. This table was laid across the westerly end of the hall and extending toward the east were three long tables at which the Sir Knights with their ladies were seated. The blessing was asked by the Prelate, Sir William A. Bradford and for the next hour all were busy with the good things set before them.

EM. SIR HENRY P. FURNALD, Commander.

(Continued on Page Two.)

REP. W. J. LESLIE AT WEST QUINCY

Addresses Improvement Association on Quincy Bills

DISCUSSION FOLLOWS

An enthusiastic meeting of the Ward Four Improvement association was held Thursday evening at its club rooms. President Little presided and after the routine business introduced Representative Leslie who spoke at length on all of the Quincy bills before the legislature. He paid particular attention to the so-called Greater Boston bill explaining it in detail.

REP. W. J. LESLIE.

He was followed by several members of the association and a general discussion was had of the Greater Boston bill. The sentiment on this bill is about equally divided as to those being in favor and those against. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Representative Leslie in his remarks said:

Mr. President and members of the Ward 4 Improvement Association, it gives me great pleasure to have an opportunity to meet the members of your association and to present to you some of the facts concerning bills before the Legislature that are of interest to the citizens of Quincy. The first that I will take up is House Bill, No. 191, bill accompanying the petition of Daniel J. Kiley for legislation to provide for the consolidation or annexation of certain cities and towns into a greater Boston.

I will not go into the entire merits of the bill, but will give some abstracts from the different sections after reading the bill.

Section one urovides that 5-8 of the entire votes cast in all cities and towns shall decide for annexation. One city or town would then be voting on the rights of another, for instance Quincy, Brookline & Newton might vote against annexation and Boston (with its large vote) Cambridge and a few other large cities would vote in favor and annexation would be carried. In this instance Quincy, Brookline and Newton would become a part of Greater Boston against their wishes and here arises a question of constitutionality.

"It is claimed by some that section two of the amendments to the constitutions which provides that the Legislature has the power to create municipal or city governments, in any corporate town or towns would govern section one of this bill; there are others who claim this is not so and as there is no precedent of such an act in this State, this would have to be left to the courts to decide. To me, it does not seem right, where if a city or town did not wish to become a part of Greater Boston, it should be compelled to do so against the wishes of its voters.

"Section 4. says that if less than 5-8 of the vote cast is against annexation, the question shall not be submitted to the voters again for three years neither does it provide that the question shall be again submitted so that

(Continued on Page Three.)

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass.. February 20th, 1912.

Feb. 24—to May 1

ARTISTIC AND CREATIVE WORK

Fine Array of Talent Shown at Wollaston Exhibition

THE EXHIBITS

Great success attended the exhibition of original artistic and creative work done by Wollaston residents; which was held in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church, Thursday afternoon.

The exhibit by far exceeded the expectations of the committee in the array of talent it brought forth. The affair was held for the benefit of the community, no admission being charged.

In addition to paintings in oil and water color, designs and posters, were specimens of handicraft such as china painting, jewelry, embroideries, laces, artistic photographs, basket work and the like.

The exhibit was placed under the direction of the committee in charge which consisted of Miss Harriet E. Turner, Mrs. Charles A. Jameson and Mrs. Robert E. Park.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was the reading by little Miss Katherine Kimball of "The hail storm" and "Alice's surprise party," two prize stories contributed to children's department of the Boston Herald. Katherine has been a frequent prize winner in these contests both for stories and photographs.

Tea was served by Mrs. Benjamin Sargent, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Lacey, Mrs. Walter King, Miss Gertrude Jones and Miss Theodosia Park.

In conjunction with the exhibit, an Alliance food sale was conducted with Mrs. Charles T. Baker, Mrs. Harrison Loud, Miss Maria Weston, Mrs. George Weston, Mrs. William Boynton and Mrs. Paul R. Brodbeck in charge.

The exhibition included a large display of children's work from the Wollaston school. For the lace work and embroideries much of the designing was done by Miss Dora Luard.

Among the exhibits were the following:

Portraits and landscapes in oil by Mrs. Raymond E. Huntington, nee Elizabeth Thayer.

Oil portraits, water colors and magazine covers by Harold M. Sweet.

Book Covers, book plates and posters by Elisha B. Bird.

Oil paintings and cover designs by F. C. Sanborn.

Sketches in oil by Mrs, Frances A. Dalrymple.

Water color sketches by Miss Elizabeth Hubbard.

Photographs by Mrs. S.P. Moorhouse Edward R. Hall and W. W. Henry.

Pastel by Mrs. Robert E. Park.

Miniatures by Mrs. Charles L. Leavey.

China painting by Mrs. F. B. Smith and Miss Flora Wight.

China painting, embroideries and lingeries by Mrs. Charles H. Brigham.

Leather tooling by Mrs. Carl G Horst.

Basket work in raffia and reed in Indian patterns and other designs by Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield, and Miss Bernice Everett and Miss Grace L. Parker.

Painted screen and coats of arms by Mrs. John H. Litchfield.

Jewelry, brass work, wall paper designs and friezes and Irish laces by Miss Ninon Lacey.

Enamel work, interior decoration and wood carving by Mrs. Kate Simmons Wyand.

Arts and crafts jewelry by Mrs. Charles A. Jameson, Mrs. John L. Barbour and Mrs. E. S. Tenney.

Copper lantern by Jesse I. Litchfield

Irish crochet by Mrs. Henry Macdonough.

Embroideries by Mrs. Paul R. Brodbeck and Miss Evelyn Cummings.

Stencil work by Mrs. E. S. Tenney.

Embroideries and lingerie by Mrs. Adelaide C. Armstrong.

Hand worked children's dresses by Mrs. Clinton Jones.

The exhibit was patronized by a steady stream of people the entire afternoon and many were the remarks in praise of the skilful accomplishments.

INSTALLED AT BEVERLY

Rev. Edward A. Chase Assumes His New Pastorate

QUINCY FRIENDS ATTEND

Rev. Edward Abbot Chase, for many years pastor of the Wollaston Congregational church, whe resigned his pastorate in Wollaston several months ago to accept a call to Beverly, was installed as pastor of the Washington street Congregational church of that city, Thursday evening, several of his former parishioners at Wollaston being present at the ceremonies, the official representative from the Wollaston Congregational church being, Rev. Rufus B Tobey and Rev. Edward Norton.

(Continued on Page Three.)

☞Toast made from PRATT'S BREAD is better for your children than cake.

J. LEWIS ELLIS, Architect

Office: Durgin & Merrill Block, Quincy

If you propose to build or make alterations, give me a call. It will cost you nothing to look at sketches and talk it over. Charges reasonable.

Hours: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, from 10 A.M. to 5.30 P.M. Evenings by appointment. Telephone 1560. 29-1 mo.

High Class Millinery

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Opening Saturday and Monday

ALL CORDIALLY INVITED

MRS. D. P. TAYLOR

Hancock Building, City Square

NO CARDS

March 29-2t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPRING OPENING

SATURDAY, MARCH 30

An Easter Gift to Each Customer

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

March 29-2t

GET YOUR EASTER SUIT HERE

And This Week if Possible

You can't be too particular about getting clothes that are correct in style. I want my customers to be particular; I am particular about it when I buy the goods—they've got a style about them that's distinctive—and the quality of the materials and tailoring keeps them looking stylish after long wear. They don't go out of shape the way most clothes do..

Now—just before Easter—our display racks are full of the latest Spring Suits for men and boys. The man who can't find here something just to his mind, at a price he will cheerfully pay will not get what he wants in Quincy—that's sure

In colors for this season, grays and browns are to be particularly strong and then comes blues. Tans will also be popular as well as a great number of mixture effects.

Two and three button sack suits; coats with long soft roll fronts; some with the "smart" narrow, English shoulders, others with shoulders of medium width; splendidly modeled to hug and to fit—where fit is the hardest. Vests that show above the coat and vests that show not at all. Snappy, smart and stylish.

Popular prices prevail $10, $12.50 to $16.50

AND BOY'S SUITS—Just as carefully tailored as are the suits for men, extra quality of cloth, from $2.50 to $6.

All the New Styles in Men's Hats

Every man in Quincy can find here just the hat he wants.

When you come here, you expect and get a good hat.

Lamson & Hubbard Hats	$3.00
The Jones' Special Ha	$2.50
The "Best in the City" Hat	$2.00
Soft Hats	$1.00 to $3.00

The Ralston Shoes

For Quincy's Best-Dressed Men.

All leathers, all lasts - - $4.00

Distinctive New Ties for Men

A man doesn't want to buy new spring ties that look just like last year's ties. I thought of that when I selected these entirely new silk ties.

Different designs in diagonal stripes and figured patterns.

The Real Cheney Ties	50c
Other Handsome Ties	25c

E. & W. Shirts

Made of best quality madras and percales---handsome patterns, negligee or with bosom - - - - - - $1.50

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street, "Just around the Corner" Quincy

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

All the politicians claim to be progressive, but some of them like the Down East fishermen, have to spit overboard to see which way they are going.

The whole political situation can be summarized in a line. The Republicans in 1908 promised to revise the tariff downward, and they haven't done it.

If a minimum wage bill is not passed soon, some of these $300 ministers would be justified in marching up and down the aisle bearing strike transparencies.

When we observe the bath robes that the girls have been wearing about the streets this winter, it is with relief that we welcome the coming of summer.

Caruso has been guaranteed $7,000 a performance for 15 appearances by the music lovers of Buenos Ayres. Ty Cobb will have to go some to equal that.

Government scientists have found potash enough in California to last thirty years, and the question now is how the trusts can protect their rights against the common people octopus.

If Secretary Knox can't be contented unless he is on the go, we wish he would keep away from those turbulent South Americans, and visit some safe places like our historical museums and antiquarian collections.

Some of the ocean steamships are being fitted up with anti-rolling tanks, to prevent sea sickness. If they aren't careful it will cost more to board the passengers, and what are the fish going to live on?

The Allen gang will give up if allowed to plead second degree murder. Having never disgraced themselves by such acts as sawing wood or hoeing corn, the ends of life have been fully attained.

TOO DULL FOR HETTY.

A picture of pastoral simplicity of life is given in the announcement that our good friend Mrs. Hetty Green is to move back from New York to Hoboken.

"She soon grew lonesome for the old friends in Hoboken" says her son, Col. Green. "She prefers the simplicity of her apartment, and loves to have the old neighbors around in the evening to sit and chat in the old fashioned way." Her apartment, it may be mentioned, rents for only $19 a month, which does not make much of a hole in an estate estimated at $75,000,000.

Mrs. Green is not the only one. No doubt many a jaded millionaire wanders through his echoing marble halls with the feeling that a palace never was a home and never can be.

No matter what elation one might first feel from seeing the names of Vanderbilts and Astors in your card receiver, the most exalted collection of pasteboards ever assembled on a card tray never emitted one glimmer of sentiment, philosophy, or humor.

Life in Hoboken must be far more interesting. The fact that McFadden's goat consumed the clothes on Mrs. Moriarity's clothes line, or that Policeman Murphy stops hourly on his beat to exchange persiflage with black eyed Miss Elnstein, is much more entertaining than that Mrs. Gould walked down the avenue the other day wearin a small silver hair-pin with rhinestone tops.

After all, the one thing that makes life interesting is the sense of struggle and competition. After the game is won, there is nothing left but to get interested in the struggles of some one else.

One can see just what a good time Mrs. Green and her neighbors have, gathered before the hearth fire—although quite likely the apartment only provides a gas-log. We can just see them waxing eloquent, as they discuss the high price of milk, and the failure of last year's apples to keep. The enthusiasm of the gathering must be nearly equal to the old fashioned grocery parliament when the cracker barrels fairly rattled with the fervor of the debate.

What do you suppose the neighbors in Fifth avenue ever get to talk about? After the chips are stacked away, what earthly human interest is there in the fact that Steel is up and Union Pacific down?

BOYNTON'S BICYCLE RAILWAY.

It is impossible not to admire the persistence with which Moody Boynton keeps on year after year pressing the claims of his one-rail or bicycle railroad, keeping up his courage in the face of repeated legislative rebuffs. He has abounding faith in the practability of his project and refuses to admit himself beaten in the battle for recognition.

Experienced railroad men have said his invention has merit. A trial strip of road appears to have worked as he expected it would. Yet the legislature has refused to take the inventor seriously in his appeals for State backing. Is it possible that already established lines of traffic scent dangerous competition in the revolutionary one-rail device? Cities and towns along the route from Boston to Fall River, by way of Brockton, have granted a right of way to the bicycle road. What's the harm in giving it a trial and a chance to prove its worth or lack of worth asks the Brockton Enterprise.

REAL ESTATE EDITION.

Everyone interested in "Summer Homes" either at the seashore, mountains or country will want to read the specially written articles which will be published in addition to the popular regular features in the Boston Evening Transcript of Saturday, April 6.

A number of engaging topics in that issue will doubtless cause much favorable comment. Others will surely have a real value to investors and those concerned in the welfare of the city and suburbs. Real Estate men and individuals who have properties to dispose of or rent should take advantage of this unusual opportunity and immediately secure sufficient advertising space to properly place their holdings before so many interested persons as will be reached by the April 6 edition of the Transcript, which will have a larger circulation than any previous issue.

AGITATION OVER GRADE CROSSINGS

The agitation that has been aroused in Quincy over the grade crossing question may take on an entirely different aspect, if the bill which was reported in the House of Representaties Wednesday, and given a reading after protracted debate, were to pass legislature. The bill provides that in the cities and towns where at present there are grade-crossings, all the expense of abolishing those crossings must be borne by the railroads except in cases where the city or town petitions for the abolition of the grade crossings. In other words, if the bill now pending becomes a law, the situation regarding grade-crossings in Massachusetts will come practically to a standstill. The railroads certainly will not petition to abolishing any grade crossing where they must bear the whole expense, and the cities and towns will not petition for the work if there is a possibility of shifting the burden of expense upon the railroads. The chances are that the bill will pass the House, but what fate it will meet in the Senate is somewhat problematical.

QUINCY COMMANDERY

(Continued from Page One.)

Westover & Foss were the caterers and the menu included hot roast beef, mashed potatoes, chicken salad, escalloped oysters, rolls, banana fritters, coffee, cake and ices of all kinds. An hour or more was spent at the banquet table after which Alpha hall was again sought and a half hour given to social intercourse, during which the party mingled together like one large family.

EM. SIR ALBERT W. FAY, G. L.
Floor Director

Dancing commenced a little after 8 o'clock and continued until 11.30. There was no printed program of dance numbers. They were however displayed on cards at the left of the platform. The program included in addition to all the modern numbers, several quadrilles, which seemed to be equally as enjoyable as the modern affairs. It was noticed however that on all of the modern numbers two and three encores were asked.

SIR WATER E. PIPER, Generalissimo.

Em. Sir. Albert W. Fay, G. L. was in charge of the dancing and he was assisted by Sir. Knights John Morgan, Alfred H. Richards, Waldo B. Fay, J. Francis Merrill, George Cole and John Rogers and it is unnecessary to add that they faithfully performed their duties in this respect.

SIR JOHN MORGAN
Captain-General

At 11.45 special cars were in waiting at the entrance for Neponset via. Wollaston and Hancock street and also for West Quincy. As noted above the affair was an unqualified success and was pronounced by all to have been most enjoyable. Among the Sir. Knights and ladies present were the following:

Em. Sir. Henry P. Furnald.
Mrs. Henry P. Furnald.
Miss Elizabeth W. Furnald.
(Past. Rt. Em. G. C. Sir. J. Albert Blake.
Mrs. J. Albert Blake.
Em. Sir. Albert W. Fay.
Mrs. Albert W. Fay.
Em. Sir. Arthur W. Burr.
Mrs. Arthur W. Burr.
Em. Sir. Frank L. Bates.
Mrs. Frank L. Bates.
Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jameson.
William A. Bradford.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Piper.
Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan.
Mrs. A. H. Sayward.
Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cole.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitehead.
Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Remick.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Deacon.
Miss Flora Deacon.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deacon.
Mr. and Mrs. Waldo B. Fay.
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Swingle.
Miss Pauline Swingle.
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Y. Follett.
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Campbell.
Isabelle Evans.
Howell Evans.
Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Backers.
Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sayward.
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Sayward.
C. A. Abele.
Mr. and Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr.
Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Knight.
Roscoe M. Horton.
Miss Ella A. Horton.
Miss Helen K. Horton.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Magee.
Miss Gladys D. Hannum.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Walker
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Richards.
Mr. and Mrs. H. B. L. Dimmick.
Col. and Mrs. H. L. Kincaide.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Parker.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore.
Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Neal.
Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Davis.
Mr. and Mrs. John N. Rodgers.
Mrs. H. B. Chapman.
Miss Edith M. Chapman.
Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Parker.
Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Maynard.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Abele.
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morse.
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis.
Mrs. Laura Tirrell.
Mrs. Julia L. Gardner.
Mrs. Ida D. Straw.
Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Crocker.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Sampson.
Mrs. Hattie Gurney.
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. White.
Mrs. F. C. Parkard.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Miller.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Adams.
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Payson.
Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dexheimer.
Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Field.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crowley.
Miss Mildred Crowley.
James Moorhead.
Mrs. James Moorhead, Jr.
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gilliatt.
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sears.
Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Andrews.
Roy Prout.
Miss Julia Thomas.
Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miller.
Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Chase.
Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Brokaw.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Merrill.
Mr. and Mrs. D. Hansen.
Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sprague.
Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wellington.
Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

R. E. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Good Meats Are the Mainstay of the Table

We not only buy meat for the pur ose of giving our patrons reasonable prices, but also to assure them of a higher grade than they would ordinarily get at the same cost. Our meats are uniform in quality. In other words if you buy of us you get good meats all the time. It is not speculation but a surety. Try them and see for yourself.

Try our Lambs for a Starter

FINEST LEGS SPRING LAMB 18c

Home Dressed Roasting Fowl

As fresh and sweet and tender as any ever sold in our meat department. They're especially plump and pretty this week. Considering the high quality, the price is extraordinarily low: the pound 25c

Fresh Southern Vegetables

As fresh and nice as if you picked them from your own garden.
Very Fancy Spinach, peck 25c
Choice Rhubarb, 2 lbs 15c
New Cabbage, Butter Beans, Cucumbers
Lettuce, Radishes

SIMON PURE LEAF LARD, pail 50c

Fancy Grape Fruit, each 5c, 10c
California Navel Oranges, doz. 15c, 20c

Canned Specialties for Saturday
"Hatchet Brand" Apples, can 12c
"Sovereign Brand" Hawaiian Sliced Pineapple, can 25c
S. S. Pierce's California Asparagus Tips, can 20c
Barataria Shrimp, can 10c
Kippered Herring, 10c Borden's Evap. Cream, 3 cans 25c

Franklin Mills Entire Wheat Flour, bag 25c
Logan & Johnson Pure Jams, bottle 15c
Onion Salad, something new, bottle 10c

POTATOES ARE ADVANCING IN PRICE
BUY NOW!!

R. E. FOY & CO.

What Use YOU Can Find for THIS Bank

Every depositor, large or small, is entitled to service worth real money.

The bank is a reliable source of information on business credits. It keeps accurate accounts for you, renders you a monthly itemized statement and facilitates your business affairs.—Give us an opportunity to explain these, and many other advantages, our depositors enjoy.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Keeping Furniture Prices Down Keeps Kincaide's Sales Up

Price makes a difference.
Few People are indifferent to Money-Saving.
Most People want nice Furniture.
Here, they know they get it--Plenty to pick from.
AND a lower price.

Our Spring Opening Sale that's now busily booming along offers YOU Surprising Savings in attractive new Home Furnishings. Investigate.

Look in our window this week. See those crisp new bills and shining silver. They're REAL. So are the savings of $20.57 on those four articles.

There are hundreds more equally good inside. They beckon you. Come in.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO., QUINCY
Good Furniture, Pianos, Rugs, Ranges

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

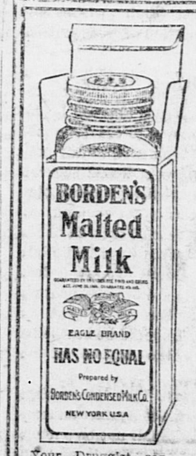
Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.



Borden's

A Food Stimulant. The man or woman who "burns the candle at both ends" and who lives on vital forces—needs Borden's Malted Milk. It nourishes, soothes and strengthens. Prescribed by physicians for convalescents, invalids and people in health who wish to keep healthy.

When you want Malted Milk ask for Borden's.

Malted Milk

Your Druggist can procure it from the New England Sales Agency, Geo. Wm. Bentley Co., Boston. Tel. Richmond 336.

BORDEN CONDENSED MILK CO., NEW YORK.

George H. Field.
Miss Myra E. Lester.
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewertz.
Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Moulton.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Chas. Hart.
Mr. and Mrs. Edw. J. Badger.
Mr. and Mrs. Hanson M. Savage.
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Remick.
Dr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Adams.
Dr. and Mrs. John H. Anderson.
W. Weir Henry.
Mrs. Henry Hannon.
Miss Hatch.
E. L. Saunders.

—Two and a half million dollars to the building fund of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is a gift in one sum from a living man that it would be difficult to parallel in the history of American education. Coming from a donor who is not a Massachusetts man and whose name is withheld, it is a splendid recognition, of the Institute of Technology as one of the great educational forces of the world.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

HEPTASOPHS NOTES.

Two candidates were initiated at the meeting of the local conclave of Heptasophs, Thursday evening in Protection hall. At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served and a short entertainment, provided by members, was in order.

Itw as decided to hold a whist party, for members only, in conjunction with the next regular meeting on April 11. The third social dance will be held in Alpha hall, April 15, and the committee in charge report that present indications point to a most successful affair.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES
20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.
Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

PLYMOUTH THEATRE.

Monday, Miss Gertrude Elliott will begin the second and last week of her engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, in Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's delightful comedy "Preserving Mr. Panmure." The play was enthusiastically received on its first presentation and proves the most entertaining play that Miss Elliott has had since she became a star. The play is a comedy of middle-class English life, built upon the rather broad lines of Pinero's earlier work, and moves with the rapidity of a farce. The whole piece is a most clever and amusing farce and is a most successful fun producer. The story resolves itself into a country house puzzle—who kissed the governess?—is the author's chief concern and that of his characters throughout the four acts of rapid action. Miss Elliott, in the character of the governess, invests the role with a gracious personality and acts it with refreshing ingeniousness and captivating piquancy. The play is well worth while, if for no other reason than because of Miss Elliott's bewitching impersonation. If you seek a delightful evening's entertainment don't fail to see this play, which is capitally acted and sumptuously staged.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"The Prince and the Pauper" is among the most popular of Mark Twain's stories, and it has been no less popular on the stage. It has not been given at the Castle Square before, and its coming next week will therefore be in the nature of a decided novelty. Its plot was taken by the great humorist from a mythical- episode in English history. Edward, Prince of Wales, and son of King Henry the Eighth in a freak of boyish fancy exchanges clothes with Tom Canty, who has run away from home because he has been cruelly treated by his father. The boys resemble one another to a remarkable degree, and it is therefore no wonder that the guard at the palace mistakes the prince in rags for the pauper and ignominiously refuses to let him enter his own home. Tom Canty's protest that he is not the prince is not believed, and he is compelled to assume all the duties of the heir to the throne of England.

It is only at the close of the last act, that matters are straightened out, and the prince comes into his own, his father having died in the meantime. A valiant soldier who has befriended him is rewarded with an earldom for his services, and all the offenders against the royal prince are duly punished. Throughout the play there is a constan succession of scenes of strong dramatic power, interspersed with comic incidents that add to its liveliness and variety. The work of impersonating the duel roles of the Prince and Tom Canty will be entrusted to Miss Henrietta McDannel, who will be remembered for her acting of Peter in "The End of the Bridge," of Cedric Errol in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and of Skinny Hinks in "The Product of the Mill." Mr. Craig will appear as Miles Henden and to fill out the other characters, the leading members of the Castle Square players have been chosen.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

Robert Edeson, who is admittedly one of the most popular stars who visit Boston, has created a lot of discussion because of his temerity in departing from the line of characterizations with which his name has long been associated. Everybody remembers how Mr. Edeson has been the popular hero of all his plays, the one who could be depended upon at the eleventh hour to say the right word and do the right thing. Yet in his latest stellar vehicle, "The Indiscretion of Truth," Mr. Edeson plays the character of Bruce Darrell, a college athlete, who has nothing to recommend him to public favor save his prowess as an athlete. The role is very strong in its acting capabilities and Mr. Edeson convinces by his complete mastery of its difficulties that he is not a one-line actor, as so many become who have stayed for years in roles of a similar nature. Another delightful impersonation is that of Mrs. Darrell, which Mrs. Thomas Whiffen plays with all the technique and finesse of the old school of acting, of which she is today the ablest exponent. "The Indiscretion of Truth" is a most refreshing entertainment of comedy and drama, about evenly divided. It is replete with epigrammatic wit and startling dramatic situations. The Hollis Street Theatre has not housed a better company in a more pleasing play for a long while. The usual matinees will be given next week on Wednesday and Saturday.

SHUBERT THEATRE.

Next week's attraction at the Shubert Theatre, opening on Monday night April 1st, will be the ever-welcome merrymaker, James T. Powers, in the new operetta "Two Little Brides," which has been especially built around him for a starring vehicle for the second and last week of his Boston engagement. It is an exceptionally entertaining musical play—the production rich and spectacular in stage settings that are beautiful and artistic, and the costumes both unique and harmonious in effect.

The book and lyrics are the joint work of Arthur Anderson and Mr. Powers himself, and the comedian may be depended upon to have it adapted to his own peculiar style of fun-making. The music is by Gustave Kerker, who has to his credit a great number of successful musical comedies and tuneful airs that still live—notably those in "The Belle of New York."

The comedy role of Polycarp Ivanovitch which Mr. Powers assumes, is said to be the best of his illustrious career on the comic opera stage.

Among the leading members of Mr. Powers' support are: Walter Lawrence, Arthur Clough, Gilbert Clayton, E. H. Kelly, George E. Manor, Louis London, S. E. Erick, Miss Frances Cameron, Miss Grace Kennicott, Miss Helen Salinger, and Miss Lillian Butler. A large and comely chorus is a feature. A particularly amusing feature is said to be a burlesque on the tabooed dances of the day.

PASSION PLAY.

Arthur K. Peck, lecturer and writer on travel subjects whose travel talks on European and American scenery have been so favorably received by Boston audiences in his recent course, returns to Tremont Temple for the entire week of April 1, every evening and Saturday matinee, delivering his famous lecture "Village Life in Oberammergau and the Passion Play of 1910," illustrated by a magnificent collection of views in color of special photographic and artistic merit.

Appropriate to Easter week and the spirit of the Play, a grand musical programme is to be featured in connection with the lecture. After Mr. Peck has taken his audience about the village and into the homes, and given a clear insight into the daily life of these wonderful people, he proceeds to the theatre and carries the story of the play along to the entry of the Greek chorus on the Passion Play stage. Then the lecturer halts his narrative and a grand chorus of seventy-five trained voices and soloists, with organ accompaniment will render the very impressive and beautiful cantata "Olivet to Calvary." The music will be made still more impressive and the eye appealed to by a series of illustrations in color; scenes in the Holy Land and from the Passion Play itself.

While the general public and the tourist are more or less familiar with the Passion Play, few people have thought to study with care the home life of the villagers, to catch the atmosphere of the Play. Mr. Peck went from house to house and shop to shop to photograph the principals in their daily life, their homes with the wood carvings, mural decorations, etc.

The presentation of the lecture with illustrations of rare artistic merit and a featured musical programme and large chorus promised a new and interesting study of the greatest of all miracle plays.

Long Time In Bed

Philadelphia, March 29. — Miss Sybilla Schnatz, paralyzed from her waist down, has just begun her fifty-ninth year in bed. Since the attack of typhoid that made her helpless, she has spent 21,000 days in bed.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

March

29—Entertainment—Makaria— Colonial Hall.
29—Masquerade—Manet Encampmen —Alpha Hall.
29—Friday Club to Art Museum

April

1—Social—Boys C. E.—Memorial Church.
1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Concert Dance—English Ivy Lodge —Electa Hall.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—DancingParty—Colonial Hall.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
16—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Quincy School.
17—Whist—Maple Iodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

HEAR ABOUT THE GRAND TRUNK

Real Estate Exchange Dines President Fitzhugh

QUINCY MEN PRESENT

Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane, ex-Councilman John R. Nelson and others from Quincy were present Thursday at the dinner given to President Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk railroad by the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange at the Boston City club.

President Fitzhugh was received with prolonged applause and president John J. Martin in welcoming the guests said that the Mass. Real Estate Exchange stood for fair play and it was the intention of the exchange to see that the Grand Trunk R. R. received fair play in regard to its entrance into Boston, that it should have the same opportunities that was given the other railroads now entering Boston when they came in, before the present laws were enacted and that the Grand Trunk Railroad could count on the support of the exchange.

He was followed by President Hathaway of the Pilgrim society who spoke in favor of the entrance into Boston of the Grand Trunk.

President Fitzhugh when introduced was received with long and loud applause. In responding, President Fitzhugh among other things said that Grand Trunk gave $5000. annually to Macgill College of Montreal for scholarships for 5 employees that the Railroad ran free day and night schools and that it had its roll of honor for old retired employees that were supported by a pension system that over 500 persons were now on the pension list. That all the Grand Trunk was asking of the legislation was the same privileges that the other railroads received when they came in and not an iota more.

Henry C. Long, was the last speaker who said Chicago needs the Grand Trunk through line to Boston, that as regards freight transportation, New York had Chicago by the throat, that of nineteen million dollars worth export freight received at St. John 1-3 was from Chicago, and Boston would have received it, if she had the through line. He also quoted the favorable Insurance Rates, Canada summer rates 25 cents on the hundred, winter rates 75 per cent on the hundred average 38 per cent against Boston's rate of 12 1-2 to 15 cents per hundred the year round. That one great feature of Grand Trunk would be the return haul. That this was the greatest opportunity the Port of Boston had offered for 70 years, that when the Legislation turned down the Cunard Line 70 years ago, it went to New York and that this was the first time since, that Boston could possibly achieve success for it's Port.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

A business meeting and social was held by the Christian Endeavor society of the Wollaston Congregational church in the vestry Thursday evening. The business meeting was in charge of Miss Ruth Taylor, the president and various matters of interest to the society were acted upon. A nominating committee consisting of Miss Jessica Higgins, Miss Mary Broughton and Clifton Blake was appointed. Following the business meeting a social hour ensued during which games were played and refreshments served.

FIRST HUSBAND STILL ALIVE

Brooklyn Woman Reweds, Thinking Herself Free

New York, March 29.—Almost like a tale from fiction is the curious matrimonial tangle that has developed in the life of Mrs. James E. Norton, wife of a prominent business man of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Norton for sixteen years has believed herself the wife of the Brooklyn man. Recently she learned that the man whom she married at the age of 15 and whom she believed to have been dead for many years, is alive and (believing her to be dead) had remarried.

The first husband is Joseph P. Herman, wealthy bookmaker.

Mrs. Norton or Herman, she doesn't know which she is, was very much upset at learning the man she ran away with at the age of 15 was alive. They were quickly separated by the boy's father and later she learned, as she believed, that Herman had been the victim of a fire.

Mrs. Norton has been advised by her friends that her first marriage was not legal, as she was under the age of consent. She has consulted a lawyer, however, and steps will be taken to solve the matrimonial tangle.

REPRESENTATIVE LESLIE

(Continued from Page One.)

the Legislature would have to be again petitioned to bring the subject before the voters if annexation failed.

Section 5. "Each of the constituted cities and towns so consolidated shall pay its own floating and bonded indebtedness of every kind and interest thereon as the same existed at the time of annexation. You would also have to assume the extra tax that would come if we should become a part of a greater Boston. We no doubt, would receive some improvements but we must expect to pay for them, so to my judgment it seems that we would have a higher tax rate.

Section 7. "Provides all the property, real, personal and mixed and rights and privileges of every kind vested in or belonging to either of said cities and towns prior to and at the time of the annexation shall be vested in and owned by the consolidated or united city.

"All the ordinances of each of said cities shall be applicable in and to all the territory of the enlarged city until codified amended or repealed and if there be any conflict by reason of different ordinances in the various cities and towns the ordinances of the larger city Boston shall control.

Section 9 and 10. "Provides that elected officers shall hold their office for full term or until their successor in the greater city have been elected. A temporary government shall be formed consisting of hte Mayors' Aldermen, Councilmen and Selectmen of the consolidated cities and towns, (The Mayor to act as a member of the council of the consolidated city.) This body would be comprised of Mayors, 13; councillors, 9; Aldermen, 154; councilmen, 88; selectmen, 56; a total of 320 which is rather a large body. The Mayor of the larger city (Boston) would be Mayor of the greater city with all powers of such; the Mayor of the second larger city (Cambridge) would be designated the deputy Mayor and President of the City Council of the greater city. In case of the death of the Mayor of the greater city, he shall act as Mayor. No provision is made, if the office of the deputy Mayor becomes vacant.

Section 12. All employees of departments and officers of each of the cities and towns at the time of annexation shall be officers and employees of the greater city and subject to the orders of the Mayor of the greater city. The police department of the greater Boston shall be under the control, supervision and management of the police commissioner of the larger city Boston.)

Section 14. 'The Governor of the Commonwealth, shall on or before August 1912 appoint a commission of seven members to be known as a charter commission who shall report to the legislature no later than January 1913 a charter for the government of the Greater City of Boston. The compensation for said commission shall be fixed by the Governor and Council and shall not exceed the sum of $100,000 to be paid out of the Treasury of the Commonwealth.

Section 15. "The first municipal election for the greater city shall be held the first Tuesday after the second Monday in January 1914 and officials chosen shall qualify on the first Monday February 1914.

Section 16. "Whenever it shall happen that cities and towns so consolidated are located in whole or part in different counties or judicial districts, then the respective courts of each county or district as well as the commissioners and officers of the different counties shall have respectfully their present jurisdiction and power in their respective counties and districts. Here is open an avenue for a number of complications.

Section 17. "Each of the cities and towns in the greater Boston shall have the right to vote the question of granting licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors as separate municipal subdivisions.

"From what I have presented to you, from this bill, you can get some idea of how you would vote away your rights as a city of Quincy as we are now enjoying under our present charter, which is considered one of the best in the State. You also can get some idea of what form of government you would enjoy under the temporary government, but there your case ends. For the new charter is in the hands of the Commission appointed by the Governor and to be ratified by the legislature.

"What benefits are the citizens of Quincy to gain by a greater Boston. Outside of living in one of the largest cities in the world.

"From what I can learn at the State House, this bill is not taken very serious; whether a bill along different lines would meet with approval, I am not in a position to say, but before voting in favor of a greater and busier Boston, we must first be in a position to see where some benefit is to be derived and I can see none in the legislation asked for under this bill.

"I would also like to bring to your attention some of the other bills before the Legislature which are of interest to Quincy; some of which have met their fate and others that are taking their course."

He also explained at length the following bills:

Houghs Neck.
Eliminating Party designation.
Redistricting.
Dredging at Town River and Yacht Clubs.
Neponset Bridge.
Boulevard.
Mosquito Bill of William Kenyon of Squantum.

In closing he paid a compliment to City Solicitor McAnarney saying that the report he submitted relative to the separation of Houghs Neck was one of the best and most complete ever presented.

MORE HONORS FOR BACON

Chamber of Commerce Gives Him Farewell Dinner

Paris, March 29.—Robert Bacon, United States ambassador to France, was the guest of honor at a brilliant farewell luncheon given by the American chamber of commerce in Paris. Bernard J. Shoninger, president of the chamber of commerce, paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Bacon's work as an ambassador. He was ever, he said, practically interested in matters concerning American commerce.

On the other hand, Mr. Shoninger was convinced that no ambassador in the history of the United States has so touched the sympathies of the French people. Mr. Bacon was elected an honorary member of the American chamber of commerce and resolutions were adopted voicing the regret of the members at his departure and their appreciation of his services.

"Boy Scouts" Shoes

Wear Like Iron

This "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe, made of mineral-tanned genuine Elk leather, will outwear two pairs of ordinary shoes. It is almost impossible to wear it out. Yet it is extremely light, soft as a glove, and fits as closely. No linings. Reinforced sole—cannot pull loose. Absolutely the best and most economical boy's shoe made. Thousands of boys now wear "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes.

Little Boys', Sizes 9 to 13½, $2.00.
Boys' Sizes 1 to 5½, $2.50.
Big Boys' and Men's, Sizes 6 to 10, $3.00.
Colors—Olive, Tan and Black.

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe

Other Styles

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" shoes can be had also in regular, high-cut and blucher shapes. Tan, black and gun-metal calf. Unequalled by any boy's shoe made.

Look for the "Good Luck" Charm

"Swastika" Good Luck Charm attached to every pair. None genuine without charm. Looks like gold. Will not discolor. Splendid for prizes for boys' games.

Made by THE EXCELSIOR SHOE CO., Portsmouth, Ohio

For Sale by (32)

GRANITE SHOE STORE

March 28 tf

THE LADY'S SHOP

Number Four Maple Street,

JOHNSON BUILDING. - - - QUINCY SQUARE

Announces the Initial

Opening Display

... of ....

1912 MILLINERY

and

EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR

Opening Day--MONDAY, MARCH 25

and continuing

TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY

Ob. 23-1w L-28tf

Quincy Auto and Truck Show

AT THE

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

WOLLASTON STATION

Monday, April 1st, 10 A.M. to 10 P.M.

Not a joke, but a real live show. We invite you to call and see our Show Cars.

Metz Roadster Rambler Tourer

Commerce Delivery Truck

Lauth Juergens Truck

If you are thinking of buying or exchanging, we have just what you need, and we can show you what they will do.

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

26 6t

WALDORF HOUSE

which is called the

NEW DINING ROOM

6 Temple Street

will go under a new management on Saturday morning. The cook has worked for one of the best hotels in Boston, and the best is none too good for the people of Quincy. Those who have not been satisfied in the past will surely be in the future if they will only give us a trial. Cooking done on the European plan.

28-9t

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS

"Her Majesty's" Special $1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS

"The Little One" Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents

WHEELER'S

City Square, Quincy

INSTALLED AT BEVERLY

(Continued from Page One.)

Rev. Perley C. Davis, was the moderator of the council, which was made up chiefly of representatives of the Congregational churches of Essex county.

At the installation service, the invocation was by Rev. Gerhart A. Wilson of Swampscott, and Rev. Henry F. Smith of the Second Congregational church, Beverly read the scriptures. The sermon was by Rev. George B. Hatch of Ware, the prayer of installation by Rev. DeWitt S. Clark, D. D. of Salem, Right Hand of Fellowship, by Rev. Judson V. Clancy of Beverly, Welcome to the community by Rev. Benjamin R. Bulkeley of Beverly. Charge to minister by Rev. A. Little, D. D. of Dorchester, and charge to pastor by Rev. Arthur J. Derbyshire of Haverhill. The benediction was by the pastor, Rev. Edward Abbot Chase.

The Washington street Congregational church, over which Rev. Mr. Chase was installed, is one of the oldest churches in the community, having been formed Feb. 28, 1837. The meeting house was raised in September 1836 and dedicated in March 1837.

We know not how the Sox will come out later, but at present they are having some trouble in taking candy from kids.

CASE GOES TO LEGISLATURE

Full Investigation of Charge of Bribery by Maine Sheriff

Augusta, Me., March 29.—The legislature will investigate the charges of bribery against Sheriff Charles O. Emery of Sanford, York county, when it reconvenes Tuesday, according to a statement made by Governor Plaisted.

"I consider the matter of so serious a nature," said the governor, "as to make it my duty to call it to the attention of the legislature when it assembles next Tuesday and arrange for a full and fair investigation. If the charges against Sheriff Emery are sustained, the legislature will undoubtedly request the governor and council to remove him from office, and the sooner that were done the better.

"If, on the other hand, the charges are proven to be false, Sheriff Emery will be entitled to a prompt and complete vindication at the hands of the legislature, which he will undoubtedly receive. That much is due to the people of the state, as well as to the sheriff himself."

Max Freeman Hangs Himself

New York, March 29.—Despondent because of loss of money and ill health, Max Freeman, a well-known actor, recently leading man in a number of Pacific coast stock companies and for several years manager of the Germania theatre in this city, hanged himself in the Hotel Grenoble. He was 50 years old.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK & DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague, Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss G. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John C. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 25	3.45	4.15
Tuesday,	4.45	5.15
Wednesday,	5.45	6.30
Thursday,	7.00	7.45
Friday,	8.00	8.45
Saturday,	9.00	9.30
Sunday,	10.00	10.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	58 degrees
Mar. 29, 1911,	54 degrees
Mar. 29, 1910,	73 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

The annual masquerade party of Manet encampment I. O. O. F. is to be held tonight at Alpha hall.

Among the matters to come before the City Council, Monday evening will be the drawing of nineteen jurors.

Mrs. J. B. Picard of 25 Irving place has the sympathy of her many friends in the death of her mother, Mrs. Pettle.

Tax Collector Child is receiving congratulations on the birth this morning of a little son. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Word has been received by the City Clerk that only registered Democrats and Republicans will be provided with ballots at the caucuses to be held April 30.

On next Sunday evening at 7.45 at Christ Church, Stainer's "Crucifixion" will be given by the choir. Soloists Messrs Wm. Carter and J. W. McLeod of London, Eng.

Ex-Councilman William A. Carey is to sever his connection with the Payson-Mitchell Co., having accepted a position with the Continental Clothing Co. of Boston.

The vacancy for the position of vice-president of Street Railway Union number 253 was filled at the meeting held Thursday evening in Johnson building when James Ford of Weymouth was elected.

Papers have been filed with the Board of Registrars for certification of the signatures to nomination papers for delegates and alternates for William Howard Taft for President also Presidential Preference papers for Taft and Presidential Reference papers for Roosevelt.

Representative Walter E. Piper of this city was numbered among the 162 members of the House who voted in favor of the amendment calling for the election of United States Senators by the people, at the session which continued till late in the afternoon, Thursday. There were 37 against the resolve and eight were paired. Representative William J. Leslie was not accorded on the measure. In the senate, the bill calling for the biennial election of governors was defeated by a vote of 22 to 8; one of the latter being Senator George L. Barnes of this district.

☞PRATT'S BREAD never varies. Baked scientifically under thorough sanitation.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

COUNTERFEIT IN CLOTHING

Baby Six Months Old Charged With Passing Bad Money

NOTHING FOUND ON PARENTS

Dealers of East Boston and Winthrop Have Made Many Complaints of Late—Child Is Technically the Worst Criminal of the Three, but It Will Bother Federal Authorities to Properly Punish Her

Boston, March 29.—Samuel Malta, his wife Jennie, and their 6-months'-old baby were arrested last night by Special Officer Fitzgerald of the East Boston division, charged with passing counterfeit quarters and dimes.

The baby is included in the charge, for she had the greater part of the incriminating evidence secreted about her person.

For nearly a month the small shopkeepers of Winthrop and East Boston have been swindled by means of counterfeit quarters and dimes, and several of them have complained to the police of those districts. It is estimated that nearly $200 have been passed in the two places.

Special Officer Fitzgerald suspected Malta and followed him for some time before he says he discovered that it was the wife and the baby who were passing the coins. He followed the two long enough to make sure of his suspicions and the trio was arrested yesterday as they walked by the police station.

Once in the station house the man and woman were searched, but there were no quarters or dimes found on either of them, except for one quarter afterwards found to be genuine, which the woman held in her hand.

Even Fitzgerald, who was very sure of his case against the pair, was nonplussed for the moment. Then suddenly he thought of the baby.

"Search the baby," he ordered the officers.

And then there ensued a scene absolutely unique in the annals of the Boston police. The parents had wrapped the baby in long, winding folds of cloth for protection against the cold, and for nearly a minute the police and the two suspects breathlessly watched an awkward patrolman unroll yard after yard of more or less dingy cloth from the third suspect's little body.

And finally came the denouement, when the patrolman had spread yards of cloth on the floor. A veritable stream of quarters and dimes poured from the baby's innermost wrappings, and each dime and each quarter was counterfeit. She had more than $20 in counterfeit money secreted about her.

It was a hard task when it came necessary to book the arrested trio. According to all the rules the baby was of the three the most criminal, for on her was found all the incriminating evidence, so there stands the unique records in the deskbook: "Six-months'-old baby charged with passing counterfeit money." The Lilliputian prisoner is nameless, for the parents refused to give their offspring's name.

Counterfeiting is a federal offense, but it will give even the federal authorities some thought as to what to do with the greatest criminal, technically, of the three.

HOUND HOWLS FOR WEEK

Caught In Tree Stump and Near Dead From Hunger

Barre, Vt., March 29.—Two boys of Coldbrook Springs discovered a valuable foxhound held captive in a tree stump. The hound was in a pitiful condition, and, in fact, for the past week residents of the village were unable to locate him.

The dog was frightfully emaciated, but revived after being carefully fed and will be sent back to P. J. Myers of West Rutland, who was caring for the animal for its Boston owner. The hound broke away from the Myers' place, dragging behind him the long rope to which he had been attached. In going through the woods the rope became caught to the tree stump, making it impossible for the animal to release itself.

No License For Women

Worcester, Mass., March 29.—No woman will be given a license to sell liquor in Worcester next year, either as an individual or as a member of a firm or corporation running a saloon, a hotel or a wholesale place. This decision was reached at a meeting of the license commission.

Butt Visits King of Italy

Rome, March 29.—King Victor Emmanuel received Major Archibald Butt, personal aide to President Taft, at the palace. The king discussed world affairs with his visitor and displayed familiarity with events in America.

Roosevelt Gets Two Delegates

Lebanon, Ind., March 29.—The Ninth Indiana congressional district elected two Roosevelt delegates to the national Republican convention.

ROBERT L. TAYLOR

Senator From Tennessee Critically Ill In Washington

FEARS FOR TAYLOR

Tennessee Senator Seriously Ill In Washington

Washington, March 29.—As a last desperate resort to save Senator Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee from death, physicians yesterday rushed "Fiddling Bob" to Providence hospital and hurriedly operated on him for gall stones.

The Tennesseean was reported to have withstood the operation fairly well, but his condition is extremely critical owing to his weakened health. Fellow senators fear he may not rally from the operation.

STARVING FEUDIST GIVES UP FIGHT

Claude Allen Surrenders to Posse In Mountains

Hillsville, Va., March 29.—Starving, sleepless and fatigued, Claude S. Allen, namesake of a United States senator, came out of the laurel thickets of the Blue Ridge yesterday, pointed two six-shooters toward the sky and gave himself to the posse which for nearly two weeks has hunted him.

Complacent and almost happy, he sat last night, sheltered from a driving storm, in the little brick jail, a stone's throw from Carroll county courthouse, where, on March 14, the Allen gang vengefully killed the judge, the prosecutor, the sheriff, a juror and a bystander.

Some bread and a cask of water were found hidden in the thicket, and Allen said they were all he had been living upon for several days. Detectives said one of the revolvers in his hands was used in the courthouse shooting.

Young Allen will be taken today to the Roanoke jail, where some of his kinsfolk already are.

"POLICY UNWISE"

Meyer Says Democratic Ideas Will Put Us Behind

Washington, March 29.—"An unwise, short-sighted and unstatesmanlike policy," was Secretary Meyer's comment upon the action of the house Democratic caucus, which stood by its decision to make no provision for battleships this year. In a statement the secretary said:

"The Democratic party in the house caucus gave final notice to the country that it is opposed to an efficient navy. Its action is the first step in the direction of a declining navy. It will depreciate the military value of the fleet as an insurance against war and arrest progress.

"Even if a year from now we renew the building program of two battleships a year, the order Dec. 31, 1915, would be as follows: Great Britain, Germany, Japan, France and United States. Only a year ago the United States was second."

AFTER MONTREAL PLANT

Plan to Invade Canada by American Sugar Refining Company

Montreal, March 29.—The American Sugar Refining company has offered $333 a share for the St. Lawrence sugar refinery here, and a meeting will be held this week to decide whether the offer shall be accepted.

If accepted, officials of the Redpath Sugar Refinering company, the only other large sugar refining concern in Canada, state that they will be unable to hold out long against the competition, and it is believed that this company will also sell to the American concern.

Life Convict Gets Free

Boston, March 29.—Thomas Lowe, who was pardoned Wednesday by Governor Foss, after serving twenty-eight years of a life sentence at Charlestown, was released this morning, and in accordance with the terms of the papers, will sail back to his old home in England.

MILL WINDOWS ARE BROKEN

Picketers In Lowell Strike Have Noisy Procession

POLICE ARREST ONE MAN

Bigelow Carpet Company Is Centre of Riot—Stones, Chunks of Ice and Clubs Thrown, but No One Is Hurt—Clash Between I. W. W. and Union—Officers Have Hard Battle In Polish Colony

Lowell, March 29.—The first destruction of mill property since the beginning of the strike of textile workers and the resulting shut down of half a dozen cotton mills took place during a parade of several hundred strikers. Windows were broken by paraders in the factory of the Bigelow Carpet company, in which the strikers are endeavoring to enforce a shut down, and in the United States Bobbin and Shuttle company's plant. Stones, chunks of ice and clubs were thrown in each place, but in all only about half a dozen windows were broken. No person was hurt. One man was arrested and locked up on a charge of malicious destructoin of property.

With the declaration by leaders that the strike against the Lawrence Manufacturing company, a hosiery plant, was off, and the announcement by the United States Bunting company that an additional increase in wages of 5 percent, making a total of 10 percent, had been granted, the strikers concentrated their efforts against the plant of the Bigelow company. They were unsuccessful. The capet mills were heavily picketed. The picketers formed in parade order and marched through Market street twice. Within the shadow of the police station, stones and chunks of ice were sent crashing through windows of the factory and against the walls. The leaders, however, counselled against such violence.

The relations between the police and the strikers had been entirely friendly until after the mass meeting on the South common, at which Haywood and others made addresses. Two police officers in the Polish colony who arrested two strikers for obstructing the street were suddenly attacked by a large crowd and were both beaten when reserves came to their rescue.

The police fought with clubs and drawn pistols and succeeded in making four arrests. Since then there has been evidence of hostile feeling among the Poles, and special police were put on duty in that quarter of the city yesterday morning.

The 8000 Greeks who are affected by the lockout contnue to remain in their quarter of the city and will not affiliate with the I. W. W. They were not in the parades of Wednesday, nor were they among the crowds at strike headquarters. Every effort to bring them into active participation seems to have failed. They crowd their coffee houses and throng upper Market street ,but they have made no disturbance and the police have placed no extra officers in their section of the city.

ONLY THIRTEEN ESCAPE

Death List In Judd Colliery Is Placed at Eighty

Welch, W. Va., March 29.—Revised figures of the deaths by the gas explosion at the Jed mine place the fatalities at eighty. Officers say ninety-three men were in the mine and that thirteen got out alive.

State mine inspectors say it may be several days before the tons of slate brought down on the victims can be removed and the greater number of bodies recovered.

Lamson & Hubbard

Hats

Best in America

For Sale by

Leading Dealers

HARD BLOW TO TAILORS

San Francisco Female Jury Says No Fit, No Pay

San Francisco, March 29.—Twelve women jurors in a justice court decided that unless a tailor-made suit fits perfectly the man who ordered it need not pay the tailor full price.

As a result, F. W. von Schrader, Jr., an attorney, will not have to pay a balance of $69 for which he was sued by a tailoring firm. Von Schrader demanded his case to be tried by a jury of women—the first to be impanelled in San Francisco. Before them Von Schrader, clad in the suit, twisted and turned and paraded.

LYNX ATTACKS TEAM AND KILLS HORSE

Driver Is Injured In Encounter but He Escapes

Pittsfield, Mass., March 29.—Thomas Hayes was injured and one of the horses he was driving had to be killed as the result of an encounter with a lynx in Lenox.

Hayes was driving a pair of horses hitched to a delivery wagon through a dense wood on the Bellefontaine estate of Giraud Foster, when suddenly from the branches of an overhanging tree a wild animal dropped upon the back of the off horse. The horses struggled and tried to throw the lynx, but it stuck on, clawing and biting.

Hayes attacked the animal with a wagon stake and then he became the object of the lynx's fury. With a sudden start the horses dislodged the lynx and started toward home. As they dashed through a snowdrift Hayes was thrown out and stunned for a time. After recovering he went to the home of John Feeley, where the wounds inflicted by the lynx were dressed.

MADE OFFENSIVE REMARKS

Haywood and I. W. W. Leaders Get In Bad With Clinton Citizens

Clinton, Mass., March 29.—A mob of nearly 100 people, some of whom were said to be members of Company K, Ninth regiment, chased Robert Lawrence and Louis Nelson, I. W. W. organizers, down Church street yesterday, pelting them with rotten eggs and shouting curses and jeers until dispersed by the police.

One of the overripe eggs struck William D. Haywood, who, with Mrs. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn Jones, was also one of the speakers at a mass meeting in town hall.

The demonstration followed remarks reflecting upon members of the local militia company, made by Lawrence and Nelson, and was the first which has greeted I. W. W. leaders in this part of the country.

VETERAN AND AUTHOR

Retired Providence Mill Owner Passes Away at His Home

Providence, March 29.—William B. Weeden, retired mill owner, Civil war veteran and an author of considerable note, died at his home here, aged 78. He was formerly prominent in the woolen manufacturing business, being at one time in control of the Weybosset mills, now owned by the American Woolen company.

He was a graduate of Brown and was the author of several works on economics and history. He was a member of numerous clubs and societies. He is survived by a widow, two daughters and three sons.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"
That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To George Miller and George P. Martin of Quincy in said County of Norfolk and Francis Martin of Chicago in the State of Illinois.

Whereas, Alice W. McGrail of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, has presented to said Court a petition representing that she holds as tenant-in-common four undivided seventh parts or shares of certain real estate lying in Quincy in said County of Norfolk, and described in said petition; and, as said real estate cannot be advantageously divided, praying that partition may be made among the tenants-in-common according to law; and that the commissioner who may be appointed to make said partition be ordered to make sale and conveyance of said real estate at private sale in accordance with an offer named and to distribute the net proceeds thereof. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested who can be found within the Commonwealth, fourteen days at least before said Court; and, if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

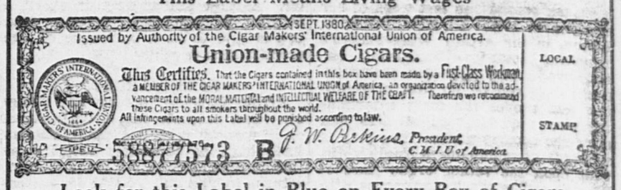
Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t 22-29-5

The Cigar Maker's Blue Label

is only found on boxes containing cigars made under clean healthy conditions by first-class workmen

This Label Means Living Wages



Look for this Label in Blue on Every Box of Cigars

If you are a dealer or buy cigars by the box for your own use, see that the label or imprint on the bottom of the box reads 3rd District of Mass., and then you will be one of the great number of earnest citizens of Massachusetts who are conscientiously booming home industry.

Mar. 8—tt F

E. E. GRAY & CO.

QUINCY
1525 Hancock Street
Music Hall Block

WOLLASTON
Corner Newport Avenue and Brock Street

Telephone Quincy 486-M

Cuts for Week Commencing March 25, 1912

Quaker Oats, Family size, with china	pkg	21c
Salmon, Violet Brand	flat can	17c
Shrimp, Fancy Barataria	can	9c
Soap, Lenox	bar	3c
Raspberries, Fancy, Webster Brand	can	15c
Prunes, Fancy Santa Clara	per lb.	8c
Raisins, Seeded	pkg.	9c
Soups, Campbell's, All Varieties	3 cans	25c
Cocoa, Gray's	1-2 lb. can	12c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Colonial Brand,	2 cans	15c
Macaroni or Spaghetti,	pkg.	7c
Squash, Fancy, Green Mountain Brand	can	10c
Bacon, Squire's Best Sugar Cured	per lb.	17c
Crackers, Sugar Crimp	2 lbs.	17c

Mar. 27—M. W. F.

Sheriff's Sale

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.
Quincy, March 6th, A. D. 1912.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday the 13th day of April A. D., 1912, at nine o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street in said Quincy, all the right, title and interest which George W. Rackham had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 8th day of February, A. D., 1912, at nine o'clock and fifteen minutes A. M., being the time the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit;

A certain parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, numbered 1276 and 1278, situated on Sea Street in said Quincy, containing 6690 square feet of land and bounded and described as follows, viz; Northerly by land now or formerly of Fulmore; Southerly by land now or formerly of Heirs of Day; Easterly by Sea Street and Westerly by land of said Fulmore and other land of Rackham;

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Deputy Sheriff.
3t Mar. 29, April 5-12

Sheriff's Sale

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.
Quincy, March 5th, A. D. 1912.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday the 13th day of April, A. D., 1912, at nine o'clock and fifteen minutes A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street in said Quincy, all the right, title and interest which John E. Poland had (not exempt from attachment or levy on execution) on the 5th day of March A. D., 1912 at two o'clock and thirty minutes P. M., being the time the same was seized on execution, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A parcel of land with a house numbered 20 thereon, situated on Freeman Street in said Quincy, bounded and described as follows, viz: Westerly on Freeman Street, fifty (50) feet; Northerly on land now or formerly of Hawkridge, one hundred (100) feet; Easterly on land now or formerly of Sanford, fifty (50) feet, and Southerly on land now or formerly of Ford, one hundred (100) feet. Being lot 220 on plan 6010 on file in office of the Assessors of the City of Quincy.

Also another parcel of land in said Quincy, bounded and described as follows, viz; Easterly on Cushing Street, fifty (50) feet; Westerly on land now or formerly of Smith, fifty (50) feet; Southerly on land of Lavelle, ninety-five (95) feet; Northerly on land of Carr, ninety-five (95) feet. Containing 4491 square feet of land.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Deputy Sheriff.
3t March 29, April 5-12

Dress in Comfort These Chilly Mornings

You can have an open well ventilated room for sleeping, and dress in it in perfect comfort if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

Let the furnace fire go out as soon as you like now---no use keeping it going just because the weather may be chilly now and then.

The REZNOR will take care of you in any emergency and will save you money because, with it, you consume fuel only while you need heat.

It creates no odor---It creates no smoke.

We have them in every size and style from

$2.50 up

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT COMPANY
11 Granite Street

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Mahell

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill, Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

CHAPTER XIII.—Yancy awakes from long dreamless sleep on board the raft.

CHAPTER XIV.—Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles. Charley Norton, a young planter, who assists the judge, is mysteriously assaulted.

(Continued from last issue)

Three-quarters of an hour slipped by, then, piercing the silence, Murrell heard a shrill whistle; it was twice repeated; he saw Bess go down to the landing again. A half-hour elapsed and a man issued from the scattering growth of bushes that screened the shore. The newcomer crossed the clearing and entered the cabin. He was a young fellow of twenty-four or five, whose bronzed face wore a reckless expression.

"Well, captain, what's doing?" he asked.

"If anything's to be done, now is the time, Hues. What have you to report?"

"Well, I've seen the council of each Clan division. They are ripe to start this thing off."

Murrell gave him a moment of moody regard.

"Twice already I've named the day and hour, but now I'm going to put it through!" He set his teeth and thrust out his jaw.

"Captain, you're the greatest fellow in America! Inside of a week men who have never been within five hundred miles of you will be asking of each other who John Murrell is!"

Murrell had expected to part with Hues then and there and for all time but Hues possessed qualities which might still be of use.

"Hues, you must start back across Tennessee. Make it Sunday at midnight—that's three days off." Unconsciously his voice sank to a whisper.

"Sunday at midnight," repeated Hues slowly.

"When you have passed the word into middle Tennessee, turn south and make the best of your way to New Orleans. Don't stop for anything—push through as fast as you can. You'll find me there. I've a notion you and I will quit the country together."

"Quit the country! Why, captain, who's talking of quitting the country?"

"You speak as though you were fool enough to think the niggers would accomplish something!" said Murrell coolly. "There will be confusion at first, but there are enough white men in the southwest to handle a heap better organized insurrection than we'll be able to set going. Our fellows will have to use their heads as well as their hands or they are likely to help the nigger swallow his medicine. I look for nothing else than considerable of a shake-up along the Mississippi . . . what with lynchers and regulators a man will have to show a clean bill of health to be allowed to live, no matter what his color—just being white won't help him any!"

"No, you're right, it won't!" and again Hues gave way to easy laughter.

"And Then It's Change Your Name and Strike Out for Texas."

"When you've done your work you strike south as I tell you and join me. I'm going to keep New Orleans for myself—it's my ambition to destroy the city Old Hickory saved!"

"And then it's change your name and strike out for Texas with what you've picked up!"

"No, it isn't! I'll have my choice of men—a river full of ships. Look here, there's South America, or some of those islands in the gulf with a black-and-tan population and a few white mongrels holding on to civilization by their eye-teeth; what's to hinder our setting up shop for ourselves? Two or three hundred Americans could walk off with an island like Hayti, for instance—and it's black with niggers. What we'd done here would be just so much capital down there. We'd make it a stamping ground for the Clan! In the next two years we could bring in a couple of thousand Americans and then we'd be ready to take over their government, whether they liked it or not, and run it at a profit. We'd put the niggers back in slavery where they belong, and set them at work raising sugar and tobacco for their own bosses. Man, it's the richest land in the world, I tell you—and the mountains are full of gold!"

Hues had kindled with a ready enthusiasm while Murrell was speaking.

"That sounds right, captain—we'd have a country and a flag of our own—and I look at those free niggers as just so much boot!"

"I shall take only picked men with me—I can't give ship room to any other—but I want you. You'll join me in New Orleans?" said Murrell.

"When do you start south?" asked Hues quickly.

"Inside of two days. I've got some private business to settle before I leave. I'll hang round here until that's attended to."

CHAPTER XVII.

The Judge Extends His Credit.

That afternoon Judge Price walked out to Belle Plain. Solomon Mahaffy had known that this was a civility Betty Malroy could by no means escape. He had been conscious of the judge's purpose from the moment it existed in the germ state, and he had striven to divert him, but his striving had been in vain, for though the judge valued Mr. Mahaffy because of certain sterling qualities which he professed to discern beneath the hard crust that made up the external man, he was not disposed to accept him as his mentor in nice matters of taste and gentlemanly feeling. He owed it to himself personally to tender his sympathy. Miss Malroy must have heard something of the honorable part he had played; surely she could not be in ignorance of the fact that the lawless element, dreading his further activities, had threatened him. She must know, too, about that reward of five thousand dollars. Certainly her grief could not blind her to the fact that he had met the situation with a largeness of public spirit that was an impressive lesson to the entire community.

These were all points over which he and Mahaffy had wrangled, and he felt that his friend, in seeking to keep him away from Belle Plain, was standing squarely in his light. He really could not understand Solomon or his objections. He pointed out that Norton had probably left a will—no one knew yet—probably his estate would go to his intended wife—what more likely? He understood Norton had cousins somewhere in middle Tennessee—there was the attractive possibility of extended litigation. Miss Malroy needed a strong, clear brain to guide her past those difficulties his agile fancy assembled in her path. He beamed on his friend with a wide sunny smile.

"You mean she needs a lawyer, Price?" insinuated Mahaffy.

"That slap at me, Solomon, is unworthy of you. Just name some one, will you, who has shown an interest comparable to mine? I may say I have devoted my entire energy to her affairs, and with disinterestedness. I have made myself felt. Will you mention who else these cutthroats have tried to browbeat and frighten? They know that my theories and conclusions are a menace to them! I got 'em in a panic, sir—presently some fellow will lose his nerve and light out for the tall timber—and it will be just Judge Slocum Price who's done the trick—no one else!"

"Are you looking for some one to take a pot shot at you?" inquired Mahaffy, sourly.

"Your remark uncovers my fondest hope, Solomon—I'd give five years of my life just to be shot at—that would round out the episode of the letter nicely"; again the judge beamed on Mahaffy with that wide and sunny smile of his.

"Why don't you let the boy go alone, Price?" suggested Mahaffy. He lacked that sense of sublime confidence in the judge's tact and discretion of which the judge, himself, entertained never a doubt.

"I shall not obtrude myself, Solomon; I shall merely walk out to Belle Plain and leave a civil message. I know what's due Miss Malroy in her bereaved state—she has sustained no ordinary loss, and in no ordinary fashion. She has been the center of a striking and profoundly moving tragedy! I would give a good deal to know if my late client left a will—"

"You might ask her," said Mahaffy cynically. "Nothing like going to headquarters for the news!"

"Solomon, Solomon, give me credit for common sense—go further, and give me credit for common decency! Don't let us forget that ever since we came here she has manifested a charmingly hospitable spirit where we are concerned!"

"Wouldn't charity hit nearer the mark, Price?"

"I have never so regarded it, Solomon," said the judge mildly. "I have read a different meaning in the beef and flour and potatoes she's sent here. I expect if the truth could be known to us she is wondering in the midst of her grief why I haven't called, but she'll appreciate the considerate delicacy of a gentleman. I wish it were possible to get cut flowers in this cussed wilderness!"

(To be Continued.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

STRIKE IS AVERTED IN NEW BEDFORD

Manufacturers Grant a Ten Percent Increase

New Bedford, Mass., March 29.—A general strike of 30,000 cotton mill operatives here was averted late yesterday by the Manufacturers' association agreeing to pay the full 10 percent demanded. The advance dates from March 25.

The announcement of the advance was received joyfully by all classes of operatives. The weavers and several other unions held jubilation meetings last night. Formal action by the unions will be taken later in the week.

Recently the Manufacturers' association offered a 5 percent increase, explaining in a letter to the textile council, representing the labor unions, that on account of the dull condition of business generally and the fact that the mills have been compelled to curtail production during the past year, no larger increase was justified.

In reply the unions rejected this offer and presented a demand for a raise of 10 percent. The demand was looked upon generally as in the nature of an ultimatum, and union leaders declared that a general strike would follow a refusal.

The cry "Ten percent or strike" was heard frequently at labor meetings and on the street. The manufacturers are said to have been divided on the question of granting the additional 5 percent, some of them desiring to try the effect of a compromise of 2½ percent additional. They have held various meetings to discuss the situation, but final action was deferred until yesterday, when the full demand of the unions was granted.

MUTILATED BODY FOUND

Clue Discovered In North Providence Murder Case

North Providence, R. I., March 29.—An investigation was begun into the death of William Mathers, Jr., the 12-year-old boy whose body was found mutilated in some brush land in Marieville. The boy had been missing since Feb. 29. The town council when it meets on Saturday will be asked to offer a reward for the capture of the assailant.

The town police have obtained a clew and a search is being made for a 17-year-old Italian boy with whom the Mathers lad was last seen.

Committee Favors Lorimer

Washington, March 29.—The right of Senator Lorimer of Illinois to his seat in the United States senate was upheld by the special investigation committee, which decided that the senate's vote sustaining Mr. Lorimer in the last congress on substantially the same charges barred any further proceedings against him. The vote was 5 to 3.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

The health committee of the Woman's club had a trained nurse at the Kidder House, Blue Hills Parkway, last Monday. She showed the proper methods of feeding and clothing children.

Harding Casson has been elected captain of the Milton High baseball team for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody and their daughters, Misses Sylvia and Martin, are expected home from Europe next month. They have been spending the winter in Rome, Italy, and are now travelling extensively through Switzerland.

Joseph A. Duffy has again been appointed selectmen's clerk; Edward A. McCue, superintendent of streets; Maurice Pierce, chief of police; J. Porter Holmes, sealer of weights and measures; George F. Choate, superintendent of wires George E. Burt, inspector of buildings and Charles S. Pierce, town counsel.

The many friends of Edwin A. Houghton, keeper of the lockup, will be pleased to be informed that his health is considerably improved from what it has been during the past few months.

The overseers of the poor have organized with these officers for the ensuing year Arthur H. Tucker, chairman, and Arthur B. Field secretary. The board has re-appointed Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Sanford superintendent and matron respectively, of the town farm, and Albert Rounseville, agent.

The spring vacation for the students of Milton Academy begins tomorrow and ends April 9.

Prof. H. C. Norton of Harvard College gave a talk on the Montessori system of education before the meeting of the Public School Teachers' Association last Wednesday.

Gilbert and Sullivan's famous "H. M. S." pinafore concert will be given in the Town hall on the evenings of April 20, 22 and 23 for the benefit of St. Michael's Church. James Gilbert is to be in charge.

The spring meeting of the Education society will take place April 12. The speakers will be Joseph Lee and Robert A. Woods, both of them will speak on the playground movement.

The annual meeting of the Woman's club will be held in the Parish House on the afternoon of April fool's day.

Dr. Richard C. Cabot will lecture on "Mental Hygiene" before the meeting of the Woman's club on April 15.

The Guild of the Holy Spirit will hold a minstrel show in Oakland hall on the evening of April 18.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Madeline Brewer, of Canton avenue, to Bryant Whitney of Brookline. Whitney is a graduate of Harvard College '10 and is now a student at the Law School.

The annual parish meeting of the East Congregational Church took place last Monday evening and the reports of the various officers were read and accepted.

Mrs. E. A. Sholes has returned to Portland, Maine, after having spent a few weeks with her son G. W. Poole of Cheever street.

Mrs. E. C. Bassett of Adams street has returned from Haverhill where she has been most of the winter.

Richard E. Sawyer of Thacher street, who was run down by an automobile a short time ago, is able to be about again.

Automobile Tires
At the Lowest Prices
Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires
Carried in stock.
Other makes supplied at short notice.
Automobile Supplies
Good Oils at 28c per gal.
Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.
F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. March 21-tf

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.
AUCTION SALE
— OF —
Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock
About 100 Lots
Sale at Quincy Adams
At Freight House of
New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.
April 9th, 1912, at 10 A. M.
Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made at time of sale, and goods removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. L. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room
First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5. 3 mos

Have You Tried The X FURNITURE POLISH on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 325-3 Jan. 17-tf

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

A. M. JAMESON
Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf 1p

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

What More Fitting for DECORATION than a NICE PLANT in bloom
they can be had at the greenhouse
92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Azalias, Poensettias, Cyclamens, Primroses, Begonias, Hyacinths, etc.
WM. PATTERSON. Florist

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Large sum of money in city square Wednesday afternoon. Suitable reward if returned to James George, 7 Depot avenue, Quincy. 29-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE or TO LET
Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Apply at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—A young man good character, would like to get board in a private family near Hancock street. Leo E. Robinson, 26 Foster street, Quincy. 29-3t

WANTED—Ten more ladies to solicit orders from house to house in Quincy and vicinity. No delivery or collections. Straight salary and permanent work for those who bring results. Apply to H. Jarmuth, Hancock House, Quincy. 28-6t

WANTED—One or two rooms for light housekeeping. Address K. Ledger Office. 27-3t

WANTED—A boy who can milk and assist generally, or a man who can milk and has time to come morning and night. Dr. Abele, 18 Spear street. 27-3t

WANTED—Bookkeeper with experience. Apply at Hollis Market, Braintree. 27-3t

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at Thompson's restaurant, city square. 23-6t.

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

TO LET

TO RENT—Square front room with or without board. Apply upstairs, 255 Safford street, Wollaston. Ring right hand bell. L-P 29-1t

FOR RENT—One half double house six rooms, attic and bath. Veranda and large yard. 3 minutes from station and electrics. Rent $20. Apply 36 Pleasant street, Quincy. 27-6t

TO LET—5 room tenement, very pleasant. All improvements $15.00. R. J. Barry, Grocer, Atlantic. 26-6t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. New house. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-12t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-4

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET
Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.
Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.
Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.
City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent
GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)
Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.
Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $2.00 to $7 per week.
Desk Room—Street floor, right in the rear of main entrance, good light, low rent.
Store—Street floor Granite street, 3 large windows, excellent opportunity.
Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.
Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals.
Jan. 8-6m

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

WALL PAPER
F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER, Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

Storage
FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS
Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

UPHOLSTERING
If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.
M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building. Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

QUINCY BOSTON MALDEN PROVIDENCE PAWTUCKET MANCHESTER

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO.

Buy Your Spring and Easter Clothes at Our Anniversary Sale

During this sale we shall submit values which, by sheer force of unmatchable low prices, must command the attention of every man and woman who want and are entitled to the most that their hard-earned dollars can buy. In our 23 years of commercial life, we have formed many lasting friendships and built up a trade second to none in our line, of which we are justly proud. We have never lost sight of the fact that the purchaser is always entitled to full scripture measure of value and a "square deal." We intend to show our appreciation as well as to capture your trade by our unequalled values.

"A CHARGE ACCOUNT"—WE OPEN ACCOUNTS WITH ALL TRUSTWORTHY PEOPLE

in or within 25 miles of Quincy. It enables them to have without delay such clothing as they now desire, the same to be paid for in convenient partial payments while earning the money.

LADIES' SUITS
In good quality of serge, whipcord and fancy suitings. Styles the latest, qualities right, and money-making saving prices ranging from
$10.98 to $18.50

LADIES' SUITS
The latest and best styles in splendid quality of serge, worsteds, whipcords and novelty suitings. Silk or satin lined. Man-tailored.
$19.98 to $45

MISSES' AND GIRLS' SUITS
The young miss will find in this department just what she is looking for in a stylish Spring and Easter Suit. All sizes from 11 to 17; priced from
$8.50 to $19.98

LADIES' DRESSES
Beautiful gowns, in messalines, taffetas, marquisette and chiffon. All the best styles in the new and popular shades and colors
$10.98 to $37.50

LADIES' COATS
Swagger Spring Coats, in the new novelty grays, stripes and fancy mixtures, combining style and quality, at economical prices.
$8.50 to $25

SPRING MILLINERY
Our display of Spring Millinery covers the entire range of fashion in shapes and colors. The newest ideas at prices that will interest you.
$1.98 to $25

MEN'S SUITS
New fabrics, cut in the latest styles. Handsome new grays and browns, two and three-button models, splendidly tailored.
$9.98 to $16.50

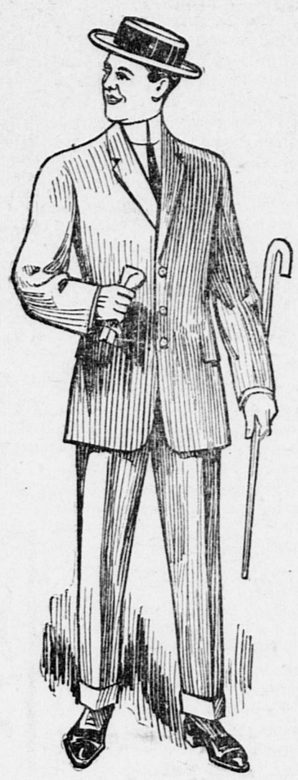
MEN'S SUITS
In fine quality of serges, worsteds and novelty suitings. Fine tailoring, as well as style and character, in a choice selections of fabrics and colorings.
$18.50 to $30

YOUNG MEN'S SUITS
Our Spring showing of young men's suits is of unusual merit. Handsome new fabrics, in grays, tans, browns and blues. Our low prices will please you.
$7.98 to $24.50

SPRING OVERCOATS
Beautiful garments, made from cheviots, thibets and unfinished worsted; well tailored. Venetian, silk or satin lined.
$12.50 to $30

BOYS' SUITS
Made of stylish durable fabrics that have the wearing qualities so necessary to rough usage. Our low prices will surprise you.
$1.98 to $8.50

STYLISH HATS
We show the latest and best styles in Derby and Soft Hats. All of the new blocks and desirable shades.
$1.49 to $3.00



WAISTS.
In lawn, lingerie, silk and messaline. The newest and latest accepted styles. Low prices, coupled with quality and style.
$.98 to 10.50

GIRLS' COATS.
Ages 4 to 14. In fancy mixtures, striped and plaid effects, also light weight broadcloth and serge. All colors.
$1.98 to $10

We Are Complete Outfitters For Man, Woman And Child

Joyce Bros. & Co.

HAVE YOUR PURCHASES CHARGED

13-15 Granite Street — Quincy, Mass.

JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO. JOYCE BROS. & CO.

BRIEFS

The no school sounded at 12.30 this noon for one session.

A meeting of the local union of Machinists took place, Thursday evening in Electa hall.

Members of Maple Lodge are hunting for one of their members who was lost, strayed or stolen on Thursday night. A party of fourteen left Quincy, but on arriving at Rowe's wharf, Boston, one was missing. Any information as to "Sarah's" whereabouts will be gladly received by the party.

Congressman James M. Curley lost out on a point of law in his attempt to put through an amendment to the bill calling for an appropriation of $500.00 to be used in entertaining members from the chambers of commerce of Europe, who come to Boston to the convention in September. Many of the visitors are scheduled to visit this city, among other places of historic interest.

—Cleanliness may be next to Godliness, but some of the medical authorities are of the opinion that Americans as a nation bathe too much and now as if to confirm this opinion, Amundsen tells of his dash to the South Pole, where for fifty days washing was a luxury never indulged in, but the men returned hale and hearty. The other side of the argument might be that they did this in spite of the non-washing rule, which will probably be the argument used by the mothers of the youthful generation, who are addicted, so far as possible to emulating Amundsen's example, and from choice not necessity, are somewhat sparing in the extent of their ablutions.—Old Colony Memorial.

BIRTHS

MULLEN—In New Jersey, Mar. 2, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen, nee Mary Martell, formerly of West Quincy.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

FAILURE.

George A. Folsom, proprietor of tea, coffee and china stores in Boston South Boston, East Boston and this city has filed schedules of his liabilities and assets in the U. S. district court. Folsom was petitioned in by his creditors following his assignment to H. P. Brown on Feb. 1, last.

He states that he owes $35,877, which is all unsecured among 90 creditors. His assets amount to $5,700.

Among those holding the largest claims are Louise C. Husam, Roxbury, $9,176.38; Swain, Earle & Co., Boston, $7,637.80, and Charles H. Tucker, Hyde Park, $6,000.

FALSE ALARM.

The alarm from Box 432 at 8 o'clock Thursday night was a false alarm. The department made a quick run to the box, was found open but the firemen were unable to find any blaze. Chief Litchfield was at City Hall when the alarm sounded and made a rapid run in his auto to the box.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.
PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Gust E. Lundgren, late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament—of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Nilsine Lundgren, sometimes known as Nelsine Lundgren of said Quincy who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB,
Register.
3t-29-5-8

SCHOOLMASTERS' CLUB.

The spring dinner and meeting of the Quincy Schoolmasters' club was held at the Quincy house, Boston, Thursday evening. Supt. Barbour was re-elected president of the club. Other officers elected were vice-president, H. F. Wilson, secretary and treasurer, Horace W. Rice. Rev. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea was the guest of the meeting.

—The "blue sky" of Kansas makes it a penal offense for person to offer shares in any company that is not approved by public authority, and this is declared to be a very good law. We are not disposed to contradict the assertion, though we think in such matters as this law is a poor substitute for common sense. Sometimes it seems to us that if such law were to be invoked to protect people from their own foolishness, it ought to be extended far enough to make buying unapproved stocks a penal offense also.—New Bedford Standard.

WHO SAID LAMB WAS HIGH?

They may be high with the majority of the market men men but not with us.

Leg and Loin Winter Lamb	10 ½ and 12 ½c
Legs of Lamb	12 ½ and 15c
Fore Quarter	7 and 9c
Fresh Pork Shoulders	11c
Smoked Shoulders	10 ½c
Fresh Pork to Roast	15c
Sirloin Steak	12 ½ and 15c
Porterhouse Steak	18 and 20c
Fresh Ginger Snaps	6c
Large Sweet Navel Oranges	2 doz. 35c

QUINCY MARKET

March 29-1t

VISITORS HERE FROM MARLBORO

Mayor Gleason and several of the City Officials of Marlboro paid a visit to Quincy, Thursday afternoon. The visitors arrived shortly after 2 o'clock and were received at City Hall by Mayor Stone. After an inspection of Quincy's administration building an automobile was taken for visit to some of the public buildings of the city. A call was also made at the Central Fire station where Chief Litchfield showed the party over the station. The auto chemical was then taken out and the visitors were shown how quick time could be made in a run to City Hall.

SPRING OPENING.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co., are extending a ni nvitation to their customers to attend the opening on Saturday of their enlarged store.

An Easter gift is to be presented to each customer. The store for the past month or two has been undergoing repairs and enlargement and is now very commodious and attractive.

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

Thinking nothing special about the day or date, Frederick Arthur, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thornley of 98 Safford street, Wollaston, took his usual walk on Wednesday evening to the North Q. A. clubhouse. About eight o'clock he was called to his home on a matter of importance. There he was astounded to find some twenty or more of his friends, and shopmates from Quincy, Boston and Milton, who came to pay him a surprise, visit on his 30th birthday.

During the evening a number played whist, and other games were indulged in and some fine instrumental and vocal music were much enjoyed. Refreshments were served and after an evening of abundant pleasure and fun the party broke up about midnight. Several beautiful and useful presents were presented to him as souvenirs of the day.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

NEW CLASS FOR SLOWER YACHTS

Will Add Interest to Yachts of the Interclub Class

RACING DATES

That the coming yachting season bids fair to be a most successful one, seems already assured from the plans adopted by the Interclub Yacht Racing Association. A meeting of the clubs affiliated with the association was held Thursday evening at the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club house, and the Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum yacht clubs were largely represented.

Among the important things decided upon was the opening of a handicap class to boats declared eligible by the executive committee. This same committee to have power in making the handicaps.

It is the purpose of the association to open this class to boats that have been rather too slow for Class A, boats of more than 26 feet measurement and other boats too slow for Class B, boats measuring less than 26 feet. In the new class more than 25 good boats will probably be enrolled, the owners depending on the committee to see that they are given a chance.

The City of Boston-Bermuda cup formally became the property of the association last night, the deed of gift coming from Hollis Burgess, who won the cup last year at the City of Boston open races in Boston Harbor. The cup is delivered to the Quincy Y. C., to be held until the winner of this season's race is decided on Labor Day, when it will be turned over to the club that wins. The deed says the cup is to be raced for by boats of not more than 45 feet in overall length and not less than 25 feet.

Much discussion was caused by a proposed amendment to the by-laws placing the extreme overall length of class A boats of more than 26 feet) at 45 feet. It was the purpose of the amendment to keep out freak boats and boats which would always cross the line far in advance of the rest of the boats. Objection was made that a boat, the Early Dawn, had just been bought by a man who purchased her with the purpose of racing her in class A, and so the matter was laid on the table indefinitely

The following racing dates of the association were adopted for the interclub Association races.

May 30—South Boston Y. C. at City Point.
June 8—Mosquito Fleet Y. C. at City Point.
June 22—Savin Hill Y. C. at Dorchester.
July 6—Squantum Y. C. at Quincy.
July 13—Columbia Y. C. at City Point.
July 20—Winthrop Y. C.
Aug. 3—Boston Y. C. at Hull.
Aug. 4—Lynn Y. C. squadron run, Bass Point to Marblehead
Aug. 6—Boston Y. C. at Marblehead.
Aug. 17—Cottage Park Y. C. at Winthrop
Aug. 24—Lynn Y. C.
Aug. 31—Wollaston Y. C. at Quincy.
Sept. 7—Quincy Y. C. at Quincy

It will be noticed that the Boston Y C. although not a member of the Interclub Y. R. A., has given two dates for races of the Interclub classes. The Wollaston Y. C. date is subject to change because the Aug. 31 tide is very unsatisfactory for racing off the Wollaston Y. C. The date apeared, however, to be the only one open for the club.

ROCK ISLAND IS QUIET

Probable That Militia Will Stay Till After April 9

Rock Island, Ills., March 29.—After a quiet night citizens of Rock Island discussed with Mayor Schriver and Sheriff Bruner the possibility of further riot troubles and the question of how long the soldiers of the Sixth regiment will be needed to preserve order.

Many business men favored immediate withdrawal of the militia, but city and county officials would not listen to this proposal. Others said they believed it would be necessary to hold the militia until after the primary election, April 9.

Although soldiers and deputy sheriffs made scores of arrests in the railroad yards and along the river front, there was no disturbance worthy to comment. All of those arrested were taken to the county jail, and will be held for investigation for several days.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

Can You Beat These?

We'll stand for the cigars if you can.

Examine our suits—note their 1912 appearance — the beautiful weaves and patterns from which they are fashioned.

Try on, as many as you wish—get out the lowest PRICE that you know of,—just see if you can beat it.

And to clinch all doubts, we give you a "Money Back Guarantee" which is our pledge of absolute satisfaction or back will go your money, without any kick or questions.

Our $15 Payson-Special, in the new Spring colorings—BLUE SERGES and GRAYS with and without the new diagonal effects, browns and a good many others to choose from $12.89

Hart, Schaffner & Marx's with all the good points that have earned for these clothes, the reputation of "second to none"

$20 Suits—plenty of variety in styles, weaves, patterns and finish $17.50

The $25 values, have so many points in their favor that space will not allow for description $22.50

Go where you will and you will not find these prices

PAYSON-MITCHELL COMPANY
QUINCY

TO RESTORE OLD REGIME

China's Boy Emperor May Be Returned to Throne

FINANCED BY CAPITALISTS

Another Uprising by Manchu Princes Imminent and Foreigners Believe Movement Will Come Soon—Continued Illness of President of China Is Considered Menace to Existence of the Republic

London, March 29.—"Recognizing the impotence of the existing government, capitalists of South China," says a press agency despatch received here from Tientsin, "are financially backing a project for the restoration of the throne of the Manchu imperial family."

Pekin press despatches say that the continued illness of President Yuan Ski Kait, which his doctors have stated was due to the use of drugs, menaces the existence of the Chinese republic. Another uprising on behalf of the Manchu princes is imminent. That it will come soon is the opinion of every foreigner in the capital, and they believe that it will be in connection with the admitted plot to restore the child emperor to the throne of his ancestors.

Confidential reports received at the foreign legations say that the Manchus everywhere are arming. A number of the Manchu princes has disposed of much of their private fortunes to secure funds with which modern arms and equipment are being purchased for the trained troops who can be depended on in any emergency. Meanwhile the Republican leaders who consented to the elevation of Yuan to the presidency are waiting impotently for "something to turn up."

So certain are the officials that a serious outbreak is coming that they have not relaxed a single precaution. Although the city is quiet and the local authorities are seemingly in complete control, the legation guards are still on duty. The rapid-fire guns are still in position commanding the approaches to the several compounds, and only those foreigners who have need to do so go into the city proper.

A body of 500 soldiers belonging to the garrison of Suchow, about fifty miles to the northwest of this city, have mutinied. They left the barracks and raided some of the principal streets, looting most of the numerous pawnshops. They also set fire to a number of private residences.

Owing to the necessity of arranging the details of the surrender of the departments and also settling Dr. Sun Yat Sen's personal affairs, the ceremony of turning over the seal of office at Nanking and the announcement of the cabinet have been postponed. War office reports show that the country generally is quiet, but there is unrest owing to the delay in the final settlement. The southern soldiers are being returned to their home provinces as rapidly as transport facilities will permit.

MRS. BANCROFT LOSES

Husband Gets Divorce After Sensational Trial

Wilmington, Del., March 29.—The Newcastle county superior court yesterday granted a divorce to John Bancroft, Jr., from his wife, Madeleine du Pont Bancroft. The families of the couple are among the most prominent in the state, and the charges made in connection with the case were of a sensational nature.

In addition to granting the divorce, the husband is allowed the custody of the couple's 4-year-old son.

The court also directed that a decree should be entered declaring that Max Heibler, Jr., an infant that was made a co-defendant with Mrs. Bancroft by her husband, is not the child of Mr. Bancroft. The infant was given the name of Max Heibler, Jr., by Mr. Bancroft in his application for divorce.

WINS STATE RECORD

Missouri Chief Josephine II. Is a Valuable Cow

Columbia, Mo., March 29.—Missouri Chief Josephine II. has finished a six-months' butter and milk test, in which she bested the record of her mother, the world's champion, by 336 pounds. Josephine II. holds the state record. She was bred at and is owned by the University of Missouri.

The records show 7035 pounds for Missouri Chief Josephine II in six months, while her mother produced 6700 pounds of milk in the same period at the same age. The milk production of the average Missouri cow is 4500 pounds a year.

Five Roasted Alive

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 29.—An entire family, consisting of father, mother and three children, were roasted alive in their home in Hanover, a suburb of this city. The dead are: Charles Melick, 30; Mrs. Charles Melick, 28; Wylady, 6; Emily, 4, Stanley, 1.

The greatest waste of the age is sickness which might be prevented and death which might be delayed. If Congress would busy itself with measures to prevent this waste, and not with fruitless investigations, it would accomplish some real good for the country. A national board of health would be worth while if it could save the country the cost in money and suffering of 2,000,000 serious cases of disease a year. This is what its advocates promise. Few people pass through an illness at a less expense than $25. This sum multiplied by 2,000,000 amounts to $50,000,000, which is a tidy bit of money. But to estimate the full cost of sickness we must take into account lost time, permanent diminution of efficiency, sacrifice of employment, and so on. This makes the saving a great deal larger.—Portland Oregonian.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 77 | QUINCY MASS., SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 30, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ANNUAL MASQUERADE BALL MANET ENCAMPMENT I.O.O.F.

Many Handsome, Grotesque and Original Costumes Among the Hundred Couples Who Participated

The Grand March a Unique Feature. The Prize Winners

The annual masquerade party of Manet encampment I. O. O. F. was held Friday evening at Alpha hall and was the most successful of any previous affairs. It was very largely attended and a larger part of those actively participating were en masque. There were many grotesque costumes seen among the hundred or more couples and there were of course the usual number of clowns, school girls, dominoes, etc. There were also a number of very original costumes. In fact it might be said that all the well-known characters were represented in the throng. As a general rule all costumes were of home manufacture, which while lacking the cut and fit of the usual hired costumes, made the party more homelike.

Several of the comical costumes created no end of merriment, before unmasking, and while some of the knowing ones thought they could readily pick out the familiar faces that were hidden behind the masques, when the masques came to be laid aside they found they were mistaken and the one thought to be Miss So and So proved to be a person of an entirely different name.

For the first hour and a half there was general dancing, the grand march and unmasking number not coming until 9.30. Of course it was warm beneath the masques and quite a few were seen to remove their masques at times to get a breath of fresh air.

The march was of course the feature of the evening and it came, as stated at 9.30 and was led by the Manet encampment band in full costume. The band formed in Union hall and as the inspiring strains of a familiar march reached the hall the band, playing for all they were worth came up the stairs into the hall. It was led by the band's Drum Major, Edward L. Goodridge, whose usual classic features were hidden beneath a grotesque masque. Ed. as usual carried his baton with him and as the band marched about the hall he wielded it, as only he knows how and kept the musicians in time.

As they encircled the hall the mas-

(Continued on Page Three.)

FIRST SERMON EASTER SUNDAY

New Pastor of Bethany Church Assumes Duties Monday

REV. B. A. WILLMOTT

Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott who has been called from the First Congregational church of Lowell to the pastorate of Bethany church, is to assume the duties April first and will preach his first sermon on Easter Sunday morning at the 10.30 service.

Mr. Willmott was born in a suburb of London, England, where his mother, seven sisters and two brothers still reside. He was educated in England, and came to this country in 1890, entering Bangor Theological seminary, graduating in the class of 1896.

In 1896 he was married to Alice Lowell Upton, daughter of Elisha Upton, editor of the Bath Times, of Bath, Maine, and the same year was ordained to the christian ministry in Lee, N. H., over which church he was installed for four years, his only child, John Frederick, being born there.

In 1900, Mr. Willmott was called to the pastorate of the Congregational church in Townsend Mass., where he remained for over five years and in 1906 was called to the pastorate of the First Congregational church in Lowell. The church which had been sorely crippled by a division, has grown splendidly under his ministry and a debt of fourteen thousand dollars has been paid, also there have been 64 additions to the church which is a unit and the congregations growing.

Mr. Willmott is looking forward to his ministry in Quincy with much pleasure and Bethany church is indeed fortunate in securing so able a man.

SEVENTEEN FOR CONFIRMATION

Rite Administered by Bishop Thurston of Oklahoma

ST. CHRYSOSTOMS'

A filled church greeted the Rt. Rev. Theodore Payne Thurston, D. D., Bishop of Oklahoma, acting for Bishop Lawrence who preached and administered the rite of confirmation at St. Chrysostom's church, Thursday evening. The rector Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra presented seventeen persons to the Bishop for confirmation.

The Bisphop addressed the candidates on the meaning of the step taken, reminding them that it was only the initial step in a life-long process toward the higher life. Bishop Thurston preached an extemporaneous sermon from I Thess. V:21 "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good."

He began by showing how experience, Truth and the channel through which Truth is known, is and always has been frequently confused. The facts are, God is, Christ is God's Son, "The Holy Spirit is a real force in history," but in history these facts have been confused with the channels through which they are known to us.

1st the community of interests prevalent in the Church of the Apostles; such holdings in common, not possible under present conditions, and consciousness of stewardship's the true relation between man and his fellows.

2d Monastic idea: old idea to save one's soul by withdrawal and meditation; now we save ourselves by service to others.

3d Organization: God founded the Church not as an end in itself, but purely as a means. The work of God progresses like all other works through organization, which is the Church. Contrast ancient idea of church as held in middle ages.

4th The Bible: not a book of scientific fact; not an authority on geology, astronomy etc., but the history of God's self, revelation to man; not a book on "how heavens go," but "how to go to heaven." Application: the present, a day of great and diverse opportunity in all sorts of social, and religious forms. Seize hold upon the opportunities offered and so fulfil the law of God. Keep facts of religion paramount and live them through the means of organization and knowledge that present opportunity provides.

The vested choir with Miss Louisa Allison Ross, organist rendered the musical program. The anthem, "O send out Thy light and truth that they may lead me," was sung during the offertory.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

OF

ELECTRIC LIGHTING

FROM 15 CENTS TO 13 1-2 CENTS PER K. W. H.

The Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is pleased to announce that by reason of the very gratifying increase in the volume of its business during the past year, a reduction will be made in the maximum net rate for lighting from fifteen (15) cents to thirteen and one-half (13 1-2) cents per K. W. H., to take effect May 1st, 1912.

Special inducements will also be offered for the installation of our lighting service in houses which have never been wired, located within one hundred (100) feet of our present house lighting circuits, if application for such service is made on or before May 1st, 1912.

QUINCY ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO,

By H. M. FAXON, Treasurer

Office No. 9 Granite Street — Telephone Quincy 185

Quincy, Mass., February 20th, 1912. Feb. 24—to May 1

ORDERS TO FORM A FEDERATION

Representatives of Eleven Fraternal Orders Present

TO HOLD FIELD DAY

Eleven fraternal organizations were represented at the meeting called last evening in John Hancock hall, Wollaston, for the purpose of considering the advisability of the organizations becoming an amalgamatized body, to be known as the Federation of Fraternal Orders of Quincy. The meeting was presided over by George A. Wardwell and great enthusiasm was manifested on the part of those in attendance.

Various matters were discussed, the principal ones being the consideration of a monster field day and the formation of a baseball league. Much talk prevailed on the securing of a suitable hall, wherein to hold meetings and committees were appointed to bring in reports at the next meeting, and also to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

The project seems to be a most feasible one and the success of the initial steps, augur well for the future.

The following organization were represented:—Odd Fellows, Moose, Red Men, Knights of Columbus, United Order of Workmen, Clan MacGregor, Sons of St. George, Heptasphus, Sons of Veterans and Benevolent Order of Buffaloes..

NORWEGIAN COSTUME PARTY

Electa hall was the scene of a largely attended masquerade party last evening, given by the members of the Norwegian Society. Costumes of a varied nature were greatly conspicuous and the affair was most enjoyable.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the Colonial orchestra and dancing was in order till midnight. The grand march took place at ten o'clock, followed by an intermission, during which refreshments were served.

Oscar Anderson was floor director and was assisted by a committee of aids, comprised of Theodore Johnson, Charles Holickon, Andrew Olson, Oscar Anderson, Andrew Jacobson and Carl Anderson.

☞For the children's supper PRATT'S BREAD and milk. Better than cake.

EASTER VACATIONS.

A party of twenty-five school teachers of the public schools of this city will spend the Easter vacation in visiting the different places of interest at Washington D. C. Ten of the teachers left for Washington last evening, whither they will travel by rail. Fifteen will board the steamer Kershaw at Boston this evening, bound for New York, whence they will travel to Washington. The party is in charge of H. Forrest Wilson, principal of the John Hancock and Lincoln schools.

A Proposition

If you want a new house a little better than the average and are willing to pay the price of a new one, yet get rid of the bother of building, this is for you.

Seven room House and Garage. Fine location. Built by day work, with best of materials. H. W. Heat. Gas and Elec. Lts. Every convenience. Must be inspected to be appreciated.

RICKER

1416 Hancock St., Quincy

Mar. 30-2t

R. E. FOY & CO. | R. E. FOY & CO.

Good Meats Are the Mainstay of the Table

We not only buy meat for the pur ose of giving our patrons reasonable prices, but also to assure them of a higher grade than they would ordinarily get at the same cost. Our meats are uniform in quality. In other words if you buy of us you get good meats all the time. It is not speculation but a surety. Try them and see for yourself.

Try our Lambs for a Starter

FINEST LEGS SPRING LAMB 18c

Home Dressed Roasting Fowl

As fresh and sweet and tender as any ever sold in our meat department. They're especially plump and pretty this week. Considering the high quality, the price is extraordinarily low; the pound 25c

Fresh Southern Vegetables

As fresh and nice as if you picked them from your own garden.

Very Fancy Spinach, peck 25c
Choice Rhubarb, 2 lbs 15c
New Cabbage, Butter Beans, Cucumbers
Lettuce, Radishes

SIMON PURE LEAF LARD, pail 50c

Fancy Grape Fruit, each 5c, 10c
California Navel Oranges, doz. 15c, 20c

Canned Specialties for Saturday

"Hatchet Brand" Apples, can 12c
"Sovereign Brand" Hawaiian Sliced Pineapple, can 25c
S. S. Pierce's California Asparagus Tips, can 20c
Barataria Shrimp, can 10c
Kippered Herring, 10c Borden's Evap. Cream, 3 cans 25c

Franklin Mills Entire Wheat Flour, bag 25c
Logan & Johnson Pure Jams, bottle 15c
Onion Salad, something new, bottle 10c

POTATOES ARE ADVANCING IN PRICE
BUY NOW!!

R. E. FOY & CO.

Quincy Choral Society

Music Festival

Tuesday, April 9, 1912
at Music Hall

Orchestral Concert at 3 o'clock

BOSTON FESTIVAL ORCHESTRA
Mr. John W. Crowley, Principal

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS
Miss Emma A. Perkins, Director

Evening Concert at 8 o'clock

GOUNOD'S FAUST

Mr. Osbourne McConathy, Conductor

SOLOISTS

Miss Estelle Patterson	Margarita
Miss Viola Van Orden	Siebel
Mr. G. E. Rasely	Faust
Mr. Willard Flint	Mephistopheles
Mr. Loyal Phillips Shawe	Valentine
Chorus 100 Voices
Boston Festival Orchestra

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.

15 rows reserved at 35 cents. Admission 25 cents.

FAUST CONCERT.

All seats reserved at $1.00, 75 cents and 50 cents.. Tickets on sale at C. C. Hearn's.

25-27-30-1-3-6

THE ASSESSORS START IN MONDAY

Bright and early Monday morning the Assessors and Assistant Assessors will start out on their annual round of the city assessing real and personal estate values, polls, etc. The assistant Assessors will confine hemselves to assessing polls, horses, cows, etc., while the regular board will give their attention to real and personal estate.

The assistant Assessors reported at City Hall, Friday night and received instruction as to their duties. Their work must be completed by the first of May. The Assessors however have until the first of June to complete their work.

Special Class Initiation

Quincy L. O. O. M., 413

Special Meeting

Sunday, March 31st, at Faxon Hall at 2 P. M.

Brockton Lodge, 562, will be the guests of Quincy Moose, and exemplify the degrees. The charter will close Wednesday evening, April 3. Your last opportunity to join the largest growing order in the world at the reduced rates.

ALBERT J. WILLIAMS,
Dictator.
LEON C. CLAFLIN,
Dep. Supreme Organizer.

30-1t

THE LADY'S SHOP

Number Four Maple Street,
JOHNSON BUILDING, - - - QUINCY SQUARE

The Season's Smartest Models in Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hats

OUR opening week has been a flattering success. ¶ Our display is still complete with exquisite, but practical styles at moderate prices.

THE BEST OF THE BEST

ORIGINALITY DISTINCTIVENESS EXCLUSIVENESS

EXCLUSIVE NECKWEAR NOVELTIES

30-3t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
21 East 23d Street,
New York City
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

New Mexico already charges four of its legislators with soliciting bribes. She is making a noble effort to keep up with her big sisters.

Mr. Carnegie has picked out the prettiest girl, but what we want to know is whether her ability to make muffins equals her good looks.

The textile workers all are getting so much more pay that they ought to be able to have meat for dinner once a month.

The Nicaragua "Liberals" have been placing bombs along Mr. Knox's route. That is merely their playful way of remarking that he is a very smart man.

From the personal way in which Theodore referred to Will at New York, it does not seem likely either that he wants to play in Will's yard, or to slide down his cellar door.

It looks as if the bituminous miners were going to strike, and as soft coal is used so freely to decorate house paint and window curtains, many householders will suffer.

We have been wondering if our wives would give us what we want for dinner, if after the Suffragette manner we should throw some rocks through the kitchen window.

The only persons who have not struck for higher wages are teachers and clergymen, but as they can earn nearly half as much as a carpenter or a plumber, they are perfectly satisfied.

Quincy square is looking most attractive these days the show window decorations for Easter being especially in evidence, with lavish use of lavender and green. The millinery stores are having Easter openings, D. E. Wadsworth & Co., an opening of their enlarged store, while the men's furnishings are displaying Easter neckties and spring apparel; windows of shoes, flowers, candy, and in fact everything all look good today.

THE APRIL FOOL JOKE.

What has become of the robust old fashioned April Fool joke?

Where is the wool doughnut, so fried and browned in fat as to deceive the very elect? Where is the empty purse nailed down to the sidewalk? Where is the April Fool placard attached to the back of the sedate and conservative citizen as he marches majestically through the streets of the town?

April Fool's day, like St. Valentine and many other traditional old customs, seems largely to have fallen into the hands of the youngsters. Annually we still hear Tommy asking Johnny if he sees the bird up in that tree, or if he is going to the circus this afternoon. But it is several years since our wife has tried to fool us, or we have tried to fool her. Perish the thought, but are we growing old?

Anyway we must admit our admiration for the people who still retain enough of play spirit and the child heart to keep up the pranks and festivals of childhood. There are still adults who get more fun out of the candles and glitter of the Christmas tree than from the most expensive present. And one hopes there are still households in which the sporting chance of fooling your better half is much more interesting than a flier in stocks.

THE MAINE EXPLOSION

Wide publicity has been given the past week to a "naval officer's" story of the Maine explosion. He charges that the impulsive Cuban officers exploded a mine that the Spaniards had placed near the Maine for emergency use.

While this story will never go into history books until more evidence is offered, it will seem plausible to any one who knows the excitable and impulsive Cuban character.

The hasty instability of the Cubans was never better illustrated than at the funeral of Gen. Garcia. Gen. Brooke and staff having been placed next Garcia's family, the Cuban army and assembly withdrew in anger. Many Cuban officers seated themselves conspicuously at a restaurant, and drank champagne when the cortege passed by, some of them calling on the Cubans to rise and drive out the American army.

The theatrical extravagance and lack of common sense in the Cuban temperament appeared when Gen. Ros as printed a signed newspaper article in which he said that "The American government is worse than Weyler's."

This impetuosity does not blacken the Cuban character at all. As a people they have many virtues. Their charities and public spirit would put to shame many of our private and public tightwads. In temperance in the use of liquor they are even superior to our people. In all the delirium that followed the declaration of freedom from Spain, a close observer says he never saw one Cuban drunk.. Some of our soldiers swilled like hogs on that occasion, and the Cubans, self-controlled in that one respect, looked on them with just contempt.

Generous and kind hearted, no Cuban could have wished to harm a hair of any of our jackies. But touching off such a mine would be just the theatre play that would tempt them, and the mentor of common sense would never rise in their minds to say No.

THE PACKERS GO FREE.

After chasing the modern trust Cyclops through the legal jungle for a good ten years, the verdict in the beef packers' criminal case leaves Uncle Sam back where he started from, considerably battered and very much winded, with scarcely time to think out a plan for another campaign.

It is one thing to pass laws to put your fellow citizens in jail, quite another to get them behind the bars.

Some years there appeared in a comic paper, a picture showing the contrast between a lion tamer as he was at the circus and as he was at home.

At thec ircuus, in the splendor of his red tights, and with his swinging whip, he was a potentate. The lions groveled before him and looked very humble.

At home he was washing dishes, and he looked quite meek in the presence of his wife, who supervised his work with stern oversight.

In discussing the evils of politics, the every day citizen is quite imposing as he stands on the curbstone, or as he tells the newspaper man how the editor should smite the dragon of corruption. But if he musters up courage to appear at a public hearing on some particular issue of political life, he is very respectful and conciliatory to the powers that be.

Similarly the consumer in his attitude to the trust magnate. In the smoking car and the hotel lobby he waxes eloquent over the greed of Dives.

But put him on a jury and place in the dock a real live trust magnate, make the relation personal as between man and man. Let him observe that the trust magnate wears goods clothes and looks like a good fellow. Would he have the resolution to put him on a bread and water diet and make him cane chairs for a year?

The Chicago verdict does not mean that Uncle Sam is going to quit his efforts to get the big combinations on a better basis. But it shows how average human nature makes it difficult to regulate combinations through the criminal law. Meanwhile it is to be noted that Uncle Sam has handled the railroads much more successfully through the Interstate Commerce Commission, than he has the trusts through law suits.

PITTSBURG'S PRETTIEST GIRL.

Pittsburg photographers have been camping at daybreak before the model home of Miss Virginia Lee, whom Andrew Carnegie calls Pittsburg's most beautiful girl, and she is showered with opportunities of marriage and stage careers.

What interests us is not Miss Lee's face, nor yet her excellent sense in sticking to her typewriter, but the profound emotion with which masculine Pittsburg has acclaimed her facial beauty.

If Miss Lee had been an heiress and had founded a hospital, the reporters would have called on her and secured a perfunctory write up. But it would never occur to the city editor to have the camera squad besiege her home.

It all goes to show that the male mind is tremendously swayed by such powers as female eyes, complexion, and "hanks of hair" as our friend Rudyard Kipling remarked. In the men's society clubs of the present time, we imagine that the relative beauty of their female friends occupies more time, and occasions more heated argument, than the Taft-Roosevelt quarrel or the arbitration treaties.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

AUTO WARNING SIGNALS.

The Massachusetts House of Representatives will consider during the coming week the bill, introduced by the Automobile Legal Association, known as House Bill, relative to the proper use of warning signals.

This bill has been delayed in committee for some weeks, but the sentiment in its favor among the Representatives seems to indicate that it will receive the favorable consideration of the House.

This bill is for the purpose of forcing every motorist to equip his automobile with some kind of adequate warning signal which shall make an abrupt sound, such as almost all types of warning signals can make; of preventing unnecessary noise; of restricting the use of automobile horns to warnings of positive danger, and forbidding the use of such horns for any other purpose.

The present Massachusetts law, as interpreted by the courts, practically forbids the use of adequate warning signals in cities and permits the unrestricted and continuous blowing of horns in the country districts. Should the bill referred to become a law, it will remedy both these evils.

During the past few weeks the bill has gained in popularity, and now has the support of the Massachusetts State Grange, the Massachusetts State Automobile Association, a large majority of the newspapers of the state, the selectmen of over 100 towns, and the non-motoring public in general.

SHUMAN'S SPRING OPENING.

The great store of A. Shuman & Co., Boston has been thoroughly remodelled and the spirit of spring moves on every floor. Basket floral decorations of orchids and lilies of the valley greatly enhance the bright, cheery aspect of this thoroughly New England store.

Experienced and courteous salesmen and women are ready to give expert advice and attention—an important part of the well-known Shuman service.

The show windows, exhibiting every kind of spring apparel for men, women and children, have an artistic and instructive background which consists of a series of painting depicting the modes of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. With many of the pictures are apt and trite quotations, well worth reading.

Perhaps the predominant note throughout the store is the complete and attractive apparel display. Every department is complete in itself. The ladies' tailored suits are shown most advantageously in dust-proof cabinets with large glass doors. The men's clothing is shown in glass wardrobes on separate hangers, where every garment is kept free from dust and damp, also eliminating creases and wrinkles, so that when tried on each garment is clean and fresh.

COMING EVENTS CALENDAR.

Under this heading will be published forthcoming entertainments in the city. A one-line announcement will be inserted free of charge, but if any committee desires more publicity as to place, hour, date, admission, etc., it will be inserted at 25 cents per line each insertion. Look the list over, and if your entertainment is not included, send it in.

April

1—Social—Boys C. E.—Memorial Church.
1—Meeting—Adams Chapter D. R.
2—Concert Dance—English Ivy Lodge—Electa Hall.
2—Meeting—Wol. Aux. Woman's Board of Missions.
2—Easter Sale—Park and Downs Church, Woman's Guild.
3—Launching—Fore River Ship yard.
3—Meeting—Wollaston Alliance.
4—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
6—DancingParty—Colonial Hall.
6—Children's Party— Q. Women's Club.
7—Easter Concert—Wol. M. E. Church.
8—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
8—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
8—Dance—Nonpareil Club —Alpha Hall.
8—Meeting—Abigail Phillips, Quincy Chapter, D. A. R.
9—Choral Society—Music Festival.
9—W. R. C.—Supper and Whist.
9—Civic Debate—Q. Women's Club.
9—Entertainment—Boy Scouts—Alpha Hall.
10—Meeting Catholic Club.
10—Play—Christ Church Boys' club.
10—Whist Party—Rebekahs—I. O. O. F. Hall.
10—Banquet—Point Church Men's Club.
10—Banquet—Granite City Club.
11—Parents & Teachers Asso.—Mass. Fields School.
12—Meeting—Friday Club.
12—Ball—St. R. R. Employees Asso.
12—Service of Song—Choir First Presbyterian Church.
13—Meeting—Young Women's Club.
13—Masquerade— Wollaston Tennis Club—Wollaston Hall.
15—Guest night Catholic Club.
16—Parents' and Teachers' Asso.—Quincy School.
17—Whist—Maple Iodge K. & L. of H.—Protection hall.
18—Grand Ball—Loyal Ladies Clan McGregor—Music Hall.
19—Opening Q. Y. Club.
18—Men's Club—Wol. M. E. Vestry.
18—Meeting—Pickwick Club.
18—Dance — Pastime Club—Alpha Hall.
19—Opening—Q Y. Club.
22—Whist—U. S. W. V. and Aux.—Electa Hall.
22—Meeting—Junior Friday Club.
22—Meeting—Quincy Alliance.
23—Loan Exhibit—Quincy Women' Club.
25—N. E. Associate Alliance—Firct Church.
25—Meeting—Hospital Aid Association.
26—Meeting—Friday Club.
27—Gentlemen's Night—Young Women's Club.
27—Children's Festival—Music Hall.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES.

CHRIST CHURCH.

Monday, evening prayer and address at 7.45. Tuesday, evening prayer and address at 7.45. Wednesday, evening prayer and address 7.45, Maundy Thursday, Holy Communion at 10.00 a. m. and evening prayer and address at 7.45.

Good Friday, Penitential Office, Ante-Communion and address at 10.00 a. m; children's service and address, 4.00 p. m; Processional-Litany and address 7.45 p. m.

Saturday, Easter Even, Holy Baptism at 3.00.

Easter Day, Holy Communion at 7.00 a. m. Morning Prayer, Holy Communion and sermon at 10.30; Sunday school carol service at 3.00 p. m.; Choral evensong and sermon 7.30.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S

Monday Ante Communion, at 10 A. M.

Tuesday, prayer and Ante-Communion at 10 A. M.

Wednesday, Ante-Communion at 10 A. M. Noon-day service at 12.30 P. M.

Maundy-Thursday, Holy Communion at 10 A M.

Good Friday Noon Day service at 12.30; evening service and sermon at 8.

Easter Even, Holy Baptism at 4.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Tuesday, sermon by Rev. T. Walther of Wollaston Baptist church at 7.30 P. M.

Wednesday by Rev.. T. W. Davison of Memorial Congregational church at 7.30 P. M.

Thursday, by Rev. C. A. Young of Roxbury Presbyterian church.

Friday, by Rev. W. W Iliffe of Brookline Presbyterian church at 7.30 P. M.

Easter Sunday, Communion service.

Dress in Comfort These Chilly Mornings

You can have an open well ventilated room for sleeping, and dress in it in perfect comfort if you have a

REZNOR GAS HEATER

Let the furnace fire go out as soon as you like now---no use keeping it going just be-because the weather may be chilly now and then.

The REZNOR will take care of you in any emergency and will save you money because, with it, you consume fuel only while you need heat.

It creates no odor---It creates no smoke.

We have them in every size and style from

$2.50 up

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT COMPANY
11 Granite Street

SUNDAY SERVICES

PALM SUNDAY

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Reality." Golden Text: "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations." Psalms 145:13. Wednesday, 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading room open from 3 to 5 P. M., week days, holidays excepted. All are welcome.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, (undenominational) Colonial hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building, Quincy Center. Divine services, at 3 P. M. Lecture by C. N. Elliott. Subject; "The Temple of God." 2 Cor. 6:16. All are welcome. No collection.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY (Unitarian) City Square—Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, D. D., pastor. Residence, Hotel Bellevue, Boston. Preaching 10.30 A. M. by the pastor. Sunday school 11.50. Charles H. Johnson, Supt. Y. P. R. U. at 7 P. M.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH — Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D. 12 M. Bible School. 6.15, Y. P. S. C. E. 7.30, Evening Church Service. Preaching by Dr. Anderson.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH, Washington Street. Rev. Fannie E. Austin, pastor. Morning worship 10.30 a. m. Subject: "Our Two Worlds." 11.45 Sunday School. 7 p. m. Special service with sermon by Rev. Melvin S. Nash, of Boston. There will be no meeting of the Y. P. C. U. Everyone welcome.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon at 10.30. Sunday School and Galahad Brotherhood at 12.05. 7.30, Choral Evensong and Stainer's Crucifixion.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street— Preaching 10.30. Sunday school 11.45. Christian Endeavor at 6 P. M. Preaching Service at 7.00 P. M. Rev. R. E. Gilkie, of Dixfield, Maine, candidate for the pastorate will preach both morning and evening.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH—Fort Square, Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence, 182 Glendale Road. Morning service at 10.30. Sabbath School at 11.45. Review of Quarter's Lessons. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Topic: 'China, Her Social Needs." Matt. XV 1-9 Evening service at 7. Seats free. All welcome.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH— Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Telephone 1524 M. Palm Sunday sermon 10.30. Bible School and Men's class at 11.45. Junior C. E. at 4.00. Prayer circle 5.45. C. E. Service 6.00. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Pre-Easter and Communion services will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Revs. T. Walther, T. W. Davison, C. A. Young and W. W. Iliffe, speakers. We invite you to enjoy these services with us. Young People's meeting Thursday at 7.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30. Subject: "Our palms for the incoming Christ." Sunday School at 12 M. Junior League at 3 P. M. Epworth League at 6.1 . Leader, Miss Helen Martin. Evening service at 7 P. M. Subject: "The Ten who can save Quincy." Prayer Meeting Friday at 7.30 P. M. at the parsonage.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH — Rev Carl G. Horst, minister. Residence 67 Winthrop avenue. Telephone: Quincy 583-1. 10.45, Morning service. Preaching by minister. Kindergarten at 10.45. Sunday School at 12.10. The Rollin's Class for Young Men meets in the Church auditorium at 12. 6.30, Y. P. R. U. Federation Meeting, Channing Church, Dorchester.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Miss Marion Nevers, Deaconess. Morning Worship at 10.45. Subject: "The Triumphant King." Sunday School at 12. Junior League at 3.30 led by the Deaconess. Epworth League at 6. Evening Service at 7. Mrs. F. H. Morgan will speak. Welcome.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Preaching by Pastor. Subject: "A Grace in which we are to Abound." Sunday School at 12.15. Junior Endeavor at 3.30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6. Evening service at 7. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Hindering the Gospel of Christ." Everyone invited to these Services.

ATLANTIC M. E CHURCH—Rev. H. E. Dorr pastor. 10.45 Morning service, preaching by minister, subject: "The Royal Entry." 12, Sunday school. 7, Evening service. Music. Solo and double quartette.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor 10.45 morning worship. Sermon by the pastor. Subject: 'The Ascension of the Cross." Sunday school at 12 Evening service at 7 P. M.

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square
If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

Lorimer Case Goes to Grand Jury

Washington, March 30.—It was stated by a United States senator that corruption charges involving Senator Lorimer will be considered by the federal grand jury in Chicago on Monday.

Falling Roof Kills Miners

Sheffield, Eng., March 30.—Fourteen miners were buried alive by the fall of the roof of a quarry near here, where they were working on an outcrop of coal.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days
E. W. Grove on box. 25c

Real Service Free To Our Depositors

You are entitled to valuable service if you are a depositor here: To free consultation with our officers or legal department on business matters; to credit information; to advice on matters of investment; to estimates on value of securities; to liberal and broad business treatment as an aid in your business. Let us tell you more about this.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Kincaide's Complete Outfits Make Happy Homes
That's True. Absolutely.

Proved by hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of happy homes hereabouts outfitted by us in 20 years of honest dealing.

We want to fit out your new home.

You would surely have us do it if you knew this Great Good Store as we know it.

—Knew of its immense, carefully selected stock---broad varieties---high quality---low prices---liberal terms---Golden Rule treatment.

—Knew we furnish Complete Outfits as low as $95.

You can know. We're waiting---willing, anxious to tell you---to show you---to supply you.

When can we have the pleasure?

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Complete Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy

J. LEWIS ELLIS, Architect
Office: Durgin & Merrill Block, Quincy
If you propose to build or make alterations, give me a call. It will cost you nothing to look at sketches and talk it over. Charges reasonable.
Hours: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, from 10 A.M. to 5.30 P.M. Evenings by appointment. Telephone 1560. 29-1 mo.

JOLLY CLOTHES LINE SHOWER

A very jolly clothes line shower was given Friday evening by Misses Mary Heaney and Charlotte Sweeney at the home of Mrs. Harry W. Titus, Newport avenue in honor of her sister, Miss Lillie C. Jacobsen's engagement to Horace G. Titus. The clothes lines were hung with all kinds of articles combining beauty and utility: useful as well as beautiful linen, cluny lace doilies, bureau coverings, towels, aprons, etc. Many of the girts were accompanied by a verse.

The surprise to Miss Jacobsen was complete. After dinner with Mrs. Sears, they went to make a call on her sister. After taking off their wraps Miss Jacobsen turned on the light in the living room when the unusual appearance of the room, combined with the shouts of laughter of her friends nearly took her breath away. Eventually she was able to thank them.

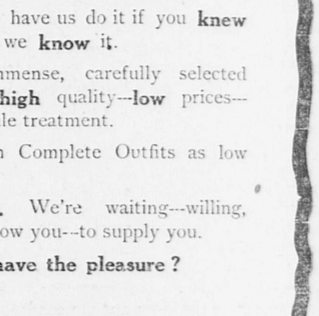
After music and several interesting games the hostess served refreshments of coffee, dainty sandwiches, cake and mousse and the party came to an end amid good wishes for the future happiness of Miss Jacobsen.

Miss Jacobsen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Jacobsen of Kendrick avenue.

Those at the party were: Miss Carlotte Sweeney, Miss Mary Heaney, Miss Margaret Heaney, Miss Sadie Heaney, Miss Alice Deacon, Miss Josephine Collagan, Miss Cora W. Titus, Miss Jean I. Gorham, Miss Marion G. Wheeler, Miss Ida Mattson, Mrs. Edward H. Sears, Mrs. Charles W. Brooks, Mrs. Elsie Damon, Mrs. Carl Derby, Mrs. Thomas Gammon, Mrs. Bertha Carlson Potter, Miss Jennie Malmberg, of Belmont, Miss Sigrid Fryckstrand and Mrs. Homer Keissling of Roslindale.

"Boy Scouts" Shoes Wear Like Iron

This "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe, made of mineral-tanned genuine Elk leather, will outwear two pairs of ordinary shoes. It is almost impossible to wear it out. Yet it is extremely light, soft as a glove, and fits as closely. No linings. Reinforced sole—cannot pull loose. Absolutely the best and most economical boy's shoe made. Thousands of boys now wear "Excelsior Boy Scouts" Shoes.



Little Boys', Sizes 9 to 13½, $2.00.
Boys' Sizes 1 to 5½, $2.50.
Big Boys' and Men's, Sizes 6 to 10, $3.00.
Colors—Olive, Tan and Black.

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" Camp Shoe

Other Styles

"Excelsior Boy Scouts" shoes can be had also in regular, high-cut and blucher shapes. Tan, black and gun-metal calf. Unequalled by any boy's shoe made.

Look for the "Good Luck" Charm

"Swastika" Good Luck Charm attached to every pair. None genuine without charm. Looks like gold. Will not discolor. Splendid for prizes for boys' games.

Made by THE EXCELSIOR SHOE CO., Portsmouth, Ohio
For Sale by (32)
GRANITE SHOE STORE

March 28 tf

READ LEDGER ADVS.

The Social Realm

Miss Bessie Elcock of 21 Marsh street is spending the week end at Northboro, Mass.

* * *

Mrs. McFall of Mattoon, Illinois, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Isabelle A. Davis of Spear street, arriving on Friday for an extended visit.

* * *

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Welch and Miss Marjorie Welch who have been spending a month at Palm Beach and St. Augustine, Florida, are expected home today.

* * *

Miss Louise F. Thacher of Farrington street is leaving Monday for a weeks' visit with Mrs. Alfred S. Hottle of Germantown, Pennsylvania.

* * *

Miss Etta M. Prescott has been the guest this week of Miss Grace M. Isaac of West Newton, going over Monday for the Junior Friday club meeting.

* * *

Dr. John A. Gordon is enjoying a trip to Panama.

* * *

Mrs. William B. Rice and Fred B. Rice of Adams street joined Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rice this week at their new home in Dover, Mass.

* * *

Mrs. Rupert F. Claflin of Greenleaf street left Friday for Syracuse, New York, to visit her mother, who is quite aged, being eighty-five years old.

* * *

L. Dowley Williams, of Adams street returned this week from Europe where he has been travelling on the continent for several months.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Cole of Granite street left Wednesday for a three weeks' visit with their daughter in Fitchburg.

* * *

Mrs. Laurance H. Sturtevant entertained friends of her little daughter Laura at her home on Adams street on Thursday afternoon in observance of her sixth birthday.

* * *

Judge James H. Flint of the Norfolk County Probate Court returned Thursday from his wedding trip to the Berkshires. Mrs. Flint was formerly Mrs. Annie C. Hubbard, widow of Henry C. Hubbard, a real estate operator of Roxbury, who died some years ago. Judge Flint and Mrs. Hubbard were married March 7 at Captain Dyer's home by Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Wollaston.

* * *

Lysander S. Richards, who has been travelling in the South with his daughter Miss Eleanor Richards, is about returning to his home at Marshfield Hills, after a few weeks in Washington, D. C., en route north.

* * *

The regular meeting of the Norfolk Whist club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Townsend, Holbrook road. The members and friends passed a most delightful evening. Refreshments were served, and the souvenirs for ladies were won by Miss Rumwill and Mrs. Baker and for gentlemen by Mr. Silva and Mr. Swithin. The next meeting will be held April 4th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hopkins, Hancock street.

* * *

Miss Thelma Holt of Brunswick street, Squantum, is spending the Easter vacation with relatives in Fitchburg.

Our former fellow townsman Lysander S. Richards has been honored by being appointed a member of the National Geographical society of Washington, D. C. This society is a scientific body, managed by such men as Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, the discoverer of the telephone; Gen. Greely, the Artic explorer and other prominent scientists. It is also the society before which Admiral Peary had to appear to establish his claim as the discoverer of the North Pole.

* * *

Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. L. W. Glover, Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, Mrs. E. E. Jameson, Mrs. A. M. Parker are to be the matrons at a dancing party to be given in Colonial hall for the younger set, on April 6, in aid of the Quincy Day Nursery. The ushers for the affair will be Clarence Austin, Paul R. Blackmur, Jr., Maurice Blackmur, Bruce Saville, Godfrey Johnson, Albert Parker, Eric Patch, Carleton Smith, Fred H. Sutermeister, Starret White, Richard Crane and Raymond Webb.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Couch and two children of Wollaston leave today on a week's trip to Washington, D. C.

* * *

Miss Gladys L. Bain of Prospect avenue is home from Wellesley college, coming Friday for the Easter recess of ten days.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus W. Poole of Prospect avenue arrived Monday on the belated "Ivernia" from a three months' tour of Southern Europe and Great Britain.

* * *

The Sevsters club spent an enjoyable evening with Miss Claire Rand of Botolph street, Tuesday when she entertained the club at an informal musicale, with the assistance of two of her friends from the New England Conservatory. Games were also enjoyed followed by a delicious lunch.

* * *

Friends of Perry Lawton, and they are many, are glad to see him on the street again after his long illness.

* * *

Miss Rose Stewart, the noted vocal teacher of Boston is one of the out of town people subscribing to the Choral Society concert. She will without doubt be one of the most interested listeners and two of her pupils are included in the Faust soloists.

* * *

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Whittemore of 138 Glendale road are pleased that they are not to change their places of residence because of Mr. Whittemore's change of business. After several years as cashier with the Citizens' Gas Light Co., Mr. Whittemore is to go into the insurance business having been appointed special agent for the State Mutual Assurance Co., of Boston.

(Continued on Page Six.)

AUTO AND TRUCK SHOW.

The Wollaston Central Garage has issued invitations to an automobile and truck show at their garage at Wollaston Monday April 1, from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. Some of the leaders to be shown are the Metz roadster, Rambler tourer, Commercial delivery car and Lauth Luergens truck. An orchestra will furnish music during the show and refreshments will be served in the evening.

High Class Millinery

AT REASONABLE PRICES

Opening Saturday and Monday

ALL CORDIALLY INVITED

MRS. D. P. TAYLOR

Hancock Building, City Square

NO CARDS

March 29-2t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

SPRING OPENING

SATURDAY, MARCH 30

An Easter Gift to Each Customer

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

March 29-2t

MAKARIAS GIVE FINE PROGRAM

Was Given in Aid of the Fraternities Base Ball Team

THE PROGRAM

Words fail to give due credit to the entertainment of the Makaria Fraternity, provided last evening to an audience that taxed Colonial hall to its capacity. All of the contributors to the program were talent who have already gained renowned in theatrical and other such performances and the work of all was of an order that savored of professional ability.

The affair was held in the interests of the Makaria baseball team and was a pronounced success. Loud applause frequently interrupted the different numbers.

The grogram opened with a Japanese drill, given by Misses Eleanor Pratt, Dorothy Bean, Edith Lovejoy, May Herne, Margaret Lawrence, Mary Brown, Hazel Dewhurst and Mabel Lovejoy. This was followed by a vocal selection rendered by John Hammond, whose work was so highly appreciated that he was forced to respond to repeated encores.

"Two Jolly Bachelors" proved a decided hit and the performers, Misses Mabel E. Lovejoy and Dorothy Bean acquitted themselves in a splendid manner. At this point a short intermission took place, during which time Joe Beal entertained with a few recitations.

Miss Marion Bill then favored with an exhibition of fancing dancing, which was the cause for prolonged applause.

The concluding number was a farce in one act, entitled "Miss Oliver's Dollars," which was furnished by a cast composed of high school girls, who acquired an enviable reputation with the same production a short time ago, in the assembly hall of the high school. The cast of characters was as follows:—

Mrs. DeForrest, a supposedly rich society leader, Hortense Andrews
Ellen DeForrest, her marriageable daughter, Juanita Metherall
Madge DeForrest, her fourteen year old daughter "enfant terrible," Miriam Breen
Mrs. Kirk, another society leader Louis Prout
Miss Oliver, her eccentric millionaire aunt, Marian Newcomb
Mrs. Beebe, a New England farmer's wife, Mary Golden
Mary Beebe, her daughter, an actress, May Knapp
Mrs. Pippins, the parson's wife, Margaret Magee

The committee in charge was Matthew Nicoll, Albert Coffin, Ja., and Harry Glover.

MRS HARRIET SMITH.

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Smith, wife of Henry G. Smith of Barre, Vt., was held yesterday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Smith, Madison street, Atlantic, interment being at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Smith occurred quite unexpectedly at the City Hospital, Barre, Vt., on Tuesday, March 26. She had been ill but a short time and leaves, besides her husband; an infant son, born Tuesday; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Smith of Atlantic, Mass., and Mrs. Martha Gray of Edgecombe, Me., also two brothers, Charles and Walter Bevan.

Mrs. Smith, nee Bevan; was born in Scotland in March 1884. She came to Quincy with her widowed mother when seven years of age, and was educated in the schools of this city. The family moved to Allston, Mass., where she was married to Mr. Smith in 1904. Mr. Smith, who is well and favorably known in Quincy had moved to Barre, Vt., from Quincy was a partner in the firm of Smith Bros. of Barre, doing a large business in the granite industry. Mrs. Smith was a member of Ruth Chapter No. 33, Barre, Vt., Order of Eastern Star.

The floral tributes were many and represented the sympathies of the many friends and relatives of Mrs. Smith in Barre, Vt., and Quincy.

Much sympathy is being expressed for Mr. Smith in his bereavement.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening and it promises to be a busy session. The main matter of business will be the annual budget which will come up for its second reading. After discussion the rules will probably be suspended that the order may pass. A number of committee reports will also be received and acted upon.

NORFOLK COUNTY BUDGET FOR 1912

It will cost the County of Norfolk $200,000 for the support of its institutions during the current year. This is an increase of $7000 over that of last year. Thursday the Committee on Counties on the part of the House reported favorably a resolve which grants a county tax for the County of Norfolk in the amount specified. The separate items of the resolve show the increases and decreases in the amount required.

Interest on County debt, $13,000. Increase $500 over last year.

Reduction of County debt, $32,000. Increase over last year of $4000.

Salaries of County officers and their assistants (fixed by law) $20,000. Increase over last year of $1000.

Clerical assistance in County offices $25,000. Same as last year.

Salaries of district and police courts $38,500. Unchanged.

Salaries of jailers, masters and assistants, and support of prisoners in jails and houses of correction $32,000. Decrease of $5000 over last year.

Criminal costs in the superior court, $20,000. Unchanged. Civil in the supreme judical and superior courts, $22,000. Unchanged.

Transportation expenses of County and associate commissioners $800. Increase of $200.

Medical examiners, inquests, and commitments of the insane, $6000. Unchanged.

Auditors, masters and referees $3000. Decrease of $1000.

Repairing, furnishing and improving County buildings, $6000. This is the largest decrease, being just one-half of the amount of 1911.

Fuel, lights and supplies in County buildings, other than jails and houses of correction, and for care of same, $27,000. Unchanged.

Highways including state highways for which the County is responsible, bridges and land damages, $30,000. Increase of $5000.

Training school, $4000. Decrease of $500.

Miscellaneous and contingent expenses of the current year, $4410.87. Increase of $867.29 over 1911.

The resolve authorizes the County Commissioners of Norfolk County to levy as the county tax of said County for the current year, and in the manner provided for by law, the sum of $200,000 to be expended, together with the cash balance on hand and all the receipts from other sources, for the above purposes.

HILL IS UNFIT TO FRAME WOOL TARIFF

Sharply Attacked by Reilly In House of Representatives

Washington, March 30.—The debate on the wool tariff revision bill, in the house yesterday, was enlivened by Representative Reilly, Democrat, of Connecticut, who sharply attacked his Republican colleague, Representative Hill, author of the minority wool tariff measure.

Reilly said that Hill was unfit to have any hand in the framing of such legislation, because he was an officer in the Norwalk Woolen Mills company, and had been for years. Hill's son, Reilly added, was treasurer of the company.

MARCH RECORD BROKEN

Mississippi Reaches Flood Height of Twenty-Seven Feet

St. Louis, March 30.—With the river stage the highest for March it has been since the records have been kept in St. Louis, a general rain falling throughout the southern part of the state and a storm moving northeast from the south central states, flood conditions are likely for this city and the lowland south of here. The Mississippi passed the twenty-seven-foot mark, with the water rising more than a foot in twenty-four hours, and the weather bureau predicted it would attain a depth of thirty or thirty-one feet, flood stage, by the first of the week.

Although no lives have been reported lost, incidental to the rise of the Missouri river, many families have been forced to leave their homes. Tributaries are flowing from their banks and these are expected to bring the Missouri to a flood stage. Governor Deneen of Illinois has ordered the adjutant general's department to send tents to Cairo for the relief of families forced from their homes by the high water.

☞ One's thoughts at Easter time turns to flowers. William Patterson, the Wollaston florist has one of the choicest collections to be found in this vicinity. His greenhouses are full of violets, Easter lilies, roses, hyacinths, tulips, sweet peas, in fact most everything that grows.

GET YOUR EASTER SUIT HERE

And This Week if Possible

You can't be too particular about getting clothes that are correct in style. I want my customers to be particular; I am particular about it when I buy the goods—they've got a style about them that's distinctive—and the quality of the materials and tailoring keeps them looking stylish after long wear. They don't go out of shape the way most clothes do..

Now—just before Easter—our display racks are full of the latest Spring Suits for men and boys. The man who can't find here something just to his mind, at a price he will cheerfully pay will not get what he wants in Quincy—that's sure

In colors for this season, grays and browns are to be particularly strong and then comes blues. Tans will also be popular as well as a great number of mixture effects.

Two and three button sack suits; coats with long soft roll fronts; some with the "smart" narrow, English shoulders, others with shoulders of medium width; splendidly modeled to hug and to fit—where fit is the hardest. Vests that show above the coat and vests that show not at all. Snappy, smart and stylish.

Popular prices prevail $10, $12.50 to $16.50

AND BOY'S SUITS—Just as carefully tailored as are the suits for men, extra quality of cloth, from $2.50 to $6.

All the New Styles in Men's Hats

Every man in Quincy can find here just the hat he wants.

When you come here, you expect and get a good hat.

Lamson & Hubbard Hats	$3.00
The Jones' Special Hat	$2.50
The "Best in the City" Hat	$2.00
Soft Hats	$1.00 to $3.00

The Ralston Shoes

For Quincy's Best-Dressed Men.

All leathers, all lasts - - - $4.00

Distinctive New Ties for Men

A man doesn't want to buy new spring ties that look just like last year's ties. I thought of that when I selected these entirely new silk ties.

Different designs in diagonal stripes and figured patterns.

The Real Cheney Ties	50c
Other Handsome Ties	25c

E. & W. Shirts

Made of best quality madras and percales---handsome patterns, negligee or with bosom - - - - - - $1.50

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street, "Just around the Corner" Quincy

ANNUAL MASQUERADE

(Continued from Page One.)

quers fell in behind, and the grand march was in progress. There were 66 couples in the march which more than encircled the hall while the space outside and the balcony was crowded with spectators.

The marchers encircled the hall several times. Then the band ran short of wind and stopped, although Ed. kept his baton in motion for several seconds hoping that they would catch up. Mr. White the janitor opened the ventilators but all to no purpose, they had blow themselves out.

While this was in progress the judges who had been selected to award the prizes for the most original, grotesque and best gowned couples were busy making up their minds to whom they should be awarded. This committee was composed of John Hall, F. C. Allen and Mrs. H. E. Walker. At that time the masques had not been removed and were not until after their decision had been announced. The parties were called to the stage and presented as the prize winners. They then removed their masques and the orchestra announcer cried out "all unmasque."

This of course was the signal for the usual cries of "I knew it was you Sadie," and "I could tell you by your walk" etc., and the masquers thus addressed took it for granted that it was so.

There were six prizes in all. They were pieces of china and very pretty. The fortunate ones gave their names as follows:—

Original—Indian maiden was papoose strapped to her back, impersonated by Maria Purdy.

A double man who was going and then coming so that it was hard to tell on which side his face was, Frank W. Nightingale.

Best dressed—Miss Liberty, a lady whose gown was made of the American flag, Mrs. C. W. Nelson.

A sailor boy in white—C. M. Gardner.

Comical—A lady who called herself an old maid but whose costume resembled that of a witch—Sadie Walker. She it was who led the march with Chief Patriarch Walker.

Asa Spades,—William A. Richards. Asa was impersonated true to life and created no end of fun.

The prizes awarded, many laid aside their costumes for something more comfortable and general dancing was in order until midnight. During an intermission late in the evening ice cream and cake was on sale in Union hall.

A. S. Kennedy had charge of the floor arrangements and was assisted by Charles J. MacDonald and the following aids, William A. Richards, W. H. Walker, Frank L. Carleton, Frank E. Badger, N. G. Emanuel, Charles Barron, Charles H. Wood and Charles S. Jones.

Charles H. Wood was chairman of the committee of arrangements, Walter H. Walker secretary and Charles Barron treasurer while every member of the encampment constituted himself as a committee of arrangements of one and saw to it that everybody had a good time. At midnight a special car left the hall for West Quincy.

QUINCY REGISTRY FOR NURSES

20 Whitney Road, Quincy Mass.

Will supply trained and practical nurses, attendants and nursery assistants. No charge will be made to those applying for Nurses.

Mrs. E. L. CRANE, Registrar,
Tel. Quincy 131-2 Feb. 28-3m

Zoroid Lenses--

ZOROID LENSES FOUNDED 1892

This name we have given to the best lenses we believe it is possible to produce. Best because they are made from the best lens glass, according to a prescription which we guarantee to be correct and set before the eyes in a way that makes the wearing of glasses a pleasure. Remember the name which stands for satisfaction.—ZOROIDS.

BRIGGS S. PALMER, Pres't.

Sanborn's Telephone Oxford 790 S OPTOMETRISTS AND OPTICIANS 149 TREMONT ST. LAWRENCE BUILDING COR. WEST STREET BOSTON

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

Mar. 30--April 3

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

That everybody in Quincy may be induced to buy Queen Louise Flour, we have decided to make the price of Queen Louise Flour $6.75 per barrel and 85c per bag. We do this so that every flour using family in Quincy may get the habit for Queen Louise Flour, so now is your time to commence.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Canned Squash, 12 1-2 cents can. Canned Pumpkin, 10 cents can. Nothing better for pies.

Curtice Bros'. Blue Label Strawberry and Raspberry Jam, in Glass Jars, 17 cents per jar.

Bangor Ham and Bacon. Big Demand. Big pleasure eating some—What kind do you eat? Well, let us suggest—"the Bangor kind.'

Call and purchase a quart jar of large Olives for 25 cents.

Numerous other bargains this week that will pay you to investigate.

JOHNSON BROS'. MARKET
CITY SQUARE.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

Kryptok Bifocals

Are Far and Near Glasses in a single pair. Another reason why Kryptoks are steadily displacing cemented bifocals is:

All cemented bifocals have a patch at the lower end of the glass, which looks queer and oldish. Kryptoks have no such patch, nor anything odd looking.

5 STORES. USE THE MOST CONVENIENT
315 Washington St., 310 Boylston St., 75 Summer St.
BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE,
230 Essex St., SALEM,
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
Latest Novelties in Neckwear

CORSETS
"Her Majesty's" Special
$1.00 value 79c

ROMPERS
"The Little One"
Special Value 50c

May Manton Patterns 10 cents
WHEELER'S
City Square, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDES FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, March 25	3.45	4.15
Tuesday,	4.45	5.15
Wednesday,	5.45	6.30
Thursday,	7.00	7.45
Friday,	8.00	8.45
Saturday,	9.00	9.30
Sunday,	10.00	10.30

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	53 degrees
Mar. 30, 1911,	57 degrees
Mar. 30, 1910,	60 degrees
Mar. Noon Maximum, 14 years,	75
Mar. Noon Minimum, 14 years,	26

BRIEFS

Mrs. Walter McKenzie of Upland road and mother Mrs. Greer are both sick with severe colds.

Rev. A. L. Hudson of First church has established regular office hours for the convenience of his parishioners and can be found each week day, except Saturdays, in his study in the chapel of the church, from 9 A. M. until 1 P. M.

The Walther Men's class meets Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. Joseph Walther will have charge and will lead in the discussions. All men not in other similar classes invited.

Miss Spear announces that the next rehearsal of Lady of Shalott will be held in Y. M. C. A. hall, April 10, from 3.45 to 5 p. m.

The boys of the Christian Endeavor are to give a social in the vestry of the Memorial church on Monday evening.

The people of Atlantic appreciate Mayor Stone's selecting Ex-Councilman Charles A. Hadlock for the advisory board. Many of the leading citizens of Atlantic wanted Mr. Hadlock to run for councilman at the last election.

Members of the W. C. T. U. are invited to be present at a special meeting to be held in Protection hall, Thursday, April 4th at 2.30 P. M. All are welcome. The L. T. L. will meet at 4.15 on the same date in the same place.

Merit, Old Age and Respectability
1810-1911
The liniment that has proven its virtues by 101 years of use. Has cured and healed millions.
JOHNSON'S ANODYNE
Liniment
Used inwardly for Coughs, Colds, Cholera Morbus, Sore Throat, Diarrhœa, Cramps, etc.
Outwardly for Swellings, Sprains, Cuts, Rheumatism, Lame Back and Wounds.
25c and 50c Bottles
I. S. JOHNSON & CO.
Boston, Mass.

FURNITURE REPAIRED

All kinds of furniture repairing reupholstering and refinishing. Mattresses made over—Cushions, Draperies, Window Shades and Slip covers to order.—Our repair department has for 19 years given the best service possible. Competent workmen.—Prices that are fair to pay.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy
Tel. Quincy 1200

Jan. 15-tf L&O

LINCOLN HIGHTS
East Braintree
25 min. by rail
Unsurpassed site for beautiful homes; restricted.
SEE
This Loveliest Spot
FRED O. ELLIS 276 Washington St.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS;
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

CONCESSIONS NOT POSSIBLE

Demands of Strikers Will Not Be Met by Agents

MAY CLOSE FOR SIX MONTHS

Mill Men Claim That Business Conditions Do Not Warrant Greater Raise Than Offered at Close of the Lawrence Strike—American Federation of Labor Trying to Gain Control From the I. W. W.

Lowell, Mass., March 30.—Complete rejection of the demands of the strikers will be announced by the mill agents in their reply to the strike committees.

Telephone conferences were held by the agents with the treasurers of the various corporations yesterday, and in every case the agents were informed that the corporation could not possibly offer greater concessions than were made at the close of the Lawrence strike. One agent states that if necessary his mill will remain closed six months rather than meet the demands of the operatives.

Active steps to wrest control of the strike from the leadership of the Industrial Workers of the World were taken by the American Federation of Labor. John Golden, president of the United Textile Workers of America, arrived here yesterday and attended meetings of the union loom fixers and mule spinners at Weavers' hall on Little street.

Plans were discussed for strengthening the union organization and preparing an independent set of demands to be presented to the mill agents. It is expected that the majority of the idle operatives will ally themselves with the union labor organization.

It has not been determined by the union workers whether to adopt the same demands as have already been presented by the I. W. W., but it is generally felt that they will form the basis for the union demands.

Drenching rain which fell dampened the ardor of the strikers, and there was little picketing in evidence. It had been intended by the I. W. W. to picket the Massachusetts corporation and the Bigelow Carpet company's plants. About fifteen pickets gathered at the Massachusetts mills before the opening hour, but only one or two went to the carpet company. There was no disturbance.

Golden went at once to the meeting of the loom fixers. He said he had instructions from the executive council of the loom fixers to come here until the strike is settled, if it takes all summer. All the resources of the United Textile Workers and the American Federation of Labor will be placed at his disposal, if necessary, he announced.

Other speakers at the meeting of the loom fixers were Cal Wyate, general textile organizer, and Thomas Regan, local organizer.

President Golden issued the following statement in explanation of the plans of the textile union:

"The representatives of the United Textile Workers of America and the American Federation of Labor will establish themselves in Lowell with the same purpose in mind as they had when they established themselves in the Lawrence situation, namely, to secure terms of settlement that will be satisfactory to those textile workers who are willing to be advised by labor union officials—men who thoroughly understand the textile industry, and who are law-abiding citizens of our state with a record for square dealing that will bear scrutiny.

"It was the combined efforts of the United Textile Workers and the A. F. of L. that brought about the adjustment of the Lawrence situation, which two weeks afterward was accepted by those who had refused to take our advice.

"If the mill agents will meet them in the right spirit, and personally I feel convinced they will, I believe this situation can soon be cleared up and industrial peace can reign again in Lowell.

"We have three good textile unions here at present—the weavers, mule spinners and loom fixers. A campaign of organization will be started and the enrollment of both skilled and unskilled workers will begin, irrespective of nationalities.

"We have no intention of interfering with or interrupting alien bodies, and for our part we will not brook interference."

Cavanaugh Brothers Bankrupt

Boston, Mass., March 30.—John Cavanaugh and George H. Cavanaugh, doing business as Cavanaugh Bros., went into voluntary bankruptcy in the United States district court, disclosing liabilities amounting to $15,433.90. The assets are estimated at $300.

Young's Secretary Dead

Salt Lake City, March 30.—Bishop Hyrum B. Clawson, pioneer of 1848, and secretary to Brigham Young, is dead here, aged 84. He leaves a widow, 27 children, 145 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

THE BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Harvard Professor Has Fun "Kickin' Boston's Odd Dawgs Roun'"—Attack on Museum of Fine Arts is Resented—Cancer Hospital is Added to the World's Greatest "Great White City of Healing"—Beacon Hill Solons Deliver Suffrage its Annual Knockout—Suffragists Hope Bay State May Yet Catch up.

Boston's latest addition to the "great white city of healing" has been formally opened and inspected with considerable approval by the general public. This is the new "Colis P. Huntington Memorial Hospital" near the Harvard Medical School, to be devoted solely to the study, treatment and, it is hoped, in time to the cure of cancer. The appurtenances of the building, the medical and surgical staff, and the enthusiasm and spirit of the place promise the best that human skill and care can provide for suffering patients. To investigate the causes of tumors and cancer is the purpose of the medical men in charge, and any steps towards removing the dreaded cancer from the list of incurables will be given freely to the world. Patients, from whom applications are already being received, will be admitted about the middle of April. Thus one more is added to the number of institutions which make the Fenway unique as a centre of hope for suffering humanity.

To provide for a permanent art exhibition in this city, for the purpose of increasing the knowledge and love of the fine arts, the Boston Art Club is considering the establishment of a special fund. The fund, if authorized, will be placed in trust in some Boston bank, and the interest used for the expenses of the exhibition. The Art Club provides a gallery with lighting and attendants, the other expenses to be borne by the fund, under supervision of a board of directors representing the Art Club, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the Worcester Art Museum and the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburg. In this way, New England people would have opportunities of seeing and becoming familiar with American and foreign paintings, sculpture, architectural drawing and other branches of art. The rejuvenation of the famous club, for some years past in a stagnant condition, thus continues as prophesied.

The characteristic attitude of "knocking" Boston and everything in it which has prevailed among Harvard professors for many years has found another outlet in a recently published novel by one of the university officers. This book makes caustic remarks about practically everything from South Boston, which it characterizes as a "Slum" to the Museum of Fine Arts where the hero "groaned like all Bostonians of his own set over the uninspired plaster casts and the inadequate paintings." It would seem that the visitor who could see nothing but uninspired plaster casts and inadequate paintings in a Museum which possesses the greatest collection of oriental art in the world, the greatest collection of original Greek art on this continent, one of four or five of the greatest print collections, and at least a few really fine and valuable painting, must have something radically wrong with his eye-sight or his intellect. As for South Boston, more sinned against than sinning, there are many residents who find its green shaded, breeze-swept spacious streets with their wide outlook over Massachusetts Bay, to be anything but in keeping with the description of "ill-paved slum streets where babies and mangy dogs swarmed in the gutters and where turkey-red table cloths streamed from the windows." This gentleman's morbid frame of mind also discovered that "The noise of the city broke at the edge of the Common. It seemed to him suggestive of evil. He had never thought of it before, but as he listened now and saw dimly the lines of women filing along Tremont street vice seemed to him suddenly one of the great overwhelming facts of human life, damnable, of course, yet insistent and curiously fascinating." Poor little old Boston—and yet the average Boston girl on her way along Tremont Street to do her shopping or buy a theatre ticket feels no realization that she is a ripple in such a terribly wicked sea of vice pounding against the innocent and adamant old Common. The novel is in harmony with the line of criticisms poured out by another Harvard professor of the intellect of 1890 who wailed his woes to a well-known literary man in the street car recently. This representative of the university grouch slammed, first, the "West End Road," more accurately known to the enlightened citizen for thirteen years past as the "Boston Elevated," then knocked successively the architectural development of the Charles River Basin; the New England Conservatory of Music, Symphony Hall, the Symphony Orchestra; threw bricks at the Mechanics Building, both for its architecture and the purposes of its usage; gave the Boston Public Library and Copley Square a solar plexus, and, when the fellow passenger left the car, was still continuing the process of abuses. One wonders when Harvard will catch up with the progress of events and "stop kickin' our dawg aroun'."

The Massachusetts Legislature's Committee on Constitutional Amendments has reported against woman suffrage once more, presumably because the majority of members felt as did the senator who wrote an inquiring constituent that his mind was quite made up against woman suffrage, as it had been for two years, but that he would be glad to vote for it if he believed the women of Massachusetts really wanted the ballot. It is such unconvincible men as this that have driven the British women to window smashing tactics to impress on their minds that they emphatically do want the vote. An English government officer is quoted as having said that English women had not proved their desire for the vote because they had done nothing like that which characterized the men's agitation that led to the burning of Nottingham Castle and the pulling up of Hyde Park railings. It is to be hoped that the same necessity does not exist in Massachusetts. An encouraging step is the action of the Committee on Cities in recommending the enlargement of the Boston School Board from five to nine, with the object of making it easier to have one or more women on the Board. The legislature, to be sure, turned it down, but perhaps another effort will be more successful. The Massachusetts suffragists are quietly and progressively working their weary way, preparatory for the next annual campaign, and confident that it will not be long before another white painted space on the suffrage map will mark the victory of the Bay State.

Ethel Angier.

Boston, March 29, 1912.

We bake PRATT'S BREAD for you, your cousins, uncles and aunts.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

How One Washerwoman Was Converted to the Fels-Naptha Way.

Anty Drudge—"Why, bless my soul! Mrs. Old School, the washerwoman has seen the light at last and has adopted the Fels-Naptha way of washing."

Grocer's Boy—"She was forced to it, Anty Drudge. Mrs. Millionaire, her best customer, told her that if she didn't use Fels-Naptha she'd take her washing away. Was tired, she said, of having her clothes come back all yellow and some with streaks of dirt still in them."

A generation or so ago, if a woman had an errand she walked—she had to, there was no other way.

Later she could do it in half the time by riding. Now she can do it almost instantly, by telephone.

That's Progress, and Progress is made possible by science.

Fels-Naptha is science applied to the washday problem, and it's results are just wonderful.

Formerly washday was a time of sickening odors, back-breaking labor, a disordered house and the severest test on the clothes. This was necessary. There was no other way.

The Fels-Naptha washday—the scientific washday—isn't a washday at all in the old sense; merely an incident in the routine of household duties.

And if directions on the red and green wrapper are followed, the result is certain.

TO PROTECT THEIR LIVES

Americans In Mexico Get Arms and Ammunition From New York

Washington, March 30.—One thousand Krag-Jorgensen rifles, a large supply of army revolvers and thousands of rounds of ammunition are a part of the consignment of arms sent to Mexico City at the request of Ambassador Wilson, according to a statement made at the state department.

Ambassador Wilson had informed the state department immediate steps to protect the lives of Americans in Mexico City were necessary, and it was upon his request the rifles and ammunition were sent from New York city.

Gaslight Cashier Missing

North Adams, Mass., March 30.—James C. Turner, aged 40 years, cashier of the North Adams Gaslight company, and prominent in lodge circles, is reported missing since last Tuesday. He lived with his wife and three children on Frederick street, this city. His parents live in Lowell.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
Adress: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DIMOCK & PATTEN
Carpenters and Builders
Plans furnished and estimates given.
All work personally and promptly attended to.
133 PROSPECT AVENUE
WOLLASTON
Telephone 1047 W Quincy.

Mortgagee's Sale

By virtue of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage deed from Helene McMakin to Ida M. Patterson, dated the first day of August A. D. 1903 and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Norfolk in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Book 953, Page 515 and thereafter duly assigned to William G. A. Pattee, for breach of the conditions thereof and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction, upon the premises, on Monday the eighth day of April A. D. 1912 at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely: a certain parcel of land situated in that portion of Quincy in said County called Sumner Park and bounded and described as follows, to wit: beginning at a point on the Southerly line of Washington street at the Northwesterly corner of the granted premises, and thence running along said Washington Street in an almost Easterly direction, one hundred and fifteen and 09-100 feet; thence running by a curved line in a Southeasterly direction, eighteen and 8-100 feet to a point on Massachusetts Avenue as shown on plan; thence running in a Southwesterly direction along Massachusetts Avenue ninety-nine and 29-100 feet thence running in a Northwesterly direction along land now or late of John R. Graham, fifty-seven and 20-100 feet; thence turning at a slight angle and running in a more Westerly direction along said land now or formerly of said Graham, fifty feet; thence running in a nearly Northerly direction along the line of other land of said mortgagor, ninety-five and 30-100 feet to the Southerly line of Washington Street, being the point of beginning. Subject to all lawful liens taxes, tax sales and other municipal assessments.

Two hundred dollars to be paid at time and place of sale and the balance of purchase price to the mortgagee or her attorney within ten days.

LAURA S. PATTEE, Executrix of the Will of William G. A. Pattee. Present assignee and holder of said mortgage.

Z. S. ARNOLD, Attorney for the Mortgagee. 3t 23-30-6.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles M. Jenness late of Meddybemps, in State of Maine, deceased:

Whereas, Helen B. Jenness administratrix of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court her petition for license to sell at private sale, in accordance with the offer named in said petition, or upon such terms as may be adjudged best, the real estate of said deceased for the purpose of distribution. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested, who can be found within the Commonwealth, fourteen days at least before said Court, and if any one cannot be so found, by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t 23-30-6

EXECUTORS' NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of William S. Williams late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same and all persons indebted to said estate are called to make payment to

THEOPHILUS KING,
JOHN HUGHES,
RICHARD D. CHASE,
Executors.

(Address)
Quincy, March 23d 1912.
3t 23-30-6

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the estate of Patrick Fitzgerald late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

DANIEL F. FITZGERALD,
Administrator.

274 Common street,
Quincy, Mass.
March 27, 1912. 3t 23, 30, 6

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Charles Pearsen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

CLARA M. PEARSEN, Admx.
(Address)
Care of George E. Adams, Atty., 18 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.
March 12, 1912.
3t March 16-23-30

(ADVERTISE.)

The Prodigal Judge

Illustrations by D. Melvill

By Vaughan Kester

(Copyright, 1911, The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—The scene at the opening of the story is laid in the library of an old worn-out southern plantation, known as the Barony. The place is to be sold, and its history and that of the owners, the Quintards, is the subject of discussion by Jonathan Crenshaw, a business man, a stranger known as Bladen, and Bob Yancy, a farmer, when Hannibal Wayne Hazard, a mysterious child of the old southern family, makes his appearance. Yancy tells how he adopted the boy.

CHAPTER II.—Nathaniel Ferris buys the Barony, but the Quintards deny any knowledge of the boy. Yancy to keep Hannibal. Captain Murrell, a friend of the Quintards, appears and asks questions about the Barony.

CHAPTER III.—Trouble at Scratch Hill. Yancy's home, when Hannibal is kidnaped by Dave Blount, Captain Murrell's agent. Yancy overtakes Blount, gives him a thrashing and secures the boy.

CHAPTER IV.—Yancy is served with a warrant for assaulting Blount. Yancy appears before Squire Balaam, and is discharged with costs for the plaintiff.

CHAPTER V.—Betty Malroy, a friend of the Ferrises, has an encounter with Captain Murrell, who forces his attentions on her, and is rescued by Bruce Carrington, who threatens to whip the captain.

CHAPTER VI.—Betty sets out for her Tennessee home. Carrington takes the same stage. Yancy and Hannibal disappear, with Murrell on their trail. He overtakes them in the mountains of Tennessee. Murrell gets Yancy drunk and stabs him in a fight that followed. Hannibal escapes in a canoe.

CHAPTER VII.—Hannibal arrives at the home of Judge Slocum Price.

CHAPTER VIII.—The Judge recognizes in the boy, the grandson of an old time friend. Murrell arrives at Judge's home. Hannibal hears of the finding of Yancy's body. Price arrested as counterfeiter.

CHAPTER IX.—Cavendish family on raft rescue Yancy, who is apparently dead. Price breaks jail.

CHAPTER X.—Betty and Carrington arrive at Belle Plain.

CHAPTER XI.—Hannibal's rifle discloses some startling things to the Judge. Hannibal and Betty meet again.

CHAPTER XII.—Murrell arrives in Belle Plain. Is playing for big stakes.

CHAPTER XIII.—Yancy awakes from long dreamless sleep on board the raft.

CHAPTER XIV.—Judge Price makes startling discoveries in looking up land titles. Charley Norton, a young planter, who assists the judge, is mysteriously assaulted.

CHAPTER XV.—Norton informs Carrington that Betty has promised to marry him. Carrington bids Betty good-bye. Norton is mysteriously shot.

CHAPTER XVI.—More light on Murrell's plots. He plans uprising of negroes.

(Continued from last issue)

The judge had been occupied with a simple but ingenious toilet. He had trimmed the frayed skirts of his coat; then, by turning his cuffs inside out and upside down a fresh surface made its first public appearance. Next his shoes had engaged his attention. They might have well discouraged a less resolute and resourceful character, but with the contents of his ink-well he artfully colored his white yarn socks where they showed through the rifts in the leather. This the judge did gaily, now humming a snatch of song, now listening civilly to Mahaffy, now replying with undisturbed cheerfulness. Last of all he clapped his dingy beaver on his head, giving it an indescribably jaunty slant, and stepped to the door.

"Well, wish me luck, Solomon, I'm off—come, Hannibal!" he said.

At heart he cherished small hope of seeing Betty, advantageous as he felt an interview might prove. However, on reaching Belle Plain, he and Hannibal were shown into the cool parlor by little Steve. It was more years than the judge cared to remember since he had put his foot inside such a house, but with true grandeur of soul he rose to the occasion; a sublimated dignity shone from every battered feature, while he fixed little Steve with so fierce a glance that the grin froze on his lips.

"You are to say that Judge Slocum Price presents his compliments and condolences to Miss Malroy—have you got that straight, you pinch of soot?" he concluded affably. Little Steve, impressed alike by the judge's air of condescension and his easy flow of words, signified that he had. "You may also say that Judge Price's ward, young Master Hazard, presents his compliments and condolences—" What more the judge might have said was interrupted by the entrance of Betty, herself.

"My dear young lady—" the judge bowed, then he advanced toward her with the solemnity of carriage and countenance he deemed suitable to the occasion, and her extended hand was engulfed between his two plump palms. He rolled his eyes heavenward. "It's the Lord's to deal with us as his own inscrutable wisdom dictates," he murmured with pious resignation. "We are all poorer, ma'am, that he has died—just as we were richer while he lived!" The rich cadence of the judge's speech fell sonorously on the silence, and that look of horror which had never quite left Betty's eyes since they saw Charley Norton fall, rose out of their clear depths again. The judge, instantly stricken with a sense of the inadequacy of his words, doubled on his spiritual tracks. "In a round about way, ma'am, we're bound to believe in the omnipresence of Providence—we must think it—though a body might be disposed to hold that west Tennessee had got out of the line of divine supervision recently Let me lead you to a chair, ma'am!"

Hannibal had slipped to Betty's side and placed his hand in hers. The judge regarded the pair with great benevolence of expression.

"He would come, and I hadn't the heart to forbid it. If I can be of any service to you, ma'am either in the capacity of a friend—or professionally—I trust you will not hesitate to command me—" The judge backed toward the door.

"Did you walk out, Judge Price?" asked Betty kindly.

"Nothing more than a healthful exercise—but we will not detain you, ma'am; the pleasure of seeing you is something we had not reckoned on!" The judge's speech was thick and unctuous with good feeling. He wished that Mahaffy might have been there to note the reserve and dignity of his deportment.

"But you must let me order luncheon for you," said Betty. At least this questionable old man was good to Hannibal.

"I couldn't think of it, ma'am—"

"You'll have a glass of wine, then," urged Betty hospitably. For the moment she had lost sight of what was clearly the judge's besetting sin.

The judge paused abruptly. He endured a moment of agonizing irresolution.

"On the advice of my physician I dare not touch wine—gout, ma'am, and liver—but this restriction does not apply to corn whisky—in moderation, and as a tonic—either before meals, immediately after meals or at any time between meals—always keeping in mind the idea of its tonic properties—" The judge seemed to mellow and ripen. This was much better than having the dogs sicked on you! His manner toward Betty became almost fatherly. Poor young thing, so lonely and desolate in the midst of all this splendor—he surreptitiously wiped away a tear, and when little Steve presented himself and was told to bring whisky, audibly smacked his lips—a whole lot better, surely!

"I am sorry you think you must hurry away, Judge Price," said Betty. She still retained the small brown hand Hannibal had thrust into hers.

"The eastern mail gets in today, ma'am, and I have reason to think my share of it will be especially heavy, for it brings the bulk of my professional correspondence." In ten years the judge had received just one communication by mail—a bill which had followed him through four states and seven counties. "I expect my secretary—" boldly fixing Solomon Mahaffy's status, "is already dipping into it; an excellent assistant, ma'am, but literary rather than legal."

Little Steve reappeared bearing a silver tray on which was a decanter and glass.

"Since you insist, ma'am," the judge poured himself a drink, "my best respects—" he bowed profoundly.

"If you are quite willing, judge, I think I will keep Hannibal. Miss Bowen, who has been here—since—" her voice broke suddenly.

"I understand, ma'am," said the judge soothingly. He gave her a glance of great concern and turned to Hannibal. "Dear lad, you'll be very quiet and obedient, and do exactly as Miss Malroy says? When shall I come for him, ma'am?"

"I'll send him to you when he is ready to go home. I am thinking of visiting my friends in North Carolina, and I should like to have him spend as much time as possible with me before I start for the east."

(To be Continued.)

Cheer Up!

You won't be bothered by the blues if you keep your liver active, your bowels regular, and your stomach in good tone by timely use of the time-tested, beneficent, and always effective family remedy

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold everywhere In boxes 10c., 25c.

Storage

FOR FURNITURE AND PIANOS

Separate Rooms. Low Rates
Pianos and Furniture Moving
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

WALL PAPER

F. T. APPLETON
31 Saville St., Bates Block, Quincy
Mar. 15-3m

A. M. JAMESON

Real Estate and Insurance
OFFICE—RESIDENCE
157 WARREN AVE., COR. WINTHROP AVE.
WOLLASTON
Houses and Building Lots for sale.
Houses and Apartments to let.
Tel. 341-2 Quincy. Mar. 9-tf-1p

JOHN E. PARSONS

Former Counsel of Sugar Trust, Who Condemns the Sherman Law.

Photo by American Press Association.

IN HANDS OF JURY

Bitter Denunciation by Lawyers on Both Sides in Sugar Trial

New York, March 30.—The fate of John E. Parsons, Washington B. Thomas, George H. Frazier and Arthur Donner, directors and officers of the American Sugar Refinery company, on trial for alleged violation of the criminal clause of the Sherman law, will be in the hands of the jury today.

After a day of dramatic and impassioned pleading by the opposing attorneys in summing up their respective cases, Judge Hand adjourned the court until this morning, when he charged the jury, which then retired for a verdict.

The appeals to the jury by the attorneys for both sides were characterized by bitter denunciation, and personal character was not spared. John E. Parsons, the white-haired octogenarian, lawyer and philanthropist, former counsel for the "sugar trust," broke down and wept after Delancy Nicoll had pictured him "bowed down into the grave with shame and sorrows" should the jury convict him.

District Attorney Wise compared the defendants to a "buzzard," and accused Mr. Parsons of not telling the truth in regard to certain letters alleged to be missing from the files of the American Sugar Refining Company.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Andrew W. Sprague late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Rachel C. Sprague of Quincy without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of March A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
3t Mar. 30, April 1-8

Automobile Tires

At the Lowest Prices

Goodrich, Ajax and Fisk Tires

Carried in stock.

Other makes supplied at short notice.

Automobile Supplies

Good Oils at 28c per gal.

Our long experience in the tire vulcanizing means best work and lowest prices.

F. W. BENT
1058 Hancock Street,
Quincy, Mass.
Tel. 619 R. March 21-tf

UPHOLSTERING

If you are thinking of repairing your furniture or mattresses in good condition, don't wait until Spring, to place your order as many have done in the past, and I have been unable to attend to it. References on request.

M. MIRKIN
67 Washington St., next to Y. M. C. A. Building, Quincy. Tel. Quincy 501 W
Mar. 11-1m

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY

Lewis J. Bird Co., 32 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

AUCTION SALE
— OF —
Monuments, Grave Stones and Rough Stock
About 100 Lots
Sale at Quincy Adams
At Freight House of
New York New Haven & Hartford R.R.
April 9th, 1912, at 10 A. M.

Will be sold at Public Auction to the highest bidder in conformity to Chapter 95, Section 6, Revised Laws of Massachusetts, for account of whom it may concern, to pay freight and storage charges, consigned to various consignees. The same having remained uncalled for by the consignees for a period of more than one year. Deposit of cash or certified check must be made at time of sale, and goods removed on or before April 13th, 1912, or the deposit will be forfeited. G. L. Winlock, Freight Claim Agent New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, Boston, Mass. Further particulars of the Auctioneers. Mar. 21-11t

Finnish Fine Taste Lunch Room

First-Class Home Cooking
Table Board by the Day or Week
384 Granite Street, Brewer's Corner.

MISS JUSTINA KANGAS
Employment Office
Furnishes right girls to the right party. Prompt and honest service.
384 Granite Street, Quincy.
Telephone 1531-w Feb 5, 3 mos

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock s reet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

L. K. BADGER & CO.
MACHINISTS and ENGINEERS
STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING
20 to 30 per cent. saving in fuel with our new soft coal burning system. Estimates given on all kinds of work. General machine work and repairing solicited.
Works 107 Willard St., West Quincy
WM. E. BADGER. Tel.
Consulting Engineer. Quincy 138-R
Jan.6-3m

A. E. WALKER
Cor. Newport Ave. and Beale Street
WOLLASTON
Tel. Quincy 1453-1.
Single and Double Houses and Apartments To Let and For Sale. Choice House Lots. Insurance. Dec. 7-6mos

INSURANCE
Fire, Liability and Automobile
Strongest Companies. Lowest Rates
Liberal treatment in case of loss.
H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Have You Tried The
X FURNITURE POLISH
on your Furniture, Piano, or Automobile. It makes them look like new. Your money back if you are not pleased. Ask your dealer for it, or get it from
The Household Mfg. Co. or
Pinel's Variety Store
146 Water St., Quincy
IT IS A MARVEL
9—1m

Telephone 1196-M.
Robert F. Leighton
ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR
Alpha Hall Block, Quincy, Mass.
8-1m

HAVE YOUR SCREENS PAINTED OR RECOVERED NOW BEFORE YOU WANT TO USE THEM
SCREENS AND SHADES MADE TO ORDER
HOLMES & HALL
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 W

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents Three consecutive insertions 50 cents. 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Wellesley pin, marked C. L. Steele. Reward if returned to 1136 Hancock street. 30-1t

LOST—Large sum of money in city square Wednesday afternoon. Suitable reward if returned to James George, 7 Depot avenue, Quincy. 29-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—To be sold at once square piano, Steck, New York make, in good condition, fine tone. Rosewood case. Quincy, Tel. 507-1 for information. 30-6t

FOR SALE—Heavy farm horse. Price low. Wm. DeCoste at stable of H. L. Rice, 275 Adams street, Quincy. 30-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET—On Upland Road. House of 8 rooms and bath, all improvements, laundry, range and furnace. Rent $35. Apply to John A. Weeden, 23 Cranch street, Quincy. 30-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET

Two modern nine room houses Berlin street, Wollaston, all improvements. Immediate possession. Appl at Taylor Terrace, 538 Hancock street Wollaston. Telephone Quincy 415 W 8-tf

WANTED

WANTED—By competent dressmaker engagements by the day. Best references. Address F. Ledger Office. 30-1t

FOR SALE—Land on Goffe St., and Upland road at low price, or I will build you a house on same to suit and sell it to you complete at extremely low figures. Call on me at once and talk it over. Don't wait, for this is the best oportunity ever offered to secure a home in a first class residential section. Charles A. Ericson, Builder, 4 Euclid avenue, Quincy, Mass. Tel. 586M 6-W-S tf

WANTED—A young man good character, would like to get board in a private family near Hancock street. Leo E. Robinson, 26 Foster street, Quincy. 29-3t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent, profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut stret, Philadelphia, Pa. Dec. 16-15w S-W

WANTED—Ten more ladies to solicit orders from house to house in Quincy and vicinity. No delivery or collections. Straight salary and permanent work for those who bring results. Apply to H. Jarmuth, Hancock House, Quincy. 28-6t

FURNITURE and Piano moving, boat hauling and jobbing. Myatt, 40 Baxter street. Tel. 1307 W. Quincy, Res. 20-tf

PENNIMAN'S TAXI SERVICE
Close Cars for Parties and Weddings
C. H. PENNIMAN, Prop.
Agent for Pope-Hartford Cars
Demonstration by Appointment
Phones
Stable 207. Residence 972 W
Dec. 23-tf

J. H. GARDNER, Jr.
VETERINARIAN
21 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. Quincy 1453-W
Treatment of all diseases of domesticated animals. Jan. 8-5m

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

LEWIS N. CURTIS, PAINTER and GLAZIER
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

TO LET

TO LET—48 Revere Road, two nice well-furnished, sunny rooms for light housekeeping. Also a very large front room, nicely furnished, with heat and bath. 30-6t

TO LET—A new suite of seven large rooms and bath on Putnam street. Coal and gas range. Electric light and gas. All modern improvements. Rent reasonable. Apply to 95 Putnam street, Quincy. 30-6t

TO LET—Several single houses $28. and upwards. Very desirable. Apply to C. H. Hardwick, 104 Revere road. Tel. 391-2 or 85-W. Quincy. 30-3t

FOR RENT—One half double house six rooms, attic and bath. Veranda and large yard. 3 minutes from station and electrics. Rent $20. Apply 36 Pleasant street, Quincy. 27-6t

TO LET—5 room tenement, very pleasant. All improvements $15.00. R. J. Barry, Grocer, Atlantic. 26-6t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms, all improvements. Rent $20. New house. Apply to 169 Kendrick avenue, Quincy. 19-12t

TO LET—From April 1, upper flat of 7 rooms and bath at 19 Foster street. All modern improvements. Apply to Dr. Hallowell, 1244 Hancock street, Quincy. 9-tf

TO LET—Upper tenement 6 rooms, bath all improvements. Rent $30. Also For Sale, 1 and 2 family houses inquire A. W. Parker, 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. F24-tf

FOR RENT—In Quincy centre, opposite Adams Academy, 3 minutes from station, house of 9 rooms and bath, improvements. Present occupants will show house. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263-W, Weymouth. 25-tf

TO LET—One half double house 4 minutes from centre. Modern improvements. Apply 62 Spear street, Quincy. 20-tf

TO LET

House 59 Coddington street, modern improvements, $25 Half house (west side) 56 Coddington street, fine location, $23. Four rooms. Half house, 6 Chester street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $23. House 45 Wayland street, Wollaston, modern improvements, $26.

Apply to Henry M. Faxon,
17 Granite street, Quincy.
13-Tues & Sat tf

TO LET

Large Corner Front Office.—Two flights up Durgin-Merrill Block. Also 2 smaller offices.

Lodging Rooms.—Furnished or unfurnished. Durgin-Merrill Block.

Office—Hancock Chambers, one flight up, low rent.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

GREENLEAF BLOCK
(Recently Hotel Greenleaf)
Cor. Hancock and Granite Streets
CITY SQUARE, QUINCY
(Best Location in City)

Offices—Only one flight up, large or small, front or back, and at reasonable prices. Also offices or desk room on the Street Floor, rear, with splendid light.

Furnished Rooms—With care, steam heat, and detached bath with hot and cold water. $2.00 to $7 per week.

Desk Room—Street floor, right in the rear of main entrance, good light, low rent.

Store—Street floor Granite street, 3 large windows, excellent opportunity.

Hall—On top floor, with extensive anterooms, for temporary or permanent use—excellent opportunity for Club or Lodge.

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Greenleaf Block, Quincy.

H. D. CHASE QUINCY MASS.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Quincy Auto and Truck Show

AT THE

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

WOLLASTON STATION

MONDAY, APRIL 1st,

10 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Not a joke but a real live show. We invite you to call and see our show Cars.

Metz Roadster Rambler Tourer

Commerce Delivery Truck

Lauth Juergens Truck

If you are thinking of buying or exchanging, we have just what you need, and we can show you what they will do.

WOLLASTON CENTRE GARAGE

30-2t

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS

Floor Coverings

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1867
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

BRIEFS

The City Council Committee on Streets met Friday evening.

The office of the City Clerk will be opened until 5 o'clock this afternoon to receive nomination papers.

Today seems to be milliners' day judging by the riot of color in their show windows.

Don't fail to read the Ledger advertisements today. There are a dozen or two new ones that call for your perusal.

The regular meeting of the Quincy Catholic club has been postponed from Thursday evening to Wednesday evening April 10.

Owing the the Boston Federation meeting of the Y. P. R. U. at Channing church, Dorchester the meeting which was to have been held by the Wollaston Y. P. R. U. tomorrow evening has been postponed.

There is to be an Easter linen sale Tuesday, at the Park and Downs church under the auspices of the Woman's Guild. A Bohemian supper is to be served in the vestry at 6.30. A demonstrator from the mills is to be present to show materials suitable for shirt waists, etc.

G. E. Rasely of Worcester who will sing the role of Faust in the Choral concert of April 9, has a splendid tenor voice and is a church soloist in New York City. He is not so well known here but comes highly recommended by competent musicians and should be one of the best singers in the cast. The Choral Society has already introduced to Quincy audiences two most successful tenors, one of whom is now a members of the Manhattan Grand Opera and the other fast following in his footsteps. In Mr. Rasely, the society expects to present a singer fully as promising as his predecessors.

☞Electric Vacuum Cleaners for rent, $1.50 a day, at Kincaide's Furniture Store.

BIRTHS

FINN—In Somerville, March 27, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Finn.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, ..Quincy, Mass.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. H. Johnson, nee Leila Miller, of Central avenue, Milton, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

* * *

Quincy Alliance is to be the hostess club for the spring meeting of the New England Associate Alliance on Thursday, April 25, when an all day meeting will be held in First church chapel. Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, president will preside and the greeting will be extended by Rev. A. L. Hudson, D. D.

* * *

The Music committee of the Quincy Women's club is planning a series of May morning musicales at the clubhouse for Wednesdays, May first, fifteenth and twenty-ninth.

BRIEFS

Dr. Dillon Bronson will give an illustrated lecture on the Passion play on Thursday evening, April 4, at the Atlantic Memorial Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Finn of Somerville, formerly of Quincy, welcomed a son to their home on Wednesday.

A very pretty birthday party was given by Miss Margaret Cahill of Franklin street to a number of little friends and playmates this afternoon, it being the celebration of her sixth birthday.

Miss Katherine Little, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Little who had the misfortune to break her arm several weeks ago has recovered from her injuries and will soon be able to attend to her school duties again.

Next week one of Quincy's popular young men joins the selling force at the Continental Clothing House, in Boston. Mr. Carey was born in Quincy, and is a graduate of the public schools. He has been in the clothing business with the leading Quincy stores, leaving the Payson-Mitchell Co., to enter the Boston store. Has been in the Quincy City Council; serving during the years of 1908-'09-'10. He is a member of the Holy Name Society, Quincy Council of Knights of Columbus and the Iriquois club.

MANY BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

Value of Work Under March Permits Amounts to $127,545

THE PERMITS

The report of Warren S. Parker, inspector of buildings for the month of March shows the number of building permits issued that month to have been 65 which makes the total for the year up to date 109 as against 131 for the corresponding period last year.

The value of work contemplated under the permits for March was as follows: Dwellings, $97,550; cottages, $10,700; manufacturing buildings, $7,500; auto houses, $2,270; alterations, $9,525; total for month, $127,545 as against a total value of $99,135 for the corresponding period in 1911.

The total value of work contemplated under the permits issued thus far this year amount to $210,610 as against $202,705. This shows that while the total number of permits this year was less than those of 1911 the total value of work contemplated was about $8,000 in excess.

The various permits issued in March were as follows:—

DWELLINGS.

C. F. Brown, East Squantum street.
David Stevens, Waumbeck street.
Peter Johnson, Cranch street.
F. C. Andrews, Elmwood avenue.
H. W. Richmond, Fayette street.
Assad Kurey, Sumner street.
Bartoli Armani, Brooks avenue.
A. W. Parker, Merrymount road.
Luigi Nevero, Independence avenue.
Mrs. J. E. F. Stewart, Safford street.
Thomas M. Sutton, Brockton avenue.
H. Sarkin, (2) Lyndon street.
Albert Nelson, Dysart street.
Frank Gigolio, South Walnut street.
Walter McBirnie, Russell street.
Mrs. A. Kelley, et al, Harvey street.
William Bedard, State street.
Josephine Taylor, Sea street.
J. F. McDevitt, Elm avenue.
Charles C. Foster, (2) Lyndon street

COTTAGES.

W. A. Dunham, Spring street.
W. A. Dunham, Beebe street.
W. A. Dunham, Chesley street.
Mrs. F. A. Lovejoy, Hampden street.
W. A. Dunham, Wilegus street.
Jemimia Wilkinson, Littlefield street
W. A. Dunham, Manet avenue.
J. J. Simpson, (2) Centre road.

MANUFACTURING

Wollaston Foundry Co., Newport avenue.
Fore River Shipbuilding Co., Howard avenue.

AUTO HOUSES

B. H. Bain, Newport avenue.
Napoleon J. Reed, Spring street.
Napoleon J. Reed, Liberty street.
Arnold Vendrit, Rodman street.
John W. Lynch, Upland road.
Stanley Barnicoat, Bradford street.
Brooks Adams, Newport avenue.
F. R. Burke, M. D. Hancock street.
Henry D. Federhen, Washington street.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Georgie E. Bradley to Frederick H. Dow, Houghs Neck.

Mary J. Brown to Raymond L. Brown, Mechanic street.

George B. Dodge to Mary E. Hall, Faxon road.

Mary B. Drake to Clarence H. Barstow, Clay street.

Wilton A. Dunham to Lena Bleakney, Houghs Neck.

Wilton A. Dunham to Willam J. Finn et al., Houghs Neck.

Felix Favorite to Melissa A. Smith, Belmont street.

Charles C. Foster to Sarah Cutler, Mass. avenue.

Andrew Kelley to Elmer A. Austin, Pelican road.

J. Henry Glidden to Jeremiah Coffman, South street, Cleverly court.

Katie W. Harrington to Martha A. Parker, Grand View avenue.

Laura M. Holmes to Joseph W. Larante, Park lane.

Michael L. Lavoie to Narciss J. Lavice.

Anders Lindberg to Algot Dahily, et al., Verchild street.

Alex. D. McDonald to Hugh J. Macdonald, Warwick street

Andrew Milne, et al trs to Winifred M. McKim, Euclid avenue.

Albert Nelson to Benson C. Myatt, Dysart street.

James M. Nowland to Nathaniel S. Hunting.

J. Walter West to Charles H. Green, Oxenbridge road.

Herbert T. Whitman to John Pyyny, Weeden place.

Jacob W. Wilbur to Peter Hynes, Madison avenue.

Elizabeth L. Williams to Michael L. Lavoie.

David Wright to Luigi D'Eramo.

COMMITTEE TO VIEW THE CITY

The City Council Committee on Streets are preparing to make their yearly trip about the city viewing the streets upon which petitions and orders for acceptance and repairs have been introduced and also to view the places where street lights are wanted located. The committee will view the streets Saturday afternoon, April 6, and will go to view lights on the evening of April 13.

BEETHOVEN RECITAL.

The third in the series of informal readings of piano classics by Envico Barraja was given at his studio in the Greenleaf building, on the evening of March 28. The composer chosen was Beethoven.

Ludwig van Beethoven was born (probably, there is diversity of opinion) on Dec. 16, 1770 and died March 26, 1827. His father, seeing his ability gave him the best instruction that his poverty would allow, being himself the child's first teacher. Beethoven began music in his fourth year, according to his own statement. He composed many symphonies, overtures, cantatas, sonatas, quintets, quartets etc., which attest the originality and sublimity of his genius. One writer says "Beethoven speaks a language no one has spoken before, and treats of things no one has dreamt before." He is today an acknowledged master.

The numbers on the program were chosen with the judgment and musical insight which distinguish Mr. Barraja, presenting the variety and contrast which so enhance the pleasure of the hearer.

Miss Bizzozero's appreciated playing renewed the pleasing impression produced on former occasions.

Mr. Ricker's violin part in the Sonata for violin and piano, was given in a masterly manner and Mr. Stroppiana again delighted those present with his singing of the "Migno" song and the aria from "Fidelio."

Joseph Barraja-Frauenfelder gave The Minstrel's Ghost Song and an aria from Fidelio in a most impressive and musicianly manner. Mr. Barraja, both in the selections with others and in his solo, showed again his marked characteristic, namely, his wonderful versatility, and his insight into, and power of presenting the music of widely differing composers. His playing of the Sonata quasi Fantasia Op. 27-3, known as the "Moonlight" and as perhaps the most widely known and loved of all the Sonatas, was a delight to all present.

CLASS INITIATION.

Faxon hall should be the scene of a most interesting gathering tomorrow at 2 P. M., when the class initiation of the local lodge of the Order of Moose takes place. The guests of the afternoon will be the members of the Brockton lodge and the degree team of the same lodge will perform the initiation work. Supreme Dictator Leon C. Claflin will be at Faxon hall at 1 o'clock to receive all applications. He announces that six doctors will be in attendance to examine candidates. It is exepcted that the exercises tomorrow afternoon will be the best ever held by any fraternal order in this city, inasmuch as the Moose is the largest, numbering nearly 800 members.

REFUSES THE REWARD

Parents of Dead Boy Think Officer Should Have the Money

Brockton, Mass., March 30.—The reward of $100 for the finding of the body of little John F. Ford in Trout brook last Sunday, paid to Officer Nils Lindboom, was turned over to the father and mother of the dead boy yesterday by Lindboom.

Lindboom visited the Ford home and tendered the money to the father, Jeremiah J. Ford, but the gift was declined. "The officer did not go down to the river to search for the body of my little boy with any hope of reward, and we think that he should have the money," said Mrs. Ford. "We appreciate what the people have done for us and, despite the fact that my husband is out of work, we are not in want."

A considerable amount of money raised by public subscription for the reward will be turned over to the family soon.

Flowers and Plants

Flowers for Easter--Roses, Pinks, Sweet Peas, Tulips, Daffodills, Narcissus in varieties.

Plants--Roses, Aza'eas, Genista, Tulips, Daffodills, Hyacinths, Geraniums, Hydrangeas, Primrosss and Easter Lilies.

WM. PATTERSON, Florist

92 South Central Ave., Wollaston
Tel. 392 Quincy

A. Shuman & Co.

Superior Quality Spring Clothing

Correct Attire for Gentlemen

OUR New Spring Suits and Overcoats for Men and Young Men represent "Perfection" in clothing. The style range is unusually broad: the new models are better and smarter than ever before, and the fabrics are richer and more exclusive.

Every model is designed and made by our own expert workmen, and the care and skill of a highly specialized tailoring establishment is ever apparent.

Prices $15 to $40

EVERY GARMENT "MADE IN NEW ENGLAND" AND BEARS OUR ETIQUETTE — A. Shuman & Co. Boston, Shuman Corner

Shuman Corner Boston

BRAINTREE

Mrs. W. A. Norton of Ileasant street entertained the Bridge club at her home Friday afternoon.

Mr. Edward A. Haskell returned Monday from a business trip through New York and Philadelphia.

Herbert A. Mann of Mt. Vernon avenue returned Thursday from Manor school for the spring vacation.

Miss Elinor Shaw of Shaw avenue has been spending a week at home and returned Monday to New York.

Miss Beatrice Silver, a student at the Woodward institute, is enjoying a vacation which extends through Easter week.

Letters remain in the post office for E. A. Barber, Joseph DeNeil, H. Davet, Joseph Henry, Miss Emma S. Hurtig, Miss Nunzio Francario.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kimball and family of Middle street will miss them for they moved to Cohasset, their summer home, on Thursday.

Miss E. M. Hunter will be the new principal of the Monatiquot grammar school, taking the position made vacant by the resignation of Miss Susie G. Fisher. Miss Hunter will assume her duties at the opening of school next Monday morning.

The ladies of the St. Mary's society of the Emmanuel Episcopal church are holding weekly sewing parties to prepare for a sale which they plan to hold after Easter. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Grace Wheeler of Charles street next Wednesday at 2.30 o'clock.

Monday afternoon the members of the Cochato club held an enjoyable bridge party at the club house under the direct management of Mrs. Harry W. Hall of May avenue. There were eleven tables in play. After a pleasant afternoon's paying the souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. John E. Arnold, Miss Mildred Spear, Mrs. M. F. Coons and Mrs. F. Edgar Norris.

Tuesday evening, Mrs. Edward C. Bailey of Sampson avenue was greatly surprised when a number of her friends who are employed with her in the office of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., tendered her a farewell party at her home. They presented her with substantial tokens of their esteem. The many local friends of Mrs. Bailey will be sorry to learn that she will in future make her home at Hanover, where her husband is employed.

The ladies of the 1910 bridge whist club were entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. William J. Arnold of Cochato road. The souvenirs were secured by Mrs. Wallace Pratt, Mrs. Frank Ness, Miss Mildred Spear, Mrs. Carl Dahl and Mrs. Edward G. McGill.

The members of the Ivaloo whist met Friday afternoon with Mrs. William E. Leonard of Central avenue.

☞ Have you visited the Lady's Shop? Just drop in and see their beautiful Easter hats.

☞For careful furniture and piano movers, telephone "Kincaide" Quincy 1200.

EAST BRAINTREE

Charles Hill of Liberty street is making an extended trip in the south.

Harold South of Amherst College is spending a few days with his parents on Shaw street.

Miss Marguerite Sands of Allen street is rapidly recovering from an attack of the grip.

Miss Pauline Scollard of Hobart street spent the week with her cousin, Miss Catherine Shea, of West Quincy.

Mrs. B. B. Bickford with her three older children of Gorham, N. H., returns today from a two weeks' visit to East Braintree with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Allen. Mrs. Laura Taylor has also been a guest of the Allen's.

Five Killed In Street Fight

St. Petersburg, March 30.—A plot has been discovered to assassinate General Chao Erh Hsun, governor general of Manchuria, according to a dispatch from Moukden. Two arrests have been made.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of John H. Ryan, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Mary E. Ryan of said Quincy, without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of March A. D. 1912.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t 30-1-8

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To all persons interested in the estate of William S. Williams late of Quincy, in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Richard D. Chase, the special administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County, on the tenth day of April A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said administrator is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

3t 30-1-8

Rock Wrecks Express

Peekskiil, N. Y., March 30.—A southbound Montreal express on the New York Central railroad was wrecked between Peekskill and Manitou when the locomotive struck a rock which fell across the track at the entrance to Montgomery tunnel. No one was killed. The rock was dislodged by the heavy rains.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Richard D. Chase, Daniel L. F. Chase, Antonieila M. D. Flavio, John S. Johnson, Antonio Cristiano, Eercole Cavicchi and Henry P. Murphy of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Frank Allesandrini and Horace Eaton of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; Horace A. Eaton of Syracuse, in the State of New York; Eleanor B. Eaton of Buffalo, in said State of New York; any heirs, devisees or legal representatives of Prissee C. Goodhue formerly of Draeut, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, deceased, and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Mikel Priscella of said Quincy, and on motion the name of Clarence Burgin of said Quincy, has been substituted therefor, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Quincy, being shown as lots number four to seven, inclusive, and thirteen to fifteen inclusive, on a plan filed with said petition, bounded as follows: Beginning at a point on the northerly side of Water Street at the junction of lots No. 3 and No. 4 on said plan thence running Westerly on said Water Street one hundred and forty feet, thence turning and running in a northerly direction by land now or late of Eercole Cavicchi sixty-one and 74-100 feet; thence turning and running Westerly again by land of said Cavicchi twenty-seven and 62-100 feet; thence turning and running northeasterly by land now or late of said Cavicchi and by land now or late of the heirs of Rebecca P. Eaton about seventy-five and 87-100 feet to Guild Street; thence running slightly Southeasterly by Guild Street five and 41-100 feet thence running Easterly by said Guild Street ninety-nine and 93-100 feet; thence turning and running in a Southerly direction by land now or late of John S. Johnson seventy-three and 3-100 feet thence turning and running in an easterly direction by land now or late of said Johnson about twenty-four feet; thence turning and running in a southerly direction by land now or late of Antonio Castiano and Frank Allesandrini seventy-two and 87-100 feet to Water Street and the point of beginning.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-second day of April A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

(Seal.)

CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.

30-3t 30-6-13